PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Telephone Call 48. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week. Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST." WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

BREVITIES

—Engine No. Two, Plainfield Fire Department, was out for a "wash" last evening.

—An "Observation Sociable" was held at the Park Avenue Baptist church Monday night.

—There will be a devotional meeting in the W. C. T. U. rooms to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

—A strawberry festival and lawn party will be held at the Park place chapel, Thursday and Friday, June 9th and 10th.

—A woman was arrested last night for drunk and disorderly conduct. This morning the City Judge suspended sentence.

—The ordinance to muzzle all dogs during the months of June, July and August, goes into effect in North Plainfield to-day.

—Mrs. Mary Clement Leavitt gave a very interesting discourse at the First Baptist church last evening. Quite a large audience was present.

—Mr. J. S. Pike of this city, has issued a challenge to race Mr. Geo. Mahon, the club championship winner, 25 miles for the championship and a special medal.

—David Mills, a carpenter in the employ of John Abbott, was seriously injured by a fall from a scaffold, yesterday afternoon, at a house on Central avenue. Dr. Tomlinson is attending him.

—Contracts for the new Bank building at Westfield, have been awarded as follows: Aaron B. Clark and Chas. W. Lyons, stone work, and J. M. Nelson, carpenter work. Ground will be broken in the early part of next week.

—Michael Sullivan, aged twenty-seven, of Pearl street, New York, was convicted last week in the Union county court, at Elizabeth, of atrocious assault in stabbing Officer Martin in the face on April 25 while the latter was trying to arrest him on suspicion of burglary.

—"Small profits and quick sales" is amply exemplified in Mr. J. C. Allen's store. He now offers, in his advertisement elsewhere, 2,000 different pieces of standard sheet music, both vocal and instrumental, usually costing as high as 80 cents per copy at five cents per copy. Catalogue free.

—The first boy committed to the New Jersey State Reform School was on the sixth day of July, 1867, nearly twenty-five years ago. The twenty-fifth anniversary of this event will be celebrated with appropriate exercises on the sixth of July next. No doubt it will be a very interesting occasion.

—Van Court Inn, at Roselle, was closed yesterday and all the goods will be sold at auction to satisfy a chattel mortgage held on the furniture by Proprietor J. Ford. For several months it has been run at a loss, as most of the guests left, claiming the drainage was imperfect. The owners did not take any steps to remedy matters.

—The Elizabeth Cricket Club and the St. George Cricketers of this city met on the former's grounds at Sixth street and Broadway, Elizabeth, Monday afternoon. The shower stopped the game for a few minutes and left the grounds in bad condition. The home eleven won after a fair game of cricket by a score of 32 to 28.

—The Park Club will give the last of its series of informal dances on Thursday evening of this week. The house committee have found it necessary in order to prevent crowding to limit the members to two invitations each, and to remind them to supply their guests with tickets, as no one will be admitted without them.

—The New Jersey Editorial Association has decided to make the annual excursion this year to Richfield Springs, N. Y., at Richfield the party will be quartered at the Springs House. On the return half a day will be spent in visiting Cooperstown and the coal mines and iron works in that vicinity. Two nights and one day will be spent at the lakes where Water Gap is. Here the party will be guests of the Water Gap House.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Pliny Fisk of West Seventh street, has returned from Europe.

Mrs. H. F. Murray and her mother, Mrs. Hetfield, are in Boston.

Mr. Wm. Hinkson has returned from a few days sojourn at Princeton.

The new East Lynne at Music Hall to-morrow night. See advertisement.

Mr. David Krymer is seriously ill at his residence on West Second street, this city.

Miss Sadie Grant, daughter of Police Captain Grant of this city, is visiting her parents.

Mr. J. H. Jackson and family, have just returned from a weeks sojourn at Atlantic City.

Mr. Harry A. Thorne, formerly of this city, and late steward of the Ampersand, has accepted a like position at Wawbeek Lodge, Adirondack Mountains, now under management of Mr. Foster.

Mr. James O'Neil, who is said to be one of the wealthiest of actors, having made a fortune out of his "Monte Cristo" alone, during the past eight years has decided to leave the stage and permanently settle on his pretty seventy-acre farm near Bound Brook.

Miss Fritts, daughter of Dr. Fritts, was badly hurt one afternoon last week while riding her bicycle along the county road between Westfield and Fanwood. The waister refused to turn out for her, and she was forced into the ditch where she fell off her machine, striking the ground with great force and badly wrenching her arm, besides cutting her face in a number of places. Her father was riding with her at the time and attended to her injuries. The teamster will no doubt be sued.

HOMING PIGEON RACE.

Excellent Time Made by Plainfield Birds.

The New Jersey Central section of the Federation of Pigeon Fanciers flew 149 birds Saturday from Williamsport, Pa., where the birds were liberated at 11 a. m. The average distance to coops was 164 miles.

W. B. Garrabrant's first bird arrived at 3:30 p. m., winning the race with a rate of 1,326 yards.

Another flight will be made from Ridgeway, Pa., 240 miles, on Saturday next.

The following is a list of the entries, time of arrival and speed per minute:

PLAINFIELD.	Arrived	Speed.
Entries.	H. M. S.	Yds. per Min.
J. Hervey Doane, 27	3.15.30 p. m.	1326
C. B. Stevens, 9	5.00 " "	1000
H. Hamlin, 1	5.00 " "	971
ELIZABETH.
Hetfield, 12	3.01 " "	1288
W. Hetfield, 1	3.01 " "	1288
W. Lamping, 1	3.40 " "	1140
F. Smith, 12	3.40 " "	1288
ELIZABETH.
F. Fagan, 25	4.20 " "	1205
J. Fagan, 1	Not reported.
F. Campbell, 1	4.20 " "	1205

Mr. J. H. Doane's bird made the best time and speed for the distance, that has ever been made by a Plainfield bird.

The Male Public Library.

The following books have been added to the free public library in May, 1892.

Arnold—Fotheiser's Wife.
Blackmore—Maid of Sker.
Copperus—Queen Money Odds.
Burnett—Louisiana.
Bynner—Case of the 'Metear.'
Crabb—Arabella Prince.
Crawford—Three Fates.
Dawes—Charles Sumner.
DeCosta—Columbus and Discovery of America.
DeVinne—Invention of Printing.
Hoyt—English Colonizer in America, 2v.
Earle—Sabbath in Puritan N. England.
Ebers—Egyptian Princess.
Eben—Words, 2v.
Forbes—Julius Cæsar.
Fowler—Julius Cæsar.
Freeman—Historical Essays, 4v.
Goodale—Divorce of Catharine of Aragon.
Harris—On the Plantation.
Harte—First family of Tasajara.
Hitchcock—Unhappy Loves of Men of Genius.
Holder—Life of the Earl Shaftesbury, 3v.
Howard—Guenn.
Kingsley—Hypatia.
Look—Coffee.
McCarthy—England Under Gladstone.
Maine—Popular Government.
Marlowe—Works, 3v. (Bullen's ed.)
Martineau—Religion, 3v.
Newman—Callista.
O'Meara—Napoleon at St. Helena, 2v.
Mohlin—10 Centuries of Yolldebe.
Rodrigues—Panama Canal.
Row—Christian Evidences.
Serjeant—Anne Boleyn, 2v.
Russell—Gladstone.
Smith—Col. Carter of Carterville.
Smith—Commercial and Canadian Question.
Statesman's Year Book, 1892.
Stockton—Golden Grange.
Stoddard—Across Russia.
Symons—Shakespeare's Predecessors in English Drama.
Sully—Pessimism.
Swift—Gulliver's Travels.
Tennyson—Becket.
Warner—Wide, Wide World.
Whymper—Great Andes of the Equator.
Wilkins—Gods of Gold.
Wilmot—Development of Navies.
Winsor—Christopher Columbus.
Wylie—Heir of Redclyffe.
Anderson—Younger Edda.
Cheneveau—Education of the Artist.
Day—Nature in ornament.
Day—Ornamental Design.
Day—Every-day Art.
Hamerton—Intellectual Life.
Painting.
Hamerton—Landscape.
Hunt—Talks on Art, 2v.
Millet—Northern Antiquities.
Mitchell—Ancient Sculpture, 2v.
Reber—Ancient Art.
Semler—Millet.
Thorowgood—Asian Woods.
Woltmann & Woermann—History of Painting, 2v.

An Elizabeth Pastor Missing.

The Rev. Nathaniel Nicolai, pastor of the First German Presbyterian church of Elizabeth has been missing since last Friday. His friends fear he has committed suicide. He has been worrying over church troubles. During the past year trouble with the elders resulted in charges being preferred to the Elizabeth Presbytery. A special meeting of the Presbytery was held this afternoon when his disappearance was announced. A committee was appointed to investigate the charges against him but their work will be done privately. Nicolai is supported by the younger members of the congregation, who assert that he has been misquoted and driven to desperation by his enemies.

Leal's Cadets.

The officers of Leal's cadets which took part in Monday's memorial day exercises, are as follows:

Major Geo. T. Edwards, commanding.
Captain—Rowland Coe, Jr.
First Lieutenant—C. C. Ball, Jr.
Second Lieutenant—W. E. Lowe.
First Sergeant—C. Thompson.
Second Sergeant—Van Fleet.
Third Sergeant—Lowell.

The boys looked and drilled very well, considering that they have only been out a short time.

Advertised Letters.

Remaining in the Dunellen Post Office for the month ending May, 1892:

Beattie, Mrs DoraMoore, Frederick S
Beattie, James Paddle, W H
Clark, James F P
Hunter, Pierce Ridley, Pat (3)
Murphy, Edwin Sabel, H G
Nelson, James MacPhee, John

Persons calling for the above please say advertised. James H. Harold, P. M.

Base Ball Notes.

Murphy, Sneedan, Turner and Keeler play with the Plushings this afternoon in their game with the Staten Islanders.

Two leaders meet at the Crescents' grounds in this city, Saturday, and what a game it will be.

BOWLING LAST NIGHT.

PARK CLUB WIN FROM UNION COUNTY.

Crescent League Defeated by the Somerville Aggregation.—The Catholic Young Men's League Tournament.

The sixth and final game of the season between the Union County Country Club and the Park Club teams was bowled on the alleys of the latter, last evening.

The Park Club team won by the following score:

FIRST GAME.

PARK CLUB.		UNION COUNTY.
Thomas	160	Mason	128
Amundsen	160	Heyson	119
Hinrichs	154	Bedford	96
Wilson	156	Shafer	156
Darling	161	Jackson	124
Total	670	Total	625

SECOND GAME.

PARK CLUB.		UNION COUNTY.
Murphy	111	Evans	169
Hayhurst	127	Dager	101
Worth	115	Moore	97
Rogers	138	Shafer	117
MacClelland	167	Jackson	134
Total	659	Total	618

The Park Club have won all the games of the series except one five men team game, which was the second game and bowled on the Union County alleys.

Another series of games will be arranged between these two clubs in the Fall.

The Crescent League bowling team visited Somerville last evening and were defeated by the following score:

SOMERVILLE.		CRESCENTS.
VanArsdale	179	Teel	126
Haynes	111	Waters	169
Brokaw	126	Bedford	91
Smith	141	Moore	95
Gulick	197	Leidy	111
Hoagland	125	Murphy	125
Brown	160	Donie	130
Rehill	199	Barnes	121
Keschlin	150	Hall	120
Goodman	141	VanWinkle	149
Total	1909	Total	1267

The tournament at the C. Y. M. I. was continued last night as follows:

M. Whalen, 154; vs. Gunther, 127.
Mack, 130; vs. W. Kelley, 118.
Trainor, 150; vs. Winn, 121.

The last game of the tournament will be bowled Saturday night.

Cranford's Country Club.

The Cranford Country Club house will be a building in the colonial style, quaint and pleasing, and will be erected on Riverside drive. It will be 40x80 feet in size, and will embody all the necessary requirements for a thoroughly equipped club house. The ground floor plans show ample space for four bowling alleys, a room for the lavatories, lavatory, boiler room and janitor's room. The principal story contains a large billiard room for four tables, with fire-place, a general lounging room with large fire-place, a smoking room, card rooms, steward's office, ladies' room and a commodious staircase leading to the auditorium on the second floor. The auditorium is fitted up with a stage and dressing rooms—for the dramatic department of the club is very strong—and the hall will seat two or three hundred. From the hall there are three balconies and a kitchen, and from the west balcony leads an open stairway to the porch below, so that there are ample exits in case of fire.

The contract for the above work was let by Burnett & Millener of this city and the carpenter's work goes to Diedrich Kreie of Cranford. Work will be begun at once, and the building will be ready for occupancy by Oct. 1st. The building will cost between $7,000 and $8,000 when completed.

At Elizabeth's Court.

The Court of General Quarter Sessions convened at the usual hour, and the trials of criminal cases were resumed.

Frederick W. Speier, the agent of the Continental Fire Insurance Company, indicted for fraud, was arraigned and retracted his former plea of not guilty, pleading non vult.

Prosecutor Hetfield addressed the court and Mr. Speier was sentenced to be sentenced on Saturday next.

In the case of David Lord who was indicted for false pretences in obtaining possession of goods of the Plainfield produce company, his counsel, Mr. Dickerson moved for the discharge of the accused on the ground that the indictment was defectively drawn as it did not specify the goods taken.

After some argument the court decided that the indictment was defective and ordered that it be quashed. The defendant was then released.

The first case moved for trial was the State vs. Mrs. Minnie Walsh. The defendant was charged with beating a child of Mrs. Mary Gallagher, her brother-in-law. Mr. James C. Connolly appeared as counsel for the defendant.

Children's House Anniversary.

The exercises of the fifteenth anniversary of the Children's House will be held on Thursday evening, June 2d, at eight o'clock p. m. in the First Baptist church, West Front street. Rev. Jas. Mouse of Elizabeth, who has been instrumental in founding several homes will make the address. Reports of president and treasurer will be read and there will be a special choir. Friends in the city, Saturday, and what a game it will be.

AMONG THE WHEELMEN.

Items of Interest to Bicyclers.—The Journal Trophy Race.

In the Elizabeth Journal trophy races, which will take place this Summer, the following clubs will be represented:

Plainfield Bicycle Club, Westfield Athletic Club, Union League Wheelmen of Westfield, Cranford Cycling Club, Roselle Ramblers, Union County Roadsters, Elizabeth Athletic Club, Bicycle Athletic Club, Cyclers, Elizabeth Field Club and Mercury Wheelmen.

The dates and clubs to compete have been arranged as follows:

For the first trial heat, June 25th, Cranford Cycling Club, Roselle Ramblers, and Elizabeth Athletic Club.

For the second trial heat, July 9th, Union County Roadsters, Union League of Westfield and Westfield Athletic Club.

For the third trial heat, July 23d, Elizabeth Wheelmen, Plainfield Bicycle Club and Elizabeth Field Club.

Final heat, August 6th.

The Plainfield Bicycle Club, the Union County Roadsters and the Westfield Athletic Club have been empowered to supply each one man to act as judges on the first race.

The three timekeepers will be F. S. Bonnell, of E. W. John C. Wetmore, of Town Topics, and County Clerk John A. Criswell, of the U. C. R.

The starter, Mr. Elliott Mason.

The clerk of the course, Captain F. L. C. Martin of this city.

More applications for membership in the League of American Wheelmen come in last week than in any other week in the history of the organization. Seven hundred and six new names were enrolled.

A Medical Discovery.

Of all the claims to curative powers in disease—and there are thousands—a little instrument, shown us to-day, takes the lead. It is called the "Electropoise" and there is a mystery about it which no one has yet solved, or else it is an "organ grinder," which in the face of the testimonies afforded in its behalf it is equally difficult to believe. The electropoise is a tube containing some heavy metal, but the interior of this tube is not accessible. To this tube is attached a long cord, and to the other end of the cord a band. This band is to be fastened to the ankle or arm or locally to the place where the pain is severest, and, the tube being placed in a pail or basin of cold water, the patient rests on the bed or in an easy chair and waits for results. It is asserted that yellow fever has been cured by it in more than ninety cases in a hundred, that fevers disappear before it like magic, that the blind have been made to see and the deaf to hear, that no ache or pain that can long resist its influence. We do not back up these claims. We only lend a helping hand. If it is possible an agency will be established in this city, and, if so, the advertisement will be found in our columns.

The Hillside Tennis Club.

The tournament game at the Hillside Tennis Club's Courts Monday was a great success.

The Club now has a membership of over 70 and their courts are unexcelled in this vicinity. The finishing touches are being made on the two new courts adjoining, which will give them four excellent courts in all.

On next Saturday, the charming afternoon teas, which were so popular last year, will be resumed at the Club house adjoining the tennis grounds.

STATE NEWS.

There is a colored woman who resides in East Red Bank who is said to be over 105 years old.

The Board of Health of Bordentown, N. J., has ordered the public schools of that city closed until further notice on account of an epidemic of diphtheria.

The New Jersey Trotting Horse Breeders' meeting will be held on the grounds of the Somerset County Agricultural Society, near Somerville, in August.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Policeman Charles Schmidt of Carlstadt, who is charged by Mrs. John Schmidt with having assault her at her home near Woodbridge.

Quinton Rankin, plasterer, while removing some old plaster in Jonathan Dickinson's old mansion at Elizabethtown, found a very old English copper coin, a little larger than one of our cents, dated 1713.

The remains of the late Archdeacon Stansbury, for thirty years rector of Christ Church, Bayonne, N. J., who died at Cape May, were brought to Elizabeth at Newark. Bishop Starkey officiated at the funeral services.

The Presbyterian Social Union of Newark, on Monday night sent a letter of the Fifth avenue Presbyterian church, of that city, protesting against the action of the church in giving a Sunday picnic, extending over Sunday, as a desecration of the Sabbath. The project has been abandoned.

Freehold will have a great celebration on the Fourth of July, which will be ushered in by the firing of a cannon and a salute of thirty-eight guns. The civic parade at 10:30 a. m., an oration at noon, a collation at two p. m., a concert at four p. m., a grand ball at eight and fireworks in the evening. The Citizens' Committee has contributed $500, and a large sum is in the treasury.

Laborers engaged in tearing down a frame building at 33 Mowatt avenue, Jersey City, made a startling discovery last Monday, which is exciting the police authorities. A cavity in a part of one partition, pieces of the old plaster from which had been broken away, was found. The pieces were wrapped in a New York Herald of August 24, 1861, and were both into the walls and plastered over, so that it was impossible to detect their presence. The police think they are relics of any lottery connected with the house.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

LOSS OF LIFE AT PRAGUE.

Fourteen Dead Bodies Taken from a Fire.

PRAGUE, June 1st. (Special.)—Fire started in a silver mine near here last night. Five hundred men were employed in the mine.

Fourteen dead bodies were brought to the surface this morning and many injured.

Three Prisoners Lynched.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 1. (Special.)—Two weeks ago Charles Stewart murdered Jeller Holmes in the jail at Perryville while awaiting trial for criminal assault. Before he was hanged he confessed that his three uncles, the McArthurs, had advised him to murder Holmes in order to effect his escape.

Sheriff Oliver left Perryville on May 27 for this city by overland route with the three McArthurs, and should have arrived here yesterday, but did not.

It was learned to-day that the three prisoners were taken from the Sheriff and lynched. The McArthurs were white men.

Dr. Parkhurst Sails for Europe.

NEW YORK, June 1.—(Special.)—Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst and his wife sail to-day on the White Star line steamship Germanic for Liverpool, to spend his Summer vacation. He will return on the same ship, leaving Liverpool, September 15.

Patentees.

The following is a list of patents granted to Jerseymen for the week ending May 24, 1892.

Bicycle, R. Ricketts, Newark.
Design, G. L. Crowell, Jr., Arlington.
Design, F. Verpillier, Newark.
Design, two patents, W. S. McLewee, Trenton.
Design, two patents, A. Carlowitz, Newark.
Trade mark, P. Goldstein, Newark.
Saw set, C. C. Talmage, Elizabeth.
Steam engine, J. Hall, engineer, J. S. Connelly, Plainfield.
Harrow, A. C. Shankel, Newark.
Opera glass attachment, F. Moses, Newark.
Low pressure steam boiler, H. Abel, Carlstadt.
Lightning arrester, J. E. Browne, Elizabeth.
Electric locomotive, four patents, T. A. Edison, Llewellyn Park.
Grain drill and fertiliser distributor, J. S. Robbins, Allentown.
Flushing device for water closet bowls, A. Cochran, Trenton.
Whirligig, A. Moe, Jersey City.
Device for making metal lathing, G. A. Old, Newark.
Sampling and conveying device, E. G. Spilsbury, Trenton.
Speed changing mechanism, W. A. Wright, Centerton.
Garment supporter, S. B. Ferris, Lakewood.
Bicycle, T. E. McKenna, Newark.
Machine for forming fuel bricks, J. P. Schmidt, Jersey City.
Brake mechanism for cars, J. Howard, Englewood.
Folding umbrella, F. Batsel, Riverside.
Gas regulator, M. O'Gorman, Jersey City.
Apparatus for molding earthenware, J. Greasley, Trenton.
Device for switch and signal operating mechanism, T. H. Patenall, Rahway.
Vessel band for bats, R. E. Ward, Newark.
Sluing machine, W. E. Brock, Plainfield.
Ore conveying apparatus (three patents) T. A. Edison, Llewellyn Park.
Compound engine, J. F. Murphy, Paterson.
Electric heat alarm, J. Myer, Jersey City.
Valved funnel, T. Miller, Jersey City.
Vacuum lifter, H. A. Brennan, Jersey City.
Axle support, D. Hand, Netherwood.
Dumping freight car, R. M. Johnson, Plainfield.
Harness saddle, L. A. Mancini, Montclair.
Trade mark, A. F. Meisselbach & Bro., Newark.

Ptremco's Tournament.

The Citizens' Committee has decided to make the Ptremco's parade and tournament to be held at Liberty Park on the Fourth of July doubly interesting. To make the volunteer fire companies more sure of coming to take part in the parade, a special prize of $100 each is offered for the best-equipped company. The prizes are as follows:

First prize, $75.
Second prize, $25.
Third prize, $50.

The prizes will not be allowed to compete and that will insure a fair chance for the awards to the visiting companies. Applications for the prize part should be sent to George F. Krowel.

Food.

A monthly illustrated journal of 64 pages intended for every body. Profusely illustrated. Reliable information on food; practical from cover to cover.

Sent for a month on trial for 10 cents. A back number sent as a specimen free, on mentioning this paper.

$1 a year. No sample a number.

CLOVER PUBLISHING CO.
77-79 Park Place,
NEW YORK.

ONLY FIVE CENTS A COPY.

Standard Sheet Music, vocal and instrumental, 2,000 different pieces to select from. Catalogue free. 5 cents a copy.

Enough gas oil stoves during the Summer. Get our prices. 4½ inch wick, one burner, 60 cents; 2 burner, 81.70; 3 burner, $2.35. 12 quarts buys four quart; some better than base gate or pipeless, covered preserve jars, half gallon pitchers, and other wares just as worth doubling. Decorated Tea Set, 56 pieces, worth 75 cents, for 39 cents. Boy "Never Rust Wash Boilers," No. 8, $1.60; No. 9, $1.75—guaranteed for three years. White Mountain Ice Cream Freezers, best and quickest, twice lowest. Watering cans, Mason's jars, 90 cents a dozen; jelly glasses, preserving kettles, hammocks, and croquet.

PARLOR LAMPS AT REDUCED PRICES.

Decorated, Tea, Dinner and Toilet Sets at your own price. Common crockery at factory prices. Housefurnishings of all kinds. Velocipedes and express wagons. Lemon squeezers, 2 cents. Tumblers and pitchers. Finest lamp Chimneys, 2 cents. You get your rare bargains from our five and ten cent counters. Royal Tooth Powder 8 cents equals the best. Try it.

J. C. ALLEN, 28 West Front Street.

AUCTION SALE OF FURNITURE

Extraordinary offer of two weeks accumulating. Goods from Netherwood, North avenue and other places, consisting of

Everything Pertaining to Housekeeping,

Parlor Suites, Bedroom Suites, Diningroom Sets, Buffets, Tables, Chairs, Stands, Carpets, 100 yards of Oil Cloths, etc. Also one square piano, very good. Sale without reserve.

Friday, June 3d, at 2 p. m. Sharp,
CORNER FRONT AND GROVE STREETS,

T. J. CAREY, - Auctioneer.

TERMS CASH.

P. S.—The goods and chattels of Mrs. Geo. Richardson will also be sold for storage.

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER.

One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.

Whole Suits from $5 up.

Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.

70 WEST FRONT STREET.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,
OF PLAINFIELD.
Firm of

RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY,

Importers and Tailors,

231 Broadway, New York.

Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring.

Moderate Prices.

25 1m*

Cent-a-Word Column.

HELP WANTED.

A YOUNG white woman in family of two, for general housework. Must be good plain cook. Call all the week. 123 Liberty street. 6d1*

A GIRL for general housework. Apply at No 15 Craig place. 2d6

IF there is anyone in need of a situation they look here for your advertisement.

WANTED—A capable woman for general housework. Apply at 1 East Ninth street. 1 2

WANTED—Good cook and housework girl with Plainfield references. Call in the mornings before eleven. Burr, 15 La Grande avenue. 1 6

WANTED—A girl for general housework in family of two persons. Good wages and home and plain cook. Address Box 284, Westfield, N. J. 27 4

BOARDERS WANTED.

ROOMS and board, 31 West Second street. 29 6

FOR RENT.

A NEW and delightful eight-room house with bath, hot and cold water, laundry, large cellar, handsome lawn. Unexcelled neighborhood and location. Address "Richmond Street," care of EVENING NEWS. 26-3m

SQUARE place to let. Terms $2 per month. 45 Grandview avenue. 5 17d

TO LET—Four nice rooms with water, gas and bath. Address, "A. B. C.," care of EVENING NEWS. 31-3

TO LET—On Front street, five minutes' walk from depot, two pleasant furnished rooms, with or without board, in a private family. Address "F.," care NEWS. 30 3

FOR SALE.

A BRICK House. Two well-papered rooms. Will sell for $2,000. Address "H.," care of EVENING NEWS. 31-3

$50 BUYS second-hand natural wood carry-all at Ryerson's, 23 Somerset street. 31-3

$190—Fine upright piano for sale. In use but a few months. Good as new. J. H. Buckley, 15 East Front street. (opposite) 5 21d

MISCELLANEOUS.

A MEDICAL DISCOVERY—The advertiser is in want of an operative to assist him in the sale of "Electropoise," a little instrument that promises a revolution in the science of medicine, and to have a large list of testimonials from those who have used it. For further information and testimonials of undoubted quality will be furnished. A very small capital will be required. Any one desiring to engage will be interviewed with the advertiser, address in care of EVENING NEWS. 6 19t

LADIES wishing fast chemstamps for tidy work, bought and sold. Call Paradise store, 11 thousand stamps.

SECURE your tickets for the Columbian Fair. For particulars apply at Mulford's. 5 20d

MUSIC HALL!

Thursday, June 2,

The young, beautiful and accomplished emotional actress, Miss Gertrude Conkling, in the new, lively, pure, original and novel version of Mrs. Wood's great dramatic story,

New East Lynne,

Or, The Elopement. Introducing the wonderful railroad scene. The Paris and London express. Two trains in of cars collision.

Seats on sale at Central Pharmacy.

CARRIAGES

and

HARNESS.

Swift Bicycle Agency

The Oldest and Largest Producers of wheels.

Catalogues on application.

RYERSON,

23 SOMERSET STREET.

STRAW : HATS!

We have received a good assortment for Men and Boys.

Hallock & Davis,

3 West Front Street.

Don't Forget we keep

MEN'S FURNISHINGS.

Also

Trunks and Bags.

George - Bremmer,

No. 23 SOMERSET STREET,

READY MADE CLOTHING,

or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Telephone Call 42. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST." WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS.

BREVITIES

—Engine No. Two, Plainfield Fire Department, was out for a "wash" last evening.

—An "Observation Sociable" was held at the Park Avenue Baptist church Monday night.

—There will be a devotional meeting in the W. C. T. U. rooms to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

—A strawberry festival and lawn party will be held at the Park place chapel, Thursday and Friday, June 9th and 10th.

—A woman was arrested last night for drunk and disorderly conduct. This morning the City Judge suspended sentence.

—The ordinance to muzzle all dogs during the months of June, July and August, goes into effect in North Plainfield to-day.

—Mrs. Mary Clement Leavitt gave a very interesting discourse at the First Baptist church last evening. Quite a large audience was present.

—Mr. J. S. Pike of this city, has issued a challenge to race with Geo. Mahon, the club championship winner, 25 miles for the championship and a special medal.

—David Mills, a carpenter in the employ of John Abbott, was seriously injured by a fall from a scaffold, yesterday afternoon, at a house on Central avenue. Dr. Toulmieu is attending him.

—Contracts for the new Bank building at Westfield, have been awarded as follows: Aaron B. Clark and Chas. W. Lyons, mason work, and J. N. Wilcox, carpenter work. Ground will be broken in the early part of next week.

—Michael Sullivan, aged twenty-seven, of Pearl street, New York, was convicted last week in the Union county court, at Elizabeth, of atrocious assault in stabbing Oliver Martin in the face on April 25 while the latter was trying to arrest him on suspicion of burglary.

—"Small profits and quick sales" is amply exemplified in Mr. J. G. Allen's store. He now offers, in his advertisement elsewhere, 2,000 different pieces of standard sheet music, both vocal and instrumental, usually costing as high as 60 cents per copy at five cents per copy. Catalogue free.

—The first boy committed to the New Jersey State Reform School was on the sixth day of July, 1867, nearly twenty-five years ago. The twenty-fifth anniversary of this event will be celebrated with appropriate exercises on the sixth of July next. No doubt it will be a very interesting occasion.

—Van Court Ian, the knoodle, was closed yesterday and all the goods will be sold at auction to satisfy a chattel mortgage held on the furniture by Looker & Ford. For several months it has been run at a loss, as most of the guests left, claiming the drainage was imperfect. The owners did not take any steps to remedy matters.

—The Elizabeth Cricket Club and the St. George Cricketers of this city met on the former's grounds at Sixth street and Broadway, Elizabeth, Monday afternoon. The shower stopped the game for a few minutes and left the grounds in bad condition. The home eleven won after a fair game of cricket by a score of 33 to 28.

—The Park Club will give the last of its series of informal dances on Thursday evening of this week. The house committee has made it necessary, in order to prevent crowding to limit the members to two invitations each, and to remind them to supply their guests with tickets, as no one will be admitted without them.

—The New Jersey Editorial Association has decided to make the annual excursion this year to Richfield Springs, N. Y. At Richfield the party will be quartered at the Spring House. On the return half a day will be spent in visiting Scanton and the coal mines and iron works in that vicinity, and a day and night will be spent at the Delaware Water Gap. Here the party will be guests of the Water Gap House.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Pliny Fisk of West Seventh street, has returned from Europe.

Mrs. R. F. Murray and her mother, Mrs. Hetfield, are in Boston.

Mr. Wm. Hinkson has returned from a few days sojourn at Princeton.

The new East Lynne at Music Hall to-morrow night. See advertisement.

Mr. David Krymer is seriously ill at his residence on West Second street, this city.

Miss Sadie Genet, daughter of Police Captain Grant of this city, is visiting her parents.

Mr. J. H. Jackson and family, have just returned from a weeks sojourn at Atlantic City.

Mr. Barry A. Thorne, formerly of this city, and late steward of the Ampersand, has accepted a like position at Hawbeck Lodge, Adirondack Mountains, now under management of Mr. Foster.

Mr. James O'Neil, who is said to be one of the wealthiest of actors, having made a fortune out of his "Monte Cristo" alone, during the past eight years has decided to leave the stage and permanently settle on his property seventy-acre farm near Round Brook.

Miss Fritts, daughter of Dr. Fritts, was badly hurt one afternoon last week while riding her bicycle along the county road between Westfield and Fanwood. A teamster refused to turn out for her, and she was forced into the ditch where she fell off her machine, striking the ground with great force and badly wrenching her arm, besides cutting her face in a number of places. Her father was riding with her at the time and attended to her injuries. The teamster will no doubt be sued.

HOMING PIGEON RACE.

Excellent Time Made by Plainfield Birds.

The New Jersey Central section of the Federation of Pigeon Fanciers flew 149 birds Saturday from Williamsport, Pa., where the birds were liberated at 11 a. m. The average distance to coops was 164 miles.

W. B. Garrabrant's first bird arrived at 9:00 p. m., winning the race with a rate of 1,259 yards.

Another flight will be made from Hidgeway, Pa., 240 miles, on Saturday next.

The following is a list of the entries, time of arrival and speed per minute:

	Entries.	Arrived.	Flit.	Speed. Per Min.
PLAINFIELD.
J. Harvey Doane.	27	5.15.30 p. m.	7h.	1259
D. Perry	4	5.20 " "	"	1250
S. Marston	4	5.22 " "	"	971
NEWARK.
D. Brown	27	5.20 " "	"	1250
W. Garrabrant	23	5.30 " "	"	1205
J. Hennessy	4	5.40 " "	"	1140
F. Smith	12	5.45 " "	"	1092
ELIZABETH.
F. Pardo	9	5.20 " "	"	1265
F. Crane	4	Not reported.
C. Campbell	4	5.22 " "	"	971

Mr. J. H. Doane's bird made the best time and speed for the distance, that has ever been made by a Plainfield bird.

The Male Public Library.

The following books have been added to the free public library in May, 1892:

Arnold—Pettibag's Wife.
Blackmore—Lorna Doone.
Boyesen—Against Heavy Odds.
Burnett—Louisiana.
Bynner—Diary of the 'Metcar.'
Crake—Little Lame Prince.
Crawford—Three Fates.
Dyer—Castle Dormer.
DeCosta—Pre-Columbian Discovery of America.
De Vinne—Invention of Printing.
Doyle—English Colonies in America, 3v.
Earle—Sabbath in Puritan N. England.
Ebers—Egyptian Princess.
Ebers—Uarda.
Forbes—Afghan Wars.
Fowler—Julius Cæsar.
Frederic—Marsena.
Froude—Divorce of Catharine of Aragon.
Harris—On the Plantation.
Harte—First family of Tasajara.
Hitchcock—Unhappy Loves of Men of Genius.
Hodder—Life of the Earl Shaftesbury, 2v.
Howard—Guenn.
Kingsley—Hypatia.
Lock—Derwent Asheton.
McCarthy—England Under Gladstone.
Maine—Popular Government.
Mitford—Tales of Japan. (Bullen's ed.)
Martineau—Religion, 3v.
Newman—Callista.
O'Meara—Napoleon at St. Helena, 2v.
Robida—10 Centuries of Toilette.
Rodriguez—Panama Canal.
Rose—Christian Evidences.
Rowland Gen. Mason, 2v.
Russell—Gladstone.
Sergeant—Story of Carterville.
Smith—Canada and Canadian Question.
Statesman's Year Book, 1892.
Stevens—Hodder Strange.
Stoddard—Across Russia.
Symons—Shakespeare's Predecessors in English Drama.
Scully—Fountaleon.
Swift—Gulliver's Travels.
Tennyson—Becket.
Warner—Wide, Wide World.
Wyman—Queer Judges of the Equator.
Wilkins—Pot of Gold.
Wilmot—Development of Navies.
Winsor—Christopher Columbus.
Yonge—Heir of Redclyffe.
Anderson—Younger Edda.
Chesneau—Education of the Artist.
Day—Nature in ornament.
Day—Ornamental Design.
Day—Symmetry in Art.
Hamerton—Imagination in Landscape Painting.
Hamerton—Landscape.
Hunt—Talks on Art, 2v.
Mallet—Northern Antiquities.
Mitchell—Ancient Sculpture, 2v.
Reber—Ancient Art.
Ruskin—Modern Painters, 5v.
Thoresen—Maine Woods.
Woltmann & Woermann—History of Painting, 2v.

An Elizabeth Pastor Missing.

The Rev. Nathaniel Nicolai, pastor of the First German Presbyterian church of Elizabeth has been missing since last Friday. His friends fear he has committed suicide after worrying over church trouble. During the past year trouble with the elders resulted in charges being preferred to the Elizabeth Presbytery. A special meeting of the Presbytery was held this afternoon when his disappearance was announced. A committee was appointed to investigate the charges against him but their work will be done privately. Nicolai is supported by the younger members of the congregation, who assert that he has been persecuted and driven to desperation by his enemies.

Leal's Cadets.

The officers of Leal's cadets which took part in Monday's memorial day exercises, are as follows:

Major Geo. T. Edwards, commanding.
Captain—Rowland Cox, Jr.
First Lieutenant—C. C. Ball, Jr.
Second Lieutenant—W. E. Lowe.
First Sergeant—C. Thompson.
Second Sergeant—Van Fleet.
Third Sergeant—Lowell.

The boys looked and drilled very well, considering that they have only been out a short time.

Advertised Letters.

Remaining in the Dunellen Post Office for the month ending May, 1892:

Swatlies, Mrs Dora Moore, Frederick S
Dagler, James Peddle, W H
Clark, James P C
Hunter, Pierce Ridley, Pat (3)
Murphy, Edwin Van Fleet, G C
Mc— VanFleet, John

Persons calling for the above please say advertised. James H. Harold, P. M.

Base Ball Notes.

Murphy, Snedden, Turner and Keefer play with the Plainfields this afternoon in their game with the Staten Islanders.

Two leaders meet at the Crescents' grounds in this city, Saturday, and what a game it will be.

BOWLING LAST NIGHT.

PARK CLUB WIN FROM UNION COUNTY.

Crescent League Defeated by the Somerville Aggregation.—The Catholic Young Men's Lyceum Tournament.

The sixth and final game of the season between the Union County Country Club and the Park Club teams was bowled on the alleys of the latter, last evening.

The Park Club team won by the following score:

PARK CLUB.		UNION COUNTY.
FIRST GAME.
Thomas	160	Meeks	122
Armstrong	160	Hopper	119
Thurber	172	Reed	109
Brown	141	Cable	126
Darling	161	Jackson	131
Total	670	Total	609
SECOND GAME.
PARK CLUB.		UNION COUNTY.
Murphy	111	Evans	102
Newman	127	Hopper	100
Worth	115	Moore	97
Wright	127	Cable	117
McCutcheon	136	Jackson	116
Total	619	Total	532

The Park Club have won all the games of the series except one five men team game, which was the second game bowled on the Union County alleys.

Another series of games will be arranged between these two clubs in the Fall.

The Crescent League bowling team visited Somerville last evening and were defeated by the following score:

SOMERVILLE.		CRESCENTS.
VanArsdale	179	Teel	136
Haynes	111	Waters	169
Brokaw	135	Bedford	91
Smith	141	Moore	93
Gulick	127	Leddy	111
Schoonmaker	125	Murphy	159
Brown	166	Doane	130
Mellit	151	Jones	144
Keeshline	118	Davis	144
Goodman	141	VanWinkle	148
Total	1303	Total	1267

The tournament at the C. Y. M. I. was continued last night as follows:

R. Whalen, 154; vs. Gantner, 127.
Mack, 120; vs. W. Kelley, 119.
Trainor, 150; vs. Winn, 121.

The last game of the tournament will be bowled Saturday night.

Cranford's Country Club.

The Cranford Country Club house will be a building in the colonial style, quaint and pleasing, and will be erected on Riverside drive. It will be 40x30 feet in size, and will embody all the necessary requirements for a thoroughly equipped club house. Besides the floor plans show ample space for four bowling alleys, a room for the bicycling members, lavatory, boiler room and janitor's room. The principal story contains a large billiard room for four tables, with fire-place, a general lounging room with large fire-place, a smoking room, card rooms, steward's office, ladies' room and a commodious staircase leading to the auditorium on the second floor. The auditorium is fitted up with a stage and dressing rooms for the dramatic department of the club is very strong—and the hall will seat two or three hundred. From the hall there are three balconies and a kitchen; and from the west balcony leads an open stairway to the porch below, so that there are ample exits in case of fire.

The contract for the mason work was taken by Barnett & Millican of this city and the carpenter's work goes to Diedrich Bredt of Cranford. Work will be begun at once and the building will be ready for occupancy by Oct. 1st. The building will cost between $7,000 and $8,000 when completed.

At Elizabeth's Court.

The Court of General Quarter Sessions convened at the usual hour, and the trial of criminal cases were resumed.

Professor W. Sprout, the agent of the United States Industrial Insurance Company, indicted for fraud, was acquitted and retracted his former plea of not guilty, pleading now guilty to fraud.

Peter Brady and Mr. Loewe was remanded for sentence to be imposed on Saturday next.

In the case of David Lord who was indicted for false pretences in obtaining possession of goods of the Elizabeth pedlers' association, his counsel, Mr. Simonson moved for the discharge of the accused on the ground that the indictment was defectively drawn as it did not specify the goods taken.

After some argument the court decided that the indictment was sufficient, and ordered that it be quashed. The defendant was then released.

The first case moved for trial was the State vs. Mrs. Minnie Walsh. The defendant was charged with beating a child of Charles Hoffman, her brother-in-law. Mr. James C. Connolly appeared as counsel for the defendant.

Children's Home Anniversary.

The exercises of the fifteenth anniversary of the Children's Home will be held on Thursday evening, June 2d, at eight o'clock p. m. in the First Baptist church, West Front street. Rev. Jas. Mouse of Elizabeth, who has been instrumental in founding several homes will make the address. Reports of president and treasurer will be read and the election of officers will be held over, so that it was impossible to detect their presence. The public are invited to be present. Any interest connected with the home.

AMONG THE WHEELMEN.

Items of Interest to Bicyclers.—The Journal Trophy Race.

In the Elizabeth Journal trophy races, which will take place this Summer, the following clubs will be represented:

Plainfield Bicycle Club, Westfield Athletic Club, Union League Wheelmen of Westfield, Cranford Cycling Club, Roselle Ramblers, Union County Roadsters, Elizabeth Wheelmen, Elizabeth Athletic Cyclers, Elizabeth Field Club and Mercury Wheelmen.

The dates and clubs to compete have been announced as follows:

For the first trial heat, June 25th, Cranford Cycling Club, Roselle Ramblers, and Elizabeth Athletic Club.

For the second trial heat, July 9th, Union County Roadsters, Union League of Westfield and Westfield Athletic Club.

For the third trial heat, July 23d, Elizabeth Wheelmen, Plainfield Bicycle Club and Elizabeth Field Club.

Final heat, August 6th.

The Plainfield Bicycle Club, the Union County Roadsters and the Westfield Athletic Club have been designated to supply each one man to act as judge on the final race.

The three tandemers and one of the Bonanza of E. W. John C. Weaver of Town Taxile, and Deputy Clerk Jesse C. Crowell, of the U. C. R.

The starter, Mr. Elliott Mason.

The clerk of the course, Captain F. L. C. Martin of this city.

More applications for membership in the Union League Wheelmen came in last week than in any other week in the history of the organization. Seven hundred and six new names were enrolled.

A Medical Discovery.

Of all the claims to curative powers in disease—and there are thousands—a little instrument, shown us to-day, takes the lead. It is called the "Electropoise" and there is a mystery about it which no one has yet solved, or else it is an unprecedented fraud, which in the face of the testimonies afforded in its behalf it is equally difficult to believe. The electropoise is a tube containing some heavy metal, but the interior of this tube is not accessible. To this tube is attached a long cord, and to the end of the cord a band. This band is to be fastened to the ankle or arm or locally to the place where the pain is severest, and the tube being placed in a pail or basin of cold water, the patient rests on the bed or in an easy chair and waits for results. It is asserted that yellow fever has been cured by it in more than ninety cases in a hundred, that fevers disappear before it like magic, and that blind have been restored to sight, and that there is no ache or pain that can long resist its influence. Read the advertisement of the company only tell what is told us. It is possible an agency will be established in this city, if so, the advertisement will be found in our columns.

The Hillside Tennis Club.

The tournament game at the Hillside Tennis Club's Courts Monday was a great success.

The Club now has a membership of over 70 and their courts are unexcelled in this vicinity. The finishing touches are being made on the two new courts adjoining, which will give them four courts in all to play on.

On next Saturday, the charming afternoon teas, which were so popular last year, will be resumed at the Club house adjoining the tennis grounds.

STATE NEWS.

There is a colored woman who resides in East Red Bank who is said to be over 105 years old.

The Board of Health of Bordentown, N. J., has ordered the public schools of that city closed until October, on account of an epidemic of diphtheria.

The New Jersey Trotting Horse Breeders' meeting will be held on the grounds of the Monmouth County Agricultural Society, at Somerville, in August.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Policeman Chester Schultz, of Carteret, who is charged by Mrs. John Coller with attempting to assault her at her home near Woodbridge.

Quinten Rankin, plasterer, while repairing some old plaster in Somerville, Monmouth county, last week, discovered a very old English copper coin, a little larger than one of our cents, dated 1124.

The remains of the late Archdeacon Scansbury, for thirty years rector of Christ Church, Bayonne, N. J., who died on Saturday last, will be buried Saturday at Newark. Bishop Starkey officiated at the funeral services.

The Presbyterian Social Union of Newark, N. J., has issued a letter asking the Fifth avenue Presbyterian church of that city, preventing it from the holding of a picnic on the grounds of the church, on the Sabbath. The project has been abandoned.

Freehold will have a great celebration on the Fourth of July, which will be opened to-day by the firing of a cannon and ringing of bells by the boys of the fife and drum corps. The parade at 10:30 a. m. an oration at noon, a concert at 2 p. m. and a display of fireworks on the fair grounds at night are the features of the evening. The Citizens' Committee has contributed $500, and expects to get $1,000 more.

Laborers engaged in tearing down a frame building at 223 Newark avenue, Jersey City, made a terrible discovery on Saturday last. They found the remains of a child, which had been buried in the cellar. The police authorities have been notified and are investigating the matter. Coroner Hoffman, of Hudson county, and Coroner Connolly, of Jersey City, were present. The remains were wrapped in a New York Herald of December 1st, 1889. The coroner will hold an inquest over the remains, so that it was impossible to detect their presence. The public are invited to be present. Any interest connected with the house.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

LOSS OF LIFE AT PRAGUE.

Fourteen Dead Bodies Taken from a Fire.

PRAGUE, June 1st. (Special.)—Fire started in a silver mine near here last night. Five hundred men were employed in the mine.

Fourteen dead bodies were brought to the surface this morning and many injured.

Three Prisoners Lynched.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 1. (Special.)—Two weeks ago Charles Stewart murdered Jeller Holmes in the jail at Perryville while awaiting trial for criminal assault. Before he was hanged he confessed that his three uncles, the McArthurs, had advised him to murder Holmes in order to effect his escape.

Sheriff Oliver left Perryville on May 27 for this city by overland route with the three McArthurs, and should have arrived here yesterday, but did not.

It was learned to-day that the three prisoners were taken from the Sheriff and lynched. The McArthurs were white men.

Dr. Parkhurst Sails for Europe.

NEW YORK, June 1.—(Special.)—Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst and his wife sail to-day on the White Star line steamship Germanic for Liverpool, to spend his Summer vacation. He will return on the same ship, leaving Liverpool, September 14.

Patentees.

The following is a list of patents granted to Jerseymen for the week ending May 24, 1892:

Deaton, A. Bickers, Newark.
Design, G. L. Crowell, jr., Allington.
Design, Wm. Miller, jr., Newark.
Design, two patents, W. S. McLewee, Trenton.
Design, two patents, A. Carlowitz, Newark.
Trade mark, P. Goldstein, Newark.
C. C. Tabbutt, Orange, assignor of one-half to Edward Lawrence, Newark, speed governor for gas engines, J. S. Connelly, Hoboken.
Gas burner, A. C. Stanbiel, Newark.
Opera glass attachment, P. Moews, Newark.
Low pressure steam boiler, H. Abell, Carteret.
Printing arrester, J. E. Brown, Elizabeth.
Electric locomotive, four patents, T. A. Edison, Llewellyn Park.
Potato planter and fertiliser distributor, J. S. Robbins, Allentown.
Flushing device for water closet bowls, A. Cochran, Trenton.
Whirligig, A. Mott, Jersey City.
Meeting for meeting postal lading, G. A. Old, Newark.
Wire rope conveying device, E. G. Spilsbury Trenton.
Speed changing mechanism, W. A. Wright, Cotterton.

Garment supporter, S. B. Ferris, Lakewood.
Bicycle, T. E. McKenna, Newark.
Machine for forming fuel bricks, J. P. Schmidt, Jersey City.
Brake mechanism for cars, J. Howard, Englewood.
Folding umbrella, P. Batsel, Riverside.
Gas regulator, R. O'Gorman, Jersey City.
Apparatus for molding earthenware, J. Crosby, Trenton.
Locking device for switch and signal operating mechanism, T. H. Faisenall, Rahway.
Sweat band for hats, H. R. Ward, Newark.
Gluing machine, W. S. Brock, Plainfield.
Ore conveying apparatus (three patents) T. A. Edison, Llewellyn Park.
Compound engine, J. F. Murphy, Paterson.
Electric beat alarm, J. Myer, Jersey City.
Tilted tunnel, T. Miller, Jersey City.
Transom lifter, H. A. Brennan, Jersey City.
Rein support, D. Band, Netherwood.
Dumping freight car, S. M. Johnson, Plainfield.
Harness saddle, L. A. Mancini, Montclair.
Paste mark, A. P. Meisselbach & Bro., Newark.

Firemen's Tournament.

The Citizens' Committee has decided to make the Firemen's parade and tournament to be held at Asbury Park on the Fourth of July doubly interesting. To make the volunteers five cornered more interesting, a search for treasure is the order, the following cash prizes are offered for the best-equipped company. First prize—$75.
Second prize—$50.
Third prize—$25.

The successful companies will not be allowed to compete and that will insure a large number for the awards to the visiting companies. Communications for the same should be sent to George F. Kruger.

Food.

A PRACTICAL illustrated journal of the principles involved in every daily household duty. Original recipes, tested and found perfect by actual use; practical hints never to serve.

Sent free to each member and as a specimen, free, on mentioning this paper.

Ten a year. Ten months on trial, 25 cents.

CLOVER PUBLISHING CO.
17-23 Park Place,
NEW YORK.

ONLY FIVE CENTS A COPY.

Standard Sheet Music, vocal and instrumental, 2,000 different pieces to select from. Catalogue free. 5 cents a copy.

Remember we sell stoves during the Summer. Get our prices. 4½ inch wick, one burner, 85 cents; 2 burner, $1.70; 3 burner, $2.55. 12 cents buys four quart, stone butter jars, tomato pots or pickles, covered preserve jars, milk pails, gallon jugs, other wares that are worth double. 25 cents buys one dozen of tea, or lead, worth 75 cents. Buy "Horse Head Wash Boilers." No. 8, $1.60; No. 9, $1.75—guaranteed for three years. Wide Mouth, Tin Cream Freezers, best and quickest, prices ranging $1. Your own Mason's Jars, 90 cents a dozen; jelly glasses, preserving bottles, hammocks, and croquet.

PARLOR LAMPS AT REDUCED PRICES.

Decorated, Tea, Dinner and Toilet Sets at your own price. Common crockery at factory prices. Household sundries of all kinds. Valentine and cameras, fancy goods, musical instruments, soaps, combs and brushes. Finest butter tubs, regularly $1. You get your cars bargains from our five and ten cent counters. Royal Tooth Powder 2 for 5 cents equals like best. Try it.

J. C. ALLEN, 28 West Front Street.

AUCTION SALE OF FURNITURE

Extraordinary offer of two weeks accumulating. Goods from Nelsonville, North avenue and other places, consisting of Everything Pertaining to Housekeeping,

Parlor Suites, Bedroom Suites, Diningroom Suits, Buffets, Tables, Chairs, Stands, Carpets, 100 yards of Oil Cloths, etc. Also one square piano, very good. Sale without reserve.

Friday, June 3d, at 2 p. m. Sharp,
CORNER FRONT AND GROVE STREETS.

T. J. CAREY, - Auctioneer.

TERMS CASH.

P. S.—The goods and chattels of Mrs. Geo. Richardson will also be sold for storage.

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER

One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.

Whole Suits from $5 up.

Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.

70 WEST FRONT STREET.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,

OF PLAINFIELD.

Firm of

RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY,

Importers and Tailors,

231 Broadway, New York.

Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring.

Moderate Prices.

Cent-a-Word Column.

HELP WANTED.

A YOUNG white woman in family of two, for general housework. Must be good plain cook. Call all the week. 120 Dorset place. 5t*

A GIRL for general housework. Apply at No 15 Craig place. 5t*

IF there is anyone in need of attention they look here for your advertisement.

WANTED—An reliable woman for general housework in a family of three. Reference required. Apply at 1 East Ninth street. 1.3

WANTED—Good cook and laundress, with Plainfield references. Call in the mornings before eleven. Dust, 15 La Grande avenue. 1t

WANTED—A girl for general housework in a family of two persons. Good wages and home and plain cook. Address box 384, Westfield, N. J. 2t

BOARDERS WANTED.

ROOMS and board, 31 West Second street. 20 6

FOR RENT.

A NEW and delightful eight-room house to rent. Modern conveniences. Corner Park avenue and Somerset street. Address "Richmond Street," care of EVENING NEWS. 20-6w

SQUARE piano to let. Terms $2 per month. 61 Grandview avenue. 5.17d

TO LET—Four nice rooms with water, gas and wood house. Address, Room, care of EVENING NEWS. 31-6

TO LET—On Front street, five minutes walk from depot—two pleasant furnished rooms, with use of bath. Located in a private family. Address "F. F." care NEWS. 31 5

FOR SALE.

A BRICK house. Ten well-papered rooms. Will sell for $2,000. Address "H." care of EVENING NEWS. 20 tf*

$50 BUYS second-hand natural wood carry at Ryerson's, 23 Somerset. 18-tf

$190—Piano, upright, used for sale. In good condition. Call or write to H. Buckley, 15 East Front street, Plainfield. 5.20d

MISCELLANEOUS.

A MEDICAL DISCOVERY—The advertiser is in want of an agreeable lady or gentleman in every town to introduce a little household article, pleasing to everybody, and the sales of the article are enormous, and to have a large income. Any one can do the work. Both sexes and households of moderate means are liberal customers. A very small capital will be required. For full particulars address at once, Dr. Lyon, 1,000 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa. 5.20d

LADIES wishing fast chromotype for tidy work, send 10 cents to this office, or to Ryerson, care of EVENING NEWS. 6 tf

OLD-FASHIONED furniture is made new by bright and neat. Call Ferguson, 11 Somerset street. 5.20d

SECURE your tickets for the Columbian Fair. For particulars apply at Mallory's. 5 20d

MUSIC HALL!

Thursday, June 2,

The young, beautiful and accomplished emotional actress, Miss Gertrude Cockling, in the pastiverful, new, original and moral version of Mrs. Wood's great dramatic story, The

New East Lynne,

Or, The Elopement. Introducing the wonderful railroad scene. The Paris and London express. Two trains in of cars collision.

Seats on sale at Central Pharmacy.

CARRIAGES and HARNESS.

Swift Bicycle Agency

The Oldest and Largest Producers of wheels.

Catalogues on application.

RYERSON,

28 SOMERSET STREET.

STRAW : HATS!

We have received a good assortment for Men and Boys.

Hallock & Davis,

5 West Front Street.

Don't Forget we keep

MEN'S FURNISHINGS.

Also

Trunks and Bags.

George - Bremmer,

No 29 Somerset Street,

READY MADE CLOTHING,

or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Bishop Phillips Brooks believes that man has not nearly achieved the fullness of his mission here on earth, but that he is to go from perfection to perfection.

The Canadian delegate to the Methodist general conference, Dr. Carmen, left this charge to the Methodists of the United States: "Hold on to your public school system. Stand by the public schools, for they are the hope of your country." So they are.

By getting up at 8 o'clock in the morning and looking through an opera glass it was possible for one to see that comet with eight tails that appeared in the constellation of Pegasus. But it was a good deal more satisfactory to look at the pictures somebody else had made of it in the papers next day.

The present generation will live to see a railway running from the northwest corner of the United States to the Argentine Republic. The preliminary survey for the road is already well in hand. The United States commissioners for the intercontinental railway are Messrs. A. J. Cassatt, H. G. Davis and R. C. Kerens. They report that there are three routes which are considered practicable. The surveyors believe the road can be constructed at an average expense of $20,000 a mile. Economy in congress ought not to take the direction of cutting off appropriations for continuing this survey.

Columbus Day.

The president has been asked to issue a proclamation requesting the people of this happy land in their homes and local neighborhoods to observe with fitting ceremonies Oct. 12, the day on which 400 years ago Columbus sighted the New World. It ought to be made the country over the occasion of such celebrations as America has never witnessed. The ceremonies can take the form best adapted to each neighborhood. There ought to be lectures, sermons, fireworks, splendid tableaux and processions, with the beating of drums and the marching of our gallant young national guard soldiers. The day may be used to give a magnificent object lesson in both history and patriotism.

Especially valuable is the suggestion to have a simultaneous celebration of the day in all the public schools of the land. It is desired that a uniform programme be prepared and carried out in all the schools. To the preparation of this programme the best artists and poets of the country, as well as the best educational executive ability should be brought. The day must be made one that the public school youngsters will never forget, but will in time to come recall and describe to their great-grandchildren with a thrill of patriotic pride. It must be a day which shall quicken ever after each American's love for and noble pride in his country.

So Much a Year.

It has been observed that persons who have a fixed income, without any bother or worry about making provision for its coming, live longer than anybody else on the average. To know that for certain, whatever happens to the rest of the world, you will have bread and a roof over you, conduces particularly to peace of mind and health of body. Under circumstances like these the poet, artist, preacher, philosopher or man of science ought to do his best and noblest work. During all the last third or quarter of one's life to get away from the wild worry and suspense of money making and quietly allow all that is best and most beautiful in one's nature to come uppermost, to pursue the music, the art, the studies one loved in youth, but had to abandon for money grubbing, this is the ideal existence.

Annual annuities are what fit the case exactly. They have long been popular in Great Britain, where the government itself superintends the distribution of the semiannual dividend. The person who desires to lay by an annuity for his old age begins to skimp and save from his wages in youth. The process does not hurt him any—on the contrary. By and by, after long years, when he has reached the age of from fifty to sixty, he has a sum sufficient, put out at interest, to guarantee him a modest income the rest of his life. He then "buys an annuity," as it is called, from the government. That is to say, the government takes his money and pays him the highest rate of interest that is considered profitable to itself, usually 6 per cent. Every half year or long as he lives thereafter the annuitant calls on the British empire for his dividends. At his death, however, the government becomes sole owner of the principal, and here is where its end of the profit comes in.

In Great Britain the annuitants are largely old maids and bachelors. Particularly this is an excellent investment for women, such as teachers and others who work in youth. There ought to have something of the kind in the United States, though it is not at all certain that the government should sell the annuities. But some organization of co-operative workers might do it. There are such in existence now on a small scale, but some plan should be devised that would put the system upon an absolutely sure basis, as fixed as the government itself.

T. C. PLATT'S PLATFORM

He Tells Why He Opposes President Harrison.

ANSWER TO THE WORLD INTERVIEW

The Famous New York Ex-Senator Says That Mr. Harrison Claims Altogether Too Much Glory and Has Weakened Himself by Making So Many Enemies.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt, whose opposition to President Harrison's renomination is no secret, was asked if he had read the interview in The World on Friday, in which President Harrison was reported as saying that he did not believe that "individual disappointments" would control the action of the convention at Minneapolis.

"Yes," Mr. Platt replied, "I saw the interview. The remark about 'individual disappointments' indicates how thoroughly the president misapprehends the nature of the opposition to his candidacy and also how wise is the American system of frequent changes in the personnel of the government. It is astonishing how easily a man comes to look upon the office he holds as his private property. The president cannot understand how a man can be a good citizen without offering prayer night and day for the re-election of Benjamin Harrison.

Not the Only Statesman.

"Now, I am what your Mugwump friends delight to stigmatize as a 'practical politician.' I look at things as they really are. The president says in this World interview that he has acted conscientiously in the discharge of his public duties. I am more than willing to subscribe to really enthusiastic praise of his administration. It has certainly done great things, but the president should not assume that he is the only man who, since the constitution, has made Republican party's splendid achievements. Blaine gave us the most attractive and popular feature of our policy—the magnificent scheme of reciprocity, which has saved to the people $80,000,000 of taxation here, and to their exports half as much more in the foreign countries where they are sent. It has extended our foreign trade not less than $75,000,000 and promises soon to do vastly more than that. Now, if I remember rightly, when Mr. Blaine went to the president his Pan-American report proposing reciprocity, Mr. Harrison forwarded it to congress with something like a sneer. He said in his message to congress: 'It will certainly be time enough for us to consider whether we must cheapen the cost of production by cheapening labor in order to gain access to South American markets, when we have fairly tried the effect of established and reliable steam communication and of convenient methods of money exchange.' Then he went on to say that with these advantages we could easily compete in South America anyhow.

Threw Cold Water on Reciprocity.

"In other words, he threw cold water on reciprocity. Later, when Mr. Blaine's public letters demonstrated that the people were with him in the great policy, when congress put it into law and Brazil gave Mr. Blaine a treaty, the president went a snarling through the south saying very much about principles of reciprocity and very little about the statesman who contrived it. Reciprocity is the brightest jewel in the crown of this administration, but whose jewel is it? This administration settled the Samoan difficulty with Germany. That was a particularly ugly and delicate affair. The president should come in for his share of the credit, but it was not he who drew the instructions under which our commissioners acted and they certainly did the business. It was a victory for the Harrison administration, but we must not wholly forget Blaine and Commissioners Kasson, Phelps and Bates.

"The Chilian affair was also a victory and the president was highly conspicuous at the finish. But even there he must divide honors with his secretary of the navy, who built and armed cruisers between nightfall and morning for two weeks before the Chilians were down on their knees.

"The administration has vindicated the honor of the American hog. Now for the first time in twenty years American meat products are admitted into every European market on the same terms with the most favored nations of the earth, and in some markets on terms even more favorable.

Who Vindicated The Hog's Honor?

"Secretary Rusk has said that he is very much obliged to Mr. Blaine for the able assistance rendered to him in securing the admission of American meat products abroad. This indicated that Rusk did the business. In a recent speech the president himself said that this result had been accomplished in such complacent terms as to make me fear that Rusk had counted without his host. But whether it was done by Harrison or Rusk the country will not forget that Blaine was in the very department, that Reid was at Paris, that Phelps was at Berlin and that their relation to the victory was not altogether mechanical.

"It might be said, perhaps, that the credit of the achievements wrought by Republican statesmen belongs especially to the president on the ground that he gave those great men to the party. But did he? Certainly it was not Harrison who made Blaine, nor did he make Reed, McKinley, Sherman, Allison, Aldrich, Frye or Hale. Perhaps he did make Noble and Miller, and I should not object to his having all the credit which attaches to their illustrious careers. But the point I wish to bring out is that once in a government of parties and not a government of men. The president's error lies in assuming that he has done it all.

"Bit point to the McKinley bill, the customs act, the shipping bill, the pension law, the navy construction laws, the army reform acts and all the wonderful legislation which the Republican majority of the Fifty-first congress formulated and which Thomas B. Reed's resolute will enabled them to enact and pass. See what I have done!"

"The question which the Minneapolis convention must consider is the great question of availability—which of the excellent Republican leaders is the most likely to develop party strength and the least likely to cause party defections.

"History shows that the reelection of a president has been possible, since the days of the fathers, only when we have had a super atively great man like Jackson, Lincoln, Grant and a time of emergency. Except when these two conditions were in conjunction the attempt to re-elect has been a failure. And the reason is plain. He is a wonderful man who in the precedency can make friends as fast as he necessarily makes enemies. I think President Harrison has displayed a singular facility for arousing enmities. To ask the party to assume all these without bringing to it some unique element of strength is, in my opinion, to ask too much."

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Dave Shaw, a negro, has been lynched at Grey Court, S. C., for larceny.

An unknown man committed suicide by plunging over Niagara Falls.

Charles Watson, who shot and killed John Green at Exeter, N. H., has been captured.

Mack Wills, colored, was lynched at Lebanon, Ky., for alleged assault upon a white girl.

The granite manufacturers at Quincy, Mass., declared their quarries and sheds to be formally opened.

It is said that Cerro, who has been at Key West, Fla., for several weeks, left Havana Friday night en route to San Diego.

Advices from Douglass, Wy., says it is believed that another attack is soon to be made on the so called "Bastiens" by the cattlemen.

The condition of Count Tolstoi, whose illness was announced some days ago, is said to be more serious.

The collector of customs at Westfield, Mass., has seized the noted stallion Perfection, recently imported from Nova Scotia, on the ground of unsoundness.

William Lyons Phelps has been appointed instructor in English at Yale. He is a graduate of Yale, class of '87.

Reports from the west continue to show that millions of dollars' worth of damage has been done by the storms. The streets of Indianapolis resemble miniature lakes.

In many parts of the United States Tuesday the observance of the day of fasting and prayer, with the view of staying the tide of murder and lynching of colored people in the south.

In the Memorial Day parade at Jeanesburg, Mich., several Irish societies carried green flags. As a result the Sons of St. George and the Knights of the Golden Circle refused to march behind them.

The president has signed the private pension bill.

The United States court in session at San Antonio, Tex., has secured twenty convictions for murder and seven guilty of violating the neutrality laws during the late Garza revolutionary affair.

At Lemington, England, G. F. Greatrex, a bachelor, eighty years of age, was killed by his son, whose allowance he had refused to increase.

Four powerful dynamite cartridges, with fuses attached, were found in the vicinity of the Great Eastern railway station, near London Fields, Hackney.

The president, General Schofield, Secretary Noble and Representative Henderson, Hooker and Blount returned to Washington from Rochester.

Mr. Turpie, of Indiana, offered a resolution in the senate calling for the reciprocity correspondence with Hayti, Colombia and Venezuela.

Sir Francis Burdett died in London. He was a cousin of Baroness Burdett-Coutts.

FASHIONS

ENGLISH STYLES.

Salient Features in Current Modes—How the Best Dressers Are Made.

The French dressmakers have for a long time been showing the most supreme contempt for all established rules as to the proper blending of colors, and this season London dressmakers seem to be following their example. Whoever would have thought a few years ago of combining such colors as violet and pink, blue and green, yellow and gray, or heliotrope and blue? A court dress made for one of the May drawing rooms was of vieux rose silk, with a train of violet velvet and a garniture of violets. A beautiful dress in pale pink and yellow—this mixture is quite orthodox—had a Watteau train turned back at one corner with a bow of satin, and a few branches of roses in the two shades of the dress. Any quantity of old lace—imitation as well as real—will be worn this season. The most delicate colors are constantly combined, peach with blue, yellow with green, and with gray, white and grass green, and peach is almost every combination.

A LONDON TOILET.

Sleeves.

The ends of some trains are cut square, and large sleeves differing from the rest of the dress is one way of adapting old to copy the styles of Venetian dames of long ago. Sometimes the same brocade used for the sleeves appears again on the hem of the flounce. Some of the London dressmakers are making up trains in the new Watteau style as a point only of the material being preserved, but the shoulders, where it is liberally trimmed with lace, bring the waist visible, and disposing of the weight which has always been the drag back when the train is made from the shoulders. It is, in fact, an application of the Watteau now introduced to the gowns, etc.

In London efforts are being made to bring in draped yokes. Dresses of crepon, for instance, are looped at the side and show more or less elaborate underskirts of white brocaded velvet. Sleeves in many instances are much trimmed, some have the appearance of being ornamented at the elbow with turned back cuffs of silk—a very pretty style, and in a color of the dress. Sleeves in many cases are so large as to attract attention—as in the cut, in this some cut, by the by, may be seen the tendency referred to toward draped skirts. The dress is a rich, raven gray silk, the skirt of which is slightly pulled in front, with a cascade down one side. The bodice has full sleeves, with a fancy arrangement in a lighter shade of silk is let in from neck to waist, terminating in a point of fine plaits. The basque is finished off by an edging of jet trimming.

THE READING ENJOINED.

New Jersey Moves Upon the Coal Combine.

A BIG FIGHT BEGUN AT TRENTON.

The Attorney General of the State Procures a Preliminary Injunction Against the Consolidation of Railroads—Attempt to Prevent the Scheme.

TRENTON, June 1.—The state of New Jersey has at last moved upon the Reading coal combination. Attorney General Stockton applied to the chancellor for an injunction to restrain the Central railroad, the Philadelphia and Reading and the Port Reading Railroad company from consolidating. Chancellor McGill granted a temporary injunction and the fight is now on in earnest. The attorney general swore that the New Jersey Central railroad has no power to lease itself to the Port Reading Railroad company or to become a dealer in coal. There is no authority in the law for the leasing, but statutes forbidding it.

Used as a Cover.

This information sets out that the Port Reading is being used as a mere cover to disguise the lease of the Central to the Philadelphia and Reading and that through the coal companies in question the price of coal has been raised, the combine having destroyed competition and created a monopoly, leaving the price of coal at the mercy of the arbitrary orders of the combination. The information charges that the lease was made without the consent of the stockholders, or the observance of any of the formalities required by the law of the state. The information prays that the lease of the Central to the Port Reading shall be declared to be ultra vires and void, and that the tripartite agreement may be decreed to be fraudulent and void and that the Port Reading and the Philadelphia and Reading may be decreed to surrender and return to the Central all its franchises, property, etc.

FOUR MINERS ARE DEAD.

Disastrous Results of an Explosion of Gas at Wilkesbarre.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 1.—The mine accident at Macungaia turns out to be more disastrous than at first reported. The victims now number four. Their names are John Protheroe, foreman; John Walters, Henry Ritter and Walter Dietrick, all miners and heads of families. Seven men were taken from the mine severely bruised.

The most seriously injured are H. M. Everhart, Fred Everhart and William Cooper.

The accident was due to a terrific explosion of gas, which did great damage to the mine. The dead were horribly mangled, and shreds of flesh hung from the bodies of the injured. It is impossible for the dismissed is not known. Foreman Protheroe could tell if he was not dead.

Killed Herself for Love.

BROOKLYN, June 1.—Miss Lillian Norfolk, one of the wealthiest and handsomest of Brooklyn's young women, undressed and went into the bathroom in her home on Franklin and Flatbush avenues at daybreak, and after making a rope of her luxuriant hair, fastened it to the gas fixture, hanging a loop over the silver gilt faucet that let water into the bath. Love for a grocer, whose customer she was, is said to have been the cause. Lillian was the belle of society. He was the man with whom Lillian was infatuated.

Miners' Wages Raised.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., June 1.—The increase of 1 per cent. in the rate of wages has made the miners of the Schuylkill region very jubilant. The increase is due to the advance in the market price of coal, and a further increase is expected. With a few exceptions all of the producing collieries of the Reading company are now working.

To Move Against Mr. Quay.

HARRISBURG, June 1.—Senator Baton, of Pittsburg, says he has come to Harrisburg for a conference with the attorney general, and that he proposes to institute legal proceedings at once against Auditor General Stanton Treasurer Boyer and Treasurer Morrison for alleged violations of law and illegal use of state funds.

Poor Brave Kim to Suicide.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 1.—Driven to despondency on the eve of his intended in which his name was connected with a young woman would reach the ears of his betrothed, Lawrence William Rhodes, son of a wealthy flat grocer of Highland, deliberately drowned himself in the Hudson river.

Against Moral Suasion.

MADISON, Wis., June 1.—The Prohibition state convention met here. The feature of the address of Samuel D. Hastings, chairman of the state committee, was the earnest fear that Rusk had counted without his host. But whether it was done by Harrison or Rusk the country will not forget that Blaine was in the very department, that Reid was at Paris, that Phelps was at Berlin and that their relation to the victory was not altogether mechanical.

"It might be said, perhaps, that the credit of the achievements wrought by Republican statesmen belongs especially to the president on the ground that he gave those great men to the party. But did he? Certainly it was not Harrison who made Blaine, nor did he make Reed, McKinley, Sherman, Allison, Aldrich, Frye or Hale. Perhaps he did make Noble and Miller, and I should not object to his having all the credit which attaches to their illustrious careers. But the point I wish to bring out is that once in a government of parties and not a government of men. The president's error lies in assuming that he has done it all.

"Bit point to the McKinley bill, the customs act, the shipping bill, the pension law, the navy construction laws, the army reform acts and all the wonderful legislation which the Republican majority of the Fifty-first congress formulated and which Thomas B. Reed's resolute will enabled them to enact and pass. See what I have done!"

"The question which the Minneapolis convention must consider is the great question of availability—which of the excellent Republican leaders is the most likely to develop party strength and the least likely to cause party defections.

"History shows that the reelection of a president has been possible, since the days of the fathers, only when we have had a super atively great man like Jackson, Lincoln, Grant and a time of emergency. Except when these two conditions were in conjunction the attempt to re-elect has been a failure. And the reason is plain. He is a wonderful man who in the precedency can make friends as fast as he necessarily makes enemies. I think President Harrison has displayed a singular facility for arousing enmities. To ask the party to assume all these without bringing to it some unique element of strength is, in my opinion, to ask too much."

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Dave Shaw, a negro, has been lynched at Grey Court, S. C., for larceny.

An unknown man committed suicide by plunging over Niagara Falls.

Charles Watson, who shot and killed John Green at Exeter, N. H., has been captured.

Mack Wills, colored, was lynched at Lebanon, Ky., for alleged assault upon a white girl.

The granite manufacturers at Quincy, Mass., declared their quarries and sheds to be formally opened.

It is said that Cerro, who has been at Key West, Fla., for several weeks, left Havana Friday night en route to San Diego.

Advices from Douglass, Wy., says it is believed that another attack is soon to be made on the so called "Bastiens" by the cattlemen.

The condition of Count Tolstoi, whose illness was announced some days ago, is said to be more serious.

The collector of customs at Westfield, Mass., has seized the noted stallion Perfection, recently imported from Nova Scotia, on the ground of unsoundness.

William Lyons Phelps has been appointed instructor in English at Yale. He is a graduate of Yale, class of '87.

Reports from the west continue to show that millions of dollars' worth of damage has been done by the storms. The streets of Indianapolis resemble miniature lakes.

In many parts of the United States Tuesday the observance of the day of fasting and prayer, with the view of staying the tide of murder and lynching of colored people in the south.

In the Memorial Day parade at Jeanesburg, Mich., several Irish societies carried green flags. As a result the Sons of St. George and the Knights of the Golden Circle refused to march behind them.

The president has signed the private pension bill.

The United States court in session at San Antonio, Tex., has secured twenty convictions for murder and seven guilty of violating the neutrality laws during the late Garza revolutionary affair.

At Lemington, England, G. F. Greatrex, a bachelor, eighty years of age, was killed by his son, whose allowance he had refused to increase.

Four powerful dynamite cartridges, with fuses attached, were found in the vicinity of the Great Eastern railway station, near London Fields, Hackney.

The president, General Schofield, Secretary Noble and Representative Henderson, Hooker and Blount returned to Washington from Rochester.

Mr. Turpie, of Indiana, offered a resolution in the senate calling for the reciprocity correspondence with Hayti, Colombia and Venezuela.

Sir Francis Burdett died in London. He was a cousin of Baroness Burdett-Coutts.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is best

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

THE DOANE & VAN ARSDALE

$3 Welt Shoe,

Paris, New York and Globe Toes. Widths B, C, D & E.

Best in the World for the Money.

22 West Front Street.

P. S.—Time to buy Russet Shoes.

RUSHING INTO PRINT!

We do it right along because we find that people can never know enough about the advantages of buying goods from us.

We save money for you that is the point we want to make. Will you peruse these offers?

Free with a pound of our Famous 50c. Mixed Tea, or 40c. Baking Powder, your choice of 6 silver plated tea spoons, one Chloe milk pitcher, four pounds granulated sugar, four 5c. cakes laundry soap or one mackerel.

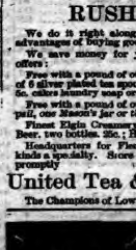
Free with a pound of our renowned 50c. crushed Java Coffee, your choice of one milk pail, one Mason's jar or three teaspoons.

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter produced, 25c. lb; good table Butter, 20c. lb; best Rock Beer, two bottles 25c.; Hires' Root Beer, 10c. a bottle; Knapp's Root Beer, 20c. a bottle

Headquarters for Flemington sugar cured Hams, Bacon and Shoulders. Flour all kinds a specialty. Store open evenings till nine p. m. Orders called for and delivered promptly

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,

The Champions of Low Prices. 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.



WHY IS THIS?

Three years ago the Duluth Imperial Mills made 500 barrels of flour a day.

Now they make 6000 barrels daily.

This is because a barrel of Imperial makes

18 to 20 More Loaves

of bread than any other flour, and the quality is the BEST. Order a barrel or bag of your grocer and satisfy yourself.

FRENCH BROS.,

CITY MILLS.

Telephone No. 24. Nos. 8, 10 and 12 Somerset street.

LOOK AT THIS!

At No. 37 Somerset street, second-hand furniture is Bought and Sold. secure a bargain.

At the carpenter shop, No. 66 East Front street, or at the Somerset street store, contains a rich assortment suitably furnished. Window and door screens a specialty.

G. R. MUSGRAVE, Proprietor.

Unlike the Dutch Process

No Alkalies

—OR—

Other Chemicals

are used in the preparation of

W. Baker & Co.'s

Breakfast Cocoa,

which is absolutely pure and soluble.

It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is far more economical, costing less than one cent a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, and HEALTH RESTORING.

Sold by Grocers everywhere.

W. Baker & Co., Dorchester, Mass.

PIPTONIZED

Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

WILLIAMS'

V. L. FRANCE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

25 West Front Street.

THE BEE HIVE!

Summer Underwear.

Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.

Ladies' ribbed vests, in light neck, short sleeves and long sleeves, 25c.

Ladies' gauze vests, in neck and long sleeves, 25c.

Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed, gauze and medium weight.

Men's fine gauze shirts, in long and short sleeves, and drawers at 25, 37 and 50c.

Men's Summer Merino shirts and drawers, 25, 37 and 50c.

Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, 9c.

Children's Summer merino and gauze vests, in short and long sleeves also sanitette, sizes, 16, 12c.; 18, 15c.; 20, 16c.; 22, 18c.; 24, 20c.; 26, 22c.; 28c.

A full line of Parasols, Lace caps, white dresses, and infants' long and short clothing a costs.

Louis Callman,

40 West Front Street.

C. DICKINSON,

PRACTICAL

OPTICIAN

and

JEWELER.

Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Agent for the American

Rambler Bicycles.

No. 13 Park avenue.

COAL and WOOD,

E. H. HOLMES,

YARD—24 Madison Avenue.

Office:—27 North avenue, (with Woodson & Beckie.

A. M. SEGUINE,

Proprietor of

Laing's Hotel Stables,

on Front Street, Opp. Somerset.

TELEPHONE CALL NO. 26.

Coaches for weddings, funerals and private parties.

Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.

Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.

BOARDED HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!

ALL SIZES,

Of Stone

Light Blue Color.

References:—

F. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.

ROBT. A. MEEKER, Street Com.

Smalley Bros.,

30 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

29 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.

Invites the public to inspect the quality of his newly ordered coal, which is thoroughly screened, free from slate, which he delivers anywhere within the city limits in clean and quick time possible by any other method of delivery.

DYKES LEHIGH AND NORTHTOWN COAL is best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND SEASONED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for unloading and screening coal, and solicits a continuance of patronage for the same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in BEST

QUALITY COAL

YARD AND OFFICE

SOUTH AVENUE.

P. O. BOX 1007.

Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,

Counsellors at Law. Commissioners of Deeds. Notaries Public. Conveyancers. Solicitors in Chancery. Notaries Public, Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 26 West Front.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E.

Engineer of the Famous Union County Road Machine. Surveying given to street paving and sewerage. Office, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON,

Attorney-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public. Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 26 West Front.

CLARK & REED,

Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CHAS. A. MARSH,

Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner of Deeds, Notary Public and Conveyancer. Office over First National Bank.

OSCAR S. TRAIS,

Attorney-at-Law, 257 Broadway, New York city, rooms 20 and 21. Importers and Traders' Bank Building. Residence, Plainfield N. J.

PLAINFIELD

HORSELESS EXCAVATING COMPANY

J. B. CO.

JONES & CO.

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Two teams in operation. Our excavating is approved of by the Board of Health. Particular attention given to the removal of cesspools. Office and yard, Park Place, Manufacturers of Park Place Lumber, Garden and Field Fertilizer. P. O. Box 1007. Telephone — call 24.

THE DIME

SAVINGS INSTITUTION

OF

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.

WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.

NATHAN HARPER, " "

ELIAS H. POPE, Treasurer.

Woman's Exchange

AND INDUSTRIAL UNION.

22 Park Avenue.

HOME MADE

—Bread—Rolls—Pies—Cakes—

FRESH EVERY DAY.

THAT MAY CONVENTION.

Will New York's Contesting Delegates Get In?

FAIRCHILD AND GRACE CONFIDENT.

Both Believe That the New Democratic Delegation from the Empire State Will Be Received at Chicago—They Will Support the National Convention's Ticket.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 1.—The delegates at large to the Chicago convention, chosen by the May convention of New York Democrats, were the following named: Frederic C. Coudert, A. H. Grey, Edward Pinckney, Charles A. Bishop. Alternates: J. J. Merrill, Jewett M. Richmond, John Langdon and J. H. Briggs.

District Delegates—1, A. M. Soule, Edward Berry; 2, Henry Hicks, A. A. Healy; 3, Moses H. Putnam; 4, Edward Shepard; J. F. Peabody; 5, J. W. Hetterich, D. Fingerhood; 6, John Jacquemot, N. Colombo; 7, Charles S. Fairchild, James Swann; 8, William Sullivan, Edward Re Whitney; 9, C. G. Baldwin, Reginald Woodward; 10, W. L. Brace, Elliott Danforth; 11, John Quinn, John D. Warren; 12, John D. Quinlan, M. H. Bergen; 13, C. C. Conde, H. Stenan; 14, G. R. Crawford, Frederick Potter; 15, G. Burt, P. Van Alstine; 16, Willard Peck, Darwin Brewer; 17, W. Pool, officer; J. F. Coe; 18, Seymour Van Santvoord, G. J. Webb; 19, Norton Chase, J. G. Warner; 20, S. Hand, Jr., Samuel F. Rapp; 21, Fitch, G. R. Finch; 22, Samuel F. Rapp, Nelson Robinson; 23, H. E. Kinny, A. H. Crosby; 24, W. H. Bunn, Ezra Beckwith; 25, W. A. Beach, Otis Smith; 26, George Bixler, George L. Taylor; 27, W. J. Bulger, William J. Moore; 28, A. J. Hoover, J. Hamilton Ward; 29, C. C. Shayne, Elmer; 30, C. E. Dennison, F. O. Mason; 31, Joseph Hall, A. Hamlin Hanlon; 32, John G. Milburn, William F. Mooney; 33, F. R. Thorn, E. J. Taylor; 34, R. A. Scott, Hudson Ansley, Carranagan.

The State Committee.

The state committee was named as follows:

1, John W. Wood, Queens; 2, George Foster Peabody, Kings; 3, Edward M. Shepard, Kings; 4, Rossi May, Kings; 5, Peter J. Dooling, Kings; 6, Ellery Anderson, New York; 7, Charles S. Fairchild, New York; 8, Edward B. Whitney, New York; 9, R. Gowan, New York; 10, William McFarland, New York; 11, S. G. Monroe, New York; 12, William Solomon, New York; 13, William L. Brown, Columbia; 14, George R. Crawford, Westchester; 15, M. N. Kane, Orange; 16, Guy C. Bu..y, Dutchess; 17, John R. Bagley, Greene; R. S. Seymour Van Santvoord, Troy; 19, Norton Chase, Albany; 20, John B. Ash, Montgomery; 21, J. T. Finch, Warren; 22, George C. Gorman, Jefferson; 23, Thomas E. Mackey, Oneida; 24, John Van Schaick, Schoharie; 25, William J. Bush, Syracuse; 26, William D. Northrup, Madison; 27, William A. Poucher, Oswego; 28, Lewis Dehl, Chemung; 29, Edson Peter, Yates; 30, Charles Rose, Monroe; 31, F. D. Peck, Livingston; 32, F. D. Locke, Erie; 33, E. J. Taylor, Niagara; 34, Hudson Ansley, Cattaraugus.

The Platform.

Mr. Ellery Anderson from the committee on resolutions reported the following platform and resolutions:

We, the delegates of the Democratic party of the state of New York, assembled in convention at Syracuse, declare that the most urgent necessity of the country is a radical reform in the administration of the federal government. We declare that the federal party stands to-day, as to the people and alone can be trusted to administer the government of the nation in the interest of the people.

We denounce the Republican party for its abuse of power during the past few years. Obtaining in the senate and house of representatives both branches of congress that party entered upon a course of extravagance, favoritism and fraud. It found the surplus in the treasury of large and increasing surplus, but disregarding the duty thus imposed upon it to relieve the people from the oppressive taxation long endured the Republican party, through its "billion dollar congress," squandered appropriations amounting to $5,000,000,000 annually. It made most of these appropriations permanent, so that they cannot be reduced by the power of Democratic houses of representatives without the concurrence of the Republican senate and executive. It has left an overflowing surplus into an imminent deficit.

It went to lengths of class legislation before unheard of by upsetting the policy of which it deprived the state of New York of its just representation in congress and in the electoral college by a fraudulent apportionment. It displayed a utter contempt for economy and honesty by its fraudulent administration of the pension office.

It reached a climax of profligacy and oppression in its strenuous endeavors to enact into law the Mahonian Lodge bill.

Contrasted with this history of extravagance and oppression we recall with ever increasing satisfaction the record of the last three years of the Democratic administration. The president's message of December, 1887, pointed out the true issue before the people, and the party through temporary defeat brought to its support the magnificent victories of 1889 and 1891. All this has been remembered by the workmen in other states from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and we declare it is not forgotten in New York.

We denounce the McKinley tariff. We declare that a tariff is a tax; that all taxation is a burden; that it should never exceed the necessities of a government wisely and economically administered. We condemn the present tariff, not only because it is the culminating atrocity of the commercial development of the country, but because it was been enacted in the interests of a few at the sacrifice of the best interests of the mass of the people. It is class legislation.

It does not increase the receipts of the government sufficiently to compel the farmer to buy in the highest market and sell in the lowest; it never gave to the people of this country the benefit of coming more and more responsive, the federal treasury and the taxing power of the federal government to the needs of the people, and it leaves it to them to decide whether or not the wage earners they employ shall receive any part of this enormous bounty. It is the most indefensible source of corruption, a constant menace to free government. It says the independence of industry and leads men to cease to grow rich by official favoritism rather than by their own exertions. Like every other form of protection it is a fraud upon the people. Its necessary favors should seek to perpetuate their grasp upon the government by supplying it practically unlimited campaign funds, and with which an electorate may be corrupted and the government destroyed.

The Democratic party has no more urgent mission than to destroy a system productive of such great evil, and in a spirit of moderation with due regard to the interests of capital now invested and labor now employed in protected industries the Democratic party is pledged to continue its opposition to the tariff until all unjust taxation is entirely for revenue only.

The recent legislation of the party of the Republican party from a general system of high tariff taxes to the reciprocity system is an admission of the vast benefits to be derived from the extension of our foreign trade and of the justice of the tariff reform principles.

The Silver Plank.

We approve the use of both gold and silver as money, and we demand that all dollars, whether gold or silver, shall be equal in value to each other in fact as they are stated in law. We are opposed to the free coinage of silver by the United States alone, at the existing rate of coinage, in the absence of the nations that form a ratio of coinage at that ratio will result in the immediate disappearance of gold from the business of this country, and the silver will be the standard by which every wage earner and every saving will depositor; with impairment of credit and consequent disturbance of business in every part of the land. We demand the repeal of the silver purchase law of 1890 because it is an obstruction to international bimetallism and because it is in daily bringing this country to silver monometallism with all of its attending evils.

We believe that Democrats throughout the country regard with anxiety the condition of the party in this state and look to us to act in a manner that will secure party success in the approaching election. We recognize the necessity of an organization as the medium through which the party may direct its energies, but when such organization ceases to be the party itself instead of its instrument; when it supplants the party; when it calls the conscience at unauthorized seasons and upon insufficient occasions; when regardless of the voters there can be no place upon the convention roll and admits to the convention only those who, without regard to the views or wishes of the party constituents, will agree in advance to support the action of the majority of the majority it has established; when it gives notice in advance that they who will not agree to be so subservient will not be admitted, then it ceases to be representative, and becomes the agent of resentments and imperils its success. In this emergency of the party it becomes the duty of the orderly elements of the party to take such action as will restore to it just relations between its members and their agents.

We believe in and demand fair primaries, fair conventions, fair elections, fair returns and the faithful observance of the verdict of the majority.

The Democratic party retains unshaken confidence in the ability and lofty integrity of Grover Cleveland and his fitness for public duty. He is the choice of an overwhelming majority of the Democracy of New York, and the country may rely with confidence on his ability to carry the state triumphantly in November. We believe that by nominating him to lead the party in the approaching contest for the presidency the national convention will carry out and although the party will win, G. C. will best consult the welfare of the country. We pledge ourselves to support the candidate nominated at Chicago.

The delegation chosen by this convention is instructed to act as a unit according to the determination of a majority of its members.

Wild Applause for Cleveland.

During the reading of the platform the convention frequently applauded, and especially the portions condemning the McKinley bill and the Republican convention and indorsing the administration of Grover Cleveland. When the latter's name was mentioned the convention was converted into a veritable pandemonium. The resolution committee's report was unanimously adopted, and Mr. A. S. Pease, of Saratoga, offered the following resolution as supplemental to the former resolutions:

Resolved, That this convention approves, indorses and point with pride to the administration of Grover Cleveland, and recommends him to the Chicago convention for nomination and to the Democratic party and the patriotic people of the country for election.

He said Mr. Cleveland stands a king today greater than many who have cast their crowns away. The resolution was adopted and the convention adjourned.

The convention over the question of its success or failure and as to its probable effect upon the Chicago convention is pertinent. Ex-Mayor William R. Grace says: "It is foolish to even suppose that the Chicago convention can ignore the results of this convention. We shall have a representation in the convention hall at Chicago."

Not Middebound to Cleveland.

Ex-Secretary of the Treasury Charles S. Fairchild said: "We are not absolutely the convention of Grover Cleveland. It is true his name has been cheered. It is likewise true that resolutions commending his course have been passed, but we are not blindbound, like the February convention, to one man. We are for the great mass of the people, for Democracy, for the Chicago ticket and the Chicago platform. I ratify Mr. Grace's prediction that we will have a representation in the Chicago convention."

The general opinion among the delegates is that while the action of the convention was not particularly favorable to Mr. Cleveland in that it will not tend to make him popular with the Hill adherents, still the object of the meeting, the destruction of the candidacy of David B. Hill, is accomplished.

Blaine Will Not Write Again.

CHICAGO, June 1.—"Mr. Blaine will not write another letter," said National Committeeman A. L. Conger, of Ohio. "Either Mr. Blaine or the president will be nominated, and I am satisfied that Mr. Blaine will be the man. The country wants Mr. Blaine and his reciprocity plan, which has made him so deservedly popular." Mr. Conger laughed to scorn the claim of the Harrisonians that the president has 926 delegates pledged to him.

John Dalzell Renominated.

PITTSBURG, June 1.—In the Twenty-second and Twenty-third congressional district Republican conventions John Dalzell and William A. Stone were nominated for renomination without opposition. The Dalzell convention adopted resolutions strongly indorsing the administration of President Harrison. Colonel Stone in his acceptance speech boomed James G. Blaine for the presidency and was enthusiastically cheered.

Cleveland's Friends Alarmed.

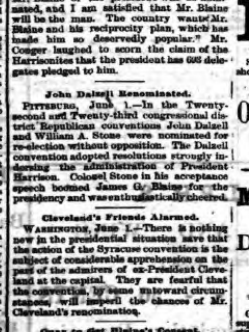
WASHINGTON, June 1.—There is nothing new in the presidential situation save that the action of the Syracuse convention is the subject of considerable apprehension on the part of the admirers of ex-President Cleveland at the capital. They are fearful that the convention, by some untoward circumstance, will jeopardize the chances of Mr. Cleveland's renomination.

Quay to Get Blaine's Consent.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—When Senator Quay leaves Washington for Minneapolis he expects to carry with him the direct assurance from James G. Blaine that he will so vote the presidential nomination if it be offered to him.

For Cleveland and Reform.

COLUMBUS, O., June 1.—Congressman Outhwaite was renominated for congress here. The resolutions adopted declare, "Cleveland to be the first choice of the convention, and that tariff reform is the issue.



—Life.

Women Recognized at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, June 1.—A resolution was adopted by the United Presbyterian general assembly that a representative of the women's board may have the privilege of the floor on the same basis as the secretaries of other boards.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."

BEECHAM'S PILLS

COVERED WITH A TASTELESS AND SOLUBLE COATING.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Want of Appetite, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Biliousness, Pain in the Side, Nausea, Drowsiness, Cold Chills, Flushing of Heat, Low Spirits, and all Nervous and Trembling Affections.

The above symptoms are usual results of a disordered stomach, and can be found in a greater or less degree in the majority of cases. One dose of these Pills will give relief in twenty minutes. A trial box to Test Value is a very low price, and will convince you that you are suffering from one of the most common ailments of civilized society. Of all druggists, or will be sent on receipt of price by the Agent, B. F. ALLEN, 365 Canal St., New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

Everybody Likes Me.

ANTI-CHAP.

I contain no greasy or sticky substance. I penetrate the skin; I eradicate spots and pimples; I keep the skin smooth, soft, pliable; I am harmless. Try me, and I will become your favorite.

All druggists sell me at 25 cents.

Also remember the famous ANTI-CHAP SOAP in connection with ANTI-CHAP.

To the Public:

Neuman Bros.

Desire to call special attention to their choice and select line of new canned vegetables, viz: French Peas, perfected sugar corn, Burnham & Morrill's Paris sugar corn, Shrewsbury tomatoes, Earl tomatoes, F. H. Leggett's stewed tomatoes Fall & Winborne's extra sifted peas, Golden Gate sugar peas, extra early June peas, Hamburg Stringless Beans, Mixed Succotash and Mixed Vegetables.

Special reduction given by the case or doze. Also a fine assortment of Gordon & Dowarth's Jellies and minces meats.

79 BROADWAY.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher.

46 West Front Street.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS AND PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—42 East Front street.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Will sell and retail ice from and after the 1st of May, 1892, from their storage house at Lake Hopatcong ice to their market, are now prepared to serve their patrons with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CODDINGTON, Pres.
H. CODDINGTON, Vice-Pres.
ARCHEY WILSON, Sec. & Treas.
J. MORTON, Gen. Supt.

BOEHM

Will sell for THIS WEEK ONLY,

Good Matting at 10c.

per yard (by the roll). Largest stock of Carpets, Oil Cloths and Mattings in the city.

Special Low Prices

on Millinery, Dress Goods and Spring Jackets this week.

Agency for King's Dyeing of Co., Boston, Pa.

No. 7 WEST FRONT STREET.

JUST IN!

A new lot of goods at No. 61 Park Avenue.

OIL STOVES, ARNOLD COOKERS, GAS STOVES, ARNOLD COFFEE COOKERS and Oil Gas Stoves!

The Oil Gas Stove is something entirely new, and everybody should see it before buying any other. It has two holes, a large Blazer, Iron Oven; is splendid in appearance and works charmingly. Call and see it, burning all day.

M. E. BEACH, Agent.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

LAWN MOWERS, Bicycles, and GENERAL MACHINERY Repairs, at SCHENCK'S Machine Shop,

North Plainfield. Also Pipe Fitting.

Builders' Carpenter

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter and General Jobber.

SHOP—

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Petersen,

SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS,

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 708.

DUNSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 19 Vine street. H. S. Gayle, No. 12 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 112.

R. V. SAUMS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Evans.

P. O. Box 1288

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. F. HOFFMAN,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

Residence—34 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ABBOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Orders left at Front street and Depot avenue, or P. O. Box 1044, will receive prompt attention.

JOHN HERRMANN,

Builder and hard wood mantel maker. Shop corner of Grand and Depot avenue. Hard wood work.

J. HERRMANN, 4 Depot street.

GARDEN FLOWER & LAWN Seeds and Fertilizers.

Special Lawn Seeds for shady and dry lawns.

GARDEN TOOLS and Lawn Mowers.

WATER PIPING AND PLUMBING.

Tinwork, Hardware and Housefurnishings.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

12 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

GEORGE VOEHL, the CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions with Delicious ICE CREAM in bricks.

16 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Miss Blanche Fellows

VOCALIST and Teacher of Singing.

Rapid development and complete education of the voice.

Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel forms and tone production.

Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Call or address

NO. 97 DUER STREET.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

45 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.

49 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST MORTGAGE

NO. 67 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

Having Disposed of the Produce Business to Mr. L. A. Hommel, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No. 79 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : : - - - - NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 45 EMILY STREET,

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro., to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

It gives a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any of the first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor Dealer, Telephone Co. 1267.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(The Port Reading R. R. Co., Lessee.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Stations in Central R. R. of N. J., foot of Liberty street.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 6 13, 6 37, 8 00, 8 14, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave New York (foot of Liberty street) 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night. Sundays, Leave Plainfield 8 14, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave New York 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield 6 13, 6 37, 8 00, 8 14, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave Bound Brook 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night. Sundays, Leave Plainfield 8 14, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave Bound Brook 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 6 13, 8 14, 9 28, 11 30 a. m., 1 00, 2 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 9 30, 11 30 p. m. Leave Somerville 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m. Sundays, Leave Plainfield 8 14, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave Somerville 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND ELIZABETH.

Leave Plainfield 6 13, 8 14, 9 28, 11 30 a. m., 1 00, 2 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 9 30, 11 30 p. m. Leave Elizabeth 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m. Sundays, Leave Plainfield 8 14, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave Elizabeth 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 8 14, 9 28, 4 30, 11 30 p. m. Leave Hopatcong 8 00, 11 30 a. m., 4 30 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

8 28 a. m. for Pennsylvania, Allentown, Allegheny, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, Washington, Harrisburg, Williamsport, Erie, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica, Albany, Troy, Saratoga, Lake George, Montreal, Quebec, Boston, Portland, Me., Mt. Desert, Bar Harbor, Northeast Harbor, Seal Harbor, Southwest Harbor, Rockland, Bangor, Vanceboro, Houlton, Woodstock, St. John, N. B., Halifax, N. S., Pictou, Prince Edward Island, Sydney, Cape Breton, Pullman Parlor Cars to Washington, Pullman Parlor Cars to Harrisburg, Pullman Parlor Cars to Williamsport, Pullman Parlor Cars to Erie, Pullman Parlor Cars to Buffalo, Pullman Parlor Cars to Niagara Falls, Pullman Parlor Cars to Rochester, Pullman Parlor Cars to Syracuse, Pullman Parlor Cars to Utica, Pullman Parlor Cars to Albany, Pullman Parlor Cars to Troy, Pullman Parlor Cars to Saratoga, Pullman Parlor Cars to Lake George, Pullman Parlor Cars to Montreal, Pullman Parlor Cars to Quebec, Pullman Parlor Cars to Boston, Pullman Parlor Cars to Portland, Me., Pullman Parlor Cars to Mt. Desert, Pullman Parlor Cars to Bar Harbor, Pullman Parlor Cars to Northeast Harbor, Pullman Parlor Cars to Seal Harbor, Pullman Parlor Cars to Southwest Harbor, Pullman Parlor Cars to Rockland, Pullman Parlor Cars to Bangor, Pullman Parlor Cars to Vanceboro, Pullman Parlor Cars to Houlton, Pullman Parlor Cars to Woodstock, Pullman Parlor Cars to St. John, N. B., Pullman Parlor Cars to Halifax, N. S., Pullman Parlor Cars to Pictou, Pullman Parlor Cars to Prince Edward Island, Pullman Parlor Cars to Sydney, Cape Breton, Dining Car to Washington, Dining Car to Harrisburg, Dining Car to Williamsport, Dining Car to Erie, Dining Car to Buffalo, Dining Car to Niagara Falls, Dining Car to Rochester, Dining Car to Syracuse, Dining Car to Utica, Dining Car to Albany, Dining Car to Troy, Dining Car to Saratoga, Dining Car to Lake George, Dining Car to Montreal, Dining Car to Quebec, Dining Car to Boston, Dining Car to Portland, Me., Dining Car to Mt. Desert, Dining Car to Bar Harbor, Dining Car to Northeast Harbor, Dining Car to Seal Harbor, Dining Car to Southwest Harbor, Dining Car to Rockland, Dining Car to Bangor, Dining Car to Vanceboro, Dining Car to Houlton, Dining Car to Woodstock, Dining Car to St. John, N. B., Dining Car to Halifax, N. S., Dining Car to Pictou, Dining Car to Prince Edward Island, Dining Car to Sydney, Cape Breton.

LONG BRANCH (ocean grove, etc.).

Leave Plainfield 8 14, 9 28, 11 30 a. m., 1 00, 2 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 9 30, 11 30 p. m. Leave Long Branch 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m. Sundays, Leave Plainfield 8 14, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave Long Branch 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

For Philadelphia at 6 13, 6 37, 8 00, 8 14, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave Philadelphia 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night. Sundays, Leave Plainfield 8 14, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave Philadelphia 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY.

Leave Plainfield for Elizabeth, Newark, Jersey City and New York at 6 13, 6 37, 8 00, 8 14, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave New York (foot of Liberty street) 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night. Sundays, Leave Plainfield 8 14, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave New York 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night.

Connect with Lehigh Valley R. R. for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Pittston, Hazleton, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Mahanoy City, Ashland, Williamsport, Sunbury, Lewisburg, Watkins, Elmira, Geneva, Ithaca, Auburn, Cayuga, Seneca Falls, Waterloo, Canandaigua, Rochester, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Suspension Bridge, Watkins Glen, Penn Yan, Dundee, Hammondsport, Bath, Corning, Addison, Salamanca, Dunkirk, Jamestown, Chautauqua Lake, Lakewood, Mayville, Bradford, Oil City, Titusville, Meadville, Erie, Ashtabula, Cleveland, Akron, Canton, Orrville, Wooster, Mansfield, Crestline, Galion, Bucyrus, Tiffin, Fostoria, Findlay, Toledo, Detroit, Chicago, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Tacoma, Seattle, Victoria, B. C., Vancouver, B. C., Pullman Parlor Cars to Easton, Pullman Parlor Cars to Bethlehem, Pullman Parlor Cars to Allentown, Pullman Parlor Cars to Mauch Chunk, Pullman Parlor Cars to Wilkesbarre, Pullman Parlor Cars to Scranton, Pullman Parlor Cars to Pittston, Pullman Parlor Cars to Hazleton, Pullman Parlor Cars to Pottsville, Pullman Parlor Cars to Tamaqua, Pullman Parlor Cars to Shamokin, Pullman Parlor Cars to Mahanoy City, Pullman Parlor Cars to Ashland, Pullman Parlor Cars to Williamsport, Pullman Parlor Cars to Sunbury, Pullman Parlor Cars to Lewisburg, Pullman Parlor Cars to Watkins, Pullman Parlor Cars to Elmira, Pullman Parlor Cars to Geneva, Pullman Parlor Cars to Ithaca, Pullman Parlor Cars to Auburn, Pullman Parlor Cars to Cayuga, Pullman Parlor Cars to Seneca Falls, Pullman Parlor Cars to Waterloo, Pullman Parlor Cars to Canandaigua, Pullman Parlor Cars to Rochester, Pullman Parlor Cars to Buffalo, Pullman Parlor Cars to Niagara Falls, Pullman Parlor Cars to Suspension Bridge, Pullman Parlor Cars to Watkins Glen, Pullman Parlor Cars to Penn Yan, Pullman Parlor Cars to Dundee, Pullman Parlor Cars to Hammondsport, Pullman Parlor Cars to Bath, Pullman Parlor Cars to Corning, Pullman Parlor Cars to Addison, Pullman Parlor Cars to Salamanca, Pullman Parlor Cars to Dunkirk, Pullman Parlor Cars to Jamestown, Pullman Parlor Cars to Chautauqua Lake, Pullman Parlor Cars to Lakewood, Pullman Parlor Cars to Mayville, Pullman Parlor Cars to Bradford, Pullman Parlor Cars to Oil City, Pullman Parlor Cars to Titusville, Pullman Parlor Cars to Meadville, Pullman Parlor Cars to Erie, Pullman Parlor Cars to Ashtabula, Pullman Parlor Cars to Cleveland, Pullman Parlor Cars to Akron, Pullman Parlor Cars to Canton, Pullman Parlor Cars to Orrville, Pullman Parlor Cars to Wooster, Pullman Parlor Cars to Mansfield, Pullman Parlor Cars to Crestline, Pullman Parlor Cars to Galion, Pullman Parlor Cars to Bucyrus, Pullman Parlor Cars to Tiffin, Pullman Parlor Cars to Fostoria, Pullman Parlor Cars to Findlay, Pullman Parlor Cars to Toledo, Pullman Parlor Cars to Detroit, Pullman Parlor Cars to Chicago, Pullman Parlor Cars to Cincinnati, Pullman Parlor Cars to Indianapolis, Pullman Parlor Cars to St. Louis, Pullman Parlor Cars to Kansas City, Pullman Parlor Cars to Omaha, Pullman Parlor Cars to Denver, Pullman Parlor Cars to Salt Lake City, Pullman Parlor Cars to San Francisco, Pullman Parlor Cars to Portland, Ore., Pullman Parlor Cars to Tacoma, Pullman Parlor Cars to Seattle, Pullman Parlor Cars to Victoria, B. C., Pullman Parlor Cars to Vancouver, B. C., Dining Car to Easton, Dining Car to Bethlehem, Dining Car to Allentown, Dining Car to Mauch Chunk, Dining Car to Wilkesbarre, Dining Car to Scranton, Dining Car to Pittston, Dining Car to Hazleton, Dining Car to Pottsville, Dining Car to Tamaqua, Dining Car to Shamokin, Dining Car to Mahanoy City, Dining Car to Ashland, Dining Car to Williamsport, Dining Car to Sunbury, Dining Car to Lewisburg, Dining Car to Watkins, Dining Car to Elmira, Dining Car to Geneva, Dining Car to Ithaca, Dining Car to Auburn, Dining Car to Cayuga, Dining Car to Seneca Falls, Dining Car to Waterloo, Dining Car to Canandaigua, Dining Car to Rochester, Dining Car to Buffalo, Dining Car to Niagara Falls, Dining Car to Suspension Bridge, Dining Car to Watkins Glen, Dining Car to Penn Yan, Dining Car to Dundee, Dining Car to Hammondsport, Dining Car to Bath, Dining Car to Corning, Dining Car to Addison, Dining Car to Salamanca, Dining Car to Dunkirk, Dining Car to Jamestown, Dining Car to Chautauqua Lake, Dining Car to Lakewood, Dining Car to Mayville, Dining Car to Bradford, Dining Car to Oil City, Dining Car to Titusville, Dining Car to Meadville, Dining Car to Erie, Dining Car to Ashtabula, Dining Car to Cle

A RUINED GARDEN.

All my roses are dead in my Garden—
What shall I do?
Winds in the night, without pity or pardon,
Came there and slew.

All my song birds are dead in their bushes—
Woe for such things!
Robins and linnets and blackbirds and thrushes
Dumb, with cold wings.

Oh, my Garden! rifled and flowerless,
Waste now and drear;
Oh, my Garden! barren and bowerless
Though all the year!

Oh, my dead birds! each in his nest there,
So cold and stark;
What was the horrible death that proved there
When skies were dark?

What shall I do for my roses' sweetness
The summer zwind—
For all my Garden's divine completeness
Of scent and sound?

I will leave my Garden for winds to hurry;
Where once was peace,
Let the bramble vine and the wild brier marry,
And gravel fleurs-de-lis.

But I will go to a land men know not—
A far, still land,
Where no birds come, and where roses blow not
And no trees stand.

Where no fruit grows, where no spring makes riot,
But row on row,
Heavy and red, and prepared with quiet
The poppies blow.

And there shall I be made whole of sorrow,
Have no more care—
No bitter thought of the coming morrow,
Or days that were.

—Philip Bourke Marston.

WOMEN WHO WANT TO BE BEAUTIFUL

How the Foolish Creature Is Gulled by Washes and Lotions.

New York is a paradise for venders of cosmetics for women, treatises on how to reduce the flesh or increase the avoirdupois of the body, hair restorers, bleaching remedies for the hair and a score of other things, all having in view the making of women more beautiful than they are.

There are scores of places in New York for the removing of superfluous hair, freckles, tan, for bleaching, daily, for the treatment of the skin, and there are no end of patent medicines sold for all sorts of purposes, the end in view being to make the females form somewhat more divine. The men and women who run these beautifying parlors reap large rewards for little labor. The more preposterous the pretension is of making women beautiful, the easier it is to furnish some high sounding medicine or cosmetic or wash at a big price. This it seems did these fine fortunes for the proprietors of these places, and foolish women spend no end of money in trying to remain young or to add to their physical charms.

There is one place in New York where a fortune is made every year by the sale of a wash that is said to remove freckles. Now every body knows that a freckled skin is woman's face is the one thing that will keep her awake day and night. There is no way that she can get it. Sleeping sheds means of it, and waking she is constantly rubbing it with some sort of composition that has been recommended and that usually costs a dollar or two a bottle. Perhaps after the lotions for the face there is nothing in which so much barefaced fraud is exhibited as in preparations for the hair—washes to make it grow, washes to keep it from the hair from falling out, washes to make straight hair curly, washes for a score of other real or imaginary troubles that women imagine afflict their crown of glory. It costs only a little money to put up some sort of a wash, giving it a high sounding name, that can be sold successfully for almost any purpose. It is in this way that the proprietors of beautifying parlors make large fortunes, for after one lotion or wash becomes so well known that its fraud is perfectly evident, it is put up in another kind of bottle, given another name, and the sale of it continues.

As an evidence of how foolish some women are when personal beauty is being considered, I heard a day or two ago of a young lady of twenty who went into one of these beautifying parlors determined to find out if there was any remedy for decreasing the size of her feet. She exhibited to the woman in charge well formed feet, but complained that she thought they were too large for her body and besides were not beautiful. Couldn't something be done, either to keep them from growing larger, or, if possible, to reduce them in size a trifle. Of course the woman who makes a fat living out of gulling silly women declared that it was the easiest thing in the world to make large feet small. So the dainty miss took off her silken stockings, her feet were bathed in a bowl of some kind and then tightly wrapped with pieces of stout linen, and she was asked to recline on a lounge for an hour.

She suffered the most excruciating agony, and was told that a daily repetition of the bandaging proper was necessary, and so she would have to return once a day for at least a couple of months before there could be seen any noticeable decrease in the size of her pedal extremities. In consideration of the fact that she could have to call each day for such a length of time she would only be charged $5 a visit. The silly girl paid the price unhesitatingly, is daily under the torture of the inquisition, and is looking forward to the no distant time when she will be able to wear a No. 1 shoe.—Foster Coates in New York Mail and Express.

Women Novelists.

In the United States no one thinks of asking whether or no a book is by a woman, so entirely has the tradition of the difference in dignity between the sexes been lost. In France the tradition flourishes, but in France literature has another perspective, a different air. Among ourselves, I hasten to add, and without undertaking in the least to go into the question of the gain in literature by the change, the position achieved by the sex formerly overshadowed has been a well fought battle, in which that sex has returned again and again to the charge.

In other words, if women take up (in fiction, for instance) an equal room in the public eye, it is because they have been forcibly driven. They have shared the defensive line by line, and they may justly plead that they have fought a good fight. Several speak their language.—Henry James in English Illustrated Magazine.

A Natural Question.

Not long ago a rather odd sort of how, for instance) an equal room in the public eye, it is because they have been forcibly driven. They have shared the defensive line by line, and they may justly plead that they have fought a good fight. Several speak their language.—Henry James in English Illustrated Magazine.

A Natural Question.

Not long ago a rather odd sort of how, for instance) an equal room in the public eye, it is because they have been forcibly driven. They have shared the defensive line by line, and they may justly plead that they have fought a good fight. Several speak their language.—Henry James in English Illustrated Magazine.

THEIR WEDDING JOURNEY.

It Brought as Much Joy to Their Fellow Passengers as to Themselves.

It is certain that the scene here was yesterday afternoon on the Maple Leaf road from Des Moines. It is a story of newly wedded life, of buoyant young love, of hope, of admiring glances and the promise of a future. The travelling pair got on the train at East Des Moines. She was out of breath because he had been misinformed as to the leaving time. They had a good deal of baggage, and as he walked down the aisle he was visibly annoyed by the creaking of his shoes and the protruding efforts of his glove and flourish from the heads of the passengers who gave already seated.

"Oh, I'm nearly dead!" said she, panting with every step.

"Are you really dead?" asked the man, with a feeling that told the car how now he was.

"Dead, John! I'm just dead!"

"Do tell! Can I do something for you? Can I get something for you?"

"Yes, if you will, dear," said she, with a smile of dignity that almost brought tears to her eyes.

They were soon seated, he insisting that there must be something that she wanted. They were soon seated, he insisting.

For three miles they were silent. Then the train started and made a noise he leaned over and whispered:

"What made you cry?"

She looked at him. The color came back into the cheeks to look, and he blushed and looked confused, while she lowered her eyes. It was some time before anyone spoke. Then she whispered:

"You were thinking, John, that we have got to begin economically."

"No," almost whispered John, for that word "economy" put the cap full of people that they were in the midst.

"You know that Mrs. Brown," she continued, "has gone to boarding, and she has three of the loveliest stoves to sell—nearly new. Don't you think that we ought to go them?"

"Let me see," said John. "This is April 2, Tuesday is cooking stove, Friday dear?"

"Heating, and such lovely base burners."

"And next month is June—I'm a little afraid that it will be better to wait until fall."

"But Mrs. Brown will sell them before then—or go to housekeeping again."

"Don't you think that we could do better at the store?"

"Yeh, that's economy, John," she said ruefully.

"All right," said he, with resignation and a show of responsibility. "You do the buying and I'll foot the bills."

There was a long pause. Then she seemed to realize that they were indeed married.

"I didn't like you the day we met, did I?" she asked in a voice so loud that he caught at her thought her everybody in the car was looking them over. The traveler knew his way by this token.

"But I liked you," he intimated.

"Of course you'd say 'no,'" was the answer she made.

He had slipped over involuntarily and took her hand.

"I'm mighty glad we met anyhow," said the bride loud enough for the deaf man in the back seat to hear.

"Me, too," he said.

"What's the matter, dear? You're not sick?"

"Oh, no, but speaking of economy, we can save half of our expenses if we make a garden and economize." He almost whispered it.

"How lovely!" she exclaimed. "And I'll be your little gardener."

He groaned so that the traveler heard him.

"Do you know anything about corn?" was his next question, asked loudly and in a business like tone.

"I like it. Does it grow on a tree?"

"Of course not. It is raised in a garden."

"Then I can go out and pull some ears. Never eating corn tasted so fine. They look inviting, it'll taste better from my hands, won't it?"

He thought that he heard a giggle from the seat just across the aisle, and it made him more silent nevertheless.

"Won't it?" she repeated.

"Won't what?" was his absentminded answer.

"What, Why, John, the celery, of course. Won't it taste better from your wife's hands?"

The single was pronounced. He became very red in the face.

"If you don't object, Mary," he said after a moment, "I'll go into the smoker for awhile."

"But you said that you were going to quit smoking."

He whispered something to her. She smiled. Then she said, just as loud as ever:

"Of course not. I wouldn't deny my sweet hubby anything."

Then he rose.

She set there for five minutes looking out of the window. Then she looked as a lady may through the keyhole of a door, as she door toward the smoking car. Then she leaned over.

"Won't you sit with me?" she asked.

"I'll not ask you to, dear, if you look frightened. It's mean of me, I know, to sit any one, but I just couldn't keep it. And he's the dearest and bravest and best and finest man on earth."—Des Moines Register.

What a Pointless Remark.

"What is the name of the young man that's coming to see Claribel?" asked Old Spudd, looking up from the "Stocks and Bonds" column of his newspaper. "I think I've heard it, but I have forgotten it."

"It is one you certainly ought to remember easily enough," replied Mrs. Spudd. "His name is Oliver Cromwell."

"My memory, madam," said Old Spudd, looking fixedly at her over his glasses, "is as good as yours. Cromwell is the name of that speckled duck in Goldberg's that claimed I cheated him out of $57.40 in 1879 on a consignment of eggs. You can't fool me on names!"—Chicago Tribune.

Not Up to the Standard.

Manager—The latest general order says we should economize in every possible way. Hereafter you must pick up all the waste paper and send it to me.

Chief Clerk—If I must do this extra work I want a raise of salary.

Manager—All right; put your spelling in with the waste paper.—Tallegraph & Age.

THE HOPE OF HIS OLD AGE.

Story of a Youth Who Was Overcome by Gratitude.

"It has been a long time since I've had enough ambition to carry me through college," said the young man, "but I've regret it. A good education, my boy, is the right foundation for success in life."

The well preserved old man leaned back in his chair and looked with pride on the youth who stood before him.

"No matter what calling or profession you may adopt," he continued, "the knowledge you have acquired and the mental discipline you have passed through will be found indispensable. In the race for supremacy you can now start on an equal footing with the best of them."

"Yes—that's so," assented the young man.

"I have not been able to keep track of your progress as I should have liked, but your standing in your class was fully up to the average, wasn't it?"

"I-er, I—"

"And you took your part in the regular college athletics, I presume?"

"I didn't waste any time on baseball or football, but I was on hand when the glove."

"I have never had any complaints from the faculty, and I infer that your behavior was generally satisfactory. Absorbed business as I have been, I could not exercise that personal supervision over you that a watchful father should have done, perhaps, but I have devoted to the proper study of early training. And I have been generous with you, have I not, as regards spending money?"

"Oh, yes."

"And now, my boy, what are your plans for the future? Have you formed any?"

"Well, I have thought some of taking a trip to Europe a year or two."

"H'm! That's pretty expensive, Hiram."

"The young man put his hands in his pockets and strode back and forth impatiently.

"They all do it," he said, with a cloud on his brow. "A fellow's education isn't finished up right until he's visited the old lands, the world."

"How much will it cost to give you the trip you want?"

"About $2,000."

"H'm! That would make $10,000"

The old man pondered in silence a few moments.

"It's a pretty large sum to spend on a boy's education, Hiram," he said, "yet it may be that you are right. I am willing to advance a European tour until I had made the money myself, and I got along comfortably on $600, but the world isn't exactly what it was in my young days. You shall have the money."

The young man was touched. A glow of gratitude lit up his somewhat pallid face. He thrust his hand in a breast pocket, pulled out a small paper box, opened it, and extended it to his father.

"Cigars," he said impatiently, "have a cigarette!"—Chicago Tribune.

Softly Spurned.

"I spurn you with contempt," exclaimed the proud, spurious girl in haughty tones.

The spurnee was a base born clerk in the office of her father, the G. P. A. of one of our railroads.

His head fell upon his breast at her cruel words.

But for an instant only.

Then he bounded it aloft once more deftly.

"All right," he said coldly. "That's better than being sparred with your father's fist."

He had tried both.—General Manager.

Only Three Out of the Kind.

His head is not deep growth of beard on his face and his hair was pretty long. He passed his hand over his chin, and with a shudder said:

"George! I must get shaved."

"I ought so," muttered his friend meditatively, "but I guess I'll let it go today. I never learned to shave myself, you know, and I hate to get into a barber's chair."

"I'd rather be in a dentist's. Why is it, I wonder?"

"I don't know, but I never knew but one man who didn't positively abhor a barber shop."

"You know one?" asked the long haired man in surprise.

"Oh, yes; I knew one who was rather fond of it."

"Liked the smell of pomade and all that?"

"He seemed to."

"Didn't mind having a stranger paw his face all over?"

"Apparently not."

"George! the remarks and jests that a barber makes when he has the razor around your throat so that you can't protest!"

"He acted so."

"Didn't get nervous when the barber stropped strapping his razor to gossip with some one at the next chair?"

"Not at all."

"Never gave the suggestion that a hot cup, a shampoo and seven kinds of hair tonic were necessary?"

"He'd generally took them."

"And liked it?"

"He went to a barber shop on every possible occasion."

"The long haired man looked at the other doubtfully a moment and then said:

"What asylum is he in now?"

"Kankakee."—Judge.

"Enjoyed the remarks and jests that a barber makes when he has the razor around your throat so that you can't protest?"

"He acted so."

"Didn't get nervous when the barber stropped strapping his razor to gossip with some one at the next chair?"

"Not at all."

"Never gave the suggestion that a hot cup, a shampoo and seven kinds of hair tonic were necessary?"

"He'd generally took them."

"And liked it?"

"He went to a barber shop on every possible occasion."

"The long haired man looked at the other doubtfully a moment and then said:

"What asylum is he in now?"

"Kankakee."

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

85 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Look Box L. Telephone Call 61. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," THURSDAY, JUNE 2, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

MUSIC HALL!

TO-NIGHT!

The young, beautiful and accomplished emotional actress, Miss Mamie Conkling, in the thrilling new, original and novel version of Mrs. Wood's great dramatic story,

New East Lynne,

Or, The Elopement. Introducing the wonderful railroad scene. The Paris and London express. Two trains in of cars collision.

Seats on sale at Central Pharmacy.

BREVITIES.

—The Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. will meet this evening.

—Engine No. 287, a counterpart of Nos. 285 and 286, "the flyers," passed here today at 2.30 p. m. for the first time.

—Forest fires are raging in southern Jersey, near May's Landing. The people are bravely fighting the flames and succeeded in saving the village of Carmentown.

—An entertainment will be given by the Holy Cross Church choir in the Sunday-school building next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, at which a very select programme will be rendered.

—The first accident on the trolley line at Trenton occurred Tuesday night when a little girl was run over and killed. The cars have been running two weeks. The Mayor of Philadelphia has vetoed the bill to introduce the trolley system in that city.

—The workmen have completed the erection of the trolley poles, on the trial line from Monroe avenue and Seventh street to Park avenue and Front street. Whether the reported opposition to laying the rails on Front street has been overcome we will appear later.

—The Elizabeth Police have their annual parade and banquet to-morrow. The column will be reviewed by Mayor Rankin, members of the City Council and invited guests, to include representatives of the various police departments and city officers of Jersey City, Newark, New Brunswick and this city.

—The counsel for Henry S. Phillips in the indictment against Phillips for embezzlement appeared in court Saturday, and filed an affidavit stating that four or five witnesses were absent from the State so that they could not be produced at this term of the court. On his application, the trial was put off until October.

—The New York papers this morning contain exaggerated accounts of an assault by a negro on Miss Brown, a servant employed by Mr. Kempshall at Norwood, on Tuesday night. Miss Brown was crossing a bridge near Smith's tannery yard, when the negro made advances towards her. A large mastiff dog which accompanied the young lady sprang towards the negro, who succeeded in making his escape.

A Hot Day.

Yesterday was, with the exception of June 1, 1876, a record breaker.

It was the first real hot day of the year. At eight o'clock in the morning the mercury stood at 65 degrees. At the same time the humidity-registering instruments showed 97 per cent.

When the sun was fairly up, the temperature started on its upward course, the humidity running a good second, before noon the mercury registered 80 degrees. The humidity then was 95 degrees. Thermometers in the business part of this city ranged from 85 to 87 degrees.

In 1879, June 1, the mercury went up to 93 degrees, but the humidity was nothing like so to decree as it was yesterday, and there was therefore, much less suffering. The last of June seems to be booked as a hot day; for June 1, 1877, and June 1, 1880, the mercury crawled up to 85 degrees, as it did yesterday. According to the record, therefore, yesterday was at least the second hottest June day which official figures govern.

Spring suits, celluloid collars, and sun umbrellas were luxuries which no man who had to work could afford. Most of yesterday could deny the benefits of, the temperature and the humidity must need in hand with the mercury exhibition. For humanity, defenceless under the workmanship, simply had to grin and bear it.

PERSONAL.

Miss Tillie Sinck, of Raritan, is visiting her cousin, Miss Lizzie Martin, of this city.

Mr. Charles Moffett was appointed Master in Chancery yesterday by Hon. Alex. T. McGill, chancellor.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Sherwood of Richmond street, this city, have returned from a short visit to Raritan.

Wednesday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, Miss Katie Ruff and Gaten Willard were united in marriage at the residence of the bride.

Miss Sadie Addis of Orange street who was so severely injured by a collision between horse and bicycle some few days ago, is reported much improved and able to sit up.

The marriage of Miss Carrie Bullman, to Mr. Frank D. Schuyler, of New York, took place at the residence of her mother, Mrs. S. Van Namee, No. 4 Third place, this city, yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Robert Lowrey officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler will make an extended trip through the South.

The funeral of George Chamberlain the brakeman who was killed on the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Elizabeth Monday, took place this afternoon from the residence of his sister on Manning Avenue, North Plainfield. His railroad companions sent a beautiful basket of flowers as a token of affection and a large number of them attended the funeral.

Plainfield Has the Largest Coal Storage in the World.

The largest coal storage in the world is located near, in fact almost adjoining, the stock farm of J. Wesley Johnson on Park avenue. The mountain of coal there at present is estimated to be as high as any building in Plainfield, and enormous quantities are being added daily, so that in case of any strike at the mines the coal combine will be able to hold out until the strikers are starved into submission.

Hitherto, through lack of such precaution, the miners have been able eventually to resist in a measure attempts to force them to the wall, if not to secure some concessions to their demands.

With, however, such a large supply in reserve as is provided by the storage the coal combine can shut down the mines for months without inconvenience.

It is also believed that the storage will give greater economy in handling the coal.

The Fort Reading Construction Co. is surveying for a branch line at South Plainfield to connect at the storage.

A few miles further on there are newly discovered, as well as old, pottery beds, to develope which spur railroads are being run to connect with the main line. The old beds have proved unprofitable because of the lack of transportation facilities. The city is now in great demand because of the increased impulse given to home manufacturing by the McKinley bill for the protection of home industries.

Our Eighth Anniversary.

THE NEWS is eight years old to-day. It was the first successful daily newspaper in Plainfield, revolutionizing the entire business here, and continues to grow as the town grows, more prosperous, and, we hope, better every day. We might devote a column to an account of the honorable achievements which have won for THE NEWS its present success, especially as many of these achievements have never been equalled even by the great metropolitan dailies, but, as most of our readers are familiar with them, we will forbear for want of space. We take we suppose pardonable pride in having made the record for these achievements, and of succeeding to an extraordinary degree where others less fortunate have failed. We hope by proper effort for even greater success in the future, and to that end no doubt have the best wishes of our readers and patrons generally.

A Possible Clue to Burglar Winger's Identity.

Another clue and one that may possibly lead to the identity of Burglar "Winger" has been discovered.

The satchel, in which he intended to carry away the silver spoons and forks from the residence of Mr. Cokefair, was returned by that gentleman to Captain Grant this morning.

In this satchel is printed on one side "First National Bank of Staten Island" and on the other side "Wm. N.," the balance of the name being erased by means of a knife.

The satchel is well-worn, and has been the means of carrying heavy tools, as the marks in it show.

Capt. Grant went to New York at 11.09 this morning to trace, if possible the clue.

An Electric Railway Between New Brunswick and Somerville.

Dr. Pierce, of Patent Medicine fame, who bought a large tract of land on the north side of Raritan river for the purpose of founding a city, has been induced to become interested with others in an electric railway to connect New Brunswick and Somerville, the county seats of Middlesex and Somerset counties respectively. The Bound Brook & Central railroad will take passengers for Plainfield. The route has been surveyed, and consents obtained by two Philadelphians who are leaders in the movement.

The Children's Home Anniversary To-Night.

The fifteenth anniversary of the Children's Home will be held in the First Baptist church this evening at eight o'clock. A very eloquent and interesting speaker, Rev. James M. Nourse of Elizabeth, who has been instrumental in founding several homes in the State, will make the address.

The reports of the President and Treasurer will be read, and there will be music by the choir.

All friends of the home are invited.

The Memorial Fund Entertainment.

To the young people who furnished their services gratiously and were indemental in making the Memorial fund entertainment the success that it was, is due a large amount of credit.

Miss Addie Smith and Miss Kent, elocutionists; Mr. Barker, tenor soloist, of Brooklyn; and Miss Springer, vocal soloist of Orange, all seemed to enter into the spirit of the occasion and rendered their various parts exceedingly well.

It is to be hoped that they will again favor a Plainfield audience.

Court Notes.

George Studer made complaint against Frank P. Huff, Andrew Huff and Henry Bandy charging them with striking him, disturbing the peace and using profane language. Trial was set for to-morrow morning at ten o'clock before Judge Codington.

—A horse attached to a grocery wagon ran away this noon on Church street between Second and Third streets, upsetting and badly wrecking the wagon. The horse was stopped by the driver, who jumped from the wagon.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

THE REGULAR MEETING HELD LAST EVENING.

Important Business Transacted—The Librarian's Yearly and other Reports Placed on File.

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Public Library was held last evening. There were present Directors Mr. W. Tyler, Rowland Cox, Geo. H. Babcock, A. Wyckoff, Treasurer, James Yates, J. B. Dumont, and William M. Stillman.

Vice-president Tyler in the chair, Mr. Baldwin coming in later. The minutes of the meeting of May 4 were read and approved.

On motion the bill of Charles Scribner's sons for books amounting to $84.68 was ordered included on the annual report.

The Treasurer read his annual report for the year ending June 1, 1892, which on motion was ordered on file.

On motion the President and Secretary were requested to prepare the annual report of the Board and file same with the City Clerk.

The Lecture Committee reported that four lectures had been delivered, that the total receipts were $202.75, that the expenses, including lecturers' compensation, were $192.75, leaving balance to credit of the fund $210.00.

The Treasurer reported the following bills which on motion were ordered paid:

Miss Adams	$60.00
Miss DeVic	20.00
Janitor	20.00 $142.75, sundries.
Wm. H. Williams	11.97
Insurance prem	75.60

Moved and carried that the report of the librarian for year and her report for the year ending May 21, 1892, be accepted and placed on file, and that such portion of extra help referred to in her annual report be referred to the library committee with power, and that such portion of the statistical portion as covers the points required by the statute to be entranced in the annual report be published in the report for the year ending May 31, 1892, and therefore ordered to be made by the Treasurer and Secretary.

On motion the special account was ordered closed, and the moneys transferred to the credit of the general fund.

On motion Mr. F. I. Schoonmaker was given an opportunity to address the Board.

Moved that the matter of insurance be referred to the Executive Committee with power.

The meeting then adjourned.

Librarian's report for year ending May 31, 1892:

Vols. on accession book May 31, 1892	10,274
" added by purchase and bind- ing	574
Vols. added by gift	310
" now in the library	11,198
No. of periodicals regularly received	62
No of card holders	2203
Cash from fines and sales	$197.46
" non-resident subscrip..	25.
Total	$222.46

Home Institutions—

Fiction	11513
Juvenile	2674
Biography	726
Travel	794
Philosophy	98
Religion	277
Sociology	361
Philology	40
Natural science	402
Useful arts	205
Fine arts	1,215
Literature	1311
History	867
Periodicals	100
Total	19,783
Visitors to building	17,875

L. D. ADAMS, Lib'n.

Bicyclers' Column.

In regard to Mr. J. S. Pike's challenge to Mr. George Mahon, the latter will not accept, as he says he has given due allegiance, but declines to accept a challenge to any closed race.

Mr. W. J. Kelly while riding out on the Springfield road last night struck a rabbit which crossed the road at the same time. The rabbit was caught in the rear wheel and crushed to death.

Arthur A. Zimmerman is a member of the Jersey City Park Wheelmen, and his first appearance after his return from Europe Europe will be at the August 6th and 6th meet at the Oval.

A ten-mile road race will be held over the Irvington-Millburn course Saturday, the Business Men's Cycle league and the Orange Wheelmen will contest for the prize.

There were loads of fun in Westfield last night. The ordinance recently passed by the Town Committee in reference to bicyclers went into effect to-day. It compels wheelmen to ring a bell or sound a whistle when approaching within 100 feet of a carriage or other vehicle or pedestrian between one hour before sunset and one hour after sunrise. The law refers to wheelmen from afar, as well as to the local wheelmen. The new law is not liked by the wheelmen. They met last night and made night hideous by the ringing of bells and sounding of whistles. Policemen from this city, Rahway, Cranford, Roselle and other places went to assist in the protest. Cowbells, dinner-bells and every other kind of noise-maker could be carried on a wheel were dug out and brought to Westfield until late. The Town Committee got the matter good-naturedly. They seemed to enjoy the joke as much as the wheelmen did.

At Elizabeth's Court.

The Court of Quarter Sessions met yesterday and disposed of the following cases:

Anderson Carter, for assaulting a boy at Cranford. Sentence was suspended.

Wilson Dale, a boy accused of stealing 50 cents, was arraigned. It was shown by the police from which he was arrested that he had stolen $2 money, that he was not the boy, and the court ordered the prisoner discharged.

Constable Miles Minton Wade, who was tried for cruelly whipping a team of horses belonging to Charles Herbert, was found guilty of assault and battery, and was fined $50 and costs.

William R. Gens, who was indicted for assault and battery, was also found guilty and acquitted.

William Carter, a young colored man, charged with assault with intent to take life, was tried. The jury retired at two o'clock.

[illegible] STORE.

Moved Across from Place to Place.

The local correspondent for the New York Sun has quite a long article in that paper this morning, regarding Howard Carpenter, the substance of which is as follows:

"Doctor Long says that Emerson's insanity is only temporary, and he hopes to restore him to his former mental vigor in a few days. The patient has frequent paroxysms of violence, in which he talks rapidly and incoherently. He is closely guarded. At such times he fails to recognize any of his family, and thinks that they have conspired against him to murder him.

"It was what can be gathered from it, it would seem that his mental faculties have been in abeyance since the time when he left Amherst college in disgrace. The only place he remembers being in is Covington, Va., where a telegram received from him at the Virginia hotel the telegram was written for him, as he could not write, from Philadelphia. After leaving Covington he walked for some days through the woods, but he cannot remember arriving at any place until he reached Philadelphia. Emerson says he has been constantly trying to get back to his father's house. He thinks that his mother was dead.

"I got my number of railway tickets," he said to Dr. Long, "west I couldn't seem to get anywhere. I always stopped at some other place than Somerville. I got out of the cars purposely because they took me to the wrong place, and after that I walked. The man at the telegraph office in Philadelphia wrote a telegram for me after I got there."

Emerson says nothing about his business troubles, and his family have not mentioned the subject to him, fearing to bring anything to his mind that may worry him. He realizes his condition, and seems to be aware of it before he went away.

"Why didn't you keep me from leaving home?" he said yesterday. "You seized have known I was crazy."

Dr. Long left the hospital was caused by a severe attack of the grip which Emerson had last winter. The family are reported to be well-to-do circumstances, and the hastened hat of her son's boy and a letter, but the messenger could get no information.

The friends of Mr. Nicolai in the congregation feared that his mind was unbalanced by his excessive activity over the church troubles, and that while temporarily insane he had wandered away and something happened to him.

It now turns out, however, that the pastor's shortcomings were even worse than were made known to the Presbytery. He borrowed money, it is said, right and left, and paid very little of it back. He lived in a handsome residence at Elizabethport, belonging to Mark Johnson, and owes the latter four months' rent. Mr. Johnson this morning consulted Lawyer T. M. Kelly in reference to the matter, and the latter got out a writ of attachment on the missing pastor's furniture and also a distress warrant.

"Pastor Nicolai," says Lawyer Kelly "was a jay fellow from all the stories I have been told about him. He posed as his unmarried man, but recently I am informed that his wife, whom supposed to be in this city and claimed him as their husband, died, and I have no doubt, hastened his departure.

BASE-BALL NEWS.

Items of Interest—A Voice from Somerville.

A team composed of the Crescents, Elizabeths and Flushings played the Staten Islanders yesterday afternoon and succeeded in defeating them after 14 innings, by the score of four to three.

The game was played on the Staten Island grounds.

Murphy, Turner and Keeler of the Crescents played with the winning team.

To show what a tyranical manager the Staten Islanders possessed, the following is related:

A Plainfielder who is not only a member of the Crescent League, but also belongs to the Elizabeth and the N. J. Athletic Clubs, was present at the game and thought in a way was encouraging the Flushings on toward success. At this point the Staten Island manager stepped up to him and informed him that talking to the players was not allowed. The gentleman then remained quiet until a number of Staten Island adherents were encouraging their club on to victory, when he called the attention of the aforesaid manager to the fact, who promptly ordered an officer to eject the Plainfielder from the ground. The gentleman in a polite way informed him that it was not necessary as he would leave the grounds of his own free will, as he did not wish to create a disturbance. The act was condemned by all who witnessed it.

The Plainfield Bicycle Club will visit Elizabeth, Saturday next, and play the return game with the E. A. C. at that city. A good game is assured. On fast time the Plainfield boys won by the score of seven to six.

There will be a meeting of the Central New Jersey Baseball League to-night at Somerville.

A VOICE FROM SOMERVILLE.

Somehow or other we got things mixed in our prophecies on the base ball situation. We had roseate dreams showing the score at the end of the season to be something like this:

	Lost.	Won.
Somerville	6	16
Plainfield	9	13
Westfield	10	9
Dunellen	13	6
Amboy	16	3

It is no use prophesying unless you know; and we are willing to admit that we don't know. Somerville has made backs us up in our heterodoxy accounts for it did in its two last games with Plainfield. The score stood 6 to 5 in favor of Somerville. "The best laid plans of mice and men" don't appear, as an old saying. Somerset Manager.

DON'T get things mixed. Common oatmeals and H.-O. are as different as rich cream and skimmed milk. Hornby's-Oats are delicious as Cream!

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE IN TEXAS.

A Cyclone Sweeps Over the South-West.—Damage Done Placed in the Thousands.

TEXTRA, TEX., June 2, (Special.)—East Durango and Reichsville were wrecked by a frightful hurricane on Tuesday night. Not a house is left standing.

The property loss is placed at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Train Robberies in the West.

WICHITA, KAN., June 2d, (Special.)—The south-bound Santa Fe passenger train was held up by masked robbers. The amounts obtained is said to be $20,000.

The passengers were not molested.

The Missing Elizabeth Pastor.

The disappearance of Pastor Nicolai of the German Presbyterian church of Elizabeth is reported in yesterday's News, is causing much comment.

A fruitless search for him has been instituted. His aged mother lives in Brooklyn, and his friends in that city inquired there found her nearly distracted. A letter received on Saturday she received the hastened hat of her son's boy and a letter, but the messenger could get no information.

The friends of Mr. Nicolai in the congregation feared that his mind was unbalanced by his excessive activity over the church troubles, and that while temporarily insane he had wandered away and something happened to him.

It now turns out, however, that the pastor's shortcomings were even worse than were made known to the Presbytery. He borrowed money, it is said, right and left, and paid very little of it back. He lived in a handsome residence at Elizabethport, belonging to Mark Johnson, and owes the latter four months' rent. Mr. Johnson this morning consulted Lawyer T. M. Kelly in reference to the matter, and the latter got out a writ of attachment on the missing pastor's furniture and also a distress warrant.

"Pastor Nicolai," says Lawyer Kelly "was a jay fellow from all the stories I have been told about him. He posed as his unmarried man, but recently I am informed that his wife, whom supposed to be in this city and claimed him as their husband, died, and I have no doubt, hastened his departure.

ONLY FIVE CENTS A COPY.

Standard Sheet Music, vocal and instrumental, 2,000 different pieces to select from. Catalogue free. 5 cents a copy.

Economize use oil stoves during the Summer. Get our prices. 4½ inch wick, one burner, 25 cents; 2 burner, 37½; 3 burner, 50 cts. 12 quart pail, 25 cents; 2 quart pail, 10 cents; butter pails, bean pots or pipkins, covered preserve jars, half gallon pitchers, and other ware that are worth double. 20 cents buys one pound of tea, mixed, worth 35 cents. Buy 75 cts. Rubber Boots, "No. 5, at 37½ cts. Buy 75 cts. Rubbers, "No. 5, at 37½ cts. Buy 75 cts. Overshoes, for ladies or gents. White Mountain Ice Cream Freezers, best and quickest, prices lowest. Watering cans. Mason's jars, 90 cents a dozen; jelly glasses, preserving kettles, hammocks, and croquet.

PARLOR LAMPS AT REDUCED PRICES.

Decorated, Tea, Dinner and Toilet Sets at very low prices. Common crockery at factory prices. Housefurnishings of all kinds. Velocipedes and express wagons. Lunch baskets, carpet sweepers, counter and trunk brushes. Finest fancy China tea-pieces $1. You get your own goods from our five and ten cent counters. Royal Tooth Powder 4 ten cents equal to the best. Try it.

J. C. ALLEN, 28 West Front Street.

AUCTION SALE OF FURNITURE

Extraordinary offer of two weeks accumulating. Goods from Netherwood, North avenue and other places, consisting of Everything Pertaining to Housekeeping.

Parlor Suites, Bedroom Suites, Disingroom Sets, Buffets, Tables, Chairs, Stoves, Carpets, 100 yards of Oil Cloths, etc. Also one square piano, very good. Sale without

Friday, June 3d, at 2 p. m. Sharp,

CORNER FRONT AND GROVE STREETS,

T. J. CAREY, - Auctioneer.

TERMS CASH.

P. S.—The goods and chattels of Mrs. Gen. Richardson will also be sold for storage.

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHING

CALL AND EXAMINE the fine stock at

Werner's Clothing House,

30 WEST FRONT STREET.

Suits made to order from a fine line of goods for $15 and Upwards.

Cut by a First-class cutter.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,

OF PLAINFIELD.

Firm of

RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY,

Importers and Tailors,

231 Broadway, New York.

Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring.

Moderate Prices.

25 1m*

Cent-a-Word Column.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A MEDICAL DISCOVERY—The advertiser is in want of an associate to assist in the introduction of the discoveries, a valuable remedy for the cure of consumption in the science of medicine, and to have a large sale when its merits become known. Before and thousands of unsolicited quality will be furnished. A very small capital will be necessary. For further particulars, or for an interview with the advertiser, address H., care of EVENING NEWS. 6 1tf

OLD-FASHIONED furniture in good order, repaired and sold. Call Furniture store, 11 Somerset street. 2-30tf

SECURE your tickets for the Columbian Fair. For particulars apply at Mulford's. 2 22m

HELP WANTED.

EITHER German or Swede, competent cook, recommended or required. Address "H. S.," care of EVENING NEWS.

WANTED—A capable woman for general housework in a family of three. Reference required. Apply at 1 East Second street. 1 2

WANTED—Honest, energetic men to sell goods by sample to the trade; $75 per month and salary to men who can leave home and work steadily; the only house to deal in square work; with reference. Address R. G. Chase & Co., 1430 S. Penn St., Phila., Pa.

WANTED—Good cook and laundress; one with Plainfield references. Call on the mornings before eleven. Burr, 15 La Grande avenue. 1 4

BOARDERS WANTED.

ROOMS and board, 21 West Second street. 29 6

FOR RENT.

A NEW and delightful eight-room house to rent. Hot and cold water, bath room, cellar, handsome lawn. Unexceptionable neighborhood. Address "Richmond Street," care of EVENING NEWS. 25-3w

LOST AND FOUND.

$12 LOST—On Sunday night. Reward paid for its return. Address "D. C.," care of EVENING NEWS.

LOST—On Wednesday, on Girard avenue, between Second and Third, a "W. Frost" pocket, inside stockings and a pair of gloves. Suitable reward for return to Mr. George Bechtelle.

FOR SALE.

500 WINDOW Sashes 24 inches wide at Van Emburgh & Wilde's.

A BRICK house. Two well-arranged rooms. Will sell for $2,500. Address "H.," care of EVENING NEWS. 29 3*

$50 BUYS second-hand natural wood carry at Symons's, 20 Somerset street. 31-3

HORSE—Young, sound and kind. Inquire 20 Somerset street. 1 2

500 WINDOW Sashes 32 inches wide at Van Emburgh & Wilde's. 2-30

$190—Fine upright piano for sale. In use three months. Good as new. F. E. Stickley, 18 East Front street. Inquire 1 2tf

CARRIAGES and HARNESS.

$15.00

Buys hand made rubber mounted harness.

$100.00

Buys canopy top, natural wood surrey.

Prices and styles to suit all.

SWIFT SAFETIES.

RYERSON,

33 SOMERSET STREET.

Tennis, Croquet, Hammocks, etc.

10 PER CENT. OFF

on all Tennis Goods.

Special Discounts

on large orders or to clubs.

A. W. RAND,

24 West Front Street.

STRAW : HATS!

We have received a good assortment for Men and Boys.

Hallock & Davis,

5 West Front Street.

Don't Forget we keep

MEN'S FURNISHINGS.

Also

Trunks and Bags.

George - Bremmer,

No 29 SOMERSET STREET,

READY MADE CLOTHING,

or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

EDITORIAL NOTES

John L. Sullivan.

"In all my life I have never seen so magnificent a specimen of muscular development, and indeed I do not think another such man is living today." That was what Dr. George F. Shrady said to John L. Sullivan a few days ago in the presence of a New York World reporter. It has been said that John had dissipated till he was no longer the man he had been, and not fit for the fight that has been arranged with Jim Corbett. Sullivan had a desire to see what a medical expert's judgment on this point would be, so he asked for a thorough examination from the physician who had watched Garfield's long struggle with death and also attended General Grant in his last illness. The verdict was as above.

It sets one to thinking. Here is perhaps the one perfect or nearly perfect specimen of physical manhood in America. If there is another so nearly perfect in the world his existence is not known. For twelve years or more Sullivan has done about as he pleased in the matter of eating and drinking. Drinking orgies that would have killed other men have been common in his experience. In eating he devours twice as much food as ordinary men, taking just what his appetite dictates, except when in training. Then he straightens up for the time and diets as rigidly as a dyspeptic, till he gets his tremendous thews and sinews in running order. He is now about thirty years old, yet shows no shrinking physically, even with his irregular life. It is a marvel such as modern times has not seen.

Yet this splendid animal, the one perfect specimen of physical manhood in the world, is—a prize fighter. Many a bright schoolboy of twelve is his superior in mental development, though of late years he is able to talk and think more intelligently than formerly, showing that even his brain is capable of development. Yet he knows when to stop work, and in that respect the prize fighter may give a lesson to the preacher. He says, speaking of his bodily training:

"I go on till I feel that I have had enough. Then I stop for awhile, and go on when I feel good again. I do not believe in violent exercise. A man's leg pounding is better than a good deal of it.

"Boxing is the best thing to gain wind, he says. If now a man could be who should have such a body as Sullivan and as intellect in proportion, what a glorious creature he would be.

Hawaiian Annexation.

Shall we annex Canada or Hawaii first? It may be Hawaii, for a Prince Edward Island editor who has just returned from Honolulu predicts that, unless present signs fail, in less than a year the Sandwich islands will have the stars and stripes waving over them. The islands are ripe for a change of government, so it is said. The gentle islanders whom Mark Twain dotes on are fonder of the Americans than of anybody else, so the thing seems written in the book of destiny.

The islands which would thus come into possession of the United States cover about 6,000 square miles of land, much of it tilted upon edge so that it would not be of particular use to American farmers. The immense advantage from a strategic and commercial standpoint, however, which would accrue to us by this annexation cannot be overestimated. The group of islands constituting the Hawaiian archipelago is situated in the direct track of trade between the United States and both China and Australia. They are about one-fourth of the distance from San Francisco to Australia. Ships from both China and Australia touch always at Honolulu, the Sandwich Islands seaport. To own these islands, provided always they want to come to us, would give the United States a power and prestige in the Pacific ocean that would render us invincible. If we do not get Hawaii some European power will. Germany is trying for it now.

The great steel cantalever bridge just opened for traffic across the Mississippi at Memphis is a monument of the splendid industrial progress made by the south in recent years. The work was begun in 1888 by the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham Railway company. On the Tennessee side, when workmen were excavating for the shore pier, they dug up some ancient Spanish halberds. It was here, 351 years ago, that Ferdinand de Soto crossed the Mississippi river. He would have looked forward cheerfully to something better than the gold mines he sought could he have foreseen the great cantalever steel bridge which modern mechanical science was to construct on this very spot. The main steel truss of this bridge are eighty feet high, and the plate resting upon the first pier at the approach from the Memphis side is the largest steel plate ever manufactured in the United States.

The Canadian cabinet will continue throughout 1892 the immigration bounties heretofore given to settlers. Besides this it will also enter on an active "immigration propaganda" in Europe. Meantime we alongside in the United States do not need any immigration propaganda, thank you. Canada may have some of our newcomers and welcome if she can get them. Strange what a difference living in an independent republic makes.

SHERMAN'S SILVER TALK

Free Coinage Almost as Weak as Repudiation.

NO PER CAPITA DISTRIBUTION.

The Ohio Senator Says That Even if There Is More Money in Circulation It Does Not Follow That the Poor and Needy Will Get It.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Mr. Sherman, declining to yield to further interruptions, closed his speech on the silver bill in the senate, and a unanimous agreement was arrived at not to take a vote on the question before June 14. In the course of his long speech Mr. Sherman said: "I do think there should be some changes in our financial laws. Among them, and first of all, we ought to do away with the compulsory coinage and what every nation has done, that is, to establish a new ratio between silver and gold—not to make them exactly equal, because that was impossible; but they ought to be so near together that they would in the main stand in that ratio. The ratio of 16 to 1 is no more sacred than the ratio of 15 to 1, which was changed in General Jackson's time."

England and France Willing.

He referred to the recent interview between Mr. Goschen, the British chancellor of the exchequer, and a delegation of bimetallists as showing that Great Britain was willing to make important concessions on this subject. France also was willing and always had been. France was bound to protect the other nations of the Latin union.

Mr. Sherman further said: "I am willing to stand by the president and aid him all we can in this international conference. I am glad my friend from Nevada (Mr. Jones) is going there. I hope the conference will be made strong, and that they will be able to do something to lessen the evils which are now pressing on the financial conditions of all the nations of the world.

"There is unquestionably a feeling in this country of ours that the currency is too diverse; that it should be simplified. The people want more money—large money; they want an increased value of money. They are not in favor of the continuance of the national banking system longer than is necessary to wind up and pay off the outstanding bonds. They are unwilling to take any less security than the security of the United States.

No Per Capita Distribution.

"As to the amount of currency, my own opinion is that the amount now outstanding will be about sufficient. It does not follow that if there is more money in circulation that the poor and needy will get it. We cannot distribute it per capita to the poor and leave out the rich. I believe that there is bullion and food enough in the treasury of the United States to establish a ratio based upon the population of our country which conservative men will think safe, and to remodel and re-enact all our varied systems of finance. We have gold and silver enough for the basis of two-thirds of our circulation. Then probably the other third might be issued on the faith of the government.

"In this scheme of free coinage has almost all the elements of weakness of repudiation. This is not the time to deal with finance in the middle of a political campaign. Whatever are scheming for position, we cannot have very wise legislation at such a time. I have no doubt the defeat of Mr. Cleveland was very largely due to the demand he felt bound to take on the tariff. This question of finance ought not to be dealt with by politicians. It ought to be guarded and carefully considered by the very wisest men in the United States. Believing the attempt to bring this great and powerful nation of ours to the standard of silver coin alone is a bad policy, wrong in principle and wrong in detail, injurious to our credit, a menace to our financial integrity and a robbery of the workingman and of the pensioner, I regard this measure in every respect as a frightful demon to be resisted and opposed.

Sherman Leaves Stewart Speaking.

Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, took the floor to reply to Mr. Sherman. The Ohio senator at the same moment rose to leave the chamber. Mr. Stewart expressed an earnest wish that the senator from Ohio would not leave as he (Mr. Stewart) intended to show up that gentleman's record on the silver question. Mr. Sherman, without heeding the request, continued on his way. Mr. Stewart in the course of a long speech, denounced the projected international conference as a plan to send ambassadors to Europe to determine how much silver the mints should be drawn round the people, and to proclaim to the nations of Europe that we were not capable of establishing a financial system of our own.

In the House.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Another day was devoted by the house to a discussion of the free postal delivery system, and no progress was made with the postoffice appropriation bill, except the adoption of an amendment offered by Mr. Lanham, of Texas, by request of Mr. Crain, of Texas, providing that no part of the $10,450,000 appropriated for free delivery should be disbursed so as to establish additional free delivery offices in any congressional district where there may be one or more free delivery offices already in operation, nor should free delivery facilities be increased in said offices until every congressional district in which there may be a place possessing the necessary qualifications shall have been supplied with at least one free delivery office.

General Stanley Retired.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Secretary Elkins has issued a general order relieving from active service Brevet Major General David S. Stanley, brigadier general, United States army, under the provisions of the act of congress approved June 30, 1882.

Diphtheria at Hoosick Falls.

ALBANY, June 2.—The state board of health reports an epidemic of diphtheria at Hoosick Falls. Forty cases have developed there since March 1, eleven of which have proved fatal. No drainage is the cause.

New York's New Race Course.

NEW YORK, June 2.—New York is to have a new race course. It will be located on Staten Island, about four miles from St. George, and Mr. Erastus Wiman is the chief promoter of the scheme.

Edison Company's Capital Increased.

ALBANY, June 2.—The Edison Electric Illuminating company, of New York, has increased its capital from $4,350,000 to $6,500,000.

Customs Receipts for May.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Government receipts from all sources in May aggregated $20,488,788, against $27,417,428 in May, 1891.

TWO HUNDRED ARE DEAD.

Awful Mine Horror in Bohemia Causes Great Loss of Life.

VIENNA, June 2.—Reports from Przibram show that the mine disaster there is far worse than was supposed. In the first confusion it was believed that only forty men were missing, but a house to house inquiry revealed the fact that nearly 200 miners were left in the pit. The flames were supposed to be finally subdued at the time when the first rescue party went down, but after the fourteen bodies had been brought up the fire broke out afresh. When the flames seemed to abate somewhat if rescue party went down and returned with eleven more dead bodies. They said that they could hear shouts and groans far off in the mine, but that the smoke was so thick and the heat so intense that they did not dare venture in. None of the party would return, and two hours passed before a fireman could find seven men to go down with him. It was then thought that the fire was nearly out, as only a thin smoke came from the mouth of the pit, and that the miners on the higher levels who had escaped drowning might be saved.

The foreman and the seven men tried to make their way in the direction where the shouts and groans had been heard, but the heat was almost stifling and the smoke so thick as finally obstructed all progress. About a hundred yards from the shaft the party were suddenly enveloped in a gust of fire and smoke from a side gallery. Four men fell unconscious. Their four comrades tried to drag them away, but were compelled at last to run for their lives and leave the men to die. This rescue party heard no sound in the galleries save the crackling of the fire. All of the woodwork near the shaft had been burned away, the ropes survived and and the fire evidently had followed the miners from the entrance to the end of the galleries. The foreman says there is no doubt that all the men who were left in the mine are dead.

The heat beyond the point where the four miners were stricken, he said, would have been fatal, and the smoke was stifling.

FASHIONS

Items in Children's Dress.

Children's blouses show a new treatment; the yokes, instead of being smocked, are worked with stars in Russian stitch, having French knots between. The crosscuts are at the back of skirts has been introduced into children's skirts with excellent effect, and they show well beneath the little jackets, which often fasten on one side and are trimmed en chevron with ruches of ribbon at the throat. Silk skirts with Swiss belts are useful for children. A little dress seen, with bellstrope stripes, was made with a new sleeve, buttoning with cord down the back, pink silk being let into the front in a V form between wide revers.

LITTLE GIRLS' HAT AND BONNETS.

Picturesque hats and bonnets are made for children in surah silk, the trimmings being lace and ribbon. In the accompanying cut are given three charming models.

Dress Trimmings.

Gold is the foundation of most of the costly trimmings—gold net, gold satin, gold galon or cloth of gold. Some handsome waistcoats and corselet bodices, with cuffs and collars to match, were of cloth of gold, lined sometimes with flowers in soft colors. The new passementeries are all light and graceful in design. Other attractive trimmings are in jet and gold and jet. The silver in plain jet trimmings is illimitable. Pearls are still used to some extent for trimmings.

Fashion Notes.

Many old, old styles are being revived.

The prettiest of summer mantles are of velvet and lace.

Tailor made dresses are losing a little of their stern aspect.

A visiting dress is not considered quite chic if the bodice is made of the same material as the skirt.

Invalids are favoring pink and blue printed silk nightgowns, elaborately trimmed with lace and ribbon and insertion interthreaded with ribbon, intended to be worn over the ordinary nightgown for sitting up. They are pretty and light.

The President Not at Gettysburg.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The president was unable on account of the exactions of public business to attend the ceremonies at Gettysburg, Pa., when a monument that marks the furthest point reached by the Confederates in their advance was dedicated.

A Bichloride Patient's Suicide.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., June 2.—George Gilmore, Jr., thirty years old, an inmate of a sanitarium here undergoing the bichloride of gold treatment for drunkenness, jumped from his bedroom window to the street and was killed.

New York After "Old Man" Anson.

CHICAGO, June 2.—It is reported here that the New York baseball club is making an effort to secure the services of Adrian C. Anson, as manager, captain and player. It is well known here that Anson is tired of Chicago.

Not Closed by the Sugar Trust.

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—E. C. Knight & Co., the sugar refiners, deny that orders to close the refinery have been issued by the sugar trust, and claim that the shutdown was necessitated by some defects in the boilers.

One Killed and Two Injured.

DULUTH, June 2.—Train No. 18 on the St. Paul and Duluth road was derailed by striking two oxen. Fireman Dave Brokaugha was killed; Engineer John Kent and Brakeman Smith were badly injured.

Davitt a Candidate.

DUBLIN, June 2.—The anti-Parnellites assembled in Navan and selected as their candidates in South Meath for the next general election: Michael Davitt, north division; Patrick Fullam, south division.

RUTAN IS AFTER BOYER.

Warrant Issued for the Ex-Treasurer's Arrest.

QUAY AND MORRISON COME NEXT.

The Allegheny County Republican Boss Makes Serious Charges Against Prominent Pennsylvanians. More and More He Will Sustain Them in the State's Courts.

HARRISBURG, June 2.—Ex-Senator Rutan, the Allegheny county Republican leader, who has served four terms in the senate, entered suit against ex-State Treasurer Boyer last night. A warrant was issued for his arrest and an officer dispatched to the late state treasurer's home in Philadelphia to serve. Senator Rutan charges Mr. Boyer with having received $1,000 and in some instances 9 per cent. on the $6,000,000 of the state's money which he had on deposit in different banks, and that a portion of this interest money was used to defeat the senatorial candidacy of Senator Quay. The warrant was handed over to Senator Quay for campaign purposes, according to Mr. Rutan's story.

HENRY K. BOYER.

Will Prosecute Mr. Quay, Too.

Rutan also declares that he will prosecute Senator Quay and State Senator Morrison as soon as he returns from his western trip next week charging both with misappropriating money belonging to the state and offering bribes during political campaigns. He says he will produce letters written by Mr. Quay in which Mr. Quay offers bribes, and gives a story some party secrets never before revealed.

Reformed Church Officers Elected.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 2.—The eighty-sixth annual meeting of the general synod of the Reformed Church of America opened here. Rev. Dr. Ferdinand F. Schanck, of Hudson, N. Y., was elected president; Rev. Dr. Waters, of Newark, N. J., vice president; Rev. Paul D. Vanderaf, of Jersey City, stated clerk, and Rev. H. G. Temeyche permanent clerk. The proposed consolidation of the Reformed Church of America and the Reformed church in the United States will be acted upon by the synod.

They Attached the Wrong Editor.

BERLIN, June 2.—Feeling between the civilians and military in Speyer has been wrought up to the highest pitch by the attempt of two lieutenants to cut down Herr Wolff, editor of the Speyer Gazette, in his own house. Wolff has criticised Lieutenant Max Hoffmann because he had knocked down in the street a militia corporal, whom he imagined did not salute him with sufficient care. Hoffmer, accompanied by Lieutenant Diehl, broke into Wolff's house with drawn swords with the avowed intention of punishing the editor severely and forcing him to retract. Wolff refused to apologize, and when Hoffmer raised his sword to strike, Wolff snatched a revolver from his desk and drove the lieutenants out of the house.

Mysterious Balloon Sighted.

NEWARK, N. J., June 2.—A mammoth balloon, containing four persons, passed over the city about 11:30 p. m. It descended within about 100 feet of the earth, then rose and drifted off in a southeasterly direction. A brilliant electric searchlight was fastened on the edge of the car.

Presbyterians Leave Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, June 2.—The thirty-fourth general assembly of the United Presbyterian church adjourned sine die. A resolution indorsing the native missionaries was lost after a heated argument. The next general assembly will meet in Monmouth, Ills., May 4.

High Price for a Longfellow Colt.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The sale of the year lings of Daniel Swigert and George H. Clay, of Lexington, Ky., began at Vatterall's. The night's receipts amounted to $51,250. W. L. Powers gave $10,000 for a bay colt by Longfellow—Ballet.

Colonel Bomey Retired.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Colonel W. B. Bomey, judge advocate general of the United States navy, will be retired under the thirty years' clause June 12, the date of the expiration of his commission as judge advocate general of the navy.

McCarthy Whips Dwyer.

BRADFORD, Pa., June 2.—Tom McCarthy, of Dubois, Pa., knocked out Billy Dwyer, of Jersey City, in the third round at the Gentleman's Athletic club here. The fight was for a purse of $300. Dwyer was unconscious for five minutes.

Another Bloodless Duel.

LONDON, June 2.—A duel is said to have been fought between Captain Fox, a Liberal, and M. Drumont, editor of La Libre Parole, and noted for his antipathy to Hebrews. Nobody is reported to have been seriously hurt.

Shot for Stealing Cabbages.

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 2.—While stealing cabbage from the farm of William Myers, Dennie Small, a crippled negro, was shot by Myers and killed. The coroner's jury considered it justifiable homicide.

Ransom Whitehouse Weds.

BOSTON, June 2.—Ransom Whitehouse, United States consul at Geneva, and Miss Margaret Burney were married in Trinity church. Many prominent persons were present.

Storer Denies the Story.

BOSTON, June 2.—Assistant General Passenger Agent Storer, of the Concord and Montreal railroad, denies that he is going to the New York and New England road.

Commodore Weeks Drowned.

LACKAWAXEN, Pa., June 2.—Commodore C. F. Weeks, of the Brooklyn Canoe club, was drowned in the Delaware river. He was thirty-five years old.

The 1892 Model of the Remington is now on the market.

CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT has characterized the history of the REMINGTON STANDARD TYPEWRITER. The changes introduced into the 1892 model represent the carefully tested results of expert study of various points deemed capable of improvement. They present advantages in the quality of the work, and ease as well as convenience of operation which will readily commend themselves to all users.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

Wyckoff, Seamans & Benedict, 327 Broadway, New York.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

THE DOANE & VAN ARSDALE

$3 Welt Shoe,

Paris, New York and Globe Toes. Widths B, C, D & E.

Best in the World for the Money.

22 West Front Street.

P. S.—Time to buy Russet Shoes.

RUSHING INTO PRINT!

We do it right along because we find that people can never know enough about the advantages of buying goods from us.

We save money for you that is the point we want to make. Will you peruse these offers?

Free with a pound of our famous 50c. Mixed Tea, or 40c. Baking Powder, your choice of 6 silver plated tea spoons, one China milk pitcher, four pounds granulated sugar, four 5c. cakes laundry soap or one cupadore.

Free with a pound of our renowned 30c crushed Java Coffee, your choice of one milk pail, one Mason's jar or three teaspoons.

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter produced, 25c. lb; good table Butter, 20c. lb; best Root Beer, two bottles, 5c.; Rivey Rock Beer, 10c. a bottle.

Headquarters for Flemington sugar cured Hams, Bacon and Shoulders—all other kinds a specialty. Store open evenings till nine p. m. Orders called for and delivered promptly

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,

The Champions of Low Prices. 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

WHY IS THIS?

Three years ago the Duluth Imperial Mills made 500 barrels of flour a day.

Now they make 6000 barrels daily.

This is because a barrel of Imperial makes

18 to 20 More Loaves

of bread than any other flour, and the quality is the BEST. Order a barrel or bag of your grocer and satisfy yourself.

FRENCH BROS.,

CITY MILLS.

Telephone No. 24. Nos. 8, 10 and 12 Somerset street.

LOOK AT THIS!

At No. 27 Somerset street, second-hand furniture is Bought and Sold. Secure a bargain.

At the carpenter shop, No. 66 East Front street, or the corner West street store, estimates are cheerfully furnished. Window and door screens a specialty.

G. R. MUSGRAVE, Proprietor.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS ‡ †

‡ ‖ § PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—49 East Front street.

COAL and WOOD,

E. H. HOLMES,

YARD—24 Madison Avenue.

Office—27 North avenue, (with Weeden & Buckle.

C. DICKINSON,

PRACTICAL

OPTICIAN

and

JEWELER.

Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Agent for the American

Rambler Bicycles.

No. 13 Park avenue.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

25 West Front Street.

A. M. SEGUINE,

Successor to

Laing's Hotel Stables,

on Front Street, Opp. Netherwood.

TELEPHONE CALL, No. 26.

Coaches for weddings, funerals and private use.

Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.

Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.

BOARDING HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!

ALL SIZES.

Of Same

Light Blue Color.

Endorsed—

F. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.

ROBT. A. MEEKER, Street Com.

Smalley Bros.,

26 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

29 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.

Invites the public to inspect the quality of his newly graded steam thawing and screened coal, and assures them that his delivery facilities enable him to deliver coal as promptly as possible by any other method of delivery.

UPPER LEHIGH AND WYOMING COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND SCREENED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for forwarding, and Screened Coal will be delivered at the lowest rates for the same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in BEST

QUALITY COAL

YARD AND OFFICE

SOUTH AVENUE,

P. O. BOX 1407.

Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Counsellors at Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public, Masters in Chancery. Notaries Public in Office, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E., Engineer of the Famous Union County Road System. Special attention given to sewerage and drainage. Office, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Attorney-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public. Office, 7 Park avenue, Crippen prop'y made. Offices No. 26 West Front street.

CLARK & REED, Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Special Masters in Chancery. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CRAIG A. MARSH, Counselor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Solicitor and Master in Chancery, Notary Public. Offices corner Front and Somerset streets.

OSCAR B. TEALE, Architect, 287 Broadway, New York City, rooms 41 and 42. Surveys and Tracings. Bank Building, Bentonville, Plainfield, N. J.

PLAINFIELD

ODORLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY

JONES & CO.

Want quickly and thoroughly done. Trade in boats in operation. Our apparatus is approved of by the Board of Health. Patronage solicited. Satisfaction guaranteed. Orders received at Post Office, Plainfield, or 39 East Front, Corbin and Field Furniture, 37 to 41 New York. Telephone call 20.

THE DIME

SAVINGS INSTITUTION

OF

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Woman's Exchange

AND INDUSTRIAL UNION,

72 Park Avenue.

HOME MADE

Bread—Rolls—Pies—Cakes—

FRESH EVERY DAY.

HAS BLAINE SAID YES?

Another Report That He Will Surely Accept.

NO MORE LETTERS FROM HIS PEN.

It Is Said That He Has Told a Friend in Washington That He Would Neither Write Nor Telegraph Again Before the Minneapolis Convention.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—One of Mr. Blaine's friends called upon the secretary of state with regard to the monetary conference, and Mr. Blaine told him that under no circumstances will he write another letter or send a telegram to the Minneapolis convention on the subject of the presidential nomination.

The advance guard of the Republican legions is now en route for Minneapolis, and the men who composed the Blaine division were happy countenances. It is said to be certain that they have received the assurance from Mr. Blaine which they have been so long working for. The talk Tuesday night at the Blaine mansion between the secretary and Senator Quay and other anti-Harrison leaders settled the matter, and it is now known as a fact that Mr. Blaine is "in the hands of his friends."

Depew Talks of the Situation.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Chauncey M. Depew, who is here, said to a reporter that the only chance of President Harrison being defeated was that the convention should vote for half a dozen different people and so prevent a choice until the opposition to the president had a chance to concentrate. But the supreme effort to induce Mr. Blaine to become a candidate had practically relieved all other candidates except Mr. Harrison. If the convention should nominate Mr. Blaine and he should decline, Mr. Harrison could not be a candidate, and the demoralization of such an event would defeat the Republican party.

Pennsylvania Prohibitionists Meet.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 2.—The Prohibitionists of Pennsylvania met in convention here and nominated the following candidates: Presidential electors—Hon. A. A. Barker, of Cambria; Hon. James Black, of Lancaster; A. A. Stevens, of Blair, and W. W. Hague, of Warren. Congressmen at large—Rev. J. J. McCreary, of Pittsburg, and Hon. S. R. Chase, of Easton. Judge of the supreme court—Amos Briggs, of Philadelphia.

Harrison's Headquarters Opened.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 2.—Harrison's friends from Indiana have opened headquarters in this city. The early opening of the Harrison headquarters is, it is said, in compliance with a telegraphic suggestion from Washington. The Blaine managers will not be here until the national committee arrives.

What Emmons Blaine Doesn't Know.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Emmons Blaine was at the Grand Pacific to-day in conference with James S. Clarkson, but said he was as much in the dark as to his father's intentions as any one. He admitted, however, that the silence of the secretary was likely to be construed in one way only.

They Say It Took Cleveland Out.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The Herald says: "It is the prevailing opinion among Democrats in Washington that the Syracuse convention took Governor Hill out of the list of available Democratic candidates."

Warner Miller's Position.

ST. LOUIS, June 2.—Warner Miller says: "I have made no statement regarding the presidential matter, and will not until I reach Minneapolis and have an opportunity to consult with my colleagues."

Hobart Goes Over to Harrison.

PATERSON, N. J., June 2.—Blaine men in New Jersey are somewhat discouraged over the alleged "backsliding" of Garret A. Hobart, of Paterson. He has joined the Harrison forces.

Think It Surely Means Blaine.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Mr. Platt's interview is regarded by Blaine men as conclusive evidence that Mr. Blaine will accept the nomination.

Dudley Is for Blaine.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Colonel W. W. Dudley is at the Fifth Avenue hotel. He is emphatically in favor of Blaine.

Hill with the Silver Men.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Senator Hill voted with the silver men on a roll call in the senate.

Regulars at Sea Girt.

NEWARK, N. J., June 2.—Four troops of United States cavalry will encamp on the state camp grounds at Sea Girt for two weeks during July. The Second brigade of the National guard, General Sewall's command, will go into camp on Saturday, July 9, and will break camp on July 18, the day that the United States troops enters.

Endowment Companies in New York.

ALBANY, June 2.—The superintendent of insurance has received a number of queries from endowment insurance companies asking how the amended code affects them. The department wished to shut them out, alleging that they were unsound and dangerous, but the code finally passed leaves them practically untouched.

Bad Outlook for Buck.

UTICA, N. Y., June 2.—The people have rested in the Buck case. The evidence shows that Buck was well and dined at Boggs' hotel, and that Buncore O'Brien was officer out of custody then otherwise. Hotel employees testified that wine was ordered by the quart by Buck.

Canadian Diplomats Coming.

OTTAWA, June 2.—Hon. George E. Foster, minister of finance, and Hon. MacKenzie Bowell, minister of militia, have left for Washington to confer with Secretary Blaine and Lord Pauncefote on several matters that were not settled at the spring conference.

Republican Nominees Elected.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 2.—The general assembly met in joint conference for election of state and county officers. The Republican nominees were elected in every instance where there was a contest, by a majority varying from 20 to 35.

Fell from His Boat.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., June 2.—Geo Thompson was drowned by falling from his sailboat. He leaves a widow and two children.

Architect Jardine Dead.

NEW YORK, June 2.—David Jardine, the well known architect, of the firm of D. & J. Jardine, is dead.

Made Both Chances.

"Does it hurt, Jim?"

"Yes, rather; but I suppose I'll have to stand it for the concert."

THE CONCERT.

—Life.

HARRISBURG'S STREET CAR WAR.

Nearly a Hundred Men Arrested by the City's Police.

HARRISBURG, June 2.—A sensation was created in this city by the arrest of George Fleming, vice president of the City Passenger Railway company; Track Foreman W. H. Allwine, Civil Engineer James Deasy, Director John T. Mauk and some seventy other employees. At an early hour the City Passenger Railway company put a gang of over 300 men to work to lay a track on Walnut street, one of the thoroughfares for which the Citizens' Passenger Railway company has been making every effort to secure the right of way as well as the former company. All the men employed Science Corners.

HOMEMADE LEVELS.

Two Useful Little Substitutes for the Costly Spirit Level.

The ordinary spirit level is a costly and delicate piece of apparatus. Some little skill, too, is needed to make effective use of it, for it only indicates the level in one direction at a time. Here, on the contrary, we have a little appliance which shows deviation from the horizontal in any direction, and which every one can construct, regulate and use for himself. It may be therefore entitled "Everybody's own level."

Pass a pin through the middle of a segment of a cork. To the head of the pin tie a thread three or four inches in length. Lower the thread into an empty bottle, and with a little beeswax make fast its opposite end to the bottom of the bottle. Then pour in water until the cork floats and the thread is fully stretched. The point of the pin will rise above the surface, and when the water is at rest will always take the same position. It is not essential that the pin should be exactly vertical, though the more nearly it is so the better.

EVERYBODY'S OWN LEVEL.

Now cork your bottle with a cork through which you have thrust a straight, stiff piece of wire (a shawl pin, for instance), and regulate the inclination of the cork so that when the bottle is placed upon a marble chimneypiece the level of these being usually pretty true) the floating pin and that which meets it from above are exactly point to point. When you have achieved this, fix the cork with sealing wax firmly in the neck of the bottle so that there may be no displacement of the upper pin.

Having got the apparatus in order, let us suppose that you desire to wedge up a piece of furniture, or to fix a shelf exactly horizontal. You have only to place your bottle upon it. So long as the level shall be imperfect in any direction, the points of the floating pin will diverge more or less from that of the fixed pin (round which it will describe a circle); and you must modify the thickness of your wedges or the position of your shelf until the two are again point to point. You will thus have secured a level at least as exact as that of your chimney piece, which will usually be found sufficient for all practical purposes.

Take two pieces of cardboard, each rectangularly square. They should be of equal lengths, say six inches, but of different widths, say three inches and two inches respectively. Bore in each a hole, equidistant from either end and a quarter of an inch from the edge, and in the hole of the larger piece fix a wooden peg, made solid by glueing on behind to receive it a few cuttings of similar cardboard, as shown in our illustration. In the case of the narrower piece of cardboard, which is to form the movable portion of the apparatus, enlarge the hole you have made into a little vertical slot, and hang this smaller board on the pin, keeping it, say, one-eighth of an inch away from the larger, so as to avoid all friction. Place the apparatus on a very level mantelpiece, and change the ends of the smaller card to see if it still keeps the same position relatively to the other. The upper edges should exactly coincide. If they do not coincide, they must be made to do so by removing a thin shaving of card from the edge of the movable board. To wedge up a piece of furniture by the aid of this little apparatus, let the lower edge of the cardboard rest upon the article in question. If the edges of the movable card are true to right or left your furniture is out of level, and you must increase or diminish the thickness of your wedge until the upper edges of the two cards become exactly parallel.

A CARDBOARD LEVEL.

Machine Shop Suggestion.

Among the queer things that have been devised for the shop is a screwdriver that takes its driving force from the blows of a hammer instead of from the tortional strains of the wrist. The screws are started in by hand and set carefully in line, then this device is set upon the head of each screw and given a blow with a heavy hand hammer. There is a spiral arrangement inside to give the screwdriver action, and a long handle extending out to one side to resist the reaction of the screw, says the Boston Journal of Commerce, in which is also found the following:

An attendant of a large machine has been annoyed by the intermittent clacking of a ratchet wheel by the catch snapping from one tooth to another as the ratchet wheel revolved. A small friction strap clasped about the ratchet shaft proved to be sufficient to pull down the tail of the catch and keep it from the teeth of the gear till the wheel comes to turn backward, when the friction strap let up on the tail of the catch and gave the catch a chance to take a tooth and hold the ratchet wheel, making a noiseless catch out of a noisy ratchet wheel.

Luminous Photographs.

A French photographic journal tells that a photograph can be made luminous in the dark by the following process: Take a white mount and, after coating it with starch paste, sprinkle over it luminous powder and press it down firmly to make it adhere. All dust is now necessary is to make the unmounted silver print as transparent as possible by coating it on the back with castor oil and wiping away the surplus oil. By placing this over the prepared mounting card and exposing it to daylight a luminous positive is obtained, having a curious appearance when viewed in the dark.

For a disagreeable breath put a few drops of tincture of myrrh into a tumblerful of water and thoroughly rinse the mouth with it.

THE HOUSEHOLD

FURNITURE NEW AND OLD.

Dressing Tables and Library Tables—A Reasonable Hobby.

Some of the prettiest English dressing tables are made of curly walnut, a drab wood with little curls in the grain, resembling the grain of bird's eye maple. White maple, mounted with brass, is used, and is exceedingly beautiful and delicate.

The newest library tables are massive affairs of oak and mahogany. They are carved in the kidney form of the Sheraton style. There is a succession of drawers on either side of the table, and it is supported on short spindle legs beneath the drawers.

The back of a piano may be covered with picture canvas; exactly the size of the back of the piano. This has painted on a shaded background a design of poppies, or other flowers in harmony with the other decorations. When surrounded with short draperies of a harmonious tint this is very effective.

If you have in the house an old-fashioned, half circular sofa, you may arrange a cover with it by placing an adjustable pole at right angles over the back; throw a Bagdad curtain or Mojava blanket; cover the sofa with repose inviting pillows, and at just the right distance above place a shelf to hold a lamp. A little taste and ingenuity will suggest various ways of utilizing old pieces of this kind.

A writer in The Decorator and Furnisher, from which the foregoing notes are gleaned, describes a cheap bookcase made of three shoe boxes, each one being a third shorter than the other; these graduated boxes were set one upon the other so that the three ends came together, making a straight side on one side and three steps on the other. All the shelves were edged with strips of split bamboo, pieces of the same covering any rough edges that came in sight. The steps held large vases, pots of ferns and flowering plants, which made the bookcase a thing of beauty as well as utility, and brightened wonderfully as otherwise dark corner.

Charming Novelties in Glass and China.

Among pretty new pieces which give an idea of fancies and fashions in vogue for the table are salt cellars in the form of flowers of Irish Belleek ware.

Another novelty is the imported sweetmeat dish—here illustrated—in form of an orchid flower. The dish is of Dorflinger china, delicately painted by hand in a variety of delicate tints, and exactly represents the natural flower. The stand supporting the dish is an orchid leaf, with the stalk gracefully fashioned to form the handle, and the spoon or server has also an orchid bowl to match. The dish makes an extremely pretty ornament to the table, and is also useful in the most useful as a receptacle for butter, dried fruits or bonbons.

THE ORCHID SWEETMEAT DISH.

A very charming decorative arrangement consists of a small china tray fitted up with various kinds of chrysanthemum flowers in tiny china dishes. For instance, a small bowl holds white ones, another for each kind of blossom, containing rose leaves, violets, lilac and orange blossoms. These are a fairly addition to a 5 o'clock tea table, while at the same time serve, as those forming the dinner table decorations could be provided.

Bouillon cups with handles and covers each of different design and color come in sets.

Delicate little glass saucers in glass of different colors are used for serving Roman punches and sorbets.

Celery trays are now a part of every set of China. The celery stalk and leaf is the ornamental part. Trays of Royal Worcester and other makes.

Crystallized Violets, Rose Leaves, Etc.

An English receipt for candying violets or rose leaves, lavender or orange flowers is as follows: Boil some clarified sugar and water until, on being lifted in the skimmer, you can see that they are full of sugar but will not be candied; they are to be dried in the sugar rebell to its former consistency; then rub the sugar together and sift the powder till it is white, and stir it all together till the sugar leaves the violets, when they must be sifted and dried. Rose leaves, jasmine and orange flowers can all be candied in this way.

Apple Omelette.

Slice six fair sized apples to a marmalade, with sugar to taste, and about two ounces of fresh butter, and set it aside till cold, when two well beaten eggs must be added to it. Have a dish well sprinkled thickly with sugar, baked bread crumbs and a little finely grated lemon peel; then pour in the apple, cover it all thickly with bread crumbs, and bake it for an hour in a good oven. Serve turned out, with sugar sprinkled over it.

Domestic Pointers.

When troubled by rugs curling up at the edges, sew a strip of chair webbing about two inches wide along the under side of the rug close to the edge as tightly as possible, consistent with not puckering the rug.

An excellent and easy way of polishing a floor is to split a wax candle in half and rub the floor evenly all over. Of course this presupposes that the boards are even and in good condition.

The heavy, soft appearance of carpetings in bedside carpets can be much to the many thicknesses of carpet lining used, sometimes four or five, as to superior quality of carpet.

It is next to impossible to place a teapot or large water jug on any polished wooden surface without ruining it. But tables and wooden trays may be seasoned (so to speak) by rubbing in sweet oil and then with a soft rag sprinkled with pure linseed oil. A few such applications, very evenly made, both give the tray a very good appearance and minimize the marks made by every drop that is split.

You can soon tell if a bed is damp by laying your handglass between the sheets for a few moments. If the sheets are not properly aired the glass will be clouded.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE.

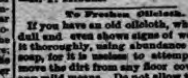
One of the Most Delicious Desserts of This Time of Year.

It misses unmeasure to rehearse the delights of strawberry shortcake. A single bite of straw berries is sufficient for a shortcake, so that this is one of the ways in which we may enjoy the best of all berries before it has yet come to us in profusion. A genuine shortcake is a New England dish, made of a rich biscuit crust, raised with soda and cream of tartar, or with sour cream and soda, and baked in a layer; and it is nothing else. Roll out the dough something less than an inch thick. Rub it with butter liberally; it should be double the size which the shortcake is to be. Cut it in two and put one piece above the other. Bake it in a quick oven. When done, split the cake where the layers meet. It will split easily because it was buttered, and the butter on the upper cake will keep its crust moist. Put strawberries, liberally sweetened, on both layers and put them together. The berries should be cut into a little. Set the cake again in the oven for about five minutes, a longer. Then serve the shortcake with a dish of whipped cream.—N.-Y. Tribune.

To Freshen Chicken.

If you have an old chicken, which looks dull and even shows signs of tears, clean it with soap, using a sprinkle of sand and soap, for it is useless to attempt to remove the dirt from any floor covering by any mild means. Do not allow the soap to remain on the chicken for any length of time, but as soon as a small portion of it has been scrubbed rinse it off and dry it. When it is thoroughly dry, let it set or even hours after it has been scrubbed, varnish it. When the first coat of varnish is perfectly dry, apply the second. Do not stint yourself in the use of many varnish, but buy some chicken varnish from a dealer in painters' supplies.

The New Roseshoe.



A LET OF THE VALLEY PIN.

The lily of the valley is such a universally loved flower that it is very fitting together with its graceful beauty, have made it a specially suitable design for breast pins, etc. It has never been copied more successfully in gold and silver, however, than in a lovely little pin which has just been brought out, and of which the accompanying illustration will give a good idea. The pin, as will be seen, is lovely, and wonderfully free from the stiffness which so often spoils such golden copies of Nature. This pin is formed of gold and pearls, and though rarth in appearance, is finished off so well that it is perfectly strong and durable.

FOOD FOR INVALIDS.

Roll a few butter crackers, and sprinkle over a cup boiling water, stirring constantly till about the right consistency. Add a little sweet milk or cream, salt and a dash of pepper. This makes a light gruel.

GRAHAM GRUEL.

One pint of milk and thewame of water. When just ready to boil, stir in two spoonfuls of sifted graham flour, made smooth with a little cold water. Let it boil slowly for at least two hours, stirring off any scums particles of flour from any side. Then season with salt and add sweet milk when served. Serve hot, with oyster crackers.

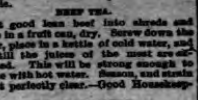
TOAST.

Brown well a slice of bread on both sides, cut into blocks an inch square and place on a hot plate. Have ready some stewed tomatoes, seasoned with salt, pepper and a little butter. Dip carefully over the toast, leaving the brown squares visible.

BEEF TEA.

Cut good lean beef into shreds and place in a fruit can, dry. Screw down the cover, place in a kettle of cold water, and boil till the juices of the meat are extracted. There will be strong enough to dilute with hot water. Season, and strain if not perfectly clear.—Good Housekeeping.

Novelties in Shoes.



THE POLKA DOT SHOE.

Every woman who studies her appearance attaches the greatest importance to her boots and shoes, and readily to the list the advantages of being in every respect well shod. A shabby gown will lose half its shabbiness if worn with dainty boots, while the effect of the most elaborate costume is entirely spoiled by unstylish or ill-worn shoes.

We give an illustration of a particularly novel and pretty Polka dot shoe, "La Stella," which is likely to become popular. It is of black velvet, studded with steel points, which are guaranteed never to come off, as they are riveted through to a thick piece underneath; they are also made in green and brown velvet, studded with gold.

A very good boot for wearing with a light gown is a Russian leather vamp and a white buckskin top. This does very nicely for wearing with light chalines, muslins and foulards.

A dainty evening shoe is of tan Russian leather, elaborately embroidered in jet. It may be worn with almost any evening gown, excepting a white one.

Fancy shoes will be found in great variety, and this particular material shapes itself to the foot very readily and thereby insures great comfort. Very handsome shoes of this leather have been seen in black, with the toe embroidered in bright red beads and jet.

In purchasing your low shoes for summer wear do not forget the little clasps used for securing the lace and keeping them tied. It is a source of great annoyance to have your laces come untied just as you have gotten over a few blocks and be obliged to delay enjoy your afternoon promenade. With these little metal clasps placed upon the bowknots in the laces of your low shoes all fear of such an occurrence may be laid aside.

To remove scorches, boil an onion and extract the juice, put with it soap, fuller's earth and vinegar, a very little of each. Spread the mixture on the scorched place and leave till dry. Rinse thoroughly.

If mustard plasters be mixed with white of egg instead of flour, they will perform their work as satisfactorily, but will not raise a blister.

This Date in History—June 2.

1776—Confluence, the most skillful imposter of modern times, born; died in prison in 1795.

1820—Mrs. Hannah Sturges, the first woman to be appointed postmaster in the United States, died at Fairfield, Conn.

1840—Dr. Godfrey Sass, horseback post, born in Highgate, Vt.; died 1867. Grace Aguilar, English Jewess and authoress, born at Hackney, near London; died 1847.

1864—Saturday day at Cold Harbor and very little fighting. Battle at Bermuda Hundred and south of Petersburg.

1880—Mast Morgan, artist and cartoonist, died in New York, aged 46.

Properly Introduced.

"Fellow citizens," said the chairman of the meeting, whom nobody knew, "I take great pleasure in introducing to you the distinguished guest whom we have assembled this evening to honor. I am glad it has fallen to my lot to welcome him among us. I can assure him that his fame as an incorruptible statesman, an honored public servant, a man of stainless record, of irreproachable private life, of generous impulses, and of commanding talents as an orator, diplomat and man of affairs has preceded him. I am no stranger to any of us strangers to his worth, and among those who hold him in high esteem I claim a foremost rank. I honor him for his self-sacrificing zeal for the Revolution, and I welcome him for his admirable personal qualities. I respect him for his purity of character, and I may say, in fact for all of these reasons, I feel that no one more than I rank higher in the possession of the attributes I have mentioned.

"I repeat that the honor of introducing to you this distinguished fellow citizen on this auspicious occasion has fallen to me. I esteem it a high privilege. I shall always consider it one of the proudest moments of my life. I shall look back upon it as the proudest event in my history. I shall emblazon this hour—this occasion—in my memory, and if I should live a thousand years it will always remain as fresh to me as at this moment. I rejoice, I say again, to be the medium of introducing to you our illustrious guest whom I—" etc.

The chairman sat down, and the distinguished orator and statesman, the Hon. Mr. Greatman, whom everybody knew, rose and said:

"I thank you sincerely, my friends, for this kind reception."—Chicago Tribune.

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION. 1878. Membership 188,000. 1892.

Deems spirit of the age. Has since organization.

Warriors Lodge, 369, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Thursdays, at eight p. m., in Scrumpkin Lodge rooms, Music Hall building.

Immediate relief, $100, sick benefits per week $5.

LOUIS I. VANALSTYNE, Dictator.
RALPH R. W. DUNLOP, Reporter.

Wetumpka Commandery, No. 34, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight p. m.

Hotels.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

(Corner)

PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Caspar's Hotel,

24 & 26 E. Front St

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Transient and Family Boarders taken at

Reasonable † Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS

First-class bar attached.

Kline's Extracts,

Pure Fruit Flavors.

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER

One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.

Whole Suits from $5 up.

Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.

70 WEST FRONT STREET.

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE,

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Six Varieties.)

Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

GO TO HULETT'S,

74 WEST FRONT STREET,

THE LEADING MUSIC HOUSE.

PIANOS FOR RENT.

SOLD FOR CASH

Or on Easy Monthly Payments.

ZIMMERMANN SUCCESSORS TO PIERSON HARDWARE CO. and 6 WEST FRONT STREET RUMPF.

are laying in an extra fine stock of Machinist's and Mechanics' Tools.

And also a special line of Builders' Hardware.

AGENTS for the Bayless Range, Welcome Globe Stove, Hartman's Steel Wire Fence and Masury Paints.

Open Every Evening until 8 o'Clock.

Legal Advertisements.

ESTATE OF JOHN F. GRIFFEN, DECEASED. Pursuant to the order of George T. Furrie, surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, executrix of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the said subscriber.

MARY M. GRIFFEN, Executrix.

May 6th, 1892. 5 19

ESTATE OF MANNING VERMEULE, deceased. Pursuant to the order of George T. Furrie, surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, administrator of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

NELSON RUNYON, Executor.

March 30th, 1892. 4 19

ESTATE OF ROSE VENABLE, DECEASED. Pursuant to the order of George T. Furrie, surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, administrator of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

STEPHEN A. GIRNA, Administrator.

March 16, 1892. 3 26

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC

SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS

SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC

4 & 5 cents per Copy.

Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.

A. M. Vanderbeek's,

82 PARK AVENUE.

See that ? That attracts attention. So does the matter of ocean steamers and ocean crossing.

When going to Europe passage, either first-class or second-class, or steerage, can be secured of H. D. Morrison, Agent, 9 Somerset street.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum

and

Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Cigars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Cigar store, No. 13 West Second street.

13c. Buys a New Broom at V. and W.'s

Wash Dress Fabric.

Our assortment is considered the finest ever displayed in the city. There are Irish Lawns at the Cotton Cross Cloths at 7c., Novelty Cloth at 10c., Chalines at 8c., Gingham at 7, 8 and 10c., Satin Finish Cambrics at 10c., and Scotch Ginghams at 10c., former price 12c.

For Twenty-eight Cents

We will sell 25 dozen extra fine Corset Covers made of Lonsdale Cambric and Hamburg Trimming.

Spring Coats.

We are anxious to close out our stock this week and to do it we have reduced every garment one third its regular price.

For Twelve Cents

We are selling an extra good Ribbed Vest, cheap at 18c.

Chevelia Cloth

Is a very fine corded French Dress material that is specially adapted for afternoon wear. They come in all the new Summer colorings and you will surely like them. Price 18c.

Porch Screen

Are very handy to have when you want to sit out on your porch this warm weather. We have them in all sizes and they cost but little.

For Five Cents Each

We will sell 200 dozen fine thin tumblers, former price 8c each.

Crockery, Housefurnishings and Tinware.

In this department we are offering some extra low prices. We have a full line and want to the store to look through this department.

For Nineteen Cents

You buy Curtain Poles all complete. This is a fine varnished pole, and is far better than any pole ever sold at the same price.

Van Emburgh & White.

RANDOLPH'S

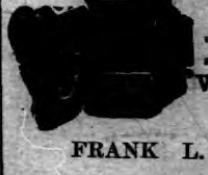
BEEF, IRON AND WINE,

THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!

PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.

L. W. Randolph, Prescription Druggist,

21 WEST FRONT STREET



In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with

LAMP AND BELL,

under penalty of $20 fine.

A large and complete assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the

Wheelmen's Headquarters,

Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.

FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

25 ! OUR NEW COTTON

Suede perfect fitting Gloves at 25c. excel all others at the price. They come in all the new Summer shades. Our all silk gloves at 50c. are superior to those usually sold at that price. Our glove department is in fine Lehn full of good things.

DR. WARNER'S "Health Brow" corsets sell at 50c., the best for the money in market. We keep a full line of these corsets at Dress Shields—the "Lily" takes the lead.

IRISH LACE is something new and very pretty too, only 16c. per yard. Point de Irelland, Lace by the piece & scrap ends. We have a fine line of these laces at 5c. per yard. Point de Paris Laces, Edgings and Insertions, in all widths at 5c. per yard. Point de Venise Laces, Edgings and Insertions, in all widths at 10c. per yard. Point de Paris Laces, Edgings and Insertions, in all widths at 15c. per yard. Point de Venise Laces, Edgings and Insertions, in all widths at 20c. per yard. Point de Paris Laces, Edgings and Insertions, in all widths at 25c. per yard. Point de Venise Laces, Edgings and Insertions, in all widths at 30c. per yard. Point de Paris Laces, Edgings and Insertions, in all widths at 35c. per yard. Point de Venise Laces, Edgings and Insertions, in all widths at 40c. per yard. Point de Paris Laces, Edgings and Insertions, in all widths at 45c. per yard. Point de Venise Laces, Edgings and Insertions, in all widths at 50c. per yard.

EDSALL'S!

1892			JUNE.				1892
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fri.	Sat.
			1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2	4:51 P.M.	Third Quarter	17	4:01 P.M.
Full Moon	10	6:32 A.M.	New Moon	24	9:07 P.M.

Summer Resorts.

THE ALBION,

EIGHTH STREET AND PARK AVENUE

Select family hotel.

Newly furnished throughout.

Special rates to permanent guests.

FRANK E. MILLER.

12 20 6m.

The Time

has come when all should buy their

CLOTHING AT HOME

providing they can get Quality, Style and Fit, just as good and cheap. This the

Acme Tailoring Co.

guarantee to do, and produce a Perfect Fit or No Sale.

We have the Largest Assortment of

CLOTHS & CASSIMERES

in the State. Our store is Exclusively devoted to Merchant Tailoring.

Kindly give us a call for inspection.

Acme Tailoring Co.,

No. 102 West Front Street.

John H. French, Pres. and Treas.
Walter C. Limberger, Sec. 3 21 3m

FRED. W. DUNN,

Successor to

Barkalew & Dunn,

19 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Fine Groceries.

THREE BEE TEA

GET YOUR Bicycle Repaired

at

NO. 2 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

by

Henry Goaller, Jr.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$6 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Look Box I. Telephone Call 61. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week. Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," FRIDAY. JUNE 3, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS.

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR THEIR VACATION, SHOULD SEND NEW ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

The Weather.

Partly cloudy and cooler, preceded by rain.

BREVITIES

—Borough Council meeting to-night.

—All the old officers were re-elected last night at Wetumpka Lodge, 2,401, K. of H., excepting two or three minor posts.

—The United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association say that only at their store can such bargains be had as they advertise to-day.

—"East Lynne" attracted a very small audience at Stillman Music Hall last night. It is a play of a by-gone day, and the wonder is that it attracted any audience at all.

—A servant formerly in the employ of an East Second street lady, was detained at the police station last evening as she was found wandering on the streets. She was sent to her home in New York this morning.

—The Western Union Telegraph Company has arranged to send bulletins from the National conventions, in connection with the Associated Press, to all parts of the country and give them to the public free of charge.

—Allen Coddington of Somerset street, has secured the position of bookkeeper for the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co., and insures prompt delivery of all orders for ice left in his care at the office, 41 North avenue.

—Fourteen women, representing Women's Exchanges of Newark, Elizabeth, Morristown, Montclair and this city, met yesterday afternoon at the residence of the wife of Vice-Chancellor Green in Elizabeth, to discuss a plan to unite with Pennsylvania in a women's exhibit at the World's Fair. A committee was appointed to investigate the cost and accommodations.

—Some New York dogs go out of town for Summer vacations just as their masters and mistresses do, and not always with their masters and mistresses. An enterprising colored man has set up a Summer resort for dogs in New Jersey, where the board is $6 a month for big dogs and less for little ones. The keeper of the resort has a family of boys whose duty and pleasure it is to take the canine boarders swimming every day. Some member of the family calls for the dogs when they are to leave town and returns them to their urban homes when the vacation is over. The big dog of a famous actress spends its Summer at the canine resort.

Another Burglary by "Winger."

Captain Grant, after diligent search for a clue to establish the burglar "Winger's" identity, has at least been rewarded by discovering trace of a former robbery by which there seems to be no doubt was committed after the return of the satchel from Mr. Cokefair as reported in yesterday's News. Cap. Grant went to New Brighton, where the "First National Bank of Staten Island" is located.

Mr. Ingallson, cashier of the bank, says that the satchel was formerly in his possession, but was stolen from his residence at Port Richmond, on April 26th, together with some clothing, consisting of overcoats, hats, etc.

Mr. Ingalls says that in all probability the burglar had seen him with the satchel, which sometimes was used for carrying specie, though at the time of the robbery it contained nothing but an empty pocket book and some worthless papers.

The Staten Island authorities had no clue to the perpetrator of the deed, but as stated, there is no doubt that "Winger" is the guilty one.

The burglar was to be sentenced to-morrow but in view of this later evidence, it is probable that it will be deferred until later.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Clark of Park avenue, start in a few days for Wisconsin, where they will spend the Summer.

The marriage of Miss Clara Owen Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Dunn of Park avenue, and Mr. John H. Manning, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of this city, will take place at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon, June 15th, at five o'clock.

The Game To-Morrow.

The two base ball leaders will meet at the Crescent League grounds to-morrow and a fine game is assured. The batting order will be as follows:

Crescents—Hefford, c.; Kesler, s.s.; Murphy, 1.f.; Turner, 2 b.; Daley, 3 b.; Leidy, c.f.; Bonner, r.f.; Jones, 1 b.; Sneeden, p.

Elizabeth—Coogan, r.f.; Bowes, 1 b.; Murray, s.s.; Williams, 3 b.; Tierney, c.f.; Dillon, l.f.; Berry, 2 b.; Rafferty, c.; Francis, p.

Lufbery who was formerly captain and played second base for the Crescents is now playing short stop for the Atlantes of Rahway.

A Bad Fall.

Little Will Roy Van Sickle, son of Wm. VanSickle of East Third street, this city, fell from a wagon standing in his father's yard, yesterday, and broke his arm at the wrist.

THE CHILDREN'S HOME.

15TH ANNIVERSARY AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH LAST NIGHT.

A Small Audience Hear the President's and Treasurer's Reports Read—An Eloquent Address by the Rev. James M. Sprout.

A very small audience, which was probably occasioned by the extreme heat, gathered at the First Baptist church last evening, to attend the 15th anniversary of the Children's Home Association. The programme was as follows:

Organ.
Hymn, 83.
Scripture and prayer.....Dr. Yerkes
Anthem.
The report of the President was then read by Rev. Mr. Goodrich, and was as follows:

Ladies, Children and Friends:

As we gather to-night to mark the fifteenth anniversary of our work for the children, I am sure we shall be pardoned if I ask you to go back in thought with me to that Spring evening in 1877, when our first informal meeting was held to talk over the possibility of a home for poor and neglected children. The need was so great, the desire to help so strong, that we were not at a loss for a motive power, a name with which to demonstrate our ability to be, and there was not a dollar in our treasury. A chronicle of our needs and plans was prepared by one of our officers. The Plainfield public, than which there is no more liberal, spoke in answer any real case of need, responded most generously. We leased a cottage on Watchung avenue, and the home was formally opened October, 1877. We had for some time boarded several children in a private family, and at the time of the opening in the Central Times of that date is, "A large number of people attested their interest in the work by their presence. Short addresses were made by Rev. Messrs. Smith, Yerkes, Manson, Goodrich and by Hon. Wm. S. Maxson and the president of the Children's Home in Zanesville, Ohio. A volunteer choir sang appropriate music. The building has been well furnished by friends of the Home."

Three orphan boys were the centre of interest that evening. Each of them is now doing well. The eldest, after spending some years in Missouri, last year, on attaining his majority, came East again; he secured a good position in a railroad office in this State, and has more than once shown his gratitude for the care given him by sending a Christmas check to the Home. The youngest, very much loved, is still in his Missouri home. Another of the number was by no record reports, two children, half orphans, through the kindness of the Children's Aid Society went West with Mr. J. P. Brace. There were placed near each other, both had good opportunities for schooling, a musical education. The elder was married last November and is now happy in her own home. We took her so early from her wretched home that no dark shadows from Stiger's alley and its miseries will ever cloud the brightness of her new home. Under date of April 7, 1893, Mr. R. writes: "I am glad to tell you that so far as I know all the children in our county, seven I think, are doing well. Little A. is modest and intelligent, and under the excellent training of Miss H. gives excellent promise of becoming a most useful woman. The two little sisters M. and N. visit each other often. Our little S. is in her eleventh year, and is well up in her studies. She has a cheerful, happy disposition and makes friends wherever she goes. She holds a good position as organist for the violin which she plays in our Sunday-school choir. We hope to give her a liberal musical education, fitting her for a teacher if she should ever be thrown on her own resources. Miss P. writes: "I am in school and has little time to write letters; she is improving very much in her studies and is a credit to us. She just passed a creditable examination in music. We shall feel amply repaid for all we have done for her if she proves to be a truly useful and good woman." Annie herself writes: "I have been going to school in H. since last May. I am learning reading, writing, spelling, geography, and physiology. My school will close in three weeks. I shall be very glad of a vacation, for I always have a very pleasant time. I am grateful to all the kind and dear ones who have so much for me. I am very much for your kind interest in me." Please send me a report of the Home. I should like to see it. We have the same matron as when I was there, and see the names of the children still there when I was." Of Jr. sent West, April 5, 1881, the agent writes: "He has a most excellent home, Mr. and Mrs. W. have no children of their own and Mrs. W. says she thinks they had 'the top of the heap' when they got Jr. He became a big boy age and left to try "his success as a man." He always had a first-rate home with the D's of E. sent West in '81. The record is: "He's home is a very good one, and he is doing fairly well, although at times he seems to have a restless disposition. Those of us who remember the wretched home and the many of many years ago in her little heart can only pity them in their fight against inherited evil. She is very good and better has an excellent home. Mrs. B. has no child, and gives J. a son's place in her heart and home. Another of the number sent to two little boys who rarely heard a word save of obscenity or profanity future years will tell.

May 25, '92, little Vera writes me in part: "Right happy years have gone since I left the Home. I was a little thing then, only six years old. I was given to kind parents who loved me as their own, and my life has been a happy one. A year ago I came to the Seminary and graduated in June. I am now a member of the English church. I belong to the high school but have not been going there. We have a beautiful home on a farm of thirty acres, and fruits and berries of all kinds. Our stove-berries are just ripening. It would be interesting to give you details of other cases, but time forbids. Of more than one hundred and eighty children we have had in our care, we know of only two who are not doing well. These two were sent West by an Association. We feel we have reason to be very grateful for such a record. In first helping natures, often able to give help in many cases, finding places for children and young people for our Homes, and for other children in our own State and in New York. They have thus been kept out of the almshouses, away from the temptations which often prove fatal to morals, and even life itself. Many a child's dark and loathsome past my picture in two bright colors, I believe to say we do sometimes find discouragements in our work. Failures and mistakes prove false, not only to all their children, but to their children's children, promises made to us. In the past year there have been several cases of cruel desertion of children by men having good wages, abundantly able to support their families. Without the aid of our State gifts have brought cheer and delight to our children. We under fresh obligations to our city officers, to our visiting physicians, to churches and Sunday-schools, to children's fairs and King's Daughters. In this connection, let me say that no begging from door to door for the Home by any one is ever authorized. Within a month I have heard of a young girl begging money to buy clothing for some children in the Home. As might be supposed, neither clothes or money ever came to the Home, and yet all are very glad of her lively spirit. Not over three dollars. Within a week a young woman has been soliciting money to furnish a room for a poor old woman in the Home. If every one of these would kindly refuse to give money at the door, they would save much trouble and annoyance to all our workers. Whenever we are in need of funds some officer of the Home always makes the statement of facts over her own name.

We are heartily indebted to the officers and doctors of Muhlenberg Hospital. For several months they have given free medical and surgical treatment to each of our little ones suffering from a severe form of disease. The kindness of the hospital has been untiring in her care and nursing, giving up cheerfully her own comfort whenever she could add to Jamie's comfort.

From our treasurer's report you will see that the receipts have been slightly larger in our treasury, but, kind friends, do not infer from this that we do not need assistance. Our regular monthly expenses are usually over two hundred dollars a month, so one can easily calculate the ways and means for permanent income with the constant calls for help which come to us. It ought not to be necessary to remind you that it is often said that after accounting for all cases of misfortune, sickness and death, the great, exciting cause of all this misery is the Plainfield liquor saloons, great and small, but especially the gilded ones, the ways sapping stones to "vile dens." Our young boys and girls do not begin in "cheap" time offices to sip through straws in hotel parlors their first glasses of ruin. The saloons are the recruiting offices from which this unending procession of poor, little soldiers, trying to fight life's battles with such terrible odds against them, comes. We often cry in our perplexity "How long, O Lord, shall this unequal war go on?" Then who vote for it. Arrangements are being made by the Associated Cycling Clubs of New Jersey to hold a tournament at Rahway on July 2 and 4. The meet will be held on the new quarter-mile track of the Union County Roadsters.

Then who vote for it.

Then who vote for it.

Then who vote for it

EDITORIAL NOTES

When all the world goes wrong, hold your tongue and your temper and wait.

Every woman who travels in the railway compartments of England ought to be provided with an American six shooter and open on the first stranger man she finds herself locked in alone with. It seems to be the only way for women to protect themselves.

It will be a surprise to many to know that Professor Crouch, the author of that sweet, famous song, "Kathleen Mavourneen," still lives, forgotten and in poverty, in Baltimore. He is eighty-four years old. It is a disgrace to the world that the author of "Kathleen Mavourneen" should be poor.

The conference of Lutheran ministers at Greensburg, Pa., had a debate on the question whether a Sunday school teacher might consistently play cards, baseball and billiards. The preachers were as eloquent as only preachers can be, but at last it was settled by a majority vote that a Sunday school teacher might indulge in the above recreations, provided only he did it for fun and did not bet or gamble.

There are so many Italians now in this country that they ought to be invited everywhere to take part in the Columbus celebrations of Oct. 12. Their artistic temperament and picturesque ideas could not fail to add to the attractiveness of the programmme. In Baltimore the Italian residents are to have a celebration and parade all their own. Doubtless it will be a highly interesting one. When it comes to arranging parades and pageants, the matter-of-fact Anglo-Saxon is nowhere in comparison to the Latin races.

Speaking of topics for lecturers, the Brooklyn Eagle wisely remarks: "There may well be less of the 'Irish Lakes,' the 'Dramatists of the Restoration,' the 'Scotch Poets' and 'Unfrequented Paths of History and Travel.'" Sure enough there may. Lecturers ought to choose some topic of interest to the people to whom they lecture. Such a topic at present might be a historical one connected with the discovery of this country. All the old records of that time could be gone into, and every line and scrap of writing having to do with those times hunted out and brought to the light of day. Particularly lectures dealing with the personality of Christopher Columbus have a fascination for the public. Little has hitherto been known of the real Columbus, pious, cruel and avaricious by turns, but always intellectually able and sagacious.

A Debt Paying Decade.

The Anglo-Saxon race pays its debts. Score that point to its favor. In the ten years from 1880 to 1890 Great Britain and the United States are the only nations that have diminished their debts. The others have piled them up. But England's national debt still amounts to one-eighth of the national wealth, state and national together—to only one-thirtieth of our wealth. So we have a great advantage.

The past ten years has seen debts paid in the United States at a rate never witnessed anywhere before. Ten years ago our national debt was $1,900,000,000. Now it is only $900,000,000, a billion paid in ten years. No country but a grand young republic could do it. At the census of 1880 all kinds of public indebtedness in the country—national, state, county and municipal—amounted to $300 for each family, counting five persons to the family. In 1890 it had sunk to $160 per family. This came partly from paying debts outright and partly from increase in the number of families. But that this was only a part of the cause of the decrease is shown in the fact that during the same debt paying decade the average wealth of each American family rose from $4,000 to $5,000. Has your family its share?

Great Work in Co-operation.

Some time since at Leicester, England, was formally opened a factory which ought to convince mankind of the success of co-operation among workingmen themselves. The establishment in question was a gigantic boot and shoe factory, covering six acres of ground. It is the largest co-operative manufacturing establishment of this kind in the world.

The buildings alone cost $150,000. When they are completely provided with the machinery that is going into them the whole cost will be $250,000. The co-operative working capital which has been gathered by the operatives for this great enterprise amounts to $1,000,000. The concern will turn out 50,000 pairs of boots every week. It is workingmen themselves, the operatives in this factory, have either borrowed or saved in small amounts the very sum which goes into the co-operative factory, and they will share the profits. The very fact that they have confidence to embark in such an enterprise shows that they have already tried the co-operative system and know what they are about. The men who work in the factory will be the sole managers of the establishment. If they succeed as they expect; they will show the way out of present troubles to many of their fellow workingmen.

LYNCH LAW IN NEW YORK

Negro Jackson Strung Up at Port Jervis.

HE HAD ASSAULTED MISS M'MAHON.

After Being Tracked Over Ten Miles by a Mob the Negro Was Caught, Confessed His Guilt and Soon Paid the Penalty of His Crime.

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., June 3.—Bob Jackson, a negro, was lynched here last night for assaulting Lena McMahon, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McMahon, of this village. The crime occurred on the outskirts of the village, near the banks of Neversink river, shortly after noon. It was witnessed by a number of young girls, who stood about fifty feet away, and also by two young negroes, who would have interfered in the girls behalf, but they were kept at bay by a revolver. After the outrage was perpetrated Jackson fled, leaving his victim unconscious and with injuries which will probably prove fatal. A posse of men started in pursuit and tracked him for several miles along the Hopewell highway as far as the racecourse, where all trace of him was lost.

The Negro Confesses.

The posse was determined, however, and after much difficulty Jackson was traced to Cuddenbackville, a small village on the Delaware and Hudson canal about nine miles from Port Jervis, where he was captured by Bill Carley, Dick Gillen and a man named Coleman. The fugitive had boarded a canalboat at Hopewood and had reached Cuddenbackville when intercepted and taken. On the way back to Port Jervis Jackson confessed the crime and implicated William Foley, a white man, who he claimed was in the conspiracy to ruin Miss McMahon. Foley has been paying attention to the girl against the wishes of her parents, and the feeling against him is such that should he be taken a fate similar to that which has overtaken Jackson would probably be meted out to him.

News of the capture soon spread through the town, and a large crowd of excited men collected about the village lockup awaiting the arrival of the prisoner. The words were quietly whispered through the crowd, "Lynch him!" "Lynch him!" The suggestion spread like wildfire, and it was evident that the fate of the prisoner was sealed.

Lynched by the Mob.

On his arrival at the lockup he was taken in hand by the mob. The village police endeavored to protect him, but their efforts were unavailing. It was at first proposed to have Jackson identified by the victim before hanging him to make sure that he was the guilty party. With this object in view the mob tied a rope around his body and dragged him up Hammond and down Main street as far as the residence of E. J. Fowler.

By this time the passions of the mob had reached a state of uncontrollable excitement, and it was decided to dispatch him without further ceremonies. A noose was adjusted about his neck and he was strung up to a neighboring tree in the presence of a howling mob of over 1,000 people. For over an hour the body hung suspended from the tree, while it was viewed by crowds of people. Jackson is about twenty-two years of age and has resided in Port Jervis about one year. His parents live in Paterson, N. J.

THE NEWS OF CONGRESS.

The House Still Fighting Over the Post-office Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The house spent another day in wrangling over the post-office appropriation bill. Points of order were made to nearly every amendment submitted. Mr. Livingstone, of Georgia, was fortunate in securing the adoption of his amendment increasing the appropriation for inland mail transportation by star routes from $5,645,000 to $5,845,000; an amendment was also adopted increasing the appropriation for mail messenger service from $1,100,000 to $1,160,000, and $100,000 were granted for mail facilities in connection with the World's Fair Columbian exposition.

Mr. Stewart's Free Coinage Speech.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The exodus of Republican senators to Minneapolis had its effect during the senate chamber a very quiet place. Mr. Stewart delivered the concluding portion of his free coinage speech.

He was surprised, he said, when Mr. Sherman expressed his admiration of the Bland-Allison act. He was surprised at the remarks of the senator from Ohio, because of the views expressed by him in his annual reports when secretary of the treasury. Then he had made the same ominous prediction that he was now making. The silver men did not propose a new standard; they asked to return to an ancient standard. It was only the enactment of a law similar to that repealed in 1873 that was asked for. All they asked was to restore the silver of their fathers.

A resolution providing for an investigation of recent national bank failures was adopted.

France Gives Up the Nancy Review.

PARIS, June 3.—The French government has abandoned the projected military review, on the occasion of the Nancy festivities, for fear that the governor of Alsace-Lorraine might greet President Carnot at the frontier, and secure a virtual recognition of the fact that Alsace-Lorraine were under German domination.

Irish Factions Still at Odds.

DUBLIN, June 3.—At a meeting of the National league William Redmond said he did not think it would be for the good of Ireland for the Parnellites to unite with men who were responsible for the death of Mr. Parnell. The sentiment was loudly applauded.

No Jurisdiction in Young's Case.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The press committee of the senate has waited on the executive clerk of the senate, have decided that they have no jurisdiction. They believe the charges unfounded and decide that an investigation would be impolitic.

Murderer McGuire Appeals.

NEWBURG, N. Y., June 3.—Counsel for McGuire, the wife murderer, appeals for what is to be electrocuted next week at Sing Sing, has appealed and his execution will be postponed.

Tupper Will Prepare England's Case.

OTTAWA, June 3.—Hon. C. H. Tupper will prepare the case which the British-American commissioners upon Behring sea arbitration will present.

Many Missionaries Expelled.

BERLIN, June 3.—The British East Africa company has expelled from Uganda two German two Belgian and two Dutch and five French missionaries.

GETTYSBURG'S HIGH WATER MARK

A Beautiful Memorial Unveiled to Mark the Monument Spot.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 3.—The high water mark monument was dedicated here. Governor Pattison and party, numbering 200 persons, were present. Among the party were Mrs. Pattison, Major General Snowden, Colonel Austin Curtin, Colonel Charles Green and the members of the court, Captain Booth, of the United States army; Colonel Chambers McKibbin, Adjutant General Greenland and staff, Private Secretary Tate and Quartermaster McClellan.

A band of Indians from the Carlisle Indian Industrial school furnished music for the occasion, assisted by the Marine band, of Washington. The exercises were opened by Dr. J. J. Savage, of Boston, who was followed by Hon. Edward McPherson in an address of welcome. Colonel John B. Batchelder, government historian of the Gettysburg battlefield, then explained why the monument was called the high water mark. The unveiling and presentation of the monument were then made by Samuel M. Swope, Esq.

HIGH WATER MARK MONUMENT.

General James A. Beaver then delivered the oration and James Jeffrey Roche, of the Boston Pilot, read the poem.

The monument stands about midway of the federal lines on June 3, 1863; that is, midway between Roundtop and Cemetery Heights, and is just in the rear of the clump of trees which were pointed out by General Lee to General Pickett as the objective point of the federal line, which it was hoped the flower of the Virginia infantry would break through. The high water mark monument consists of a broad marble pedestal flanked on either side by cannon and surmounted by a great open book of bronze, the left page of which gives the names of Confederate commanders involved in that great charge, and on the right the names of the commanders of the federal regiments which met, dispersed and annihilated it.

FASHIONS

Pretty Summer Gowns.

THE BATON. THE CORSELET SKIRT.

Two of the prettiest costumes yet seen are shown here. The new Eaton gown is made in navy serge or homespun. The sketch explains the design admirably.

The corselet skirt is a graceful effect, giving perfect freedom to the arms and body during exercise, such as lawn tennis. It can be had in navy, black, or cream estamene serge, or more expensively in shevriot serge.

For a Women's Exhibit.

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 3.—Ladies representing women's exchanges in various parts of the state met at the house of Mrs. Robert S. Green to discuss a plan for uniting with Pennsylvania exchanges in having a women's exhibit at the World's fair. T. T. Kenney, of Newark, was elected president and a committee was appointed to confer with the state commissioners. Three thousand women are interested.

His Young Bride Left Him.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 3.—Charles Dayton, of Elwood, who two weeks ago married Miss Mary Parker at that place, went to Egg Harbor City and applied for a warrant for the arrest of his bride, who he said had deserted him and was screaming to elope with a young man of Egg Harbor City.

Cadets at Artillery Practice.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 3.—The cadets indulged in practice with the seacoast battery, sending big shells whizzing over the bay to the target point in an effort to hit targets placed half way up Chapel Rest mountain. The practice was in charge of Lieutenant Mott, of the First artillery.

Warrant for Rev. Thomas Dixon.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Excise Commissioner Koch has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of the Rev. Thomas Dixon, pastor of one of the Twenty-third Street Baptist church, upon a charge of public libel in recent pulpit utterances.

Commissioner Sheehan Married.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Police Commissioner John C. Sheehan and Miss Minnie Bullock, daughter of James Bullock, of 226 West One Hundred and Thirty-Sixth street were married by Rev William J. McGill assisted by other priests.

A Nest of Anarchists Unearthed.

PARIS, June 3.—A store of dynamite has been discovered at Fontenay-sous-Bois, nine miles south of Paris and a nest of anarchists unearthed. Five anarchists have been arrested.

Blisters Sent to Siberia.

VIENNA, June 3.—One hundred and twenty leaders of the Lodz race have been tried, found guilty, and started for Siberia. More trouble is expected.

BY THE AIRLINE ROUTE.

Proposed Electric Road to the World's Fair.

SPEED A HUNDRED MILES AN HOUR.

The Wonderful Railroad Is to Connect Chicago and St. Louis and Will Make a Mint of Money if Its Projectors Are to Be Believed.

NEW YORK, June 3.—At the Electric club last night Dr. Wellington Adams, an electrician of Chicago, explained to an audience that was interested, astonished, and, as some frankly admitted, rather incredulous, the details of an electric railway that is about to be built between Chicago and St. Louis. It is to follow an air line, paying no attention to obstructions whatsoever. It is to run cars at a speed of at least 100 miles an hour. It is to be in operation by the spring of 1893. Dr. Adams first produced a map of the state of Illinois, showing the city of St. Louis. Across the map was drawn a straight line between the spots marked Chicago and St. Louis respectively.

"That," said Dr. Adams, "the Chicago and St. Louis Electric railway, surveyed as nearly to a straight line as the instruments could do it. This road is 265 miles long, or thirty-five miles shorter than the shortest railway line now operating between those points.

For the World's Fair.

"We intend to have this road in operation by the opening of the World's fair, and we expect to make twice the cost of it before the fair closes. Contracts are arranged for, and the cost will be about $6,000,000. The fare for the round trip from Chicago to St. Louis will be five dollars. The shortest time from St. Louis to Chicago will be two hours and a half as against eight hours and a half, the quickest time at present.

"For 30 miles of the way the country is naturally as level as a billiard table. The grade on the other forty-eight miles is 2 per cent. We propose to build at first two tracks, and they will be put upon an independent bed. The roadbed will be of unusually solid construction and the rails will be California rails, which overlap and are practically continuous without joints. The road will thus be secure against many of the accidents which ordinary roadbeds cause.

Description of the Road.

"Between the two roadbeds will rise a series of poles supporting a cross arm, to either end of which will be strung the wire along which the trolley will work. The cars will be low, heavily weighted, and the front and of each car will be a sort of inclined plane, so that the least atmospheric resistance will be got. There will be two trucks, with a pair of six-foot wheels and a pair of thirty-one-inch wheels to each truck. The part of the car in which the passengers will be put will be partly down between the two trucks.

"We will have two central stations, one at Wilmington or Fairbury, sixty miles from Chicago, the other at Edinburg, eighteen miles southeast of Springfield. Each section of ten miles of the road will have in the midst of it a station for the storage and transformation of the electricity.

"The operating of the road," continued Mr. Adams, "will be very simple. You get into the car, and when all is ready the motor man who is on board also, closes the doors and lets her go. The car does not stop or let up its speed—for the truck is fenced in all the way—until you get to St. Louis, where you give up your ticket to a gateman there as you pass out into the street. There may be two cars coupled with their straight ends together if the traffic calls for it. But all the cars will go through without stop."

When Dr. Adams sat down, Prof. Crosby, who with Dr. Bell wrote a work on electrical railways, arose and expressed some grave fears as to the practicability of the road. He said he hoped Dr. Adams' estimates as to cost would be found correct, as he feared there were some difficulties still in the way.

Archbishop Corrigan Rebuked.

BROOKLYN, June 3.—During the trial of his libel suit against Bishop Ryan, Father Dent cross-examined Archbishop Corrigan. "Do you know me?" asked Father Dent. "I do," said the archbishop, "to say that I have seen you once," replied the archbishop. At this reply Justice Bartlett turned to Archbishop Corrigan and said sternly, "Sir, here, that won't do. We will not have such an answer here. You have no right to make such remarks." After a pause Father Dent said calmly, "I have no more questions to ask the witness," and the archbishop went out of the courtroom to his carriage.

Is Rev. Nicolai a Forger?

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 3.—Rev. Nathaniel Nicolai, the missing pastor of the German Presbyterian church at Elizabethport, is charged with being a forger. He is accused of having forged a check payable to him, and purporting to have been drawn by Henry Pfarer, an elder of the church. The check is dated May 27, the day Nicolai disappeared.

Russia's Favorable Crop Outlook.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 3.—The minister of agriculture has issued a report stating that the seed corn and winter crops are in satisfactory condition owing to the abundance of rain during May. Summer sown crops promise well. The area planted is as large as ever.

A Granite Lockout Compromise.

CONCORD, N. H., June 3.—An effort will be made to compromise the difference between the manufacturers and the granite cutters by having future bills of prices go into effect midway between Jan. 1 and June 1.

French Lovers Die Together.

LONDON, June 3.—Two lovers, named Raoul Lecaurence and Marie Lodermann, from Rouen, France, finding that their relatives were unfavorable, they shot themselves dead at Sutton.

Is Young Fales Insane?

NEWARK, N. J., June 3.—Alienists differ as to whether Robert Aldan Fales, the youth on trial in Newark for the murder of Cashier Haydon, is sane.

Suicide Near Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, June 3.—Wilhelm Blank, a tobacconist, drowned German shot himself dead in a field near Second avenue in Hazelwood.

Princess Marie Betrothed.

LONDON, June 3.—Princess Marie of Edinburgh is betrothed to Prince Hohenollern-Sigmaringen, the present prince of Roumania.

Keeper Hook Found Guilty.

UTICA, N. Y., June 3.—The prosecution of Hook for the escape of Benedict O'Brien resulted in a verdict of guilty.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

THE DOANE & VAN ARSDALE

$3 Welt Shoe,

Paris, New York and Globe Toes. Widths B, C, D & E.

Best in the World for the Money.

22 West Front Street.

P. S.—Time to buy Russet Shoes.

Having Disposed of the Produce Business

to Mr. L. A. Hummer, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E RIDER, Manager.

WHY IS THIS?

Three years ago the Duluth Imperial Mills made 500 barrels of flour a day.

Now they make 6000 barrels daily.

This is because a barrel of Imperial makes

18 to 20 More Loaves

of bread than any other flour, and the quality is the BEST. Order a barrel or bag of your grocer and satisfy yourself.

FRENCH BROS.,

CITY MILLS.

Telephone No. 24. Nos. 8, 10 and 12 Somerset street.

LOOK AT THIS!

At No. 37 Somerset street, second-hand furniture is Bought and Sold. secure a bargain.

At the carpenter shop, No. 05 East Front street, or at the Boston one street store, estimates are cheerfully furnished. Window and door screens a specialty.

G. R. MUSGRAVE, Proprietor.

PIPTONIZED Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'

To the Public:

Neuman Bros.

Desire to call special attention to their choice and select line of new canned vegetables, viz: French Peas, primest sugar corn, Burnham & Morrill's Paris sugar corn, Shrewsbury tomatoes, Earl tomatoes, F. H. Leggett's stewed tomatoes Fait & Winbermer's extra sifted peas, Golden Gate sugar peas, extra early June peas, Hamburg Stringless Beans, Huston River asparagus and Crepe.

Special reduction given by the case or dozen. Also a fine assortment of Gordon & Doworth's jellies and mince meats.

79 BROADWAY.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher.
46 West Front Street.

C. DICKINSON,

PRACTICAL

OPTICIAN

and

JEWELER.

Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Agent for the American

Rambler Bicycles.

No. 13 Park avenue.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong ice to this market. We now are parad to serve their patrons with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depot corner Avenue B and Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenues.

J. W. CODDINGTON, Pres.
H. CODDINGTON, Vice-Pres.
ANDREW WILSON, Sec. & Treas.
J. MORTON, Gen. Supt.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum

and

Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Segars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Segar store, No. 12 West Second street.

A. M. SEGUINE,

PROPRIETOR OF

Laing's Hotel Stables,

on Front Street, Opp. Railroad Depot.

TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 26.

Coaches for weddings, funerals and private calls.

Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.

Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.

BOARDING HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!

ALL SIZES.

Of finest

Light Blue Color.

References—

F. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.

ROBT. A. MEEKER, Street Com.

Smalley Bros.,

94 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

99 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.

Invites the public to inspect the quality of his newly added steam vibrating machine coal screen, the most perfect coal screen in use, which he can supply to families, the delivery of which is prompt, by any other method of delivery.

UPPER LEHIGH AND WHITE ASH COAL for best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND DRESSED LUMBER.

He would also announce that he has secured facilities for Thursday and Tuesday shipping, and is prepared to execute orders for same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in BEST

QUALITY COAL

YARD AND OFFICE

SOUTH AVENUE.

P. O. BOX 1467.

Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Counsellors and Solicitors in Chancery. Notaries Public. Masters in Chancery. Notaries Public. Office, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E., Engineer of the Famous Union County Road System. Special attention given to street paving and sewerage. Office, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Attorney-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public. Office, No. 29 North avenue, opp. city hall. Office hours, 9 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 4 p. m. Residence, No. 28 West Front street.

CLARK & REED, Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Special Masters in Chancery, Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CORNELIUS A. MATTHEWS, Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Solicitor and Master in Chancery, Notary Public. Office corner Front and Somerset streets.

OSCAR S. TEALE, Architect, 287 Broadway, New York city, and 204 East Front street, Plainfield. Bank Building. Residence, Plainfield, N. J.

PLAINFIELD

ODDLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY

JONES & CO.

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Office with Jones & Co., Front street. Special attention to approval of by the Boards of Health. Prices for excavating paid to dissatisfaction. Orders may be left at Park Hotel, Messenger's, Post Boat House, Leaves, Gardens and Plain Furniture, P. O. box 1067. Telephone call 29.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

ARRIVE—7:30, 9:40, a. m., 12:05, 2:30, 5:40 p. m.
CLOSE—7:30, 9:40, a. m., 12:30, 2:30 and 6 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND BASTON MAILS.

ARRIVE—9:40 a. m., 1:05, 6:30 p. m.
CLOSE—7:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 6:30 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6:30 p. m.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

FORMING FOR THE FRAY.

Blaine and Harrison Boomers at Minneapolis.

CLARKSON AND NEW CONFIDENT.

The Respective Leaders of the Secretary's and President's Campaigns Declare That Their Favorites Will Be Nominated on the First Ballot—Live Political Gossip.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 3.—The morning trains brought in the custodians of both the Harrison and the Blaine booms. The vanguard of the Harrisonians was reinforced by the appearance on the scene of John C. New, to whom the president has intrusted the management of his cause. Mr. New professed the greatest confidence in the prospects for the nomination of his chieftain on the first ballot. Chairman Clarkson himself headed the Blaine delegation and he met with him J. Sloat Fassett, of New York; H. C. Payne, of Milwaukee; J. P. Jackson, of Port Huron, Mich.; Senator Kasbrough, of North Dakota; A. L. Conger, of Akron, O., and other prominent anti-Harrisonians.

"Blaine will be nominated," said Mr. Jackson, "and nominated on the very first ballot, too."

"Will he accept?" was asked.

"Did any man ever refuse?" he replied with a smile. The executive committee, it is given out, has agreed on J. Sloat Fassett for temporary chairman and Colonel C. W. Johnson, of Minneapolis, for temporary secretary. Both are Blaine men.

Harrison Men May Attack Blaine.

The plan of the Harrison campaign, so far as it has been disclosed in the skirmish, is first to make a vigorous and personal warfare on Platt, Quay, Foraker and the other prominent anti-Harrison leaders; and second, if it becomes necessary, to make an aggressive attack on Blaine himself so that it will be impossible for the secretary to permit the use of his name. John C. New declared, when asked if another letter was expected from Blaine, that they did not want another letter. "One is enough," he said, "to say one that reads and understands the English language. The Blaine letter was plain enough and we don't ask for another. Harrison will be named on the first ballot beyond question."

Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, another Harrison boomer, declares that Blaine will prove himself insincere if he accepts anything less than a unanimous nomination, which he cannot get. Spooner will second Depew's nomination of Harrison in all probability. Ex-Governor J. C. Pillsbury, the Minneapolis delegate at large, will present to the resolutions committee a plank for the platform declaring for single presidential terms. This may precipitate a Blaine-Harrison fight at once.

But Two Candidates in It.

Thus far the signs all point to the fact that the contest for the nomination will be between the friends of Harrison and Blaine. The dark horses are not heard of now. Messrs. Clarkson and Fassett have disposed of one of the most prominent of talked of compromise candidates to their own satisfaction. They say that General Alger is for Blaine, and hint that he will throw his strength to the magnetic man from Maine. The Harrison men have taken possession of the West Hotel, and the president's boom is being worked for all there is in it. At Fair Oaks, the palatial residence of Senator Washburne, Messrs. Clarkson, Fassett, Kasbrough, Conger and Payne and others were dined by the senator. The Blaine man does not expect the battle and when the president's followers practically have the field to themselves. The Indianans are working tooth and nail. Ten thousand Harrison badges have been distributed and Blaine's letter to Chairman Clarkson, printed in circular form, is being circulated by hundreds. Ex-Senator Pierce, of North Dakota, and a few delegates from Minnesota and North Dakota had a conference in John C. New's room and it was announced that the president had about 660 instructed votes.

This statement is viewed with incredulity by the Blaine supporters. Powell Clayton, of Arkansas, says that the entire delegation from that state, with one or two exceptions, are for Harrison.

Chairman Clarkson Talks.

Mr. Clarkson estimates that Blaine will have a strength, of about 400, to Harrison's half that number. The latter's strength in his opinion comes from the south and from the officeholding element, each man in all block, Depew, of course, excepting, which proved that the almost universal Harrison strength lay with the men who made up the vast Republican machine.

"We want to nominate the strongest man in the party," resumed Chairman Clarkson, "and I think James G. Blaine is that man. The present campaign will be one of the fiercest ever known in American politics. In my judgment it has been a certainty for a majority of the people for a year or more that Blaine should head the ticket as I have."

"How can he accept the nomination after his letter of declination?"

"He will be nominated in spite of himself."

"But, General Clarkson," remarked the reporter, "Mr. Shiel, of Indiana, claims that Harrison has 660 votes."

"That is a lot of Indiana poetry," was the broad reply. "There is no doubt that Mr. Fassett will be named as temporary chairman of the convention. The subcommittee of the national committee have practically decided on him."

A McGuinness, the advance guard of the Chicago Blaine crowd and a very intimate friend of the Blaine family, declares that he has positive information Blaine will make a strong A fight for the nomination as he did in 1884.

Says Harrison Is an Iceberg.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 3.—Mr. H. H. Warner, delegate to the Minneapolis convention, says: "I am strongly opposed to a second presidential term on principle. Mr. Harrison has given the country a good administration; I am not ashamed that I voted for him four years ago. I knew he was an iceberg, but he has shown himself cold and selfish in office, inconsiderate of the friends who had done most to secure for him his high place. He is unpopular, and the people don't believe he will be elected if nominated. I am not by any means unfriendly in favor of Mr. Blaine's nomination, and we may trot out a dark horse."

Hill Not Alarmed.

UTICA, N. Y., June 3.—An Albany special to The Press says: "Apparently the Democratic convention instructed at Syracuse to-day for Hill to cause a good deal of alarm in regular Democratic circles. The followers of Senator Hill are concerned especially over the seemingly well authenticated report that the Chicago national convention will decide to admit half of the contesting Cleveland delegation from New York state.

Chairman Edward Murphy has issued a secret call requesting each of the sixty-four New York states Hill delegates to meet next Tuesday at the Hoffman House, New York, to confer over the presidential situation. Mr. Murphy, Senator Hill and Lieutenant Governor Sheehan will be present, and it is understood that a particular effort is to be made on that occasion to get Tammany to declare itself unreservedly in favor of Hill's presidential candidacy."

Hale Says Blaine Will Accept.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—One of the most significant developments of the Blaine campaign is the delegation of Senator Eugene Hale, of Maine, that Mr. Blaine will certainly accept if nominated.

Senator Hale has been a strong friend of the president, even while the Blaine movement seemed to be at its height, and his declarations that Mr. Blaine was not in the field have given great comfort to the president and his friends. Senator Hale seems at last to feel that there is no stemming the Blaine tide. He says:

"I think Mr. Blaine is entirely indifferent whether he is nominated or not. If the convention nominates him he will accept. There is no question about that. The only point to be considered is whether he will prevent the convention from making the effort to nominate him."

Blaine Could Carry Iowa.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Ex-Governor William Larrabee, of Iowa, is here talking hustly for Blaine. "The Plumed Knight can carry Iowa against any Democrat, not excepting Horace Boies," declared the ex-governor. "But I would not say that for Harrison The state delegation would have been instructed for Blaine had the convention known what all the people now know. Then a majority of the delegates will vote for Blaine any how."

The Louisiana Deadlock.

BATON ROUGE, June 3.—There will be a general Democratic conference on the senatorial question and a strong effort will be made to postpone the election for two years. Many white Democratic primaries and allow the candidates to submit their claims to the people. The last joint ballot resulted as follows: Jones, 60; Adams, 20; Gibson, 19; Caffery, 14; Blanchard, 17; Bourgeois, 4; Mahoney, 1.

Depew Shouts for Harrison.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Before leaving for Minneapolis Chauncey M. Depew said: "Harrison will be nominated and the convention will be over in two days. We will all be back in Chicago on Friday telling of what great people the Republican party is composed, and in particular dwelling on the collapse of the Blaine boom."

Miller for the Man Who Wins.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Ex-Senator Warner Miller writes from Rome: "I am heartily in favor of the candidate who receives 451 votes in the convention." This is received as an indication that the Herkimer statesman is ready to support the Republican ticket loyally, whether Harrison or Blaine wins.

Alger Delegates for Blaine.

DETROIT, June 3.—Michigan's delegates will, according to William A. Gavett, vote solidly for James G. Blaine. The state convention instructed for ex-Governor Alger, but Mr. Gavett says that Alger is a Blaine man, and that he will not insist upon the instruction of the convention being followed.

Cullom Says Blaine Is Out.

CHICAGO, June 3.—"I am on the road to nomination for president," said Senator Cullom to a reporter. "I believe that nominee will be Harrison. I do not consider Blaine a candidate, for the most excellent reason that it seems to me that he does not consider himself one."

Correspondents Travel in Style.

PITTSBURG, June 3.—The special train conveying sixty-six Washington newspaper correspondents to Minneapolis passed through Pittsburg at 11:20 a. m. Their train consists of six superb coaches, a commissariat of the famous Pennsylvania limited express.

Judge East for Governor.

NASHVILLE, June 3.—The state Prohibition convention nominated Judge E. H. East, of Davidson county, for governor. The platform favors the election of the president, vice president and United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

Alabama People's Party Active.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 3.—George F. Gaither, state chairman of the People's party, has issued a call for a state convention, to meet in Birmingham June 25, to put out a full state ticket and to elect delegates to the Omaha convention.

How Cleveland Men Will Go.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Supporters of Grover Cleveland have arranged to go from this city to Chicago on June 16 on a special train, with accommodations for 500 persons. Their headquarters will be at the Grand Pacific hotel.

Many Special Trains Start.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The special trains of Herman O. Armour, Samuel Thomas and Chauncey M. Depew have left for Minneapolis. Among their guests were Messrs. Platt, Whitelaw Reid and General Horace Porter.

Mr. Cleveland at Buzzard's Bay.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., June 3.—Ex-President Grover Cleveland and family have arrived here on Mr. E. C. Benedict's steam yacht Oneida. The entire party are residing at Gray Gables.

Bill Tammany's First Choice.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Chief Croker declares that Senator Hill is Tammany's first choice for the presidential nomination and that Tammany's voters will not desert him.

All Instructed for Harrison.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 3.—Delegates to the national convention have left for Minneapolis. They are all instructed for Harrison.

Palmer Wants the Date Changed.

ALBANY, June 3.—National Commander John R. Palmer, of the G. A. R., has sent a letter to the chairman of the World's fair congressional committee asking that the date for the dedication of the discovery of America be changed from the 12th to the 21st of Oct.

Secretary Blaine Mandamused.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—A mandamus was served on Secretary Blaine to compel him to pay to Samuel C. Reed, administrator for Henry Coit, $1,466, Coit's share in the prize money in the case of the brig General Armstrong

Dr. Patton to Go Abroad.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 3.—Dr. and Mrs. Francis Landey Patton left for New York, where they will take the Cunard steamer for Liverpool Saturday Dr Patton will spend the summer in Switzerland.

What He Ought to Learn.

A preacher went up on Cass avenue recently and bought a canary with the intention of learning to play. Yesterday the man who sold it to him met his little brother.

"Why, by the way," he inquired, "how is Charlie getting along with his cornet playing?"

"He ain't gittin 'long at all," sniffed the youngster. "He's been blowin away at it every night, but this morning one of the neighbors come over and told him in plain language that he'd better be learnin to play the harp, for he might need it for sure, and I guess Charlie is goin to give up music altogether."—Detroit Free Press.

Wouldn't Be Missed.

Anxious Stranger—My good man, don't let that child get so near the edge of the lake!

The Other—Oh, I got plenty more at heim.—Jester.

OVER THREE HUNDRED KILLED.

The Death List at Pratteran's Mine Horror Growing.

VIENNA, June 3.—Dispatches from Pratteran say that with every hour an increase of the estimated mortality in the mines is reported. Of the 500 men at work in the mine when the fire broke out but 140 can be found. The other 360 are undoubtedly dead in the mines. Besides the workingmen, five pupils and an instructor in Pratteran School of Mines, who descended the shaft an hour before the alarm was given, are missing. The young men went down with the instructor, as had been their wont for the last few weeks, to study practical mining. All hope that any of the imprisoned miners will be taken out alive has been abandoned.

Most of the men were suffocated, it is thought, before the flames reached them. In one narrow gallery fifteen charred trunks were found in a heap of embers, but such cases of cremation seem to have been the exception.

Comparatively few of the bodies have been identified. About twenty-five have been taken away by the widows of dead miners. More than 125 are still unclaimed, as the disfiguration of the features has rendered most of them unrecognizable. The cage brings up the bodies, nine or ten at a time, when the poisonous vapors in the far interior of the mine have been abated the work will be carried on more rapidly, as at present the searchers have to proceed with extreme care, and have not ventured into the parts last burned and to which the majority of the miners are thought to have been driven by the advancing flames.

It is estimated that more than 200 families, representing almost 1,000 of the population of Pratteran, have been left destitute. Emperor Franz Joseph has sent a contribution and has dispatched an official from the department of the interior to make a special report on the disaster.

Reading's Move Against the Pennsylvania

NEW YORK, June 3.—Another blow is to be struck at the Pennsylvania Railroad company's prestige by the Reading railroad combination. The latter company will compete with the Pennsylvania road at Buffalo and New York city for the soft coal business by means of the Beech Creek extension and an agreement with the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg. The Reading will be able to put 1,500,000 tons of soft coal a year into the Buffalo market as soon as the Beech Creek extension is completed.

Bell Telephone Beaten.

BOSTON, June 3.—An important decision, adverse to the American Bell Telephone company, was rendered in the United States circuit court. The decision is in favor of the Western Union Telegraph company. The suit, which involves about $12,000,000, is based upon the terms of a contract made in 1879 between the telephone and several Western Union controlled telegraph lines.

Express Robbers Get $50,000.

WICHITA, Kas., June 3.—The southbound Santa Fe passenger train was held up by masked robbers at the stock yards, near the station of Red Rock in the Cherokee strip. The robbers entered the express car, broke open the safe and secured $50,000. The passengers were not molested.

The Welland Canal Toll Question.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—A conference is being held today between Secretary Blaine and Hon. George Foster, Canadian minister of finance, and Hon. McKenzie Powell, Canadian minister of militia, in regard to the tolls to be charged United States vessels on the Welland canal.

BOEHM

Will sell for THIS WEEK ONLY,

Good Matting at 10c.

per yard for the roll. Largest stock of Carpets, Oil Cloths and Mattings in the city.

Special Low Prices

on Millinery, Dress Goods and Spring Jackets this week.

Agency for King's Dyeing of Co., Easton, Pa.

No. 7 West Front Street.

Joseph T. Sullivan,

No. 66 West Third Street,

Dealer in Choice

Wines, Liquors, etc.

BEER ON DRAUGHT.

V. L. FRAREE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

25 West Front Street.

JUST IN!

A new lot of goods at No. 61 Park Avenue,

OIL STOVES, ARNOLD COOKERS, GASSTOVES, ARNOLD COFFEE COOKER and

Oil Gas Stoves!

The Oil Gas Stove is something entirely new, and everybody should see it before buying any other. It has two burners, a large flame from each; is splendid for sapping arms and works charmingly. Call and see it, burning all day.

M. S. BEACH, Agent.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

LAWN MOWERS, Bicycles, and GENERAL MACHINERY Repairs, at SCHENCK'S Machine Shop,

North Plainfield. Also Pipe Fitting.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter and General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet MAKER.

Furniture Repaired, Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS,

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 845.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. R. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 818.

R. V. SAUMS.

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Fernes.

P. O. Box 1288

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. P. HOFFMAN.

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

Residence—24 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ARBOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Corner new and Front streets, Plainfield, N. J. Especially fine cabinet work. Interior hard wood work. P. O. Box 1564.

JOHN HERRMANN,

Practical Builder and hard wood worker. Estimates furnished. Grand and Rogers streets, North Plainfield, N. J.

J. HERRMANN, 121 East Front Street.

GARDEN FLOWER & LAWN Seeds and Fertilizers.

Special Lawn Seeds for shady and dry lawns.

GARDEN TOOLS and Lawn Mowers.

WATER PIPEING AND PLUMBING.

Tinwork, Hardware and Housefurnishings.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

19 East Front Street. Telephone 6.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

15 West Front Street.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS

PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—39 East Front street.

Miss Blanche Fellows

VOCALIST and Teacher of Singing.

Rapid development and complete education of the voice.

Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formation and tone production.

Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Call or address

NO. 87 DUER STREET.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

43 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.

42 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE,

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

NO. 25 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : : : : NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

In buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 46 EMILY STREET.

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

NEW ○°○ STORE!

I beg to announce that I have opened a store pertaining to bedding at 76 West Front street. Below we quote some of our prices:

Mattresses	$1.50 to $12
3 piece Jersey Actuated Hair Mattress, 35 lbs.	$10
Cotton Feather Pillows	$1.50, $2, $2.50
Best Feather Pillows	75 cents
Extra Down Pillows	50 cents
Counterpanes	$1, $1.25, $1.50

Blankets, 60c.; bolsters and pillow cases; Oil Cloth 25 to 45c. per yard; Oriental and Turkish Rugs, $1, by 4 ft. Also a full assortment of Furniture, all sizes, 50 per cent under regular prices. Bedsteads, Springs, Looking Glasses, Pictures, Cradles, Cribs, Bedroom Crockery, Couches, Rocking Chairs, Safes, and a hundred and one other things cheaper than you can buy them in any other store

T. J. CAREY, - Proprietor.

76 WEST FRONT STREET.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any of the first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor Dealer. Telephone No. 187.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(The Port Reading R. R. Co., Lessee.)

Stations in New York, foot of Liberty street. Stations in effect May 15, 1892.

TRAINS FOR AND FROM NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 2 14, 4 28, 6 04, 6 28, 6 58, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m. Leave New York, Liberty st., 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave New York, Cortlandt street, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave New York, Desbrosses street, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night. Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 7 15, 7 57, 9 03 a. m., 12 05, 2 20, 3 38, 5 08, 6 15, 7 30, 9 45, 11 05 p. m. Sunday 8 00, 9 45 a. m., 4 15, 6 30, 10 15 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 45, 7 15, 7 57, 9 03, 10 05 a. m., 12 05, 1 20, 2 20, 3 38, 5 08, 6 15, 7 30, 9 45, 11 05 p. m. Sunday 8 00, 9 45 a. m., 4 15, 6 30, 10 15 p. m. Leave Newark at 6 15, 6 45, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Leave Newark for Somerville at 8 15, 9 15 a. m., 12 15, 1 15, 2 15, 3 15, 4 15, 5 15, 6 15, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 p. m. Leave Newark for Rahway at 6 15, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 a. m., 12 15, 1 15, 2 15, 3 15, 4 15, 5 15, 6 15, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 p. m. Passengers for Somerville change cars at Bonnell's. Passengers for Rahway change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 7 15, 7 57, 9 03 a. m., 12 05, 2 20, 3 38, 5 08, 6 15, 7 30, 9 45, 11 05 p. m. Sunday 8 00, 9 45 a. m., 4 15, 6 30, 10 15 p. m. Leave Somerville at 6 15, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 45, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m. Leave Somerville for Bonnell's at 8 15, 9 15 a. m., 12 15, 1 15, 2 15, 3 15, 4 15, 5 15, 6 15, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 7 15, 9 43, a. m. 1 55, 4 52 p. m. Sunday 9 43 a. m. 4 52 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

8 15 a. m. for Pleasant Grove, Allentown, Somerville, Millstone, Hightstown, Jamesburg, Englishtown, Freehold, Farmingdale, Squankum, Wall, Whitesville and Toms River.

9 43 a. m. for Junction, High Bridge Branch, Flemington, Lambertville, Stockton, Frenchtown, Milford and Easton.

1 55 p. m. for Junction, High Bridge Branch, Flemington, Lambertville, Stockton, Frenchtown, Milford and Easton. Through coach to Flemington.

4 52 p. m. for Junction, High Bridge Branch, Flemington, Lambertville, Stockton, Frenchtown, Milford and Easton. Through coach to Flemington.

EASTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

7 15 a. m. for Junction, High Bridge Branch, Flemington, Lambertville, Stockton, Frenchtown, Milford and Easton. Through coach to Flemington.

9 43 a. m. for Junction, High Bridge Branch, Flemington, Lambertville, Stockton, Frenchtown, Milford and Easton. Through coach to Flemington.

1 55 p. m. for Junction, High Bridge Branch, Flemington, Lambertville, Stockton, Frenchtown, Milford and Easton. Through coach to Flemington.

4 52 p. m. for Junction, High Bridge Branch, Flemington, Lambertville, Stockton, Frenchtown, Milford and Easton. Through coach to Flemington.

8 15 a. m. for Pleasant Grove, Allentown, Somerville, Millstone, Hightstown, Jamesburg, Englishtown, Freehold, Farmingdale, Squankum, Wall, Whitesville and Toms River.

9 43 a. m. for Junction connecting for Lambertville.

1 55 p. m. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Lambertville, Stockton, Frenchtown, Milford and Easton. Through coach to Flemington.

4 52 p. m. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Lambertville, Stockton, Frenchtown, Milford and Easton. Through coach to Flemington.

8 15 a. m. Sundays for Pleasant Grove, Allentown, Somerville, Millstone, Hightstown, Jamesburg, Englishtown, Freehold, Farmingdale, Squankum, Wall, Whitesville and Toms River.

9 43 a. m. for Junction connecting for Lambertville.

1 55 p. m. Sundays for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Lambertville, Stockton, Frenchtown, Milford and Easton. Through coach to Flemington.

4 52 p. m. Sundays for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Lambertville, Stockton, Frenchtown, Milford and Easton. Through coach to Flemington.

LONG BRANCH OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 6 45, 8 00, 11 30 a. m., 4 30 p. m. Sundays 8 00 a. m., 4 30 p. m. Leave New York, Liberty street, 9 00 a. m., 4 00 p. m. Sundays 9 00 a. m., 4 00 p. m. Leave New York, Cortlandt street, 9 00 a. m., 4 00 p. m. Sundays 9 00 a. m., 4 00 p. m. Leave New York, Desbrosses street, 9 00 a. m., 4 00 p. m. Sundays 9 00 a. m., 4 00 p. m. Passengers for Long Branch, Ocean Grove, etc., change cars at Bonnell's.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

For Philadelphia at 2 14, 5 28, 6 04, 6 28, 6 58, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m. Leave New York, Liberty st., 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave New York, Cortlandt street, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave New York, Desbrosses street, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night. Passengers for Philadelphia change cars at Bonnell's.

Sundays for Philadelphia at 2 14, 5 28, 6 04, 6 28, 6 58, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m. Leave New York, Liberty st., 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave New York, Cortlandt street, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night. Leave New York, Desbrosses street, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night. Passengers for Philadelphia change cars at Bonnell's.

C. G. HANCOCK, Gen'l Pass. Agt. Philadelphia.
H. P. BALDWIN, Asst. Gen'l Pass. Agt. N. Y.

Educational.

ELOCUTION.

Instruction in Elocution, class or private lessons. For terms, address Miss Alberti, P. O. Box 1008.

MISS LIZZIE L. HOWARD, Teacher of Piano and Harmony. Pupil of Prof. Leuthner, a few of pupils obtained in Plainfield. Address and references, Cor. Park and Somerset streets, Plainfield, N. J.

CHURCH CHORISTER, Concerts and Day School, RE-OPENED Monday, June 20th, 1892.

For information call at the Academy or address EDWARD N. HARNED, Prin. 2 9 tf 197 Pine ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISS FAWCETT'S Kindergarten, Primary and Intermediate School. Thorough instruction in English and French. All kinds of needlework. Open 9 to 4 p. m. 35 Grove street, North Plainfield.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTISON, Teacher of pianoforte. Gives lessons either at her own or at pupil's residence. Liberal terms. Best of references. No. 140 Somerset Street.

Miscellaneous Cards.

MISS LINDSAY, Stenographer and Typewriter, 24 W. 2d Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Lit. D. Co. may be a lot of nice supple irons, gray, white and stripe. 9 30 7

H. E. BENSON, No. 10 and 12 Somerset street, grocer and dealer in fine teas and coffees. Will sell for one week 4 years old Assortment, W. G. C. C. rock, yellow stoneware, etc. Full assortment of fancy groceries. Also fresh meat potatoes, cabbage, lettuce, onions, pepper, celery, sweet potato and egg plants in their season.

Machine Works.

FREDERICK F. CHASE,

Manufacturer of

Electrical Machinery.

Bicycles, Rollers and Engines repaired. Models for inventions, brass and iron castings. Forging to all its branches. Blacksmith building and painting.

201 North Avenue,

Corner Berkeley street, Plainfield, N. J.

New York Office, 220 Fourth avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,

Manufacturers of

Mouldings, Sash, Blinds, Doors, etc.

Corner Madison avenue and Third street.

SCROLL SAWING, TURNING.

Also plain and ornamental glass furnished to order. 10 7p

BROWN & MILLS,

Shaving and hair cutting parlor, in connection with Bath Rooms. Seventh avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Children's hair cutting a specialty. Best brands cigars constantly on hand.

PURE MILK

Delivered to any part of the city by

D. B. SCHENCK.

A postal addressed to No. 60 East Front street will receive prompt attention. 9 17

LADY SALISBURY BELIEVES IN HER HUSBAND AND AIDS HIM.

Lady Salisbury has never thrust herself into notoriety. Her influence, though undoubted, has always been exerted in a woman's sphere. Her talent is decided, her intellect strong, her judgment of affairs acute, her instinct not incorrect. She has always seen what was politic for her husband to do from her point of view, and urged him to do it. With a woman's personal feeling she has never let her husband's success above everything. Doubtless believing that the interests of the government require him at its head, she thinks everything should be sacrificed to place or keep him there. If he could do more good by subordinating his feelings or repressing his convictions at a crisis, he ought to do so, and to the end he able to accomplish more.

It is doubtful whether, with a less acute judgment and powerful influence at home, Lord Salisbury would have achieved all of his present position. With another wife he might have remained a stubborn, obscure Tory, consistent in opposition to timely unimportant, writing fine criticisms of some other premier. Yet no one believes that Lord Salisbury is anything but a strong man; no unscrupulous wife managed or controlled unduly by feminine wiles. He simply has a mate worthy of him, who inspires and suggests and encourages and conforms.

Lady Salisbury is no longer a young woman, but she is attractive still. Though never a beauty, she was at her prime stately in appearance and generously formed. Her fair complexion and light hair and eyes are thoroughly Saxon and her proportions not those of a Norse dresden with all the magnificence proper to her rank; her manner is sufficiently distinguished if not absolutely imposing; she entertains not only grandly but agreeably, and, more than many English hostesses, succeeds in making her guests really at their ease.

Her blond, physical type is in marked contrast with Lord Salisbury's dark eyes and hair and heavy beard.—Adam Badeau in New York Sun.

Physical and Moral Health of Children.

There is no more important question in the social economy than that one of properly developing the minds and bodies of the children. A healthy being in the best heritage that a father and mother can leave to a child. Health is a comprehensive term and includes the moral as well the physical nature. The child whose body is in a good condition, but whose morals are in a poor condition, is not a healthy child as I mean the term healthy. Better poor health and great morality than great health and poor morality. But why cannot the equilibrium be preserved? The mother by observing certain conditions, by placing herself within as well as without certain influences, by cultivating certain phases of her moral nature, can largely forshape the character of the offspring. But parents—the mothers as well as the fathers—are lamentably deficient on this point. They do not bestow upon the subject the thought that it deserves. If they would give to their children the care that by every natural law they are required to give to them, there is no doubt that the children would be better and society would be benefited by the careful oversight.

That there are many parents that do not properly care for their offspring is quite as true as that there are some parents that do give them all the attention they need. A child should not only be well fed and clothed, but wonderfully beautiful, and he never lacks an object for a ramble or occupation for rainy days. One of the choicest collections of shells we ever saw was gathered by the children of a large family in the leisure of middle life, and continues to be a source of pleasure to herself and a large circle of friends.—Congregationalist.

The Only Female Freemason.

The only female Freemason in the world lives in Oakland. Her name is Mrs. Salome Anderson, and her portrait adorns the temple of Live Oak lodge, No. 31, where it is placed in a position of honor among the pictures of the past masters. The story of how she became one of the craftsmen is interesting. She was born in Alsace-Lorraine in 1818, and becoming an orphan at an early age she went to Paris to reside with her uncle, Count Beaushalt, a noted and prominent Mason. The lodge meetings were held in his house, and with the curiosity of her sex she concealed herself in the room during a couple of the sessions and thus learned some of the mysteries of the order.

She was, however, caught while thus hiding, and the secrets that she had discovered were then made a sacred trust, for she was received into the fraternity. She located in Oakland in 1854, and in 1855 her husband was elected to the city council. He died in 1867 and since then she has devoted herself almost entirely to charity, her attention being, however, generously directed to Masonic enterprises. She was elected a member of the board of trustees of the Masonic temple, a circumstance unparalleled in the history of Freemasonry. She is also a charter member of Golden Gate chapter, No. 1, Order of the Eastern Star, and is a member of Oak Leaf chapter, No. 8.—San Francisco News Letter.

How to Rule a Husband.

Miss L. B. Robertson, of Moliffe, has won a prize for the best essay on the subject, "How to Rule a Husband." She says:

Do not indulge in prying into his affairs. If he does fool you a little, are you the happier for detecting it? Resist yourself. Place on its center table a soft, glowing light. Lay his favorite paper on the corner, and especially never tear up his "letter." Put slippers and dressing gown in easy reach. Appear bright as you used to do at his sweetheart. Greet him winningly, however late the hour. Money matters, beyond a certain limit, prevent his eyes from ever turning to such beauty and grace in other women make yourself as sweet and attractive looking as you can be. Such are my powers. Do not become extremely officitious when you want something—he will soon learn the trick.

The shy tremor in your voice will never meet refusal. Though he may be an Assassin himself, be truthful at all times. Nothing is more easily detected. Yourself will like a woman's prevarications. Above all, do not pout. Study his idiosyncrasies. Never combat them openly. Go around them as gently as would an obstacle in the road. Soon you will govern him completely by seemingly letting him rule you.

Two Days in a Woman's Life.

Today I feel like darning.

Tomorrow I may feel like darning darning.

Today I want to visit.

Tomorrow I may wish my visiting list was wiped out.

Today I am sure that everything is arranged and managed for my best good.

Tomorrow I am likely to be equally certain that I am the victim of fate, and that blind chance rules the universe.

Today I feel as strong as a giant.

Tomorrow I may wish I had never been born.

Today I speak softly and tenderly to my fellow creatures.

Tomorrow if I speak at all it will be with the voice of a shrew.

Today I am happy and know I shall ever be happy and know I shall never be anything else.

Tomorrow finds me abjectly miserable and thoroughly convinced that I always shall be.

Today my children are so lovely that I am sure they must have had a heavenly origin.

Tomorrow I am in considerable doubt about their celestial pedigree, but have none at all concerning their ultimate destiny.

Do I learn anything from this experience?

No.—Eleanor Kirk's Idea.

Assuming the Husband's Name.

The practice of the wife assuming the husband's name at marriage, according to Dr. Brewer, originated from a Roman custom which was in vogue among some of the Roman conquests. Thus, Julia and Octavia, married to Pompey and Cicero, were called by the Romans Julia of Pompey, Octavia of Cicero, and in later times married women in most European countries signed their names in the same manner, but omitted the "of."

Against this view it may be mentioned that during the Sixteenth and even at the beginning of the Seventeenth century the change seems doubtful, since we find Catherine Parr, England's last wife, had had been twice married, and we always hear of Lady Jane Grey (nee Dudley), Arabella Stuart (nee Seymour), etc. Some persons think that the custom originated from the Scriptural teaching that husband and wife are one. This was the rule of law so far back as Braeton (died 1268), and it was decided in the case of Bon versus Smith, in the reign of Elizabeth, that a woman by marriage loses her former name and legally receives the name of her husband. Altogether the custom is involved in much obscurity.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Well Known Suffragist.

In an 18-ad home in Malden live and reign three women, Mrs. Robinson and her daughter, Mrs. Harriet S. Shattuck. Mrs. Robinson, an early schoolmate of Lucy Larcom, and contributor to the Lowell Offering, has been well known to the public, not for one, but for several achievements. She married William S. Robinson, who was as well known in the readers of the Springfield, Republican as Warrington, and also a contributor to the New York Tribune, Evening Post and other prominent papers.

When he died, in 1879, she edited "Warrington's Pen Portraits," her first important work. Since then she has written other bo.

Mrs. Robinson has also been heard from in connection with the first woman to speak in congress, being the first woman to speak from a platform in favor of woman suffrage. She is an earnest advocate of woman suffrage. She is the founder of at least three women's clubs and a member of the advisory board of the General Federation of Women's clubs.—Boston Traveler.

A Neat Way of Mounting Photographs.

The mounting of photographs on palm leaf fans affords a very pretty novelty in handsome frames. They are made by taking two small sized fans and placing the same appearance, crossing the handles and removing the edges of the fans together at the point of contact, and by tying them firmly together. Then make a thin strip of wood, long enough to reach across the backs of the fans from center to center, and fasten the upper fan to it each end with a strong thread and needle or some small tacks; then mount the photographs on the fans, taking pains to have them squarely placed. Finish by tying bows of ribbon across over the corners of the photographs. Decorate the frames with narrow strips of some bright colored ribbon, covering the tacks with bands of ribbon also. Put a knot of wider ribbon of the same color over the handles, another over the strip where the fans' edges come together and hang with a ribbon attached to the ends of the strip at the back.—New York Herald.

Sitting for Your Photograph.

Many women complain when their profile come home from the photographer's that they can see no resemblance to themselves and that the picture is expressionless. The reason for this is that most people when they sit down in front of the staring camera carefully remove all traces of mobility and animation from their faces. Theatrical people as a rule take much better pictures than society women, as they study the little accessories that may help them where to add the touches that make such a difference, and they are thoroughly used to preserve an animated expression under any circumstances. One photographer gives the rather paradoxical advice to his sitters, "Think of something and look happy." The sad thought keeps the face tense in natural lines, while the "looking happy" gives the animated, intelligent look which is wanting in so many photographs.—Philadelphia Press.

Use for Old Gloves.

Just listen to this, then say, if you can, that American girls are extravagant. "I wear a perfect shape," said a bright girl to me not long ago, "to think that we are obliged to waste so much good kid. After the hands of gloves are worn out the long wrists are still as good as new. For this reason I save all my suede gloves, and have made some very pretty tobacco pouches and queer bags out of them. I cut long cuffs, round pieces, fitted them with silk and joined them together with a gusset, and then put a clasp or a gilt braid. I assure you they make a very pretty present and a sentimental one also, for when you present them you can accompany your gift with gloves which you have worn."—Exchange.

The Proper Length of Bed Coverings.

The proper length for sheets is three yards at least, which will allow enough to tuck in securely at the foot and a good turn down at the top of the bed. Sheets for single persons and guests need not be quite so long as the sheets, but should be a generous width. Curtains at one time were thought to be indispensable adjuncts to the beds, and they were often made of such heavy material that the sleeper could get very little fresh air. These were bad enough, but worse still must be those long curtains with sliding rods which are said still to be found in some of the cottages in Scotland.—Table Talk.

The Bride's Garter.

You have often heard of the bride's favorite garter, haven't you, which she gives to each of her bridesmaids before she has been married a year, just for luck? I saw a pretty pair the other day. They were in pale yellow (they are always in this color—I don't know why), and had small gold clasps, with pretty yellow silk bows, which were quite large. These are often kept as keepsakes, and often worn by the bridesmaids themselves a little faded.—Young Ladies' Bazar.

There Will Be a Worse Stepmother.

Miss Margaret G. Shaw, a niece of Rev. Anna H. Shaw, and a student at Michigan university, applied for admission to the course in civil engineering. As there have been no females in the engineering courses thus far, the officials demurred, but after due deliberation have given her permission to enter the course, and the young woman will be the first graduate woman engineer from the University of Michigan.

Maids on Railroad Trains.

Some of the big railroads from the east employ colored ladies' maids on the Chicago trains, and they are used to the comfort of the women and children. These girls are handy with their needles, they know how to comb hair, they can amuse children and render the hundred nameless services a gentlewoman requires for herself and children.

Queen Victoria's Neck.

Queen Victoria, having beautiful arms and shoulders, early set the fashion in the English court of wearing the low neck gown cut straight across from shoulder to shoulder. It is curious to see how sometimes the fashion is.—London Queen.

The chronicler, William of Malmesbury, who lived in the reign of Henry I, says, "The proficiency of the four sisters of King Athelstan's daughter, in weaving and embroidery procured those royal spinsters the addresses of the greatest princes of Europe."

In wood carving, lithography, modeling, decorative painting; designing of various description and art embroideries of the finest and rarest kind, the women of Sweden cannot be excelled. Several have also gained fame as musical composers.

In more than one London hospital are efficient fire brigades of nurses, and in great business establishments, like silk manufactories and bookbinders, whose interests of women are employed, the fire drill has been established.

Of the fifty women who are engaged in active newspaper work in the state of Michigan, five publish and edit newspaper independent of any connection.

The salaries paid to women librarians in this country range from $240 a year to $2,500—which makes the average salary about $600.

For iron rust lay in kerosene oil and let it remain covered for some time. The oil will loosen the rust so that it will come off.

An authority writes, "Allow me to say one point never wear shoes lighter than the color at the bottom of the dress."

A Plan for Generosity.

An old servant stepped in and laid on the counter a prescription for a mixture containing a large dose of morphine. The chemist weighed the dangerous ingredient with the utmost care.

"What a shame!" he said the woman, nudging his elbow. "Don't be so near; it is for an orphan girl!"—Steele.

Couldn't Afford to Lose Him.

Cobble—I see by the papers that Ranger jumped overboard in the English channel and saved his wife. Why, the fellow's a great hero.

Stone—I don't know about that. She had on a new sealskin sacque.—Cloak Review.

This Date in History—June 3.

1808—John Davenport, Thorndike Eaton and Edward Hopkins landed at Boston to found a colony at New Haven.

1861—Edward Bates, discoverer of the stenciling of the blood, died; born 1793.

1865—Richard Cobden, economist, died; born 1804.

1868—Jefferson Davis born in Christian, now Todd county, Ky.; died in 1889.

1880—Seventeen killed by a tornado in Illinois and Iowa.

1882—Thomas Arnold Douglas died in Chicago; born April 28, 1812, in Brandon, Vt.

1886—The bloody day at Cold Harbor, Va.; 7,000 Federals killed, wounded or missing; Confederate loss, 1,500; captured 1864—total 12,000.

1887—Jefferson Davis' supposed death in exile of fear and public address in Boston Faneuil.

1892			JUNE.				1892
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fri.	Sat.
			1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter 2 4:51 a.m. | Third Quarter 17 4:01 p.m.
Full Moon 10 9:32 a.m. | New Moon 24 2:07 a.m.

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION.
28728. Membership 138,000. 1892.
Death benefits paid over $20,000,000 since organization.
Wetmpka Lodge, 3601, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Thursdays, at eight p. m., in Wetumpka Lodge rooms, Rowe Hall building.
Immediate relief, $100, sick benefits per week $5.

LOUIS J. VANALSTYNE, Dictator.
RALPH A. ——, Reporter.

Wetumpka Commandery, No. 34, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight p. m.

Hotels.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

(CORNER
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Caspar's Hotel,

24 & 26 E. Front St

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Transient and Family Boarders taken at

Reasonable † Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS

☞ First-class bar attached.

Kline's Extracts,
Pure Fruit Flavors.

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER

One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.

Whole Suits from $5 up.

Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.

70 WEST FRONT STREET.

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE,

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Six Varieties.)

Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

GO TO HULETT'S,

74 WEST FRONT STREET,

THE LEADING MUSIC HOUSE.

PIANOS FOR RENT.

SOLD FOR CASH

Or on Easy Monthly Payments.

ZIMMERMANN and RUMPF.

SUCCESSORS TO PIERSON HARDWARE CO.

42 WEST FRONT STREET

are laying in an extra fine stock of Machinist's and Mechanics' Tools.

And also a special line of Builders' Hardware.

AGENTS for the Brockway Mower, Wolverine Globe Stove, Hartman's Steel Wire Fence and Amory Patents.

Open Every Evening until 8 o'Clock.

A Ticket to Europe

May be bought on any steamer; any line, CHEAPER THAN IN NEW YORK.

SINGLE TRIP:
First-class—$50 and upwards.
Second class—$30 and upwards.
Steerage—$19 and upwards.

ROUND TRIP:
First-class—$90 and upwards.
Second-class—$60 and upwards.
Steerage—$38 and upwards.

Cabins, both first and second class, should be engaged as far ahead as possible.

Further information given upon application to agent, Henry D. Morrison, 9 Somerset street.

THE BEE HIVE!

Summer Underwear.

Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.

Ladies' ribbed vests, in high neck, short sleeves and long sleeves, 25c.

Ladies' gauze vests, in short and long sleeves, 25c.

Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed, gauze and medium weight.

Men's balbriggan shirts, in long and short sleeves, and drawers at 25, 37½ and 50c.

Misses' and Children's Merino shirts and drawers, 25, 37½ and 50c.

Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, 5c.

Children's Summer merino and gauze vests, in short and long sleeves and panelled, sizes, 16, 18c.; 18, 18c.; 20, 18c.; 22, 20c.; 24, 22c.; 26, 25c.; 28, 30c.

A full line of Parasols, Lace caps, white drawers, and misses' long and short underscore coats.

Louis Callman,

49 West Front Street.

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC

SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS

SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC

4 & 5 cents per Copy.

Studies, Instruction Books, Polios, etc.

A. M. Vanderbeek's,

29 PARK AVENUE.

COAL and WOOD,

E. H. HOLMES,

YARD—24 Madison Avenue.

Office—37 North avenue, (with Woolston & Runkle.

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHING

CALL AND EXAMINE

the fine stock at

Werner's Clothing House,

30 WEST FRONT STREET.

Suits made to order from a fine line of goods for $15 and Upwards.

Cut by a First-class cutter.

13c. Buys a New Broom at V. and W.'s

Wash Dress Fabrics.

Our assortment of wash dress fabrics on the street cover displayed in town. There are Irish Lawns at 5c., Cambrics at 5c., Ginghams at 7, 8 and 10c., Seersucker at 10 and 12½c. for the fine ones Scotch Ginghams at 15c., and all the new fast colors.

For Twenty-eight Cents

We will sell 27 dozen extra fine Corset Covers made of handkerchief lawns and Hamburgh trimming.

Spring Coats.

We are anxious to close out our stock this coming week and to do it we have reduced every garment one-third from regular price.

For Twelve Cents

We are selling an extra good Ribbed Vest cheap at 12c.

Chevelle Cloth

Is a very fine combed French Dress material, that is specially adapted for afternoon wear. They come in all the new Summer colorings and you will surely like them. Price 15c.

Porch Screen

Are very handy to have when you want to sit out on your porch these hot days. We have them in all sizes, from feet to feet.

For Five Cents Each

We will sell 400 dozen fine tin tumblers, former price 10 cents.

Crockery, Housefurnishings and Stoneware.

In this department we are offering some extra fine bargains, and it will repay you when in the store to look through this department.

For Nineteen Cents

You buy Curtain Poles all complete. This is a very extraordinary price, and is far better than any pole ever sold at the same price.

Van Emburgh & White.

RANDOLPH'S

BEEF, IRON AND WINE,

THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!

PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

21 WEST FRONT STREET

25! OUR NEW COTTON

Suede perfect fitting Gloves at 25c, equal all others at the price. They come in all the new Summer shades. Our all silk gloves at 50c. are superior to those usually sold at that price. Our glove department is just brim full of good things.

Dr. Warner's "Pearlene" corsets we sell at 50c., the best for the money in market. We keep an immense assortment of Corsets. The "Thomson's Glove Fitting" at 75c.

IRISH LAWN is something new and very pretty too, only 10c. per yard. Print de Ireland is now having a large sale. We are offering some nice bargains. There are so many new and pretty things which we have not room to name, that we can't begin to mention them. Come in and see for yourself. It is actually the largest and most desirable line this side of New York, and all the choicest. A large New York importer sent us a few pieces remaining at 25c. per yard, as a big bargain, our price for same is just half cost. Sale 10c. We carry no remnants. Every piece is full length. They all say that if you want to see anything good and reliable and cheap, it is Dry and Fancy Goods like yours at the corner to get it at.

EDSALL'S!

Summer Resorts.

THE ALBION,

EIGHTH STREET AND PARK AVENUE

Select family hotel.

Newly furnished throughout.

Special rates to permanent guests.

FRANK H. MILLER.

19 28 6m.

The Time

has come when all should buy their

CLOTHING AT HOME

providing they can get Quality, Style and Fit, cut as good and sewn the same as guarantee to do, and put them a Perfect Fit or no Sale.

Acme Tailoring Co.

We have the Largest Assortment of

CLOTHS & CASSIMERES

in the State. Our store is Elegantly Fitted to Merchant Tailoring.

Kindly give us a call for inspection.

Acme Tailoring Co.,

No 19 West Front Street.

John H. Franch, Pres. and Treas.
Walter C. Lindsley, Sec. 12 28

FRED. W. DUNN,

Successor to

Barkalew & Dunn,

16 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Fine Groceries.

THREE STAR TEA

GET YOUR

Bicycle Repaired

at

NO. 2 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

by

Henry Goeller, Jr.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Look Box 1. Telephone Call 48. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," SATURDAY, JUNE 4, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

Extra!

Blaine Resigns.

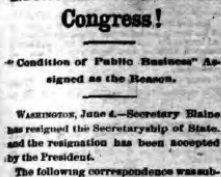
His Resignation Sent to the President at two o'clock this afternoon and it is promptly accepted.

Great Excitement in Congress!

"Condition of Public Business" Assigned as the Reason.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Secretary Blaine has resigned the Secretaryship of State, and the resignation has been accepted by the President.

The following correspondence was submitted early this afternoon.



DEPARTMENT OF STATE, WASHINGTON, June 4, 1892.

To the President:

I respectfully beg leave to submit my resignation of the office of Secretary of State of the United States, to which I was appointed by you on the 4th of March, 1889.

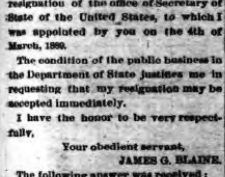
The condition of the public business in the Department of State justifies me in requesting that my resignation may be accepted immediately.

I have the honor to be very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JAMES G. BLAINE.

The following answer was received:



EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, June 4.

To the Secretary of State:

Your letter of this date tendering your resignation of the office of Secretary of State of the United States has been received.

The terms in which you state your desires are such as to leave me no choice but to accede to your wishes at once. Your resignation is therefore accepted.

Very respectfully yours,

BENJ. HARRISON.

Hon. JAMES G. BLAINE.

Received five minutes of two o'clock.

The date affixed to the answer was placed there by Mr. Blaine in giving out the copy to the press.

Great excitement was occasioned on the floor of Congress when the news of Blaine's resignation became known.

An Elizabeth Suicide.

Mrs. L. Doderies, of Elizabeth, committed suicide by shooting herself twice in the right temple with a thirty-two calibre revolver, yesterday. Mrs. Dodevick was about thirty-three years old. She had been a sufferer from the effects of the grip since last Fall, and it is believed that her suffering so affected her brain as to induce her to commit self destruction while temporarily insane.

THE BOROUGH COUNCIL

THE REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING HELD LAST EVENING.

The Marshal's Salary Raised to Forty-five Dollars per Month.—All Claims Ordered Paid—Other Business.

The Borough Council met in regular session last evening, Mayor Saunders in the chair, Councilmen Hummer, Needham, Connolly and Neal answered the roll call. Councilmen Sebring and Heyman came in later.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The Plainfield Street Railway Company petitioned the Council for a franchise, to build and operate an electric railway in the borough in connection with the Plainfield line. Referred to Committee on Streets.

Messrs. J. M. Lewis, David Keuney and others petitioned the Council to build a sidewalk on Mountain avenue. Referred to Street Committee.

Mr. Henry Thomas petitioned the Council to be allowed to construct a wooden awning on Manning avenue. Referred to Street Committee.

Mr. Justus H. Cooley petitioned the Council to macadamize a block on Manning avenue. Referred to Street Committee.

The Warren Engine Company sent a communication giving a list of officers, etc., nominated. Referred to Fire, Water and Lamps Committee.

Mr. J. B. Allen sent notice of a broken pipe at the corner of Washington and Linden avenues. Referred to Street Committee.

The following claims were presented, referred to the proper committees, later reported correct and ordered paid:

M. B. Avery	$40 24
Smalley Bros.	970 00
J. A. Thickstun	25 90
Wm. Singleton	46 35
J. W. Coddington	2 20
Job Coddington	6 75
T. W. Morrison	10 00
P. Sender	3 20
Press Scimitar	12 70
Edison Electric Light Company	341 20
F. Kallagher	6 25
Nelson Kenyon & Co.	6 00
Manchester Locomotive Co.	16 00
Plainfield Water Supply Co.	140 00

Mayor Saunders notified the Council that he had received satisfactory acknowledgement from Winfield Scott and Major Anderson Posts of the sum of $12.50 each, which was voted by Council some time ago. Also funds received from T. R. Crosley to the amount of $11.

Mr. Neal reported that the work of macadamizing Manning avenue was progressing rapidly, and asked Council to purchase more stone.

Mr. Needham, from Stationery and Supplies Committee, reported that stationery for Council was now ready and requisitions should be made for same. The report was received and placed on file.

Mr. Connelly, from Fire, Water and Lamps Committee, reported that eighteen new lights were now ready to be placed in the wards. A petition was also read to place an electric light on Mountain avenue. The report was received and placed on file.

The Street Committee reported back unfavorably the petition for a wooden awning on Manning avenue. Upon motion the petition was not granted.

Mr. Connelly moved that the same number of firemen be appointed at Warren Engine house, on the 3d, 4th, and 5th of July for the same number of hours as were appointed for Hope. Motion lost.

Mr. Neal moved to purchase from Smalley Bros. crushed stone not to exceed 1000 tons at not more than 95 cents per ton, unveiled.

Mr. Needham moved that Stationery and Supply Committee be authorized to have Council chamber thoroughly cleaned. Adopted.

Mr. Hummer moved that Job Coddington be dropped from list of officers. Carried.

Mr. Needham moved that rear of Council chamber be fitted up and painted for the use of Warren Engine Company. Adopted.

Mr. Neal moved that the clerk be authorized to negotiate for a loan of $6000, to be used on Somerset street, and $1,000, to be used on streets in the borough. Carried.

Council returned to reports of Standing Committees, to allow Committee on Streets to report favorable on petition of Mr. F. F. Richards, Mountain avenue, for a sidewalk. Placed on file.

Mr. Connolly moved that from and after June 15th the marshal be paid $600 per annum, and that fees now allowed be discontinued.

Mr. Needham amended this to read "$45 per month." Mr. Connolly agreed to the amendment.

After some discussion the ayes and nays were called for, and the result was a tie vote. Councilmen Needham, Hummer and Needham voting nay, and Councilmen Sebring, Connolly and Neal aye. Mayor Saunders cast the deciding vote aye and the motion was declared carried.

Mr. Connolly moved that a sidewalk be placed at the corner of Mountain avenue and Grand streets. Carried.

Mr. Needham moved election of Warren Engine Company be confirmed.

Moved that Council adjourn for two weeks. Carried.

The meeting adjourned.

New Jersey's Choice.

A large number of Republican politicians gathered at the Pennsylvania Railroad station in Jersey City yesterday to see the New Jersey delegates to the National Republican Convention off.

The Newark Advertiser sent out circular letters recently to the twenty delegates asking them to name the candidates for President and Vice President and his second choice.

Of the seventeen responses eleven were for Harrison as first choice and seven for Blaine as first choice.

Eight of the seventeen named preference for Vice President as follows: For Morton, five, and for Alger, Phelps, and Lincoln, one each.

—Mr. Bosch, agent for the Arnold Steam Cooker, 31 Park avenue, says he is having a big run on his Boston Brown Bread machine, the cooker fresh every hour in the day, try it. Delivered to any part of the city.. Seeadvertisement.

A PERILOUS DRIVE.

DURING WHICH MR. HOLMES AND FAMILY HAVE A HAIRBREADTH ESCAPE.

Their Horse Becomes Scared, Runs into a Moving Freight Train, but though the Conveyance is Wrecked the Family Escapes.

Yesterday morning, about eleven o'clock, Mr. Holmes took his wife and baby out for a drive. Just beyond New Market the Bound Brook stream approaches within about two hundred feet of the Central railroad. There is a bridge, under which the Lehigh Valley track runs. Mr. Holmes stopped the horse on the bridge to allow a freight train to pass, and thinks the animal was startled by a Lehigh Valley train passing under the bridge. It ran forward and into the Central freight train (300 feet away) striking the fourth from the last car, there being no gates or flagman to prevent.

The shaft and front wheels were snapped off, and Mr. Holmes, being more interested in saying his family, let the horse go and jerked his wife and baby to the ground, and got out himself without difficulty. The horse ran along the track toward Bound Brook and was captured, somewhat cut and bruised, a mile away, by a railroad man named William Harris.

Mr. Holmes walked to the nearest telegraph station and telegraphed to Mr. Stelle, who owned the turnout, and brought his family home in a carriage procured from a farmer nearby.

Mr. Holmes says it was the narrowest escape he ever heard of, and don't want such an experience again.

He has to-day consulted counsel, feeling the railroad company is to blame for not having a flag station and gates.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Regular Meeting Held Thursday Evening Important Business Transacted.

The regular meeting of the Board of Education was held Thursday evening instead of next Monday night as Dr. Hurlbut could not be present on the latter date.

A large number of bills were audited, a check was drawn in favor of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, for interests and principal due June 15th, the school superintendent reported that $12.50 was due on the bond for school moneys, for '91 and '92, and the president announced that the following gentlemen would compose the committee to award the prizes at the close of the school, June 28, W. D. Murray, C. W. Mitchell, Major Gilbert, Committee on English Composition; Dr. Tomlinson, John Sidley, Andrew J. Gavett, Committee on Penmanship; William M. Stillman, Committee on Mathematics. The report of the committees which had been appointed at a recent meeting to select teachers for the ensuing year was received and ratified.

The resignation of Miss Flora Petrie, High School, Miss Ward, Irving school, and Miss Smith, Franklin school, were received.

Miss Mitchell, sister of the Rev. C. B. Mitchell, was appointed to succeed Miss Smith and Miss Case, daughter of Councilman B. K. Case, was appointed to assist Miss Phillips.

BOARD OF FREEHOLDERS.

Meeting at Elizabeth Yesterday.—Appropriation Decided Upon.

An adjourned meeting was held by the Board of Freeholders yesterday afternoon at Elizabeth. Freeholder Hunt of Cranford was absent.

A communication from the Board of Managers of the Elizabeth General Hospital asking for an increase of the appropriation to that institution from $650 to $1,200 was received and placed on file.

The Committee on Claims and Appropriations then reported. They determined on a tax levy of $350,000 being sufficient for the year. The appropriations then reported, with the $10,650 added, to meet all the requirements, including the interest on bonds, are as follows, and the amount of taxes be appropriated for the following purposes:

Courts, $25,000; county jail $6,000; lunacy, $20,000; contingencies, salaries, exes., $5,000; coroners, $1,000; repairs, $2,000; county physician, $1,000; advertising and printing, $3,000; $7,000; $1,000; bridges, $1,000; Union $1,000; Plainfield $1,000; Elizabeth, $1,000; Union $1,000; Elizabeth Hospital and $600 to Muhlenberg (Plainfield); interest on bonds for county roads, $20,000; interest on bonds for bridges, $3,000; interest on bonds for county buildings, $6,000; building improvement fund, $7,000; revenue and repairs of bridges, $10,000; Committee on Roads, $10,000.

Committee on Roads authorized to consider the advisability of building bridges on Colfax avenue, in Union Township, and Willow avenue, in Hoboken, and Bound Brook bridges, Putnam avenue, Elizabeth, and Union Mountain avenue, Plainfield.

The County Collector was authorized to borrow $10,000 to meet current expenses.

A resolution to build and repair bridges in Linden was offered and afterwards withdrawn.

A resolution requiring all county officials to make requisitions for supplies was adopted, after which the board adjourned.

Another Voice from West End.

Plainfield can truly be called the windy city now as the rivals Chicago in her blasts and boasted over her two tornadoes. Everybody that passes through Plainfield and one of them must fall back on gotham's boasted "Big Four" Vanderbilt, which will place us nearer the borders. You remember the fable of the rabbit and the fox. Well, the fox and the rabbit—but the West Ends be the small end of the Cocoanuts the rabbit. They will stop. Carefully observe the above proposition and move across those good playing on the other side, and while the other fellows are lying on their oars and having a good outfit at the good town they have, the West Ends will be striking every nerve to get even.—Somerset Democrat.

A NEW CHURCH.

[Notice of religious services are published under this head free of charge, but it is necessary that they be furnished before noon of Saturday to insure insertion the same day.]

The meeting of the Mt. Pleasant school house will be held as usual to-morrow evening.

A meeting will be held at the Washingtonville Memorial chapel to-morrow evening.

The workers' training classes will meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms to-morrow at 9.15 a. m.

Fort Place chapel, Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m. Preaching at 7.45 p. m. by Mr. James McGee.

Mr. T. R. Sneell will conduct the young men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. to-morrow at 4.15 p. m.

Mr. Lemmon will lead the Gospel service at No. 6 East Front street Sunday. All are welcome.

Services at the church of the Heavenly Rest, Clinton avenue, Secane, at eleven o'clock a. m. Seats free.

Church of the Holy Innocents (Episcopal, Junction) Sunday-school at 3.30 p. m. Church service at 3.30 p. m. Seats free.

The Scandinavian Bible class will meet to-morrow at 8.45 p. m. in the Park avenue church. A full attendance is desired.

Monroe Avenue Chapel. Class meeting at 10 a. m. Sunday-school at three p. m. Preaching at eight p. m. by Dr. H. E. Carroll.

Gospel temperance meetings of the Women's Temperance Aid Society every Sunday at Modern Hall at nine a. m., and 4.15 p. m. All are invited.

Services in St. Joseph's church to-morrow will be as follows: Mass at 6.30 and 8.30 a. m. and at 10.30 a. m. Vespers at three p. m., and rosary at eight p. m.

Services in the First Presbyterian church, corner Second and Watchung avenues, 10.30 a. m. and 7.45 p. m. Preaching morning and evening by Rev. Henry T. Miller. Sunday-school at 3.15 p. m.

First Church of Christ. Preaching at 10.30 and 7.30. Lord's supper at 11.45. Sunday-school at three p. m. Ladies' meeting Wednesday at three p. m. All are welcome.

Crescent avenue church, Rev. W. R. Richards, D. D., pastor. Services at 10.30 a. m., and 7.30 p. m. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m. All seats free at the evening service.

Grace church—E. M. Hodgman, rector. Service Sunday, communion at 10.30 a. m. Morning prayer and litany 10.30 a. m. Sunday-school and evening prayer at five p. m.

The will be the usual W. C. T. U. meeting in the Crescent building to-morrow at nine a. m., and four p. m. A praise meeting will be held this evening at eight o'clock.

Services at St. Mary's church. First mass at 7.30 a. m. Low mass at 8.30. Third mass at 9.45. High mass at 10.45. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m., and Spanish service at 4.30 p. m.

Service in the German church, Craig place, North Plainfield will be held to-morrow at 10.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Wednesday at 7.45 o'clock p. m. Sunday-school at 9.15 a. m.

Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D. D., will preach at 10.30 a. m. Sunday-school at 2.45 p. m. Epworth League at 6.30 p. m. Preaching at 7.45 p. m. by the pastor. Subject: "Drifting."

All Souls' church, Park avenue. Unitarian services at 10.30 a. m., and 7.30 p. m. Sunday-school at 11.45. Rev. Robert Harris, B. A., pastor. All pews free. All seats are free and the public are cordially invited.

Warren Union Mission. Sunday-school at 2.30. Service at 7.45, devotional service at eight o'clock conducted by Mr. Frederick Moon. Christian Endeavor meeting Thursday evening at eight o'clock. All are invited.

In the Trinity Reformed church to-morrow at 10.30 a. m., the Sacrament of the Lord's supper will be celebrated. The Sunday-school will meet at 2.30 p. m. At 7.45 p. m. the pastor, the Rev. Cornelius Sobenck, will preach.

The church of the Holy Cross, the Rev. T. N. Deane, rector. Holy communion of the holy communion at eight a. m. Sunday-school at 9.45 a. m. Whitsunday-school at 3.30 p. m. Evening prayer and holy communion. Even-song at five o'clock.

Congregational church, West Seventh street, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Beginning with June the pastor will preach in the morning. Sunday-school will meet at the close of the morning service. The Christian Endeavor meeting will hold its usual evening service to which all are invited at 7.30.

Church of Our Saviour, Netherwood. Rev. P. H. Steenstra, officiating. Sunday Holy communion at seven a. m. Morning prayer, Litany and sermon at 10.45 a. m. Evening prayer at 7.30 p. m. Evening prayer at 4.30 p. m. Two free sittings reserved in N. section on North aisle. Sunday-school in connection with church at 10.30. Notice on the conclusion of the services.

First Baptist church—4.30 a. m., special season of prayer and praise; 10.30 a. m., and 7.45 p. m., preaching by the Rev. Dr. Lorimer; 12 m., the Lord's supper; 2.30 p. m., Sunday-school; 6.30 p. m., Young People's Union meeting. Weekly appointments as usual.

Methodist Episcopal church, Somerset street. Sunday-school at eight a. m. Public worship, Monday, at 10.30 a. m. Sermon class, Wednesday, the regular class meeting at 7.45 p. m. Thursday, the meeting of the Young People's League. Strangers and all others cordially welcome.

Women's Auxiliary Board Election.

At the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital held Friday, May 27th, the following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. H. S. Halsey.

First Vice Pres—Mrs. Rowland Cox.

Second Vice Pres—Mrs. S. Cook.

Cor. Sec'y—Miss Emilie Schlippert.

Recording Sec'y—Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson.

Treasurer—Mrs. Samuel Shoemaker.

Auditors—Mrs. W. R. Lowe, Miss Mary Tweedy.

Coal Going Up.

Consumers of coal who have not yet laid in their supply of coal for the Fall and Winter will be prompted by experience when they come to order. Coal will not again this year be sold at so low a price as it has been so far quoted.

The Lehigh Valley has announced twenty-five cents a ton for stove sizes Wednesday. This is known as the June price list, and will be adhered to until the 1st of next month at least.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

BURGLAR "WINGER" SENTENCED THIS MORNING.

He Gets Fifteen Years in the State Prison.

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 4th. (Special.)—"John Winger" was sentenced by Judge McCormick this morning to fifteen years in State Prison and costs, ten years before the burglary of the Cokefair residence on Crescent avenue, Plainfield, May 13, 1892, and five years for attempting to kill Policeman Fredrickson, who captured him.

Capt. Grant was present, and secured from the prisoner a confession that he was an old "crook," and was guilty also of the burglary of the residence at Port Richmond of Comptroller Ingalls of the First National Bank at New Brighton, Staten Island. The watched stolen by "Winger" was returned to Mr. Ingalls, who was present in the court.

Officers from Staten Island have identified the overcoat and satchel found in "Winger's" possession, as stated in yesterday's issue. The satchel was brought from his cell, informed of the search proceedings and not a word what he had to say for himself, he sullenly refused to utter a word. As nothing could be got out of him he was again consigned to his cell.

Captain Grant went to Jersey City a few days ago to look up the clue furnished in THE NEWS at the time of "Winger's" capture, in which THE NEWS gave information that led to the detective's first birth that "Winger" had already served five years in State Prison for burglary, and was an old offender.

Captain Grant was unable to see the Chief of Police of Jersey City, as the assault police barracks was taking place that day and he could not get to the court house to the reporter's gallery. He intended to visit Jersey City again to-day but it is probable that Judge McCormick considered the evidence already obtained sufficient to justify a sentence.

A photograph and description of John Keifer, which the Chief of Police of Brooklyn sent because of the exceedingly close resemblance to "Winger" was received. No. 1646, Rogues' Gallery, John Keifer; crime, burglary; age, 35; color, white; native of Germany; occupation, tailor; by surety; complexion, sallow; height, 5 feet 5¾ inches; weight, 118 lbs.; hair, gray; eyes, gray; complexion, dark; scars, none. P. S. 1892.

Everybody who has seen the photograph of "Winger" in THE NEWS, and taken here of "Winger" and published in THE NEWS have been impressed with the belief that they are both of the same man.

WHITE HAVEN SUBMERGED.

A Cloudburst on the Lehigh River—Parts of the Town of White Haven Four Feet Under Water.

ALLENTOWN, Pa.—(Special.)—A fearful rain storm, attended by several cloudbursts, spread an area of destruction along the Lehigh river yesterday afternoon, from White Haven to Easton. The lower part of the town of White Haven is four feet under water.

CHILIAN MINISTERS RESIGN.

A New Coalition Cabinet to be Formed.

SANTIAGO, Chili, June 4th. (Special.)—Minister Matte's financial policy has proven unwelcome to a majority of the people and representatives, and the entire cabinet has resigned. It is expected that a coalition ministry will be formed.

Blaine Claims Everything is Right.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., June 4, (Special.)—A poll of the New York delegation at this point gave Blaine 60 of the 72 delegates.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 4, (Special.) It is agreed that Alabama, the first State to be called, will go solid for Blaine, and that Missouri and New York will thus try to stampede the convention for him.

The human body has its limitations

HORNBY'S

H-O

OAT-FOOD

Stimulates your and increases enjoyment.

MARRIAGES

GIBBS—LEWIS—On Thursday, June 2d, 1892, at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 1 Arbor street, by the Rev. Mr. G. Forest Hall, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Dunellen, Miss Emma Lewis to Harold E. Gibbs, all of this city.

DEATHS

TWEEDY—In this city, June 3, 1892, Elizabeth W., wife of Edmund C. Tweedy, aged 53 years.

Funeral services at her late residence, 311 Richmond street, Monday, June 6th, at 2.30 p. m.

ONLY FIVE CENTS A COPY.

Standard Sheet Music, vocal and instrumental, 2,000 different pieces to select from. Catalogue free. 5 cents a copy.

Encyclopedia set of sixteen sterling Tea Spoons; fine ear pattern, 4¼ inch weight, one hundred and twenty grains; $1 50; 2 months' terms, $1 65. "I make more money selling Tea Spoons than any other article I ever handled." Agent's sample, 10 cents. Catalogue free.

Boy "Novel" Watch, 6 jewels, stem wind, stem set, $1 50; No. 2 at $1 75—guaranteed for three years. Wm. Monahan's Ice Cream Freezers, best and quickest, 20 to 80 quarts. Monahan's Jars, 50 cents per gallon. Send for price list. Jelly glasses, preserving kettles, lemon squeezers, &c., and everything else.

PARLOR LAMPS AT REDUCED PRICES.

Decorated, Tea, dinner sets! Toilet Sets at your own price. Common crockery at factory prices. Gold decorated cups and saucers, 50 cents per dozen. Tumblers, 7c. per dozen. Glass pitchers, 10 cents and upwards. Fruit Jars, Cans, Rubbers, Jelly Glasses. Fruit Jars! Cheapest in the city. Remember it. You get your own imported Jars from our free and fast, and conserves. Royal Tooth Powder at ten cents equals the best. Try it.

J. C. ALLEN, 28 West Front Street.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,

Firm of OF PLAINFIELD.

RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY,

Importers and Tailors,

231 Broadway, New York.

Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring.

Moderate Prices.

25 1m*

NOW!

YOU CAN BUY OF US ONLY

2 lbs Fresh roasted Golden Rio Coffee, 25c.; 2 lbs new crop Tea (any kind), 50c.

2 lbs Fresh roasted Mocha and Java Coffee, 50c.; 2 lbs Fine Tea, 75c.

21 lbs granulated Sugar, $1; 7 Delicacy Soap, Painted Pearl and "O. K." Flour Tie bag. (Every purchaser of a bag of flour will receive one pound cake free.)

Roasted Parched and Ground Coffee, 15c. per lb. Ground Spices, 6 cakes, 25c. Bixby Yeast Cakes, 5c. doz. Bixby Baking Powder, 12c. lb. Bixby Flavoring Extracts, 15c. quart bottle; best vanilla, 2 bottles for 25c.

Bixby Soap, 5 cakes for 25c. Bixby Washing Powder, 4 lbs. for 25c.

Pride of Plainfield Baking Powder, (best no equal), 30c. lb.

Best extracts of Vanilla and Lemon, 10c. bottle.

Big reductions on canned fruits and vegetables.

CUTOLENE A SPECIALTY.

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,

The Champions of Low Prices. 20 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

Cents-Word Column.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

WHEN out of employment this is the column to put your notice in. The people you want to reach read it.

HELP WANTED.

A RELIABLE middle-aged woman to family of two; general housework. Must be good plain cook. Call all the week. 126 East Front street. 1t*

IF there is anyone in need of a situation they look here for your advertisement.

WANTED—Competent Protestant nurse to take care of baby. References required. Call Saturday, 32 Somerset street. 2 2t*

WANTED—A girl for housework. Three in family. Apply 208 Somerset street. 6-3

WANTED—Honest, energetic men to handle an ordinary household article. Paper and salary to men who can leave home and work steadily; also ambitious to local canvassing. Address, with reference, Address R. G. Chase & Co., 3 1m cod* 1420 S. Penn St., Phila., Pa

WANTED—Good cook and laundress. Apply at once to Mrs. Cull's, Cull's Hotel, mornings before eleven. Surr, 15 La Grande avenue. 2 4

YOUNG former resident, by month and board, at Dunton's Hillside avenue grocery. 2-3

BOARDERS WANTED.

A T 10 Clark place, furnished rooms with board. Table boarders accommodated. 6 1 2t.

ROOMS and board, 31 West Second street. 26 4

FOR RENT.

A NEW and delightful suite of rooms to rent, 307 West Front street, with bay window, handsome new house. Desirable neighborhood and location. Address "Richmond Terrace," care of Evening News. 2 4

LOWER part of a house to let, six rooms; also upper part of same house, for light housekeeping. 24 Arlington avenue. 2 4

SMALL house to rent; $8 per month; apply at once. Call at Evans office. 2 4

FOR SALE.

500 WINDOW Screens, 35 cents each, at Van Boskerck & Wilson's. 2 6t.

FOR SALE—Second-hand sewing machine; cheap for cash or on easy terms. Apply at 109 Somerset street. 4 4

HORSE—Young, sound and kind. Inquire 97 Central avenue. 2 4

500 WINDOW Screens, 35 cents each, at Van Boskerck & Wilson's. 2 6t.

THE wave on the purple heart you have been looking for, for sale at 50 per dozen at right near Post. 2 4

$190—The variable grass for sale. In good condition. Apply at 109 Somerset street, P. F. Bradley, 19 East Front street. Agent. 1 2w*

MISCELLANEOUS.

FIRST CLASS laundry work done in a first class manner. Call and see it at 5 Spruce street, Mrs. A. F. Wilson. 2 6t.

LADIES wishing best dressmaking for the least money, address Miss Hall, 1 Arbor street, Plainfield. 2 4

OLD FASHIONED brownies to be sold at 10 cents per dozen. Call Saturday, 32 Somerset street. 2 2t*

PLAIN and braiding pants at Dreyer's Tailor Shop, 2 4

SECURE your tickets for the Columbian Ball, for particulars apply at Rollerdrome. 1 2w*

WANTED—Lady canvassers to solicit subscriptions for the Ladies' Home Journal and Philadelphia Times; a splendid opportunity for ladies of this city to make money. Call at 32 Somerset street, Saturday, June 4th, between 2 and 3 p. m. 2 2t*

WANTED—Lady canvassers to solicit subscriptions for the Ladies' Home Journal and Philadelphia Times; a splendid opportunity for ladies of this city to make money. Call at 32 Somerset street, Saturday, June 4th, between 2 and 3 p. m. 2 2t*

The Time

has come when all should buy their

CLOTHING AT HOME

especially when you get quality, style and fit, just as good and cheap. This the

Acme Tailoring Co.

Call and get a Pocket Fit of no cost.

We have the Largest Assortment of Cloths & Cassimeres in the State. Our styles & Excellent Workmanship to Merchant Tailoring.

Kindly give us a call for inspection.

Acme Tailoring Co.,

No 12 West Front Street.

John H. French, Pres. and Treas. Walter C. Lininger, Sec. 2 2t 10t.

THE BEE HIVE!

Summer Underwear.

Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 15½, 18, 20 and 25c.

Ladies' ribbed vests, in high neck, short sleeved and long sleeved, at 25c.

Ladies' gauze vests, in short and long sleeves, 25c.

Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed and gauze, at 25c.

Men's fast black cotton socks, in long and short sleeves, and drawers of 25, 37 and 50c.

Children's fancy hose, in all sizes.

Children's fancy hose, in all sizes.

Children's fancy hose, in all sizes.

Children's fancy hose, in all sizes.

Children's fancy hose, in all sizes.

Children's fancy hose, in all sizes.

A full line of Parasols, Lace caps, white dresses, and all kinds of short underwear.

Louis Callman,

40 West Front Street.

Just What You Need!

If not go right away or in the course of a few days and get an

Arnold Steam Cooker.

Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.

You can buy the above articles at 321 Park avenue. A list the only premises.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD,

made to the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.

M. S. BOSCH, Agent.

GET YOUR

Bicycle Repaired

at

NO. 1 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

by

Henry Goeller, Jr.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A Cataclysm That Does Not Cat.

It is easy enough to prophesy. Anybody can do it, if only he observes one condition: He must be careful not to fix the exact time for the fulfillment of his predictions, especially if they are bad ones. One would have expected that so astute an observer and philosopher as Professor J. Rodes Buchanan would have minded this little condition; but even he has slipped up here.

We have before us a thrilling pamphlet from his pen entitled, "The Coming Cataclysm of America and Europe." The thread of the argument is that the rich of this United States are going to become so rich and overbearing that the poor who are their fellow citizens will endure it no longer, but will rise in their great thundering power and put down all the mighty from their seats, and there will be such a reign of terror that a Vanderbilt will be glad to hide himself in a coal heaver's garb, and an Astor could even wish that he were dead. The beginning of it will be that the Republican party will be hurled from power and scarcely know what hit it. That will come with the end of this presidential term. The Democrats will succeed in power, but they will please the great people no better than the Republicans have done, worse luck! Then the labor party will come in and have its whack. But about that time the great moral and political cyclone will strike us and we shall be whirled into war compared with the horror and terror of which that of 1861 was a mere scrapping match. Those tough times will begin about 1900 and last till 1916.

But that is by no means the worst. If it were! In these times when our republic is rocking to and fro like a swing dog churn and threatening to go over every minute, finally going over practically, nature will set in and run an opposition show which for diabolical fury will go ahead of anything since Lucifer was pitched heels up and head down over the battlements of heaven. Volcanoes, earthquakes and subterranean fire and brimstone will run in a fringe all along the coast of the Americas and wipe out a million millionaires in the great cities. For some reason the doctor has an especial grudge against Jersey City, and predicts that she will be regularly drowned out.

After our cataclysm the people will gather up the fragments that are left and begin to run things themselves. But their power will be gained at the awful cost. Europe will have her cataclysm, too, but it will not begin to end till ours is done.

As an earnest of dread things to follow, the doctor predicted at the time he wrote the pamphlet the things that were immediately to come. The pamphlet was published under date of May 11, 1890. He prophesied at that time: "Queen Victoria may not survive 1891, but it is possible her vitality will carry her into 1891. July will be a dangerous month for the health of the pope. He will not last two years, probably not one. Neither will Czar Alexander be in existence two years from now. Less than three years will end the official career and personal existence of the two who stand at the head of the Republican party."

Please the powers, these distinguished individuals are all yet alive and in their usual health, and promise to continue so for years to come. The professor ought to try again. With the following thrilling warning which he issues to all the world we dismiss the cataclysm:

To those who have faith in my judgment, especially the readers of my works, I would say do not remain more than fifteen years on the lowlands of the Atlantic coast south of New England. Now fully five years between yourself and the great calamity to be absolutely safe.

But there will be no important emigration from the coast. The great cities will go down with all their splendor and wealth, poverty and crime, but the common people will not rejoice in the calamity and death of millionaires.

But the continent with its new seacoast will be safer from convulsions, and seventy-five or eighty millions can spare one million without arresting their march to power and dominion.

The Russian government has written a letter to a manufacturing firm in Berlin asking full information in regard to microphones which can be secreted in the cells of political prisoners and record their utterances. Modern science has thus put into the hands of those who are willing to take advantage of it an instrument more terrible than anything used in the torture chambers of the Middle Ages. But this is small business for the czar's government. It will only blow him the higher when the explosion comes.

Farm laborers are so scarce in eastern Pennsylvania that an endeavor has been made to procure some of the German immigrants who land at New York. Meantime 10,000 greasy, shlebodied individuals out of employment are polishing the seats of our city parks in all parts of the Union, making melodorous the air in their immediate vicinity. The trouble here, as always, is that the demand and the supply do not come together. In this case the supply particularly avoids the demand.

"Junkman's day" is what the irreverent New York Sun calls the day on which the national house considered appropriations for the printing of public documents.

Time flies fast to those who are happy

BLAINE WILL NOT SAY NO.

Clarkson Makes a Positive Announcement at Last.

MRS. BLAINE SAYS "PA WILL ACCEPT."

Report That Someone Claims Has Received a Telegram Containing Three Significant Words from His Mother; Harrison Men Working Like Beavers.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 4.—Senator Quay was asked: "Well, senator, we have been expecting that some one would arrive here who would be able to tell us positively whether or not Mr. Blaine will accept a nomination. Has the man who can speak arrived?"

"I should put that question to General Clarkson," replied the Pennsylvanian, turning to Clarkson.

"You can state positively on my authority that Mr. Blaine will not refuse the nomination," said Mr. Clarkson.

Senator Quay gave assent to Mr. Clarkson's language. The leaders of the anti-administration forces held a secret conference which lasted several hours. There were present Chairman Clarkson, Senators Washburn, Stockbridge, Quay and Hansbrough, Hon. J. Sloat Fassett, Cougar, of Ohio; H. C. Payne, of Wisconsin, and C. I. Filley, of Missouri. When the meeting was over Senator Stockbridge stated that the members of the conference were of the opinion that President Harrison could depend upon the votes of but 347 delegates all told, of whom 144 are federal officeholders, while there were opposed to him 553 delegates. Of the delegates from the states which cast their electoral votes for Harrison in 1888, Senator Stockbridge said that only 191 were for Harrison and 239 were opposed to him. It was not claimed that all the opposition delegates were for Blaine.

That Blaine Would Accept.

A report was current in the lobby of the West hotel that the Chicago Tribune would soon publish an authoritative statement that Blaine would accept the nomination. The source of authority was not stated. Senator Hansbrough, to whom the report was mentioned, said he had not heard of it. "I don't doubt it, however," he said. "No friend of Blaine's questions the statement that he will accept the nomination."

John C. New now has a list of over 500, all of whom, he claims, as instructed and pledged for Harrison, while he has a supplementary list of forty or so more that the uninstructed can be, his judgment be reckoned as part of the president's force.

Senator Quay came in shortly before noon on a special car with Senators Stockbridge, Sawyer, Felton, Gallinger and Congressman Burrows as company. Stockbridge and Sawyer are Harrison men, while Felton and Gallinger are noncommittal. Burrows, although an open Alger man, said that should the Blaine movement go so far as the placing of Blaine's name before the convention Alger would not be a candidate. At the same time he had reasons to believe that before Tuesday morning it would be authoritatively announced that he did not Blaine consented to the use of his name.

Senator Quay Angry.

Senator Quay was not in a particularly amiable mood. He said that ninety-nine out of a hundred of the alleged interviews with himself during the past few days have been purely imaginary, and that he did not propose to say a word until after he had conferred with Clarkson. In the course of the trip there was an informal talk concerning available dark horses. The names of Governor McKinley were mentioned in this connection. Certain of those belonging to the senatorial party took the ground that the nomination of either would not weaken the party in Ohio, and that the nomination of Sherman would open up the senatorial pathway to Foraker and thus heal the existing differences in the Buckeye state. It was also the sentiment in the event of the nomination of either Blaine or Harrison, it would be good politics to put a far western man in the second place on the ticket.

Harrison's Official Headquarters Open.

Harrison was the first of the candidates to have official headquarters established. General New took possession of suite No. 7, 26 and 30 of the West hotel; one of the apartments being fitted up for the accommodation of a small army of typewriters and stenographers. "More thorough organization is necessary to ultimate success" is the motto of the president's friends, and they say that in twenty-four hours, with large accessions to their forces, they will have an organization complete in every detail.

Outside of Clarkson's quarters, on the other hand, the Blaine cohorts have no rallying place, and of this they are complaining. They say that like their opponents they must have organization, or else they will be simply in the position of bushwhackers, and will fall for lack of detail and concentration.

Harrison Men Working Hard.

Last evening there was a great accession to the Harrison forces. From all over Indiana there came an advance guard of several hundred Hoosiers, wearing the Harrison colors, and most of them politicians with influence at home and abroad. All of these were primed with arguments, supplied with political ammunition and sent out among the various delegations so fast as they arrived. Nothing will be left undone toward strengthening and solidifying the Harrison column. While the Blaine men are sleeping and shouting the other side proposes to be working. As fast as members of the national committee arrive they are taken into the Harrison camp and their views sounded and the administration men express confidence that when the convention meets Mr. Harrison will have a working majority.

So far nobody did Harrison men have follow up the advantage of their early appearance on the ground, that though the day the talk was all for Harrison. The Harrison badges outnumbered those two to one those which bore the counterfeit presentment of the man from Maine with the inscription "The People's Choice" and even in the store windows, of which is regarded by common consent as a Blaine city, the photographs of the secretary of state were few while those of the president were on every hand. As a result the Blaine men laid low, and neither Clarkson, Quay nor Fassett made themselves visible for any length of time.

Chauncey I. Filley, the national committeeman from Missouri and a delegate at large from that state, was an anti-Harrison man until the Missouri convention snubbed him. Now he is for the administration. This is explained apparently by the fact that the convention instructed for Harrison.

J. Sloat Fassett says, "Leaving out 100, whose position is doubtful, there are 750 delegates for Harrison and 402 for Blaine."

"Are these figures of the members of the national committee, Mr. Fassett, or do they represent your own personal views?"

"I have not come here to speak for other members of the committee," said Mr. Fassett. "These are my figures only."

Senators Hiscock, Sawyer and Felton, Congressmen Burrows, Boutelle and Governor Spooner have joined the Harrison forces on the ground. Congressman Burrows expressed himself as confident of the success of Harrison's candidacy. Governor Spooner, who will second Chauncey Depew's presentation of the president's name, said: "Things looked much like Blaine when the excitement is all running toward President Harrison. If Secretary Blaine does not make any further statement, as he expected he would, I do not see how he can be nominated under any circumstances."

Warner Miller's appearance is anxiously awaited by both factions. Inquiry by the managers as to representative delegations from which the uninstructed delegates come, reveal the fact, it is reported, that many of this class are waiting for Mr. Miller to declare his position before coming to a determination themselves. Whatever the stand he takes, it is admitted that he will greatly affect the vote in the convention.

It is said orders have been given that no effort shall be made to climb the Blaine column before Sunday, by which time a dozen or twenty Blaine clubs will be here. With them on the ground it is expected that such a demonstration will be made that everything will give way before it.

Depew Will Nominate Harrison.

CHICAGO, June 4.—John A. Bolcher, at one time a business partner of Russell Harrison, said that Chauncey M. Depew would nominate Harrison for a second term. Some time ago Mr. Harrison visited Depew in New York and told him that it was his father's desire to have Depew name him, and before he returned Russell Harrison secured the consent of Mr. Depew.

Langston Against the President.

CHICAGO, June 4.—John M. Langston, the colored delegate from Virginia, says the colored voters of the country are in revolt against the renomination of Harrison, and that Blaine is the only man whom they know and will listen to step southern entanglements. Attorney General Miller was the most unfriendly man to the cause of the negro who could be named, he declared.

Ex-Secretary Fairchild Talks.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Secretary Fairchild says: "There can be no doubt that every delegation will be admitted to the convention at Chicago, but what our actions there will be is to be determined by the sentiment of what is best for the party. There are now some 500 delegates instructed for Mr. Cleveland by the state conventions. The two-thirds rule will no doubt be adopted at the national convention."

Delaware for Harrison.

CHICAGO, June 4.—George Y. Mosey, a Delaware delegate, said in a reporter here that notwithstanding Delaware's well known loyalty to Blaine her six votes this time would be cast for Harrison. The delegation felt that they would be doing Blaine an injustice should they vote for him in the face of his widely circulated letter that he would not be a candidate.

Rusk Boosting the President.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—That no inborn of the cabinet, except Secretary Blaine, are working for Harrison, and Secretary Rusk in an interview sets at rest all insinuations that he is lukewarm, when he declares that "Mr. Harrison's nomination is only the logical conclusion of the unanimous verdict or approval passed upon his administration."

Langston for Temporary Chairman.

RICHMOND, June 4.—A special to The Times from Minneapolis says:

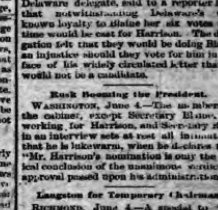
The executive committee of the national convention have decided to recommend Langston, the colored ex-congressman from Virginia, as temporary chairman. Langston has been extremely violent in antagonism to the president."

Boutelle May Bear Blaine's Message.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Just before leaving Washington for Minneapolis, Representative Boutelle, of Maine, had a conference with Mr. Blaine. He came from the secretary confident he would accept the nomination, and may be the bearer of a message from Mr. Blaine to Minneapolis.

FASHIONS

Charming Hats.



NEW AND NEAT.

No. 1 is a pretty hat of fine black silk, with a small curled brim, edge of jaunty sleeve. The trimming consists of tertes and bows of petunia satin ribbon and a small bunch of the flowers. The shades of petunia, together with an algrette of black straw, embroidered with jet. The price of this hat is 20s. 9d.

No. 2 is a charming little bonnet, made in a kind of double shape, the top part being black straw, and the underneath part white, both shapes being made with detached brims. Coverings and bites of the velvet are placed rather high in front, the top of the crown being covered with velvet also. This bonnet is very prettily tied with so many as eight strings of ribbon, which are made to match the colors being black, white, pale green, and pale yellow.

READING HAS A CYCLONE

Several People Reported Killed in That City.

WILD WORK OF THE ANGRY WINDS.

Dwellings Are Ripped to Pieces and the Wires Are Down, but It Is Believed That Severe Loss of Life and Property Was Caused.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—A report has reached this city that a tornado swept over Reading, Pa., killing several persons and destroying a vast amount of property.

Telegraph wires are down and details are as yet not obtainable, but the impression prevails that Reading has suffered great loss.

Big Washout on the Pennsylvania.

WILLIAMSBURG, Pa., June 4.—A big washout occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad between here and Tyrone, a few miles from this city. Twenty-four loaded freight cars were thrown down a twelve foot embankment into the Susquehanna river and are a total wreck.

Largest Flood in Fifty Years.

KANSAS CITY, June 4.—The Missouri river is still slowly rising at this place and the indications point to a repetition of the great flood of 1844. Reports from up the river as far as South Dakota say that the snow water is on its way down. If this be true the flood will be the biggest flood here in almost half a century.

Another Mississippi Levee Breaks.

NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—The levee in front of the Delle Chase plantation on the right bank fifteen miles below the city caved in last night. A crevasse fifty-four feet wide and six feet deep was raging. The break will cause a great loss to many planters on the lower coast.

Killed by Lightning.

ELDRED, Pa., June 4.—Mr. Carmody and his son were planting potatoes a short distance from their home when the father was struck by lightning and instantly killed. The boy escaped.

Four of the Crew Drowned.

VAN BUREN, Ark., June 4.—High water caused the steamer John Matthews to run into a pier. Four of the crew—Jerry Hall, Ed Campbell, Wallace Adkins and Tom Taylor—were drowned.

Desperate Revolt of Convicts.

MADRID, June 4.—In the Valencia prison 874 convicts overpowered the guards, killed three of them and put the rest to flight. They then proceeded to batter down the iron gating at the outer gates of the prison when the military arrived. General Salcedo threatened to cannonade the gates, and the convicts surrendered. The ringleaders will be shot.

Crandall Says He Is Wilson.

BUFFALO, June 4.—The man arrested in Los Angeles as Bryant Crandall, of this city, declares that he is Bryant B. Wilson, and says if the insurance people who are hounding him claim that he is Crandall they must prove it. The prisoner answers well the description of Wilson, has a wen on a mole on the neck and the deformed right foot.

To Investigate the Reading.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The subcommittee of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, appointed to make a preliminary investigation into the alleged Reading railroad deal, reported to the full committee that it had secured enough evidence to warrant a full investigation into the matter and recommended that it be made.

Shot by a Cornered Thief.

PITTSBURG, June 4.—At 3 p. m. a thief was discovered breaking into the palatial residence of Mrs. Andrew A. Kingsbury on Wilkinsworth avenue. Citizens cornered the thief, who fired into the crowd, dangerously wounding William Koerner. One of the pursuers then fatally shot the thief.

More Maverick Bank Indictments.

BOSTON, June 4.—In the Maverick bank cases indictments were found against Chester T. Linley, president of the First National bank, of Grafton, charging embezzlement, and against John T. Richards and William Kingsley, charging the passing of counterfeit five dollar notes.

A Series of Fatalities.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 4.—A series of accidents occurred on the Northwestern railroad resulting in the death of an eight-year-old boy named Moran and two men, T. Gallagher and Frank Norman, who were struck by different trains.

Powderly Will Not Run.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—T. V. Powderly, of the Knights of Labor, says he is not an aspirant for the presidential nomination of the People's party. He will support that party, but he will not run for any office on its ticket.

We Are Worth $62,642,000,000.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The absolute wealth of the United States, according to the eleventh census, may be estimated at $62,642,000,000, or $1,036 per capita, as against $870 in 1880.

Pennsylvania's Reading Deal Case.

HARRISBURG, June 4.—The examiners in the Reading "combine" cases had another session. The papers were not completed, and it was agreed to have another session within a few days.

Elopes with an Accountant.

CHARLOTTE, Mich., June 4.—Miss Della Jaquain, a beautiful young girl of sixteen, has eloped with Frank Zeino, a handsome accountant. She will accompany him in his trips on the clouds.

Brickmakers Beaten.

TORONTO, June 4.—The brickmakers' strike has terminated, after the fight of nearly two months, in a victory for the employers. The men gave in because their families are in absolute want.

Ex-Employe Locked Out Granite Men.

QUINCY, Mass., June 4.—Several business men of this place have started a movement to open up quarries on the New estate at Milton. The locked out granite workers will be employed.

Nearly Kicked to Death.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., June 4.—John Nicoll, an eight-year-old Italian boy, was brutally kicked by an Italian workman named Angelo, who lies dead. The boy will die.

Mrs. Harrison Not Critically Ill.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The report that Mrs. Harrison is critically ill is denied by Dr. Gardner, who says that there is nothing alarming about her case.

The 1892 Model of the Remington is now on the market.

Wyckoff, Seamans & Benedict, 327 Broadway, New York.

CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT has characterized the history of the REMINGTON-STANDARD TYPEWRITER. The changes introduced into the 1892 model represent the carefully tested results of expert study of various points deemed capable of improvement. They present advantages in the quality of the work, and ease as well as convenience of operation which will readily commend themselves to all users.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

THE DOANE & VAN ARSDALE

$3 Welt Shoe,

Paris, New York and Globe Toes. Widths B, C, D & E.

Best in the World for the Money.

22 West Front Street.

P. S.—Time to buy Russet Shoes.

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with

LAMP AND BELL,

under penalty of $20 fine.

A large and complete assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the

Wheelmen's Headquarters,

Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.

FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

Having Disposed of the Produce Business

to Mr. L. A. Hummer, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No. 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand first-rate horses, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.

WHY IS THIS?

Three years ago the Duluth Imperial Mills made 500 barrels of flour a day.

Now they make 6000 barrels daily.

This is to cause a barrel of Imperial makes

18 to 20 More Loaves

of bread than any other flour, and the quality is the BEST. Order a barrel or bag of your grocer and satisfy yourself.

FRENCH BROS.,

CITY MILLS.

Telephone No. 24. Nos. 8, 10 and 12 Somerset street.

LOOK AT THIS!

At No. 37 Somerset street, second-hand furniture is bought and sold, causing a bargain.

At the carpenter shop, No. 68 East Front street, or at the Somerset street store, excellent work is very cheerfully furnished. Window and door screens a specialty.

G. R. MUSGRAVE, Proprietor.

A. M. SEGUINE,

Successor to

Laing's Hotel Stables,

on Front Street, Opp. Railroad Station.

THE RUNABOUT CALL No. 33.

Carriages for weddings, funerals and private parties.

Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.

Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for better driving.

BOARDING HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!

ALL SIZES.

Of Finest

Light Blue Color.

Subscription—

P. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.

SUPT. A. MERKER, Stone Con.

Smalley Bros.,

56 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Agt.,

60 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his patent coal washing machine, and assures for our coal, which he confidently believes entirely free to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of washing.

UPPER LEHIGH AND WYOMISSICK COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

SCREENS AND SCREENED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently improved facilities for Unloading and Screening Sand, and is prepared to contract for the same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in BEST

QUALITY COAL

YARD AND OFFICE

SOUTH AVENUE,

P. O. BOX 1407.

Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors at Law. Commissioners of Deeds. Masters in Chancery. Notaries Public, &c. Offices, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E.
Engineer of the Passaic Union Coming Road Co. Special attention given to street paving and sewerage. Office, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON,
Attorney-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery. Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public. Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 20 West Front street.

CLARK S. REED,
Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner of Deeds. Notary Public. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CRAIG A. MARSH,
Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner of Deeds. Master in Chancery. Notary Public. Office corner Front and Somerset streets.

OSCAR E. TRALE,
Architect, 346 Broadway, New York city; rooms 32 and 33, Importers and Traders' Bank Building. Residence, Plainfield, N. J.

PLAINFIELD
CORDLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY

JONES & CO

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Terms made to suit customers. Our specialties is superior Cellar Excavating. Orders left at our office, Park avenue and Third street, or at residence of Jos. Jones, Clinton and Third streets, will receive prompt attention. Telephone call No. 97.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, "
ELIAS S. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7:30, 9:00, a. m., 12:00, 2:30, 5:30 p. m.
Close—7:00, 8:00, 9:30, 11:30, 2:30 and 7 p.m.
SOMERVILLE AND RARITAN MAILS.
Arrive—9:00 a. m., 1:30, 6:30 p. m.
Close—8:00 a. m., 1:00 p. m.

Transit mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 8:00 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 8:00 to 9:00 a. m.
Mail closes at 8:00 p. m.

E. E. POPE, P. M.

FOLEY SAVED BY A TRICK.

Port Jervis' Mob Wanted His Life, Too.

HURRIED OFF TO GOSHEN'S JAIL.

The Town Still Greatly Excited Over the Lynching of the Negro Who Assaulted Miss McMahon—The Girl Is Still in a Critical Condition.

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., June 4.—There would probably have been another lynching here had it not been for the precautions taken by the public officials. The mob has not yet lost its thirst for blood. Now they want the life of Peter J. Foley, the young man who is believed to have planned the assault upon Miss Lena McMahon, and which resulted in the lynching of the negro Bob Lewis. The village is still in a wild state of excitement. To prevent a repetition of the horrible scenes of Thursday the authorities had to resort to strategy. Foley was arrested early in the morning and placed in the village lockup, a strong guard being stationed outside. It soon became evident that the mob feeling had not yet subsided, and it was decided to transfer Foley to the county jail at Goshen as soon as possible.

Saved by a Trick.

This action was anticipated and a large crowd gathered at the depot to intercept Foley on his way to the noon train. Had he been taken to the depot there would have been a battle at least if not another lynching. Realizing this, the president of the village arranged to have the train on which Foley was to go backed down to the foot of Sussex street, in which the jail is located. The constabulary and a large force of special police were stationed along the route from the jail to the railroad tracks.

Foley was then quickly taken from the jail to the train by Chief of Police Kirkman, preceded and followed by large detachments of police. The train then moved swiftly out of the yard through a crowd of men who would have torn the prisoner limb from limb had they been able to lay hands upon him.

Was Foley Guilty, Too?

There is no doubt in the mind of the public here as to Foley's complicity in the assault on Miss McMahon. In his letters he makes a demand upon her for money, threatening in the event of her refusal exposures which would ruin her character.

A warrant charging him with blackmail has been sworn out against Foley by the girl's father. This will be served upon him after he has testified at the inquest. His present detention is not on a criminal charge, but is solely to secure his presence as a witness before the coroner's jury.

Many people believe that the negro was incited to his awful crime by Foley, who had paid Miss McMahon considerable attention against the wishes of her parents. Lewis insisted, while making his confession, that the girl would have been perfectly safe at his hands had not the assault been suggested to him by Foley.

His victim, Miss McMahon, lies at the home of her parents in West street in a critical condition. In her struggle with Lewis one of her shoulders was broken, and great handfuls of hair were torn from her head. She is an extremely handsome girl, and her mental traits are in keeping with her personal appearance. She is twenty years old, and was graduated with high honors two years ago from the Mountain academy.

Story of the Assault.

The girl left home, with a book in her hand on Thursday morning and joined Foley, the two having made an engagement to take a long walk. They went as far as the girl's father's and then seated themselves under a tree, not far from where some children were playing and three or four colored boys were fishing. There they read, recited and talked until noon, when Foley said that he would go to a restaurant near by and get some sandwiches. Scarcely was he out of sight when Lewis made his appearance and seized her and placed one hand over her mouth. Then, as she fell, her head came in contact with a stone and she lost consciousness. Her senses returned and she began to shriek for help.

The whole scene was witnessed by the children and the cries were heard by the colored boys fishing. The latter were mere little fellows, and rushed to the girl's rescue. On their approach, however, the negro drew a revolver and held them at bay until he could lack off into the woods and escape. Then one of the boys went to the assistance of the suffering girl, and two others ran to spread the alarm.

As it is the feeling here is that justice was done. There is some talk of arrests, but it is extremely doubtful that any one will be taken into custody.

This is the second lynching in Orange county. In 1868 a negro, whose crime was similar to that perpetrated by Lewis, was taken from the Newburg jail and hanged to a tree in the yard.

Tracking Ten Desperate Train Robbers.

PONCA, I. T., June 4.—Deputy United States Marshal Maxwell has expedition corner the Santa Fe train robbers. There are ten men in the band, and they are heavily armed and will make a desperate fight.

Mrs. Montagu Not Released.

LONDON, June 4.—The transfer of Mrs. Anne Margaret Montagu—under sentence for the manslaughter of her child—from Londonderry prison to Orange Gorman causes an untrue report that she had been released.

Verdict Against Actress Lotta.

BOSTON, June 4.—In the suit of Mary Robinson versus Lotta, the actress, asking $4,000 for injuries sustained by being struck by an awning frame while passing Lotta's theater, the plaintiff got a verdict for $300.

Baroness Blanc Wins Again.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The motion of Baroness Blanc to strike out the general allegations of her adulteries with unknown men or give names, has been granted in the baron's suit for divorce.

Judge Judgment Affirmed.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The judgment of $88,675 which Edward S. Stokes obtained against John W. Mackey and Hector De Castro, has been affirmed by the general term.

Bishop O'Reilly's Will.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 4.—The will of the late Bishop O'Reilly gives nearly all the bishop's estate, valued at from $100,000 to $200,000, to Archbishop Williams, of Boston.

General Grubb to Sail Soon.

LENNOX, June 4.—General E. Burd Grubb and his bride will sail for the United States with a party of friends on the Columbia on June 11.

FATHER DENT SEATED.

His Suit Against Bishop Ryan, of Buffalo, Fails.

BROOKLYN, June 4.—The jury in the Dent-Ryan suit returned a verdict in favor of Bishop Ryan. Judge Barrett then discharged the jury and said: "A verdict for the plaintiff would have carried with it the conclusion that the defendant had not only been guilty of slander but perjury. It is a matter of congratulation that you, in the discharge of your duty, were able to arrive at the conclusion that a man holding any such an exalted position in society as a teacher of religion was not guilty of either of these serious offenses." Father Dent will appeal the case.

Deliberately Buried a Live Man.

ABERDEEN, I. T., June 4.—An inhuman and barbarous incident connected with an execution at Wewoka, the capital of the Seminole nation, is related by Albert Tewnie, United States commissioner of this city. The executioners were two members of the National Light Horse. They were drunk and only wounded the prisoner, but they laid him in the ground at once, and three negroes brought a rough coffin to the side of the wounded man, who was put in the coffin and an effort was made to nail down the lid, but the victim pushed and kicked against it so that the task was not accomplished by two of the negroes sitting on the lid while the other drove the nails with the utmost nonchalance. The interment was then made.

Louisiana's Senatorial Deadlock.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 4.—The senatorial ballot in the Louisiana legislature resulted as follows: Jonas, 20; Gibson, 18; Adams, 16; Caffery, 11; Blanchard, 8; Honargois, 2.

The Next Best Thing.

"Say," he said to the clerk in an all night restaurant, "is there a drug store open anywhere near here?"

"No."

"No place where I could buy a rubber ring or something like that suitable for a baby cutting teeth?"

"No."

"Well, then," he said in a tone of resignation, "I guess I'll have to open your ham sandwiches."—Washington Star.

At Sea.

She—And why is a ship called "she?"
He—Aye, ma'am! Because the rigging costs so much.—Judy.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum and Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Segars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Segar store, No. 19 West Second street.

Unlike the Dutch Process No Alkalies —OR— Other Chemicals are used in the preparation of

W. Baker & Co.'s Breakfast Cocoa,

which is absolutely pure and soluble.

It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is far more economical, costing less than one cent a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, and EASILY DIGESTED.

Sold by Grocers everywhere.

W. Baker & Co., Dorchester, Mass.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before.

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher,

46 West Front Street.

BOEHM

Will sell for THIS WEEK ONLY,

Good Matting at 10c.

per yard (by the roll.) Largest stock of Carpets, Oil Cloths and Mattings in the city.

Special Low Prices

on Millinery, Dress Goods and Spring Jackets to be sold.

Agency for King's Dyeing of Co., Boston, Pa.

No. 7 WEST FRONT STREET.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."

Sleepy.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Have no equal for the cure of Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Fits, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Cold Chills, Flushing of Heat, Loss of Appetite, Shortness of Breath, Scurvy, Blotches on the Skin, Disturbed Sleep, and all Nervous and Trembling Sensations, and all Nervous Complaints. Covered with a Tasteless and Soluble Coating. Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box. 14 Pills in a box. Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire.

FRED. W. DUNN,

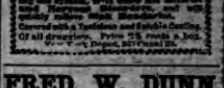
Successor to

Barkalew & Dunn,

15 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Fine Groceries.

THREE BEE TEA



Morning Noon Night

Good all the time. It removes the languor of morning, sustains the energies of noon, lulls the weariness of night.

Hires' Root Beer

delicious, sparkling, appetizing.

Don't be deceived if a dealer, for the sake of larger profit, tells you some other kind is "just as good"—his false. He believes it is as good as the genuine Hires'.

PIPTONIZED

Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'

To the Public:

Neuman Bros.

Desire to call special attention to their choice and select line of new canned vegetables, viz: French Peas, preserved sugar corn, Burnham & Morrill's Paris sugar corn, Shrewsbury tomatoes, Earl tomatoes, P. H. Leggett's stewed tomatoes Pait & Winborne's extra sifted peas, Golden Gate sugar peas, extra early June peas, Hamburg Stringless Beans, Hudson River asparagus and tips

Special reduction given by the case or dozen. Also a fine assortment of Gorden & Dowerth's jellies and mince meats.

79 BROADWAY.

C. DICKINSON,

PRACTICAL

OPTICIAN

and

JEWELER.

Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Agent for the American

Rambler Bicycles.

No. 13 Park avenue.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only Refrigerating Lake Hopatcong Ice in this market, are now prepared to serve their patrons with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CODDINGTON, Pres.
H. CODDINGTON, Vice-Pres.
ANDREW W. MACE, Sec. & Treas.
J. HORTON, Gen. Supt.

Joseph T. Sullivan,

No. 66 West Third Street,

Dealer in Choice

Wines, Liquors, etc.

BEER ON DRAUGHT.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

247 West Front Street.

CARRIAGES and HARNESS,

$15.00

Buys hand made trotting or mount 4 harness.

$100.00

Buys canopy top, natural wood surrey.

Prices and styles to suit all.

SWIFT SAFETIES.

RYERSON,

23 SOMERSET STREET.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

LAWN MOWERS,

Bicycles, and

GENERAL MACHINERY

Repairs, at

SCHENCK'S

Machine Shop,

North Plainfield. Also Pipe Fitting.

Gutters Eaves.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet

MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS,

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 282.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters

and Builders.

W. J. PIERSON, No. 15 Vine street. H. B. GAYLE, No. 28 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 252.

R. V. BAUME,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot. Rynon.

P. O. Box 1289

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. P. HOFFMAN,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

Residence—56 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ARNOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Fair estimates cheerfully furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Shop and residence, 1 Arlington street, Plainfield, N. J. Post office box 1, 2. Have had long experience.

JOHN HERRMANN,

Dealer in Fresh and Salt Meats, Sausages, Sharp corner of Second and Sycamore streets, Shop, Plainfield, N. J.

Residence, 14 Arlington street.

GARDEN FLOWER & LAWN Seeds and Fertilizers.

Special Lawn Seeds for shady and dry lawns.

GARDEN TOOLS and Lawn Mowers.

WATER PIPING AND PLUMBING.

Tinware, Hardware and Housefurnishings

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS ‡ †

‡ ‖ § PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—48 East Front street.

Miss Blanche Fellows

VOCALIST

and Teacher of Singing.

Rapid development and complete education of the voice.

Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formation and tone production.

Voice tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Call or address

NO. 87 DUKE STREET.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

45 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN RUBY STONE FLAGGING

37 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security. Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

NO. 61 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

IT IS NOT A SECRET! NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

In buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, patron is in to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 46 EMILY STREET.

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

NEW o.o STORE!

I beg to announce that I have opened a store pertaining to bedding at 19 West Front street. Below we quote some of our prices:

Mattresses	$1.50 to $50
2 Large Pillows, Best American Hair Mattress, 25 lbs.	$25
Extra Feather Pillows	$1.00, $2, $2.50
Extra Bolster Pillows	75 cents
Extra Down Pillows	$2 to $3
Comforters	$1, $1.50, $1.75

Blankets, 10c. (colored and gray or cream); Oil Cloth 25 to 60c. per yard; Oriental and Turkish Rugs, 50 to 75c.; Lace Curtains, 50c. per pair; Chenille Portiers, 75c. per pair; Spring Curtains, Looking Glasses, Pictures, Cornices, Cords, Tassels, Curtain Goods, Carpets, Curtain Scrapers, Curtain Stretchers, Curtain Brackets, and a hundred and one other things cheaper than you can buy them in any other store.

T. J. CAREY, - Proprietor,

19 WEST FRONT STREET.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

at foot of PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

48 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to tell the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If give a call will be able to convince our goods for quality and price with any of the first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor Dealer.

Telephone Co. 167.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(The Port Reading R. R. Co., Lessee.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect May 15, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield as † 12, 2.20, 4.38, 6.15, 8.05, 9.20, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m.

Leave New York as † 12, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m.

Leave Somerville for Plainfield at 2.30, 4.30, 6.30, 8.30, 10.30 a. m., 12.30, 2.30, 4.30, 6.30, 8.30, 10.30 p. m.

Leave Plainfield for Somerville at 7.30, 9.30, 11.30 a. m., 1.30, 3.30, 5.30, 7.30, 9.30, 11.30 p. m.

Leave New York for Somerville at 9.00 a. m., 12.00 noon, 3.00, 5.00 p. m.

Leave Somerville for New York at 7.30, 9.30 a. m., 12.30, 4.30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield as † 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m.

Leave Somerville as † 12, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND RARITAN.

Leave Plainfield as † 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m.

Leave Raritan as † 12, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield as † 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m.

Leave Bound Brook as † 12, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

[Dense timetable: 7.30 a. m. for Easton, Phillipsburg, Allentown, Bethlehem, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Harrisburg, Pittsburg, Erie, Buffalo, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Montreal, Quebec, Boston, Portland, Bangor, Mount Desert, Halifax, Washington, Richmond, Norfolk, Old Point Comfort, Atlanta, Augusta, Jacksonville, Tampa, Key West, Havana, Nassau, Bermuda, Mexico City, Yokohama, Hong Kong, Manila, Sydney, Melbourne, Auckland, Wellington, Honolulu, Victoria, Vancouver, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Spokane Falls, Helena, Butte, Salt Lake City, Ogden, Monterey, Del Monte, Santa Cruz, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, San Diego, Redondo, Riverside, Pasadena, Sierra Madre, Mount Lowe, Santa Monica, Long Beach, Anaheim, Orange, Santa Ana, Newport, Coronado Beach, Tia Juana, Ensenada, Guaymas, Hermosillo, Nogales, Benson, Tucson, Deming, El Paso, Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, Austin, Waco, Hot Springs, Little Rock, Memphis, Vicksburg, Shreveport, New Orleans, Mobile, Montgomery, Selma, Meridian, Jackson, Shelby, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Knoxville, Bristol, Roanoke, Lynchburg, Charlottesville, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Erie, Buffalo, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Portland, San Francisco

The Curiosity Shop

A GLIMPSE OF ORIENTAL LIFE.

New Turkish Ladies Have a Little Change and Excitement Once a Week.

One day in the week, Friday (which is the Turkish Sunday), Turkish ladies have a little change and excitement in going to mosque, or visiting their cemeteries, and, in the afternoon, going to either lake Terkos or Water of Asia, or the Sweet Waters of Europe. A woman traveler in the Orient says: "These prettily named resorts are two fresh water streams, the former rea ching into the Bosphorus just above Dolmabli, the latter flowing into the Golden Horn. From about 1 to 6 o'clock every Friday in summer hundreds of caiques, full of gayly dressed Turkish ladies, row up and down these waters, greeting their friends and acquaintances, and generally disembarking at the pretty picnic ground of the streams. You see the most elegant caiques, lined with pale pink, pale blue, crimson and amber, satin cushions, three or four being equally gayly attired, but I cannot say always in harmony with their boats; for, so glaring and vivid are their combinations, I am sure the explanation for some must be color-blind. The caiquees, or rowers, often look nicer than their ladies. In the smartest boats they wear white clothing, white full baggy trousers and white blouses, with the universal red fez as headgear; some having also little scarves pockets of red, blue or yellow velvet, as ornaments to the livery of their service. At 6 o'clock all Turkish ladies are expected to retire; they are never allowed to be out after dusk, so that their weekly excitement is not of long duration.

Women of the lower classes who cannot afford boats sit in hundreds along the edges of the streams, clad in the brightest shades of every known hue, watching and admiring their richer sisters; and not only these, but on even the cemeteries in some of the streets, where there is something to be seen, they will sit for hours chatting. They are very fond of watching the soldiers go and return from the "Selamlik" that is, the salute to the Sultan, which has been done every Friday at 12 o'clock. As there are always thousands of soldiers; and generally eight or ten bands of music, this is a gorgeous spectacle.

Fecundity.

M. J. Bertillon presents the following table showing that the French are the least prolific and the Germans the most prolific people of Europe. Number of children born alive annually per thousand women of fifteen to fifty years: France, 109; Ireland, 114; Belgium, 127; England, 132; Netherlands, 137; Spain, 141; Prussia, 148; Bavaria, 158. Attention must be given a woman who had five children at a birth four times successively; Menage one who had twenty one children in seven years. The Empress Catherine of Russia was a prodigious woman in 1857 who had had fifty-seven children, all of whom were then living, having been born then—sixteen in four confinements, seventy-one in two confinements, twenty in ten confinements, or in all fifty-seven children in twenty-one confinements. This woman's husband married again, and his second wife had fifteen children in seven confinements. Peter Vassilieff, of Moscow, in 1782 had eighty three children living when reckoned by the czar. He had sixty nine children by his first wife at seventy-two, and brothers. Mrs. George Hench, of Dallas, is reported, November, 1892, of having been confined of six children, four being boys and two girls. This lady takes the record, according to Medical Press, from which she data going was compiled.

Home About the Eyes.

"Never rub your eyes, nor allow your children to do so from their cradle. Colds are bad for the sight, especially those spotted or covered with a pustulous eruption. Never sleep in the sun, or wear the softest, clearest net when obliged to do so. Never read in bed or when lying on the side. Sit erect when you can

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Lock Box 1. Telephone Call 68. Printing of all Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," MONDAY, JUNE 6, 1892. PRICE, TWO CENTS

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR THEIR VACATION, SHOULD SEND NEW ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

BREVITIES.

—Common Council meeting to-night.

—An ordinance relative to unmuzzled dogs went into effect in North Plainfield, June 1st.

—Regular meeting of the Plainfield Camera Club will be held Tuesday evening, June 7th, at eight o'clock.

—An auction will be held at No. 9 Madison avenue, Wednesday, June 8th, at two o'clock. T. J. Gillies, auctioneer.

—The regular meeting of the McAll Auxiliary will be held at the Library, Tuesday morning, June 7th, at eleven o'clock. It is the last meeting of the season. A full attendance is desired.

—The blossom cannot tell what becomes of its odor, and no man can tell what becomes of his influence and example, they roll away from him and go beyond his ken. Perfect quotation.

—The Central Railroad Company's new station at Elizabeth are nearing completion. Next week the portion on the North side of the track will be taken possession of and the old depot abandoned by the company.

—Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., of this city, will pay a fraternal visit to-night, to Good Will Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of New Brunswick. The Independent Drum and Fife corps, most of whom are members of Franklin Council, will accompany them.

—Those who have attended the entertainments which have been given from time to time by the Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will not have to be urged to be present to-night at the "Rainbow Festival" to be held in the lecture room of the church. It is enough to say that an exceedingly attractive programme has been arranged. That of this evening including a chorus of voices from the "Choral Society", several select solos and a "Wand Drill," etc. Ice cream, strawberries, etc., will be served during the evening. The lecture room of the church has been beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Hillside Tennis Club Saturday Tea.

Notwithstanding the rather inclement weather of Saturday, a goodly number enjoyed the hospitality of the Hillside Tennis Club at the first club tea of the season. Mrs. Frank S. Martin of Hillside avenue received the guests assisted by Miss Walz, Miss Corcoran, Miss Lowrie, Miss Wood, Miss Bass and Miss Madge Depew.

The club house never looked more attractive than on this occasion. The rooms were thanked with wild flowers and ferns, with pretty June roses daintily distributed throughout, only those playing the game could enjoy the tennis as the grounds surrounding the courts were too damp to venture upon.

Among the friends of the club present were noticed the Misses Erskine, Major and Mrs. Robert L. Burnett, Mr. James De Graff, Mr. Charles W. Opdyke, Miss Ethel Opdyke, Mr. John Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt G. Iyins, Rev. W. R. Richards, Mr. W. B. Post, Miss Van Buskirk, Miss White, Mr. S. T. Slosson, the Misses Hart, Mr. J. H. P. Wharton, Miss Bushnell, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Wadsworth, Mr. Howard W. Beebe, the Misses Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Brooks, Mr. Rowland Cox, Jr., Mrs. Fox, Mr. Brockway, Mr. Sherwood Weed, Mr. L. E. Walz, Miss the Misses Betts, Mrs. Keyser, Mrs. James, Mrs. Wm. B. Wadsworth, Mrs. Kerr, Mr. August Wadsworth, Mr. Dexter O. Titsany, Mr. George P. Mellick, Mrs. Talmadge, Mr. and Mrs. John Bushnell, the Misses Morgan, Mr. Frank Bushnell, Mrs. Steinecke, Mr. Frank S. Martin, Mrs. J. J. Herring Pollion, Miss Dye, Mr. Erskine, Mrs. Foote, Mrs. Rowland Cox and Mrs. Gregg.

The Metropolis.

The Executive Committee of the Metropolis have decided to reserve all seats for the concerts next season.

This departure will no doubt be hailed with joy by the subscribers and those who attended the concerts, as all will be sure seats for the entire course, without necessitating the hurry to obtain sittings.

It is probable that the drawing will be conducted by a committee of three chosen from the subscribers, active members and executive committee, but the subscribers will be duly notified of the arrangement to be decided upon.

The number of subscriptions so far received is much larger than it was last year, and as the limit is being rapidly reached, it would be well for those intending to subscribe to notify the secretary at once.

Lightning's Freaks.

Lightning struck the steeple of the First Presbyterian church, last night about 11 o'clock.

It demolished the cross, and ran down the steeple, tearing out part of the brick work and otherwise damaging the roof of the church.

What the amount of the damage done has not as yet been estimated.

Lightning struck a house on Manning avenue about the same time.

It partly tore off the roof of the house and the damage is put at $50.

Tournament Ends.

The Bowling tournament at the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum, ended Saturday night.

F. J. White won the first prize, with a total won of 16 out of a possible 19.

Butcher won second prize for high score of 228.

The complete standing of the contestants, at the close of the tournament, will be published later.

SENTENCE DAY AT ELIZABETH.

Noted Criminals to Go to Trenton.

Saturday was sentence day in the Court of Special Sessions. The prisoners were all somewhat notorious and there was a large attendance of interested spectators.

Frederick N. Loewe, the defaulting agent of the United States Industrial Insurance Company, was the first prisoner arraigned. It was alleged he had embezzled $238 of the company's money. He retracted a plea of not guilty, and pleaded non guilt.

Loewe is a fine looking man and has previously borne a good name. He was represented by Counselor Louis A. Grant who presented to the court a number of petitions signed by residents of Newark, where Loewe has lived for many years. Mr. Grant said the defendant had never committed crime before. He got behind in making up shortages for other agents and he tried to borrow money of relatives to reimburse the company. He has a family in destitute circumstances.

Judge McCormick, in imposing sentence, said that there was no excuse for his crime, and it was the duty of the court to see that proper punishment was imposed. The sentence passed was two years in state prison.

John Winger, the burglar who was captured in Plainfield at the house of C. G. Osborne, and who tried to kill an officer in an effort to escape was also sentenced as reported in Saturday's News.

Berth Reckling, the French chamber maid, who was arrested at Summit for robbing her employer, was sentenced to State prison for one year.

Judge McCormick decided that a writ be issued for the arrest of Constable Gannon, and his arraignment in court on Wednesday on charge of insulting her at the Second ward lockup.

Judge McCormick sentenced Walsh the youth who tapped Keck's bakery till, to State prison for a term of three years.

The Police Blotter.

Henry Lewis was arraigned before Judge Coddington this morning, for drunk and disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace. He was fined $5, which he paid.

Fred Anderson was arrested last evening about seven o'clock, for drunk and disorderly conduct. He was passing Robert's livery stable on North avenue when he managed to get into an altercation with a man the name of Mr. Roberts stepped forward to separate the men, when Anderson struck him in the face, and ran down Park avenue, stopping to break Butcher Crane's window on the corner of Second street and Park avenue. Anderson was captured on West Second street and brought to the police station. He is a colored man and only 17 years old. This morning the City Judge sent him to Elizabeth for 40 days. Mr. Roberts will not prosecute him.

John Payne, another colored man, was also arrested with Anderson at the same time. His employer went his bail and he will be arraigned this afternoon on charge of drunk and disorderly conduct.

Patentees.

The following is a list of patents granted to residents of New Jersey for the week ending June 7, 1892:

Ice cream freezer, C. E. Bellamy, Arlington; clip for dash boards, A. Scarles, Newark; elevator, A. P. Webb, Hoboken. process of manufacturing beer, G. Zorweg, Newark; gate, J. G. Hall, Newark; syringe, T. B. Wilcox, Newark; hame fastener, T. Stretch, Newark; tape winding mechanism for lighting devices or other articles. C. P. Booth, Camden; differential gear for bicycles, C. Bigelow, Orange City; design, E. A. Hem, Elizabeth; design, W. S. McLowee, Trenton; design, C. A. May, Trenton; trade mark, Johnson & Murphy, Newark; trade mark (two patents), G. W. Page, Hawthorne.

Caught at Elizabethport.

There was an exciting chase at Elizabethport yesterday afternoon after Patrick Griffon, a fugitive from justice, who has been wanted several months for highway robbery. The officer started for Griffin, who, seeing his approach, fled across the fields toward the station. The officer hotly pursued and finally overhauled the fellow, who slackened his speed when the policeman sent a couple of bullets after him. Griffin was locked up and arraigned this morning before Justice Reinhold, who committed him to the county jail.

Music Hall Prices Reduced.

For the first performance under the new management of Music Hall, advertised in another column, prices of admission are reduced from 75, 50 and 25 cents, to 50, 35 and 25 cents, and this the manager, Mr. J. A. Demarest, announces is to be the prevailing Summer prices.

First Church of Christ.

The congregation of the First Church of Christ have secured a plot on Grove street, and will soon begin the erection of a house of worship.

Mrs. President Harrison has been invited to be present at the dedication.

PERSONAL.

Miss Frankie Phillips of Trenton was given a grand musical at Dunellen Friday night. Miss Phillips is an accomplished instructor in vocal and instrumental music.

—Among those to take part at the entertainment at the Boys' Club this evening are Miss May and a quartette from the Bicycle club.

PLAINFIELD LEADING.

THE CRACK ELIZABETHS DEFEATED SATURDAY.

Francis Pounded for Fifteen Hits—Sneeden Strikes Out Twelve Men—Somerville Again Defeated—The Scores.

Saturday's game between the celebrated Y. M. C. I. A. of Elizabeth, and the Crescents of this city, was never in doubt from the first.

The visitors came to the city fully confident of winning, but returned to their native sod with a bad defeat and many empty purses.

Sneeden pitched the game of the season, only sending one man to base on called balls, and striking out twelve of Elizabeth's heavy batters, Cooper, their battery pride, being struck out twice.

Keeler played a great game at the bat, with a total to his credit of four single and a three-bagger, out of a possible six.

The boys all showed up well, both in the field and at the bat.

Francis was pounded all over the field, 15 hits being made off him, one being a two bagger and three of them three baggers.

Rafferty played a good game behind the bat, for the visitors, and William with the exception of one bad play, held third base down in his old time form.

The score was as follows:

CRESCENTS.

	A.B.	R.	B.H.	P.O.	A.	E.
Holford, c.....	6	0	0	12	0	2
Keeler, s.s.....	6	3	3	1	3	0
Murphy, l.f.....	6	1	1	1	0	0
Farmer, 2d b.....	6	1	2	2	2	0
Daley, 3d b.....	6	1	1	0	0	1
Leidy, c.f.....	6	2	1	2	0	0
Williams, 1st b.....	6	2	1	13	0	0
Jones, r.f.....	6	2	3	0	0	0
Sneeden, p.....	6	3	2	1	3	0
Total.....	54	15	14	27	8	3

ELIZABETHS.

	A.B.	R.	B.H.	P.O.	A.	E.
Cooper, r.f.....	4	0	0	0	0	0
Bowen, 1st b.....	4	0	0	12	0	1
Murray, s.s.....	4	0	0	2	3	1
Williams, 2d b.....	4	0	0	2	3	1
Tierney, c.f.....	4	0	0	0	0	0
Dillon, l.f.....	4	0	0	0	0	0
Perry, 3d b.....	4	0	0	1	2	0
Rafferty, c.....	4	1	1	4	1	1
Francis, p.....	4	0	0	0	5	2
Total.....	36	1	1	21	14	6

*Jones out, hit with batted ball.

Crescents....	0	1	2	3	6	1	0	0	0—15
	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0—1
Elizabeth....	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	1	0—3
	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0—1

Earned runs, Crescents, 4; two base hits, Jones; three base hits, Bonner. Turner and Keeler; passed balls, Rafferty, 1; wild pitches, Francis, 1; base on balls, off Sneeden 1, off Francis 10; struck out by Sneeden, 12, by Francis 8; left on bases, Crescents 11, Elizabeth 5. Double plays, Murray and Berry; time of game, two hours and 10 minutes; umpire Mr. Berri-gan.

The Somerville aggregation with Reese, the new pitcher from Lehigh, went down to Westfield Saturday with the intention of climbing a step in the League championship ladder.

But therein they failed, as they were defeated to the tune of eight to four.

The Somervilles had a double play, Clare, from the Worcester New England team, in the box, and the West Ends only succeeded in getting nine hits off him. Westfield got eight hits off Reese, one being a two and another a three bagger.

The following was the score:

WEST ENDS.

	R.	1b.	P.O.	A.	E.
Carbonell, c.f.....	0	2	0	0	1
Lewis, s.s.....	0	1	2	0	1
Farrell, 2b.....	0	0	3	5	0
Harkins, 1b.....	0	0	8	1	1
Hamilton, r.f.....	0	2	2	0	1
Moorehead, s.s.....	1	2	2	3	1
Cadman, 3b.....	1	2	2	3	1
Hannigan, l.f.....	0	1	2	0	0
Reese, p.....	0	2	1	3	0
Total.....	4	9	24	14	5

WESTFIELD.

McCudden, l.f.....	1	1	2	1	0
Lever, c.f.....	1	1	2	0	0
O'Rourke, 1b.....	1	1	12	0	1
Howe, s.s.....	0	0	2	2	0
Hamilton, r.f.....	0	0	2	0	0
Riley, 2b.....	2	0	2	2	0
O'Neil, 3b.....	1	0	1	1	0
Ward, c.....	1	0	4	1	0
Clare, p.....	1	2	5	1	1
Total.....	8	5	27	12	2

West Ends.....	0	0	1	0	0	0	3	0	0—4
Westfield A. C.	0	0	0	3	0	0	0	5	0—8

Earned runs—West Ends, 1; Westfield A. C., two base hits—Cadman, McCudden. Three-base hit—Warner. Stolen bases—West Ends, 2; Westfield A. C., 4. First base on balls—Off Reese, 4; off Clare, 3. Hit by pitched ball—Kennedy. Double play—Howe, Riley and Ward. Passed balls—Warner, 2. Time of game—Two hours. Umpire—Lemmie.

HOW THE CRICKS STAND.

	Won.	Lost.	Average.
Plainfield Crescents.....	2	0	1.000
Somerville A. C. C.....	1	0	1.000
Westfield Athletic Club...	1	1	.500
Somerville West Ends...	0	1	.000

On Wednesday the Crescents cross bats with the Staten Island Athletic Club, the leaders in the Amateur League. A fine game is assured.

Gettysburg.

The New York Commercial Advertiser say in a recent editorial:

"There is no spot in this country so sacredly consecrated to the memories, emotions, and who knows how many heroic deeds, as the quiet little town in Southern Pennsylvania, known as Gettysburg, where the great battle of the Civil War was made history for all time. Dublin Winterton, who died in harness by mounting guard, will tell every detail of the struggle. Nearly four hundred of them mark the spots where the Federal troops fought and won everlasting glory. Many of these monuments are works of art. Others, in fact, this famous battle field is a great open air National Gallery of Art—heroic Art. Nothing like it can be found elsewhere in hemisphere. Twenty millions roads have been laid out on the ground and a million dollars' worth of bronze and granite will may be seen in a day. As an object for Sunday Excursions there is no more appealing than Gettysburg. The scenery about Gettysburg is beautiful and full of romance. The hotels are unusually comfortable and appreciative, and the Reading has made the journey thither comfortable and even luxurious.

AMONG THE WHEELMEN.

What the Bi-Boys are Doing—Hill Climbing Made Easy.

The Racing Board of the League of American Wheelmen has had occasion to suspend some more racing men for competing at unsanctioned race meets. For the above offence committed at Philadelphia on April 30, Messrs. W. A. Loerie, C. I. Irwin, H. R. Stanford, and J. C. Cliff, all of that city, are suspended for two weeks.

Louis M. Mier of the Rutherford (N. J.) Wheelmen road a "century" in 7:32:23, doing the last mile in less than three minutes.

Rutherford wheelmen will give a lawn party on June 28 at Rutherford. A general invitation has been extended to bicyclists.

A bicycle run from the Y. M. C. A. room, to the Rahway Y. M. C. A. building, will take place to-morrow (Tuesday) evening. Members of the association and others interested are requested to be on hand at seven o'clock sharp.

Hill climbing is probably the greatest bugbear of the cycling novice. All the favorite roads seem dotted with hills and the rider who is too conservative despite his most ambitious efforts, he is compelled to dismount and walk, and the delightful coast down the other side of the hill loses half its charm. To see a local bike muscler soon pedal up the hollow with apparent ease is a delight to his confreres. Hill climbing is so easy to the veteran that it would repay the rider to try and acquire the knack which carries the older wheelmen up the difficult grades.

Tarrant, 2d captain of the Pennsylvania and Lansdowne clubs, one of the oldest riders in Philadelphia, is a noted expert on hills. He was probably the first man in Philadelphia to ride the now famous grade built on an ordinary bicycle, and it is safe to say that there is no hill that can be climbed on any style bicycle, the top of which Mr. Powell cannot reach on a safety.

Speaking of hill climbing recently Mr. Powell said: "It is an art easily acquired and one that should be cultivated by every rider. While the beginner often feels that it is easier to walk up a hill, he will soon find that riding is not near so trying on the muscles, and the ease with which the next level can be got over will always repay the effort. A common mistake made by novices is in attempting to ride the bicycle up hill with their hands instead of with their feet. In other words, they use their strength in sitting up straight and attempting to lift on the handle bars. As a natural result they are lifting against themselves, practically the same as the man in the old story who attempted to lift himself by his boot straps.

"To climb a hill with the least effort the rider should sit well back, and leaning well forward in the cramped position so much objected to by critics, grasp the handle bars tightly and pedal steadily. With a little practice the hills met with in ordinary travel can readily be climbed. Of course judgment must be used, and if the wheelmen is riding in a particularly hilly country an occasional dismount and walk will relieve the muscles, which are apt to become tired from over-exertion in the climbs."

The postponed games of the Union County Roadsters and Rahway Athletic Association were held Saturday afternoon in Rahway. The track was somewhat "sticky" owing to the rain. The riders, however, are accustomed to the track will one of the finest in the State. The races were under the management of H. F. Calhoun, with Assistants A. H. Chamberlain and R. H. Mooney. The judges were F. C. Gilbert, E. W.; Walther Lantgen, C. D.; W. H. Hedges, Chirk, R. M. C. L. The winners were: First event, A. E. Lennyer; second, W. H. Calhoun; third, R. W. Thompson; fourth, W. J. Mooney; fifth (wrestling match), Blackford; sixth (wheelmen), Charles Brown; seventh, A. E. Lennyer; eighth (safety handicap), W. J. Mooney; ninth, F. Collins; tenth (safety handicap), F. W. Fithian; eleventh (safety handicap), James Blake.

A large number of wheelmen from Westfield, Elizabeth, Cranford and other places will come to this city Friday night to assist in the parade in "ratification meeting" the enactment by the Council of the ordinance in relation to carrying lighted lamps on bicycles and the ringing of a bell or sounding a whistle when approaching a vehicle or pedestrian. They propose to show the people of Plainfield what a racket a belleaved wheelman can make when they are let loose.

STATE NEWS

The Monmouth Park grounds have been adorned with one wreath of flowers.

A Westfield girl has curly hair on one side of her head and straight on the other.

The roller skating fever has just struck Bridgeton, and a big rink building is being erected.

The proposed street railway at Red Bank is dead. The interested parties could not secure the right of way.

Mary Medgat, of Passaic, was taken to Morristown jail on a charge of arson preferred by her husband. She has been driven mad by the persecutions of two rival neighbors, who have had her arrested on charges which, she contends, are false. Her husband has brought a New York lawyer to defend her. The case excites much interest.

"Better wear out than rust out"—True. But by using

HORNBY'S

H-O

OAT-FOOD

you wear out only at the proper rate of speed.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

TAUNTON.—In Music Hall, Plainfield, June 9, 1892, Margaret A., wife of George Taunton, aged 61 years. Funeral services at her late residence, 1 Grant street, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE.

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Six Varieties.)

Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

THE DOANE & VAN ARSDALE

$3 Welt Shoe,

Paris, New York and Globe Toes. Widths B, C, D & E.

Best in the World for the Money.

22 West Front Street.

P. S.—Time to buy Russet Shoes.

25 ! OUR NEW COTTON

Suede perfect fitting Gloves at 25c. excel all others at the price. They come in all the new Summer shades. Our silk gloves at 50c are superior to those usually sold at that price. Our glove department is just brim full of good things.

Dr. Warner's "Featherbone" corsets we sell at 50c., the best for the money in market. We keep an immense assortment of Dress Stuffs—the "Lily" takes the lead.

DRESS LAWNS is something new and very pretty too, only 12c. per yard. Print de Bretagne lace in half yard widths, 25c. We have clothing some more bargains. These are no empty new and pretty things, which are very cheap in price, if our store now, that we can't find room for them. Come in and see for yourself. Undoubtedly we have the largest and most desirable line on this side of New York, and sell the cheapest. A large New York house advertises goods starting at 25c. per yard, as a big bargain—our price for same goods per yard 19c. Another 25c. per yard goods we sell at 15c. Our 10c. per yard hard to be matching is very.

They all say that if you want to get anything good and reliable and cheap, in the Dry and Fancy Goods line you will be sure to get it at

EDSALL'S!

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,

OF PLAINFIELD.

Firm of

RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY,

Importers and Tailors,

231 Broadway, New York.

Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring.

Moderate Prices.

25 1m*

Music Hall, Thursday, June 9th.

RUSSELL, DENNIS and SANFORD'S COMEDY COMPANY.

In their Laughing Success,

MRS. CASEY'S MISHAPS.

A Summer night's frolic. Prices—50, 35 and 25 cents. Seats on sale at Central Pharmacy.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

A HARRISON LETTER.

The President will Withdraw Unless he is Nominated on the First Ballot.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 6. (Special.)—Senator Carlton has received the following letter from the President:

"Dear Sir: In case I am not nominated on the first ballot, you will please withdraw my name from the convention.

Yours truly,

"BENJAMIN HARRISON."

THE CHOLERA IN PERSIA.

$600,000 the Harrisons Sufferers—A Destructive Fire in Russia.

LONDON, June 6th. (Special.)—Advices from Meshed, Persia, indicate that the ravages of cholera do not abate.

The British Government proposed to expend $600,000 to repatriate the ravages of the Mauritius hurricane.

A fire in Kovno, Russia, has destroyed 200 houses, depriving 2,000 persons of their homes.

Latest News from Titusville.

TITUSVILLE, June 6th. (Special.)—The Queen City Tannery of L. Beebe & Sons caught fire and end danger threatens the entire district.

SUMMER TOURS.

The Latest Publication of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The first of June is a date looked forward to by the thousands who make their preliminary plans for the most enjoyable season's outing. This year the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which regularly opened the way for the excursion book issued yearly by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which regularly opened the way for the excursion books

EDITORIAL NOTES

When a young man and woman among the tribes on the Orinoco wish to marry, all they have to do is to set up housekeeping together. An awful lot of bother is saved here.

Of articles which Guatemala will admit free of duty from the United States under the reciprocity act the principal are railroad and electric lighting machinery and materials, live stock of all kinds, corn, agricultural machinery and wire fencing.

Berlin is the one great city that has solved the problem of utilizing sewage. The sewage is spread upon adjacent farms belonging to the city. The sewage is distributed to the land by means of underground cast iron pipes. A system of purification has been adopted that is perfect; at the same time the ammoniacal substances which the land most wants are fed to it. The demand for the sewage fertilization increases among private farmers. Tramps and vagrants are made to do the work on the municipal sewage farms.

If you want to help humanity and leave something to show that you deserved to live, look about and see what you can best do in your circumstances in the line of aid, not charity. Charity is no help. The field is wide before you. Single out the one or two lines along which you can work to some purpose, and stick to them. Follow them as long as you live, and do not let yourself be drawn away. So shall you leave an enduring monument of good to the race, and not fritter your powers away on a dozen different enterprises. Concentrate in work, play and benevolence.

"Healthy surroundings, contentment and active, temperate and regular habits are most valuable aids to reaching hale and happy old age," says the London Lancet. The Lancet instances as an illustration of this a Scotch Highlander, Hugh Macleod, who has reached the age of 107. He has always led an active, outdoor life, working regularly, but not excessively. He continues this working in his extreme old age. He subsists chiefly on fish and oatmeal porridge, with occasionally a little meat. His food has always been very simple. Gladstone also has learned that simple food, and not too much of it, is the thing.

Mysterious Nickel Mines.

Some time ago a mining prospector sent to the United States geological survey some specimens of nickel ore that he had found in Oregon, just where does not appear. The pieces of ore seem like half rounded pebbles washed down and ground together by the action of water. They had been at first supposed to be meteorites and of no particular value. But it was found that they were scattered in great quantities over the bed where the prospector had discovered them. More specimens were tested and found to be 62 per cent. pure nickel, the rest being iron, except 10 per cent. of stony matter.

Afterward a government mining engineer examined the bed whence the specimens had been taken. Nickel is found to some extent in the Lake Huron and Superior region, also in several localities in Pennsylvania, in Cornwall, England, and in Spain. These are the main sources whence the world's supply is drawn. The impression conveyed to the geologists who examined the nickel bed was that the pebblelike bits of ore had been broken off from some great mass or vein of nickel rock and washed down by torrent and current into the bed in which the prospector found them. But where is this mass of nickel bearing ore? That is the quest of some future prospector.

Polenta.

The word has a better sound than mush, but mush it is; that is the foundation of it. The American in Europe has observed that in Italy most toothsome dishes are made from cornmeal in a way that is quite new to him. The cornmeal is boiled thoroughly, just as we make mush, but after it is boiled it is seasoned with tomatoes, chopped onions fried in oil, a pinch of cinnamon, etc., till the taste of it is a revelation of the possibilities of cornmeal.

Here is one way in which the Italian chef prepares polenta:

Make a fry of olive oil and onions; add to it tomato juice or preserved tomatoes. Salt as much as you find necessary, and when hot pour it upon the fry. Continue to heat it until it boils and then drop in cornmeal, letting it fall little by little while you stir it with a ladle, so that it may not form lumps. For a quart of water a quarter of a pound of meal will suffice. As soon as the polenta is cooked, dish it up and serve with grated cheese.

Some of the Italian cooks put equal parts of cornmeal and wheat flour into the polenta, seasoning it in the highly spiced way dear to the son of Italy. Perhaps, however, one of the best methods of preparing a grand dish out of this humble material is that into which a good baking enters. Here is such a dish:

Put two ounces of yellow meal to boil in three quarts of milk, with a little pinch of salt. When the polenta is half cooked, remove it from the fire, and add six yolks of eggs, one beaten, with a pinch of powdered cinnamon. Add besides an ounce of butter and half an ounce of powdered crackers. Work the whole into a paste, put it into a buttered dish and bake in a hot oven. As soon as the surface has taken on a golden color, serve it on the table.

Pass the polenta.

FLAME AND FLOOD

Titusville and Oil City Devastated by Both.

SCORES OF PEOPLE DEAD.

Drowned or Burned by Sons of Blazing Oil.

A Great Dam Bursts Above Titusville and the City Is Flooded by an Avalanche of Water That Sweeps Down Upon It as the Deadly Waters Swept Through Ill Fated Johnstown—Refineries and Oil Tanks Catch Fire and the Great Expanse of Water Becomes an Ocean of Flame—Over Fifty People Drowned or Burned—At Oil City a Whole Section Is Suddenly Inundated by Fire and Flood, and It Is Believed a Hundred People Are Lost.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., June 6.—Titusville partly shared the awful fate of Johnstown Friday. Flood and fire have been done their deadly work and fully fifty people were drowned or burned to death. The loss by destruction of property will aggregate fully $1,500,000. All this loss is in this city, and the surrounding country has also been devastated. Early Sunday morning the huge millstone dam, owned by Elkins and located at the little town of Spartansburg, seven miles above this city, suddenly burst. This body of artificial water was a mile and a half long and one-fourth of a mile in width and quite deep, and the great flood that followed in the narrow valley, in the course of only a few brief moments, a roaring Amazon. The sudden avalanche of water descended when most of the inhabitants were sleeping, completely and at once shut them off from the higher portions of the city.

The fire before of the boilers at the city water and electric light works were quickly flooded, thus throwing the city into almost total darkness and rendering the hydrants at once useless for fire purposes, but no one imagined that fire was to add to the horror.

Fire Follows Flood.

At 2 o'clock a. m. a dull heavy explosion was heard and immediately a heavy streak of lurid flame fully 300 feet in height pierced the inky darkness and threw a glaring light over the vast expanse of angry water. At once the cry rang out from a thousand throats that the Crescent Oil refinery was on fire. Never before did a fire seem to spread so rapidly and in less than three minutes from the time the explosion was heard the vast plant was one sheet of seething flames.

Then it was that terror reigned supreme. Thousands of people rushed pell mell through the streets, tumbling over and knocking each other down in their aimless endeavors to escape from what they appeared to imagine was the crack of doom. The bright light revealed a truly appalling sight. On the roofs and in the windows of the upper stories of most of the houses in the flooded districts appeared men, women and children in their night robes, and all piteously appealing for help.

Oil creek, now swollen to 500 times its natural size and reaching from one hillside to the other, presented an appalling picture. Floating swiftly by on its bosom were all sorts of ominous and inanimate objects—tanks, stills with the steam in them and blowing off, horses, barns, horses and cows and clinging to various objects were scores of human beings, their terror stricken countenances gleaming white in the vivid light.

A Veritable Sea of Fire.

About one hour from the time the Crescent works caught, oil discharged from an overturned tank further up the creek reached the Crescent fire, when it at once ignited and in a moment the creek was one vast sea of fire. This blaze spread to the International Oil works, owned by J. P. Thomas & Co., and they were soon in a blaze. Then came the large refining plant and supplementary of Rice & Robinson, which the flames in a short time reached and consumed. Onward the fire, destroying the Oil Creek refinery and wax plant, the large furniture factory, store and storeroom of Casperson & Rowe, on South Franklin street, the Cullen hotel, the Western New York and Pennsylvania freight depot, and about seventy-five private dwellings.

No tongue, no pen, no language can do justice to the scene of terror and confusion that prevailed in this stricken city as the sun went down on Sunday night. The illuminating gas works, the electric light plants, the city water works were all under water, while the natural gas mains had been turned off at Oil City. The left Titusville without water, fuel or light, at least from the sources from which these necessities have been accustomed to come. Panics and children stood by without the power to aid one another's struggles against the clutches of the flood, until eventually they went down to rise no more. As sad as sickening scenes as ever transpired in the valley of the Courtaugh three years ago were repeated here, while thousands looked on unable to avert them.

Lost Wife and Seven Children.

One father is a maniac over the loss of his whole family, a wife and seven children, one a babe three days old. A brother was rescued from a burning building, where he was forced to leave a sister, brother-in-law and two children to perish. Many are the fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers wandering aimlessly in search of missing ones, who in all probability will never again be heard of.

Brave men with ropes tied about their waists breasted the terrible current rescuing the unfortunates, who for hours had clung to wreckage, patiently awaiting their turn. A little four-year-old boy was placed in the hands of friends. When asked where his parents were, replied with a sob, "Papa and mamma both drowned." Fully seventy-five people are yet unaccounted for. It is an impossibility, however, to give at this time accurate figures of the loss of life. Fully 2,000 people saw five strong men perish together. Holding to a piece of timber they were struggling to make the shore, and as they neared out for a grasp at the bank a neighboring oil tank exploded, the river of burning oil enveloping the men. Death ended their struggles.

A mother with her babe clasped to her breast with one hand, while with the other she clung to a piece of plank, drifted with great force directly toward the D. A. V. & P. depot, around which the water was rushing furiously. A large hole had been worked under the eastern platform of the station, as the mother and babe reached this point the station drew them in and they disappeared to nevermore appear alive.

The entire business portion of Pithole and McClintockville were turned into temporary morgues. With the exception of the bodies of seven Hebrews and two children, all of the bodies so far recovered have been identified here. Many of the victims met death by burning oil, and their bodies are turned almost beyond recognition.

List of the Dead.

The list now actually found and known to be dead is as follows:

William Cuppey, Fred Reide, Mrs. Mary Heahn, Maude Heahn, Gertie Heahn, Clara Heahn, Peter Heahn, Mrs. Fred Campbell and two children; Oliver Edgar, Jos Spiegale and two children; Frank Whalen, wife and child; F. Lemeree, Nellie Quinn, Mrs. Furnish and daughter; Mrs. Frank A. Jacobs, Delia Rice, Mrs. Engitsky and child; Mrs. Jacobs and child; Goldie Cohn, eleven years old; Mrs. Jacob Slingsbeiter and seven children; Mrs. C. F. Cooper, Mrs. P. Quinn, Maude Quinn, John M. McFadden and an unknown man. The dead already recovered number over forty.

One Hundred Dead at Oil City.

OIL CITY, Pa., June 6.—Flood and fire laid waste large sections of this city and a fearful loss of life has resulted. The wildest stories of its magnitude are afloat. Fifty persons have been burned or drowned and the number may exceed 100. A territory of at least forty acres along Oil creek is burned or flooded or both. In addition to those dead a large number are injured and probably a thousand people are homeless. The fire started in this city at 1:30 a. m. Sunday with an explosion of naphtha and oil on the surface of Oil creek. The people of the city were apprised of the Titusville calamity and the whole town was out watching the rising of the waters.

The entire upper end of Oil City on both sides of the creek was under water at the time of the explosion, which caused the awful conflagration. The town consists of four principal parts. The south side is on the opposite side of the Allegheny river and at this time in danger. At the acute angle formed by the confluence of Oil creek and the Allegheny river lies the business section of the city, and across Oil creek and on down the west bank of the Allegheny is the Third ward, which is the district entirely burned. Cottage hill, the high ground of the city, lies back of the business section between the two streams. It is there the oil refineries and a great many residences are located, and several huge oil tanks there are burning. There is considerable peril for what is left of the city from a number of tanks bursting and blazing oil streaming down the creek.

Many Stampede for Life.

Thousands of people were gazing upon Oil creek when the fire started. A thick coating of oil, presumably from bursted tanks in the upper end of Titusville, covered the surface of the creek. Floating along were three tanks of naphtha. The sun was shining hot, and caused a vapor of oil fumes to rise from the surface of the creek. Several thousand people seemed to simultaneously recognize their peril, and just as they began to move the calamity came. It is believed that a spark from an engine on the Western New York and Pennsylvania railroad ignited the gases, which could be seen plainly in the air about twenty feet above the surface of the creek.

Eyewitnesses say sheets of flames and volumes of smoke shot upward to a height of 100 feet in the vicinity of Rice & Robinson's Oil creek. In two minutes the fire had spread up and down the stream for over two miles. In less than ten minutes between 200 and 300 buildings were in flames. The thousands of witnesses were thrown into a state of the wildest panic. Men, women and children ran through the streets screaming and knocking each other to be conducted to a place of safety. Men forgot that they were men, and scores of men, women and children were knocked down and trampled upon both by horses and people in the mad flight for places of safety.

Burned to Death in the Streets.

Clouds of smoke obscured everything. When the darkness was most dense, three frightful explosions in succession shook the very earth. These were the floating naphtha tanks in the creek. It was then evident that the whole of the Third ward and a large number of buildings on both sides of the creek farther up were doomed. Lower down there the buildings were above the water's surface, the fire was swept directly in among them. Many of the persons who lost their lives were overtaken in the streets as they fled for safety. An almost perpendicular wall of stone hemmed the victims in on one side, the river on the other, the devouring flames at their rear. Others were caught in their houses and many were drowned. One rescuing party with a large skiffload of persons, taken from flooded dwellings, was capsized by the blazing oil and all perished. Four of a party who stood on the Western New York and Pennsylvania railroad bridge are known to be dead.

LADY FAIR MANAGERS.

Twenty-one of Them Named for New York State.

ALBANY, June 6.—The board of managers for the state of New York at the Chicago Columbian Exposition in number, has just been made public. Their duty is to secure for the fair a portrayal of the social, industrial and educational condition of women, and they have been appropriated $25,000. The managers from New York city are Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mrs. Gerret Smith, Mrs. Peter B. Sidney, Mrs. Isaacs Howard, (colored); Mrs. Oscar S. Straus, Mrs. E. V. H. Waddington.

The Brooklyn women are Mrs. Frederick Bellamy and Mrs. M. D. Munn. The other managers are Mrs. Erastus Corning, of Albany; Miss Caroline R. Dennis, of Auburn; Miss Maria M. Love, of Buffalo; Miss Elizabeth T. Sinclair, of Canandaigua-the-Hudson; Miss Frances Todd Patterson, of Westfield; Mrs. Leslie Pell Clark, of Springfield Center; Mrs. Dora Sage, of Menands; Mrs. Charles F. Goddard, of Utica; Mrs. H. Walter Webb, of Riverdale; Mrs. Andrew D. White, of Ithaca and Mrs. Howard G. White, of Syracuse.

Port Jervis Lynchers Denounced.

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., June 6.—Rev. W. H. Hulsart and Rev. A. Vanemon denounced the recent lynching most severely from their pulpits, Mr. Hulsart especially, who was one of the few who attempted actively to prevent the hanging of the negro. He was committed in his denunciation, pronouncing all who assisted murderers, and those who looked on almost as bad.

Suicide for Seven Dollars.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Maurice Hoffman, clothier, an employe of Hunter bros., died with his coffee in Elliott's restaurant, 105 Bowery. He will die. He had secured $7 from an uncle on false pretenses.

Sunday Cars at Asbury Park.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 6. The cars of the Seashore Electric Railway company began to run all day Sunday in spite of the opposition of the clergymen and a large number of the church members.

BLAINE OR HARRISON.

That Is What Mr. Blaine's Resignation Means.

ONLY TWO MEN IN THE RACE

But a Dark Horse May Appear at Minneapolis.

The Brief Correspondence Between Secretary Blaine and President Harrison Which Made the Plumed Knight a Private Citizen Again—Secretary Elkins Declares That Mr. Blaine Would Not Accept a Nomination Even If He Could Get It, and Predicts Mr. Harrison's Renomination—John Sherman Desires to See the President Run Again—Mr. Blaine Explains Why He Left the State Department.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The one topic of conversation continues to be the severance of the official relations of Secretary Blaine with the administration of President Harrison. Since the announcement of the talk in all groups on the streets and in the hotel corridors and about Newspaper row. The opinion seems to be almost unanimous that Mr. Blaine is in the race to the end, but there seems to have been a slight reaction and the whole town was out watching the rising of the waters.

The entire upper end of Oil City on both sides of the creek was under water at the time of the explosion, which caused the awful conflagration. The town consists of four principal parts. The south side is on the opposite side of the Allegheny river and at this time in danger. At the acute angle formed by the confluence of Oil creek and the Allegheny river lies the business section of the city, and across Oil creek and on down the west bank of the Allegheny is the Third ward, which is the district entirely burned. Cottage hill, the high ground of the city, lies back of the business section between the two streams. It is there the oil refineries and a great many residences are located, and several huge oil tanks there are burning. There is considerable peril for what is left of the city from a number of tanks bursting and blazing oil streaming down the creek.

May Stampede for Life.

Thousands of people were gazing upon Oil creek when the fire started. A thick coating of oil, presumably from bursted tanks in the upper end of Titusville, covered the surface of the creek. Floating along were three tanks of naphtha. The sun was shining hot, and caused a vapor of oil fumes to rise from the surface of the creek. Several thousand people seemed to simultaneously recognize their peril, and just as they began to move the calamity came. It is believed that a spark from an engine on the Western New York and Pennsylvania railroad ignited the gases, which could be seen plainly in the air about twenty feet above the surface of the creek.

Eyewitnesses say sheets of flames and volumes of smoke shot upward to a height of 100 feet in the vicinity of Rice & Robinson's Oil creek. In two minutes the fire had spread up and down the stream for over two miles. In less than ten minutes between 200 and 300 buildings were in flames. The thousands of witnesses were thrown into a state of the wildest panic. Men, women and children ran through the streets screaming and knocking each other to be conducted to a place of safety. Men forgot that they were men, and scores of men, women and children were knocked down and trampled upon both by horses and people in the mad flight for places of safety.

Burned to Death in the Streets.

Clouds of smoke obscured everything. When the darkness was most dense, three frightful explosions in succession shook the very earth. These were the floating naphtha tanks in the creek. It was then evident that the whole of the Third ward and a large number of buildings on both sides of the creek farther up were doomed. Lower down there the buildings were above the water's surface, the fire was swept directly in among them. Many of the persons who lost their lives were overtaken in the streets as they fled for safety. An almost perpendicular wall of stone hemmed the victims in on one side, the river on the other, the devouring flames at their rear. Others were caught in their houses and many were drowned. One rescuing party with a large skiffload of persons, taken from flooded dwellings, was capsized by the blazing oil and all perished. Four of a party who stood on the Western New York and Pennsylvania railroad bridge are known to be dead.

LADY FAIR MANAGERS.

Twenty-one of Them Named for New York State.

ALBANY, June 6.—The board of managers for the state of New York at the Chicago Columbian Exposition in number. The appointments have just been made public. Their duty is to secure for the fair a portrayal of the social, industrial and educational condition of women, and they have been appropriated $25,000. The managers from New York city are Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Mrs. Gerret Smith, Mrs. Peter B. Sidney, Mrs. Isaacs Howard, (colored); Mrs. Oscar S. Straus, Mrs. E. V. H. Waddington.

The Brooklyn women are Mrs. Frederick Bellamy and Mrs. M. D. Munn. The other managers are Mrs. Erastus Corning, of Albany; Miss Caroline R. Dennis, of Auburn; Miss Maria M. Love, of Buffalo; Miss Elizabeth T. Sinclair, of Canandaigua-the-Hudson; Miss Frances Todd Patterson, of Westfield; Mrs. Leslie Pell Clark, of Springfield Center; Mrs. Dora Sage, of Menands; Mrs. Charles F. Goddard, of Utica; Mrs. H. Walter Webb, of Riverdale; Mrs. Andrew D. White, of Ithaca and Mrs. Howard G. White, of Syracuse.

Port Jervis Lynchers Denounced.

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., June 6.—Rev. W. H. Hulsart and Rev. A. Vanemon denounced the recent lynching most severely from their pulpits, Mr. Hulsart especially, who was one of the few who attempted actively to prevent the hanging of the negro. He was committed in his denunciation, pronouncing all who assisted murderers, and those who looked on almost as bad.

Suicide for Seven Dollars.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Maurice Hoffman, clothier, an employe of Hunter bros., died with his coffee in Elliott's restaurant, 105 Bowery. He will die. He had secured $7 from an uncle on false pretenses.

Sunday Cars at Asbury Park.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 6. The cars of the Seashore Electric Railway company began to run all day Sunday in spite of the opposition of the clergymen and a large number of the church members.

The President Will Fight.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The Post says: "The Post representative called at the White House to inquire as to the authenticity of a rumor which had been current about town that in consequence of Mr. Blaine's evident aspirations to the presidential chair and the manifest opposition to himself, Mr. Harrison would withdraw his name from consideration by the Minneapolis convention in the interests of peace in the party.

"Private Secretary Halford received the rumor with undisguised scorn. 'There is nothing in it,' said he, 'President Harrison is not that kind of a man.' His emphasis leaves little room to doubt clearly that the administration men are in the fight to the end. Beyond this he had nothing to say, and merely reiterated the president's declaration that he contemplated making Secretary Blaine's conduct in the affair."

Foster Says It Injures Blaine.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Secretary of the Treasury Foster told a reporter that the administration was perfectly satisfied at the turn of affairs. "And," continued the secretary, "I think Mr. Blaine's action has injured him rather than benefited him."

Chauncey Fosdick Harrison.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Senator Sherman after discussing the political outlook at some length, said with emphasis that he assumed that the president would be renominated notwithstanding the resignation of Mr. Blaine, and he hoped that would be the decision of the convention.

Foster Says It Injures Blaine.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Secretary of the Treasury Foster told a reporter that the administration was perfectly satisfied at the turn of affairs. "And," continued the secretary, "I think Mr. Blaine's action has injured him rather than benefited him."

Chauncey Fosdick Harrison.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Senator Sherman after discussing the political outlook at some length, said with emphasis that he assumed that the president would be renominated notwithstanding the resignation of Mr. Blaine, and he hoped that would be the decision of the convention.

The Ex-Secretary's Reasons.

When asked for the reasons that prompted him to resign Mr. Blaine said that he had reason to believe that he was regarded with distrust by friends of the administration. Manifestations of suspicion met him on every hand. Even members of his associates in the cabinet he was not free from this feeling of reproach. Then his name, Mr. Blaine said, was persistently under discussion with regard to the nomination for the presidency. Statements were in circulation that he was secretly working against Mr. Harrison in the matter of accepting, which were worried and annoyed him. Finally, to avoid any misconception of his motive and his purpose, he had decided to resign. Now he is free to enjoy the rights of a private citizen. His resignation, Mr. Blaine said, was not brought about by the nearness of the convention nor would his action be affected by it.

Of course the announcement that Secretary Blaine had offered his resignation and that it had been accepted by the president produced a profound sensation as well as universal surprise in Washington.

Does it mean that Secretary Blaine has retired from candidature for the presidential nomination, and therefore feels it proper and necessary to retire from the cabinet in order to relieve his friends and supporters, as well as the president and himself, from embarrassment? How will it affect President Harrison's prospects for a renomination, as well as his own chances, if he has decided to be a candidate? These and other similar questions were asked excitedly, and the news stopped all business in the house. Secretary Elkins reiterated with emphasis his opinion that President Harrison will be nominated on the first ballot and without serious opposition. Numerous Republican congressmen are of the opinion that Mr. Blaine's retirement can only mean that he is ready to accept the presidential nomination.

The President Dumfied.

President Harrison looked cool and untroubled Sunday as he left the White House on his way to attend services at the church of the Covenant. The president was alone and he went to the church on foot. He wore a high silk hat and sheltered his head from the blazing rays of the sun with an umbrella. Seated in the Harrison pew, the president witnessed the baptism of a number of children and gave an attentive ear to the words of the minister. After service the president joined the throng of people returning from church and walked down Connecticut avenue toward the White House unattended. Many persons turned to look at the solitary figure of the chief magistrate, but there was no rude curiosity displayed. At the White House he found Private Secretary Halford, and they were soon joined by Secretaries Elkins and Foster. They held an earnest conference for some time. Later in the day Secretary Rusk called, and Russell Harrison brought in Judge Peters, of Indiana.

While the president was at church ex-Secretary Blaine and Mrs. Blaine were driven out for a constitutional. Soon after Mr. Blaine and his wife returned to their residence Senator Chandler called and had a long and earnest conversation with Mr. Blaine. Mr. Chandler seemed excited and walked up and down the room, making quick, nervous gestures. "We did not talk politics," said the senator, as he came out of the Blaine house. "Mr. Blaine looked in the best of health." During the afternoon Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British minister, and a number of other members of the diplomatic corps left their cards at the Blaine mansion.

Who Will Succeed Mr. Blaine?

Gossip is rife as to who will succeed Mr. Blaine as secretary of state, and much speculation is being indulged in. There are yet nine months for whoever is appointed to serve as secretary of state. The position requires more than an ordinary politician out of a job to fill it, and at this time especially, when the Chilean negotiations is progressing, the Behring sea arbitration in prospect, and

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Dislodge Bile,
Stir up the Liver,
Cure Sick-Headache,
Female Ailments,
Remove Disease and Promote Good Health.

Covered with a Tasteless & Soluble Coating.

Famous the world over.

Ask for Beecham's and take no others. Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box. New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

FRED. W. DUNN,
Successor to
Barkalew & Dunn,
18 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.
Fine Groceries.
THREE BEE TEA

Miss Blanche Fellows
VOCALIST
and Teacher of Singing.
Rapid development and complete education of the voice.
Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formation and tone production.
Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.
Call or address
NO. 87 DUER STREET.

A Point Worthy of Attention.
Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both
GOOD and CHEAP.
the place for that is at
VOGELER'S,
17 West Front Street

Having Disposed of the Produce Business
Plainfield Produce Co.
are requested to make prompt settlement.
The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.
We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices
A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E RIDER, Manager.

WHY IS THIS?
Three years ago the Duluth Imperial Mills made 800 barrels of flour a day.
Now they make 6000 barrels daily.
This is because a barrel of Imperial makes
18 to 20 More Loaves
of bread than any other flour, and the quality is the BEST. Order a barrel or bag of your grocer and satisfy yourself.
FRENCH BROS.,
CITY MILLS,
Telephone No. 24. Nos. 8, 10 and 12 Somerset street.

LOOK AT THIS!
At No. 57 Somerset street, second-hand furniture is Bought and Sold. Secure a bargain.
G. R. MUSGRAVE, Proprietor.

PIPTONIZED Beef, Iron and Wine
50c.
Per Pint Bottle,
at
WILLIAMS'

Do You Smoke?
The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of Meerschaum
and
Briar Wood Pipes,
Holders and Cigars can be found only at
N. H. Guttman's
Sugar store, No. 12 West Second street.

A. M. SEGUINE,
Proprietor of
Laing's Hotel Stables,
on Front Street, Opp. Station Avenue.
TELEPHONE CALL NO. 36.
Coaches for weddings, funerals and private calls.
Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.
Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.
BOARDED HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!
ALL SIZES,
Of Same
Light Blue Color.
Inquire of
F. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor,
ROBT. A. HEEKER, Street Com.
Smalley Bros.,
24 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!
L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,
28 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,
Invites the public to inspect the quality of his newly added coal yard, where he will keep constantly on hand, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of handling.
ROUGH AND SCREENED LUMBER.
He would also announce recently increased facilities for Turning and Scroll Sawing, and is prepared to execute orders promptly and in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,
Dealer in BEST
QUALITY COAL
YARD AND OFFICE
SOUTH AVENUE,
P. O. BOX 1667.
Upper Lehigh and other choice coals constantly on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors at Law, Solicitors, Conveyancers, Masters in Chancery. Notaries Public. Rooms, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E.
Engineer of the Famous Union County Road System. Special attention given to street paving, grade and sewerage. Office, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON,
Attorney-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public. Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 20 West Front street.

CLARK & REID,
Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners of Deeds, Notaries in Chancery, Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CRANE MARSH,
Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Solicitor and Master in Chancery, Notary Public. Offices corner Front and Somerset streets.

OSCAR S. TEALE,
Architect, 207 Broadway, New York city, Plainfield Office and Trust Co. Building, Residence, Plainfield N. J.

PLAINFIELD
DOORLESS EXCAVATING CO.

JONES & CO.
Work quickly and thoroughly done. Terms reasonable. Our specialties are Excavating and Jobbing. Personal attention paid to satisfaction. Orders received at Park House, Manufacturers of and Dealers in Gravel, Sand and Fertilizers.
P. O. Box 1, Telephone call 78.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION
OF
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.
JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7:30 a. m., 12:30, 3:30, 5:25 p. m.
Close—7:30 and 10:30 a. m., 12:30, 4:30 and 11 p. m.
SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—8:30 a. m., 2:25, 6:30 p. m.
Close—8:30 a. m., 2:30 p. m.
Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 p. m.
SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 4:30 p. m.
E. R. POPE, P. M.

ALGER IS OUT OF IT NOW.

Report That His Name Will Not Be Presented.

WARNER MILLER FOR MR. BLAINE.

The New York Ex-Senator Declares That He Will Support the Maine Statesman. According to Estimates Blaine and Harrison Seem to Stand About Even.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 6.—Mr. Blaine is in and Mr. Alger is out. These two facts and the additional fact that the contest before the Republican convention will be one to the finish between President Harrison and Mr. Blaine alone are the all absorbing topics of discussion here among the delegates. Following the gigantic sensation caused by Secretary Rusk's resignation came the withdrawal of General Alger from the field as a possibility in any event. Senator Stockbridge announced to a reporter that General Alger's name would not be presented. Senator Stockbridge quoted General Alger as saying that he had gone into this contest honestly and with the sincere intention of making the best fight possible. He was a friend of Mr. Blaine and under the conditions that now existed he would withdraw from the field and not let his name go before the convention at all.

General Alger was further quoted as saying that he washed his hands of the whole business, and that he would take no part whatever in the nomination.

Chris Magee for Harrison.

Ever since the startling news of Secretary Blaine's resignation was flashed over the wires, this new move on the political checkerboard was the topic on every tongue. It made the Blaine men jubilant, but the friends of President Harrison were not by any means depressed. Chris Magee, the proprietor of the Pittsburg Times, and the leader of the anti-Quay Republicans in Pennsylvania, has joined the Harrison forces.

"The majority of the Pennsylvania delegation is for Blaine," said Mr. Magee. "There is undoubtedly a strong Blaine feeling in the state. I am for Harrison. I do not see yet how Mr. Blaine can be a candidate. Why, he told me only a short time ago that he would decline even an election because of the state of his health. There is no doubt that if Mr. Blaine would have the nomination and could have been elected if he had simply come out three months ago and said that he was a candidate—if he had written no letters. But four years ago, when he had written a letter just like his letter to Clarkson, he wrote another defining his position under that letter. That letter should define his position today."

The special train of the New York delegation to the national convention brought twenty of the regular delegates and about 100 other Empire state republicans. It was most emphatically a Blaine party. Delegates J. W. Patterson, Thomas Austin and E. H. Cable, Collector of Internal Revenue Representative James J. Belden, and Carroll E. Smith, editor of the Syracuse Journal, were the only Harrison men of prominence among the passengers.

To Tie Up Depew.

It is stated that it is the intention to elect Chauncey M. Depew chairman of the New York delegation and then to pass a resolution requesting him not to present the name of Harrison. This will place Mr. Depew in a position of great embarrassment, but it is not likely that he will be deterred from his intention to work and talk for the renomination of the president.

How many of the other New York delegates will act with him is not certainly known. The latest estimate made by Delegate Parkhurst, of Bath, gives Blaine fifty votes and Harrison twenty-two. Parkhurst is a Blaine man.

Land Commissioner Carter is enthusiastic in his claims. He says: "Mr. Harrison will have 600 votes on the first ballot if the ballot is completed, but before the roll call is finished Mr. Harrison's nomination will be made by acclamation."

Other Harrison men claim over 500 votes.

Mr. Frank Hatton, editor of the Washington Post, sent to his paper a statement that gave to Blaine 391 votes and President Harrison 366, the remaining being in doubt. He stated that the 391 votes credited to Mr. Blaine were all from the northern states, and that if the Harrison line in the south remains intact the president would be nominated.

Blaine 468, Harrison 404.

A table that found considerable circulation in the hotel lobbies was credited to Mr. Rosewater, editor of the Omaha Bee. It gives Blaine 468, Harrison 404 and Alger 26.

Opinion as expressed in the lobbies is divided upon the question of a third candidate. That the fight between Harrison and Blaine will be a finish between these two was the view taken by the vastly greater number of people who expressed themselves, but there was considerable talk of a compromise candidate being selected. Those who were in favor of going for a third man did not explain how, with but two candidates in the field, such a condition of things could be brought about as would result in making a third one a possibility.

Warner Miller for Blaine.

A meeting of Blaine leaders and delegates was held, ex-Senator Platt being the only absentee of note. Warner Miller made a speech which aroused considerable enthusiasm, as he declared himself for Blaine. A poll of the New York delegation was circulated in the lobbies giving Blaine 53 and Harrison 19. It is said that the friends of Mr. Blaine have determined to put up the name of J. Sloat Fassett instead of John M. Langston for temporary chairman. Hon. John C. New says that General Porter will be temporary chairman of the convention.

At 1:30 the Columbia club, of Indianapolis came in. Behind a big drum, they marched 150 Indianians, wearing yellow linen dusters and the pearl colored felt hat which one or two of the active Harrison workers have made familiar about the hotels for several days. Each man had Harrison badges pinned across his chest. As the columns turned into the West hotel some one asked what was "the matter with Harrison," and the Columbia club with one voice assured the inquirer and the general public that Harrison was all right.

Shortly after lunch the train bearing the Pennsylvania delegates and shouters for Blaine arrived, and with canes uplifted, bearing lithographs of the Maine statesman, they shouted in unison:

"Tin, tin, American tin; Ben goes out and Jim goes in!"

This they repeated until worn out, and then they retired to give the next comers a chance. The most important arrivals of the forenoon was a delegation of about fifty from California who were shouting for Blaine, and enthusiasm reached a high pitch when they marched into the lobby of the hotel.

Murat Halstead was seen by a reporter.

"Well," he said, "as near as I can get at it, there are a trifle under 400 votes sure for Harrison and about the same number for Blaine, leaving about 125 whose preference are undecided or unknown. These will determine the result of the contest, and I think they will not nominate either of the men who are prominently before the people today, and will support a third man.

Governor Mellette, of South Dakota, one of the leaders of the Harrison forces expressed himself as perfectly satisfied with the situation. "I think it looks better," he said, "now than at any time since I reached Minneapolis. The ranks of the Harrison men are unbroken, and stand firm. We have no cause whatever to be discouraged or disturbed."

The Platforms.

Hon. Chauncey M. Depew was asked to give his views upon the platform. He said: "There are two principal questions that will engage the attention of the convention first tariff and silver. I think there is absolutely no division among the delegates upon the tariff. The party is wholly committed to the doctrine and policy of protection and reciprocity. The platform in favor of protection and reciprocity.

"Reciprocity does not interfere or is not inconsistent with the theory of protection as maintained by the Republican party. Upon the question of silver I think there will be no difficulty in coming to an amicable agreement that will be satisfactory to all concerned. The resolutions will doubtless indorse partly the Sherman bill and declare for free coinage in case an agreement is reached by an international bimetallic conference upon a ratio of the two metals and free coinage becomes the policy of the commercial nations. Until that time the question of free coinage can be safely postponed, and when that agreement is reached the western part of the country will have no objection to make to the coinage of all the metal that can be produced."

There has been considerable speculation as to the attitude of ex-Senator Warner Miller and his friends in the New York delegations. He says: "I have found that a large majority of the New York delegates are decidedly in favor of Mr. Blaine as representing their constituents. I accept that as the views of the Republicans of the state of New York and I shall support Mr. Blaine in the convention."

Senator Quay says: "Governor Foraker will fairly and squarely put Mr. Blaine before the convention. How do I feel about it? Just the same as I have always felt—haven't the slightest doubt of his nomination. No, I do not care to give out figures." Dick Quay, the senator's son, was quite emphatic in his declaration. "There is nothing that can beat Blaine now—we've got 'em sure," was his way of putting it.

What Silver Men Will Ask.

Delegate B. Clarke Wheeler, of Aspen, Col., said that a conference would be held by the delegates from California, Idaho, Nevada, Washington, Montana and Colorado. "We silver men," he said, "propose to stand together in this convention. In the first place, we shall endeavor to secure the adoption of a liberal financial plank in the platform. In the next place, we shall exert ourselves to secure the nomination of Blaine. We do not want a candidate for president to howl for free silver; we will do enough of that. But we want a president who will sign a free coinage bill if one should be passed by both houses of congress. We believe that Mr. Blaine would consider it his duty to sign such a bill.

Congressman Charles A. Boutelle, of Maine, has reached here to join Mr. Manley in directing the Blaine forces. He told a United Press reporter that he bore no message from Mr. Blaine, "but," said he, "more is necessary."

"Five hundred 'Hawkeyes' are coming up from Iowa to shout for Allison," is one of the rumors current.

New Jersey for Harrison.

The New Jersey delegation, headed by General W. J. Sewell, has arrived. General Sewell stated to a United Press reporter that two of the twenty delegates were for Mr. Blaine but the other eighteen are for Mr. Harrison. General Sewell is the president's personal friend, and he is doing everything that he can to bring over the unpledged delegates from other states to the Harrison cause.

The old familiar cry of "Blaine. Blaine. James G. Blaine," is heard on every hand. Hon. P. C. Cheney, ex-governor of New Hampshire, is out with a statement in favor of Mr. Harrison's renomination.

The arrangements for the concert with which the hall is to be dedicated tonight have been completed. The chief orator of the occasion is Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, of New York. Hon. William McKinley, of Ohio, has promised to speak also.

He Gave an Engine House.

LITCHFIELD, CONN., June 6.—J. Deeming Perkins has given the Litchfield fire department one of the finest engine houses in the country and a brand new engine, costing $60,000.

THE BEE HIVE!

Summer Underwear.

Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.

Ladies' ribbed vests, in high neck, short sleeves and long sleeves, 25c.

Ladies' gauze vests, in short and long sleeves, 25c.

Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed, 15, 19, 25, 29, 33, 39, 45 and 50c.

Men's Balbriggan shirts, in long and short sleeves, and drawers at 25, 40 and 50c

Men's Summer Merino shirts and drawers, 38, 40 and 50c.

Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, 9c.

Children's Summer merino and gauze vests, in short and long sleeves also pantletts, sizes, 15, 19, 23, 26, 29, 33, 36, 39, 43, 46, 50c; 54, 58, 62, 66, 70, 74, 78, 82, 86, 90, 94, 98, 102, 106, 110, 114, 118, 122, 126, 130, 134, 138, 142, 146, 150, 154, 158, 162, 166, 170, 174, 178, 182, 186, 190, 194, 198, 202, 206, 210,

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

BARNYARD QUARRELS.

How the Big Cochin Accepted the Game-cock's Challenge to Fight.

The big Cochin rooster was the pride of the barnyard, but he was so conceited that the ordinary fowls would have nothing to do with him. Spiteful Mrs. Dominick said it was because he refused to hold any communications with them, on account of his fine airs and aristocratic blood. He certainly was not a favorite except among a few, but was always boasting of his superior acquaintances. One day the Game-cock challenged him to fight, while Bantam crowed with delight.

MONARCH OF ALL HE SURVEYS.

"A fight, a fight!" was echoed quickly through the barnyard, and when it was understood who were the combatants great was the excitement which prevailed.

Notwithstanding his airs, Cochin was a coward, and quickly ran from the fight when he said he would rather apologize than have a friend. So the fight was abandoned, and such was the indignation felt toward Cochin that all his friends deserted him except Mrs. Dominick and a Spanish hen with a huge topknot.

The Angry Duck.

They looked at him from off the bridge,
Those little maidens three,
"How strange," one said, and shook her head,
"It were a duck to be!"
So old to swim about like that,
A thing so plain and small;
Behuslin's like to be the same,
It is not clean at all!"
"Quack! Quack! Quack!" said the duck.

"I see you standing on the bridge,
You little children three,
And all you say is thrown away
Most certainly on me!
That is, so be a duck I live,
Yes, either tame or wild,
For what a sight, oh, what a fright
Is every human child!
Quack! Quack! Quack!" said the duck.

These little maids were much amazed,
And wondered, as they might,
And grew quite cross, as one has said:
"Indeed, dear duck, you're right!
That is, all-tough to children be
With our hasty proffer,
We have no right your lot to slight,
And bee your pardon, sir!"
"Quack! Quack! Quack!" said the duck.

The Fable of the Owls.

An old mother owl that had been out in the dim light of evening was returning home to its brood of five little owlets with a good supply of mice in its mouth and claws. The youngsters were all sitting in the nest hooting as they could as a welcome to their parent. "Hush, hush! my dears," cried the old bird as soon as she gave each one a share of the prey. "Do you know that the miserable noise you were making a little while ago would drive any sensible mouse miles away, and if you continue to make it we shall have to take up our abode elsewhere."

"Alas! mother," wailed the owlets, "we cannot utter any other sound, for they are the only ones we know, and remember we first learned them from you."

Moral—Example is better than precept.

Things Are Not What They Seem.

A lean, half starved cur stood curiously regarding a sleek, white, well fed pig coolly curled up in a pen of nice clean straw.

"Some folk get all the good things in this world I think," grumbled the cur. "Here is that great, fat, lazy pig fed on the best of everything—potatoes, corn, sweet milk, barley meal, and I know not what all—while I am kicked and cuffed, and have to pick up a meal anyhow."

"What's that you're saying about?" grunted the pig. "Go away, and let me sleep in peace."

And he turned himself over, and was soon snoring soundly.

"Dick!" cried the farmer out of the window, "be up tomorrow at 4 o'clock. We'll kill the white pig for Saturday's market, and a roast leg of pork won't come amiss for Sunday's dinner."

Next morning the cur was awakened early by strange sounds.

"Ah!" said he, as he shivered in his straw and sat up to listen: "I see now, they only fattened up poor piggy for their own sakes. Seeming good fortune may not be best for us after all. It is better to live poorly in security than to have all we want and be in constant danger."

Susie's Geography Class.

"First class in Jography, stand up and say
The chief towns of Turkey, from Bath to Dundee,
With Dover and Rome, Beachy Head and Pe-kin."

"FIRST CLASS IN JOGRAPHY."

"First class in Jography, tell, if you can,
The products of Peru and Spain and Mexico."
"Boot blacking, budgets and bilberry pies, Buttermilk and buttonhooks, bees and bullseyes."

"First class in Jography, what is a cape?"
"A little fur tippet of circular shape."
"Scholars, so well have you answered today,
You may leave all your lessons and go out to play!"

Rapid Photography.

Improvements in photographic plates have been so great that it is claimed that accurate photographs can now be taken of a rifle ball traveling at a speed of 3,000 feet a second.

Wooing and Growing a Baby.

In reply I must say, while the family is small, the best rooms are very properly used as nurseries. The sunniest is good, for it is directly under the mother's eye, the best heated and ventilated, and that makes a good excuse for preferring it for myself. The simple precautions that learned are not always attended to when the baby is left entirely to the nurse's care. Old custom lingers long in nursery matters—longest perhaps in the first traditional handling of infants, when the cry is considered the best way to be treated to.

The most "experienced nurse" has to be disregarded. Experience is often passed on for ignorance, for careless and a careful mother must have a fertile brain. Indeed, many of my best patrons would be mortally offended were I complimented their look for others. Although, as I before observed, Paris is the head and center of style, it is curious that their most fashionable babies are not French-women. There is in that city an English woman who has a great reputation and commands a fabulous salary for originating new styles in baby nursery."—Window Dresser.

Dangers of Eye Brightness.

Methods for beautifying the eyes have been in vogue from the earliest ages of fashion, and not a few resort to those which ultimately injure the organs and the general health. Atropine is a most dangerous drug for making the eyes look large and lustrous, but the continuous use of it so weakens and paralyzes the muscles that the eyes soon gradually lose all their brilliant lustre, claimed the widespread disease of weak eyes among women is largely due to the tampering with these organs, and nothing does more beautify that nature intended.

The extremes to which some will go in the matter is illustrated by an English woman, who was arrested in the streets of London for disorderly conduct. It transpired later that she was simply suffering from the acute effects of belladonna, which she had instilled into the eyes, in order to produce for a more fulfilling appearance. She was determined to be beautiful, and to accomplish the purpose she ran the risk of injuring her eyes for life.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The Ages of Famous Women.

Josephine was thirty-three when she married Napoleon, and, judging from the letters written by the absent husband during the early years of their union she is not at all clear whether he considered it the passion of really advanced age. I recalled my own childish impression of my mother, and the mothers of my little girl friends, realizing that I held the same opinion that my daughters did. When the children left the room I rolled the window shade way up to let a strong and unobstructed light fall on the mirror, and before I'd studied myself carefully. Alas! there was no mistaking for thirty-eastern countenance to the girl I gave thirty years ago. Until today I supposed I carried her face as I carry her heart and feelings. My children have grown to maturity, and I have been trying to adjust myself to this new attitude."—Her Point of View in New York Times.

Paris Bonnets Fixed Over.

Mme. M. E. McCormick, management of the millinery department of one of the largest dry goods houses in America, tells some interesting facts about the milliner's art. "Originality of design," said she "is everything, and in fact becomes necessary, for a hat just from Paris will sometimes need a finishing touch to entirely transform it. Its shape, too, the style will hold a bonnet in her hand, going into ecstacies over its beauty, and while tried on before the mirror finds many faults in it. But she will discover that the milliner's skill becomes valuable, for she hardly perceives the style of her bonnet changing to her own—or rather Paris'—in her hands. The skill of milliner fashion. American display excellent and sometimes superior taste in the arrangement of shapes and colors.

"It is a curious fact, too, that ladies will always want an exclusive style of hat, as you will by observation notice that rarely if ever you see two ladies with hats alike. The reason for this is the successful milliner must have a fertile brain. Indeed, many of my best patrons would be mortally offended were I complimented their look for others. Although, as I before observed, Paris is the head and center of style, it is curious that their most fashionable babies are not French-women. There is in that city an English woman who has a great reputation and commands a fabulous salary for originating new styles in millinery."—Window Dresser.

Dangers of Eye Brightness.

Methods for beautifying the eyes have been in vogue from the earliest ages of fashion, and not a few resort to those which ultimately injure the organs and the general health. Atropine is a most dangerous drug for making the eyes look large and lustrous, but the continuous use of it so weakens and paralyzes the muscles that the eyes soon gradually lose all their brilliant lustre, claimed the widespread disease of weak eyes among women is largely due to the tampering with these organs, and nothing does more beautify that nature intended.

The extremes to which some will go in the matter is illustrated by an English woman, who was arrested in the streets of London for disorderly conduct. It transpired later that she was simply suffering from the acute effects of belladonna, which she had instilled into the eyes, in order to produce for a more fulfilling appearance. She was determined to be beautiful, and to accomplish the purpose she ran the risk of injuring her eyes for life.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The Ages of Famous Women.

Josephine was thirty-three when she married Napoleon, and, judging from the letters written by the absent husband during the early years of their union she is not at all clear whether he considered it the passion of really advanced age. I recalled my own childish impression of my mother, and the mothers of my little girl friends, realizing that I held the same opinion that my daughters did. When the children left the room I rolled the window shade way up to let a strong and unobstructed light fall on the mirror, and before I studied myself carefully. Alas! there was no mistaking for thirty-eastern countenance to the girl I gave thirty years ago. Until today I supposed I carried her face as I carry her heart and feelings. My children have grown to maturity, and I have been trying to adjust myself to this new attitude."—Her Point of View in New York Times.

Paris Bonnets Fixed Over.

Mme. M. E. McCormick, management of the millinery department of one of the largest dry goods houses in America, tells some interesting facts about the milliner's art. "Originality of design," said she "is everything, and in fact becomes necessary, for a hat just from Paris will sometimes need a

GOOD HEALTH

THE PULSE IN HEALTH.

The Rate at Which It Beats at Different Periods of Life. Etc.

Every one should know something about the pulse, as it is a very important indication of the condition of the body in health or sickness, and is a valuable aid to the determining of a patient's condition in nearly all diseases. In order to know the condition of the pulse to disease it is necessary for us to examine it in health. The Medical Brief, therefore, gives the following information about the pulse in healthy persons:

The pulse in infants of the age of seven months beats from 120 to 160 at birth. It gradually diminishes until it reaches about ninety at the age of seven or eight years. In adult life it is sixty-five to seventy-five, and in old age not much over or sixty. Females have a somewhat more frequent pulse than males; the difference being from five or six beats. A difference of five to ten beats is made by changing from a lying position to sitting and from sitting to standing. By violent running the pulse may be increased to 150 or more.

The pulse is felt by placing the first two fingers upon the artery at the outside of the wrist, on the thumb side, and counting the beats. The force of the heart is determined by pressing with the second finger and noting how much force is required to compress the artery, so that the pulse cannot be felt by the first finger. The pulse may also be felt at the temple, the neck and in various other situations.

A Simple Sedative and Tonic.

Every woman knows the aching face and neck generally brought home from a hard day's shopping or calling, or from a round of calls and afternoon teas. She engages with intense dissatisfaction the heavy lines drawn around her eyes and mouth by the long streets on the faded appearance and when she must carry that worn countenance to some dinner party or evening amusement it robs her of all the pleasure to be had in it.

The sponge and hot water represent the latest remedy in vogue. Bathe the face in water as hot as it can possibly be borne, apply the sponge over and over again to the temples, throat and behind the ears, where most of the nerves and muscles of the head run, and then bathe the face in water running cold from the faucet. Color and smoothness of outline return to the face, an astonishing freshness and comfort results, and if followed by a nap of ten minutes all trace of fatigue vanishes.

Milk as Food.

For the many workers who have not yet learned its value the use of milk cannot be too often mentioned. The Health Journal says: "As the list of foods is run through for strength or beauty, milk comes first, as it furnishes all the elements necessary for life and growth. A bottle of sweet milk every day is the best and cheapest lunch a woman can have at home, in school, in the business office or workroom; it is all that a child needs, and there are thousands of scholars, business men and other brain workers who depend upon it every day of their busy lives."

A Cinder in the Eye.

A cinder in the eye may be a very serious affliction when lacrosse. One of the readiest cures for it is an "eye stone," to be found at drug stores, which can be carried in the pocket. Or one may borrow a friend's handkerchief, and by drawing a fold of these may be placed in the eye without injury; they thereby begin to swell and attach a glutinous substance that covers the cinder, and in withdrawing the cloth in accordance that may be in it; these must and irritant may be washed out.

ETIQUETTE

AN INVITATION.

The Open Reference as Well as the Key That Locks Society's Doors.

Many rules of etiquette take the negative form and "Don't" is the familiar to the ear of the young lady or gentleman. It is therefore with the pleasure which variety affords that one receives advice in a "What to do." On the subject of invitations we will be bold.

The invitation should be treated with respect. Its acceptance or non-acceptance should always be prompt and unfettered, and once should be taken that every duty of etiquette in regard to it be studied and carefully remembered by the young and old.

All invitations to dinners, receptions, balls, or to any affairs that take place in the afternoon or evening, should be engraved in good style in plain, clear script.

The length of time that is required for an invitation depends entirely on the importance of the event. For balls, dinners, teas and receptions two weeks is required the proper time. For weddings two weeks are allotted.

Invitations to dinner especially should be issued if there is any doubt as to the recipient's appearance on the day mentioned in the invitation, as the host or hostess has selected the guests. A regret sent at a late hour shows a lack of considération and admits of no excuse.

An invitation to dinner should be as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown request the pleasure of Mr. Alfred Gray's company at dinner Tuesday, January 26, at seven o'clock.

8 Gordon Street, January 21.

The form of acceptance should be:

Mr. Alfred Gray accepts with pleasure Mr. and Mrs. John Brown's kind invitation to dinner Tuesday, January 26.

Invitations to informal luncheons may be given verbally, when the hour should be distinctly stated, as luncheon as formally engaged at the time that suits the convenience of the family.

Invitations to house-out of town should be issued a fortnight or three weeks in advance in the post, and they should be sent several days in advance for the same reason.

Invitations to a wedding should be addressed to the parents of the party. They should be inclosed in a larger envelope and directed to the head of the house.

In invitations that are sent to friends and acquaintances for a visit of a number of days, the time should be specified exactly; that is, the day of their coming, the day of departure and the hour at which they are expected.

Invitations to all forms of entertainment can be sent to those in mourning. Attention at that time is always appreciated and most gratefully received.

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION. 1873. Membership 135,000. 1892. Death benefits paid over $20,000,000 since organization.

Plainfield Lodge, 321, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Thursdays, at Knights of Honor Lodge rooms, Miller-Hall Building.

Immediate relief, $100, sick benefits per week $5.

LOUIS I. VANALSTYNE, Dictator.
RALPH A. F—ST, Reporter.
Watchung Council, No. 34, second and fourth Mondays, at eight p. m.

Hotels.

Caspar's Hotel,

24 & 26 E. Front St

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Transient and Family Boarders taken at

Reasonable ‡ Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS

☞ First-class bar attached.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE.

Now open for the reception of guests under the management of Oswego and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.

City Hotel,

corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Kline's Extracts,
Pure Fruit Flavors.

ONLY FIVE CENTS A COPY.

Standard Sheet Music, vocal and instrumental, 2,000 different pieces to select from. Catalogue free. 5 cents a copy.

Economize use oil stoves during the Summer. Hot one burner, 45 cents; 2 burner, 81 70; 3 burner, 82 85. 17 cent Boys' four quart, stove wood pails, 10 cents. 25 cent glass preserve jars, best quality, 15 cents. 50 cent preserve that are worth double. 25 cents buys one pound of tea, mixed, worth 75 cents.

Buy "Never Rust Wash Boilers." No. 8, 81 50; No. 9, 81 75; No. 10, 82 00. Universal Favorite Clothes Wringers, $3 50. Ice Cream Freezers, best and quickest, prices lowest. Waterings cans, Mason's jars, 90 cents a dozen; jelly glasses, preserving kettles, hammocks, and croquet.

PARLOR LAMPS AT REDUCED PRICES.

Decorated, Tea, dinner and Toilet Sets at your own price. Common crockery at factory prices. Housefurnishings of all kinds. Glassware, vases, fancy baskets, stationery, soaps, combs and brushes. Finest fancy China cuspadores 81. You get your rare bargains from our five and ten cent counters. Royal Tooth Powder 25 cts. covers equals the best. Try it.

J. C. ALLEN, 28 West Front Street.

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER

One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.

Whole Suits from $5 up.

Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proper quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.

70 WEST FRONT STREET.

NOW!

YOU CAN BUY OF US ONLY

3 lbs fresh roasted Golden Rio Coffee, 25c.; 4 lbs very good Tea Sifted Mixed, 25c.; 4 lbs best Japan Tea, 25c.; 4 lbs Oolong Tea, 25c.; 4 lbs Gunpowder Tea, 25c.; 27 lbs granulated Sugar, 81; 7 lbs Soft Shell Peanuts Fresh not "O. U." Flour 75c bag. (Every purchaser of a bag of flour will receive a cake free.)

Soapine, 5 cakes, 10c.; Lenox Soap, 6 cakes, 25c.; Sapolio, 3 cakes, 25c.; Sapolio, 6 cakes, 25c.; Sapolio for 50c.; Sapolio for 81; Sapolio, 3 cakes, 25c.; Sapolio, 6 cakes, 25c. Hires' Root Beer, 25c. size, 15c.; Hires' prepared root beer, 25c. size, 15c. quart bottle of Ammonia, 10c.; Bottle of Bluing, 10c. for 25c.

Imported Jams (C. & B., 25c. per jar.

Pride of Plainfield Baking Powder, (has no equal), 25c. lb.

Best Canned Corn, 3 cans for 25c.; Tomatoes, 3 cans for 25c.

Big reduction on canned fruits and vegetables.

CUTTOLENE A SPECIALTY.

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,

The Champions of Low Prices. 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

ZIMMERMANN Successors to PIERSON HARDWARE CO. and RUMPF.

49 WEST FRONT STREET

are laying in an extra fine stock of Machinist's and Mechanics' Tools.

And also a special line of Builders' Hardware.

AGENTS for the Buckeye Mower, Wolcomb-Clote Stove, Hartman's Steel Wire Fence and Manley Fabric.

Open Every Evening until 8 o'Clock.

BABY : LAUGHS

when mamma uses

ANTI-CHAP.

For children and infants. There is no preparation so refreshing and healthful for the little ones as Anti-Chap.

Wash your baby with Anti-Chap Soap. Dust the baby with

ANTI-CHAP POWDER

Papa, Mamma, Everybody should use the delightful Anti-Chap. Your druggist keeps it. 25 cents.

The Time

has arrived when all should buy their

CLOTHING AT HOME

providing they can get Quality, Style and Fit, Cost no more and cheap. Take that guarantee to do, and prove it. Perfect Fit or no Sale.

Acme Tailoring Co.

We have the Largest Assortment of

CLOTHS & CASSIMERES

in the State. Our store is devoted entirely to Merchant Tailoring.

Kindly give us a call for inspection.

Acme Tailoring Co.,

No 22 West Front Street.

John H. Frank, Pres. and Treas.
Walter C. Limbarger, Sec. 2 61 tm

George - Bremmer,

No 18 Somerset Street,

READY MADE CLOTHING,

or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHING

CALL AND EXAMINE the fine stock at

Werner's Clothing House,

20 WEST FRONT STREET.

Suits made to order from a fine line of goods for $15 and Upwards.

Cut by a First-class cutter.

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with

LAMP AND BELL,

under penalty of $10 fine.

A large and complete assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the

Wheelmen's Headquarters,

Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.

FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

13c. Buys a New Broom at V. and W.'s

Wash Dress Fabrics.

Our assortment is considered the finest ever displayed in Plainfield. There are Cotton Challies, Organdies, Lawns, Dimities, Batistes, Ginghams, Percales, Piques, Scotch Zephyrs, Cheviots, Crepons, Nun's Veilings, Mohairs, Brilliantines, Sateens, Satines, Silk Muslins, Silk Grenadines, Silk Gauzes, Silk Mulls, Silk Tissues, Silk Organdies, Silk Batistes, Silk Lawns, Silk Ginghams, Silk Piques, Silk Cheviots, Silk Crepons, Silk Nun's Veilings, Silk Mohairs, Silk Brilliantines, Silk Sateens, Silk

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Mershon, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 2 Somerset street. Local Post L. Telephone Call 33. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," TUESDAY, JUNE 7, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR SUMMER VACATION, SHOULD SEND NEW ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

BREVITIES

—Don't forget the strawberry festival at the Monroe avenue chapel to-night.

—The Plainfield Bicycle Club base ball team play the Flemingtons at the Cree oent grounds, this city, on Saturday next.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Plainfield Republican Association will be held in Association Hall, at eight o'clock to-night.

—A coal train was wrecked near Lebanon this morning by a car axle breaking. Traffic was delayed only a short time.

—It is estimated that about thirty thousand horses were taken off street car service last year owing to the introduction of electric traction.

—The Sunday-school primary class will meet Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church for rehearsal for Children's Sunday.

—The house on Manning avenue that was struck by lightning, Sunday evening, as reported in the NEWS, was occupied by Mr. Israel Compton. The damage done was slight.

—Anthony Bovalo, the Italian who committed a murderous assault on Special Officer Novallo on Sunday at Elizabeth, was committed to jail yesterday charged with atrocious assault.

—The St. Mary's Cadet Drum Corps, numbering 17 members, of this city, accompanied by Father Smith, went to Central Park to-day for an outing. The Drum Corps were their new uniforms and looked well.

—The disappearance is reported of Mr. Sopher, of the firm of Sopher & Silvers, masons and builders of Roselle. The members of the firm, it is said, quarreled over money matters and Sopher drew $600 of the firm's money from bank before disappearing.

—Examinations for entrance to the Rutgers College Scientific School were held in the Court House, New Brunswick, Saturday, by Superintendent H. E. Willis and Prof. George G. Ryan. Seven young men tested for the free scholarships. Examinations were also held in the several counties of the State.

—A copy of Saturday Chat, published at Cedar Rapids, Ia., has been named "Nelly Bly." The paper in question made a trip around the world last year in ninety-four days, and made several stops. It was mailed April 11 to Mrs. E. D. Stephens, Paris. Her bankers forwarded it to Yokohama, where it arrived after Mrs. Stephens' departure. It was then forwarded to Centerville, Cal., where it safely arrived too late and was sent on to Cedar Rapids, reaching there the 14th of July. The paper was in good condition and the wrapper remained unbroken. Being mailed at pound rates the paper made the trip with only one-cent stamp to pay for its journey.

—The recommendation of Councilman Charles E. Fisk, chairman of the Finance Committee of Common Council, at the meeting last evening, to have the city accounts kept in a more business-like manner, showed by the written statements of expert accountant A. S. Patterson, how needful it was. Suspicions that all was not right the five Councilmen loyal to the city's interests, and engaged in fighting the old combine which by treachery had for 1890-91 got control of affairs, endeavored to have a resolution adopted at the meeting of June 3, 1891, to have the city books examined, but the combine having the votes, defeated them by voting against the resolution. They wanted no investigation. Any expert book-keeper would consider a man very lacking in business foresight, who would keep his books as the city's have been kept for years.

PERSONAL.

Miss Nellie TenBrocck of New York, is visiting Miss VanZandt, of Crescent avenue.

Mr. Andrew Kenney, of Manning avenue, assistant freight agent, is again confined to his home by severe illness.

Miss E. C. Scott, of New York, is sojourning at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. M. Chase, of Somerset street, old friends. She is an extensive traveller, and spends each Summer in Europe in company with one or the other of her seven brothers, all prosperous New York business men.

Miss Nettie Allinson of Somerset street, now summering in Europe in company with her aunt, Mrs. Chambeitaz, is having a glorious time in Paris. A letter has stated that she is to start next week for Switzerland, and after also visiting the German capitals, will return to Paris, to remain until August, when she is expected home. Last year Miss Allinson and her aunt and uncle visited some of the places to be revisited this year.

The "Rainbow" Festival a Success.

The entertainment of the young ladies of the First Baptist church last evening was well attended. All seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves, and were high in their praises of the various portions of the programme as rendered. Special mention should be made of the solo and chorus singing, which were exceptionally fine.

To-night the Rainbow Festival will close. Besides a fine programme which has been arranged, there will be an instrumental symphony, composed entirely of young ladies.

The proceeds will go toward missionary purposes.

CITY COMMON COUNCIL.

REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING FOR JUNE.

Plainfield Street Railway Petition.—Licenses Granted.—Claims Ordered Paid.—New Policeman Appointed. —Fire Department Nominations.—Reports of City Officials.—Finance Committee Report.—New Grade Map Ordered.—Bicycle Ordinance Passed.—Street Railway Matters.

The City Common Council held its regular June meeting last evening. The meeting was called to order at 8.30 o'clock. President Gimus and Councilmen Bird, Case, Erickson, Fisk, Johnston, Marsh and Weber were present at roll call. Councilmen See and Frasee arrived later. Councilman Ualtup was absent. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

A petition was read from Mr. Geo. H. Babcock, to purchase the property occupied by Engine Company No. 2. The matter was referred to the Fire and Buildings Committee.

Dean Bodman petitioned the Council to place more light in the vicinity of Grace Episcopal church. It was referred to the Fire and Buildings Committee with power.

The Plainfield Street Railway Company petitioned for permission to continue laying their tracks from corner of Front street and Park avenue, on Front street, to Broadway, and out that street. The matter was referred to the Street Committee.

The Union County Country Club asked permission to build a horse shed on their premises on Seventh street. It was referred to the Fire and Buildings Committee with power.

The Plainfield Street Railway Company petitioned for permission to continue laying their tracks from corner of Front street and Park avenue, on Front street, to Broadway, and out that street. The matter was referred to the Street Committee.

The Union County Country Club asked permission to build a horse shed on their premises on Seventh street. It was referred to the Fire and Buildings Committee with power.

A communication from C. Schwed and others, asking for an electric light on Second street between Liberty street and Plainfield avenue, was referred to the Police and Lights Committee.

A petition from L. J. Denton for street improvements on Hillside avenue between Prospect and Prospect avenues, was referred to the Street Committee.

Messrs. I. L. Miller, M. W. Tyler and others petitioned the Council to sprinkle the streets, at the city's expense. It was referred to the Street Committee.

A petition from L. T. Randolph and others asking for electric lights from Mr. Finch's residence to the city line, was referred to the Public Light Committee.

The following licenses were presented, referred to the proper committee, favorably reported and ordered paid.

Jere Johnson, auctioneer; John La Tourette, peddling; John Rickert, trucking; John M. Hetfield, trucking; John M. Hetfield, trucking; Wm. S. Henry, peddling; Wm. Tottest, carman; James Keating, peddling; F. M. Brooks, sprinkler license; W. H. Warner, Auctioneer.

About ninety claims were presented, referred to the proper committee, reported favorably and ordered paid.

A communication from the Mayor was read, appointing A. S. Saunders a regular policeman, and Louis A. Bond a special policeman.

Upon motion of Mr. Marsh, the Council confirmed the nominations.

A communication was read from the Fire Department, in which a list of the nominations for the officers of the various fire companies were given and approved by the Board of Engineers.

Upon motion of Mr. Erickson, they were confirmed.

The regular monthly report of City Counsel Craig A. Marsh was read, and upon motion of Mr. Erickson, it was received and placed on file.

The monthly report of City Judge W. R. Codrington was read, and upon motion received and placed on file.

A statement from Collector of Taxes John Johnston was made and upon motion received and placed on file.

The City Treasurer's and Public Library reports were read, and upon motion received and placed on file.

Mr. Fisk, from the Finance Committee, reported that the committee have made thorough examination of the city's accounts and find that the city treasurer's books were kept in a very unbusinesslike manner, in fact, a mere memorandum and cash book system. The tax collector's books, he reported, were kept more carefully.

He did not wish in any way to reflect upon the city officials. The accounts were thoroughly looked up that it was a hard task to straighten them.

The Finance Committee have employed Mr. J. S. Patterson, an expert bookkeeper from New York city, to submit a report, which was read and covers all that the committee wish to say.

Mr. Fisk moved that the sum of $1,200 be appropriated, to cover the expense of examining the books, and to continue the work of getting them into proper shape.

Mr. Marsh in seconding the motion also said that he considered it a source of gratification to find that notwithstanding the unbusiness-like manner in which the books were kept, there had been no irregularity by any of the city officials. The accounts have been thoroughly gone over and everything has been honestly managed and not a penny lost or gone astray. It is necessary that the books be kept in a business like manner. Certain work has been done, and it has been money well expended, but it would not be well to leave matters as they now stand.

The ayes and nays were called for and all voted in the affirmative with the exception of Mr. Frasee.

Mr. Fisk moved that the State and County tax fund, $7,760.13, be transferred to the general fund. Carried.

Upon motion the assessment fund of $700.10 was transferred to the general fund.

Mr. Fisk moved that the fire fund, $7,460.00 be transferred to the general fund. Carried.

Mr. Fisk stated that they had in general fund after transfers the sum of $6,981.88, expenditure $4,781.10, leaving a balance of about $200.

Mr. Fisk moved that $200 be transferred from the general fund to the fire fund. Carried.

Mr. Fisk moved that $120 be appropriated for the purpose of employing Mr. Patterson for three months, to see that they were properly started and to assist the city officials.

Mr. Frasee thought that too much money was going in that direction and moved that it be laid upon the table until next meeting. His motion was not seconded and the clerk called the roll.

Mr. Fisk's motion was carried, all voting aye except Mr. Frasee.

Mr. Erickson moved that the sum of about $75 be appropriated for the purpose of employing extra firemen on July 4th. Carried.

The petition of the United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association to build a shed was returned, as it was contrary to the ordinance.

The petition from the street employees asking that they be paid twice a month was not granted.

Mr. Johnston from the Street Committee submitted a report on the subject of preparing a new city map, giving grades, lines, etc., and recommended its adoption.

Mr. Case stated that he agreed with the chairman of the Street Committee and thought it was about time to start on a solid basis, in order to know when the work should be done. Furthermore the work should be done now and not in one or two years.

The ayes and nays were called for, all voting in the affirmative but Mr. Gimus, who stated that this would call for a large sum of money, not included in the street appropriations, and as the city could not afford it at present he would be compelled to vote nay.

Mr. Marsh moved that the calling of the roll be suspended, and that an amendment be included in the bill, that the money be taken from the street improvement appropriation. Carried, all voting aye but Mr. Frasee.

Mr. Johnston from the Street Committee reported upon the petition to change the name of North Richmond street, to Norwood avenue. Upon motion of Mr. Marsh it was referred to the Committee on Laws and Ordinances with power.

Mr. Case from the Water and Sewer Committee, stated that the committee would report at the next meeting.

Mr. Marsh moved that the original book of ordinances and the ordinances lately printed be bound together. Carried.

Mr. Erickson from the Fire Committee reported favorably upon Fitzgibbon and Crisp's bid of $630 for two new hose carriages, and recommended that it be accepted. Upon motion it was received and filed.

Mr. See moved that the bicycle ordinance be called up for its third reading. Carried.

Upon motion an amendment was ordered compelling bicyclists to give warning by whistle or bell, when nearing a street crossing, in case pedestrians were crossing. Carried.

Upon motion the ordinance was adopted.

Mr. See moved that a fine of $20 be imposed on those not complying with the ordinance. Carried.

Upon motion the ordinance was engrossed on the city's records.

Under miscellaneous business the Police street, extension and widening matter was brought up.

Mr. See moved that the Council listen to any persons interested in the matter. Carried.

Mr. MacDonald was then given permission of the floor and stated that he considered the property, at the corner of Front and Peace street, worth $125 a foot, and that there would necessarily be eight or nine feet taken off by the widening of the street. He considered the property in the rear of his residence worth as much as a square foot.

Mr. Meeker, in representing the Robert Anderson estate, stated that a fraction over nine feet would be required to come off that property. He considered the property worth $200 to $300 a foot, and that there would necessarily be the fences and trees and thought that the Council should appoint a commission to confer with the property owners, and decide all differences by arbitration.

Mr. A. Frasee stated that he owned 125 feet front on Peace street and that the widening of the street would necessitate a cut of eight or nine feet. He was willing to give the land to the city, provided that it would cover all charges of benefit against the property.

Mr. Van Dyck was willing to agree to the same proposition as presented by Mr. Frasee.

Mr. Marsh moved that it be recorded that four of the property owners have appeared and that the Street Committee report at the next meeting. Carried.

Mr. Case moved that the Tax Collector be allowed to purchase new books. Carried.

Motion was made to suspend the rules and allow one member of the Building Committee to stay the bills. Mr. Frasee was in favor of paying all the bills with the exception of ex-Police Captain Tuohy's. The ayes and nays were called for and the motion was defeated.

The Council then adjourned.

THE NEW STREET.

$53,790.13 is What it Will Cost.

The report of the commissioners appointed to lay out the extension of Peace street or North Broadway, and make assessments of damages and benefits for the same, was filed to-day.

The report is in duplicate and is accompanied by two maps showing all the property benefited and damaged.

The total amount of damages allowed for lands taken for the street is $21,622.05, and the total expenses amount to $2,167.10, making the grand total of damages $23,789.15. Of this the amount chargeable to North Plainfield for damages to lands in that township, is $23,622.05, while the amount of damages assessed for lands taken in Plainfield is $6,807.77.

These two amounts are assessed as benefits upon land in the neighborhood of the street which will be benefited, to the extent of $21,622.05 of which $23,622.05 is to be raised in North Plainfield, and $6,820 in Plainfield.

The township of North Plainfield is assessed at the sum of $1,802.75, most of the work having been done in that township, and the city is assessed at large $267.37. In the city the street only runs from Front street to the brook.

The reports are very voluminous and show that a great deal of hard work has been done, and the commissioners, engineers, counsel and all concerned deserve great credit for the thorough manner in which they have discharged the difficult work committed to their charge.

AMONG THE WHEELMEN.

The Century Run—Other Matters.

The fifth annual great Century Run, will take place on Saturday, from Newark to Philadelphia. The following is the time scheduled:

Newark, leave 6 a. m.
Plainfield, leave 7 a. m. breakfast at Plainfield House.
Bound Brook, leave 8 a. m.
Somerville, leave 9.30 a. m.
Hopewell, leave 11 a. m.
Trenton, arrive 1 p. m., the wheelmen will be photographed and leave at 2 p.m.
Bristol, arrive 5 p.m.
Frankford, arrived 6 p. m.
Philadelphia, arrive 7 p. m.

Captain L. C. Harris, of the Plainfield Bicycle Club is on the committee and will be one of the pace makers. The average speed will be eight miles an hour.

Arrangements are being made by several leading wheelmen of this city, to prepare a handicap road race, open to all bicyclers in this city. Particulars will be announced later.

BOWLING LAST NIGHT.

Park Club win From Fanwood Last Night in This City.

The second and last game of the series between the Park and Fanwood Club bowlers, was played on the alleys of the former, in this city last night.

The series were for the best two out of three games, and as the Park Club have won both, the third game will not be bowled.

The following was the result:

PARK CLUB.		FANWOOD CLUB.
Evans	127	Smith	120
Sterling	110	Moore	141
Matthews	207	Brown	159
Sterling	110	Sackett	115
Hood	148	Sackett	140
Hood	168	Lawrence	99
Hinrichs	149	C. Moore	91
Theiss	144	Brown	140
Darling	135	Anderson	126
Lynch	159	Stevens	146
Total	1559	Total	1291

Park Club won by 268 pins.
Umpire—George Howell.

The Game To-morrow.

The game which is to take place to-morrow afternoon in the city between the Crescents, the leaders in the Central New Jersey League, and the Staten Island Athletic Club, the champions of the U. S. Amateur League, promises to be one of the finest that has ever occurred in this city.

The batting order will be as follow:

Crescents—Hedford, c; Kasler, ss; Murphy, 1 b; Turner 2d b; Daley, 3d b; Sandy, s. s.; Benner, l. f.; Jones, c. f.; Hansen, p.

Staten Island A. C.—Van Eaudt, 2d b.; Gilbert, 1st b.; Brush, s. s.; O'Connor, 3d b.; Chase, p.; Weir, l. f.; Geer, c. f.; Vroom, l. f.; Moore, extra.

Excited at 65 Cents on the Dollar.

The New York Sun this morning says:

"A. C. Rodriguez, & Co., dealers in cigars at 7 Beekman street, have effected a settlement with their creditors at 65 cents on the dollar, payable in four installments, six and twelve months, and two years. Rodriguez & Co. have been in business in this city for about 20 years. Their failure was unexpected. The firm's liabilities are $40,000."

Mr. Rodriguez is a Plainfielder and lives on Woodland Avenue, Netherwood.

Mr. Vail Wins Again.

The Petit Jurors finished their labors yesterday and were discharged. The appeal case of Vail vs. Nelson was decided, as before, against the latter. Mr. Vail is of this city and Dr. Nelson is of New Market.

Half Rates to Chicago via Pennsylvania Railroad.

For the benefit of delegates and visitors to the Republican National Convention at Chicago, on June 21, 1892, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets to Chicago from all principal stations on its lines, at a single fare for the round trip, on the following dates: June 18, good returning until June 22, inclusive; June 19, good returning until June 23, inclusive; June 20, good returning until June 24, inclusive; June 21, good returning until June 25, inclusive. Tickets will be limited for passage in each direction over the Pennsylvania Railroad to the Chicago terminal, and will not be sold except upon application to the proper ticket agent for choice.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

CZAR AND EMPEROR MEET.

The Two Mighty Rulers on Their Imperial Yachts.

Kiel, June 7th. (Special.)—At nine o'clock this morning Emperor William boarded the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern and started for Friedrichsport to meet the Czar. The Hohenzollern was escorted by a despatch boat and another yacht. The yards of the vessels were manned and the Russian colors were hoisted.

An hour later the Hohenzollern returned in company with the Russian Imperial yacht Polar Star, on board of which was the Czar.

The Convention Adjourned.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 7th. (Special.)—The convention, (the proceeding of which are given on page 2) adjourned to eleven o'clock Wednesday.

The Game Laws.

Frequent complaints have come to Wm. L. Force of this city, secretary of the New Jersey Fish and Game Protective Association, that boys with toy cross bill sensitive song birds in the woods of this section. Wholesale slaughter is reported of the choicest singers and of valued insectivorous birds. Mr. Force declares that he will insist on rigid enforcement of the State protective laws, and will arrest and prosecute all offenders, most of whom are the petted sons of wealthy parents, who have fancied themselves secure in their family influence, but against whom proceedings will be promptly taken if the bird destruction is not stopped.

A Defeat for the Bi. Boys.

The Plainfield Bicycle Club went to Elizabeth Saturday to play a return game with the Elizabeth Field Club of that city.

The slaughter commenced from the start as the Elizabeth boys made 11 runs in the first inning.

Johnson was knocked out of the box and Sheppard substituted.

The Elizabeth club played great ball and shut the visitors out by the following score:

E. A. C.	11	2	0	4	0	2	4	0	2—25
P. B. C.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0—0

What Elizabeth Says.

The Crescents gave a fine exhibition and showed what proper coaching in field work would do for a team. They fielded their men to second base in a clever manner. The Plainfielders certainly have a team to be proud of, but it is the opinion of many that the Y. M. C. I. A. can easily defeat them, provided they keep their hands and play ball as it should be played. Hedford pitched the game of his life, and "Chic" Hedford fully equaled him behind the bat.—Elizabeth Journal.

Before Justice Nash.

The case of Matthews vs. Condit and Spicer et als vs. Van Nest are both returnable to-morrow.

The case of Bernoud vs. Durfeed returnable on June 16th.

STATE NEWS

Beverly will remain dry another year, the City Council on Thursday night having refused to grant three applications for license.

A monopoly balloon, containing four persons, passed over Newark about half past eleven p. m., one night last week. Several persons saw it descend rapidly which fell to the earth, when it arose and drifted off to the southeast. A brilliant light was kept burning by the aeronauts on the edge of the car. The four occupants could be seen moving about.

The two-masted fishing schooner Annie Bowker went ashore yesterday morning on a bar near the Iron Pier, Atlantic City. She was returning in ballast from New York. Captain Gaito had to let her drift upon the shoals, for with no sail probability became a total wreck.

Measure your work not by your ambition but by your power

HORNBY'S

H-O

OAT-FOOD

will supply power to the full measure of your capacity.

MERRELL'S

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHING

CALL AND EXAMINE the fine stock at

Werner's Clothing House,

20 WEST FRONT STREET.

Suits made to order from a fine line of goods for $15 and Upwards.

Cut by a First-class cutter.

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.

Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of G. R. MUSGRAVE, 37 Somerset street. Call early and secure the best bargains.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY, Firm of OF PLAINFIELD.

RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY, Importers and Tailors, 231 Broadway, New York.

Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring. Moderate Prices.

Music Hall, Thursday, June 9th.

RUSSELL, DENNIS and SANFORD'S COMEDY COMPANY, In their Laughing Success,

MRS. CASEY'S MISHAPS.

A Summer night's frolic. Prices—50, 35 and 25 cents. Seats on sale at Central Pharmacy.

Cent-a-Word Column.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

A GOOD gardener wants employment by the day. First-class Plainfield references. Address P. O. Box 275. 6 6

LAUNDRESS without help; Good washer and ironer; work by the day. 24 Peace street. Unfurnished rooms for housekeeping.

HELP WANTED.

EXPERIENCED saleslady wanted in dry goods store. Address "B," care of Evening News. 6 tf

WANTED—A German or Swede girl for general housework in family of five. Must be a good plain cook, washer and ironer. Wages $14. Apply at 21 Hillside avenue. 7 3

WANTED—A young colored girl to work. Apply 69 East Fifth street. 7 2

WANTED—Honest, energetic men to solicit orders for nursery stock; experience not necessary; to men who can leave home steady; also wanted to hire 2 agents; write for terms and territory. Address R. G. Chase & Co., 2 Jan 6m*

WANTED—Boarders in private family. 1580 S. Penn St., Phila., Pa.

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST—Monday, a white crochet shawl. Finder will please return to Mrs. A. T. Fleming, 22 Madison avenue. 7 2

LOST—A brass key, on WESTON street. Finder please leave at NEWS office for reward. 7 2

BOARDERS WANTED.

A T 19 Craig place, furnished rooms with board. Table boarders accommodated. 6 2 6

FOR RENT.

A NEW and delightful eight-room house to rent. Hot and cold water, bath room, cellar and laundry. Apply to Mrs. Dr. Hall, 19 Somerset street. Address "Richmond Street," care of Evening News. 6 tf

FOR SALE.

500 WINDOW Screens 35 cents each at Van Emburgh & Wilcox's. 6 3t2

FOR SALE—Second seat; new; will be sold cheap. Inquire at 120 Madison avenue. 7 1 3

500 WINDOW Screens 35 cents each at Van Emburgh & Wilcox's. 6 3t2

MISCELLANEOUS.

A TEACHER, experienced in the care and education of children, would receive one child in her own home, either for the summer or permanently. Address "Teacher," care of Evening News. 7 2

FIRST-CLASS laundry work done at 22 Peace street. Prices reasonable. Our only agent is Mrs. A. F. Wilcox, who will call for and deliver work. 6 3t2

OLD-FASHIONED furniture in good order, bought and sold. Old Furniture store, 11 Second street. 5 3t2

PALMS and bedding plants at Randolph's Madison avenue greenhouses. 5 1 2

SECURE your tickets for the Columbian Art Fair. Buy promptly at Randolph's. 5 3t2

AUCTION!

T. J. Gillen, auctioneer, will sell on Wednesday, June 8, at 9 o'clock p.m., the furniture and contents, No. 2 Madison avenue. 6 3

PROCLAMATION!

Attention is called to the following ordinance relative to dogs:

SECTION 1. That it shall be lawful for and the duty of any Marshal of said Borough to kill any dog found to be unmuzzled or unmuzzled and not under the control of the owner or keeper of such dog or dogs or bitches running at large in said Borough, during the months of June, July, August and September, when caught, or found to be unmuzzled, when caught, in some safe place to be by him provided, for the space of forty-eight hours, and if such dog or dogs shall be claimed by the owner or owners of the same, and in case the owner or owners of any dog so caught shall fail to redeem the same within forty-eight hours from the time of such capture by said Marshal to kill or cause said dogs or bitches to be killed in the quickest and least painful manner they may see fit.

All persons are hereby notified that this ordinance will be strictly enforced during the months of June, July, August and September. Owners of dogs are advised to provide proper muzzles at once.

WILLIAM L. SAUNDERS, Mayor.

Attest:—HENRY H BROKAW, Clerk.

6 3t*

STRAW : HATS!

We have received a good assortment for Men and Boys.

Hallock & Davis,

5 West Front Street.

Don't Forget we keep MEN'S FURNISHINGS. Also Trunks and Bags.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Ice to this market, and we now propose to supply it to our customers at the lowest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 61 North avenue, opposite depot. Depot, Grand avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. Dunnewald, Pres.
H. Dunnewald, Sec.
J. Hunter Wilson, Asst. Sec.
J. Hunter, Gen. Supt.

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS

SPECIAL SALE OF SECOND HAND

4 & 5 cents per Copy.

Stamps, Stationery Books, Pens, etc.

A. M. Vanderbeek's, 209 PARK AVENUE.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Question of Woman's Work.

That erudite philosopher, Edward von Hartmann, finds that the social life of the present is diseased, and the cause of the disease is the estrangement of the sexes. Then, philosopher fashion, he goes on to say that the cure will be found in going back to the old spheres for each. He says: "I do not see why everything should not be as it was in former times, the man attending to his business and the woman to her domestic duties, with the difference that equity exacts in regard to their social and human interests."

There is just one reason why the sexes should not go back to the old way, and this is that it is impossible. In the old time of which Mr. von Hartmann speaks, women occupied their time with spinning, weaving, cooking and sewing. This was all done in the homes and kept the women busy in every household. Thus they earned their living, and a comfortable one. But modern progress has taken every one of these occupations out of their hands except cooking, and nearly all of that. It is not true that men supported women in the old time of which the philosopher speaks. They certainly supported themselves in the above named departments of labor.

But as many women as ever are born into the world. They must live, and must still support themselves, just as they did centuries ago. But if the old trades are all taken from them, what is left for them but to find new ones, as they are doing? They cannot be left to starve. Here, then, in this economic fact, Herr von Hartmann will find the reason why men and women cannot go back to the old time. In spite, however, of that "estrangement" which he sees with his philosopher's eye, men and women seem to be tolerably good friends still.

Paranoia.

Dr. Henry Smith Williams thinks he has discovered a new form of insanity, and he calls it by the above name. The paranoiac temperament may be known at a glance. "Its characteristics are morbid sensitiveness and great egotism." It is the kind of insanity which produces what we are accustomed to call "cranks."

The victim begins with an unevenly developed brain. As a child he has often exceptional mental gifts, and their development is pushed to an extreme by his fond parents. But he is eccentric and does most unusual things for a child. Meantime the brain disorder is progressing steadily.

In maturer years the paranoia develops itself and the patient becomes crazy on the subject of his own importance. Three classes of phenomena manifest themselves in his disordered mentality. Sometimes he is the victim of all, sometimes of only one. But the fundamental properties of paranoia, according to Dr. Williams, are: 1. Delusions of persecution. 2. Hallucinations. 3. Delusions of personal grandeur. That is to say, whenever you find a person who believes all the world is against him and that enemies are persistently persecuting him; when you find a person who sees and holds conversations with imaginary people; when you see a person who believes he is the greatest man alive—any and all these people are paranoiacs, and you need not be surprised at anything they do. Sometimes they commit murder, these cranks.

In the future the great mineral spring resort of this country will be in the Yellowstone park. Some of the most powerful medicinal waters known bubble up from the ground there in considerable variety. One of the springs is charged with sulphate of ammonia, sulphuric acid and sulphuretted hydrogen, which latter smells to heaven. Other springs contain a heavy quantity of arsenic in solution.

The United States fish commission steamer Albatross will as far as possible determine by practical experiment during the present summer the question of what per cent. of Alaska seals is lost by poaching on them in the open seas. The naturalists and scientific gentlemen on board of the Albatross will be privileged to follow the herds and kill seals enough to suit their purpose.

It is certain that the majority of the American people do not want the Chinese to come here. But whether we have the right to exclude them by a simple law of congress, without at all consulting China in the matter, while there exists between us and China a friendly treaty, is a question about which there may well be two opinions.

There is one thing that will check the construction of eighteen story buildings in Chicago at least. The insurance companies there have put a very high rate on all buildings over eight stories high, believing that the risks on the sky scraping houses are considerably greater than on those not so tall.

The inventor of the whaleback freight ship has made a model of that type, which he claims will be the best boat ever devised for coast defenses. This may well be, but we must not forget that such vessels will after all be only a variation of brave old John Ericsson's monitors.

IN BATTLE ARRAY.

The Contest for the Republican Nomination Begins.

BLAINE, HARRISON OR WHO?

That Is the Question at Minneapolis Just Now.

Chairman Clarkson Calls to Order the National Republican Convention to Nominate Candidates for President and Vice President of the United States. The Great Hall in the Twin City Thronged by Many Thousands of Excited Delegates and Spectators—Hon. J. Sloat Fassett, of New York State, Made Temporary Chairman of the Convention—Alger Men Declare That They Are Still in the Fight—McKinley Being Boomed as a Dark Horse Candidate.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 7.—The Republican hosts are in line of battle here today, the first few scattering shots have been fired, and the opposing factions have grappled in the final struggle that is to decide whether Benjamin Harrison, James G. Blaine or some dark horse statesman is to lead the Republican party in its next battle for the presidency of the United States. General Clarkson, chairman of the national Republican committee, called the convention to order at noon, and in accordance with the decision of the national committee last night, Hon. J. Sloat Fassett, of New state, was made temporary chairman of the convention. When Mr. Fassett was escorted to the platform he was greeted with enthusiastic applause from the Blaine men especially. He thanked the convention for the honors conferred upon him and made one of his characteristic speeches before the Republican party.

CHAIRMAN CLARKSON.

An Army of Listeners.

When Mr. Fassett began his speech he looked around upon a vast audience of about 13,000 people. Every seat in the great hall was filled despite the fact that about a thousand of them cost fifty dollars each, and every inch of standing room in the building was also occupied. The hall is in the exposition building, which was erected in 1886, and covers three acres of ground. It has been especially prepared for the use to which it is now being put. The hall has a floor space of 235 by 308 feet, and its capacity is slightly increased by a narrow gallery. The ceiling slopes upward toward a ridge pole from which the distance to the floor is seventy feet.

In the roof is a skylight 62x120 feet, so large that were the glass not stained, the full daylight would make a tremendous glare. In addition to this skylight, there are big windows all around the walls. The light is softened further by the painting of the walls, ceiling and the huge supporting pillars, and by the profusion of bunting that adorns the walls. The center of the hall is level, and here the delegates and the presiding officer sit. From this central level the seats for other persons attending the convention rise tier on tier on every side. The representatives of the newspapers have 300 seats, arranged in rows on terraces to the right and left of the speaker. The national committee sits behind the chairman, and the vast audience occupies about 12,000 kitchen chairs.

Shields of American Tin.

On the side of the galleries and beneath them the shields of the forty-four states are emblazoned on American tin. The shield and eagle of the United States are displayed behind the chairman. To his right and left, respectively, are the twin mottoes, "Reciprocity" and "Protection," in gilt letters on blue field with brown border. A monster eagle of embossed tin surmounts the stairway by which the delegates enter.

The thirty-six columns which support the roof have all been gilded and bronzed. Four handsome sets of thirty foot American flags, one at the back of the chair, one on each side of the space set aside for the delegation and one in the rear of them. The galleries are artistically hung with brown plush, and the hanging gallery, fifteen feet from the roof, where the Chicago band is to discourse music, is similarly draped in old gold. The roof and the skylights have been tinted in the delicate shades of blue, picked out with stars to correspond with the states. At the end of the building facing the chair is displayed the banner of the Boston Home Market Club, which has been in so many conventions, with its inscriptions:

TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN FASSETT.

AMERICAN WAGES FOR AMERICAN WORKMEN.

AMERICAN MARKETS FOR THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

PROTECTION FOR AMERICAN HOMES.

What Blaine Men Claim.

After Mr. Fassett's speech the convention proceeded to complete its work of organizing. The following list of officers completed the temporary organization: Secretaries—Charles W. Johnson, Minnesota; F. N. Arthur Holt, Ohio; Carson Lake, New York; George Lee, Colorado; J. O. Brown, Pennsylvania; W. P. Brownlow, Tennessee; Arthur S. Clark, Massachusetts. Assistant secretaries—Theodore F. Simmons, California; Philip O. Cunningham, Delaware; Aaron Bradshaw, District of Columbia; Charles Hopkins, Ohio; Charles S. Morris, Kentucky; A. W. Mackenzie, Georgia; J. W. Dimmick, Alabama; J. S. Wallace, Mississippi; G. V. McAllister, Mississippi; Otto Gresser, New York. Reading clerks—Charles F. Dewey, Minnesota; J. S. Stone, Michigan; J. S. Kenyon, New York; H. S. Oliver, North Dakota; Charles Curtis, Kansas; Charles Partridge, Illinois; J. S. Miles, Wisconsin; W. E. Hogg, South Carolina; Sergeant-at-Arms—T. C. Rose, New York; J. F. Burke, Pennsylvania.

The adherents of ex-Secretary Blaine are claiming that his name will be named on the first ballot. On the other hand John C. New, the chief generalissimo of the administration forces, insists that 350 votes are already pledged for the president's renomination, more than forty more than is necessary to a choice. The friends of General Alger claim for their favorite a total of 180 votes, or sufficient, assuming that the friends of the president and Mr. Blaine are but a trifle in error regarding their respective strength, to give the Michigan candidate the balance of power. It is known that one or two votes will be cast for Mr. Sherman, and there may be a few votes scattered among the other dark horses.

Rumors of a Break.

There is a rumor that the southern states' delegates are renouncing their loudly proclaimed allegiance to the president and are flocking around the Blaine banner. Close investigation fails to prove that any large number of delegates have changed in their purposes, but apparently the story of a break in the Tennessee and Alabama delegations, and the Harrison boomers are alarmed.

Senator Hiscock says, "Mr. Harrison will have 600 votes and is sure of the nomination."

Senator Quay says, "There will be 573 votes for Mr. Blaine on the first ballot, not counting any from Michigan."

Ex-Senator Platt says: "I am absolutely certain the result will be in favor of Mr. Blaine. We have assurances from more than 350 delegates that they will vote for Mr. Blaine on the first ballot."

DARK HORSE GOSSIP.

McKinley and Cullom Talked of by the Delegates.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 7.—Since the arrival of Governor McKinley dark horse talk has suddenly assumed great proportions and the name of McKinley is on every tongue. It is said there is a plan on foot to nominate McKinley if the issue should not be settled on the first ballot. The Indiana people asked Governor McKinley what he would do about the matter. The governor assured them that if they wished he would rise in the convention and tell the delegation from Ohio not to vote for him. Notwithstanding this assurance talk about McKinley is heard everywhere. The dark horse movement has brought out the other candidates again and the talk in political headquarters is "Blaine or Harrison on the first ballot or a dark horse." Senator Cullom has heard the mutterings of the storm and his lightning rod is in position.

Word has gone out among his friends that if Harrison is not nominated on the first ballot he would like to have the Illinois votes thrown to him on the second. Out of this probably arose the story, since denied by Cullom, that he had a letter in his pocket from the president authorizing the withdrawal of his name on the second ballot. The Allison and Reed booms gathered strength, and even the Algerites have been galvanized into something like activity.

THE CONVENTION BUILDING.

Ex-Governor Foraker is greeted with cries of "Our next vice president" in response to which he smiles and shakes his head. Last night Forsker made a brief address in which he said that if Harrison was the nominee the young men Republicans of Ohio would give him their hearty support, for they had never yet sulked or carried a razor. On the other hand if the nomination fell to the people's choice in Republican Ohio they would outdo themselves. (Great applause.) General Mahone says: "There will be but one ballot and but two candidates—Blaine and Harrison. The talk about dark horse is ridiculous; neither side can waste time or votes in complimenting favorite sons. I think Mr. Blaine will get the nomination." General Mahone is strongly anti-Harrison, and says, "By the eternal, Blaine is the man."

HOW THE DELEGATIONS ORGANIZED.

Warner Miller Made Chairman by the New Yorkers.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 7.—Last night the different delegations organized for convention work. The New York delegation chose ex-Senator Warner Miller as its permanent chairman. John Dwight, of New York, was elected permanent secretary, and Philip Becker, of Buffalo, was selected as New York's honorary vice president of the conventions and Rufus T. Peck, of Oneida, as honorary secretary. Members of the several committees of the convention were selected as follows: Resolutions—State Senator Edmund O'Connor of Brooklyn; Charles Rales—General James Husted, of Westchester. Credentials—William C. Walker, of Brooklyn. Permanent Organization—Frank Thomas, of Rochester, of New York. Committee to notify nominees for president and vice president of the action of the convention—Colonel Elon F. Shepard, of New York.

Mr. Platt claims that Mr. Blaine will receive the votes of fifty-eight of the New York delegates. A Harrison delegate makes the following estimate: Blaine, 34; Harrison, 23; doubtful, 5.

The Michigan delegation held a secret meeting to determine whether they would present Mr. Alger's name to the convention or withdraw it. The announcement was made by Senator Stockbridge that Mr. Alger's name had been withdrawn. But Mr. Alger was not satisfied, and the meeting determined to present his name. Mr. Dudley will place him in nomination.

The Iowa delegation re-elected J. S. Clarkson as a member of the national committee.

Massachusetts delegates selected W. W. Crapo as chairman, and Murray Crane member of national committee.

The New Jersey delegates elected William J. Sewall, chairman; George Jenkins, secretary; David Daniel Elmer treasurer; George A. Bailey, honorary vice president; permanent organization, William Barker; Fuller, F. J. Swayze; resolutions, Gilbert Collins; credentials, the Hon. W. P. Hoffman; Garret A. Hobart, member of the national committee. The delegation has three unpledged Blaine men out of twenty.

At the meeting of the Kansas delegation the chairman, J. Ingalls was made chairman of the delegation.

At a meeting of representatives of the Pacific coast and neighboring states, the states and territories represented were: California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Nevada, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Oregon and Wyoming. There were sixty-six delegates present. Senator Teller, of Colorado, was elected chairman of the conference.

Senator Teller said he thought the most important thing to do now was the selection of a candidate who could carry those states for the Republican party. No matter what the platform, the Republicans could not carry Colorado, Idaho, Montana and Nevada with Benjamin Harrison as their candidate. He hoped that no one present was in favor of the renomination of the president.

Dr. E. Y. Spencer, objected strenuously to the character of Senator Teller's remarks and said that the president had never been accused of disregarding any part of the platform on which he was elected. He thought it ought to be taken for granted that if re-elected he would continue to obey the will of those who placed him in office. The conference then resolved itself into a Blaine campaign meeting.

The Pennsylvania delegation elected Senator Matthew S. Quay as chairman and William Wishtrop, of Pittsburg, secretary. The vote on the presidential nomination resulted as follows: Blaine, 51; Harrison, 31, and Sherman, 1.

At the close of the meeting was the challenging of the first vote on presidential preference by Chris Magee, of Pittsburg. When the result of the roll call was announced Mr. Harrison had only seven votes. Mr. Magee promptly challenged the vote, saying that he had heard at least ten delegates vote for Harrison. Mr. Quay then ordered a new roll call, and put a teller in charge of the vote. The result announced gave eleven votes for Mr. Harrison.

DEDICATED BY DEPEW.

Interesting Exercises at the Big Convention Hall.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 7.—The great Convention hall was dedicated last night by musical exercises and a speech from Mr. Depew. The great hall was filled, voices appeared to reach to the remotest corners of the vast auditorium. In the course of his speech Mr. Depew said:

"Our Democratic friends seem to be remarkably deficient in presidential timber. It is Cleveland or Hill, and nothing beyond Cleveland and Hill can be heard without a row. That peerless journalist, Henry Watterson, has recently said that the Democratic party was for the devil over the dark river and for Hill by which one of the metaphors he intended to refer to Cleveland and which one to Hill he did not say. Then he left the Democratic editors who are seeking light and safety in the condition of a dark horse." Senator Cullom has also declared that he had hell on one side and damnation on the other. "Then," says he, "the darky had to be content."

But the Republicans are embarrassed with riches. Ohio, the mother of presidents and the nursery of orators, has given us this noblest admirable qualifications for the chief magistrate in Governor McKinley. He has a statesman who never ran and has formulated the best legislation of his country and whose name will live forever in the annals of the world of America—statesman John Sherman. Iowa has the experienced orator Allison, Vermont Edmunds, Michigan Alger, Wisconsin Rusk, Illinois Cullom and Lincoln Isaiah: exhaust your patience before I exhausted the list.

There are two names which at present belong to no state, but to the country. One, that eloquently gifted statesman who has contributed to the immortality of the language of human possibilities and the glory of American diplomacy—James G. Blaine.

The other, that level headed, wise and eloquent soldier, senator and president, who, in the judgment of the people and by the verdict of the chief magistrate has maintained the traditions of the presidential office—Benjamin Harrison.

The Republican party is united in Depew in every part of the union, except where local jealousies, as in Illinois, may prove a stumbling block because there is more silver in the environment. The Democratic party is hopelessly divided on financial policy and on all the crucial questions of sound finance and honest currency. A Democratic voter anxious to enlist in the campaign cannot tell whether he is for Cleveland with clear utterances on the currency and those other questions the party leaders, with the other emphatic declarations on the other, and thus studies ex-Governor Hill's manly platform concerning the financial issues, will instantly on the intelligent condition of the assembled channels of the Seine mountains, who judge from jig to jig.

The National Committee Meeting.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 7.—At the meeting of the national committee the choice of the Blaine men for temporary chairman of the convention was J. Sloat Fassett, while the Harrison men favored Senator Cullom for the place. Fassett was elected.

The states voting for Fassett were: Alabama, California, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Nevada, New York, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia and Wisconsin. Total, 36.

The states voting for Senator Cullom were: Arizona, Arkansas, Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Washington and Wyoming. Total, 31.

This was the first test vote, the lines between the Blaine and Harrison men were strictly drawn, and revealed the fact that previous claims on both sides were somewhat exaggerated.

The President at a Ball Game.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—While the politicians out in Minneapolis were pulling the wires in Mr. Blaine's interest, and while the latter was in the city of Washington himself that he was no longer secretary of state, the Hon. Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States, was sitting in a seat of the building facing the chair in the afternoon enjoying the struggle for supremacy between the Washington and Chicago baseball clubs with as much apparent interest as did the small boy who almost roosted on the bleachers.

This was the first game the president has attended this season.

Secretaries Foster and Uncle Jerry Rusk, baseball experts, sat on either side of the president and commented on the scientific points of play. The president also seemed to greet the umpire with fairness, but several times when that official called a strike on the Washington batsmen the president said, "That ball was not over the plate," to which Secretary Foster, who was "rooting" for Cincinnati, took exception, and they firmly contended the point.

Blaine Declares His Candidacy.

NEW YORK, June 7.—A special to The Sun from Washington says: "It can be authoritatively stated that Mr. Blaine has communicated with his lieutenants in the Minneapolis convention by mail today and asking them to support him for the nomination."

The 1892 Model of the Remington is now on the market.

CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT has characterized the history of the REMINGTON STANDARD TYPEWRITER. The changes introduced into the 1892 model represent the carefully tested results of expert study of various points deemed capable of improvement. They present advantages in the quality of the work, and ease as well as convenience of operation which will readily commend themselves to all users.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

Wyckoff, Seamans & Benedict, 327 Broadway, New York.

ZIMMERMANN Successors to PIERSON HARDWARE CO. and 18 WEST FRONT STREET RUMPF.

are laying in an extra fine stock of Machinist's and Mechanics' Tools.

And also a special line of Builders' Hardware.

AGENTS for the Buckeye Mower, Welcome-Globe Stove, Hartman's Steel Wire Fence and Masury Paints.

Open Every Evening until 8 o'Clock.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

Having Disposed of the Produce Business

to Mr. L. A. Hummer, all persons owing the

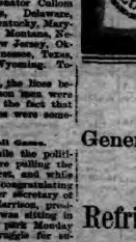
Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.



WHY IS THIS?

Three years ago the Duluth Imperial Mills made 300 barrels of flour a day.

Now they make 6000 barrels daily.

This is because a barrel of Imperial makes

18 to 20 More Loaves

of bread than any other flour, and the quality is the BEST. Order a barrel or bag of your grocer and satisfy yourself.

FRENCH BROS., CITY MILLS.

Telephone No. 24. Nos. 8, 10 and 12 Somerset street.

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE,

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Six Varieties.)

Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

BOEHM

Will sell for THIS WEEK ONLY,

Good Matting at 10c.

per yard (by the roll.) Largest stock of Carpets, Oil Cloths and Mattings in the city.

Special Low Prices

on Millinery, Dress Goods and Spring Jackets this week.

Agency for King's Dyeing of Co., Boston, Pa.

No. 9 West Front Street.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum and Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Boxes can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Sugar store, No. 13 West Second street.

A. M. SEGUINE,

Proprietor of

Laing's Hotel Stables,

on Front Street, Opp. Netherwood.

TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 26.

Coaches for weddings, funerals and private calls.

Light carriages at all descriptions for pleasure.

Safe, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.

MANNING HORSES REGISTER GOOD GAME

CRUSHED STONE!

ALL SIZES.

Of Sweet

Light Blue Color.

References:

F. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.
ROBT. A. MEEKER, Street Com.

Smalley Bros.,

94 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Hummer, Ag't,

80 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.

Invites the public to inspect the purchase of his newly delivered steam thoroughly screened and cleaned coal, which he is confidently assured is the cleanest coal that is possible by any other method of screening.

Upper Lehigh and Other Choice Coals on hand.

Prompt and Accurate Delivery.

He would also announce his recently increased facilities for Forwarding and Storage business, and is prepared to execute orders of the same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in BEST

QUALITY COAL

YARD AND OFFICE

SOUTH AVENUE.

P. O. BOX 1467.

Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Counsellors at Law, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Masters in Chancery. Rooms 7 and 8 Netherwood building, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E. Engineer of the Famous Union County Road System. Special attention given to street paving and sewerage. Office, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

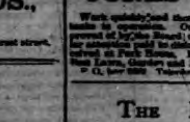
WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Attorney-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public and Conveyancer. Deeds and Money Public. Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 21 West Front street.

CLARK & MEAD, Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Solicitors in Chancery. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CRAIG A. MARSH, Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Solicitor and Master in Chancery, Notary Public. Office corner Front and Somerset streets.

OSCAR S. TEALE, Architect, 261 Broadway, New York city, and 28 and 29 Second National Bank Building, Residence, Plainfield.

PLAINFIELD MOTORLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY.



JONES & CO.

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Terms made to customers. Our apparatus is approved of by Board of Health. Permit and specifications from Engineer's office. Office and residence on Park Street, Manufacturers of Jones' Sewer Leaves, Garden and Field Rollers. P. O. Box 1288. Telephone call 37.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS H. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7:00, 8:30, 10:00 a. m., 12:30, 2:30, 5:30 p. m.
Close—7:00, 8:30, 10:00 a. m., 12:30, 2:30 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8:30 a. m., 1:30, 5:30 p. m.
Close—8:30 a. m., 1:30, 5:30 p. m.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 5:30 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:00 a. m.
Mail closes at 4:30 p. m.

E. H. POPE, P. M.

PATTISON ASKS FOR AID.

The Governor's Appeal for the Stricken Cities.

OVER TWO HUNDRED MAY BE DEAD.

The Death List at Oil City and Titusville Has Already Reached Frightful Proportions—At the Former Place Sixty-seven Bodies Have Been Recovered.

OIL CITY, Pa., June 7.—The second day after the disaster at Oil City is drawing to a close with but half windows known. How many bodies are yet in the fields of smoldering debris, which were blocks, were dwellings two days ago, it will take days to reveal. There is little reason to change the estimate that 100 are dead. General Wiley says that sixty-seven bodies have been recovered. It is impossible to ascertain just who is missing, as the people have become so widely scattered. At least 150 persons are injured, many of them fatally.

The fire swept the upper portion of the west side literally off the face of the earth, and then through some freak of the elements, skipped 200 yards or more in extent and caught again in the works and yards of the United Lumber and Coal company, destroying them completely. Some of the families which so hurriedly left their homes at the approach of danger have returned. But three persons are known to have been killed in this district. They were John Reinhold, John Dougherty and William Miller. Five, however, are so seriously burned that it is feared they will die. They are: August Brussell, his three sisters and Mary Fessmore.

The Identified Dead.

The following is a list of the identified dead which have been viewed by the coroner's jury:

Daniel Sullivan, engineer; S. L. Dorworth, storer; Charles Miller, machinist; Thomas Bristol, book agent, of Toronto; William E. Stafler, telegraph operator, Franklin, Pa.; Harry Kidmer, farmer, of Cambridge, N. Y.; E. V. R. Planke, Carthage, N. Y., leaves family; Charles Baker, H. D. Dougherty, Edward Ellis, Reinhold, Jr., and seven of five children; Samuel P. Stev- k; Bartholomew Lyon, Mrs. Kate Lyon, W. D. ---kins, William Lyon, ---Coppin, infant; Mrs. Flora O'Leary, widow; John O'Leary, Miss Emman Briggs, W. S. Wicks, proprietor large lumber yard; ---

Mrs. Mary Mills, wife of Edward Mills and mother of five children; ---- Briggs, an infant; Walter Fessmore, James Fessmore, Edith Fessman, twelve-year-old; J. B. Reinhold, Edward Easting, Myrtle Hawkes, twenty years old; Frank Watson, twelve years old; Eugene Price, twenty-six years old; Frank Hazelfritz, eighteen years old; E. Mills, daughter of Edward Mills, fourteen years old; Mrs. Coplin, ---- Roach, infant.

Four children, supposed to be those of the Mills family, which was entirely burned up, have been identified with fair accuracy.

Many Buildings Burned.

Many of the principal buildings are in ruins. The Bellevue hotel, the Petroleum House, the Oil City boiler factory, Graham, Paul & Son's furniture works and the Oil City tube works have all been destroyed. The work of seeking for the dead is being carried on by every one. The militia were early called out for guard duty. The water is now slowly failing and the worst of the flood's activity is over. The burned and flooded region comprised about forty acres.

More than 1,000 persons are homeless. The loss of property has been roughly estimated at from $700,000 to $1,000,000. The authorities and leading citizens of the place have organized relief corps and are rendering all possible assistance to the homeless and injured. Temporary hospitals have been established. The railroad bridges are thought to be all right, so outside communication is insured. Help is coming in from surrounding places. Anxiety on account of the ignorance in regard to the dead is in the minds of all.

John Cleary was found dead kneeling at the foot of his mother's bed. She had been ill and was unable to move. Her son preferred death to leaving his mother.

In the ruins in another house was found the corpse of a woman with clasped hands, as if death had found her praying, and beside her were two children who had died in each other's arms.

Desolation at Titusville.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., June 7.—Over fifty dead recovered, perhaps fifty more not found, and at least $1,000,000 worth of property destroyed by fire and flood is the sum total of the terrible disaster which has overtaken Titusville. The city is a city of mourning. Most of the stores are closed, the barrooms are shut up and there is crape on many a door. People in a half demented state throng the morgues looking for loved ones whom they will probably never hear from, while others at their homes or at some friend's house stare aimlessly at their loved one's lying dead before them.

Governor Pattison's Appeal.

The dead in Oil City and Titusville, according to conservative estimates, number more than 200. It is possible that 500 persons have perished.

Nothing as yet has been heard from the dozen or more who are suffering on Oil creek between the two towns, a distance of eighteen miles. If these places have suffered as Titusville and Oil City have suffered, the list of the dead may reach very large figures.

Governor Pattison has asked for aid in a proclamation. The citizens of the stricken towns have also raised their voices asking help. Titusville's appeal follows:

Our suffering and destitution is terrible. Great loss of life and destruction of property. A large portion of our manufacturing interests wiped out by flood and fire. Hundreds of families homeless and destitute. In absence of Mayor Emerson, we appeal to a generous public for help in this our time of distress.

Remittances may be made to Mayor Emerson, the Commercial bank, J. L. McKinney, president; or the Second National bank, L. E. Sigh, cashier; also Roger Sherman, chairman relief committee.

Saved the Wrong Woman.

One of the saddest tragedies of this calamity was that enacted at the home of John Omass, on Mechanic street. When Omass and his wife caught sight of the flood of fire leaping toward them the wife screamed and the husband lost his head. Maddened by the sight of the railing of flames he dove beneath a burning mass of oil. He rose in time to see a woman, not his wife, and rescued her, but found that the woman was not his wife. Turning he saw her standing in the doorway crying for help. The sea of boiling water rapid between, and while he looked the flames licked around her feet and she sank beneath the flood.

Opium Smugglers Caught.

LEWISTON, N. Y., June 7.—A clever capture of opium smugglers was made here. The prisoners are William H. Dean, late secretary of the Niagara and Queenstown Land and Electric company, and George L. Bell, of Toronto, both prominent men. They had five bags containing sixty pounds of opium, silks and other goods.

FASHIONS

Stylish Neckwear.

The large scarfs so much worn now are cut in various materials and of every fashionable millinery shade.

The scarf shown in the sketch is of spotted foulard. Others for summer wear are of delicate colored surah and chiffon, embroidered at the edge. Pretty bows for evening wear are of chiffon, in such dainty color combinations as pink and primrose, sky and pink, mauve and yellow, and in yellow and black and pale blue and white. Bows of spangled net are among the latest novelties. In this connection it may be mentioned that the newest shirt waists are made in flowered cambric trimmed with double frills. Many ladies are wearing with the stiff shirt fronts scarfs of the same materials and patterns as are those worn by men. Turnover linen collars and cuffs represent the newest style in this direction.

FOULARD SCARF AND CHIFFON BOW.

A writer in the Boston Transcript has figured up that heaven contains 1,800,000,000 souls, against a population in hell of 175,000,000,000.

Mr. Morton's Barn Burned.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 7.—The large barn of Ellerslie, the home of Vice President Morton at Rhinebeck, was burned. Our team of horses perished. The loss is $40,000.

Comptroller Lacey to Resign.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Comptroller Lacey has notified the president that he will resign July 1 to accept the presidency of the Banker's National bank of Chicago.

Confederate Memorial Day Celebrated.

BALTIMORE, June 7.—The Confederate Memorial Day was observed in Maryland and other southern states Monday.

Mrs. Harrison Improving.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The condition of Mrs. Harrison is reported to be much better.

Debarred.

"Why don't you get married?"

"Because if any woman consented to marry me I'd lose my respect for her."—Life.

A Family Affair

Health for the Baby, Pleasure for the Parents, New Life for the Old Folks.

Hires' Root Beer

THE GREAT TEMPERANCE DRINK

Is a family affair—a requisite in the house. A 25 cent package makes 5 gallons of a delicious, refreshing, effervescent beverage.

Don't be deceived if a dealer, for the sake of larger profit, says "just as good." Insist on Hires'. No imitation is as good as the genuine Hires'.

PIPTONIZED Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'

GET YOUR Bicycle Repaired at NO. 3 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J. by Henry Goeller, Jr.

HILL MEN STAND FIRM.

They Will Support the Senator to the End.

ONLY ONE DISSENTING DELEGATE.

The Resolution Which Was Offered by General Slocum at a Meeting in New York Was Adopted by a Vote of Sixty-nine to One.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The New York state delegates to the Democratic national convention met in secret session at the Hoffman house at 5:45 p. m., Chairman Edward J. Murphy presiding. On roll call seventy members answered to their names. Senator Hill was absent. Secretary De Freest read a resolution offered by General H. W. Slocum, instructing the delegates to offer to the national convention the name of David B. Hill as a candidate for president, and to vote for him until he was nominated, or so long as his name shall be before the convention. The resolution was received with loud applause. On roll call, beginning with the name of Roswell P. Flower, the resolution was adopted by sixty-nine affirmative votes, the only negative being cast by Benjamin B. Wood.

Why Murphy Opposes Cleveland.

The following committees were appointed: On resolutions, Roswell P. Flower, of Jefferson; Edward Murphy, Jr., of Queens; Jas. W. C. Cochran, of New York; on permanent organization, W. C. Dewitt, of Kings. The delegates decided to meet at Chicago on the Friday preceding the convention.

General Daniel E. Sickles, in conversation with Congressman Springer, exclaimed with emphasis, "We are for Hill in New York and we will stand for him until the lower regions freeze over."

Chairman Murphy, when asked what he thought of the action taken by the delegates, said: "I believe in nominating Hill as a matter of party policy, as an indorsement of his record as a Democrat, as an evidence of his sterling integrity to his party and his ability to lead us to success. I am opposed to Cleveland for one reason, because of his apparent weakness in a state which it is imperative should be carried for the Democracy. Mr. Cleveland had the backing of the machinery of the government, had a clean administration, and carried out the policy by which he now expects to get the approval of the public. Yet, with all this, he was unable to carry New York state. I believe he is even weaker now than at the last presidential election, and that to nominate him now would mean certain defeat."

THE BEE HIVE!

Summer Underwear.

Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.

Ladies' ribbed vests, in high neck, short sleeves and long sleeves, 25c.

Ladies' gauze vests, in short and long sleeves, 25c.

Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed, gauze and medium weight.

Men's balbriggan shirts, in long and short sleeves, and drawers at 25, 40 and 50c

Men's Summer Merino shirts and drawers, 25 35 and 50c.

Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, 5c.

Children's Summer underwear, gauze vests, in short and long sleeves also pantletts, sizes, 16, 18c.; 18, 19c.; 20, 19c.; 22, 20c.; 24, 22c.; 26, 25c.; 28, 30c.

A full line of Parasols, Lace caps, white dresses, and infants' long and short cashmere coats.

Louis Callman,

40 West Front Street.

To the Public:

Neuman Bros.

Desire to call special attention to their choice and select line of canned vegetables, viz: French peas, preserved sugar corn, Burnham & Morrill's Paris sugar corn, Shrewsbury tomatoes, Earl tomatoes, F. H. Leggett's stewed tomatoes Felt & Wilberner's extra sifted peas, Golden State sugar peas, extra early June peas, Hamburg Stringless Beans, Hudson River asparagus and tips

Special reductions given by the case or dozen. Also a fine assortment of Gorden & Dowsett's jellies and fruit preserves.

79 BROADWAY.

Miss Blanche Fellows

VOCALIST

and Teacher of Singing.

Rapid development and complete education of the voice.

Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formation and tone production.

Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Call or address

NO. 87 DUER STREET.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher.

46 West Front Street.

George - Bremmer,

No 28 SOMERSET STREET.

READY MADE CLOTHING,

or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

CARRIAGES and HARNESS.

$15.00

Buys hand made rubber mounted harness.

$100.00

Buys canopy top, natural wood surrey.

Prices and styles to suit all.

SWIFT SAFETIES.

RYERSON,

36 SOMERSET STREET.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

LAWN MOWERS,

Bicycles, and

General Machinery

Repairs, at

SCHENCK'S

Machine Shop,

North Plainfield. Also Pipe Fitting.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet

MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS,

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 965.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters

and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 282.

R. V. SAUER,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Bronx.

P. O. Box 1288

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. P. HOFFMAN,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

Residence—54 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ABBOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates Cheerfully Given and Jobbing promptly attended to. Corner Sayre and Second streets, Plainfield, N. J. Factory—Front street, Dunellen. Selected hard wood work. P. O. Box 1044.

JOHN HEERMANS,

Stair Builder and hard wood panted mantels. Corner of Grant and Second streets, North Plainfield, N. J.

Residence, 5 Eugene street.

GARDEN FLOWER & LAWN Seeds and Fertilizers.

Special Lawn Seeds for shady and dry lawns.

GARDEN TOOLS and Lawn Mowers.

WATER PIPING AND PLUMBING.

Tinwork, Hardware and Housefurnishings.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

12 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS

PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—49 East Front street.

Joseph T. Sullivan,

No. 66 West Third Street,

Dealer in Choice

Wines, Liquors, etc.

BEER ON DRAUGHT.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

93 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

45 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.

49 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

NO. 15 NORTH AVENUE. Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : : - - - NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

In buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 46 EMILY STREET,

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

NEW ○°○ STORE!

I beg to announce that I have opened a store pertaining to bedding at 76 West Front street. Below we quote some of our prices:

Mattresses	$1.50 to $15
3 point Jute Mattress, 25 lbs.	$12
Extra Feather Pillows	$1.50, $2, $2.50
Bolster Pillows	75 cents
Baby Down Pillows	50 cents
Comforts	$1, $1.25, $1.50

Sheets, 45c.; bolsters and pillow cases; Oil Cloth by the yard; Oriental and Turkish Rugs, $1 to $4.50; polyform carpet sweepers. Cribs, Cradles, Spring, Rocking Chairs, Lounges, Pictures, Cradles, Cribs, Bedroom Crockery, Couches, Rocking Chairs, Lounges, and a hundred and one other things cheaper than you can buy them in any other store.

T. J. CAREY, - Proprietor.

76 WEST FRONT STREET.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never finished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any of the first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor Dealer, Telephone Co. [487.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(The Four Reading R. R. Co., Lessee.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Stations in Plainfield, foot of Watchung avenue.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 2 35, 5 35, 6 35, 7 35, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35, 11 35, 12 35, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4

THE JOYS OF JUNE.

The Perfect Month, Full of Everything Moral, Verdurous and Musical.

The gentle spring, "hour winter's bloom ing child," has gone away, delicious May is in her company, and June, "digbt in a thin silken cassock, colored green," re joices at the opening month of the man hood of the year. All the powers of nature are developed, its vigor is fresh, it is in the full flush of beauty. It is buoyant with the bustle of exuberant life. Each previous month of the year has formed part of the great preparation for the settled purpose of this flowery time, for on all sides, in garden, field and grove alike, there have been operations begun and carried on to the perfect fullness of the beauty of the joy of June.

Summer has set forth her upon heath, field, wood and grove.

Here and there in the glare, white, red, gold.

Of poppy fronts the flowers stand.

Full of joy laughs the sky, laughs what on the earth doth rove.

June's fine long days invite the birds to early song, and so upon the misty morning air there comes a cheerful sound, a murmur as of waters from the skies and trees and grass. The lark, "bird of the morning dawn," sings with ready lay; and though sweet Philomela is becoming dumb and will no longer design a song to charm the hours of night, a host of others—the blackcap, the robin, as a matter of course, and the rest of the summer singers—give forth their wild and pleasing airs from bush and brake and bower. There is calling, cooing, wooing, singing all around.

High in the grove's embowering shade,
For love and contemplation made,
The feathered poets hide in melting warble:
Whilst o'er the valley, hill and plain,
The blackbird, linnet and the thrush
Make sweetly varied country bush.
All, heard or seen, our rapture move;
For all is harmony and love.

Even the sombre young frogs, no long maligned as harmful, having gone through their wonderful transformations, rejoicingly leave the water to leap about, as if in frolicsome mood, during June, while all the older ones "stand at the brink," as Dante described them, "with their jaws only out," uttering strange jargon, not altogether pleasant to the ears. True, they are called in derision Dutch nightingales, and have been looked upon unspeakingly ever since they "rolled at Lethe's twin born progeny," but for all that they add to the joy of June. It is pretty much as Gilbert White affirmed: "Sounds do not always give us pleasure according to their sweetness and melody; nor do harsh sounds always displease. We are more apt to be captivated or disgusted with the associations which they occasion than with the notes themselves." So it may be said of the frog, as the naturalist of Selborne said of another despised animal, it "marvellously delights some hearers, filling their minds with a train of summer ideas of everything that is rural, verdurous and joyous."

Feeling the Bark from Trees.

Every one knows that if we take off the bark entirely from around the trunk of a tree it will die. Strange to say, this is only true of about ten months in the year, for if the bark is peeled a week or so before the sap begins to flow in the spring the tree will immediately repair the damage done by the removal of the bark. Mahan, who makes the foregoing statement, says in his monthly that there is no doubt whatever about this fact, although to the day a large number of men, eminent in botanical science, will not believe it. He has indeed known of trees in such a lifedoomed condition as to be positively dead, and completely girdled, and then by stripping off the whole of the bark the first or second week in June. Nature intended that the bark of trees should be removed, that it is no longer of any use, and has provided each tree with cork cells, the development of which is the agent by which the old bark is thrown off. When these cork cells are undeveloped, or something occurs to prevent their proper action, the tree becomes diseased, and it is found in Moravia and on Russian and Kaffa in the Crimea, and in Asia it is found abundantly and gives employment to men who mine it. Mesembaium, from its having been found on the seashore in some places in peculiarly rounded snow white lumps, was ignorantly imagined to be petrified froth of the sea, which is the meaning of its German name. It is composed of silica, magnesia and water. When first dug from the earth it is quite soft and pliable to the touch, and as it lathers with water and removes grease, it is employed by the Turks as a substitute for soap in washing. After being molded into pipes these are boiled in oil or wax and baked until hard.

Music and Solar Time.

Owing to the inclination of the earth's axis and its unequal movement in its orbit, solar days vary in their length. The average solar day corresponds to the twenty-four hours of the clock, and this average is called mean time. If a clock were so constructed so as to give the real solar time for all periods of the year, it would be observed that sometimes the solar clock pointed at noon the ordinary clock, keeping mean time, would be pointing at figures between 11 and 12, or else between 12 and 12:15. Four times each year, however, the two clocks would coincide, and correct noonmarks can be made at 12 M. April 15, 4 minutes 1, and a shadow of a dial or noonmark would point due south at noon by the clock.

Postmistresses.

A recent estimate places the number of women acting as postmistresses in the United States 6,325, of which number 468 are in Pennsylvania and 469 in Virginia. North Carolina stands third with 328. Only two other states have over 200 each, 250 in Ohio, 243 in New York, 216 in Georgia, 210 in Texas and 209 in Kentucky. Alaska has only 1 and Rhode Island and Oklahoma have 10 each.

Fastest Possible Railroad Time.

An English magazine, The Engineer, submits statements to prove that eighty miles an hour is the highest possible speed, giving the following argument to prove its position: "An eminent American authority says that with a smooth, solid and staple trackway and improved mechanism there appears to be no reason why trains may not attain a speed of 100 miles an hour."

The Elder Sister.

How much the world owes to the elder sister in the home. Born while yet the family was in limited circumstances, she has grown up in half self-reliance for herself and brothers. And if there is anything that excites my sympathy it is a little girl carrying around a great heavy child, and getting her own dinner when she has a little doll to play with. By the time she gets to young womanhood she is pale and worn out, and her attractive face has a look of thrall on the belief of unlovely fidelity, and she is consigned to celibacy, and society calls her by an ungallant name, but in heaven they call her Martha. It seems to me that the most unbearable place in the record of births are the first and the last, the first because she is worn out with the cares of a home that cannot afford to hire help, and the last because she is spoiled as a pet.

Among the genuine equipages that sweep through the streets of heaven will be those occupied by sisters who sacrificed themselves for brothers. They will have the finest of Apocalyptic white horses, and Kaffa in the Crimea, and in Asia it is found abundantly and gives employment to men who mine it. Mesembaium, from its having been found on the seashore in some places in peculiarly rounded snow white lumps, was ignorantly imagined to be petrified froth of the sea, which is the meaning of its German name. It is composed of silica, magnesia and water. When first dug from the earth it is quite soft and pliable to the touch, and as it lathers with water and removes grease, it is employed by the Turks as a substitute for soap in washing. After being molded into pipes these are boiled in oil or wax and baked until hard.

Woman's Greatest Charm.

Woman's greatest charm to me is that sweetness of spirit which is to be found not in the verdancy and inexperience of a young woman nor in the infantile rigidity of age, but in a woman of mature heart and wide and ripe experience, who has attained to the fullness of perfect love; one whom experience has taught to avoid the unwisdom of the extremes of both; whose spirit and kindness of heart forbid her knowingly to wound or give offense to any one, and whose tact and intuitive power prevent her from doing it unwittingly; whose well balanced judgment and keen discrimination, allied to active intuition, teach her instinctively to do the right thing at the right time and in the right way; one who has passed through the crucible of suffering and the conditions of hardship, yet whose indomitable spirit and unflinching courage have been strengthened rather than crushed or weakened thereby; who, having been weighty, is able to make intelligent comparison and profit by the lesson; one whose stout heart and unwavering faith in human nature enable her to look calmly and hopefully upon the wrongs of men, and to go steadily onward in whatsoever path of duty may lie before her, patiently awaiting the glimmering light of the rising dawn which heralds the coming day.—Charles H. Roqua in New York Press.

How Women Vote.

A woman's election is about as much like a man's as a rosebud is like a thorny cactus. A woman voter is not shut up in a little coop and made to swear to her age and to more absurd things. If she were there would not be so many votes at the election. No; they sit in a big circle about the table where the votes are counted, all in their spotless gowns and gayest bonnets, while fair "custodians" trip about passing the slips and collecting the votes all in graceful dignity and order. To look on for a minute is to fall in love with them for all eternity. And if there is anything that excites my sympathy it is a little girl carrying around a great heavy child, and getting her own dinner when she has a little doll to play with. By the time she gets to young womanhood she is pale and worn out, and her attractive face has a look of thrall on the belief of unlovely fidelity, and she is consigned to celibacy, and society calls her by an ungallant name, but in heaven they call her Martha. It seems to me that the most unbearable place in the record of births are the first and the last, the first because she is worn out with the cares of a home that cannot afford to hire help, and the last because she is spoiled as a pet.

The Mother.

When a bad boy gets into the limbos and is before the bar of justice, the boy's mother is the first and last with him. One of them sat not many days ago on a settee in the police courtroom, a thin, pale sort of a woman with very little hope in her face.

"I expected this from the first," said she to the reporter, getting as him just as though she wanted some one to talk to. "I always told him, and I always doubted from father to son. I have been all through this with the boy's father and he is dead. Worry killed him, you bet, I guess! that the taint might be spared him. It was not heard. He will have to go the very same course as his father. It isn't worry so much society, and a candidate for hapiness or wretchedness. He will, like Moses, have the choice between ruin and living cooks, and your influence will have much to do with his decision.—Dr. Talmage in Ladies' Home Journal.

Woman's Greatest Charm.

Woman's greatest charm to me is that sweetness of spirit which is to be found not in the verdancy and inexperience of a young woman nor in the infantile rigidity of age, but in a woman of mature heart and wide and ripe experience, who has attained to the fullness of perfect love; one whom experience has taught to avoid the unwisdom of the extremes of both; whose spirit and kindness of heart forbid her knowingly to wound or give offense to any one, and whose tact and intuitive power prevent her from doing it unwittingly; whose well balanced judgment and keen discrimination, allied to active intuition, teach her instinctively to do the right thing at the right time and in the right way; one who has passed through the crucible of suffering and the conditions of hardship, yet whose indomitable spirit and unflinching courage have been strengthened rather than crushed or weakened thereby; who, having been weighty, is able to make intelligent comparison and profit by the lesson; one whose stout heart and unwavering faith in human nature enable her to look calmly and hopefully upon the wrongs of men, and to go steadily onward in whatsoever path of duty may lie before her, patiently awaiting the glimmering light of the rising dawn which heralds the coming day.—Charles H. Roqua in New York Press.

How Women Vote.

A woman's election is about as much like a man's as a rosebud is like a thorny cactus. A woman voter is not shut up in a little coop and made to swear to her age and to more absurd things. If she were there would not be so many votes at the election. No; they sit in a big circle about the table where the votes are counted, all in their spotless gowns and gayest bonnets, while fair "custodians" trip about passing the slips and collecting the votes all in graceful dignity and order. To look on for a minute is to fall in love with them for all eternity. And if there is anything that excites my sympathy it is a little girl carrying around a great heavy child, and getting her own dinner when she has a little doll to play with. By the time she gets to young womanhood she is pale and worn out, and her attractive face has a look of thrall on the belief of unlovely fidelity, and she is consigned to celibacy, and society calls her by an ungallant name, but in heaven they call her Martha. It seems to me that the most unbearable place in the record of births are the first and the last, the first because she is worn out with the cares of a home that cannot afford to hire help, and the last because she is spoiled as a pet.

The Mother.

When a bad boy gets into the lim

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Local Box 1. Telephone Call 49. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," WEDNESDAY JUNE 8, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR THEIR VACATION, SHOULD SEND NEW ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

The Weather.

Generally fair to partly cloudy and warmer.

BREVITIES

—The wreck train last night brought down twelve badly damage cars from the Lebanon wreck yesterday.

—A strawberry festival and lawn party will be given at the Park place M. E. chapel, June 9th and 10th, afternoon and evening.

—Chief of Fire Department Doane is personally superintending the erection of the fire hydrants in this city and testing them.

—Marshal Pangborn has designated Geo. A. Lewis of 88 Manning avenue, as a deputy dog-catcher. The marshal has this power under the ordinance.

—The 33d anniversary of the Holy Cross church and the fourth anniversary of the choir next Sunday. Special music has been prepared for the occasion.

—Children's Day will be observed at the First Presbyterian church next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. An address will be delivered by the Rev. Charles B. Chapman. All are invited to attend.

—An entertainment was given at the Holy Cross Church, last evening, for the benefit of the camping fund. The programme consisted of vocal and instrumental solos and a farce by Mr. George F. Taggart.

—A petition was presented at the last meeting of the New Brunswick Common Council from the W. C. T. U., asking that the Council compel all saloons to remove the screens and blinds from their windows on Sundays.

—The down town track rails of the Plainfield Street Railway Company are now laid on Front street as far as Washington avenue. The entire track will be laid to Front street before the uptown track is commenced.

—The Executive Committee of the State Board of Agriculture visited Union county yesterday to make a tour of inspection of the county roads. The party were driven over the entire system of county roads, which the visitors highly praised.

—The East New Jersey Baptist Association met in convention at Scotch Plains yesterday, and the session was continued to-day. The meetings are being held in the Scotch Plains Baptist church, and several important matters will come up for discussion.

Serious Fun Hazing Industrious Jews.

Pinxster Monday in Germany is a great day for picnics, and general jollification. It appears also a day Germans use to haze Jews.

Last Monday the Germans hereabouts celebrated the day according to the old custom. Two of them became intoxicated, and in the evening visited a Jewish shoemaker on Somerset street, and ordered him to quit work, saying that they were Union men, and warning him that he must not work more than ten hours a day.

The Jew objected to their interference with his industrious habits, and they proceeded at once to do him violence, and drive him out of his house.

Marshal Pangborn happened to be in the vicinity, and the Jew called on him for protection. He promptly arrested both offenders, one after the other, and locked them in the borough jail over night.

They made violent threats during the night, but in the morning, when they had sobered down they were heartily ashamed of themselves and pleaded guilty.

The judge, satisfied that they were not ordinarily vicously inclined citizens, dealt with them leniently, imposing a fine of only $5 and costs in each case, which was promptly paid.

The offenders hold responsible positions, and are unlikely to be caught this mischief-ing themselves again.

List of Advertised Letters.

Remaining in the Plainfield Post Office for the week ending June 4, 1892:

Bailey, Miss Emma Logan, Wm
Cartwright, Miss A Mallon, W T
Collins, Wm Martin, E
Canfield, A E Mantz, Jas
DeLamp, C Mc Mc T E
Dunlap, J M Ostender, I
DeLaMontanye, Mrs O'Neil, Jno P
Fredericks, Albert Perkins, Mrs
Fenton, Harry W Runyon, E G
Gleim, Miss H C Sapidge, Albert
Gibson, Miss Sapidge, Mrs E
Hutchinson, Miss N Remington, Chas E
Johnson, Mrs Shirley & Co,
Kellenberger, Wm Shirley, Miss
Kiernan, Lizzie Vail, Miss Sarah
Kane, Miss Maggie Wyckoff, Tedeusz Woodruff, C F

Persons calling for the above please say advertised. E. R. Page, Postmaster.

PERSONAL.

John B. Wilkins, formerly of Newark, died at the residence of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Chapin, yesterday. The funeral services will take place from the house, No. 13 East Fifth street, to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. The deceased was one of Plainfield's old residents and left here for Newark about eleven years ago. When he formerly lived here, he was associated with Mr. Perrine the hat manufacturer. He had many friends in this city and Newark.

City Court.

George Harding, who was arrested for using vile and indecent language, was brought up for trial this morning. Complainant appeared and stated that the prisoner had apologized and Judge Coddington suspended sentence.

ST. GEORGE CRICKET TEAM WINS.

The Harlem Cricket Club Defeated on Saturday Last.

The Harlem Cricket Club, of New York, visited this city last Saturday and were defeated by the St. George Cricket Club of Plainfield.

St. George's batted first and made the respectable score of 88 runs, chiefly through the careful batting of Fred. Wharton and John Arden. Tom Hendry retired hurt, having received a bad knock on the forehead, from a thrown ball, while stealing a run.

The Harlemites managed by steady play to make 24 runs, thus losing the game by 26 runs. The following is the result of the game.

ST. GEORGE'S 1ST INNINGS.

J. Arden, lcg b. w. bowler Loughlin	3
J. R. Higham, b. Webster	7
Fred Wharton, b. Webster	20
H. Turner, c. Reuals b. Webster	0
J. Arden, c. Wharton b. Webster	42
W. Jolly, b. Webster	0
P. Gow, c. & b. Loughlin	8
H. Hendry, b. Loughlin	5
H. Hendry, not out	0
T. Hendry, retired hurt	0
D. Thompson, b. Webster	0
Byes	0
Leg byes	3
Wides	0
	88

HARLEM.

T. H. Daniels, c. Hayland	0
W. Barnet, c. Turner b. Higham	3
T. Loughlin, c. Gow b. Hendry	4
W. Fewkes, b. Hendry	1
H. S. Bourne, thrown out, b. Hendry	0
J. Reuals, lcg b. w. b. Wharton	0
W. Webster, c. & b. Hendry	0
Hayland, c. Arden b. Hendry	0
J. Wood, b. Hendry	0
H. Slovak, not out	1
Byes	0
Leg byes	0
Wides	0
	24

PLAINFIELD WHEELMEN TO RACE.

Arrangements Completed for the Bicycle Contest—July 9th, the Date.

Arrangements have been completed for the Championship Bicycle race, open to all wheelmen in this city and the date selected is Saturday, July 9th. Entries will close on July 2d, with Captain F. L. C. Martin and J. Hervey Doane.

The course is to be as follows: Start at Scott Press Works, on South avenue to Fanwood road, to Front street to Richmond street to Scott Press Works, three times, thence east South avenue to a turning stake and return, in all a distance of twenty miles. There are to be but eight men started, one being donated by Capt. F. L. C. Martin.

The handicaps will not be announced until next month.

State Teachers to Meet.

The New Jersey State Teachers' Association will hold its annual meeting at Asbury Park on June 28th, and continue in session for three days. Among the orators who are expected are the Rev. Dr. Sims, chancellor of Syracuse University, and formerly pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, Newark; James MacAllister, LL. D., president of Drexel Institute, Philadelphia; Charles DeGarmo, president of Swarthmore College, Pa.; George E. Hardy, New York City; Dr. James M. Green, principal New Jersey State normal school, and superintendents of schools in New Jersey cities and towns.

Press Club.

A special meeting of the Union County Press Club was held Monday afternoon in the rooms of the club over L. B. Day's in the Devine building, Elizabeth. The vacancies in the offices were filled by the election of Joseph D. Lowden as president, and Augustus W. Schwarts, member of the Board of Governors.

At a meeting of the Board of Governors, following the club's business session, Mr. A. W. Schwartz was elected treasurer.

Children's Day at Warren Mission.

The usual Children's Day service next Sunday, at Warren Mission, will be extended to a double exercise this year, afternoon and evening.

Recitations appropriate to the day, and good singing by the choir and school will make up the programme. The evening service will also be addressed by Mr. D. M. Moore. All friends are cordially invited.

Plainfield Cemeteries at the Front.

Among the lantern slides exhibits last night before the Photographical Section of the American Institute, a number made by Mr. Babcock of the Plainfield Camera Club were particularly commended, especially his flash-light pictures, which were pronounced by experts present, as better than any they had before seen.

Ladies' Aid Society Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the German church for the election of officers and other business transactions will be held to-morrow evening at eight o'clock. The members of the society are cordially invited to be present.

A social will be held in a week from to-morrow.

Bicycle Notes.

Wheelmen of Bridgeton will participate in a street carnival next Saturday evening. Valuable prizes will be offered for the best decorated wheel, also the best costumed rider. The lady cyclists of the city will also participate in the carnival, besides large delegations from Millville, Vineland, Cedarville and Salem.

—The regular monthly business meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held Thursday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock in the rooms of the association.

FINANCE REPORT.

EXPERT ACCOUNTANT PATTERSON'S SHOWING.

A Thorough Examination of the City's Financial Affairs.—Several Books which are of no Value.—Clerical Errors.—The City's Resources.

The following is a copy of Mr. A. S. Patterson's report to Mr. Charles Flat, Chairman of the Finance Committee, which was submitted at the meeting of the Council on Monday night, and briefly referred to in yesterday's NEWS:

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 1st, 1892.

Mr. Charles J. Flat, Chairman Finance Committee, Plainfield, N. J.:

DEAR SIR:—Herewith are submitted Balance sheet showing the condition of the financial affairs of the City of Plainfield on the following dates, viz:

January 1, 1891; January 1, 1892; May 1, 1892, and June 1, 1892, with auxiliary other documents relating thereto, as per schedule attached to documents, this communication.

In order to arrive at the results presented it was necessary to write up the City Treasurer's cash book, as of May 1, from January 1, 1891, and to verify the record by an examination, not in detail, of the vouchers of the County, as per; 2d, of the warrants drawn and paid, etc., of the several bank accounts; 3d, of the Tax Collector's books, etc.

While the City Clerk, the Collector and the Treasurer have each certain books containing a record respectively, of the proceedings of the Council, the accounts carried and the entries re-corded and disbursed, the city does not possess those records so as to convey an intelligent idea of a financial year's work. There has, therefore, been no proper record of some important transactions, such as certain transfers from one fund to another; or of outstanding obligations at the end of the year, especially of the City Treasurer, and therefore there have been no means of ascertaining the exact financial condition of the city, or its departments.

The two books, (one each for the transactions with each bank of deposit) which have been kept by the Treasurer are practically of no value. They are inaccurate in several instances. In two cases (Jan. 6) footings have been recorded without sufficient items to warrant them, and in way and been preferred to balance and prove the accounts. These errors are purely clerical, the city has not suffered by the discrepancy, but the lack of system is vicious, and opens the way for possible loss at the hands of an unfaithful clerk.

From this lack of system and proper data, it was impossible to prepare a correct financial statement, hence the "City Treasurer's Report of City Finances for the year 1891," and bearing date January 6th, 1892, does not show the true condition of the city's finances January 1, 1892, as the following table will in part exhibit. The Treasurer's balances are taken from that part of his report bearing the caption, "Recapitulation," and are compared with the amounts taken from the balance sheet.

	Treas.	Bal. Sheet
Balance Gen'l fund	$13,154.69	$7,594.14
Bal. fire fund	3,061.62	1,150.82
" library fund	1,014.25	1,014.25
" poor "	1,801.90	2,611.52
" water "	2,970.07	2,970.07
	$24,002.53	$17,080.80
Bal. North ave sewer	$150.05	$150.05
" Assessments	40.15	260.36
	$24,194.17	$17,053.77
Bal. available for 1892 deposited in First Nat. Bank	86,854.77
City Nat. Bank	6,583.63
Treasurer's hands	260.36	16,053.77

The discrepancies arise from the fact that the Treasurer did not charge up the warrants promptly as paid, but, at the end of a month, when he would take them up at bank, by striking off a check for the total warrants paid at bank, but taking no account of warrants outstanding.

The warrants issued at the close of 1891, (Dec. 28 and 31) and not presented at bank until 1892, were likewise not taken up until the end of January, and so did not appear in the Treasurer's report for the year 1891.

Again, the Treasurer shows receipts and disbursements for account of Board of Education, $13,581.69, which is a correct amount, according to his check book, was $14,581.69.

This is a clerical error also, whereby no loss accrued to City or Board of Education.

Warrant No. 7627	$88.00
" 7628	35.00
" 7630	88.00

issued for police purposes in Dec., 1891, were not treated as cash disbursements by the Treasurer in his report for 1891.

It is most essential that the city should have a proper set of books, and that its rapidly growing financial affairs should be recorded according to ordinary business methods.

There is no record of the existence of Fire Department bonds other than that appearing in the report of the Treasurer interest and the redemption of one bond for $1,000.00.

The question of careful accounting is shown again in the items of street expenditures and assessments. From January 1, 1891, to May 1, 1892, there were expended on streets $22,120.05. While from Statement No. 24 is shown that assessments and subscriptions on account to No. 6 $6,527.22 were included in the expenditures so that the net cost to the city was $15,592.83. This account includes the Street Commissioner's account, which has never been closed, and which has never been presented or rendered in statement form.

As further evidence of the city's needs in this direction it will be found by reference to Statement No. 25 that there are practically four reamber collectors of revenue. While as many assessments are there may appear on the sundry street and sewer assessment open, viz:

First, The Collector of Taxes, who receives and deposits to the Collector's credit all taxes paid monthly, offsets the same against the James Hand, the Treasurer, who makes no entries until the check is received from the bank.

Second, The Delinquent Tax Collector who turns his collections over to the Tax Collector, who in turn transfers them to the Treasurer.

Third, The Treasurer who receives the moneys paid for interest on assessments and court fines, which latter are transferred to the County.

Fourth, The City Clerk who receives the bank and poolroom license fees, which are deposited in the Treasurer about once a year.

Fifth, Divers and sundry citizens who are interested in the assessments and who for convenience they collect the amounts to be paid by property owners along the lines of the several street and sewer improvements. These amounts reach the Treasurer in a haphazard manner, and have been recorded by him in private memorandum books.

A case in point was the payment, February 29, 1892, by the executors of the late Treasurer Van Winkle, who found upon his private records an entry to the effect that said sum was due the city. The amount could easily have been lost and the city have had no suspicion of it.

There was no official record of outstanding warrants January 1, 1891, and 1,484, but from statement Nos. 15-16, subtract 1,000.77

The City Clerk audits the bills against the city (before payment) hears the minutes of the Council wherein are recorded its authorization to pay, draws the warrants to pay said bills; retains possession of the vouchers; and, as previously stated, keeps a record of certain revenues. It would seem that too much responsibility thus devolves upon one official who, moreover, is not under bonds.

Without doubt the city would be better served if the collection of revenue were centered in one official, who should issue all licenses, deal by and with the authorized banks, to the credit of the several accounts represented in the Treasurer's office, who in turn should certify his collections to the treasurer revised by presentation of the bank books; and that, this redemption be discounted, the warrants to be issued as official vouchers for the bank accounts. The treasurer would then have no need of the checks except in the transfer of funds from bank to bank, and for the payment of State and county taxes once a year.

It appears that the delinquent taxes are not checked off, that no balance is struck, and that the City Collector has not sufficient data to show monthly what delinquent taxes should be charged up against both.

In the matter of delinquent tax collections the records are not complete or reliable. It has been impossible to correctly identify the amounts collected as against the roll of the Council. Such schedule should be spread in detail; the stubs of the license books should check against the duplicates, and the cash receipts against both.

In the matter of delinquent tax collections the records of the Collector the claim the larger the compensation received by the delinquent tax collector, and the less the fees of the regular collector. The delinquent collector receives his fee whether the tax is paid to him or the collector.

Interest and penalties upon delinquent taxes have not been received. It would seem that the most equitable of these, and was not included in the compensation of the delinquent collector, for a correct adjustment of accounts. It is an important matter, however, and should have attention at the hands of the Council.

The resources of the city included for its re-organized accounts cover only the following items, and can be found in the collected cases and in the treasury, viz:

To enter upon its books its entire assets, viz: Cash in bank, bonds, real estate, etc., it will be necessary to make an inventory of the same. This should be done on all general principles, as well as to clearly distinguish between expenditures for the cost of operating, and those for the cost of capital account. A case in point is the new fire alarm ($9,395.00) the cost of which is included in the expenses of the fire department for 1891.

It is desirable that each department should have a record of the value of tools and all additions (cabinets, etc.) and appliances, and that the Council should from time to time examine the accounts. Current bills against each department which should show on their stubs the respective bank ball ance.

During 1891, there were transferred from general fund to five departments, $7,600.00. In one instance the statement states that the transfer is "temporary," in others it is not stated. This should be turned when the department is in funds, but the minutes do not show that any specific action was taken in the matter. In order to present a true statement of the general fund and five departments accounts of date January 1, 1892, (matter covering the return of that amount having been made, which carries it back) he has to be credited with the $7,600.00.

There is also presented a statement of delinquent taxes outstanding May 1, 1892, showing the amount due on poll, personal and realty, and the realty, and the amounts to be collected by tax sale.

Respectfully submitted,
A. S. PATTERSON, Accountant.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

What the City Treasurer Says About It.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—According to the Ordinance of the City of Plainfield, the duty of the City Treasurer is to receive all moneys belonging to the city and pay it out according to the instructions of the Council, and it warrants are drawn for claims and bills passed by Council and are not presented for judgment before he makes up his report, he cannot charge them up in his report for that month to the several accounts. It is not his duty to inquire or hunt up who have claims against the city do not call at the City Clerk's office and get their warrants after they have been ordered paid by the Council, it is not his duty to force them.

If the clerk of the different committees would keep a record or account of their receipts, disbursements, transfers and appropriations, there would be no trouble to know at any moment just how each department stood. A copy of each of the warrants that were outstanding and unpaid January 1, '91 and January 1, '92, was handed in by the Treasurer with his yearly report of those years.

Accountant Patterson's suggestions in regard to the Treasurer's books are wise and practicable, and should be acted upon. The account has always been kept and balanced, until Mr. O. J. Flat, chairman of the Finance Committee, took charge of it.

Now the treasurer has a certified copy from the Street Commissioner, with name, number of feet, price and amounts, by which his accounts can be correctly kept. A bookkeeper and treasurer are two different persons, and the duties of the city clerk of Plainfield gives $15,000 per year, and the treasurer a salary of $400 a year, and pays his own clerk.

ASHL. TOMPKINS,
City Treasurer.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

NEWS OF THE CONVENTION.

McKinley Made Permanent Chairman.—What Delegates Say.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 8, (Special.)—The convention met at eleven o'clock to-day.

Governor McKinley was made permanent chairman and was escorted to the platform amidst enthusiastic cheering. He made a brief speech.

The committee on credentials will report to-morrow.

Secretary Thompson says two members of the Minnesota delegation have flopped over from Harrison to Blaine.

THE CONVENTION BUILDING.

One Ohio delegate is reported as saying that if Harrison was not nominated on the first ballot the entire Ohio delegation would go solid for McKinley.

The convention adjourned at 12.30 o'clock until eleven o'clock to-morrow.

SWEPT FROM THE EARTH.

An Iowa Village Destroyed by a Cloudburst.

DENISON, Ia., June 8, (Special.)—A cloudburst at Ewingle, sixteen miles south of here, which occurred on Monday night, swept away nearly the entire village. It is situated on Otter Creek. The flood which came down was thirty feet high. The inhabitants had time to escape, but much live stock was drowned. All the dwelling houses in the hamlet, but one, were swept away.

A NEGRO PROPHET.

He Told them that Oil City was Doomed.

ANDERSON, Ind., June 8th. (Special.)—Wm. Stoner, a colored preacher of this town, one month ago went into a trance on the street corner in this city and foretold with great vigor the destruction of the cities in the oil regions of Pennsylvania by fire.

He was thought to be crazy and the authorities arrested him. They think now that he is gifted with prophetic instinct.

A BANK IN TROUBLE.

The Mauritius Cyclone the Main Cause.

LONDON, June 8. (Special.)—The Oriental Bank is in trouble, owing to the decline in silver and losses in the Mauritius cyclone.

The Bank of England is considering measures for its relief. Its capital stock is £5,000,000; liabilities estimated at £8,000,000.

A Cloudburst Destroys a Bridge.

PITTSBURG, June 8th, (Special.)—A cloud burst occurred at Monongahela City late yesterday afternoon, flooding the town. The great bridge of the Pittsburg, Virginia & Charleston road at that point was torn down in an instant. Several houses were washed away, and it is feared that some lives were lost.

—A children's fair for the benefit of the Children's Home, will be held on Mr. Schoonmaker's lawn, No. 29 Putnam avenue, Saturday, June 11th.

IF you have borrowed from recreation to satisfy the demands of business, you can pay back quickly by having a dish of H-O (Hornby's Oat-Meal) for breakfast.

DEATHS.

WILKINS—In this city, June 7, 1892, John A. Wilkins, in his 63d year.

Funeral services at his late residence, East Fifth street, Thursday, June 9th, at 2.30 p. m.

Relatives and friends are respectfully invited.

Auction Sale of Valuable Real Estate.

I have been authorized to sell the property at 70 Webster place,

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 15, 1892,

on the premises at 2 o'clock p. m.

Lot 60x160, with two-story French roof house with all modern improvements, in first-class order.

Large stable and carriage house; can also have 2 drive to the street. In a very desirable property, being in a first-class neighborhood. Five minutes' walk from main depot, schools and churches. This will be a grand opportunity for some one to get a cheap home. It must and will be sold without reserve or limit. For further information inquire of

T. J. CAREY, - Auctioneer.

70 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER

One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.

Whole Suits from $5 up.

Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.

70 WEST FRONT STREET.

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer. Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of G. R. MUSGRAVE, 37 Somerset street. Call early and secure the best bargains.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,

OF PLAINFIELD.

Firm of

RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY,

Importers and Tailors,

231 Broadway, New York.

Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring.

Moderate Prices.

Music Hall, Thursday, June 9th.

KUSSELL, DENNIS and SANFORD'S COMEDY COMPANY,

In their Laughing Success,

MRS. CASEY'S MISHAPS.

A Summer night's frolic. Prices—50, 35 and 25 cents. Seats on sale at Central Pharmacy.

Cent-a-Word Column.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

A GOOD gardener wants employment by the day. First-class Plainfield references. Address P. O. Box 275. 6 6

HELP WANTED.

EXPERIENCED saleslady wanted in dry goods store. Address "B," care of Evening News. 6 7tf

WANTED—A German or Swede girl for general housework in family of five. Must be a good plain cook, washer and ironer. Wages $14. Apply at 21 Hillside avenue. 7 6

WANTED—A young colored girl as nurse. Apply 61 East Fifth street. 7 2

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST—Monday, a white crochet shawl. Finder will please return to Mrs. A. T. Stevens, 25 East Ninth street. 7 3

BOARDERS WANTED.

A T 19 Grove place, furnished rooms with board. Table boarders accommodated. 6 2 2w

FOR RENT.

A NEW and desirable house for rent. Inquire of Mrs. Dr. Miller, Park place, corner Watchung avenue. Desirable neighborhood and location. Address "Watchung House," care of Evening News. 2w5

FOR SALE.

500 WINDOW Screens 35 cents each at Van Emburgh & Wilson's. 5 2tf

FOR SALE—Grocery store; new outfit; good trade and bargain. Apply at 101 Roosevelt. 5 5

500 WINDOW Screens 35 cents each at Van Emburgh & Wilson's. 5 2tf

MISCELLANEOUS.

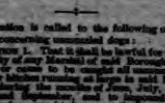
A TEACHER, experienced in the care and instruction of feeble-minded and backward children, would receive one child in her family for instruction. Terms moderate. Address "Teacher," care of Evening News. 7 2

LADIES wishing best dressmaking for the price in Plainfield, address "Dressmaker," care of Evening News. 6 3tf

OLD-FASHIONED furniture in good order, bought and sold. Call Pompeian room, 21 Somerset street. 5 3tf

SECURE your tickets for the Columbian Fair. For particulars apply at Mahler's. 5 3tf

Strawberry Festival and LAWN PARTY



AT THE

Park Place M. E. Chapel,

JUNE 9th and 10th.

Afternoon & Evening

PROCLAMATION!

Attention is called to the following ordinances concerning unmuzzled dogs:

SECTION 1. That it shall be lawful for and the duty of any Marshal of said Borough to kill any dog found within the limits thereof not muzzled or hitched running at large in said Borough during the months of June, July, August and September, in each year, and the owner, when known, of such dog, in case there be any to be found, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two dollars nor more than five dollars, and in case the owner or owners of any dog so caught shall fail to redeem the same by the payment of said penalty, then and in such case it shall be lawful for said Marshal to kill or cause said dogs or any of them to be killed in the quickest and least painful manner they can.

All persons are hereby notified that this ordinance will be strictly enforced during the months of June, July, August and September. Owners of dogs are advised to provide proper muzzles at once.

WILLIAM L. SAUNDERS, Mayor.

Attest:—HENRY H. BOGAW, Clerk.

6 5t

The Children's Fair

for the benefit of the Children's Home, which was postponed, will be held SATURDAY Afternoon, JUNE 11th,

at 29 Putnam Avenue.

w2t

EDITORIAL NOTES

The new school of physiculturists says we should sleep flat upon our backs with arms and legs stretched out straight. But how do they manage about snoring?

French artists are in doubt whether to send their best works to our World's fair or not. They fear the Americans would consider them immodest and would not allow them in the art gallery. Well, skirts and trousers might be put upon the statues for this occasion, and the paintings might be covered with pink cheesecloth, all except the faces. Then our native American modesty can peep at them through its fingers.

A few months ago a leading review contained a series of solemn papers by distinguished men in political life, going to show that in nominating conventions it was the platform and not the man who is considered. But when the nominating convention really comes it is found that every distinguished statesman of the lot is out for "the man who can win," regardless. 'Tis well. Did not the author of the "Bigelow Papers" write a long time ago, "A marciful providence fashioned us holler, o' purpose that we might our principruls swaller?"

A new kind of street car motor has been invented by an engineer in Newport, Ky., that may be an improvement on all present ones, if it will work. The motor is constructed on the clutch or watch spring principle. At every click, instead of unwinding slightly a watch or clock spring, it simply unwinds a spring that forces forward the wheels of a street car. The springs are loaded upon the car itself, which consequently requires no grip, cable or electricity. The springs will run the car for seven miles, it is said, after which they are again wound up by machinery at a power house. The wheels of the gearing machinery are made of a high aluminium alloy, making them of light weight. The motor apparatus consists of a series of thirty steel springs, one after the other unwinding. The springs are made of No. 12 wire and each is of one horse power. The springs are geared to a clutch on the axles.

The Criminal Type.

Deeming, the murderer of women and children, who is known to have killed two of his wives and four of his own children, is claimed by physiologists as belonging to the distinctly criminal type. He was brave enough when it was a question of murdering the helpless, but he weakened like a white livered coward and shook like a leaf, begging for mercy, when it came his own turn to go. It will be interesting to know the final result of the autopsy of his brain—whether it was different from other men's.

Criminals are divided by the physiologists into three classes—the born criminal, the criminal from brain disease and the one who has become such from depraved associations and company in early life. The born criminal has a retreating forehead, a large jaw and head somewhat flat behind, and a face and head which always are more or less lop sided and out of symmetry. Moreover, curly haired people are seldom criminals. These points have been established. Then the doctors, apparently having arrived at the extent of their knowledge, plunge into that convenient sea, the "convolutions of gray matter," and are lost to common mortals. Deeming seems to have been a criminal born with a temperament bordering on the insane, though it was a kind of insanity that needed to be stopped short off.

What England Has Done for Egypt.

The Christian Union says:

The reforms wrought in Egypt by England in the last three years are admirably summarized by Mr. E. B. Woodruff in a letter to The Nation. Putting the total result in general terms, he says that a treasury is described as bankrupted and almost hopelessly corrupt administration, a rebellious and cowardly army, and a people ground under miserable taxation, have in this short space of time, and in the face of oriental apathy and French obstruction, been metamorphosed into order, plenty and content."

Recognizing that material and financial prosperity in Egypt depended primarily upon agriculture, and that this in turn depended on irrigation, English engineers have put in Like miles of drains, have reclaimed 250,000 acres from the lagoons north of the Nile delta and have under construction a system of canals, sluices and weirs to cost $2,000,000, which will irrigate the whole Nile valley. As a single result of the cotton duty done it is stated that the annual yield of cotton has increased 130,000 tons, valued at $4,000,000.

The corrupt and intolerable system of clearing the canals from silt deposits by forced, unpaid labor has been abolished and paid contract labor substituted. The old corvee system was a fertile cause of bribery, favoritism and general oppression, for generally speaking, Slavery has been discouraged and is rapidly disappearing. Agricultural roads are being made, and the old saying that the pasha of the country's army has been reorganized; instead of being half starved, whipped and cheated of pay, the Egyptian soldier now is well fed, regularly paid and encouraged to have an esprit de corps.

No wonder they acted like cowards at Tel-el-Kebir, under the old training of abuse and insult; in recent engagements they have shown the effect of decent and reasonable treatment. In the civil service, in postal arrangements, in public sanitation, in the codification of laws and judiciary appointments—every where there have been sweeping and radical reforms. The most creditable and efficient men to be had Englishmen were employed from top to bottom. There is an honest and consistent effort to make the people of Egypt self helpful and independent. Whatever may be said of the international aspects of the Egyptian question, it must be admitted that, industrially and financially, the country has gained enormously from the English predominance.

THE CONVENTION

Second Day's Session of Republicans at Minneapolis.

ALLISON AS A DARK HORSE.

Enthusiastic Calls for Reed, McKinley and Ingalls.

The Ex-Speaker Compelled to Mount the Platform and Make an Address—Temporary Chairman Fassett Links Together the Names of Harrison and Blaine—Morton Halstead and Frank Hatton Both Desire to Have a Dark Horse Candidate Got the Presidential Nomination—Ex-Secretary Blaine's Departure from the Capital—What the Friends of the President and Mr. Blaine Are Claiming at the Convention City.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 8.—The national Republican convention which adjourned Tuesday afternoon after selecting its temporary organization and without nominating candidates for president and vice president was called to order shortly after 11 o'clock by Temporary Chairman Fassett, and the final struggle for the presidential nomination is in progress. The latest dark horse to develop considerable strength is Senator Allison, of Iowa, who is boomed by Senator Higbee, of Delaware, and Editor George Thompson, of the St. Paul Dispatch, two of the Minnesota delegates. Senator Higbee, for several weeks before leaving Washington for the convention, was of the opinion that his distinguished colleague from the Hawkeye state would be the most available man upon which to consolidate all differences of opinion. Editor Thompson thinks the indications point to the nomination of a third man, a result which he anticipates with apparent pleasure.

"Both sides," he said, "are willing from what I hear to accept a compromise candidate, offers having been made as reported to meet looking to the selection of one."

For a Third Candidate.

Another editor, Frank Hatton, of the Washington Post, who was postmaster general in Mr. Arthur's cabinet, and who is equally well known for his opposition to President Harrison and Mr. Blaine, is the engineer of another dark horse movement. Mr. Hatton seems to be willing to take anybody which we'll tend to knock out both the principal candidates. He came here talking for Senator Allison, but transferred his affection to Minister Lincoln, of Illinois. "Whatever Mr. Lincoln has attempted he has done well," he said. "He is a brave man, an able man, and every Republican in the country would vote for him."

Murat Halstead says: "Since Sunday the Blaine cause has had a little the advantage, and I believe are in better shape than their opponents. But the situation demands the nomination of a third candidate. The leaders are receiving letters and telegrams by the great numbers, representing that the best interests of the party demand a new man."

An Iowa delegate was asked if there was any support for Mr. Allison boom in his delegation. He said he knew of no such boom; he was as near to Senator Allison as any one outside the family.

Ex-Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, said it would never do to take a candidate from a prohibition state, unless the party was able and willing to get along without the votes of those states in which there was a large foreign and liberal element.

EX-SPEAKER REED.

Tom Gallup says that Mr. Michener that the Harrison vote would show a total of 518 was reiterated with great confidence by the administration managers.

Temporary Chairman Fassett's Speech.

Upon taking the chair Temporary Chairman J. Sloat Fassett spoke as follows:

It is a coincidence worthy of note that a Republican convention should be held in a temple erected for the display of products of protection to American industry, and that it should assemble in the city of Minneapolis, the joy and the pride of the giant west. This city, which just about equals in age the Republican party, which has grown and flourished and become great and powerful under the fostering care of protection and reciprocity. Under the same influences which have made this city great and powerful, the Republican party has grown and flourished and become great and powerful. Both have been the objects of democratic assault, both have been the objects of democratic misrepresentation, both have been the objects of democratic abuse, but both have survived democratic assault, misrepresentation and abuse, and both are today stronger than ever before in the affections of the people. Both have been the objects of democratic misrepresentation and abuse because both have been the objects of democratic fear. Democracy fears protection because protection has made this country great and powerful. Democracy fears the Republican party because the Republican party has made this country great and powerful. Democracy fears protection because protection has given to labor the highest wages and to capital the largest profits ever known in the history of the world. Democracy fears the Republican party because the Republican party has given to the people the largest measure of liberty and the highest degree of prosperity ever enjoyed by any people. Democracy fears protection because protection has made the United States the market of the world for the products of the world's workshops. Democracy fears the Republican party because the Republican party has made the United States the workshop of the world for the products of the world's markets. Democracy fears protection because protection has made the United States the workshop of the world for the products of the world's markets

THE PRESIDENT'S GIFT.

He Sends $200 to Titusville and Oil City.

GOVERNOR PATTISON AT THE SCENE

The People of the Stricken Cities Stuck Pleased with His Visit—The Standard Oil Company Gives $25,000 to the Relief Fund—Burying the Dead.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., June 8.—Governor Pattison and party have arrived here. Randolph Blankenburg and Robert McWade, of Philadelphia, the latter representing the Red Cross society, came with the governor. The party first inspected the ruins and then met a citizens' committee, members of the local relief corps. The governor's particular inquiry was with reference to sanitary arrangements. There is great fear that the decaying bodies yet in the debris will cause a pestilence. Mr. Blankenburg then declared himself ready to sign two drafts of $5,000 each for Oil City and Titusville. The drafts were signed and he was warmly thanked. A committee of three will meet Mr. Blankenburg in Oil City to arrange for the use of the money. After securing the local committee that if necessary the state board of health would come to their assistance, the governor and party went to Oil City. Including the Standard Oil company's subscription $25,000 have been contributed for Titusville,

The Standard Gives $25,000.

J. J. Vandergrift, John Bates and George Hard came from Oil City and met the relief committee here. It was decided that half of the territory between the two cities above Oil creek be taken by each and the flood and fire sufferers cared for. For this purpose it was decided that $100,000 was necessary to provide for the immediate wants of the sufferers in the Titusville district and an equal amount was necessary for the Oil City district. Three hundred people in the three acres of the burned district in Titusville are homeless and dependent. The Standard Oil company contributed $25,000 to Titusville and Oil City.

Fifty-nine bodies have been gathered in. Twenty-five more are unaccounted for, and may be buried in any of the piles of earth and debris that cover the valley.

Governor Pattison Receives an Ovation.

OIL CITY, Pa., June 8.—Governor Pattison's reception amounted almost to an ovation. His manifest personal interest in the sorrowful condition of the people and city has attracted much favorable comment. The governor is greatly pleased with the ability the citizens have displayed in dealing with their great calamity. Only three bodies were found Tuesday, and three or four of the injured died.

Mayor Hunt feels certain that the list of dead will number at least a hundred. Forty-two of the bodies recovered have been fully identified. The morgues are almost cleared of the ghastly dead now scattered among the ruins. The coroner has ordered the burial of the few charred bodies remaining unidentified.

The property loss in Oil City will exceed $100,000. Eight hundred persons are homeless. It was stated to the governor that many of those will have to be supported for at least six months. The members of the committee gave as their opinion that half a million dollars will be wanted; that cash subscriptions will be the most welcome.

The work of clearing away the wrecked houses and debris which cover the larger part of the Third ward of Oil City, and under which the lifeless bodies of an unknown number of victims of the disaster are lying, is progressing slowly. Already the odors arising from decomposing bodies is almost unbearable. The bureau of health is taking precautions to prevent the spread of disease.

The Spartansburg dam, which gave way and caused the disaster, was, like the South Forks dam, which wrought such fearful havoc at Johnstown, a famous fishing ground well stocked with bass and a resort for sportsmen.

Heavy wire netting with small meshes had been put over the lower sluiceways to prevent the fish escaping. With the rising flood the drift caught on the weir, clogging it so that the water was backed up until the weight of water broke through the dam. As the great flood rushed on toward Titusville dams on the west branch of Oil creek, as well as on Shirley creek, gave way and the united forces of all these streams crashed down on Titusville with resistless force, carrying away everything in its path. Eight substantial bridges over Oil creek were taken away as if they were so much driftwood.

The President's Contribution.

HARRISBURG, June 8.—The following telegram was received at the executive department from E. W. Halford, private secretary of President Harrison:

WASHINGTON, June 7.

Governor Pattison, Harrisburg:

The president directs me to place $200 at your disposal for the relief of the suffering at Oil City and Titusville, and to express his deep sympathy.

Private Secretary.

This answer was at once sent by Governor Pattison's private secretary:

HARRISBURG, June 7.

Hon. E. W. Halford, Private Secretary, Washington:

Your telegram to Governor Pattison, relating $200 for the Oil City and Titusville sufferers, has been received and will be forwarded to Governor Pattison, who is at the scene of the disaster. Please convey to President Harrison the thankful appreciation of all Pennsylvania for his generous and timely offering.

H. D. TAFT,
Private Secretary.

McKeesport Stormswept.

MCKEESPORT, Pa., June 8.—A terrific wind and rain storm damaged property here to the amount of $50,000. Lightning played havoc with the electric railways, electric light and telephone systems. On White street the water was up to the second story windows. The occupants of the buildings had to flee for their lives.

Big Flood Expected.

PITTSBURG, June 8.—Pittsburg rivermen are expecting a big flood in the Monongahela river. The police have warned all the people living on the south side low lands and in shanty boats to look out for a flood.

Cloudburst at Monongahela City.

MONONGAHELA CITY, Pa., June 8.—A cloudburst occurred here washing away the Pennsylvania railroad bridge. Horses and other live stock were drowned, and it is feared some lives were lost.

The Almy Case Again.

CONCORD, N. H., June 8.—Before the full bench of the supreme court Alvin Burleigh, of Plymouth, counsel for Murderer Almy, moved for a continuance until next December. The court will announce its ruling in few days.

"It's ten to one he does not love you." "Perhaps—It was only half past 9 when he said he did."—Brooklyn Life.

CARRIAGES and HARNESS.

$15.00

Buys hand made rubber mounted harness.

$100.00

Buys canopy top, natural wood surrey.

Prices and styles to suit all.

SWIFT SAFETIES.

RYERSON,

33 SOMERSET STREET.

Everybody Likes Me.

ANTI-CHAP.

I contain no greasy or sticky substance I penetrate the skin; I eradicate spots and pimpl s; I keep the skin smooth, soft, pliable; I am harmless. Try me, and I will become your favorite.

All druggists sell me at 25 cents.

Also remember the famous ANTI-CHAP SOAP in connection with ANTI-CHAP.

PIPTONIZED

Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'

BOEHM

Will sell for THIS WEEK ONLY,

Good Matting at 10c.

per yard (by the roll.) Largest stock of Carpets, Oil Cloths and Mattings in the city.

Special Low Prices

on Millinery, Dress Goods and Spring Jackets this week.

Agency for King's Dyeing of Co., Easton, Pa.

No. 7 WEST FRONT STREET.

Unlike the Dutch Process

No Alkalies

—OR—

Other Chemicals

are used in the preparation of

W. Baker & Co.'s

Breakfast Cocoa,

which is absolutely pure and soluble.

It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is far more economical, costing less than one cent a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, and EASILY DIGESTED.

Sold by Grocers everywhere.

W. Baker & Co., Dorchester, Mass.

GET YOUR

Bicycle Repaired

at

NO. 5 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

by

Henry Goeller, Jr.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

In what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is best.

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

Having

Disposed

of the

Produce Business

to Mr. L. A. Hammer, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the lemon business and have constantly on hand fine oranges, family or business lemons, at reasonable prices

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.

WHY IS THIS?

Three years ago the Duluth Imperial Mills made 500 barrels of flour a day.

Now they make 2000 barrels daily.

This is because a barrel of Imperial makes

18 to 20 More Loaves

of bread than any other flour, and the quality is the BEST. Order a barrel or bag of your grocer and satisfy yourself.

FRENCH BROS.,

CITY MILLS.

Telephone No. 24. Nos. 8, 10 and 12 Somerset street.

THE BEE HIVE!

Summer Underwear.

Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.

Ladies' ribbed vests, in high neck, short sleeves and long sleeves, 25c.

Ladies' gauze vests, in short and long sleeves, 25c.

Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed, gauze and medium weight.

Men's balbriggan shirts, in long and short sleeves, and drawers at 25, 40 and 50c

Men's Summer Merino shirts and drawers, 25, 40 and 50c.

Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, 8c.

Children's Summer merino and gauze vests, in short and long sleeves also pantletts, sizes, 16, 18c.; 18, 18c.; 20, 18c.; 22, 20c.; 24, 22c.; 26, 25c.; 28, 28c.

A full line of Parasols, Lace caps, white dresses, and infants' long and short cashs are coats.

Louis Callman,

40 West Front Street

To the Public:

Neuman Bros.

Desire to call special attention to their choice and select line of new canned vegetables, viz: French Peas, preserved sugar corn, Buraham & Morrill's Paris sugar corn, Shrewsbury tomatoes, Earl tomatoes, F. H. Leggett's stewed tomatoes, Pats & Wiskenoe's extra sifted peas, Golden Gate sugar peas, extra early June peas, Hamburg Springless Beans, Hudson River asparagus and tips.

Special reduction given by the case or dozen. Also a fine assortment of Gordon & Dowerth's jellies and salmon meats.

79 BROADWAY.

Miss Blanche Fellows

VOCALIST

and Teacher of Singing.

Rapid development and complete education of the voice.

Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formation and tone production.

Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Call or address

NO. 27 DUER STREET.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher.

40 West Front Street.

George - Bremmer,

No 28 SOMERSET STREET,

READY MADE CLOTHING,

or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

A Ticket to Europe

May be bought on any steamer; sell CHEAPER THAN IN NEW YORK.

SINGLE TRIP:
First-class—$50 and upwards.
Second class—$30 and upwards.
Steerage—$19 and upwards.

ROUND TRIP:
First-class—$90 and upwards.
Second-class—$60 and upwards.
Steerage—$38 and upwards.

Cabins, both first and second class, should be engaged as far ahead as possible.

Further information given upon application to agent, Henry D. Morrison, 9 Somerset street.

STRAW : HATS!

We have received a good assortment for Men and Boys.

Hallock & Davis,

5 West Front Street.

Don't Forget we keep

MEN'S FURNISHINGS

Also

Trunks and Bags.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong ice to this market, ice now delivered to private families within ten of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenues.

J. H. CONDERSTON, Pres.
H. CONDERSTON, Treas.
ANDREW WILSON, Sec. & Supt.
J. MORTON, Gen. Supt.

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC

SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS

SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC

4 & 5 cents per Copy.

Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.

A. M. Vanderbeek's,

23 PARK AVENUE.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum

and

Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Cigars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Cigar store, No. 12 West Second street.

GARDEN FLOWER & LAWN Seeds and Fertilizers.

Special Lawn Seeds for shady and dry lawns.

GARDEN TOOLS

and

Lawn Mowers.

WATER PIPING AND PLUMBING.

Tinwork, Hardware and Housefurnishings.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS and PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—249 East Front street.

Joseph T. Sullivan,

No. 26 West Third Street,

Dealer in Choice

Wines, Liquors, etc.

BEER ON DRAUGHT.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

25 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

29 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.

29 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

NO. 29 SOUTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE,

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Six Varieties)

Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : :

- - - NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, rather is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 45 EMILY STREET.

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at lowest prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call we will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any of the first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor Dealer.

Telephone Co. 1227.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(THE PORT READING R. R. Co., LESSEE.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect May 15, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 5[1] 14, 5 29, 6 14, 6 28, 6 59, 7 29, 7 44, 8 14, 8 44, 9 14, 9 44, 10 14, 10 44, 11 14, 11 44, a. m., 12 14, 12 44, 1 14, 1 44, 2 14, 2 44, 3 14, 3 44, 4 14, 4 44, 5 14, 5 44, 6 14, 6 44, 7 14, 7 44, 8 14, 8 44, 9 14, 9 44, 10 14, 10 44, 11 14, 11 59 p. m. Sunday 5 29, 6 29, 7 29, 8 29, 9 29, 10 29, 11 29 a. m., 12 29, 1 29, 2 29, 3 29, 4 29, 5 29, 6 29, 7 29, 8 29, 9 29, 10 29, 11 29 p. m. Leave New York, Liberty st. ferry, at 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30, 12 00 a. m., 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m. Sunday at 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m. Passenger for Newark and intermediate stations.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 6[1] 15, 7 30, 8 00, 9 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 30, 3 30, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m. Sunday at 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 30, 3 30, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m. Leave Somerville at 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 30, 3 30, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m. Passenger for Somerville.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6[1] 15, 7 30, 8 00, 9 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 30, 3 30, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m. Sunday at 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 30, 3 30, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m. Leave Bound Brook at 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 30, 3 30, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m. Passenger for Bound Brook.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 7 30, 9 00, a. m., 1 30, 5 30 p. m.—Connect at Dover for Lake Hopatcong.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

8 15 a. m. for Flemington, Somerville, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

8 17 a. m. for Flemington, DELAWARE, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

1 19 p. m. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Somerville, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

5 17 p. m. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Somerville, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

11 59 p. m. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Somerville, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

8 15 a. m. for Junction, connecting for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Somerville, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

1 19 p. m. for Junction, connecting for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Somerville, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

5 17 p. m. for Junction, connecting for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Somerville, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

11 59 p. m. for Junction, connecting for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Somerville, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

8 15 a. m. for Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

2 30 P. m. for Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

8 15 a. m. for Bound Brook, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

1 19 p. m. for Bound Brook, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

5 17 p. m. for Bound Brook, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

11 59 p. m. for Bound Brook, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

8 15 a. m. for Somerville, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

1 19 p. m. for Somerville, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

5 17 p. m. for Somerville, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

11 59 p. m. for Somerville, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

8 15 a. m. on Sundays for Somerville, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

LONG BRANCH OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield at 8[1] 32, 9 00, 11 00 a. m., 1 30, 5 30, 6 15 p. m. Sunday (except Ocean Grove) 8 32, 9 00, 11 00 a. m., 1 30, 5 30, 6 15 p. m. Ocean Grove at 8 32, 9 00, 11 00 a. m., 1 30, 5 30, 6 15 p. m. Sunday 8 32, 9 00, 11 00 a. m., 1 30, 5 30, 6 15 p. m. Leave New York, Liberty st. ferry, at 8 45, 9 45, 11 45 a. m., 4 45, 5 45, 6 45 p. m. Sunday at 8 45, 9 45, 11 45 a. m., 4 45, 5 45, 6 45 p. m. Passenger for Long Branch and Ocean Grove.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Philadelphia at 7 45, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 35, 5 35, 6 35, 7 35, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35, 11 35 p. m. Sunday at 7 45, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 35, 5 35, 6 35, 7 35, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35, 11 35 p. m. Leave Trenton at 8 45, 9 35, 10 35, 11 35 a. m., 12 45, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 35, 5 35, 6 35, 7 35, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35, 11 35 p. m. Sunday at 8 45, 9 35, 10 35, 11 35 a. m., 12 45, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 35, 5 35, 6 35, 7 35, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35, 11 35 p. m. Leave Bordentown at 8 55, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 55, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m. Sunday at 8 55, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 55, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m. Leave Jamesburg at 9 15, 10 05, 11 05 a. m., 12 15, 1 05, 2 05, 3 05, 4 05, 5 05, 6 05, 7 05, 8 05, 9 05, 10 05, 11 05 p. m. Sunday at 9 15, 10 05, 11 05 a. m., 12 15, 1 05, 2 05, 3 05, 4 05, 5 05, 6 05, 7 05, 8 05, 9 05, 10 05, 11 05 p. m. Leave Monmouth Junction at 9 25, 10 15, 11 15 a. m., 12 25, 1 15, 2 15, 3 15, 4 15, 5 15, 6 15, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 p. m. Sunday at 9 25, 10 15, 11 15 a. m., 12 25, 1 15, 2 15, 3 15, 4 15, 5 15, 6 15, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 p. m. Leave Hightstown at 9 35, 10 25, 11 25 a. m., 12 35, 1 25, 2 25, 3 25, 4 25, 5 25, 6 25, 7 25, 8 25, 9 25, 10 25, 11 25 p. m. Sunday at 9 35, 10 25, 11 25 a. m., 12 35, 1 25, 2 25, 3 25, 4 25, 5 25, 6 25, 7 25, 8 25, 9 25, 10 25, 11 25 p. m. Leave Princeton Junction at 9 45, 10 35, 11 35 a. m., 12 45, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 35, 5 35, 6 35, 7 35, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35, 11 35 p. m. Sunday at 9 45, 10 35, 11 35 a. m., 12 45, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 35, 5 35, 6 35, 7 35, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35, 11 35 p. m. Leave Trenton at 10 00, 10 50, 11 50 a. m., 12 60, 1 50, 2 50, 3 50, 4 50, 5 50, 6 50, 7 50, 8 50, 9 50, 10 50, 11 50 p. m. Sunday at 10 00, 10 50, 11 50 a. m., 12 60, 1 50, 2 50, 3 50, 4 50, 5 50, 6 50, 7 50, 8 50, 9 50, 10 50, 11 50 p. m. Arrive at Philadelphia at 10 45, 11 35, 12 35 a. m., 1 45, 2 35, 3 35, 4 35, 5 35, 6 35, 7 35, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35, 11 35 p. m. Sunday at 10 45, 11 35, 12 35 a. m., 1 45, 2 35, 3 35, 4 35, 5 35, 6 35, 7 35, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35, 11 35 p. m. Passengers for Philadelphia and Washington at 7 45, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 35, 5 35, 6 35, 7 35, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35, 11 35 p. m. Sunday at 7 45, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 35, 2 35, 3 35, 4 35, 5 35, 6 35, 7 35, 8 35, 9 35, 10 35, 11 35 p. m.

[1] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Plainfield.

[2] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Somerville.

[3] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bound Brook.

[4] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Junction.

[5] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[6] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[7] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[8] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[9] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[10] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[11] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[12] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[13] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[14] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[15] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[16] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[17] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[18] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[19] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[20] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[21] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[22] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[23] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[24] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[25] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[26] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[27] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[28] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[29] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[30] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[31] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[32] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[33] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[34] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[35] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[36] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[37] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[38] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[39] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[40] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[41] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[42] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[43] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[44] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[45] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[46] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[47] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[48] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[49] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[50] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[51] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[52] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[53] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[54] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[55] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[56] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[57] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[58] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[59] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[60] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[61] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[62] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[63] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[64] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[65] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[66] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[67] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[68] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[69] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[70] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[71] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[72] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[73] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[74] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[75] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[76] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[77] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[78] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[79] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[80] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[81] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[82] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[83] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[84] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[85] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[86] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[87] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[88] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[89] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[90] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[91] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[92] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[93] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[94] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[95] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[96] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[97] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[98] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[99] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[100] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[101] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[102] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[103] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[104] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[105] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[106] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[107] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[108] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[109] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[110] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[111] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[112] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[113] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[114] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[115] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[116] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[117] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[118] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[119] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[120] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[121] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[122] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[123] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[124] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[125] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[126] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[127] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[128] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[129] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[130] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[131] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[132] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[133] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[134] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[135] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[136] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[137] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[138] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[139] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[140] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[141] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[142] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[143] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[144] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[145] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[146] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[147] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[148] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[149] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[150] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[151] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[152] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[153] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[154] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[155] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Trenton.

[156] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Bordentown.

[157] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Princeton Junction.

[158] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Hightstown.

[159] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Monmouth Junction.

[160] Stops to let off passengers from points west of Jamesburg.

[161] Stops to let off passengers from

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

COURAGE REWARDED.

A Spirited Little Dog That Showed Fight to a Tigress.

During the travels of an English officer, Captain White, in Cochin China, the then viceroy gave him a magnificent tigress five feet long and three feet high. On reaching Saigon, where he could buy dogs for almost nothing, he used to give his pet one of these animals every day. The dog was thrown alive into her cage. She would play with it for awhile, as a cat plays with a mouse, then her eyes would begin to glisten and her tail to quiver; she raised her paw by the scruff of the neck, and in a minute or two it was all up with poor bow wow.

One day, however, a puppy, seemingly little different from the common herd of puppies, instead of tamely submitting to its fate, showed fight. It snapped at the tigress' nose and bit it till the blood came. The tigress, far from resenting the attack, seemed to treat it as a joke, and when the spirited little dog grew tired of the fun the tigress patted it as if it had been a cub of her own. Then the two lay down side by side and had a comfortable nap. Thereforth they were the best of friends, and to humor this queer friendship Captain White had his cage moved into the tigress' room, that the puppy might go and come as it pleased. It often took a trot abroad, but it always returned to its dog devouring friend. To the tigress' credit be it said a stranger dog was offered it one day at dinner time and was then hastily snatched from its hungry jaws and the puppy friend was given to it instead. In this way, friendship triumphed over the pangs of hunger—and that, not on this occasion only, but whenever the captain's cook thought fit to repeat the experiment. We are not told to what breed this puppy belonged, but, he appears to have cut in him a good deal of the plucky little fox terrier now so fashionable, which will rush into a fight of the greatest odds without a shadow of hesitation.

A PLUCKY DOG.

Ostrich Farming in Africa.

"Ostrich figuring is no child's play," says an English gentleman who has lately been to Africa and visited one of the farms devoted to the rearing of these great birds. The male ostrich is a dangerous bird to have to do with when he is guarding his nest or acting as the proud father to a flock of little ostriches. Just picture the bird for a moment, standing 7 or 8 feet in height, very heavy, with a pair of strong legs that kick like a horse, and tipped with claws that are like a knife, and to this an easily ruffled temper, and then I think you will pause awhile before venturing unprepared into the company of this big fowl.

No one in Africa does go unprepared, and even to feed the birds; a large forked stick is always at hand wherewith to catch the ostrich's neck and keep him at safe nose-pecking distance. Having got him in this position you must stick to it till some one came to the rescue or till you have tired him out or, best of all, till you have worked him near a wall over which you can scramble, but which he, despite his long legs, is too stupid to attempt. However hard you may be pressed you must not think of killing the bird, for a male ostrich is often worth 800 or 900 francs.

Sometimes the ostriches are allowed to rear their own young; on other farms the eggs are taken and hatched artificially by the sun and blankets, and then a Hottentot damsel acts as nurse girl and parades about with her flock of thirty or forty little ostriches, all over two feet high, though only a few weeks old. Their nurse takes charge of them till they are six months old, feeding and guarding them all day and shutting them up carefully at night, the birds looking on as her entirely as their mother.

Ostriches even when full grown are not dangerous, except when they are afraid of a man, but all the same they look very alarming from their size and powerful limbs.

Rather a Puzzle.

Oh, what would you do if you had a horse
Who crossed his legs as a matter of course,
Who stood or toddled and reared up before,
And ate enough corn to feed a score?

"WHO CROSSED HIS LEGS AS A MATTER OF COURSE."

And what would you do if you had a cow
Who never said "Moo," but preferred "Bow-wow?"

Who played the guitar and who lived in a sty,
And got on grindstone to keep her feet dry?

And what would you do if you had a pig
Who thought he looted well in a brand new wig,
Who always expected to come in to tea,
And frequently played on the fiddle-de-dee?

The Wise Man and the Foolish Boy.

A woman once had a very stupid son. She was sorry for all the mischief he brought of, but he did not seem to get on at any of them. She hardly knew what to do with him. At last she took him to the king and asked his advice about the matter. The king said, "I will send him to one of the wisest men in my kingdom, and if he cannot teach him, no one can."

So the boy went to the wise man, who said, "Now, my boy, you must try to learn all you can."

After awhile the sage found that the boy did not make any progress. He always burst out into a fit of laughter in the middle of a serious lesson. The sage also noticed that he was not only stupid, but a king himself, but also grumbling progress. No one could study where he was, and at last he was not allowed to enter the room where the other students were. The wise man, seeing how matters tended, sent the boy home one day to his mother with a message which ran thus: "Your boy, although too dull to learn himself, has wit enough to prevent others from doing so; I am therefore obliged to send him home to you."

Moral—An idle person wastes not only his own time, but that of other people as well.

MATERNITY.

Mother of God, when in thy thoughtful maiden
As to the angel's words thou gavest ear,
Did not the joy of motherhood unspoken
Blend with the awe that holier grew than fear?

Was not the Father's love in all its fullness
Poured on thee at the moment of conception?
To some alike the world is one of sadness
And pain and loss and bitter disappointment.

And when thou gazedst on the babe thou barest,
Remembered not on that triumphant hour
The mother's heart still clamoring for its "Give me my child, it is all the world must be."
And through the shadows of the scene of death
Streams morning sunshine from the forgone years:
Upon the breast the smiling babe doth lie,
And all the happy days in Nazareth.
Break on thee through the blinding tears of sorrow.

—J. E. Campbell in Youth's Companion.

ITALIAN FISHERWOMEN.

They Toil Unremittingly That Their Husbands May Live in Idleness.

The chief feature of the dress of the women of the Italian coast fishers is a double skirt, the lower portion of which hangs rather scantily about their ankles. The upper skirt is often looked up at the front and sides, forming a sort of bag. In this they carry seaweed, fuel, fish or shellfish from the sands, and when not so much use is to be drawn over the head in the form of a hood. Some of the more modern dames also wrap this skirt about their babes when needing to carry them for any distance, and thus keep up carefully at night, the birds looking on as fondly as their mother.

Ostriches even when full grown are not dangerous, except when they are afraid of a man, but all the same they look very alarming from their size and powerful limbs.

Rather a Puzzle.

Oh, what would you do if you had a horse
Who crossed his legs as a matter of course,
Who stood or toddled and reared up before,
And ate enough corn to feed a score?

"WHO CROSSED HIS LEGS AS A MATTER OF COURSE."

And what would you do if you had a cow
Who never said "Moo," but preferred "Bow-wow?"

Who played the guitar and who lived in a sty,
And got on grindstone to keep her feet dry?

And what would you do if you had a pig
Who thought he looted well in a brand new wig,
Who always expected to come in to tea,
And frequently played on the fiddle-de-dee?

The Wise Man and the Foolish Boy.

A woman once had a very stupid son. She was sorry for all the mischief he brought of, but he did not seem to get on at any of them. She hardly knew what to do with him. At last she took him to the king and asked his advice about the matter. The king said, "I will send him to one of the wisest men in my kingdom, and if he cannot teach him, no one can."

So the boy went to the wise man, who said, "Now, my boy, you must try to learn all you can."

After awhile the sage found that the boy did not make any progress. He always burst out into a fit of laughter in the middle of a serious lesson. The sage also noticed that he was not only stupid, but a king himself, but also grumbling progress. No one could study where he was, and at last he was not allowed to enter the room where the other students were. The wise man, seeing how matters tended, sent the boy home one day to his mother with a message which ran thus: "Your boy, although too dull to learn himself, has wit enough to prevent others from doing so; I am therefore obliged to send him home to you."

Moral—An idle person wastes not only his own time, but that of other people as well.

THE WRONG MAN.

The Female Detective Is Mistaken About Somebody.

In the south part of the house of the Furnesses, Philadelphia, had been made during the day. The whole house had been ransacked, and the family jewels, which had been carefully hidden away, were gone. Mr. Furness was away from home, and Mrs. Furness was in a state of nervous prostration.

Mr. Furness went back home. Mrs. Furness had not thought of the jewels, and when her husband suggested that they be looked for she was overwhelmed somehow.

Mr. Furness, feeling sure with search, was about to go out to get a detective, when Mrs. Furness said, "There's a man at the back door," she said, "and I caught an order from his head. I think it's the grocer himself."

Then Mr. Furness went to the back door.

"You've come yourself this time, have you?" he shouted.

"Yes, sir," said the man.

"Got that story?"

"Yes, sir."

"You haven't! Do you know, sir, that we have been waiting all this morning for a few more eggs and that butter? Don't you know that I've had to make a trip to your store on purpose for that? Where's the butter? Where's the eggs? What kind of way is that for a man to do business? We could have had them if you'd sent over the street-cleaner and the ash-man!"

"Yes, sir."

"And which woman's any particular hurry are the boxes and the shopping bags

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, JUNE 10, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING HOME FOR THEIR VACATION, SHOULD NOTIFY THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

BREVITIES

—Westfield intends to have a grand Fourth of July celebration. A large sum of money has already been pledged to carry on the work.

—Butter, sugar and oil are way down in price according to the new advertisement of the United Tea and Coffee Growers Association. Read it.

—Under the new Chinese exclusive act every Chinese resident in the country must register before the U. S. Revenue Collector of his district within a year.

—Park avenue was a miniature raging river last night during the heavy rain which fell during the evening. At nine o'clock it was almost impossible to cross the street.

—An excursion will be run over the Central Railroad on June 25th to Manoh Chunk, Glen Onoko and the Switchback. Train will leave this city at 6.37 a. m. Fair round trip $1.25.

—Werner's show windows are filled with samples of two hundred $10 suits which, owing to the backward season, are to be disposed of at $10 each, as elsewhere advertised.

—It is very probable that the National Cordage Company will in the near future begin the erection of an immense plant on what was the site of the Rimbethport Cordage Works, destroyed by fire last year.

—Mrs. John Gable says that her boy was kidnapped by her husband and that it was without her knowledge or consent, contrary to the statements made by her father to a News reporter, as published yesterday.

—County Engineer Louis Quien has drawn the plans for the contemplated wings which will be added so the State Insane Asylum, near Trenton. The wings will be constructed of stone and it will cost $50,000 to erect them.

—The Presbyterian Assembly, the Methodist Conference, and the Baptist Congress, and their Relations to Current Theological Thought," will be the theme of the pastor at the Seventh-day Baptist church to-morrow morning.

—The Middlesex county Board of Freeholders have resolved in their budget for the coming year an appropriation of $60,000 for improving the roads of the county. The road between New Brunswick and Metuchen will be macadamized.

—On complaint of J. A. Hibbitts, Tom Burns, Jr., was arrested for using indecent language and fighting, and arraigned before Judge Coddington this morning. Date of trial has not yet been set. Several cases will come up before the Judge to-morrow.

—Politeness costs nothing, but the lack of it sometimes cost a great deal. Life is brief, and we will pass this way but once. Let us make the most of our opportunity to make the world feel even a little better because we have passed through it on our journey to eternity.

—The Y. M. C. A., will have two camping-out parties this year. One will be at North Asbury Park, the other at Northfield. President Murray or General Secretary Manning of the Y. M. C. A., or Mr. Charles Brown of West Second street will give all information to applicants.

—Weather permitting, a large delegation will accompany the Crescents to Elizabeth to-morrow afternoon, where they will play a return game with the Y. M. C. I. A., at four o'clock. There will be no game in this city to-morrow, as the Bicycle Club team have cancelled their date with the Flemington club on account of pitcher Johnson's injured hand.

—A large and elegant acquisition of new wash dress fabrics was added to Edsall's attractive stock yesterday. Among the lot are many styles of French organdie lawn that usually sells at 25 cents, which is offered at 12½ cents per yard. Many of the styles of Edsall's will surely meet their own interest by an early examination of his handsome new goods. See ad reproduced.

—The National Educational Association will meet at Saratoga July 12th to 15th. The representatives of New Jersey are very desirous of securing a large delegation from this State, that the State may take rank among the first in educational interest. The Pennsylvania road will run a special train for the New Jersey delegation by way of the West Jersey railroad, to Long Branch, Sea Girt, Manasquan, Point Pleasant, Bay Head, Toms River, Forked River, Tuckerton, Beach Haven, Atlantic City, Ocean City, Sea Isle City, Avalon, Stone Harbor, Anglesea, Wildwood, Cape May, Cape May Point, Delaware City, Delaware River Bridge, Philadelphia (Broad street station) July 11th, at 11.30 a. m.

—The habit of biting the finger nails is comparatively easy to break when it goes at it in the right way. A middle aged woman, after having nipped her nails almost her entire life, succeeded herself of the habit by bestowing on each finger a silver thimble and a ring. She carefully cultivated the nail, giving a certain amount of attention to it every day. When the finger nail had grown to the usual length she put on another, and so on, until all her nails were cut one were in perfect shape. It took months of the most patient effort to break up the last remaining scrap of this disgusting habit.—New York Press.

—A prosecuting attorney in Illinois has following on paste: "Pants are made for men and not men for pants. When a man wants to be a woman or a woman wants to be a man, they get a pair of pants. Such pants don't last. Pants are the backbone, chimney and key to society, and slicker is cold. The man in the moon knows the whole matter, so count him out. Men are men, women are women. Both sexes make investigations of pantaloon. There have been no changes as to the wearing of pants in all ages, and there is no use to us when men wear pants they say when they shall be but they don't wear only as it is natural. A man is not a bear in his pants and it is all rubbish lost when the people put on a tear it is all wrong."

A New Altar.

A new high altar has been put up in St. Joseph's church by R. H. McCullough, of Steiner place. As a piece of artistic wood work it is very beautiful, and does great credit to Mr. McCullough's factory.

THE PARK PLACE CHANGE HAIL.

Why the Commissioners Acted Thursday—The Speeches.

On account of the storm yesterday, the locale of the Park place change had to hold their meeting indoors in the chapel instead of on the trees, as they had intended.

Mr. A. A. Vail had the keys deposited with him. The chapel was very bright and attractive with its pretty bouquets and plenteous rooms inflet.

The comfy booth which stood in the centre of the room, was covered with white and the chairs were tastily arranged for the important event. At this table were Mrs. Wightman, Miss Lockwood, Miss Alice Darnell and Miss Louise Darnell.

The interesting well wishers began to come in one after and by the time the service opened, nearly every available seat was filled by the ladies of Calvary and Park Place churches, Mrs. Gribbel, Mrs. Bower and Mrs. Howe had charge of this department.

In the corner opposite the improvised platform, was a table covered with flowers and attention. This table will each year be called the formary, as it was entirely covered with floral grouped plants which Mrs. Tant had spent the previous day to entertain. She was assisted in her efforts by Miss Bessie Tant, Miss Jessie Teed and Miss Eleanor T. Morrison.

The stage was, which consisted of another corner of the room gaily decorated to lend to the picture. Here Miss Bessie Tant, Miss Jessie Dutch and Miss May McDonald, dressed in the pay colors which the original groups bore, were prepared to tell fortunes.

Miss Crosby assisted by Mrs. Tupper and Mrs. Loring had charge of the fancy table, which stood in the fourth corner corner of the room.

The refreshments were served in the class room near the entrance. This department was in charge of Miss Wakefield, Mrs. Vallance, Mrs. Tupper, Miss Bonney and Miss Lamson.

The festival will be continued this evening.

PERSONAL.

The Rev. Cornelius Schenck will deliver an address on Childhood's Days Sunday, at three o'clock, p. m., at the Second Reformed church, Somerville.

The degree of Lit. D. (Doctor of Literature) was yesterday conferred by the Board of Trustees of Rutgers Female College upon Mr. Chauncey Binney of this city.

Mr. Theodore Miller, Jr., has lately purchased the West property, corner of Sixth street and Broadway, and recently changed the appearance of the building by constructing a large piazza and otherwise beautifying the property.

Martin M. Thorn, formerly of this city, but now engaged in Real Estate business in New York, was in town on Thursday. He was an old Plainfielder, coming here early in the 1850s, and was one of the most prominent real estate and fire insurance brokers in this vicinity.

Mr. Frank DeW. Randolph, of Madison avenue, this city, is one of the graduates in the law class of Columbia, on June 15th. Mr. Randolph has been taking a thorough course in civil engineering and after June 15th will be a full fledged C. E.

Very few people visiting "Glenside Park" can realize that formerly it was known as "The Deserted Village." Mr. Ackerman of Scotch Plains has made a miniature fairy land of the place, and at this season of the year it is a garden spot in the mountains.

Mrs. Cleaver's recent address to Craven Post, G. A. R., was listened to by a large audience. The boys to him may have fought many battles but never have they met so many defeats and won so many victories in so short a time as they did under Mrs. Cleaver's leadership on the occasion of Post Cleaver's visit.

North Plainfield School Census.

Dr. W. S. Matthews, the North Plainfield census enumerator, has just handed the result of gathering statistics relative to the town. The following are the statistics which he has kept. The News:

No. of children attending	1	2
private schools	35	30
Public schools	183	200
No. between years of age—
5 " 6	22	17
6 " 7	21	21
7 " 8	21	21
8 " 9	21	21
9 " 10	21	21
10 " 11	21	21
11 " 12	21	21
12 " 13	21	21
13 " 14	21	21
14 " 15	21	21
15 " 16	21	21
16 " 17	21	21
17 " 18	21	21
18 " 19	21	21
19 " 20	21	21
20 " 21	21	21
Total	317	317

The enrollment numbers in the persons of said 2nd ward are beyond question declared and it.

W. S. MATTHEWS, Enumerator.

Matrimonial Tendencies Abroad.

At the business meeting of the W. C. T. U., it was resolved that a subscription of the money of the Union be raised to defray the expenses of the delegate to the State convention and to aid in the entertainment of the State convention to be held in this city in October next.

Mrs. Mary Hall, Mrs. Mary Hall, Mrs. Mary Hall,

EDITORIAL NOTES

Brazil's prospects as a republic are not desperate when the Rothschilds purchase $5,000,000 of her 5 per cent. bonds at 97.

If photography had never done anything else it would have paid for itself by demonstrating to the world that "certain well defined types of facial expression are dependent upon certain relative tensions of the oculo-motor muscles." So glad to know it, you know.

Talk of women not having as much business shrewdness as men! There are yet living nineteen widows of Revolutionary soldiers regularly drawing government pensions. The oldest of them is a hundred, the youngest seventy-four years old. Some of them must have been only sixteen and the veterans who were the fathers of this country must have been past eighty when they were wedded, yet these shrewd bits of girls knew enough to go in for the pensions which were a sure thing all the rest of their lives. They know also how to exemplify the truth of the saying that pensioners live long.

The bill permitting any enlisted man in the United States army who is unmarried, not over thirty and of good habits to be examined for promotion to a second lieutenancy is a step in the right direction. It will aid a little to break down that awful and idiotic barrier now existing between the private soldier and his West Point officer. Whatever tends to force it on the understanding of West Point graduates and their faculties that the private soldier of a free and independent republic is a man and a citizen, and in so far as he has intelligence and cultivation is every whit as swell a gentleman as his captain, will have a salutary effect on the little West Point mind. Americans must not be snobs.

Scientific Eating.

One is rather appalled to find from an article in The Forum by Professor W O. Atwater how badly off we are in the matter of eating frightful monsters without knowing it. The fact that we can go to sleep every night and get up comfortable in the morning heedless of the fact that we are eating twice as many carbohydrates as we should and not half so much myosin, casein, albumen, gluten and other forms of protein as we should do, argues either the fatal security of dense ignorance or else total depravity. One cannot tell under which head to place it.

It is true the professor kindly explains that the too muchness of the wicked carbohydrates comes to us in fat, starch and sugar, while the terms protein, proteids and albumenoids are applied somewhat indiscriminately to the various nitrogenous compounds in plants and the animal body, but that does not begin to let us off. We waste our food. However, there is palliation. In Germany a well fed and well paid laborer at severe work performs his labor on 145 grams of protein and 3,370 calories of potential energy. In this country, probably because we are independent citizens of a free republic, it takes 250 grams of protein and anywhere up to 7,800 calories of potential energy to do severe labor.

On the whole 'tis well. The American, filled full of his greater number of grams of protein and all his calories of potential energy has much more vim and spirit than his European brother But he must let up on the carbohydrates; that is the pressing need of the hour.

Talk in Novels.

Speaking of conversation in novels Agness Repplier objects to one well known writer because, in their talk, the characters are always hampered by the fear of the necessity of illustrating a moral, and even in their most unguarded moments they must still live up to their mission, like the good and bad children in an old fashioned Sunday school book, and therefore cannot develop on natural lines. "It is seldom that a good tract is a good story, too," remarks Miss Repplier. The conversations of a novel are also failures when the characters are put up to talk at us. When the author tries to convert us to a new hobby or reform our manners and ideas in a story, instead of minding his own business and looking after his characters, we become suspicious of him at once and give his book as wide a berth as we can. Story writing is story writing and must not be turned into preaching.

The following extract from Miss Repplier's paper in The Christian Union has a point in it that might well penetrate the perception of novelists. It contains a perennial truth:

> A great many years ago, when I was a little girl, I used to know a dear, placid, sunny tempered lady who had no more sense of humor in her constitution than a well regulated mosquito. She always came to our house bearing a black bag, which held her patchwork or her stocking, and she always had it with a borrowed novel under her arm. As she had reached that comfortable period of middle age when books are usually forgotten instead of remembered, this slender library supplied all her demands on the same principle of timely reappearance which makes an imposing stage army out of two dozen elusive supernumeraries. She had a theory of selection all her own, and to watch the hospitality it exercised was a liberal education. She glanced over a story very rapidly, and if it had too many awful, page long paragraphs—reflective, descriptive, etc.—she put it sadly but steadfastly aside. If, on the contrary, it was well broken up into conversations, which always impart an air of sprightliness to a book, she said she was sure she would like it and carried it off in triumph.

NEAR THE FINISH.

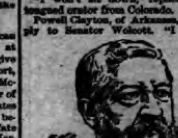
Harrison Men Win Three Victories at Minneapolis.

THE PLATFORM PRESENTED,

It Favors Bimetallism and Praises the President.

No Mention Made of Mr. Blaine—The Followers of the Administration Succeed in Their Efforts to Have the Majority Report of the Credentials Committee Adopted—The Minority Report Favored by the Blaine Men Rejected by the Convention—At a Caucus of Harrison Men 500 Delegates Pledged Themselves to Support the President. At Washington Mr. Harrison Seems to Be Worrying Very Little About the Outcome of the Convention.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 10.—The Republican national convention which adjourned at 11:45 a. m. Thursday until 5 p. m. to give the committee on credentials time to report, reassembled at 5:30. When Chairman McKinley rapped for order there was an air of suppressed excitement among the delegates all of whom believed that the fate of President Harrison and ex-Secretary Blaine's presidential aspirations was soon to be decided. During recess the story was passed from mouth to mouth that the Blaine movement had collapsed, that his name would not even be presented to the convention and that a hundred majority for General Harrison was assured on the first ballot.



SENATOR WOLCOTT.

This story was ridiculed by the Blaine men. Ex-Senator Platt said: "There is not a word of truth in the story, if there was I would be the first to admit it. The fact is that the Blaine column is stronger than ever. Do you know how that story started? There are over 200 office holders here whose furloughs expire on Saturday. They don't want to go home and leave the nomination undecided. You can say that Mr. Blaine's name will be presented as provided for in the original programme, and that we consider him the strongest man in the race."

Colonel Dick Thompson Remembered.

The moment Chairman McKinley brought down his gavel, Chauncey M. Depew was on his feet to announce the eighty-third birthday of Colonel Dick Thompson, of Indiana. He said:

> We have present here among our number a delegate to every national convention of the Republican party since its organization, who has voted for every president of the United States for the last sixty years and who has never varied his devotion to the principles to today eighty-three years of age, in full physical vigor. While England claims so much for Mr. Gladstone because he is eighty-two, America claims that for Colonel Dick Thompson of Indiana. We hope he will record his history and attend during the intervening period every convention of the Republican party.

The convention congratulated Colonel Thompson and he was escorted to the chair. Mr. Thompson said it made him young again to look about the convention. He was not half eighty-three, for he was stimulated by an undaunted Republican spirit, and by the belief that that party was to rule the country for years and years to come.

He had passed through fifteen presidential campaigns. His first vote for a president was cast for Henry Clay, that great protectionist, and here he was at this time would come when the country would vindicate the bill which (turning to Mr. McKinley) "bears your honored name, sir."

At this point the electric lights went out, leaving the speaker's figure hardly distinguishable in the blackness. The lights flashed up in a moment, and Mr. Thompson finished his remarks briefly with an eulogy of the McKinley bill. A resolution was then adopted admitting Grand Army veterans to the hall and vacant seats.

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

A communication from Titusville, Pa., stating that the convention had overshadowed its disaster and asking that the people of the country be notified through public announcement in the convention of the terrible loss of life and suffering from flood and fire at Oil City and Titusville, was read.

The Contested Cases.

The convention then agreed to hear a verbal report from the credentials committee, Chairman Coggswell representing the majority of its committee. The report recommended that the national committee be sustained as to 23 votes and not sustained as to 17 votes, thus unseating seventeen Alabama delegates in the temporary roll. The next result politically was a gain of about 13 votes to Harrison as compared with the temporary roll. Wallace, of New York, made a minority report as to Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, keeping 10 Harrison votes out of the convention. Mr. Coggswell moved that the majority report be accepted as a whole. Chauncey I. Filley of Missouri asked that the minority report be adopted. He entered into a long statement of the facts in the case.

Mr. Massey of Delaware, sustained the majority report. Mr. Knight, of California, said it was notorious that a collector of internal revenue and two or three United States marshals thwarted the will of the people of Alabama. "Let the Federal brigade keep their hands off," he shouted. He was greeted with applause.

Mr. Bethea, of Illinois, here gave the majority view of the case. In the course of his remarks, he said: "I find you can govern almost anything from people of that part of the country."

This remark was greeted with a storm of hisses from the Southern delegates and Mr. Bethea changed it the hissing was renewed. "We'll vote it down," cried several of the delegates.

Senator Wolcott's Speech.

Senator Wolcott was then recognized, and the convention gave him a warm welcome. He brought up a feature of the presidential fight in a way that caught the convention by storm. He said: "I hold in my hands a list of 100 colored men from Texas. Nine-tenths of them live in states where there is a hopeless Democratic majority." The convention and the galleries gave a yell.

Continuing in the discussion of federal interference in the Kentucky case Mr. Wolcott said: "The trouble in this convention comes not alone from those who are against the two or three thousand colored men who swarm in the corridor of the hotel and the side streets, but from those who ought to be in Washington attending to their business."

Another storm of applause greeted this remark, which was interrupted by a cry of "Sit down."

"I won't sit down," replied the silver tongued orator from Colorado.

Powell Clayton, of Arkansas, rose to reply to Senator Wolcott. "I respectfully submit," he said, "that when officeholders leave this hall they will return from Colorado must go with them." [Cheers.]

JAMES G. BLAINE.

Mr. Wolcott retorted: "I desire to remind the gentleman from Arkansas that while I hold my office I do not hold it from the President of the United States, but from the people of my state, and I am here as I am when in Washington, to represent a Republican constituency."

Depew and Miller Talk.

Mr. Depew was then recognized. He said he knew nothing of the merits of the question. After listening to the speeches he knew less than before. [Laughter.] The committee appointed by the convention had given contradictory statements to the press and reported on them. The gentleman from Missouri himself a constituted committee of one had spoken for the minority. The gentleman from Colorado had spoken for a part of it, and has incidentally expressed the terror in which he walked the streets of Minneapolis for fear of office holders. He thought that no more than two-thirds of the committee had recommended the report it should be adopted. Ex-Senator Miller, of New York, offered the majority report. He said it was the first time in his experience that a committee on resolutions had reported without giving one reason for its report. It represented a majority of the states, 23 to 22. The national committee had decided—28 to 21—that the seats should be given to the four delegates at large in Alabama. Mr. Miller at the end of his time demanded a division of the cases and asked first for a vote.

Mr. Coggswell was recognized to reply to Mr. Miller. He said that the committee had waited the pleasure of the convention whether the committee had presented a verbal or written report. The gentleman from New York sat in his seat then. He should be dumb now. In conclusion Mr. Coggswell moved the previous question. A delegate from Georgia in vain tried to get the floor, but there were cries of "question," and Mr. Coggswell said that as the delegate was on his side he would not withdraw the demand. Massachusetts, Illinois, Maryland, West Virginia and New Jersey seconded the demand for the previous question.

Quay Takes the Floor.

Mr. Quay was recognized and was greeted with applause. In his thin voice which scarce reached the platform, he asked the chair to define the effect of adopting the previous question. The chair in a few plain man explained that the demand would apply to the majority and the two minority reports. On the demand of the gentleman from New York the question would be divided.

Mr. Quay insisted on knowing what the effect would be on the minority report of the report. There were some portions on which the minority had made a written report on which they wished to move some changes. The chairman again explained.

The chair then called for the vote on the previous question. There was a chorus of "ayes" and a few faint "noes" and amid applause the chair announced the vote carried.

The chair then announced that the first question was on the resolution reported in the Alabama case. On request of Mr. Hiscock unanimous consent was given to take a vote first on seating the uncontested delegates. The question of seating them was carried.

Then the vote was taken on the minority report. The viva voce vote left the chair and the ayes and noes on the resolution of division there seemed no large majority in favor of the minority report that there was any serious opposition to the majority report. The ayes and noes were called. "Call the roll," cried Chris Magee, of Pennsylvania, rushed down the aisle with a motion from Pennsylvania for a roll call. New York and Pennsylvania joined and the chairman announced that the roll would be called.

Meantime the Blaine men were smiling broadly, while Hon. John C. New was explaining to a group on the platform that this could not be considered a test vote.

The roll call was begun, but as soon as Alabama voted 16 votes for the minority report and 5 against it a spirited debate arose as to whether the contested seats in Alabama should be voted on first, whether the Alabama delegates should be allowed to vote when they were so much interested in the subject.

The chairman said he believed every delegate seated by the national committee was entitled to enjoy the privileges of this convention until unseated by a majority of votes. Those gentlemen had not been unseated. [Applause.] But a question, serious, perhaps, the chairman continued, was whether a delegate should vote in his own case. Mr. McKinley then announced from Rule 6 of the Fifty-first congress, which provided that a member should vote on a question called summed or "unless he had personal or pecuniary interest in it.

Mr. Austin, of Alabama, said he only desired to say that he would not withdraw the votes of the four delegates at large.

The vote on the motion to substitute the minority for the majority report, from the Alabama case, was then taken by roll call, and, amid applause, resulted—ayes, 558; noes, 348. This was a decided victory for the Harrison forces and the hall rang with cheers. The following is the vote in detail:

Alabama, ayes 20, noes 2; Arkansas, ayes 1, noes 16; California, ayes 10, noes 2; Colorado, ayes 6, noes 0; Connecticut, ayes 14, noes 0; Delaware, ayes 6, noes 0; Florida, ayes 5, noes 0; Georgia, ayes 1, noes 22; Idaho, ayes 6, noes 0; Illinois, ayes 48, noes 2; Indiana, ayes 30, noes 0; Iowa, ayes 4, noes 26; Kansas, ayes 16, noes 0; Kentucky, ayes 6, noes 20; Louisiana, ayes 1, noes 18; Maine, ayes 12, noes 0; Maryland, ayes 6, noes 10; Massachusetts, ayes 34, noes 0; Michigan, ayes 22, noes 0; Minnesota, ayes 18, noes 0; Mississippi, ayes 1, noes 20; Missouri, ayes 34, noes 0; Montana, ayes 6, noes 0; Nebraska, ayes 16, noes 0; Nevada, ayes 6, noes 0; New Hampshire, ayes 8, noes 0; New Jersey, ayes 20, noes 0; New York, ayes 72, noes 0; North Carolina, ayes 1, noes 24; North Dakota, ayes 8, noes 0; Ohio, ayes 46, noes 0; Oregon, ayes 8, noes 0; Pennsylvania, ayes 64, noes 0; Rhode Island, ayes 8, noes 0; South Carolina, ayes 2, noes 18; South Dakota, ayes 8, noes 0; Tennessee, ayes 12, noes 10; Texas, ayes 6, noes 18; Vermont, ayes 8, noes 0; Virginia, ayes 4, noes 0; Washington, ayes 8, noes 0; West Virginia, ayes 12, noes 0; Wisconsin, ayes 24, noes 0; Wyoming, ayes 6, noes 0; Alabama, ayes 16, noes 5; Arizona, ayes 1, noes 0; District of Columbia, ayes 2, noes 0; New Mexico, ayes 3, noes 0; Oklahoma, ayes 2, noes 0; Utah, ayes 1; noes 1; Alaska, 2 votes; not on the roll.

During the balloting when New Jersey was reached there was a lively scene. Murphy demanded that the roll be called and that he be permitted to vote, but the examination of the roll showed that the action of the state committee had been reversed by the printer and another name appeared in the place of Mr. Murrell's. So the colored delegate retired.

Motion to Adjourn Lost.

Then the lights in the hall went out and Blaine men endeavored to get an adjournment. Messrs. Miller and Fassett both declared that it was not time to vote. Confusion in the hall, but there were loud cries of "No." The lights came on again, however, and stopped the wrangle. Delegate Cheney cried: "I express the sense of Harrison," and the Harrison men cheered again. As Iowa delegate moved a recess till 11 o'clock. There were cries of "No," and Chris Magee moved it be called, but the vote in the negative. The Blaine men voted "aye," the Harrison men "no." There was another cheer as the chair announced the vote—577 ayes to 571 noes—and declared the motion to adjourn lost.

Mr. Depew asked a vote on the majority report. Mr. Miller moved a recess to 10:30. Mr. Cannon made the point that no business had intervened and that it was evidently a dilatory motion and the point was declared well taken. Mr. Depew then put on the adoption of the majority question and evidently was carried on viva voce vote, but there were cries of "roll call" from all parts of the hall. Quay quickly asked the call in the name of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Platt seconded the request for the state of New York. Confusion ensued and the chair started to send much confusion.

Before the vote (576 to 352) was announced the convention, on motion of Mr. Shepard of New York, passed a resolution authorizing the secretary to receive contributions for the Titusville sufferers.

FRANK HISCOCK.

Mr. Forsker, chairman of the committee on resolutions, was then given unanimous consent to read the platform, which was received with great enthusiasm and adopted. It follows:

The Platform.

The representatives of the Republicans of the United States assembled in general convention on the shores of the Mississippi river, the everflowing bond of a perpetual union between whose most glorious chapter of history is the record of the Republican party, congratulate the country upon the auspicious beginning of the administration under the banners inscribed with the principles of our platform of 1888, vindicated by victory at the polls and prosperity in the fields, workshops and mines, and marks the following declarations of political faith:

The Tariff: We reaffirm the American doctrine of protection. We call attention to its growth since 1860. We maintain that the enormous condition of our country is largely due to the wise revenue legislation of the Republican party, and we call attention to the fact which cannot be produced in the United States cannot become, should be admitted free of duty, and that the enactment of these rates in competition with the products of American labor there should be duties levied equal to the difference between wages here and at home.

We assert that the prices of manufactured articles of general consumption have been reduced under the operations of the tariff act of 1890. We denounce the efforts of the Democratic party in the house of representatives to destroy these industries, as manifested by their attempts on wool, lead and lead ore, and we ask for the reason for their legislation.

We point to the success of the Republican policy of reciprocity, under which export trade has developed beyond all our own and existing markets have been opened for the production of our farms and workshops. We remind the people of the bitter opposition of the Democratic party to this practical business measure, and charge that the threatened disaster to our foreign trade, if not wholly by a Democratic administration, our present laws will eventually give us the control of the world.

The Silver Plank.

Silver—The American people from tradition and interest favor bimetallism, and the Republican party demands the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country, and to this end under such provisions to be determined by conference, as will secure the maintenance of the parity in value of the coins of the two metals, so that the purchasing and debt paying power of the dollar, whether of silver, gold or paper, shall at all times be equal.

The interests of the producers of the country require the coinage of the silver product of the country; silver or coin, issued by the government, as well as gold and any other money, and we favor such legislation as will secure the use of both metals in the circulation of the currency of the country.

The Democratic party has failed to make provision for the coinage of the silver product of the country, and has refused the use of both gold and silver for the use as money throughout the world.

Elections—We demand that every citizen of the United States has the right to cast one free and unrestricted ballot in all public elections, and that such ballot shall be counted and returned as cast; that we denounce the action of the Democratic party in preventing such votes from being cast and counted as will secure to every citizen, be he rich or poor, native or foreign born, white or black, the full measure right, guaranteed by the constitution, the free and honest popular vote and the just and equal representation of all the people as well as the just and equal protection of life and property in the possession of our Republican institutions, and the party will never relax its efforts until the integrity of the ballot and the purity of elections shall be fully guaranteed and protected in every state.

Southern Outrages—We denounce the continued outrages upon the rights of citizens at the various elections for political reasons in certain states of the Union.

Home Rule—Sympathy for Ireland.

Foreign Relations—We favor the extension of our foreign commerce; the restoration of our merchant marine by home built ships and the construction of a navy for the protection of our national interests and the honor of our flag; the peaceful settlement of international disputes by arbitration; friendly relations with foreign powers; extinguishing all differences with noise, and the protection of the rights of our citizens wherever their travels or residence may require it, and believe in the control of the executive functions of the government in the matter of foreign intercourse.

Immigration—We favor sufficient legislation by congress to protect the life and labor of our people from the effects of foreign pauper labor, carrying immediate commerce, and recommend legislation by the respective states to protect themselves and to regulate or prohibit the immigration of criminals, paupers and persons afflicted with loathsome and dangerous diseases.

Naturalization—We favor sufficient legislation by congress to protect the life and labor of our people from the effects of foreign pauper labor, carrying immediate commerce, and recommend legislation by the respective states to protect themselves and to regulate or prohibit the immigration of criminals, paupers and persons afflicted with loathsome and dangerous diseases; for the restriction of criminals, pauper and contract labor immigration flame who had fought to destroy the republic back into the fold, the restoration of public credit, the resumption of specie payments and the prosperous condition of national business.

Harrison's Record.

For twenty-five years there were names with which to conjure. It needed but a mention of the glorious story of its heroes and a statement of the achievements of the Republican party to rouse the loyalty of the people and fasten the choice for change which is clear, patriotic of love of country. There came a shock to the progress of the republic in the last four years of Democratic administration, and finally a panic brought about by threatened changes of policy and by the open issue of free trade with what Democracy, its profession and its practices mean today. The campaign will be won or lost, as upon the old issues of James Polk or of Franklin Pierce or of James Buchanan—not upon the good record of Lincoln or of Grant, or of Arthur, or of Hayes, or of Garfield. It will be won or lost upon the policy, foreign and domestic, the industrial questions and the administrative acts of the administration of Benjamin Harrison. Whoever receives the nomination of this convention will run upon the judgment of the people as to whether they have been more prosperous and happy, whether the country has been in a better condition at home and stood more honorably abroad under these last four years of Harrison and Republican administration than during the preceding four years of Cleveland and Democratic government.

Not since Thomas Jefferson has any administration been called upon to face and solve so many or such difficult problems as those which have been submitted to our present administration since the organization of the government has met difficulties of state or more to the satisfaction of the American people. Child has been taught that, no matter how small the antagonist, he can be trusted with safety to all the flag or murder American citizens. Germany and England have learned in Samoa that the United States has become one of the powers of the world, and, no matter how mighty the adversary, at every sacrifice American honor will be maintained. The Behring sea question, which was the insurmountable obstacle in the diplomacy of Cleveland and Bayard, has been settled upon a basis which sustains the American position until arbitration shall have determined our right.

Honor to Honor Is Due.

The dollar of the country has been placed and kept in the standard of commercial nations, and a coin has been agreed upon with foreign governments which, by making international the policy of all nations, may successfully solve all our financial problems.

The tariff tinkered with and trifled with, to the serious disturbance of trade and disaster to business, since the days of Washington has been courageously embodied into a code—a code which has preserved the principle of the protection of American labor. It has been added a beneficent policy, supplemented by beneficent treaties and wise diplomacy, which has opened to our farmers and manufacturers the markets of other countries.

The navy has been builded upon lines which will protect American citizens and American interests and the American flag all over the world. The public debt has been reduced. The dreaded deficit has been headed off. The public credit has been maintained. The burdens of taxation have been lightened.

Two hundred millions of currency have been added to the people's money without disturbance of the exchanges. Unexampled prosperity has crowned wise laws and their wise administration.

The main question which divides us is, To whom does the credit of all this belong? Others may stand upon this platform more able and eloquent than I, but they will not point in more brilliant colors, but they cannot put in more earnest thought the affection and admiration of Republicans for our distinguished secretary of state, I yield to no Republican, no matter from which state he hails, in admiration and respect for John Sherman, for Governor McKinley, for Thomas B. Reed, for Iowa's great son, for the favorites of Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

"Who Has Been President, Anyhow?"

But when I am told that the credit for the brilliant diplomacy of this administration belongs exclusively to the secretary of state, for the administration of its finances to the secretary of the treasury, for the reconstruction of the ships to the secretary of the navy, for the introduction of American pork in Europe to the secretary of agriculture, for the reciprocity so far as it is settled of the currency question to Senator John Sherman, for the formulation of the tariff bill to Governor McKinley, for the removal of the restrictions placed by foreign nations upon the introduction of American pork to our ex-minister to Austria, I am tempted to seriously inquire who, during the last four years, has been president of the United States, anyhow.

Cæsar, when he wrote those commentaries which are the history of the conquests of Europe under his leadership, modestly took the position of Æneas, when he said, "They are the narrative of events, the whole of which I saw and the part of which I was."

General Thomas, as the rock of Chickamauga, occupies a place in our history with Leonidas among the Greeks, except that he succeeded where Leonidas failed. The fight of Joe Hooker above the clouds was the poetry of battle. The resistless rush of Sheridan and his steed down the valley of Shenandoah is the epic of our civil war. The march of Sherman from Atlanta to the sea is the supreme triumph of gallantry and generalship. But never before was the splendor of the fame or the merits of the deeds of his lieutenants to pay that having selected them with marvelous sagacity and discretion Grant still remained the supreme commander of the national army.

C. M. DEPEW.

All the principal acts of any administration, before they are formulated, are passed upon in cabinet council, and the discussions and decisions of the ablest men of the party are familiar with a brave president. But for the great good of the country and the benefit of the Republican party they have accorded because of the suggestive mind, the indomitable courage, the intelligent appreciation of situations and the grand magnanimity of Benjamin Harrison.

Must Carry Doubtful States.

It is an undisputed fact that during the few months when both the secretary of state and the secretary of the treasury were ill the president personally assumed the duties of the state and treasury departments, and both with signal success. The secretary of state, in accepting his portfolio under President Garfield, wrote: "Your administration must be made brilliantly successful and strong in order to defence and pride of the people, to all of your big to energies for re-election and yet opposing influences by the logic of results and by the imperious necessities of the situation."

Garfield fell before the toilet of the assassin and Mr. Blaine resigned to private life. Then President Harrison invited him to take up that unfinished diplomatic career where its threads had been so tragically broken. He entered the cabinet. He resumed his work, and has won a higher place in our history. The prophecy he made for Garfield has been superbly fulfilled by President Harrison. In the language of Mr. Blaine, "the president has compelled a re-view by the logic of events and the imperious necessities of the situation."

"The man in the street need have today, to win, more nerve a certain shell narrow manner over best. We have put forward our ablest, our most trusted, our most brilliant leaders for governor and state officers, to suffer constant defeat. The only fight which illumines the sea of hope, the dark record of these twenty years, is the fact that in one the state of New York was triumphantly carried by President Harrison. He carried it then as a gallant soldier, a wise senator, a statesman who inspired confidence by his public utterances in daily practice from the commencement of the campaign to its close. He still has all these claims, and in addition a demonstration beyond criticism and rich with the elements of popularity with which to carry New York again.

Governor Flower His Grandfather.

Ancestry helps in the Old World and buildings in the New. There is but one distinguished example of a son overcoming the handicap imposed by the powerful name of his father and then rising above it, and that was when the younger Pitt became greater than Chatham. Will any one remember the author of the Declaration of Independence, and another who served in the northwest frontier campaigns and was a gentleman, a soldier and a sage, and who was president of the United States, a poor and ephemeral figure at Lindsay Harrison by his unaided efforts to such distinction as lawyer, soldier, statesman and president that he positively overshadows his father? Governor Flower has deserved upon him, and proceeds to American history the parallel of the younger Pitt.

By the grand record of a wise and popular administration, by the strength gained in frequent contact with the people, is wonderfully versatile and felicitous speech, by the claims of a pure life to public and in the simplicity of a typical American home, I nominate Benjamin Harrison.

THE HARRISON CAUCUS.

It Develops an Alleged Strength of 888 Votes.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 10.—The greatest session of the day was a caucus of the Harrison men, held immediately after the adjournment of the convention. When the delegates had assembled "Long" Jones, of Illinois, mounted the platform and advised that the Harrison leaders from each delegation join him there.

Chauncey M. Depew was made chairman. He said that the object of the meeting was to bring the Harrison men together, so that they could come in touch with each other and so that they could all know for themselves who the others were. (Laughter.) Chris Magee, of Pennsylvania, was made secretary.

Mr. Magee then read the roll, beginning with Alabama. The representative of each delegation on the platform announced the Harrison strength in his delegation.

During the call there was no interruption by a delegate, who said that the committee on credentials had admitted the Harrison delegates in Alabama, which would make the Harrison vote from that state 14 instead of 7, as recorded on the call. The announcement was greeted with cheering.

At the conclusion of the roll call Mr. Magee announced that the total number of votes promised to Harrison was 530. This included figures from New Mexico, Oklahoma and Utah which were not represented on the roll call. Mr. Magee moved that Chauncey M. Depew be made the leader of the Harrison forces in the convention, and that the friends of Harrison stand by him to the end. The motion was adopted amid cheers. Although it is known that a number of men were present in the conference who are not committed positively to the Harrison cause, the moral effect of the meeting will make them Harrison men unless the Blaine leaders can counteract its effect before the ballot is taken.

Elkins Says Blaine Is Out.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—A United Press reporter asked Secretary Elkins for his views on the political situation. He replied that he had said from the beginning that President Harrison had 630, and that he would be renominated on the first ballot without serious opposition.

The President Seems Unconcerned.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The president, Mrs. McKee, Secretary Rusk and Lieutenant Parker attended the amateur performance of "Damon and Pythias" at the National theater last night given for the benefit of the women's relief corps of the Grand Army of the Republic. The president on his entrance was loudly applauded. He remained an interested spectator throughout the evening, returning to the executive mansion about 10:30 p. m. At the executive mansion he found Secretary Elkins, Attorney General Miller, Secretary Foster and Secretary Tracy awaiting in the room of Private Secretary Halford reading news from the convention. Some surprise was expressed that the president, the most interested in the outcome of the Minneapolis convention, should be the least concerned, having for three hours been away from all sources of information. All news received at the executive mansion was of the most favorable nature.

It Will Not Help Ex-Governor.

NEW YORK, June 10.—The Times says: "There is in existence a letter signed by Senator David B. Hill, authorizing the withdrawal of his name from all further consideration by the democratic state and national, whenever, in the opinion and discretion of Richard Croker, Hugh McLaughlin Edward Murphy, jr., and W. F. Sheehan, such a step should be taken.

"That letter is in Troy at this moment. It is in the safe of Edward Murphy, jr., chairman of the Democratic state committee."

President Polk Improving.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The condition of President Polk, of the Farmers' Alliance, continues to improve. His mind is clear, and his physicians feel assured of his ultimate recovery.

Policeman Bailey Indicted.

NEW YORK, June 10.—The grand jury returned two indictments against Policeman Matthew F. Bailey, one for his treatment of Mamie Shannan and another for assault on her mother.

Big Oil Fire at Findlay.

FINDLAY, O., June 10.—Five Standard Oil company tanks, each holding 30,000 barrels of oil, were struck by lightning. Fifty other tanks are in danger. The loss may reach $1,000,000.

Very Popular Element.

THE REMEDY.

Here is a charming little chip hat in a shape which is very popular abroad this season, and is beginning to be seen here. It can be seen in any of the new mentor combinations, such as gray and primrose, brown and cadet blue, black and white, navy and unpainted, &c., or other combinations.

Miss Blanche Fellows
VOCALIST
and Teacher of Singing.
Rapid development and complete education of the voice.
Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formation and tone production.
Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.
Call or address
NO. 37 DUER STREET.

PIPTONIZED
Beef, Iron and Wine
50c.
Per Pint Bottle.
at
WILLIAMS'

Do You Smoke?
The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of Meerschaum
and
Briar Wood Pipes,
Holders and Segars can be found only at
N. H. Guttman's
Sugar store, No. 12 West Second street.

George - Bremmer,
No 18 SOMERSET STREET,
READY MADE CLOTHING,
or made to order—at prices
To Suit Your Purse.
Call and see Samples.

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.

Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of G. R. MUSGRAVE, 37 Somerset street. Call early and secure the best bargains.

A Point Worthy of Attention.
Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both
GOOD and CHEAP.
the place for that is at
VOGELER'S,
17 West Front Street

Having Disposed of the Produce Business
to Mr. L. A. Hammer, all persons owing the
Plainfield Produce Co.
are requested to make prompt settlement.
The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North AVENUE.
We still continue the best business and have constantly on hand first-quarters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.
A. R. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.

BOEHM
WE sell for THIS WEEK ONLY.
Good Matting at 10c.
per yard for the roll.) Largest stock of Carpets, Oil Cloths and Mattings in the city.
Special Low Prices
on Millinery, Dress Goods and Spring Jackets this week.
Agency for King's Dyeing of Co., Easton, Pa.
No. 9 West Front Street.

ON SALE TO-DAY
Our Spring Line of
Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.
Several new patterns this Spring never shown before
CALL AND SEE THEM.
O. M. DUNHAM,
Hatter and Furnisher.
46 West Front Street.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.
Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong Ice to Plainfield. We have prepared to serve their patrons with ice of the best quality and at lowest market rates.
Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, East avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.
J. W. CORNELISON, Pres.
H. CORNELISON, Vice-Pres.
ANDREW WYCKOFF, Sec. & treas.
J. MORROW, Gen. Supt.

C. DICKINSON,
PRACTICAL
OPTICIAN
and
JEWELER.
Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Agent for the American
Rambler Bicycles.
No. 13 Park avenue.

To the Public:
Neuman Bros.
Desire to call special attention to their choice and select line of new canned vegetables, viz: French Peas, preserved sugar corn, Burnham & Morrill's Paris sugar corn, Shrewsbury tomatoes, Red tomatoes, F. H. Leggett's stewed tomatoes, Fait & Whiteman's extra sifted peas, Golden Gate sugar peas, extra early June peas, Hamburg Stringless Beans, Hudson River asparagus and tips
Special prices given by the case or dozen. Also a fine assortment of Gordon & Deworth's jellies and mince meats.
79 BROADWAY.

GARDEN
FLOWER & LAWN
Seeds and
Fertilizers.
Special Lawn Seeds for shady and dry lawns.
GARDEN TOOLS
and
Lawn Mowers.
WATER PIPING AND PLUMBING.
Tinwork, Hardware and Housefurnishings.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

GEORGE VOEHL,
the
CONFECTIONER,
is now prepared to furnish
Parties & Receptions
with Delicious
ICE CREAM
in bricks.
15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.
Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,
DECORATORS ↓ †
‡ ‖ § PAINTERS.
Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—249 East Front street.

Joseph T. Sullivan,
No. 66 West Third Street,
Dealer in Choice
Wines, Liquors, etc.
BEER ON DRAUGHT.

V. L. FRAZEE,
GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES
25 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance.

Edw. C. Mulford,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE
42 South Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.
42 South Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.
Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,
REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE
NO. 6 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,
FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE.
General Hardware and Housefurnishings,
LAWN MOWERS,
(Six Varieties.)
Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,
ICE CREAM FREEZERS.
Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : :
- - - NOT A SCHEME!
TO RECEIVE A
CASH DISCOUNT,
in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of
R. W. RICE & CO.,
GROCERS, 46 EMILY STREET.
Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
Successors to
The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,
Dealers in
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
42 to 46 PARK AVENUE.
Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.
A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice
Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,
BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.
If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any of the Chatham wholesale houses in New York City.
F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor Dealer.
Telephone Co. 1497.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.
(The Port Reading R. R. Co. Lessee.)
Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect May 15, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 14, 6 20, 6 45, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30, 12 00 m., 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Leave New York 7 35, 8 25, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 8 15, 9 45, 11 15 a. m., 1 45, 3 15, 4 45, 6 15, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 p. m.

Leave Somerville 6 45, 8 15, 9 45, 11 15 a. m., 1 45, 3 15, 4 45, 6 15, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 7 35, 9 45, a. m., 1 35, 3 55 p. m. Returning 11 05 a. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

9 35 a. m. for Flemington, Lambertville, Easton, Belvidere, Manunka Chunk, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, Scranton, Wilkesbarre, Mauch Chunk, Allentown, Bethlehem and Easton.

2 17 p. m. for Flemington, DELAWARE, Easton, Belvidere, Manunka Chunk, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, Scranton, Wilkesbarre, Mauch Chunk, Allentown, Bethlehem and Easton.

5 17 p. m. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Lambertville, Easton, Belvidere, Manunka Chunk, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, Scranton, Wilkesbarre, Mauch Chunk, Allentown, Bethlehem and Easton.

7 30 p. m. for Somerville and Flemington.

EASTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE SOMERVILLE.

8 30 a. m. for Plainfield, Elizabeth, Rahway, Metuchen, Menlo Park, Perth Amboy, South Amboy, Jamesburg, Freehold, Long Branch, Ocean Grove, Asbury Park, Point Pleasant, Bay Head Junction, Lakewood, Tom's River, Barnegat, Beach Haven, Atlantic City.

2 17 p. m. for Plainfield, Elizabeth, Rahway, Metuchen, Menlo Park, Perth Amboy, South Amboy, Jamesburg, Freehold, Long Branch, Ocean Grove, Asbury Park, Point Pleasant, Bay Head Junction, Lakewood, Tom's River, Barnegat, Beach Haven, Atlantic City.

5 17 p. m. for Plainfield, Elizabeth, Rahway, Metuchen, Menlo Park, Perth Amboy, South Amboy, Jamesburg, Freehold, Long Branch, Ocean Grove, Asbury Park, Point Pleasant, Bay Head Junction, Lakewood, Tom's River, Barnegat, Beach Haven, Atlantic City.

7 30 p. m. for Plainfield, Elizabeth, Rahway, Metuchen, Menlo Park, Perth Amboy, South Amboy, Jamesburg, Freehold, Long Branch, Ocean Grove, Asbury Park, Point Pleasant, Bay Head Junction, Lakewood, Tom's River, Barnegat, Beach Haven, Atlantic City.

LONG BRANCH OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

Leave Plainfield 2 14, 6 20, 6 45, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Leave New York 7 35, 8 25, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m.

BOUND BROOK LINE.

Leave Plainfield 8 15, 9 45, 11 15 a. m., 1 45, 3 15, 4 45, 6 15, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 p. m.

Leave Bound Brook 6 45, 8 15, 9 45, 11 15 a. m., 1 45, 3 15, 4 45, 6 15, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 p. m.

Leave Plainfield 8 15, 9 45, 11 15 a. m., 1 45, 3 15, 4 45, 6 15, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 p. m.

Leave Dunellen 6 45, 8 15, 9 45, 11 15 a. m., 1 45, 3 15, 4 45, 6 15, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 p. m.

Leave Plainfield 8 15, 9 45, 11 15 a. m., 1 45, 3 15, 4 45, 6 15, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 p. m.

Leave Somerville 6 45, 8 15, 9 45, 11 15 a. m., 1 45, 3 15, 4 45, 6 15, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 p. m.

Leave Plainfield 8 15, 9 45, 11 15 a. m., 1 45, 3 15, 4 45, 6 15, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 p. m.

Leave Bound Brook 6 45, 8 15, 9 45, 11 15 a. m., 1 45, 3 15, 4 45, 6 15, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 p. m.

Educational.

EDUCATION, instruction in Shorthand, Typewriting, Penmanship, address Box 21, North, P. O. Box 1606.

FRENCH LESSONS, instruction and entertainment in French Lessons. Class or private lessons. Particulars 126 Madison avenue, Plainfield. Terms low. Private Parisian Family Hotel, central, and others. For terms and trial lesson call at 126 Madison avenue, Plainfield. Mme. Berthier and Newton, 17 La Grande avenue, Plainfield.

HARNED ACADEMY, for Boys and Young Men, School, RE-OPENED Monday, June 14th, 1892. For circulars and terms, call at the Academy or address EDWARD P. HARNED, A. M., Principal, 107 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISS FAWCETT'S Kindergarten, Primary and Intermediate School, 7 Madison avenue, Plainfield. Instruction in English and French. At home Wednesdays, from 2 to 5 p. m. 24 Grove street, North Plainfield.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTISON, Teacher of Piano-forte. Gives lessons either at her own or at pupil's residence. Liberal terms to clubs. Residence, 7 Madison avenue, North Plainfield.

Miscellaneous Cards.

MISS LINDSAY, Stenographer, Office, 21 West Second street. Good girls wanted. Mr. Lindsay has a list of nice people to rent, going to board, and clerks. 6 20 f

H. M. STEPHENS, Expert Horse Shoer, corner of Second street and Madison avenue 4 years old. Attention. Mr. G. G. C. Cone, painter ornamenter, etc. Full assortment of paints, varnishes and resist. Hard wood finishing a specialty. Graining, glazing, paper hanging and kalsomining. Shop on Somerset street, rear Dudley's livery stable. Orders solicited and any favors thankfully received.

Machine Works.

FREDERICK F. CRANE, Manufacturer of Electrical Machinery.
Dynamos, Motors and Engines repaired. Models for inventions, brass and iron castings. Forging in all its branches. Scroll sawing and painting.
201 North Avenue,
Corner Jackson street, Plainfield, N. J.
New York Office, 220 Fourth avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,
Manufacturers of
Blankbooks, Stock, Binders, Blanks, etc.
Corner Madison avenue and Third street.
BOOKBINDING, RULING, TURNING.
Also plain and ornamental edge stamping by gold.

PUBLIC NOTICE.
Delivered to any part of the city by
H. D. SCHENCK.
A postal addressed to Box 37 Dunellen will receive prompt attention. 1 1y

SOME ODD STORIES.

INTERESTING INCIDENTS RELATED BY MAJOR ALFRED R. CALHOUN.

A Perilous Adventure in the Rocky Mountains—How a Miner Was Suspended Head Downward Over an Awful Abyss for His Hours—The Rescue.

"It was no time days before the Wilmore — the locomotive woke up the echoes of the Rocky mountains that a young miner named Tom Hanson, accompanied by a half breed guide and partner named Paul Lafarge, began to prospect along the swift streams that flow from Wet Mountain valley into the Arkansas about twenty miles above Canyon City.

They carried with them a outfit on a packed mule, and as they had ventured into the mountains before the snow was all gone, they found the streams swollen; but if they could not search for gold immediately, there was no need of their being idle, for that part of the mountains abounded with game. After establishing a camp, Paul Lafarge, who was a crack hand at rifle than he did for gold, set his traps, and the young white man went off every morning to hunt antelope till the winter subsided.

But the men were not permitted to live here in peace. A few days after their arrival, on going out to examine the beaver traps they found them gone, and the tempters of moccasined feet near by told that the thieves were Indians.

"Men that steal traps will murder or rob a camp," Lafarge said, as with heavy hearts the two made their way back to camp. Here their worst fears were realized, for during their absence they had been plundered and even the mule was missing.

After the first discovery the men sought to allay their indignation and disappointment by offers of modesty; then Hanson declared, as he struck the butt of his rifle and pushed back his hat:

"All for work, I say for gold, Paul Lafarge. I don't see what's to prevent our hunting for thieves."

This met the approval of the half breed, who had no great love for work, but who dearly loved a fight. In order to have a good start, the companions waited till the following morning before taking up the trail of the Indians, who were so far ahead that the Indians were of this tribe.

The tracks soon scattered or were lost on the hard rocks; in the bottom of the canyon, but they succeeded in keeping one in sight and this led directly toward the canyon of the Arkansas. As it was made by a mule, it was particularly interesting to them.

It was well on in the afternoon, and they were up on the towering cliffs through which the Arkansas cleaves its way at this point, when they were startled by a cry that seemed to come from the bowels of the earth.

"There's some one over the canyon wall!" shouted Lafarge, as they hurried forward.

They reached the top of the canyon, where they heard the cry repeated, and they distinguished the words, "Help! help!" in unmistakable English.

Throwing themselves flat on their faces they peered down, and a hundred feet below there they discovered the form of a man in hunter's dress clinging with desperation to the pinnacle of a rock that jutted out from the main wall. He was hanging fast downward, and in such a position that if he released his hold he must be plunged of cours into the river, roaring and foaming 2,000 feet below.

A PERILOUS POSITION.

The chances were that this man was one of the robbers, but forgetting all about this for the time, Tom Hanson made a lasso of his sash and shouted down:

"Hold hard, old fellow, there are friends up here!"

"Thank God! Thank God!" came the response from the man on the cliff.

"How long can you hold on?"

"How long. I'm nigh give out."

A brief examination of the place showed that the man must have fallen over the cliff, and that he could not be reached without the aid of a rope, but the necessary hundred feet of rope was not at hand.

Drawing his hatchet from his girdle, Paul Lafarge said to his companion:

"Shoot to keep his courage up, Tom, while I go off to find a rope."

Then he vanished down the ravine in which the tallest trees were dwarfed to shrubs of bushes.

Leaning over the wall, Tom Hanson shouted to the man below to "Keep good heart" and "Hold on like grim death!" but even as he shouted he felt the hopelessness of the situation.

After being gone an hour, that seemed like a week to the man watching from the top, and an eternity to the poor fellow clinging to the cliff, Paul Lafarge came back. He brought with him an Indian [illegible] coil of soft elm bark, as strong as rawhide and, in the green state, far more pliable.

"I didn't know there was an elm tree within a week's tramp," said Tom Hanson as he examined the rope.

"But I did; I remembered seeing them when I was in here two years ago," said the half breed.

As all the man's strength as well as the use of his arms were necessary to hold him to the rock, it was evident that he could add his rescuers.

Paul Lafarge let over the rope. It struck against the man down the cliff, with ten feet to spare, but this knowledge brought no solution of the difficulty.

There was not within reach a tree, shrub or rock to which the rope could be made fast.

Tom Hanson studied a moment, then said, as he began to throw off his boots and belts:

"You must brace yourself against this rock, Paul, and hang onto the rope like grim death; I am going down."

Lafarge protested for the honor, but his companion would not listen to him. Calling out, "Hold hard, Paul!" he seized the rope and swung over the cliff, and being a skilled climber, he went down.

Down, down, hand over hand, he went, slowly and steadily, till he reached the unfortunate man. Balancing himself on the giddy ledge, he made the rope secure, then called the man's attention, who looked up at the climb that lay before himself.

Up he clambered, more slowly than when he went down. As those it seemed as if his strength must give out, but he set his teeth and stuck to it, till, gasping for breath, he staggered out at the top.

It was fully five minutes before Tom Hanson could come to the help of his friend. Then they pulled away, and at last they succeeded in getting the man back unconscious from the edge of the canyon.

The man was a hunter who had long lived in the mountains, and who was one of the coming of the prospectors to a territory which he felt to be his. He and some Ute Indians had plundered the camp, and in trying to escape he had gone over the cliff.

The man's gratitude when restored sufficiently to express it was unbounded, and the reconciliation between the two was complete. The next day he restored the mule and the outfit to their owners, and his gratitude for the rescue knew no bounds. Ever where they found gold in such abundance as to exceed their most ardent expectations.

A Legend of Purgatory.

There is in the cliffs at Newport, R. I., a well known cleft or chasm, known far and wide as "The Purgatory." How it got its name is not known, but the popular tradition does not inform us.

But while the origin of the name is unknown, The Providence Journal writes its traditions. In the sand rock certain knobs are pointed out to the visitor, and he is told that "they are the devil's footprints." And here, it is said, he left them in the days of old.

When Roger Williams began his missionary work in Rhode Island, he found the Indians inclined to be friendly, all excepting a gigantic and particularly ugly squaw, who was known as Noo-she-tans, or "white man hater."

Noo-she-tan hated the white man, or English people, as he called them, with a perfect hatred. He considered it his duty to hate holy water, but when Roger Williams appeared as a missionary he found his case. Regardless of the fact that the great missionary claimed to be married, the giant Indian woman determined to have him. She attended his preaching, which she could not understand, though she pretended to do so, and she submitted to being baptized, though it wrought no change in her heart, except it might be to increase its wild affection for the white man.

If Roger Williams guessed her secret he kept the knowledge to himself, and rightly continued his work of converting the heathen to righteousness.

Noo-she-tan was a very bad and a very impatient woman. Finding that she could not become the good white man's wife, she determined to kill him, but her attempt on his life failed.

Her own people, disgusted with her conduct, drove her from their midst, and then she swore in her native tongue to kill the first seven white men she met, and, armed with a rickety stone hatchet, she started off to keep her vow.

Six times, but without success, she met and was wrestled to her powerful arms, one day; he she was looking for the seventh man she came to The Purgatory, and there, on the great natural, she met one of the men, who, when cornered, showed that he was a white man disguised in Indian clothes.

With the latter Noo-she-tan had no trouble, and she disposed of everything in a summary manner. She tore his head off, and then set off every tooth. She seized Noo-she-tan by the waist, and, powerful though she was, she reaped for breath and tried to free herself, but with small avail.

In the muffle that ensued she tore off Noo-she-tan's hat, and saw that he had horns; she stripped off his cloak and found that he had a tail; and in the midst of his agonized howls, and in the awe, his hoofs. He was the devil against whom she had broken his good missionary training, he was the devil who was the cause of the many attempts made by the hosts during the summer. Of course it could end in one way only. Noo-she-tan was buried with the saints.

Ever since, on a certain day, you can see the red splotch that marks where she fell.

Stone in Season.

"I have a black woman who has been my cook for fifteen years, and she is so skillful and painstaking that I regard her as a treasure. I discovered, a short time since, a friend, whom I was visiting, some cheap article of food which has been taken off—Detroit Free Press.

WHAT NOT TO DO IN THE SICK ROOM.

Don't whimper. A whisper will often make a light sleeper, when an ordinary voice would not. Don't whisper.

Don't tiptoe. A tiptoe will sometimes arouse a person from the deepest sleep, especially if shod creaking. Don't tiptoe.

Don't sniff or sigh. Sniffs and sighs say more to the nerves than words. Sniffs and sighs say more to the nerves than words. Sniffs and sighs say more to the nerves than words

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," SATURDAY, JUNE 11, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR THEIR VACATION, SHOULD SEND NAME AND ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO SUMMER RESORTS.

BREVITIES

—The Lorraine post office will be opened July 1st.

—The Bayonne Wheelmen will run to this city and return this afternoon.

—Lake Hopatcong is being stocked with enormous bull frogs from Canada.

—The Union County Roadsters will have a club run to-night to Westfield and Plainfield.

—In 5,000,000 years we shall see the eight-tailed comet again, provided we are here at that time.

—Hallock & Davis are making a specialty of straw hats. This is straw hat season. Are you supplied?

—The Fourth of July is nearly a month off, but the deadly pistol that wasn't loaded is already getting down to work.

—The National Council of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics will meet at Atlantic City on June 23rd, 24th, and 25th.

—Some men always prefer hard work to a light job. They would rather hold a 238-pound girl to a fifteen pound baby.—Binghamton Republican.

—A new and costly organ has been added to the furniture in the rooms of the Exempt Firemen's Association in this city.

—A lone horse was seen straying on Somerset street, near Oraig place, last evening, at ten o'clock. Where was the pound keeper?

—The second annual Christian Endeavor excursion will take place on Wednesday, August 24th. Full particulars will be duly advertised.

—The graduating ball of the Rutgers Senior Class will take place on the evening of Commencement Day, June 23, in Winants Hall, New Brunswick.

—A special train passed here at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon containing some of the participants in the Century Run, which is taking place to-day.

—Messrs. Zimmerman & Rumpf can supply all who need gasoline stoves, with the best make on the market. Their store is at 52 West Front street.

—Engine No. 206, attached to a coal train, broke a joint on the side rod this morning, between this city and Metuchen. It was some time before the train could proceed.

—The Central Railroad will run a grand excursion to Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko and the famed switchback on Saturday, June 18th. Fare round trip $1.75. Train will leave this city at 9:37 a.m.

—Kearney-Janeway Relief Corps of New Brunswick, will pay a fraternal visit to Winfield Scott Relief Corps, on Friday evening, June 17th. The Plainfield Corps have made extensive preparation to receive them.

—A large delegation accompanied the Crescents to Rinehart's this afternoon where they will play the fourth game of the League series with the Y. M. C. I. A., of that city. Bonner will probably play short stop and Murphy right field. Mr. Lemme will umpire the game.

—Preparations for a grand Fourth of July celebration at Round Brook are in progress. The Camp Ground Association held a meeting on Monday night and everything was reported to be in good shape. Rev. J. B. Cleaver has consented to be the orator of the day, and a number of other short addresses will be made.

—Mr. M. E. Beach, of Park avenue, the agent of the Arnold steam cooker, a few weeks ago started making Boston brown bread, merely to show how excellent it could be done in his cooker. He has had such a demand for the bread that it threatens to become the most important part of his business. He claims that it is the only genuine brown bread ready to this vicinity.

Children's Day at the Crescent Avenue Church.

Children's Day will be observed at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church to-morrow. Extra music will be rendered, and a special sermon will be preached by the Rev. Dr. W. T. Eich, ards.

The services will be as follows:

Organ.
Old Hundred and Long Praise.
Psalm C. and XIX.
Prayer—Brightly Gleams Our Banner.....Choir
Scripture Lesson and Psalm XXIII.—Choir
Hymn—I am so Glad.....Congregation
Recitation.....
Song—When the Morning Breaketh.....Choir
Recitation.....
Song—Carried, Christmas Sermon.....Congregation
Recitation.....By the Pastor
Song—Children's Voices in the Sunday School.....
Recitation.....
Song—Book of Ages.....Choir
Recitation.....
Song—There is a Great Deal for Away.....Choir
Recitation.....
Song—Sweet Hour of Prayer.....Congregation
Recitation.....
Song—There is a Happy Land.....Congregation
Benediction.

Bowling on the Grass.

There were a large party present at Mr. Schepflin's, Dunellen, Thursday afternoon, to participate in the bowling on the green. Many visitors from New York city, Newark, Dunellen and this city were present and despite the rain all had a thoroughly enjoyable time.

Two rinks were started, one composed of Messrs. Schepflin, Hafner, Smyrles, Andrew Love, and Tom Hale, and the other of Messrs. Elliott, J. Young, Adams, Duckhorn and C. E. Morse.

Hale seriously interfered with the game, but the participants continued, undaunted by the bad weather.

The same resulted in Mr. Elliott's favor, the score being Mr. Elliott, eight; Mr. Schepflin, three.

PERSONAL.

Mr. George Bellingham of this city visited friends in Round Brook one week.

Rev. A. B. Chester will preside at the First Church of Christ to-morrow evening at 7:30.

Mr. Charles T. Kinsey of this city, will address the men's meeting in the Railway Young Men's Christian Association rooms next Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Clarion S. Mitchell, pastor of the Methodist church, is to deliver the Memorial Day address to-morrow afternoon in the Bordentown Military Institute.

Mr. Edwin Loomis of the firm of Loomis & Rice, is lying dangerously ill with heart trouble at his home on Madison avenue. It was rumored to-day that he was dead, but this is not so, although he is in a precarious condition.

Two orange trees, addressed "M. E. Beach, 24 Clarke avenue, Plainfield, N. J.," were received in the mail this morning in good condition, although they had come a distance of 2,000 miles—that is, from Sacramento, Cal., and were sent by express to Boston.

Among those who successfully passed the examination for admission to the bar, Thursday, was Winfield S. Applegate of West Front street. He is now an attorney-at-law. Mr. Applegate was for some time a Press reporter, and a good one, too. Success to him. He deserves it.

Somerset County's Annual Report.

The following is a summary of Collector Allen's annual report of the receipts and disbursements of Somerset county, for the year ending May 14, 1892.

Somerset County Board of Chosen Freeholders,
Somerville, N. J., May 20, 1892.
Gentlemen of the Committee on Collector's Accounts:

I have the honor to submit herewith the annual report of moneys received and disbursed by me as Collector of the County of Somerset for the year ending May 14, 1892.

The amount of taxes as returned by the Board of Assessors to be raised for the year 1892, by each township, was as follows:

Townships.	State School.	County.
Bedminster	$ 2,822 62	$ 4,772 40
Bernards	3,062 69	5,180 00
Branchburg	1,760 03	2,976 00
Bridgewater	12,577 80	21,267 00
Bound Brook Bo.	2,957 91	5,002 00
Franklin	7,066 41	11,949 00
Hillsborough	3,722 61	6,295 00
Montgomery	3,722 61	6,295 00
North Plainfield	7,654 89	12,945 00
Warren	4,614 75	7,804 00
Total	$52,485 97	$ 88,686 40

The following table gives the amount of State school tax paid by each township and the amount received in return for the appropriation for the public schools in the county for the year commencing September 1, 1891:

Bedminster	$2,822 62	$3,156 70
Bernards	3,062 69	3,042 00
Branchburg	1,760 03	1,760 00
Bridgewater	12,577 80	14,027 07
Franklin	7,066 41	8,680 11
Hillsborough	3,722 61	4,261 00
Montgomery	3,722 61	3,722 00
North Plainfield	7,654 89	7,110 00
Warren	4,614 75	4,553 00
Total	$52,485 97	$47,306 88

The total amount of receipts from all sources was $210,253.25, and disbursements $211,345.34, leaving a balance of $1,092.09, which is on deposit to the credit of County Collector, as per certificate herewith annexed to this report.

Respectfully submitted to you,
S. ALLEN, Collector.

To Messrs. Dalrymple, Salmon and Stephen, Committee on Collector's Accounts.

Fire Department Officers.

The following is a list of the officers selected by the various fire companies in this city, and confirmed by the Common Council at its last meeting.

HOSE NO. 1.

Foreman—Chas. Johnson.
First Assistant—Wm. T. Nesman.
Second Assistant—Chas. Graves.
Engineer—Wm. S. Brunsell.
First Assistant Engineer—John Albert.
Second " " —David Donovan.
Third " " —David Bell.

HOSE NO. 2.

Foreman—R. B. Hagen.
First Assistant—Samuel Dreier.
Second Assistant—Wm. H. Cannell.
Engineer—Frank Roberts.
First Assistant Engineer—C. W. Smith.
Second " " —C. J. Sommers.
Third " " —Byron Tyler.

HOSE NO. 3.

Foreman—J. D. Mayo.
First Assistant—C. C. Burnett.
Second Assistant—O. P. Leggett.

HOSE AND LADDER CO.

Foreman—J. J. Vreeo.
First Assistant—Geo. Ball.
Second Assistant—Geo. Mabl.

Before Judge Coddington.

Justice McClintock and John Cornell were arraigned this morning in the city court charged with violating the basket ball ordinance. Both were fined guilty and fined two dollars each.

In the case of the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield vs. Frank Ball, Andrew Ball and Henry Brady, the jury rendered a verdict of guilty and returned the penalty plus costs, and the usual flash options and fifty cents.

Max Bronson, charged with disorderly conduct, was found not guilty and discharged.

Geo. Gaines was arraigned on complaint of a man by the name of Cruickshank for using indecent language. The trial was adjourned for one week.

—Among the Westerners, the participants in the "Century Run," passed through this city at eleven o'clock this morning. They were lunched at the Plainfield Sporting Club House and will arrive at Philadelphia at seven o'clock this evening. Captain Sawyer is the only member from Sioux Falls in Dakota. Several fellow-wheelmen participated in the "run."

BICYCLER'S COLUMN.

A PLAINFIELDER SUGGESTS A GOOD IDEA.

Extracts from the Bicycling World—The Century Run To-Day—Wheelmen's Doings from all Over the State.

The following is taken from a recent issue of the Bicycling World and L. A. W. Bulletin, the leading weekly journal devoted to cycling.

A GOOD IDEA.

Editor Bicycling World:—As one of the subjects of discussion at the League meeting for good roads I would suggest the following plan to secure their improvement: Let the League form a "permanent corps," whose duty it shall be to carry on an active crusade against bad roads, and to see that the money which it would be their duty to vigorously solicit for this purpose is spent upon roads and in such a manner as to secure the greatest good for the greatest number. Let the corps have a chief engineer, and let him make a thorough and careful report of the work which he would suggest be done upon the roads of each county, and let the county committee of the corps see that the money is spent in accordance with the engineer's report. Good engineers could be secured for a small salary, and the money saved from the waste of the roads would more than pay the salaries. As to a loan for the purpose, I do not think it could be secured. Roads have never been popular, and the people would not vote to that work could be used. Therefore by depending on the state to raise funds for good roads, I think we would be disappointed.

A. E. KNOX.

The following week the same correspondent took the matter up:

IT IS A GOOD IDEA.

Editor Bicycling World:—Mr. A. E. Knox of Plainfield presents an excellent suggestion in the matter of "A Good Idea" in your issue of May 6.

By the plan of a permanent corps of engineers, good roads could be constructed with economy, and many communities would be glad to avail themselves of such good roads. By connection with the residents to be visited, talks or addresses could be given, and the object of the corps explained. Then, when the time arrived for the construction of good roads could be promoted, and the improvements made freely by the people. Of course, after the corps of engineers had been established, a large attendance would be likely to gather at each annual meeting, and therefore considerable in attendance would be provided for the refreshment of hungry and thirsty riders.

In my view two weeks of League Days, one each for engineers and for the public, would be sufficient to secure the objects mentioned, and the expenses could be obtained, the latter mentioned would be obtained by the League. Funds for speakers and for only the cause of good roads advanced, pleasantly and successfully discussed, and legislating satisfaction gained.

Yours truly,
A. F. PRATT.
Plainfield, N. J., May 14, 1892.

L. A. W.
Washington, D. C., May 21, 1892.

Local bicycle clubs would do well to follow up this plan suggested by one of their number.

Cycling has taken a great boom in other cities and towns throughout the country. Then the idea is an excellent one as attested by the editorial comment of the Journal itself which we give.

"It is a good idea" most certainly. Last year we published a letter from a correspondent to the effect that everybody favored a system of good roads, but that nobody did anything. Now comes Mr. Knox with a practical suggestion to accomplish the object which he has in view. Let the League form a corps of "Salvation Army," the duty of which shall be to preach the "Gospel of Good Roads." Another correspondent this week takes up the idea and follows out its purpose. We commend the idea. By all means let the League do something. It is perfectly safe, else half a million of people would not belong to it.

As the originator is a townsman and fellow bicyclist it would seem a fitting tribute of appreciation toward him and a source of pleasure to all parties concerned if the Bicycling World would publish his name and many other towns are in need of the above.

News Notes.

Harrison's presidential campaign pedestrian day at 4.30 p. m.

Bicycle accident—Dalrymple sprained was dated 4.30 p. m., at Minneapolis.

Allen was more than ten minutes the one afternoon of this harvest. Minneapolis and Portland, and it seems the time the latter was covered by Lowe 1.30 p. m. 16 perfectly fair, else half a minute to cover the ta.

Keep this in mind, and remember that is twenty minutes after the expected was started from Minneapolis, the fastest distance, the number millions of [illegible] Just as the next 10 miles were [illegible] Lowe's wheel, and he finished the following by about that time. Kinsey [illegible] Minneapolis. But time was in [illegible] before the distance was covered.

If any paper in this country prints a [illegible] Minneapolis to Portland, Me., [illegible] was sold—has just been able to look [illegible] would like to know it.

We have nearly a column of dispatches [illegible] from the Convention Hall, so we [illegible] only mention them.

Bicycle Judge Coddington, [illegible] Bicycle Club, [illegible] Bicycle Club, [illegible] Bicycle Club

EDITORIAL NOTES

Is Good City Government Possible?

Mr. Moorfield Storey has his say in The New England Magazine on this topic. He finds that American cities are badly governed because bad and incompetent men are chosen to govern them. There needs no voice from heaven to tell us this. But Mr. Storey looks further, and finds that bad and incompetent men are chosen to be municipal officers in the first place because the average American citizen takes little interest in the government of his city. If he took the same pains in selecting a mayor that he does in selecting a foreman to manage his private business we should hear no more law and cry about rotten municipal administration. In the next place, Mr. Storey finds we have poor city government because national and party politics enter into the selection of officers. Because a man has upheld the party and voted early and often for it for twenty-five years, his fellow townsmen see in him a man qualified to be chief of the street cleaning department.

When these two ancient foes to good city government—the apathy of the average citizen and party politics—are blown up in the explosion of popular opinion, then and then only shall our public affairs be as well administered as men's private business now is, in the writer's judgment. The way to begin the thing is for decent citizens to interest themselves in municipal economics. Mr. Storey mentions a plan:

The tendency in this country is to concentrate municipal authority in a few hands. In Glasgow and Birmingham the best results are reached by entrusting the government of the cities to citizens and dividing the work among them, some taking charge of sewers, others of lights, others of water, etc. The principle of this difference which system prevails, if only good men are induced to do the work. Make it in popular estimation as great a tribute to a man's business ability to make him an alderman as it is to make him a director of a bank or railroad, and men will be glad to take positions in the city government.

Once persuade the people that the government of a city is a mere matter of business and induce them to treat it as such, and municipal reform is assured.

The experiment is worth trying. Let even twenty of the men in any city who are its business leaders and most fully conscious of what steps should be taken to secure economical municipal govern ment. Let them each agree to give up two hours a week to the work. Let them take measures to organize their fellow citizens of all classes in support of their movements, and let them show the same intelligence and energy that they exhibit in dealing with the affairs of business men, and it will be hard if they are directors. Let them select their candidates and agree to pay them what their time is fairly worth, to stand by them, and to keep them in office as long as they do their work well. Can any one doubt that such intelligent and organized effort would succeed?

The Best.

If we had only the larger vision that can see all around we would perceive that everything which happens to us is the best that can happen. If it is something very bad, then we learn from it to avoid the mistakes and pitfalls that tumbled us into the ditch the other time. Many a time, looking back in after years to an unfulfilled heart's desire of long ago, we know beyond doubting that it would have been our ruin if we had obtained it. What we most wish for is often the worst thing for us.

It is absolutely certain that in the long run the good and ill of life are evened up exactly. We always get precisely what we earn, no more and no less. If you stay poor it is because you have not the executive ability to get rich. It was Emerson who said that the highest test of success was not wealth gaining, however, but character building. This lofty result everybody can secure. When all seems to have piled you on and the world appears to be falling in fragments around your head, do not rave or whine or despair. Gather up your pluck and try again, serene in the sure knowledge that the best will come to you at last. It surely will. Whatever is best for us fate sends to us. The failures we make arise from the fact that we do not know how to use the best when we get it. Rub *open your eyes, summon all your cour*age and shrewdness and look for the gold in the rock that has just hurled you down. It is always there, dead sure. Do your best; be honest and kindly to all men. When you get down and are inclined to despair, recall this from John Burroughs:

> Serene I fold my hands and wait,
> Nor care for wind nor tide nor sea,
> I rave no more 'gainst time nor fate,
> For lo! my own will come to me.

A ship canal, which should connect the great lakes with the Mississippi river, has long been one of the projects of those who foresee the wonderful engineering and mechanical achievements to be accomplished in this republic. And now the work on this waterway, the Hennepin canal, is actually begun. A few years will see its completion. Besides its incalculable advantages to the transportation business of the country it could be utilized to excellent purpose in case of war along our northern borders. It would furnish uninterrupted passage from New Orleans to the lakes by interior waterway.

They are hard put to it for whisky in Great Britain. When a cask of spirit has been emptied it is filled with water and soaked for several days. The water absorbs the whisky that has previously been soaked into the barrel head and staves and holds it in dilution. The spirit is then extracted from the water, and from one to three gallons of pure whisky is obtained. This way of soaking out whisky seems the proper thing for ale soakers.

HARRISON NAMED

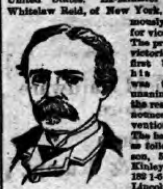
The President Renominated on the First Ballot.

REID FOR SECOND PLACE

The Tribune's Editor Nominated for Vice-President.

Senator Wolcott of Colorado Creates Wild Enthusiasm for Blaine, but the President Gets a Big Majority of the Convention's Votes—For Nearly Half an Hour the Delegates Shout for the Plumed Knight, but When a Ballot Is Begun Part of His Strength Goes to McKinley — Ex-Minister to France Whitelaw Reid Has a Walkover for the Vice-Presidential Nomination and Is Named for the Place by Acclamation.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 11.—After a four days fight the Republican national convention renominated Benjamin Harrison as the party's candidate for president of the United States. Ex-Minister to France Whitelaw Reid, of New York, was unanimously nominated for vice president. The president was selected on the first ballot, and his nomination was then made unanimous. What the result was as announced the convention went wild. The ballot resulted as follows: Harrison, 535 1-6; McKinley, 182; Blaine, 182 1-6; Reed, 4; Lincoln, 1; absent 1½. Total vote 906; necessary, 454. The convention adjourned sine die at 9:37 p. m., after giving three cheers for Harrison and Reid, and after thanking Chairman McKinley for his services and Minneapolis for her hospitality.



WHITELAW REID.

The Ballot by States.

The following is the ballot by states as corrected and approved for the official records:

STATES.	Total Vote.	Harrison.	Blaine.	McKinley.	Reed.	Lincoln.	Absent.
Alabama	22	15	..	7	..	..	..
Arkansas	18	18	..	..	..	..	..
California	18	9	9	1	..	..	..
Colorado	8	..	8	..	..	..	..
Connecticut	12	12	..	..	..	..	..
Delaware	6	4	1	1	..	..	..
Florida	6	6	..	..	..	..	..
Georgia	28	25	..	..	..	..	3
Idaho	6	..	6	..	..	..	..
Illinois	48	34	..	14	..	..	..
Indiana	30	30	..	..	..	..	..
Iowa	26	20	5	1	..	..	..
Kansas	20	20	..	..	..	..	..
Kentucky	26	22	1	1	1	..	1
Louisiana	16	8	8	..	..	..	..
Maine	12	..	..	..	..	..	12
Maryland	16	14	..	..	2	..	..
Massachusetts	30	19	..	11	..	..	..
Michigan	28	26	..	2	..	..	..
Minnesota	16	8	8	1	..	..	..
Mississippi	19	13½	..	4½	..	..	1
Missouri	34	34	..	..	..	..	..
Montana	6	5	1	..	..	..	..
Nebraska	16	15	..	..	..	..	1
Nevada	6	..	..	6	..	..	..
N. Hampshire	8	4	..	..	1	1	2
New Jersey	20	20	..	..	..	..	..
New York	72	27	..	35	10	..	..
N. Carolina	22	17	2-3	2	2-3	1	..
N. Dakota	8	..	8	..	..	..	..
Ohio	46	1	..	45	..	..	..
Oregon	8	1	..	7	..	..	..
Penn	64	19	..	45	..	..	..
R. Island	8	5	..	1	1	1	..
S. Carolina	18	18	..	..	..	..	..
S. Dakota	8	..	8	..	..	..	..
Tennessee	24	17	4	3	..	..	..
Texas	32	29	..	..	..	2	1
Vermont	8	8	..	..	..	..	..
Virginia	24	9	13	1	..	..	1
Wash'ton	8	3	2	1	..	..	2
W. Virginia	12	12	..	..	..	..	..
Wisconsin	24	19	2	3	..	..	..
Wyoming	4	2	2	..	..	..	..
Alaska	2	2	..	..	..	..	..
Arizona	2	1	1	..	..	..	..
Dis. Col.	2	..	..	2	..	..	..
Indian Ty.	2	1	1	..	..	..	..
N. Mexico	2	2	..	..	..	..	..
Oklahoma	2	2	..	..	..	..	..
Utah	2	2	..	..	..	..	..
Totals	906	535 1-6	182 1-6	182	4	1	1 2-

Wolcott Nominates Blaine.

When Chairman McKinley announced that the next order of business was the presentation of names for the nomination of president the convention uttered a yell that could have been heard a mile. The roll was then called and when Colorado was reached

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

Senator Edward O. Wolcott, the silver tongued orator of Colorado, was made an eloquent speech, during which he suddenly nominated Blaine and almost stampeded the convention. He spoke as follows:

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION—The Republicans of the west sometimes differ with the Republicans of the east as to what is wisdom. On one occasion there was remarkable unanimity between genuine Republicans of the west and genuine Republicans from the east as to who is needed, and his name is Blaine. [Long and continued applause.]

MR. CHAIRMAN, the greatest American general living suffered defeat eight years ago because the party which he led and honored was torn by dissension and bitterness. Defeat was overtrumphed. We must today be made that wrong, and to present to our unanswered honor the pledge of our unswerving devotion and assurance of a victory in November that will obliterate in his heart and cure the memory of past defeats. [Applause.]

It is to us a matter of comparative indifference who shall be chosen to lead the Democracy to defeat, but we trust they will again nominate their prophet of tariff reform in order that we may demonstrate how short a life his

[Concluded on Second Page.]

Blaine and Reciprocity.

Our candidate, Mr. Chairman, has never been president of the United States. He will be [applause] but if he has not yet occupied that office he has by his devotion to his party made himself the statesman who has done more to defend two administrations with his sagacity and statesmanship. [Applause.]

Blaine and reciprocity honored abroad. We owe it to his statesmanship. We are quickening the respect for the United States and the love of honest friendship. It is because he advised the plan and shaped the policy. [Applause.] We are benefiting by it in securing to the farm and in the workshops, and by wise concessions are inducing the nations of the world to open their doors to our products. We are making a definite, determinating vision towards the possibilities of reciprocity [applause] indorsed as to take it up. Blaine is the statesman who has led the way of reconstruction which has tended to the advancement of our country with which his name will be identified as long as the history of the next generation of the Republic shall be written, his name will stand foremost among its statesmen. [Applause.] Defeat and misrepresentation sufficed to defeat from his fame, but we may at least let history record it as it will, that we honored you with loving and loyal hearts. [Applause.] The best gifts of the world are not to be had for the asking. [Applause.]

Our votes are to be cast for one who is almost every Republican's candidate except himself. Our votes are to be cast for a man who has the opportunity is given me of casting my vote for a nominee who casts everything for his party and nothing for himself. [Applause and cheers.] And the same devotion to the nation's welfare which has guided him in his public life for more than a quarter of a century has made memory of any duty which this convention may impose upon him. [Applause.] For many months he has been a confirmed invalid. But his public mind respecting his health and strength. It is gratifying to us to know that he is now restored to health and is more growthless. For our country's sake and his own we could wish that he might be spared the burden of office. Patriot who has led his party in countless battles, and that his youth could be renewed like the eagle's.

Brave, True Hearted and Great.

Experience, however, comes only with ripening years, and though time has tinged his hair with white, the same unconquerable will and lofty patriotism still dominates his being. [Applause.] Brave, true hearted and great, his supreme love left their impress, but he still stands to us who love him, the embodiment of all that is brightest and best in American statesmanship. [Applause.] Mellowed and ripened by the crowding years of experience, he is better fitted and equipped to give to the people of these states an administration that shall not only protect every American citizen, standing beyond the confines of our borders, shall enhance the well being of all Americans. [Applause.] And in his hands, as in the days of old, when victory is hand, we turn to the intrepid leader who has so worked for his party that he has himself a party which will follow him.

To those of us who belong to the younger element of the party, who are content to follow and not lead, and who only ask for the honorary share of all the burdens and the heat of the day, he stands our high ideal of legislation. [Applause.] His name is engraved on all our hearts in letters that shall never fade. Brave, true hearted and great, he is the only Republican who will not follow where he leads. [Applause.] And with loving faith we trust that Providence will bless him with long years of grateful homage he has earned and whose affectionate devotion he possesses, we pledge our unfaltering and loyal support to James G. Blaine.

Women Shout for Their Favorites.

The convention gave Senator Wolcott an ovation and for half an hour it could cheer no longer. The "Blaine, Blaine, James G. Blaine" men fell into harmony, and the cry went up from floor to gallery from one while the stamp of feet that accompanied it made the big convention hall tremble. Men and women fainted from sheer exhaustion. After nearly thirty minutes of pandemonium Gov. McKinley's voice was at last heard requesting that as a matter of safety, suggested by those having a knowledge of the building, that the stamping of feet be discontinued. "You may yell all you please," he added in reply to a delegate from Illinois, and the Blaine men took him at his word.

When New York was reached Chauncey M. Depew made his eloquent speech placing Frederick Douglass's name before the convention. At the close of Depew's speech the Harrison men started a counter demonstration. An immense crayon portrait of the president was carried down to the platform, while thousands were on their feet shouting and waving every portable thing that could be handled. The work of Mrs. Kersne and Mrs. Lake in leading the Blaine women was duplicated by Mrs. Depew and Mrs. C. Howell, of Pittsburg, who started the applause among the president's supporters, while a young girl in the gallery evoked cheers by waving an immense flag. Mrs. Howell's contribution was unique, consisting of an exceptionally large portrait of Harrison, which she continued until completely exhausted. In a few minutes the Harrison portrait was met by the Chicago Blaine club banner, and down and up the hall together they were carried until the yelling was over. The end came in twenty-eight minutes, and Mrs. Warner Miller, of New York, took the platform to answer his colleague and second the nomination of Blaine. He said:

N. F. CHAUNCEY.

Senator Miller's Speech.

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION—You have no longer time to listen to the rehearsal of the history of the achievements of the Republican party. You have no longer time to listen to the records of what it stands for. On this occasion there is the supreme hour of this convention. The first duty it has been a convention in which a kindly fate has given us to who it is needed, and his name is Blaine. [Long and continued applause.]

MR. CHAIRMAN, the greatest American general living suffered defeat eight years ago because the party which he led and honored was torn by dissension and bitterness. Defeat was overtrumphed. We must today be made that wrong, and to present to our unanswered honor the pledge of our unswerving devotion and assurance of a victory in November that will obliterate in his heart and cure the memory of past defeats. [Applause.]

It is to us a matter of comparative indifference who shall be chosen to lead the Democracy to defeat, but we trust they will again nominate their prophet of tariff reform in order that we may demonstrate how short a life his

[Concluded on Second Page.]

Harrison Carries the Day.

The delegates had been sitting with roll call in progress for nearly half an hour on the vote. They knew what the vote of Texas meant, and as the "Harrison 29" came out every American man sprang to his feet, yelling like mad and the big hall and there was great confusion. The head struck up "Hail to the Chief," which only increased the excitement. The Harrison people went up and down the aisle shaking hands. Chairman McKinley left the platform, calling Elliott F. Shepard, of New York, to the chair, and putting on the coat of an Illinois delegate Major McKinley moved to the galleries and the convention to be quiet. Colonel Shepard pounded with his gavel and protested against the applause for Mr. McKinley has the floor, shouted Colonel Shepard. There was a partial silence, and Major McKinley said: "Gentlemen of the convention, in behalf of the votes that are responded and that Benjamin Harrison be nominated president by acclamation."

This proposition was received with three cheers and shouts of "No, call the roll," and to his feet, shouted: "No, call the roll," and he was joined by Outhwaite, of Ohio, and others. Mr. Wolcott, advancing to the chair, said: "I rise to a point of order. The order of business is the call of states. Nobody has any right to interfere with the regular order of proceedings. There are some states that have not yet had the opportunity to vote."

Colonel Shepard, in the chair, tried to put the motion about Major McKinley stated that this could be done by a two-thirds vote. A delegate standing in front of him, and wildly waving his hands, said: "What! Shall we by a roll call, Never." Finally out of the confusion Major McKinley got silence for a minute to say that there were states which wanted still to cast their votes and he urged them in the direction of his motion.

"That's the whole point," cried a delegate.

"I therefore withdraw my motion," said Major McKinley. His retirement was plainly for the benefit of those which made the call extremely difficult, the clerk again called Texas. A delegate made an effort to get recognition, but it was lost in the noise, the vote of Washington, but in the confusion their demands were not heeded.

At 4:29 the chairman rapped for order, and Colonel Shepard announced the result of the roll call, which made the following announcement:

Whole number of votes cast, 906½; necessary to a choice, 454. Benjamin Harrison received 535 1-6, James G. Blaine received 182 1-6, William McKinley, 182; Robert T. Lincoln, 1; Thomas B. Reed, 4.

The announcement that President Harrison, having received a majority of the votes cast, has received the nomination of this convention, shall it be unanimous?" [Loud cries of "Yes."] "All in favor will say aye." [Loud cries of "Yes."] "Those opposed will say no." [Silence.] "The ayes have it, and the nomination is unanimous." A motion to take a recess to 8 p. m. was immediately offered and agreed to. The heated and excited assemblage dispersed.

REID FOR SECOND PLACE.

Named by Acclamation at the Conclusion's Evening Session.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 10.—The evening session of the convention was little more than a reception meeting. The nominee for the vice presidency was selected and the meeting of the New York delegation held an hour before the convention was called to order. By large majority the nomination of the vice presidential candidate was left to the New York delegation. The New Yorkers were not long in arriving at the conclusion that Whitelaw Reid could be induced to accept the honor. The only other name discussed was that of Vice President Morton, and in the end the agreement upon Mr. Reid was unanimous. John C. New said that his preference was the old ticket, Harrison and Morton, but that he was willing to let the New Yorkers agree upon any one. Mr. Reid would be acceptable to him.

At seven minutes before 9 o'clock, a majority of the delegates being in their seats, Chairman McKinley called the convention to order and announced that the next order of business was the presentation of names for nomination to the vice presidency. The chair announced that the roll of states would be called the roll of states. The call proceeded without interruption until New York was reached. Then State Senator O'Connor was recognized and took the platform to nominate Hon. Whitelaw Reid for vice president. Mr. O'Connor said:

Senator O'Connor's Speech.

At a meeting of the New York delegation, July called in the absence of Senator Miller, I was chosen chairman and was instructed to cast the vote of the delegation for Harrison as the state of New York for nomination for the vice presidency. As you all know a great many of the delegates from New York have been in the convention long enough to know that they could secure the nomination of a candidate for the vice presidency from the floor of the convention without the aid of a single vote from New York. [Cheers.]

We went to notify the majority that the New York delegation, in their personal views [cheers], and how to the judgment of the convention. We believe that New York statesmen to be called upon to bear the great burden of the presidency, and we have to make to keep that state in the column of the column, and I believe the gentleman I shall name will add to the strength of the ticket for that purpose. I will not detain you as General Horace Porter is to second me, and I will therefore name the gentleman whose name I shall present for the vice presidency, Hon. Whitelaw Reid, of New York. [Cheers.]

When Mr. O'Connor was through, Governor Bulkley, of Connecticut, was recognized, but gave way to General Horace Porter, who took the platform, and was warmly received. In seconding the nomination he said:

General Porter's Speech.

This great republic, by its private worth and public services, has well contended himself not only to the people of the Empire State, but to the people of the whole country throughout the Union. His name, his character and his services will give assurance that he will carry out the policy of the party that he is true and strong in the affections of his fellow citizens, and that he will be able to have the respect of all civilized powers. I am proud to present to New York's favorite son.

Mr. Porter said that the Republican party had not been so prolific of favorite sons as the Democracy. Even the parents who begot the two Democratic twins in New York could not be recognized as any robbin of whose blood possessed them. Mr. Reid had received his training in the school of American journalism under Horace Greeley. [Applause.] The party had called upon him to represent to be minister to France at a very critical diplomatic period. Scarcely was he installed in office then there fell upon him the responsibility of the most delicate negotiations known in diplomacy between the two countries. That he had solved it was a matter of pride to every American. His name was a household word in France. He never sought. When he returned to America all the honors in the land were heaped upon him. He had always been the party's man he went to country. He had always believed in party. It was said that Mr. Reid had difficulties with the typographical unions. This had been settled. The president of that organization was here and had certified it in writing. In conclusion General Porter said that with Whitelaw Reid they would go to victory.

Governor Bulkley, of Connecticut, then took the platform and seconded the nomination. Though the delegation from Connecticut had not yet decided upon a choice other candidates than the one chosen, they would give the ticket the same loyalty and endeavor for success that they gave Benjamin Harrison four years ago.

J. C. Settle, of Tennessee, nominated "One of the grandest characters in American politics, Hon. Thomas B. Reed, of Maine." He was received with cheers, with loud shouting, especially from the southern delegates. C. M. Lowther, of Virginia, got the platform to second the nomination. He said in the name of Reed would sweep the south.

Mr. Littlefield, of Maine, rising from his seat, said: "In the name of the state of Maine I ask the delegates in this convention to decline to cast any vote for Thomas B. Reed until it can be assured that these gentlemen have had an opportunity to cast their names." It is the opinion of the Maine delegation that Mr. Reed would decline the nomination."

Mr. Settle said he placed Mr. Reed in nomination at the request of the delegation without consulting Mr. Reed or the Maine delegation. In deference to the wishes of the Maine delegation Mr. Settle said he would withdraw the name of Mr. Reed. Mr. Carney, of Iowa, then moved to suspend the rule, and make the nomination unanimous. The rules were suspended and Viva voce vote and the nomination made unanimous. Senator Callom having taken the chair, Elliott F. Shepard offered a resolution of sending thanks to Chairman McKinley and wishing him "increasing usefulness in the service of the country." The resolution was adopted. Republican thanking the minor officers of the convention and the citizens of Minneapolis were passed with enthusiasm. Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, offered the usual resolution to make Chairman McKinley the chairman of the committee to notify the candidates.

The committee to notify the nominee for president is as follows:

Alabama, Charles O. Harris; Arkansas, ——; California, O. N. Felton; Colorado, Hosea Townsend; Connecticut, Morgan G. Bulkley; Delaware, ——; Florida, J. A. Spann; Georgia, ——; Idaho, Fred T. Dubois; Illinois, James H. Gilbert; Indiana, Thomas H. Nelson; Iowa, ——; Kansas, Calvin Hood; Kentucky, L. P. Tarlton; Louisiana, A. Hero, Jr.; Maine, ——; Maryland, ——; Massachusetts, Henry Shaw; Massachusetts, ——; Michigan, Reuben M. Ferry; Minnesota, D. R. Hall; Mississippi, S. S. Hudson; Missouri, Charles C. Bell; Montana, A. B. Hammond; Nebraska, Allen Hart; Nevada, George T. Cobb; New Hampshire, Person C. Cheney; New York, Elliott F. Shepard; North Carolina, R. Hancock; North Dakota, H. Hansbrough; Ohio, J. B. Foraker; Oregon, C. M. Donaldson; Pennsylvania, Alexander Farnham; Rhode Island, Samuel P. Colt; South Carolina, R. S. Desa; South Dakota, Abel C. Johnson; Tennessee, E. F. Hoyt; Texas, W. F. Crawford; Vermont, W. W. Stickney; Virginia, ——; Washington, ——; West Virginia, ——; Wisconsin, ——; Wyoming, S. W. Downey; Arizona, H. W. Jones; District of Columbia, Perry H. Carson; New Mexico, Miguel A. Otero; Oklahoma, A. J. Seay; Utah, C. C. Goodwin; Indian Territory, Frank S. Gunnay; Alaska, ——.

The convention then adjourned.

SOLD AND ENJOYED EVERYWHERE.

J. E. YOSE
Furniture Moved
To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.
PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.
Large covered trucks.
30 W. Lesh street.

LAWN MOWERS,
Bicycles, and
GENERAL MACHINERY
Repairs, at SCHENCK'S
Machine Shop,
North Plainfield. Also Pipe Fitting.

A. M. SEGUINE,
PROPRIETOR OF
Laing's Hotel Stables,
on Front Street, Opp. Netherwood.
TELEPHONE CALL NO. 28.
Coaches for weddings, funerals and private use.
Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.
Prompt, careful drivers, and good service, courteous hostler attends.
BOARDING HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!
ALL SIZES,
Of Best
Light Blue Color.
REFERENCE:—
F. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.
ROBT. A. MERKER, Street Com.
Smalley Bros.,
94 SUMMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!
L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,
25 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.
Purchase the public to inspect the cleanest and purest coal ever offered in this city. Coal comes from mine direct, with no exposure to dirt, and is screened before delivered, which is possible by any other method of screening.
UPPER FREEMAN AND HONEYBROOK COAL—the best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.
ROUGH AND SCREENED LUMBER.
Be particular in ordering to specify L. A. Rheaume's yard, and it is prepared to execute orders for the trade in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,
Dealer in BEST
QUALITY COAL
YARD AND OFFICE
SOUTH AVENUE.
P. O. BOX 1007.
Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors at Law. Commissioners of Deeds for Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey. Notaries Public. Collect, convey and search titles and loan money.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E.
Member Am. Soc. of Famous Union County Road System. Special attention given to sewer paving and sewerage. Office, 7 Park Place.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON,
Solicitor in Chancery, Counsellor at Law and Solicitor in Bankruptcy, Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public for New Jersey. Office in Leland House, New Market street.

CLARK & REED,
Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Special Masters in Chancery, Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CRAIG A. MAGEE,
Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Solicitor and Master in Chancery, Notary Public. Office corner Front and Somerset streets.

OSCAR S. TEALE,
Architect, 247 Broadway, New York city; rooms 32 and 33. Importer and Trader in Rock Fire Clay. Residence, Plainfield, N. J.

PLAINFIELD
ODORLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY

JONES & CO.
Work guaranteed thoroughly done. Orders left at residence, Cor. Somerset & Madison Aves., Plainfield, or at Stables, Putney Ave. Telephone No. 28. Satisfactory references given by those for whom we have worked. Manufacturers of Jones' Patent Sewer Cleaners and Field Fertilizer. P. O. Box 1224. Telephone call 28.

THE DIME
SAVINGS INSTITUTION
OF
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually
JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, ——
ELIAS S. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7:30, 9:05, a. m., 12:05, 2:35, 4:25 p. m. Departure—7:00, 9:00 a. m., 12:30, 2:45 and 5 p. m.
SOMERVILLE AND RARITAN MAILS.
Arrive—9:05 a. m., 4:25 p. m.
Close—7:00 a. m., 2:30 p. m.
Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 p. m.
SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m. and close at 4:30 p. m.
E. S. POPE, P. M.

THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Thanks to Friends and No Malice Toward Enemies.

A KISS REVEALED THE TIDINGS.

The First Intimation the President Had That He Was Again to Lead Was When Miss Jeannette Halford Kissed Him as She Did Four Years Ago.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—A kiss given by Miss Jeannette Halford as she flung her arm about President Harrison's neck at 5:40 o'clock Friday afternoon announced to him that he had been renominated by the Minneapolis Republican convention for president. The president was in his office across the hall from the telegraph room where the bulletins were being received by an enthusiastic crowd, composed of cabinet officers, generals in the United States army, newspaper men and women, attendants of the executive mansion and colored servants. Miss Halford rushed across the hall and saluted the president, as she had done four ago at Indianapolis when he first received the nomination. The president was surrounded by Secretaries Tracy, Noble and Rusk, and by Mrs. McKee, Mr. Russell Harrison, Mrs. Lieutenant Parker, Lieutenant Parker and other members of his private family. It was a memorable scene, and sadly one face was missing to complete the picture—that of Mrs. Harrison, who lay upon a sick bed less than a hundred feet away anxiously, not doubt, but as yet unconscious that the extreme anxiety of the past few days had been dissipated.

He Destroyed No Emotion.

In a moment Mrs. McKee embraced and kissed her father, Russell Harrison congratulated him, Mrs. Parker, in her exuberance, kissed him also, and all the cabinet officers in the executive mansion rushed to the president's side and heartily congratulated him. They were followed by Mr. Halford and perhaps two dozen newspaper men who had been in the telegraph room for an hour previous. He shook hands with them all and had some pleasant remark to make to the many warm greetings that he received. In an informal way the whole party exchanged congratulations. The president seemed to be the most unconcerned person present. He did not in the least betray any emotion, but stood behind his desk with Mrs. McKee at his side, receiving with evident satisfaction the many kind compliments showered upon him. After some ten minutes informal talk the president in response to a universal request from the newspaper men present said:

The President's Speech.

Well, gentlemen, I have had a good deal of intercourse with newspaper men. It has been mostly at arm's length exempt on a few occasion of this kind, and yet some of you know that while I am very averse to interviews my door has always been open to a friendly call from any of you, and any information about public matters that you or your papers desire I can only say with reference to the event that has brought you here that the first thought that fills my mind is one of gratitude and thanks to the great multitude of friends who have in this way and divers others given expressed approval of every consideration, though possibly now and then mistaken, attempts to serve the country upon Republican lines. I claim no other credit than that of having attempted, without sparing myself as to labor, to discharge these public duties conscientiously.

Political Opponents Gentified.

I cannot expect my Democratic friends to relish [illegible] but I will say, that always, yet it has been very gratifying to me to know that many things have secured the approval of political opponents. I have been filled with the thought that this country was coming to an epoch when the fact and those things that it symbolizes will be upon a still higher plane than now, and when our influence among the powers of the earth will be enlarged wisely and yet energetically. I have a sincere love for our people. I exclude no section. I take into my affection and respect all the states and all our people.

In entering upon this campaign I shall do so without malice toward any one. I think I have sometimes been suspected of being very little of a politician from the fact that I have never drawn a line on my party personal lines. I have tried to treat every one with that respect to which their station entitles them; and I have never in any case suspected, much less demanded, personal loyalty from anybody. I have asked of all public officers a faithful performance of their duty.

Sorry He Could Not Please Them All.

I have felt great regret that I was unable to find a suitable place for every deserving friend; but I have insisted that I did not discharge those I could not appoint to place. As I have had light and strength I have tried to discharge my duties for the public good. I thank you all for very many evidences of your kindness. I wish also to express my thanks with a feeling that overflows with gratitude to the faithful body of friends who have labored for me in my behalf; and, more than that, to that great body of well disposed, order loving, patriotic American people who have always, everywhere received me kindly. [Applause.]

Blaine Stopped the Ticker.

BOSTON, June 11.—Mr. Blaine waited until he had heard of the balloting at Minneapolis and then he left Boston for Bar Harbor. At 6 o'clock the ticker was stopped to file the figures of the first ballot. There were no outward indications of any surprise or agitation. The ex-secretary took his defeat with great equanimity. Some more of his friends, He would not consent to the result of the ballot, but he did express his pleasure at learning that the whole trouble was over. The ticker sent the cards to BOSTON, June 10, 1892.

To THE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE COUNTRY—The resolution, country and sentiments which marked the proceedings of the convention at Minneapolis will, it turned against the common foe, win the election in November.

All minor differences should be merged in the duty of every Republican to do all in his power to elect the ticket and platform adopted by the National Republican convention.

JAMES G. BLAINE.

Mr. Blaine acted as though a great load had been removed from his shoulders and seemed in the best of spirits. He appeared glad to get out of public life, and he had lost the sternful manner he had used in dealing with newspapers.

Harrison to Reid.

The president sent the following telegram to Whitelaw Reid:

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
Washington D. C., June 10.

Hon. Whitelaw Reid, Opale Farm, Westchester County, N. Y.:

Thanks for your cordial congratulations. I am most happy to be able at once to express my sincere satisfaction that the convention has named you for the vice presidency.

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

Denied at New York.

NEW YORK, June 11.—The Hill withdrawal story is pronounced entirely false by Hon. Edward Murphy and Hon. Hugh McLaughlin. The latter says: "I don't know of any such letter. I don't believe there is any in existence, and I am sure that Lieutenant Governor Sheehan, Mr. Croker and Mr. Murphy will say the same thing."

"NORTH, SOUTH, EAST & WEST."

BEECHAM'S PILLS

(Tasteless—Effectual.)

For Sick-Headache, Impaired Digestion Liver Disorders and Female Ailments.

Renowned all over the World. Covered with a Tasteless & Soluble Coating.

Ask for Beecham's and take no other. Made at St. Helens, England. Sold by Druggists and dealers. Price 25c. and 75c. per box. New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

Unlike the Dutch Process No Alkalies —or— Other Chemicals are used in the preparation of W. Baker & Co.'s Breakfast Cocoa, which is absolutely pure and soluble.

It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is far more economical, costing less than one cent a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, and HEALTH RESTORER.

Sold by Grocers everywhere.

W. Baker & Co., Dorchester, Mass.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick, Carpenter and General Jobber. SHOP 35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty. JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet MAKER. Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished. ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK. John Peterson, SHOP—64 Grandview avenue. Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan, MASONS and BUILDERS, 28 East Front Street. First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town. JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons, MASON AND BUILDER, Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place. Jobbing promptly attended to. P. O. Box 245.

PIER-SON & GAYLE, Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. S. Gayle, No. 18 Vine street. All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH, PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER. All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to. Residence—Grandview avenue. P. O. Box 215.

R. V. SAUER, Carpenter & Builder. Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Scotch Plains. P. O. Box 1028. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. F. HOFFMAN, CARPENTER AND BUILDER. Residence—54 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J. Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ABBOTT, Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Corner new and Front streets, Plainfield, N. J. Also sash, Blinds, Floor, Base and Interior Hard Wood Work. P. O. Box 1041.

JOHN HERRMANN, Mason, Builder and hard wood mantel maker. Shop corner of Grand and Second streets, North Plainfield, N. J. J. HERRMANN, 6 Second street.

The 1892 Model of the Remington is now on the market.

CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT has characterized the history of the REMINGTON STANDARD TYPEWRITER. The changes introduced into the 1892 model represent the carefully tested results of expert study on various points deemed capable of improvement. They present advantages in the quality of the work, and ease as well as convenience of operation which will readily commend themselves to all users.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

Wyckoff, Seamans & Benedict, 327 Broadway, New York.

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.

Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of G. R. MUSGRAVE, 27 Somerset street. Call early and secure the best bargains.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S, 17 West Front Street

Having Disposed of the Produce Business

to Mr. L. A. Hummer, all persons owing the Plainfield Produce Co. are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDEH, Manager.

Miss Blanche Fellows VOCALIST and Teacher of Singing. Rapid development and complete education of the voice. Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel forms tion and tone production. Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. Call or address NO. 87 DUER STREET.

PIPTONIZED Beef, Iron and Wine 50c. Per Pint Bottle. at WILLIAMS'

Do You Smoke? The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of Meerschaum and Briar Wood Pipes, Holders and Segars can be found only at N. H. Guttman's Segar store, No. 12 West Second street.

George - Bremmer, No 28 SOMERSET STREET, READY MADE CLOTHING, or made to order—at prices To Suit Your Purse.

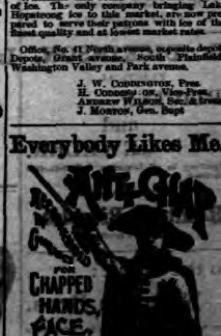
Call and see Samples.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co. Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong ice into this market, are now prepared to serve their patrons with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 21 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots: Grant street, Scotch Plains; Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CODDINGTON, Pres.
H. CODDINGTON, Vice-Pres.
ARTHUR WIGGINS, Sec. & Treas.
J. MONROE, Gen. Supt.

Everybody Likes Me.



Wash the baby with Anti-Chap Soap.

COAL and WOOD, E. H. HOLMES, YARD—24 Madison Avenue. Office—97 North avenue, (with Stockton & Peckle.

GARDEN FLOWER & LAWN Seeds and Fertilizers. Special Lawn Seeds for shady and dry lawns. GARDEN TOOLS and Lawn Mowers. WATER PIPING AND PLUMBING. Tinwork, Hardware and Housefurnishings. A. M. GRIFFEN, 13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

GEORGE VOEHL, the CONFECTIONER, is now prepared to furnish Parties & Receptions with Delicious ICE CREAM in bricks. 15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster, 206 Grove Street, North Plainfield. Wholesale Dealer in FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC. Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co., DECORATORS ‡ † ‡ ‖ § PAINTERS. Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—49 East Front street.

Joseph T. Sullivan, No. 60 West Third Street, Dealer in Choice Wines, Liquors, etc. BEER ON DRAUGHT.

V. L. FRAZEE, GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES 25 West Front Street.

Edw. C. Mulford, REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE. MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE 42 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail, REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE. DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING. 39 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham, REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE. No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff, REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE. MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security. Cor. Front Street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son, REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE. MONEY TO LOAN ON MT. MORTGAGE. NO. 6 NORTH AVENUE. Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO., FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE. General Hardware and Housefurnishings, LAWN MOWERS, (Six Varieties.) Refrigerators, - - Hammocks, ICE CREAM FREEZERS. Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : : - - - NOT A SCHEME! TO RECEIVE A CASH DISCOUNT, In buying a mileage book or help ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to pay a similar article of R. W. RICE & CO., GROCERS, 46 EMILY STREET. Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO., Successors to The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro., Dealers in Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials 38 to 60 PARK AVENUE. Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (succeeding to the extensive yards of Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET. A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of the yeomen and the public generally, to our large and most excellently selected stock of Choice Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of DOMESTIC AND IMPORTED ALE, PORTER AND BEER. If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any of the first-class wholesale houses in New York City. F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor Dealer. Telephone Co. 187.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM. Central Railroad of New Jersey. (The Port Reading R. R. Co., Lessee.) Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect May 15, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

[Extensive train schedule tables for Plainfield and New York, Plainfield and Somerville, Plainfield and Bound Brook, Plainfield and Dunellen, Plainfield and Stewards, Plainfield and Scotch Plains, Plainfield and Rahway, Plainfield and Elizabeth, Plainfield and Long Branch, Plainfield and Westfield, Plainfield and Netherwood, Plainfield and Fanwood, Plainfield and Spring Lake, Plainfield and Asbury Park, Plainfield and Jamesburg, Plainfield and Perth Amboy

THE CURIOSITY SHOP

THE CUCKOO.

A Harbinger of Spring and the Merriest Songster of Summer.

In April the cuckoo shows his bill:
In May he is singing all day;
In June he changes his tune;
In July he prepares to fly;
In August fly he must;
If he stay until September,
'Tis as much as the oldest man
Ever remember.

The cuckoo is the subject of the oldest English song which has been preserved from the earlier part of the Thirteenth century, and is remarkable for being accompanied by musical notes, thus forming the oldest example of English secular music. The words of the original have been thus translated into modern English:

Summer is come in,
Loud sing cuckoo;
Grows the seed, and bloometh the mead,
And springeth the wood now;
Sing cuckoo.

The ewe bleats after the lamb,
The cow lows after the calf,
The bullock bucks, the buck verts;
Merrily sing cuckoo,
Cuckoo, cuckoo.

Well singest thou, cuckoo;
Cease thou never to sing, cuckoo.

In Derbyshire, a very prevalent rhyme runs as follows:

The cuckoo is a merry bird,
She sings as she flies;
She brings us good tidings,
And tells us lies.
She steals birds' eggs,
To make her voice clear,
That she may sing cuckoo
Ten months in the year.

There are in parts of England remnants of old superstitions held in the Middle Ages in relation to the cuckoo. In Shropshire, until recently, when the first cuckoo was heard, the laborers were in the habit of leaving their work, making holiday of the rest of the day and carousing in what they called the cuckoo ale. Among the peasantry in some parts of the kingdom it was considered to be very unlucky to have no money in your pocket when you hear the cuckoo's note for the first time in the season. It was also a common article of belief that if a maiden ran into the fields early in the morning, to hear the first note of the cuckoo, and when she heard it took off her left shoe and looked into it, she would there find a man's hair of the same color as that of her future husband. It is also a popular superstition in Norfolk that whatever you are doing the first time you hear the cuckoo, that you will do most frequently all the year after. Mrs. Latham, an unmarried person will remain single as many years as the cuckoo, when first heard, utters it call.

Facts About Wines.

In a quaint compilation called "The Drinks of the World" are found the following items about wines:

The varieties of wines produced nowadays are "almost endless," and all have their admirers. Francatelli, the famous cook, says that it is impossible to lay down rules for the guidance of the palate in this respect. The singulate person will prefer the genuine champagne; the phlegmatic, sherry or Madeira; the splenetic or melancholy man will be prone to select Roussillon or Burgundy. In few words, Burgundy is aphrodisiac, champagne is capricious, Roussillon restorative and Bordeaux stomachic.

Reims and Epernay are the two great centers of the champagne district, but Reims is the capital, and it is interesting to learn that champagne owes its goodness in the first place to the soil on which it is grown, which is unique in its mixture of chalk, silica, light clay and oxide of iron: in the second, to the very great care and delicate manipulation which the wine receives. Every doubtful grape is discarded, and the carts conveying the grapes from the vineyard go at a most funereal pace, so that none of their precious contents should get bruised, for if these little grapes get at all crushed or partly fermented in carriage the fruit is rendered absolutely worthless for champagne purposes.

Of Burgundy we are told that it has been the drink of kings and popes, and perhaps no vineyard has a similar honor done to it as that of Clos-Vougeot (Napoleon's favorite wine), for when a French regiment marches past this celebrated vineyard it halts and presents arms.

Russia Leather.

An English authority tells that cowhides and calfskins are chiefly used in the manufacture of this leather, which is prepared by special process, only successfully carried out by the natives of Russia. Its pliability and suppleness are due to a peculiar dressing, while the lozenges marking its surface are not natural, but are stamped on the grain side by means of a roller with rounded ridges, rubbed firmly over the ground when the skin is saturated with oil. The coloring is partly artificial, and obtained by brushing over a decoction of Brazilian or red sandal wood, the whole being brightened up afterward with a hard brush. The leather is then left to dry and afterward put under press for several days. As to its aromatic odor this is not genuine, being derived from the peculiar oil of the birch bark employed in the tanning of this favorite leather, and to this smell is due the property of not only repelling moths and other insects, but also for destroying or preventing mildew on books.

Christian Associations for Women.

General statistics of Young Women's Christian associations are as follows: The number of associations is reported Dec. 31, 1,000; the associations of Boston, 14; Berlin, 20; Australia, 25; America, 327; other places, including China and Japan, 178; total world, 1,566; membership of American associations, 19,000. The International association was formed in 1886. General office, 153 La Salle street, Chicago. The international committee of twenty-seven members controls the work. The officers are: Chairman, Mrs. John V. Farwell, Jr.; secretary, Mrs. F. T. Weet; treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Doane; general secretary, Miss Cordial Tarr; office secretary, Miss Thirza F. Hall; international secretary, Miss Ellen Wilson. Thirty-four states have organized state associations. Each state holds an annual convention. The international convention occurs biennially. Each year a summer school is held for the training of young women in secretarial and Bible work.

Castles in Spain.

The expression, as used to denote visionary possessions, originated in France, and was probably introduced from that country as a castle or chateau was not found in Spain.

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION. 1872. Membership 126,000. 1892. Death benefits paid over $20,000 since organization.

Metropolis Lodge, No. 1, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Thursdays, at eight p. m., in Pythian Lodge rooms, Music Hall Building.

Immediate relief, $100; sick benefits per week $5.

LOUIS L. VANALSTYNE, Dictator.
RALPH A. VOORHEES, Reporter.

Watchung Council, No. 24, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight p. m.

Hotels.

Caspar's Hotel,

24 & 26 E. Front St

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Transient and Family Boarders taken at

Reasonable Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 10 E. Front St.

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE.

Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.

City Hotel,

CORNER
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Kline's Extracts,

Pure Fruit Flavors.

A RARE BIRD.

An Extraordinary and Beautiful Variety of the Feathered Tribes of Australia.

In the vast forests of New South Wales, broken up and intersected with rock and ravine, stream and plain, you may still meet with one of the most beautiful birds known to naturalists, that is, the lyre bird.

THE LYRE BIRD.

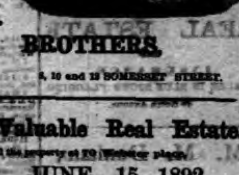
Looking at the illustration, it will be seen at once how the form and structure of the tail resembles the ancient Grecian lyre, hence the bird's name. The size of this bird is about that of the common hen; the eyes are dark hazel, large, and of unusual size and very beautiful; the wings short and concave, possessing great power when on the wing, flying for little spurts at a time. The bird's climbing powers are extraordinary and it is not easily overtaken; the color of the male bird is a dark slate, with a reddish brown, and the general appearance is exceedingly graceful. The bird is of gentle disposition and altogether harmless.

It is painful to know that the constant destruction of rare and beautiful birds is rapidly exterminating them from the creation. An English writer is authority for the statement that the lyre bird will soon be lost to us forever. He says that the tail feathers were formerly sold in Sydney at a low price, but now that the beautiful creatures are nearly exterminated the price has been greatly. Upon fashion and "sport," the magnificent tail feathers of the lyre bird are brought out and protected by M. M. Worms and Zwienbaerdt. To a quantity of Manilla gum tempered with benzole is added 5 per cent. of Auvergne bitumen, also mixed with benzine. These are thoroughly mixed together by mechanical means and by the hand. By adding 5 per cent. of resin oil and allowing forty-eight to eighty-six hours to pass between each treatment, a resilient

We are getting away with lots of Boots! Shoes this month—now is the time to buy them.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S,
29 West Front street.

P. S.—Our $3 shoe never takes a back seat.



IF!

A poor article is dear at any price. A good article is cheap at any price. The Duluth Imperial Flour is the best in the world and the prices are right. Insist on having it from your grocer, or apply to

FRENCH BROTHERS,

TELEPHONE 24. 8, 10 and 12 SOMERSET STREET.

Auction Sale of Valuable Real Estate.

I have been authorized to sell the property at 29 Webster place,

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 15, 1892,

on the premises at 3 o'clock P. M.

Lot 62x165, with two-story French roof house with all modern improvements, in first-class order.

Large stable and carriage house, two-inclined drive to the street. In a very desirable property, being in a first-class neighborhood. Five minutes' walk from depot, and ten minutes' walk from Park avenue. Excellent opportunity for those wishing to own a choice home. It must and will be sold. Positive or limit. For further information inquire of

T. J. CAREY, Auctioneer.
No. 7 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER.

One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.

Whole Suits from $5 up.

Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.

C. SCHEPELIN & CO.

32 WEST FRONT STREET.

The Time

has come when all should buy their

CLOTHING AT HOME

Knowing they can get Quality, Style and Fit, and as good and cheap, if not better, than the guarantees to do, and produce a Perfect Fit or no Sale.

Acme Tailoring Co.,

We have the Largest Assortment of

CLOTHS & CASSIMERES

in the State. Our store is Exclusively devoted to Merchant Tailoring.

Kindly give us a call for inspection.

Acme Tailoring Co.,

No. 19 West Front Street.

John H. French, Pres. and Treas.
Walter C. Limberger, Sec. 2 31 3m

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC

SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS

SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC

4 & 5 cents per Copy.

Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.

A. M. Vanderbeek's,

23 PARK AVENUE.

CARRIAGES AND HARNESS.

$15.00

Buys hand made rubber mounted harness.

$100.00

Buys canopy top, natural wood surrey.

Prices and styles to suit all.

SWIFT SAFETIES.

RYERSON,

33 SOMERSET STREET.

BOEHM

Will sell for THIS WEEK ONLY,

Good Matting at 10c.

per yard (by the roll.) Largest stock of Carpets, Oil Cloths and Mattings in the city.

Special Low Prices

on Millinery, Dress Goods and Spring Jackets this week.

Agency for King's Dyeing of Co., Easton, Pa.

No. 7 WEST FRONT STREET.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher.

46 West Front Street.

C. DICKINSON,

PRACTICAL

OPTICIAN

and

JEWELER.

Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Agent for the Accurate

Rambler Bicycles.

No. 19 Park avenue.

To the Public:

Neuman Bros.

Desire to call special attention to their Spring and select line of new canned vegetables, viz.: French peas, marrowfat sugar corn, Succotash, &c. Mushrooms, fancy sweet pickles, Worcestershire sauce, &c. Imported and domestic olives. Also a full line of staple and fancy groceries. Goods delivered free to all parts of the city. Telephone connection. Store open every evening. Remember the place, 19 Park avenue, next door to Post-office. Goods delivered free to all parts of Dunellen and Bound Brook. Telephone connection.

THE ALBION,

FOURTH STREET AND PARK AVENUE

Select family hotel.

Newly furnished throughout.

Special rates to permanent guests.

FRANK R. MILLER.

12 31 6m.

Summer Resorts.

THE ALBION,

FOURTH STREET AND PARK AVENUE

Select family hotel.

Newly furnished throughout.

Special rates to permanent guests.

FRANK R. MILLER.

12 31 6m.

AN EXPERIMENT IN OUTLINE.

In drawing the circle, the representation of the ball, and a similar one is drawn at right angles to it on the opposite side, on rotating the disk the appearance of a cross is seen. If an iron disk a blvd and on the other a cogwheel is drawn, when the disc is rapidly rotated the teed appears in the cogs, etc.

A certain duration of a luminous impression upon the retina remains after the cessation: hence it is that we do not see a very rapidly moving object, such as a bullet fired from a gun.

Removing Lines from Drawings.

Removing lines from drawings is generally accomplished by means of an erasing knife, which, however, is kept in order only with great difficulty. The following is recommended by The Composer as a good means to overcome this difficulty: Get a piece of hard wood, the blade of which is in ground to a beveled edge and used with its blunt side toward the straightest and the sharp side away from him. When erasing, the lines that will cut only in the direction from the operator, and not in the opposite direction. A knife thus ground can almost be considered without reproach if pressure without cutting into the paper, takes off fine pencilings and is easily removed.

Building Blocks of Glass.

For some time past transparent glass bricks have been for sale in London, and last at place where a window would interfere with the architectural plan. But now, according to The Industrial World, it is proposed to cast glass for ordinary use in the form into large blocks for building. This material is practically indestructible, possesses considerable strength, and damp proof. In manner which few bricks are, and in this way coarse glass of this kind could be made nearly as cheap as concrete, stone or baked clay.

Mineral versus Vegetable Oils.

Sir Lyon Playfair is credited with the opinion that mineral oils must in the end beat vegetable oils on account of their chemical composition, the ingredients in the latter not being all combustible, but consisting of carbonic acids and glycerine. Mineral oils on the other hand are nearly of the same composition as distant gas, the illuminating constituents of coal gas are laid on the table so as to give the appearance of an oblong center bordered with the full wreaths of flowers. Bows of delicate, feathery foliage attach one ear-will always be known as the pioneer of Low Prices.

OUR STORE

COME : AND : SEE : OUR

Superior Table Butter 19½c. lb

Standard Granulated Sugar, 4½c. lb.

5 gallons best Kerosene Oil (130 test) 35c.

Vegetables a Specialty.

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,

The Champions of Low Prices. 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,

OF PLAINFIELD.

Firm of

RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY,

Importers and Tailors,

231 Broadway, New York.

Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring.

Moderate Prices.

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with

LAMP AND BELL,

under penalty of $20 fine.

At the proper assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the

Wheelmen's Headquarters,

Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.

FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

RANDOLPH'S

BEEF, IRON AND WINE,

THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!

PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

21 WEST FRONT STREET.

THE GOLDEN HOUSEHOLD

FANCY WORK.

Raised Embroidery on Brocade—Oriental Effects on Embroidery.

Embroideries in raised silks on grounds of brocade resemble the tapestries of olden days. Some rich cream colored brocades have the flowers worked in silks in natural colors.

A pretty bedspread is in stripes of congress canvas worked in a simple pattern with shaded pink and green silks; three rows attached to stripes of gauzier insertion lined with pale apple green satteen.

A new oriental looking table center recently made was formed of a wide strip of ordinary linen buttock, the dark ground covered with gold braid of the same kind sewn on; between the gold braid on the light stripes of the linen various designs were worked in shades of silks and gold thread shades; the back was lined with plain surah silk, and a heavy gold lace added around the edge completed a rich looking piece of work. Fringes are all the rage and quite in keeping with the Mantel Drapery Trifle Fruit.

Rinse the fruit very thoroughly in morning hot water. Drain on a clean cloth with soft towel. Prick in two places the fruit, and soak for ten or twelve hours. Do not pour off the water in which it has been soaked, but add to it for every pound of fruit a pound of sugar. Let come to a boil, add a small quantity of water and place on the back part of the stove and allow to simmer for two hours (fruit must not boil.) Then remove to table by dissolving the sugar in a quantity of water, pouring the syrup over the fruit. Avoid stirring the fruit, but in observing the fruit shape. If this receipt is followed, you will secure a dessert equal to fresh or canned fruit.—California Fruit Grower.

Fresh Floral Function.

Naturally, all the fashions of the day spread to the country, and the fad of following in the train of the Louis Quinze draperies and furniture materials come some of the prettiest imaginable of table arrangements. Many of the silks of all kinds in the rapid fine beautiful idea of old brocade that ladies wore generations ago—brocades which were garlanded with flowers and decked with bunches and sprays of blossoms. Mineral oils on the other hand are nearly of the same composition as distant gas, the illuminating constituents of coal gas are laid on the table so as to give the appearance of an oblong center bordered with the full wreaths of flowers. Bows of delicate, feathery foliage attach one ear-lead to another. Wee pink roses, with their own natural leaves, produce the most charming effects possible. Filling the corner spaces are small silver bowls, decorated stands and wine coolers, filled with bouquets of roses and foliage.

ARRANGEMENT FOR A WEDDING.

Flowers are employed in table scenes in the decorations of staircases, but more showy flowers are required and larger ones than are often may be found from a distance. A great deal of effect may be given to the floral garlands, which are now so in the fashion.

Flowers will this season be draped with long trails of foliage studded with the bouquets of flowers, while fragrance will be increased with fullness, arranged in the centre, or falling from the sides, and the whole simply being considered to a support at the base.

Below are a few of the newest and also of the most fashionable ideas for the season. We may just add briefly that gold, silver, royal, the red, the crimson shown will be very much in vogue. Trimming of the finest laces and real gems are now beautifully with living flowers in groups, and that table decorations, to be fashionable, must be either of great height or extraordinary low.

The wedding arrangement depicted in the last column is of a pair of white satin shades, the one in front of which is draped with a rich lace, and the other with delicate embroideries and ruchings.

Cleaning Flowers.

For cleaning flowers there is nothing better than dry flour applied with a newspaper. After being thoroughly washed in very hot water and wiped dry, the stem should be dried on the edge of the stove for a few moments and then vigorously covered for a few minutes with the dry flour. Shake off on paper in a well lighted room and softened. In this way flowers may be kept free from rust, and also as bright and glistening as when first purchased. Keep them in a cool, airy damp, and that is kept in a dry place.

Strawberry Charlotte.

Boil half a cup of rice five minutes in a quart of water, drain and boil till done in a quart of milk. Rub the rice through a sieve. To one pint of it add an ounce of gelatine, dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of cold water, a cup of sugar and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Stir all together and when it begins to thicken add a pint of cream whipped to a froth. Cook together three minutes, stir, cool, flavor with half a teaspoonful of vanilla, and add to the cream two whites of two eggs. Pour it over a quart of capped strawberries, or any other kind of berries, and pile whipped cream around the whole.

PROCLAMATION!

Attention is called to the following ordinances concerning unmuzzled dogs:

SECTION 1. That it shall be lawful for and the duty of any marshal or constable, or any police officer, to kill or cause to be killed any dog or bitches running at large in said Borough, during the months of June, July, August, September and October, and to impound the same, and to keep the same for the space of five days, and if not claimed by the owner thereof may cause the same to be killed; but the owners thereof may redeem the same, and in case the owners of any dog or bitch shall refuse or neglect to muzzle the same while such time, then it shall be lawful for said Marshal to kill or cause said dogs or bitches to be killed in the quickest and most painful manner they can.

All persons are hereby notified that this ordinance will be strictly enforced during the months of June, July, August and September. Owners of dogs are advised to provide proper muzzles at once.

WILLIAM L. SAUNDERS, Mayor.

Attest:—ERNEST H. BRINKAW, Clerk.

Tennis, Croquet, Hammocks, etc.

10 PER CENT. OFF

on all Tennis Goods.

Special Discounts

on large orders or to clubs.

A. W. RAND,

24 West Front Street.

FRED. W. DUNN,

Successor to

Barkalew & Dunn,

19 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Fine Groceries.

THEIR BEST TEA

GET YOUR

Bicycle Repaired

AT

NO. 2 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

by

Henry Goeller, Jr.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 2 Somerset street. Look Box I. Telephone Call 68. Publisher of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," MONDAY, JUNE 13, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS.

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR THEIR VACATION, SHOULD SEND NEWS ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

The Weather.

Generally from fair to partly cloudy, with no decided temperature changes, followed by rain.

BREVITIES

—The Elizabeth Club will probably lose a good man this week. The Binghamtons are after Tierney.

—Rahway held a grand ratification meeting over the news from the Republican Convention, Saturday night.

—The children of Mr. Samuel Townsend of Rockview avenue, are very ill. It is reported that they have diphtheria.

—Twelve dogs have been captured by the North Plainfield dog-catcher, since the ordinance went into effect, six of which have been killed.

—The Central Railroad will run an excursion to Manch Chunk, Glen Onoko and the Switchback on June 18th. Fare from Plainfield $1.75. Train will leave at 2.57.

—A large number of bicyclers visited this city yesterday. Among the number were over a dozen members of the Brooklyn Ramblers who were out here on a club run.

—This has been one of the days you read about. The thermometers on Front street near Park avenue register from 91 to 93 degrees. The thermometer in this office says 93 degrees.

—The commencement exercises of Miss Faucett's school and kintergarten, will be held in the Park Club House, Tuesday evening, June 14th, at 8:30 o'clock. The school is a most excellent one.

—The United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association ask our readers to call at once and get a card, free, which they say entitles you to a $4 book and a $4 picture. For particulars read advertisement.

—The ladies and young people of the Holy Innocents Episcopal church are arranging to hold a fair and festival in the new hall next to the Baptist church at New Market on Tuesday afternoon and evening.

—The Street Railway Company have suspended work on track laying and are now filling the cuts and grading the streets where the tracks have been laid. The track has been laid to Front and Grove streets.

—Tyler Sun this morning says: "Keeler, the hard-hitting little short stop of the Crescents of the New Jersey League, has been signed by the Binghamton club. In five games he made ten hits with a total of thirteen bases.

—To-day begins a wholesale slaughter of dogs in Plainfield. An ordinance calling for all dogs to be registered, was passed some time ago by the Common Council. Nearly two thousand dogs have so far been tagged.

—The Plainfield people who attended the Crescent-Elizabeth ball game, Saturday, appreciate the kind treatment received from the hands of the Y. M. C. I. A. No such unpleasant scene as occurred at the Staten Island grounds, when a Plainfielder was ordered from the grounds for cheering the Crescents, took places, and the best of good feeling prevailed.

—The Press has just found out that THE NEWS is "a truly local paper," as it calls it in its edition of Saturday. The people found out eight years ago that The News was "a truly local paper." It is the highest compliment that could be paid it. By-the-by we don't think any of the three papers need be ashamed. They would be a credit to a much larger town than Plainfield. While THE NEWS has done some things which the Press have been equaled in the way of newspaper enterprise, we would not disparage the excellent work now and then done by both our local cotemporaries.

—Readers will be interested in anything pertaining to mosquitoes. The little pest's blood-letting apparatus is a wonder. The bill itself is simply a tool-box wherein the mosquito keeps six miniature surgical instruments in perfect working order. Two of these instruments are exact counterparts of the surgeon's lancet; one is a spear with a double barbed head, the third is a needle of exquisite fineness, a saw and a pump going to make up the complement. The spear is the largest of the six tools and is used for making the initial puncture; next the lancet or knives are brought into play to cause the blood to flow; when the saw and lancet has operation fails or leaving the desired effect, the saw and the needle are employed and resolutely inserted in a lateral direction in the victim's flesh. The pump, the most delicate of all six of the instruments, is used in transferring the blood to the insect's "stomach."

Police News.

Hugh Leigo, an old offender, was arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct and sent down to Elizabeth for a short time.

Daniel Galbert, a small boy, was arrested for breaking street lamps on William street. The Judge gave him a reprimand and fined him two dollars. Warrants are out for several more boys for the same offense.

How the Clubs Stand.

	Played	Won	Lost	Per Cent	Runs
Plainfield	9	9	0	1.000	90
Elizabeth	10	6	4	.600	70
Westfield	9	4	5	.444	50
Somerville	10	0	10	.000	30
Games lost	6	5	5	5

Children's Day

was observed in most of the two dozen or so places of worship in Plainfield yesterday by some form of special service, in which floral decorations formed a conspicuous part.

The contributions on Children's Day in the Methodist church, go to a fund to help through college poor young men, who intend to enter the ministry. They are expected to pay back the money without interest when they become able to, but if it is a burden for them to do so, the account is cancelled. It is entirely at the young man's option. It is in nearly all cases paid back.

A special programme was arranged at the Holy Cross church, it being the fourth anniversary of the choir and the 26th anniversary of the church. The music was excellent and well arranged.

Among the Amateurs.

The Arlingtons Base Ball Club visited Cranford, yesterday, and defeated the team from that place by a score of 10 to 0.

The Arlingtons won by heavy batting in the second inning. Pitcher Mattis, of the Arlingtons, struck out 15 men. The score:

Arlington	0	0	9	0	0	0	0	0	—9
Cranford	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—0

Earned runs, Arlington, 2; base hits, Arlington, 9; Cranford, 2; stolen bases, Arlingtons, 8; Cranford, 1; base on balls, by Mattis, 1; by Heidelcof, 5; struck out by Mattis, 15; by Heidelcof 3. Umpire, Conneely.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Fred Taylor of this city, will enter Yale College in the Fall.

The following appeared in the "Herald" yesterday:

CLARK—Suddenly, at Plainfield, N. J., Friday, June 10th, at half-past ten a. m., Edward J. Clark, aged 24 years.

Remains at St. Nicholas Hotel, this city. Friends are invited to attend the funeral, from Church of the Strangers, in Mercer street, near 8th, st., on Sunday 12th, at half-past twelve. Interment in Greenwood.

FIFTY MILES OF FLIES.

A Solid Mass Around the Earth, if they Lived Four Years.

This is the season of the year when the prudent housekeepers slay the Adam and Eve of the flies for the following detailed reason:

A common house fly lays four times during the summer season, each lay averaging of eighty eggs, which makes	320
One half of these are supposed to be males, and the other half of these four broods produce forty:—
1. First eighth, or forty females of the first brood, lay three times, with 1600 females, lay three times, making	384,000
The second eighth lay twice, or eggs to the number of	256,000
3. The third eighth, or forty females of the third brood, lay at least once each or	256,000
4. The second eighth, or the forty females of the second brood lay three times and two-thirds eggs to the amount of	9,600
One sixth of these, or 1600 females, lay three times, or eggs to the number of	384,000
The third eighth, or 1600 females, lay twice, or eggs numbering	256,000
3. The third eighth, or the forty females of the third brood, lay two or more times, or eggs	9,600
One fourth of these, or 1600 females, lay twice more, which is	256,000
4. The second eighth, or the forty females of the fourth brood, have one laying period each, which produces eggs to the number of	2,000
Half of these, or 1600 females, will also lay 60 eggs each, which gives us	192,000
Total product of a single pair of flies in one season	2,000,200

It has been estimated that if each fly hatched should live to be four years of age, at the end of that time they would form a solid mass around the earth, extending to a height of fifty miles, or about the estimated thickness of our atmosphere.—Ex.

The Work of the Telegraph.

[N. Y. Tribune.]

"The Associated Press-Western Union Bulletin service for the last day of the convention, and especially the announcement of the nomination of Hon. Benj. Harrison for the Presidency of the United States, was phenomenal and probably will never be equaled in point of speed. The bulletins announcing the nomination were received and posted as follows: Result of President Harrison's renomination taking only one and one-half minutes to reach Louisville and Cincinnati. Messages were immediately so handled as to be delivered to subscribers reached at a speed of 1,000 words a minute, most of them within two minutes. The fastest time recorded as the result within two minutes after the facts were determined, and even quicker was made to several New York hotels. Others received the newsitside of sixty seconds, equally phenomenal was the speed of transmission across the ocean. The bulletin of President Harrison's renomination taking only one and one-half minutes to reach London and posted at the Exchange in less than two minutes

EDITORIAL NOTES

In the sweet vale of Cashmere, celebrated in song and story, cholera rages unchecked. In the month of May there were 2,500 deaths from it. Europe and America may receive a visitation from the scourge if its ravages continue.

A man who must have had numerous nightmare dreams has invented a hanging machine by which the condemned murderer hangs himself. No other individual has even to press a button. There is a cask of water from which the plug is withdrawn by the weight of the doomed man when he steps upon the platform to make his last speech. Water flows then from the cask. In a few seconds it will be lightened. That causes a 270 pound weight to drop instantly, and the fall of this weight jerks the condemned man to his doom, perhaps at the very instant he is declaring in the most solemn manner his innocence. It is a ghastly business in any shape.

Say Good Words.

A writer on the woman's page of a paper calls attention to the habit ladies have fallen into of saying pleasant and flattering things to one another when they meet—gushing over one another, so to speak—and wishes they would stop it.

Not so. There is no danger that mankind will ever get the habit of saying too many praiseworthy things to one another. In our present stage of half or quarter civilization the rule is the other way. Smile and smart are far more familiar to the average ear than commendation. If a subscriber to a newspaper finds anything in its columns he does not like, what so natural as for him to seize his pen and pour out the ink of wrath and blame upon the editor? But if anything especially pleases him, how often does he recall that a word of good will and appreciation will make the writer of that paragraph see rose color perhaps a whole day, especially if he is young and impressionable, and has not had all elasticity of feeling battered out of him by rebuke and blame?

No; say good words. Even the indiscriminate praise among women that the writer would have cease is better than that women should claw and criticise one another. If when they are disposed to say an unkind thing of another they have learned at length simply to put themselves in her place and look out of her eyes for the moment, and the cutting sarcasm and spiteful retort dies away on their lips, and gentle, sympathetic words come instead, it is a gain. A very great gain. Again, let us have good words, the more the better.

A Farming Corporation.

Mr. Wilbur Aldrich believes that farming companies and corporations are just as possible and can be made as profitable as any other business associations. Farmers have been unsuccessful as money makers because they have not employed the mighty instrument of business organization. In his judgment there is no reason why farmers should not succeed in co-operative enterprises as well as oilmen, grocery, milk dealers and sugar refiners. All they require is to wake up and exercise the talent for organization which they certainly possess in common with the rest of humanity.

Mr. Aldrich has written a book called "Farming Corporations," in which he outlines a plan that he believes would be successful, and would in time lift the farmer entirely out of the clutches of those who now pick him to the shoal. Great business corporations of agriculturists are to be formed. City people, however, and anybody having spare cash may become members of the corporation, taking stock and receiving dividends. Cash and considerable of it will be needed to purchase tools and machinery, to erect buildings, etc.

The Rural New Yorker has summed up the Aldrich plan as follows:

Briefly stated, a number of farmers, business men, farm and city laborers and others form a corporation, putting in land, tools, stock, farmers and cash, receiving in exchange certificates of stock. A miller, storekeeper, carpenters and others enter on equal terms with farmers. The whole thing is to be run as a manufacturing or business corporation would be run—with president, secretary, board of directors, etc. All members, farmers, storekeeper, carpenter, etc., are to be paid regular salaries, and in addition receive a proportionate share of the profits. For example, a farmer turns over farm and stock worth $5,000 and receives fifty shares at $100 each. He gives the deeds decided upon and receives a salary, say of $600, besides the board for his family.

At the end of the year, if there is profit enough to pay 4 per cent. interest, he also receives $200 more on account of his stock. Such a farmer is expected to work as the directors of the association suggest. In case he is dissatisfied he has the right to give up his stock and take back his farm, paying for all improvements the association may have made on it. An association of fifty farmers will make more profit than fifty farmers working as individuals, because it will save the expense that now goes to middlemen. For example, the miller, blacksmith, storekeeper and carpenter all work for the profits of the farm. Another years all go to the general fund from which all will draw their fair proportion. A canning factory, cold storage house, creamery and other necessities can be started with an assurance of a full business. All the difference between wholesale and retail trade or labor can be saved.

Fertilizers, seeds, tools, coal, food, etc., can be bought at the lowest prices for fifty families and make trade enough for a large store. Gangs of men can be sent from farm to farm to finish up haying, seeding, potato digging or corn cutting at one job, using all the improved, labor saving tools. All this cheapens the cost while the abundance and uniformity of the product will enable the manager to sell to much better advantage.

Hired men are to be invited to join. It is also expected to obtain better service and to encourage worthy young men and women to invest their savings in a profitable and helpful manner.

SEVENTY-FIVE ARE DEAD

An Excursion Steamer Founders on Lake Minnetonka.

TITUSVILLE IS STILL IN DANGER.

Fears Are Yet Entertained That a Pestilence Will Add to the Horrors the Stricken City Has Already Suffered. Fifty-six Oil City's Death List.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 13.—A rumor reached here that an excursion steamer on Lake Minnetonka had sunk and that seventy-five people were drowned.

Titusville's Thanks.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., June 13.—The following is given out officially to the public by Mayor Emerson and Roger Sherman, chairman of the relief committee:

"The prompt and generous assistance given to our afflicted citizens in their recent calamity by the people in all parts of the country is most gratefully appreciated by the sufferers and all residents of Titusville. It is due to the public that we make a statement of our condition as exactly and accurately as is possible six days after the calamity.

"We have our relief committee thoroughly organized, and the distribution of food, clothing, bedding and other supplies is progressing with system. Perfect order prevails. Large forces of laborers are employed in removing wrecks from the streets and in clearing up the ruins of house. Fifty-nine bodies have been buried and several more will probably be found. We do not need clothing, food or other supplies. Our need will be for money to relieve those who have lost by fire and flood and to repair the enormous damage to property.

The Loss One Million Dollars.

"The district devastated by fire and flood extends through the entire length of the city of Titusville and a large part of the breadth is from one-eighth to one-fourth of a mile. The estimated loss of property exceeds $1,000,000. The losses fall chiefly upon the poor and the laboring people.

"Within the bounds named were more than 150 dwellings, as well as many shops, manufactories and oil refineries, where labor was employed.

"The loss of personal property in the homes of the people was almost total, while very many lost not only their homes and contents, but the ground on which they stood. The streets are many of them destroyed, and the loss in this particular and in bridges very large. Everything possible is being done to alleviate distress, and our people are recovering hope and spirit."

Still Fear a Pestilence.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., June 13.—Memorial services were held in all the churches Sunday and were largely attended. It is estimated that 10,000 people were in the city from the neighboring towns of Warren, Oil City, Corry, Erie and the small villages, who thronged the fire swept district all day. Work in the mills was suspended to give the exhausted laborers an opportunity for rest. This action of the councils is greatly criticised. Here are many large stench holes in which the rotting remains of dogs, horses and chickens fill the air with poison vapors. Many families have left their homes for fear a pestilence may strike them down. The intense heat which prevails is adding greatly to this danger.

Oil City's Fifty-sixth Body.

OIL CITY, Pa., June 12.—All the missing have now been found. The fifty-sixth body was found here Sunday. This completes Oil City's dead.

Carnegie Reduces Wages.

PITTSBURG, June 13.—The Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers has received from the Carnegie Steel company, limited, the firm's scale for the year's work in the ensuing year. In the open hearth furnaces the firm calls for a reduction of 19 per cent. from the present rate, and in the armor plate department 20 per cent. of the old basis. In the plate mill the minimum is reduced from twenty-five dollars to twenty-two dollars.

Accidentally Killed His Boy.

CLIFTON, N. J., June 13.—George Eckart, of this place, accidentally killed his five-year-old boy while trying to amuse him. The boy was swinging in a hammock, which the father swayed backward and forward, when suddenly to which the hammock was attached collapsed and crushed the boy to death.

Six Brigands Killed.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., June 13.—Colonel Quatencio Gonzalez del Lave and a detachment of Mexican troops routed the bandits who participated in the recent assault on Tecula Hacienda. Six of the brigands were killed and twenty-two captured.

Robbed Twice in One Week.

HELENA, Mon., June 13.—The stage between Great Falls and Billings was robbed twice last week, and the mail and treasure boxes were taken. The government has offered a reward of $500 for the capture of the thieves.

The Czarovitch to Be Betrothed.

LONDON, June 13.—The Copenhagen correspondent of The Post says:

"It is rumored here that the czarovitch will be betrothed to the Princess of Schaumburg-Lippe, niece of King Christian."

His Body in the River.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN., June 13.—The body of a seven-year-old boy named Maxwell was found floating in the river. He went sailing with several companions, and it is supposed fell overboard.

Shot a Negro Dead.

GREENVILLE, S. C., June 13.—Dr. Bennett, a physician of this county, shot a negro named R. Benson at his home, near Batesville, during a quarrel.

One Passenger Was Killed.

BALTIMORE, June 13.—An electric car jumped the track and threw about twenty passengers out on the ground. Christopher Benner was killed.

Killed by an Electric Car.

ATLANTA, June 13.—Lena Sugarman, aged six years, was instantly killed by an electric car. The accident was witnessed by the child's parents.

The President at Church.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—President Harrison and Dr. Scott occupied the family pew in the Church of the Covenant Sunday morning.

Blackburn's Body Found.

HOBOKEN, N. J., June 13.—The body of Joseph Blackburn, who was drowned off Weehawken, was found off Fourteenth Street.

PRESIDENT POLK'S FUNERAL.

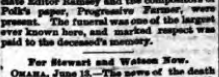
The Late Farmers' Alliance Leader Buried at Raleigh.

RALEIGH, June 13.—The train bearing the body of President L. L. Polk, who died at Washington Saturday, was met at the depot by hundreds of people. The procession was formed and the body was escorted to the First Baptist church, of which Mr. Polk was a consistent member. By 4 o'clock the church was packed, the auditorium seating at least a thousand. Among those present was Governor Holt and all the state officers, members of the supreme court, officers of the Farmers' Alliance and Grand Sire Polee of Georgia and Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows. The face of the dead was exposed, and after the choir had sung, "Abide With Me," the entire audience filed by single file by the casket and viewed the body. The casket was taken into and out of the church by pallbearers selected from the Alliance. Pall bearers selected here then took charge of the remains, which were taken to Oakwood cemetery. There was a great assemblage of people at the cemetery. There were no Alliance services at the grave. Remarkably few Alliance men were present as they did not have time to reach here.

Mrs. Polk and her three daughters and son-in-law were the chief mourners. Associate Editor Ramsey and the competitors of Polk's paper, Progressive Farmers, were present. The funeral was one of the largest ever known here, and marked respect was paid to the deceased's memory.

For Stewart and Watson Now.

OMAHA, June 13.—The news of the death of L. L. Polk, president of the Farmers' Alliance, was received with manifestations of sorrow among the party leaders. It seemed assured that Polk would be the Alliance presidential candidate to be named at the Omaha gathering. It now proposed to nominate United States Senator William M. Stewart, of Nevada, for president and Thomas E. Watson, representative in congress from Georgia, for vice president. It is now said that General Weaver, who has been so prominently mentioned for the first place, is strongly inclined to favor this ticket.



Very Newest Millinery.

ALL INCOMPARABLY PRETTY.

Charming millinery, the very latest from Paris, is shown here.

No. 1 is a smart but useful hat, made in very fine brown straw. The shape is like that of a round sailor, turned up sharply on both sides. It is prettily trimmed with folds of pale yellow velvet, and has an aigrette of fine brown lace on one side, arranged in a very jaunty fashion.

No. 2 is a very lovely hat with a crown of pale sou de soi chip, and a brim of black nutmeg straw, the latter laid into a most becoming point in front. The trimming consists of a large Alsatian bow of black guipure lace, with a cluster of roses placed on one side. This hat can be lengthened if varied colors, and looks particularly well carried out in black and tan.

No. 3 is an exceedingly becoming little bonnet. The brim is formed of fine quillings of gold net, each quilling edged with tiny gold beads, while the crown consists of tinsel passementerie. Some deep red roses are placed at the right hand side, under the brim, while the strings are of black velvet.

A Gown That Rounds Into Charley.

A dressing gown covers a multitude of sins, and its popularity proves that the fact is appreciated. The more ample the gown the more correct it is considered.

Run Down by Vanderbilt's Yacht.

NEW YORK, June 13.—William K. Vanderbilt's big steam yacht Alva ran down a rowboat in the Hudson river at the foot of Thirty-first street, and its occupants, a man and a woman, were drowned. They were Thomas Mahan, a bricklayer, twenty-eight, a liquor dealer of No. 226 Seventh avenue, and his housekeeper, Mary Simonis, thirty-eight, who had hired a boat for an hour's row in the river.

During Train Robbers.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—A daring robbery took place on the Pacific coast road, by which the Judson Manufacturing company lost $16,000 in gold and silver coin. Two masked men boarded the train at Stopped at the B street station and held up and robbed John Gibson, secretary of the Judson company, and Harry Davisson, a clerk, who were taking a monthly wages to the company's employes.

Poultney Bigelow Expelled from Russia.

BERLIN, June 13.—Poultney Bigelow, a schoolmate of Emperor William, has been expelled from Russia. Mr. Bisslow and Frederick Remington, an artist, had planned to make a canoe voyage from St. Petersburg to Berlin to secure material for magazine articles. It is said the czar will be annoyed to find that a personal acquaintance of the German emperor has been dealt with thus summarily.

Father Insane, Mother Elopes.

NEWARK, N. J., June 13.—Maggie and Conrad Rittelgerl, two children, were found by the police nearly starved. Their mother has been absent two days ago. Their father, Gottfried, when he found his wife gone went on a spree, which ended in his death, as his body was found floating in the Passaic river.

ALL FOR HARRISON NOW

Depew Declares That No Bitterness Exists Anywhere.

PLATT WILL STAND BY THE TICKET

Mr. Depew Says That One Secret of President Harrison's Strength at the Minneapolis Was That Fact That He Was Backed by the Country's Business Men.

CHICAGO, June 13.—The city is full of delegates en route from the Minneapolis convention to their homes. As Chauncey M. Depew descended the stairs at his hotel on the road to the train he encountered ex-Governor William Pitt Kellogg, the fiery anti-Harrison man from Louisiana. "O," said the ex-governor to Mr. Depew, "you seem pretty well satisfied now, are you not happy now," said the ex-governor to Mr. Depew.

"Oh, but we are all Harrison men, are we not?" was the New Yorker's response.

"Oh, certainly," said Kellogg. "Of course we are all Harrison men. But the ex-governor did not seem much like a Harrison man when interviewed on the situation later.

Texas and Georgia Did It.

"Texas and Georgia," he said, "nominated Mr. Harrison. I presume that the office holders from Texas expected that Harrison could carry the state better than a man demanded by the Republican party in the north. As the last election the Democrats carried Texas by over 150,000. I still believe it is wrong for the south to attempt to dictate or influence a nomination against the wishes of the masses of the party in the north. It is a mistake for the party leads in the attempt to re-elect Mr. Harrison. I sincerely hope, of course, that we may re-elect him."

Harrison Strength, Says Depew.

Before leaving the hotel Mr. Depew, in answer to a number of questions, said: "You need anticipate no bitterness on the part of those who voted for the other candidates than Harrison," he said. "Mr. Platt will not oppose the nominee. The very manner in which the nomination came about will prevent those over there from voting the dying out of any dissatisfaction with it. When people set out to knife a ticket they also have something to gain. They never gratify a personal revenge. They may do so if through their revenges they see that they can destroy the rival of their favorite and thus make probable the future success of that favorite. Such would probably be the attitude of the Hill men toward Cleveland. The opposition to President Harrison was concentrated on Blaine. Nobody believes for a moment that Blaine desires to re-enter public life. A few voted for McKinley and McKinley himself was for Harrison.

"There is no doubt that Clarkson, Platt and Quay honestly believed that they could nominate Blaine. But the Minneapolis convention was run on popular principles. Clarkson and the other leaders who stood with him could not feel the power of the great throbbing heart of the country. Harrison had scarcely any organization to speak of and he had none of these great political leaders. But telegrams favoring him—not manufactured ones, either, but the honest expression of business men—came pouring into Minneapolis and they were very strong.

Harrison Would Have Retired.

"Whitelaw Reid's candidacy had nothing to do with Blaine's defeat. In the first place he was not a candidate. I made up my mind, however, some time ago to secure his nomination if it lay within my power. Everyone knows my feelings toward Blaine. Had he not written that letter to Clarkson he would have had my support. More than that, if he had at an early date announced his candidacy Harrison would not have been a candidate. Take the whole situation now, and with Cleveland as the opposing candidate, Harrison is possibly stronger than Blaine would have been.

"Harrison's strength is possibly of great strength. He was strong with the business men. To the manufacturer the administration means life or death. Nine-tenths of the business men of this country favored the reconstruction of Harrison, and I believe that the laboring men, who are dependent upon the manufacturers and business men, felt in the same way. Then, too, he was strong in the solidity of the old soldiers. Among these there was not a dissenting voice. There are 400,000 voting soldiers, and the element you dispose against of every other candidate before the convention."

Blaine Expected Harrison to Win.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The Post publishes the following interview with Senator Hale: "Mr. Blaine told me the day he left Washington that he expected Mr. Harrison to be nominated," was the somewhat remarkable statement Senator Hale made to a Post reporter. "Mr. Blaine meant what he said in his letter to Mr. Clarkson. He did not want to be a candidate and was not, but his friends insisted upon pushing him for the nomination and thought they would do so whether he was willing or not. Mr. Blaine resigned. I do not think that he wanted the presidency, for it does not require an election to become president, and anything to the launch of James G. Blaine.

"During the further course of his talk Mr. Hale said that Mr. Blaine's withdrawal from the contest was not the result of hasty personal determination. To Senator Hale he had expressed a desire of leaving the place some months prior to the time when he did. Senator Hale said that the secretaryship had been tendered him before Secretary Foster had retired from public life altogether, Senator Hale said he did not know. 'I do not believe that he has,' he continued, 'and I do not want to be quoted as saying so, for what Mr. Blaine's plans for the future may be I am not prepared to speak. However, I am quite sure that he does not intend to devote much of his time.'

Warner Miller for Harrison.

CHICAGO, June 13.—"There will be no knives sharpened in New York on election day," said Warner Miller at the Auditorium hotel. "The Republican party will support Harrison loyally and enthusiastically. I have been too long in political battles to cherish any resentment against the nominee, and I never used a political knife in my life and never will. I believe, Mr. Harrison is stronger in New York state by 50,000 than Mr. Platt will support the ticket. He fights hard for his candidate, but if he is defeated he always supports the victor."

Blaine for the Senate.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 13.—A movement has been started to elect Mr. Blaine to the United States senate in place of Eugene Hale, who will have held that position twelve years, and it is probable that the expremier will again grace Washington society in an official capacity. A fight between Mr. Blaine and Mr. Hale would shake up the Republican party in Maine.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Wheat is frozen in the streets of Buenos Ayres.

The cholera epidemic in Meshed, Persia, is still raging. All Europeans there have fled it.

Queen Isa again routed Palacio's forces and the president of Venezuela is virtually a prisoner in his house.

An authoritative biography of the late Cardinal Manning is promised by Mr. E. Maclean Purcell, of London.

The trunk of a man's body was found in a hot dog up at Sussex, near Boston.

The People's theater, Denver, owned by ex-Senator Tabor, was destroyed by fire.

At a public meeting held at Windsor, Ont., a vote on political union with this country resulted as follows: For, 324; against, 69.

The supreme court of Massachusetts decided that ex-President Asa P. Potter, of the Maverick bank, may have his black mark, over which there has been so much litigation.

By a collision between an electric car and a locomotive at Bellaire, O., Miss Kate Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Charles Miller were killed, while Joseph Steubenmer was fatally injured.

Two More Meet Death.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 13.—A freight engine on the Pittsburg and Western road jumped the track just west of here. Engineer James Gargbill and Pat Ryan were killed.

Big Paper Mills Burned.

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., June 13.—The station plant of the Crescent Paper mills, one of the largest in Indiana, was destroyed by fire. Loss, $80,000; insurance, $50,000.

Twenty Wounded in a Riot.

CLEVELAND, June 13.—Twenty men were wounded in a riot at the residence of Father Koslosk, a Polish priest, between the priest's friends and enemies.

Rusti Gets the Grand Prize.

PARIS, June 13.—The Grand Prix du Paris, for a purse of $27,670, was run Sunday. The race was won by Rusti, with Courils second and Chess Royal third.

BABY : LAUGHS

when mamma uses

ANTI-CHAP.

For children and infants. There is no preparation so pleasing and healthful for the little ones as Anti-Chap.

Wash your baby with Anti-Chap Soap. Dust the baby with

ANTI-CHAP POWDER.

Papa, Mamma, Everybody should use the delightful Anti-Chap. Your druggist keeps it. 25 cents.

George - Bremmer,

No 28 SOUTHSIDE STREET,

READY MADE CLOTHING,

or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher.

46 West Front Street.

To the Public:

Neuman Bros.

Desire to call special attention to their choice and unique line of new canned vegetables, viz: French Peas, preserved sugar corn, Succotash & Morrill's Paris sugar corn, Shrewsbury tomatoes, Earl tomatoes, F. H. Leggett's stewed tomatoes, Fait & Wilsberger's extra sifted peas, Golden Gate sugar peas, extra early June peas, Hamburg Barleduke Beans, Hudson River asparagus and tips.

Special reduction given by the case or dozen. Also a fine assortment of Gordon & Dewerth's jellies and jams.

79 BROADWAY.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum

and

Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Segars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Segar store, No. 12 West Second street.

LAWN MOWERS,

Bicycles, and

GENERAL MACHINERY

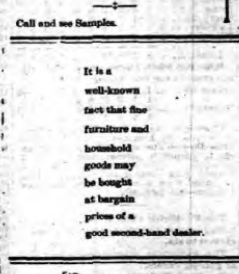
Repairs, at

SCHENCK'S Machine Shop,

North Plainfield. Also Pipe Fitting.

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.

Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of G. R. MUSGRAVE, 37 Somerset street. Call early and secure the best bargains.



A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP,

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

Having Disposed of the Produce Business to Mr. L. A. Rheaume, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No. 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.

H. E. RIDER, Manager.

A. M. SEGUINE,

Proprietor of

Laing's Hotel Stables,

on Front Street, Cor. Raritan Avenue.

TELEPHONE CALL, No. 24.

Coaches for weddings, funerals and private calls.

Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.

Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.

BOARDED HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!

ALSO SAND.

Of Most

Light Blue Color.

References:—

F. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.

ROBT. A. MERRER, Street Com.

Smalley Bros.,

94 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

29 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly added steam screening apparatus, by which coal is cleaned, while he is constantly receiving sizable lots to deliver cleaner and finer coal than possible by any other method of screening.

Urges [illegible] and Shortweight Coals in bad qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

HOUSEHOLD TRADE SOLICITED.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in BEST

QUALITY COAL

YARD AND OFFICE

SOUTH AVENUE.

P. O. BOX 1467.

Upper Lehigh and other choice coals carried.

Professional Cards.

J. JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Counsellors at Law. Commissioners for Deeds. Masters in Chancery. Notaries Public. Offices, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E. Engineer of the Famous Union County Survey. Special attention given to street laying and sewerage. Office, 17 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

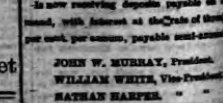
WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Attorney-at-Law, Master in Chancery, Notary Public for Deeds and Notary Public. Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 28 West Front Street.

CLARK & REED, Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners of Deeds. Office Cor. Park avenue and Front street, First National Bank Building, Plainfield, N. J.

CRANE A. MARSH, Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner of Deeds. Conveyancer. Office in Crane's Bakery Building, Notary Public. Offices corner Front and Second streets.

OSCAR S. TEALE, Counsellor at Law, 35 Broadway, New York city; rooms 32 and 33. Importers and Traders' Bank Building, Residence, Plainfield N. J.

PLAINFIELD ODORLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY



JONES & CO.

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Two loads of Ashes, Garbage or Refuse removed at the lowest rates. Contract for removing garbage given by the Board of Health. Furnish no connection made in disinfecting. Orders received at Peck House, Somerset street, Plainfield, or at Residence, Plainfield avenue, P. O. Box 1003. Telephone call 24.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION

OF

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.

WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.

NATHAN HARPER, "

ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7:35, 9:05, a. m., 12:05, 3:35, 5:50 p. m.

Close—7:30 a. m., 12:00 m., 3:30, 5:30 p. m.

NORTHWESTERN AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8:05 a. m., 1:35, 5:50 p. m.

Close—7:30 a. m., 5:30 p. m.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 5:30 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.

Mail closes at 5:30 p. m.

S. R. POPE, P. M.

REDMOND IS FOR UNION

The Irish Leader Denies John Dillon's Charges.

THE PARNELLITES ARE FOR PEACE.

While Parnell's Successor Is Visiting Patiently in New York, His Followers and the McCarthyites Are Breaking One Another's Head at a Meeting.

NEW YORK, June 13.—John Redmond, M. P., from Waterford, is here. Delegations of friends and the reception committee received him on board of the steamer Lahn, M. Starin, and the party was taken to the Hoffman House. Mr. Redmond will stay. In response to the welcoming address of the chairman of the committee Mr. Redmond briefly stated that his purpose in visiting this country was one of peace. He and his patriotic colleagues in Parliament wanted reunion, and by union he meant a union independent of English parties.

JOHN E. REDMOND.

To Exterminate Parnellites.

When shown Dillon's statement that the Parnellite party had refused all overtures from the McCarthyites Mr. Redmond said: "I see by the papers that Mr. Dillon was asked, 'Is it true you have refused all overtures of reconciliation?' and Dillon answered, 'Yes.' If Mr. Dillon has always been in favor of reconciliation he has kept his views to himself, and has neither let me nor the world at large know them. During the Cork and Waterford elections Mr. Dillon preached the doctrine that the only motive for Ireland was to exterminate the Parnellites. As far as I know, Mr. Dillon never made any proposal in the direction of reconciliation. The next question asked Mr. Dillon was, 'Have your advances to the Redmond party met with any success?' to which Mr. Dillon replied, 'Not the slightest.'

"I wish to say that Mr. Dillon never made any advances to what he calls the Redmond party. The only proposal for conciliation that was ever published made by any of the McCarthyite party was made by T. P. O'Connor, M. P., who in a speech delivered a couple of months ago, proposed that the Parnellites should be given a proportionate representation in the next parliament.

Ready Deserted Him.

"In the elections since the split across the Parnellites have polled two-fifths of the votes cast, and if this is to be taken as a test a proportionate representation would mean giving four to each third of members actually larger than we have at present. As soon as Mr. O'Connor made this proposal I publicly expressed approval of it. Mr. Healy promptly denounced this proposal and Mr. O'Connor for having made it.

"Mr. Dillon says that I am in favor of two Nationalist parties in Ireland. That is not so. My belief is that the safety of the Nationalist cause depends on their being one Nationalist party, absolutely independent of English political combinations.

Anxious for Peace.

"So anxious, however, were my colleagues and myself that contests at the coming general election should be obviated that we made a proposition which, if carried out, would have restored immediate peace to Ireland. We expect that in a few weeks Mr. Parnell will be returned by popular vote, that in a very few months his Home rule bill will be before the world.

"We proposed to Mr. Dillon that pending the production of Mr. Gladstone's bill the strife in Ireland should absolutely cease, and that no contest should take place between Nationalist members, that we would not attack seats of McCarthyites and they should not attack seats of the Parnellites.

"This proposal was summarily rejected by Dillon, and he says in his interview that his reason for rejecting it was that he believed the constituencies would revolt. In my opinion Mr. Healy and the McCarthyite party at the present moment are the only obstacles to an immediate cessation of hostilities in Ireland."

Broken Heads at Tralee.

DUBLIN, June 13.—William Redmond, Edward Harrington and Henry Harrington were in Tralee to address a large meeting of Parnellites. About 3,000 persons were present, many of whom were anti-Parnellites. Shots were fired and shouts of "Down with" were heard when Messrs. Harrington and Mr. Redmond, and cries of "traitor," "blackguard" and "Ireland's enemies." The Parnellites raised counter cheers and began shouting for Parnell. Then fights were started near the platform and one of the disturbers was knocked senseless. This was the signal for a general row. Men were thrown to the ground and trampled on and struck, coats were torn from the backs of those trying to escape from the fights and blows were bewilderingly dealt left without once as to whom they struck. Those on the outskirts pressed in toward the platform to aid their friends, until all were engaged in the fight. Then the Parnellites, who were defeated once had to join the fight in self defense.

A party of anti-Parnellites attacked the band with clubs, knocked the players down, put the rest to flight, captured all the instruments and stamped them to pieces. When Mr. Harrington stepped down from the platform to help pacify the crowd he was struck on the shoulder with a stone and received on the back a blow from a heavy stick. He was hustled to the police station. After the fight had lasted about ten minutes an extra force of constables clubbed the hostile parties apart. About twenty-five men were severely injured by the riot. Eighteen had broken bones and seven were injured internally by being trampled by the crowd. Three are said to be in a very critical condition. About one hundred men were less seriously injured.

To Pledge Them for Cleveland.

COLUMBUS, O., June 13.—The Democratic state convention, which meets here Tuesday, will probably be controlled by the Cleveland-Campbell delegates, with James E. Neal, of Hamilton, as permanent chairman. For delegates at large to Chicago it is now quite certain that Brice, Campbell and probably Thurman will be chosen. An effort will be made to pledge the delegates to Cleveland.

Barcelona In a State of Siege.

BARCELONA, June 13.—A general strike is feared. Troops are held in readiness for action in the event of disorder. A state of siege has been proclaimed. The government has ordered a squadron to assemble at Barcelona and also additional troops from Valencia and Saragossa.

Satisfactory Explanation.

Clothing Merchant—The reason why I am anxious for you to take this suit at eight dollars, my friend, is that we expect to mark all this line of goods up to $17.50 after the 1st of June.

Customer—Why don't you hold 'em till then and make more money on 'em?

"Hold them! Great Scott! We've got to get rid of them to make way for new stock."

"Then what's the object of marking 'em up after the 1st of June?"

"What's the object?"

"Yes. What's the object?"

"In marking these clothes up after the 1st of June?"

"Yet. That's what I want to know."

"Er—aw—my friend, shall we say $4.50 for the suit?"—Chicago Tribune.

"Fight Declared Off, No Reason Given."

Spokesman—See here, Jim Brogan, you has been a-sayin yer kin lick any boy to de ward of yer size. I've got me sister here wot'll knock der stuffin out of yer, an she's an' a gal.

Jim Brogan—Who's dem fellers?

Spokesman—Dem's her brudders, dem fellers. They're only here for see fair play!—Life.

THERE MAY BE A BATTLE.

Militia Ordered Out to Quell the Riot Feared at Tonawanda.

BUFFALO, June 13.—The longshoremen on strike at Tonawanda are ready to do battle with the "scabs." The situation is so threatening that the Twenty-fifth Separate company assembled at their headquarters at 7 a. m. to await the action of the sheriff. The strikers have appealed to the state board of arbitration. The board replied stating that they would be here in a few hours. The condition of Officer Kingsley, who was shot during the riot Saturday, is improved and hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Chief of Police Ryan, who has only eight men under him, said that he feared trouble if another attempt was made to unload the barges now tied up. The lumber dealers say that if they can secure the necessary men to do the work they will certainly proceed to unload the boats. The striking lumber shovers are about 700 strong, and it is probable that the Forty-second Separate company of Niagara Falls will also be summoned to quell the disorder.

THE BASEBALL WORLD.

EASTERN LEAGUE GAMES.

At Albany—

	R.	H.	E.
Albany	0	0	3
Buffalo	5	7	2

Batteries—Brown and Toras, Weckbecker and Conway.

At Rochester—

	R.	H.	E.
Rochester	5	6	1
Syracuse	6	6	2

Batteries—McKeough and Meakin, Townsend and Fitzgerald.

At Providence—

	R.	H.	E.
Providence	7	11	2
New Haven	2	6	1

Batteries—Ryan and Hines, Stein and Gruber.

The League Record.

Club.	W.	L.	Pct.	Club.	W.	L.	Pct.
Boston	29	12	.707	New York	24	20	.545
Brooklyn	29	13	.690	Philadelphia	20	22	.476
Pittsburg	26	15	.634	Cincinnati	17	25	.405
Chicago	25	20	.556	Washington	16	25	.410
Cleveland	24	20	.545	St. Louis	14	31	.311

Eastern League Record.

Clubs.	W.	L.	Pct.	Clubs.	W.	L.	Pct.
Providence	21	7	.750	Albany	14	17	.452
Rochester	20	12	.625	Binghamton	11	15	.423
Buffalo	19	12	.613	Syracuse	11	19	.367
New Haven	17	15	.567	Troy	10	19	.357
Syracuse	15	12	.556	Buffalo	4	21	.160

To Isolate the Lepers.

NEW ORLEANS, June 13.—The authorities of this state are about taking steps to prevent the spread of leprosy. The disease has prevailed here from the earliest days of the French settlers. There are now 250 lepers in the state and about thirty in New Orleans. The new law which it is proposed to enact will provide that all persons afflicted with leprosy shall be confined in an institution isolated and used solely for persons afflicted with the disease.

Insulted President Carnot.

PARIS, June 13.—As President Carnot was leaving Longchamps, between double lines of troops, a man who had forced his way mounted at him, shouting "Wooden head!" and giving utterance to other abuse. They spoke with a foreign accent. Before they could be arrested the crowd had nearly lynched them.

Reward for Miss Anderson's Slayer.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., June 13.—The mystery surrounding the death of Hester Mary Anderson seems no nearer solution. The mayor of Perth Amboy has offered a reward of $500 for the apprehension of the murderer. Mr. Boynton will also offer a further reward of $500.

Budapest a Royal Residence.

VIENNA, June 13.—Emperor Franz Joseph has made Budapest, the capital of Hungary, a royal residence, as an acknowledgment of the warm welcome the Hungarians gave him during the recent celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his accession to the Hungarian throne.

Hungarians Have Celebrated.

NEW HAVEN, June 13.—The purchase of the control of the Housatonic railroad by J. Pierpont Morgan and William Rockefeller is confirmed by the lease of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company.

Murdered by Italians.

MASON'S FERRY, O., June 13.—Henry Naylor, of Bridgeport, was murdered by Italians. His body was found lying on the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling railroad and cut to pieces. Nine Italians have been arrested.

Noises to Die by Electricity.

ALTOONA, June 13.—Walter Nelson, who lured his wife into a dark alleyway and then cut her throat, was sentenced to be executed at Clinton prison within the week beginning July 24.

Deputy Coroner Dunlin Dead.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Deputy Coroner Dr. Philip E. Dunlin, who was found unconscious beside the New York Central railroad tracks near Fordham, died in the Fordham hospital.

A Cornell Senior Drowned.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 13.—Clinton S. Strong, of Cleveland, a member of the junior class of Cornell university, was drowned while bathing.

HE WANTED A RICH WIFE.

Bookkeeper Meglier Asks for One of the Vanderbilt Girls.

NEW YORK, June 13.—In his search for an heiress wife Bookkeeper Joseph P. Meglier wrote several letters to Mrs. W. H. Vanderbilt asking for the hand of one of her granddaughters. One of Meglier's letters follows:

"TOWANDA, Pa., June 9, 1892.

"MRS. WM. H. VANDERBILT, Fifth avenue, New York.

"DEAR MADAM, Being once in a while, of an audacious turn of mind, I assume the privilege of introducing myself, to your honored self. I was born in the City of New York from Parents, hailing from Germany. On the 17th June 1849, and left the said City for the Pacific Coast in April, 1875, after being in the service of various N. Y. City firms for 9 or 10 years in succession.

"At the present time I am one of the bookkeepers with the General Mine Firm of Meier & Frank—who have the said firm employed for nearly 6½ years past. I will mention that there was sent to me, a New York paper, dated the 8th inst., and yesterday I had the pleasure of reading in it a very interesting sketch of your very amiable and distinguished family consisting in the number of nineteen grandchildren.

"Now as I am a high fabricator years of age, but as active as a boy of fifteen, I would ask of you Dear Lady, whether you would grant my humble request for one of your pretty friend Daughters for me as I positively acknowledge I would be a very good Husband to her.

"In hoping, Dear good lady, to hear from you at your convenient leisure, I will subscribe myself most "Respectfully and Truly Yours,

"JOSEPH P. MEGLIER,
"Portland, Ore.

"For the approaching New Year I tender you my heartiest well wishes."

The Fourth at Woodstock.

WOODSTOCK, Conn., June 13.—The committee of the Fourth of July in Woodstock park, Woodstock, promises to be one of the most attractive of the series, which began twenty-two years ago—1870—when President Grant was present. Everything will be called to order and an address of welcome made by Congressman Charles A. Russell, of Connecticut. Senator O. H. Platt, of Connecticut, will act as presiding officer of the day. An address will follow by the secretary of the navy, Hon. B. F. Tracy. An original poem, Ode for the Fourth, will be read by Professor William C. Wilkinson, of the Chicago university. Senator W. P. Frye, of Maine, will follow with an address on "The Republic and Peace." The balance of the programme arranged is as follows: Address, "Freedom a Growth," by Attorney General W. H. A. Miller; address, "Our Indian Fellow Citizens," by Colonel Thomas L. Morgan, commissioner of Indian affairs; address, "The Press," by Colonel Eliot F. Shepard; address, "Immigration," by Congressman Charles Q. Tirrell, of Massachusetts; address, "The West," by Hon. John V. Farwell, merchant, of Chicago.

Mrs. Stone's Funeral.

NEWBURG, N. Y., June 13.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Alice Stone, of Marlborough, who committed suicide in Mexico, took place here Sunday. The services were held in the house of ex-Deacon Chester P. Stone, the father-in-law of Mrs. M. Stone, who is at present in Mexico. Mr. Stone was present, and seemed to be utterly unmoved. The feeling against Mr. Stone is intense, and it is understood that E. J. Smith, the dead woman's brother, has said that if the law does nothing he will punish the ex-deacon. It is said that in a letter left by Mrs. Stone she said that Mr. Stone advised her to commit suicide.

She Will Not Marry Foley.

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., June 13.—Miss McMahon, who was assaulted by negro "Bob" Lewis, is very indignant over the presumption of Foley, who says that he is her accepted lover and who, it is charged, induced Lewis to assault her. Foley wrote her father from Goshen jail, requesting her advice to her. Miss McMahon spurns his proposition, and says she will prosecute the blacksmithing charges and appear against Foley.

Fell Four Stories and Lives.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Seldom does a baby fall from a fourth story window to the street and escape with its life, but one did at 87 Goerck street. The heroine of the thrilling adventure is little Sadie Solomon, who is but four years old. She fell into a baby carriage, bounded out and tumbled with the big bag of pastry Mary Goldberg, comparatively unhurt.

Justice Bradley's Successor.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 13.—George V. Massey, of this state, who so strongly advocated the interests of President Harrison at the Minneapolis convention, has received from Washington what has been officially notified that he will receive the judgeship on the supreme bench made vacant by the death of Justice Bradley.

To Call on the Militia.

MARQUETTE, Mich., June 13.—The report of a riot at the Osceola mine was untrue. When an attempt is made to resume work trouble is looked for, and the militia will be called before Tuesday, when the sheriff will call on Colonel Lyon, of the Fifth regiment, state troops, to give him assistance.

Ready for Cleveland and Boies.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 13.—The delegation from this state to the Democratic national convention has decided to support Governor Boies, of Iowa, for vice president. They are solid for Grover Cleveland for president, but they say they will be ready to have Boies on that ticket.

Jerry Simpson Has Arrived.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 13.—Jerry Simpson was signified to Governor Humphrey that he would be ready to receive the notification of his nomination for congress on Wednesday next. Governor Humphrey will call on Jerry at Kansas City, Kan., and they will go from there to Olathe. There is a lively fight in the Atchison district over the nomination.

Whitelaw Reid Congratulated.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Whitelaw Reid passed Sunday at Ogden Mills' Staatsburg residence, receiving many visitors and the guests and managers congratulating him upon his nomination for the vice presidency.

Newark's New Church.

NEWARK, N. J., June 13.—The New Roman Catholic church of Sacred Heart was dedicated today. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Wigger, assisted by the Rev. Fathers Colly and Lockard, of Newark.

Against Parkhurst's Methods.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The Rev. Father Pardow, of St. Francis Xavier's church, preached against Dr. Parkhurst's methods.

Big Theater Burned.

GRAND RAPIDS, June 13.—Powers' Opera house, the leading theater in western Michigan, was destroyed by fire. Loss, $50,000.

To Attend the Silver Conference.

VIENNA, June 13.—The government of Austro-Hungary has decided to send a delegate to the silver conference.

CARRIAGES and HARNESS.
$15.00
Buys hand made rubber mounted harness.
$100.00
Buys canopy top, natural wood surrey.
Prices and styles to suit all.
SWIFT SADDLERIES.
RYERSON,
33 SOMERSET STREET.

PIPTONIZED
Beef, Iron and Wine
50c.
Per Pint Bottle.
at
WILLIAMS'

BOEHM
Will sell for THIS WEEK ONLY,
Good Matting at 10c.
per yard (by the roll). Largest stock of Carpets, Oil Cloths and Mattings in the city.
Special Low Prices
on Millinery, Dress Goods and Spring Jackets this week.
Agency for King's Dyeing of Co., Easton, Pa.
No. 7 West Front Street.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,
Carpenter
and
General Jobber,
SHOP
35 Jackson Avenue.
Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet
MAKER.
Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished
ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.
John Peterson,
SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.
Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,
MASONS and BUILDERS.
28 East Front Street.
First-class work guaranteed.
Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,
MASON AND BUILDER,
Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect street.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
P. O. Box 88.

PIERSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters
and Builders.
W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 7 Vine street.
All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,
PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.
All orders for jobbing promptly attended to.
Residence—Grandview avenue.
P. O. Box 52.

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter & Builder.
Residence—Clinton avenue, near Second.
P. O. Box 1239.
Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. P. HUFFMAN,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Residence—64 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.
Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ABBOTT,
Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to. Corner new and Park streets, Plainfield, N. J. Residence, Front street. Interior hard wood work. P. O. Box 854.

JOHN HERRMANN,
Manufacturer of and dealer in hard wood mantel pieces, sheep counters, grates and tile hearths. Shop corner of Grand and Second streets, Plainfield, N. J.
P. HERRMANN, Chicago store.

GARDEN
FLOWER & LAWN
Seeds and Fertilizers.
Special Lawn Seeds for shady and dry lawns.
GARDEN TOOLS
and
Lawn Mowers.
WATER PIPING AND PLUMBING.
Tinwork, Hardware and Housefurnishings.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
15 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 8.

GEORGE VOEHL,
the
CONFECTIONER,
is now prepared to furnish
Parties & Receptions
with Delicious
ICE CREAM
in bricks.
15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.
Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,
DECORATORS
and
PAINTERS.
Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—26 East Front street.

Joseph T. Sullivan,
No. 66 West Third Street,
Dealer in Choice
Wines, Liquors, etc.
BEER ON DRAUGHT.

V. L. FRAZEE,
GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES
25 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE
45 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.
45 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.
Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,
REAL ESTATE AND FIRE INSURANCE
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE
NO. 45 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,
FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE,
General Hardware and Housefurnishing
LAWN MOWERS,
(Six Varieties.)
Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,
ICE CREAM FREEZERS.
Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : : - - - - NOT A SCHEME!
TO RECEIVE A
CASH DISCOUNT,
in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of
R. W. RICE & CO.,
GROCERS, 48 EMILY STREET.
Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
Successors to
The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,
Dealers in
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
49 to 69 PARK AVENUE.
Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.
A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice
Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,
BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of
PORTERS AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.
If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any of the first-class wholesale houses in New York City.
F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor Dealer.
Telephone Co. 187.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.
Central Railroad of New Jersey.
(THE PORT READING R. R. CO., LESSEE.)
Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time Table in effect May 15, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

PLAINFIELD AND REMSEN.

LEHIGH VALLEY RAILROAD.
Leave Plainfield at 5.20, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 9.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 1.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30 p. m. Sundays at 1.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30 p. m.
Leave Dunellen at 5.28, 6.38, 7.38, 8.08, 9.38 a. m., 12.08 noon, 1.38, 3.38, 4.38, 5.38, 6.38, 7.38, 8.38, 9.38, 10.38 p. m. Sundays at 1.38, 3.38, 4.38, 5.38, 6.38, 7.38, 8.38, 9.38, 10.38 p. m.
Leave Bound Brook at 5.35, 6.45, 7.45, 8.15, 9.45 a. m., 12.15, 1.45, 3.45, 4.45, 5.45, 6.45, 7.45, 8.45, 9.45, 10.45 p. m. Sundays at 1.45, 3.45, 4.45, 5.45, 6.45, 7.45, 8.45, 9.45, 10.45 p. m.
Leave Somerville at 5.40, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 9.50 a. m., 12.20, 1.50, 3.50, 4.50, 5.50, 6.50, 7.50, 8.50, 9.50, 10.50 p. m. Sundays at 1.50, 3.50, 4.50, 5.50, 6.50, 7.50, 8.50, 9.50, 10.50 p. m.
Leave Manville at 5.45, 6.55, 7.55, 8.25, 9.55 a. m., 12.25, 1.55, 3.55, 4.55, 5.55, 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55 p. m. Sundays at 1.55, 3.55, 4.55, 5.55, 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55 p. m.
Leave Bridgewater at 5.50, 7.00, 8.00, 8.30, 10.00 a. m., 12.30, 2.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m. Sundays at 2.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m.
Leave Raritan at 5.55, 7.05, 8.05, 8.35, 10.05 a. m., 12.35, 2.05, 4.05, 5.05, 6.05, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 p. m. Sundays at 2.05, 4.05, 5.05, 6.05, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 p. m.
Leave Bonhamtown at 6.00, 7.10, 8.10, 8.40, 10.10 a. m., 12.40, 2.10, 4.10, 5.10, 6.10, 7.10, 8.10, 9.10, 10.10, 11.10 p. m. Sundays at 2.10, 4.10, 5.10, 6.10, 7.10, 8.10, 9.10, 10.10, 11.10 p. m.
Leave Three Bridges at 6.05, 7.15, 8.15, 8.45, 10.15 a. m., 12.45, 2.15, 4.15, 5.15, 6.15, 7.15, 8.15, 9.15, 10.15, 11.15 p. m. Sundays at 2.15, 4.15, 5.15, 6.15, 7.15, 8.15, 9.15, 10.15, 11.15 p. m.
Leave Flemington at 6.15, 7.25, 8.25, 8.55, 10.25 a. m., 12.55, 2.25, 4.25, 5.25, 6.25, 7.25, 8.25, 9.25, 10.25, 11.25 p. m. Sundays at 2.25, 4.25, 5.25, 6.25, 7.25, 8.25, 9.25, 10.25, 11.25 p. m.
Leave Lambertville at 6.30, 7.40, 8.40, 9.10, 10.40 a. m., 1.10, 2.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 7.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m. Sundays at 2.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 7.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m.
Leave Trenton at 6.45, 7.55, 8.55, 9.25, 10.55 a. m., 1.25, 2.55, 4.55, 5.55, 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55 p. m. Sundays at 2.55, 4.55, 5.55, 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55 p. m.
Leave Philadelphia at 7.50, 9.00, 10.00, 10.30, 12.00 noon, 2.30, 4.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00, 12.00 p. m. Sundays at 4.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00, 12.00 p. m.
Arrive at New York at 10.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 1.30, 3.00, 4.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.30 night. Sundays at 3.00, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.30 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.
Leave Plainfield at 5.20, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 9.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 1.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30 p. m. Sundays at 1.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30 p. m.
Leave Dunellen at 5.28, 6.38, 7.38, 8.08, 9.38 a. m., 12.08 noon, 1.38, 3.38, 4.38, 5.38, 6.38, 7.38, 8.38, 9.38, 10.38 p. m. Sundays at 1.38, 3.38, 4.38, 5.38, 6.38, 7.38, 8.38, 9.38, 10.38 p. m.
Leave Bound Brook at 5.35, 6.45, 7.45, 8.15, 9.45 a. m., 12.15, 1.45, 3.45, 4.45, 5.45, 6.45, 7.45, 8.45, 9.45, 10.45 p. m. Sundays at 1.45, 3.45, 4.45, 5.45, 6.45, 7.45, 8.45, 9.45, 10.45 p. m.
Leave Somerville at 5.40, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 9.50 a. m., 12.20, 1.50, 3.50, 4.50, 5.50, 6.50, 7.50, 8.50, 9.50, 10.50 p. m. Sundays at 1.50, 3.50, 4.50, 5.50, 6.50, 7.50, 8.50, 9.50, 10.50 p. m.
Leave Manville at 5.45, 6.55, 7.55, 8.25, 9.55 a. m., 12.25, 1.55, 3.55, 4.55, 5.55, 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55 p. m. Sundays at 1.55, 3.55, 4.55, 5.55, 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55 p. m.
Leave Bridgewater at 5.50, 7.00, 8.00, 8.30, 10.00 a. m., 12.30, 2.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m. Sundays at 2.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m.
Leave Raritan at 5.55, 7.05, 8.05, 8.35, 10.05 a. m., 12.35, 2.05, 4.05, 5.05, 6.05, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 p. m. Sundays at 2.05, 4.05, 5.05, 6.05, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 p. m.
Leave Bonhamtown at 6.00, 7.10, 8.10, 8.40, 10.10 a. m., 12.40, 2.10, 4.10, 5.10, 6.10, 7.10, 8.10, 9.10, 10.10, 11.10 p. m. Sundays at 2.10, 4.10, 5.10, 6.10, 7.10, 8.10, 9.10, 10.10, 11.10 p. m.
Leave Three Bridges at 6.05, 7.15, 8.15, 8.45, 10.15 a. m., 12.45, 2.15, 4.15, 5.15, 6.15, 7.15, 8.15, 9.15, 10.15, 11.15 p. m. Sundays at 2.15, 4.15, 5.15, 6.15, 7.15, 8.15, 9.15, 10.15, 11.15 p. m.
Leave Flemington at 6.15, 7.25, 8.25, 8.55, 10.25 a. m., 12.55, 2.25, 4.25, 5.25, 6.25, 7.25, 8.25, 9.25, 10.25, 11.25 p. m. Sundays at 2.25, 4.25, 5.25, 6.25, 7.25, 8.25, 9.25, 10.25, 11.25 p. m.
Leave Lambertville at 6.30, 7.40, 8.40, 9.10, 10.40 a. m., 1.10, 2.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 7.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m. Sundays at 2.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 7.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m.
Leave Trenton at 6.45, 7.55, 8.55, 9.25, 10.55 a. m., 1.25, 2.55, 4.55, 5.55, 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55 p. m. Sundays at 2.55, 4.55, 5.55, 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55 p. m.
Leave Philadelphia at 7.50, 9.00, 10.00, 10.30, 12.00 noon, 2.30, 4.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00, 12.00 p. m. Sundays at 4.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00, 12.00 p. m.
Arrive at New York at 10.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 1.30, 3.00, 4.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.30 night. Sundays at 3.00, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.30 night.

PLAINFIELD AND RAHWAY.
Leave Plainfield at 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 9.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 1.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30 p. m. Sundays at 1.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30 p. m.
Leave Rahway at 6.45, 7.45, 8.15, 9.45 a. m., 12.15, 1.45, 3.45, 4.45, 5.45, 6.45, 7.45, 8.45, 9.45, 10.45 p. m. Sundays at 1.45, 3.45, 4.45, 5.45, 6.45, 7.45, 8.45, 9.45, 10.45 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PHILADELPHIA.
8.10 a. m. for Pennsylvania Express, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Harrisburg, Williamsport, Renovo, Erie, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Rochester, Canandaigua, Elmira, Waverly, Binghamton, Oswego, Syracuse, Utica, Rome, Watertown, Ogdensburg, Montreal, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit

COST OF A WEDDING.

THE MANY EXPENSES THAT MAKE MARRIAGE FORMIDABLE.

What a Church Wedding is a City Means to the Parents of the Bride—The Groom's Share in the Enormous Total. Provoking Details About the Service.

Years ago a wedding was the all absorbing topic in the community in which it was celebrated. Simplicity was the mode in those days, as magnificence is in these days. Now even the most elaborate of weddings passes with but little comment. This covering to the increased wealth of people of fashion and the desire for display rather than to avoid it, as was in keeping with Puritan ideas. People of limited means have no idea of the immense cost of the large weddings; for they do not fall into the clutches, so to speak, of the high priced florist or the caterer. If one must be fashionable, however, he must pay the piper, and if one desires to introduce an innovation at his marriage he must go to those who are satisfied to sit their various limit. The most charming weddings are those celebrated at home; particularly if one has a country home, for country weddings are the acme of perfection. They cannot be equaled. Speaking of the collation, the great feature of course is the wedding cake, and as there is plenty of room for everything in the house the witnesses present are making the most of their chances. At the Deming-Moire wedding the cake boxes were unique and unusually handsome. They resembled jewel caskets more than pasteboard boxes. The tops were of satin and puffed, and had the monogram S. D. painted by hand. The ordinary cake box will cost filled about $12. Such elaborate boxes of course cost much more.

The outfit of the bride and groom cannot be described, for it is of course owing to the condition in life of the bride's parents or her future husband. One young woman who was married lately and had a very handsome outfit, valued at $75 for her bridal gown, and it was very handsome. Two traveling gowns cost $75 each, and bonnets to match $15 each. In her trousseau were one dozen pairs of stockings costing $1 a pair, four pairs of shoes at $5, three pairs of corsets at $2, showing that one cannot be extravagant in all things. The price set by the organists is $25, although many of them insist on a fee of $50. This is for less than one half hour's playing. In most cases the organist will refuse to allow any other organist to occupy his bench, even if the applicant be a friend of the contracting parties and desires to play for them as a compliment. It is $20 or more. At a wedding last year the groom desired a friend of his—a famous organist—to play. The organist refused, and it was only after the rector of the church had been appealed to and used his authority that he gave his consent.

The cost of elaborately decorating a large church (fully $1,000) is so heavy that palms and a small collection of potted plants can generally be had, costing about $200. Some of the larger churches have such handsome chancels that but little if any decorations are needed. The policeman at the door and they are always necessary) should receive a fee of $5. If he can have six ushers and maids under the maid of honor, and the best man, nine carriages will be needed, one each for the bridesmaids. Never put more than two in one carriage, as crowding will crush their gowns. These carriages will cost $5 each. Of course the groom pays for his own carriage.

The only cost to the groom of a wedding is his carriage, the officiating clergyman, the bride's bouquet and the presents to the ushers. The bride's bouquet will cost about $50. That is the average cost, although of course one can pay any amount he pleases, from $25 up. The immense innovation in bouquets is the English plan of having them made of smaller bouquets, a number equal to the bridesmaids. To one section is attached a diamond ring, and when going away after the reception the bride distributes the bouquet, it being presumed that the one securing the ring will wed within the year. The boutonnieres for the groom will cost $5, while those for the ushers will cost about $1.50 each. The gloves will cost $1.75 per pair and the scarfs, if it be an afternoon wedding, about $2 each. The bunches of roses for the bridesmaids will cost about $25 each, depending of course on the size and variety of the flowers.

For the reception following, which generally lasts about two hours, the floral decorations will cost about $500, which includes a canopy, under which the bride and groom will stand, and general decorations of the house. The collation will consist of seven pieces and they will receive $10 each. The caterer will supply the collation, served from a buffet, at about $1 per plate, not including wines, which are extra. Speaking of the collation, the great feature of course is the wedding cake, and as there is plenty of room for everything in the house the witnesses present are making the most of their chances. At the Deming-Moire wedding the cake boxes were unique and unusually handsome. They resembled jewel caskets more than pasteboard boxes. The tops were of satin and puffed, and had the monogram S. D. painted by hand. The ordinary cake box will cost filled about $12. Such elaborate boxes of course cost much more.

The outfit of the bride and groom cannot be described, for it is of course owing to the condition in life of the bride's parents or her future husband. One young woman who was married lately and had a very handsome outfit, valued at $75 for her bridal gown, and it was very handsome. Two traveling gowns cost $75 each, and bonnets to match $15 each. In her trousseau were one dozen pairs of stockings costing $1 a pair, four pairs of shoes at $5, three pairs of corsets at $2, showing that one cannot be extravagant in all things. The price set by the organists is $25, although many of them insist on a fee of $50. This is for less than one half hour's playing. In most cases the organist will refuse to allow any other organist to occupy his bench, even if the applicant be a friend of the contracting parties and desires to play for them as a compliment. It is $20 or more. At a wedding last year the groom desired a friend of his—a famous organist—to play. The organist refused, and it was only after the rector of the church had been appealed to and used his authority that he gave his consent.

The cost of elaborately decorating a large church (fully $1,000) is so heavy that palms and a small collection of potted plants can generally be had, costing about $200. Some of the larger churches have such handsome chancels that but little if any decorations are needed. The policeman at the door and they are always necessary) should receive a fee of $5. If he can have six ushers and maids under the maid of honor, and the best man, nine carriages will be needed, one each for the bridesmaids. Never put more than two in one carriage, as crowding will crush their gowns. These carriages will cost $5 each.

GOOD HEALTH

FOOD BEFORE SLEEP.

A Light Meal Before Retiring Advised for the Weakly and Sleepless.

Many persons, though not actually sick, have a below par in strength and general tone. Dr. W. T. Cathell expresses the opinion in The Maryland Medical Journal that fasting during the long interval between supper and breakfast, and especially the complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep, adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, debility and general weakness we so often meet. He says:

All beings except man are governed by natural instinct, and every being with a stomach except man, eats before sleeping; even the mammal infant, guided by the same instinct, seeks frequently day and night, and if its stomach is empty for any prolonged period it cries for food.

Digestion requires no interval of rest, and if the amount of food during the twenty-four hours is in quantity and quality sufficient to nourish the body and keep it in health, it makes no material difference to the stomach how few or how short are the intervals between eating, but it does make a very different thing in the physiological condition of the body to have a bushelful of food in the stomach during the time of sleep, that, instead of digesting it, as it should, it only ferments, and thereby destroys a large portion of it. Then, too, the fermentation of the food in the stomach during sleep, and especially during the early hours of the night, is not conducive to healthy action, and does not tend to refresh the nervous system.

I am fully satisfied that many who weakly, the emaciated and the sleepless to slightly take a light meal or meal of simple, nutritious food before going to bed for a prolonged period, also in the latter would be thereby lifted into a better standard of health.

Extraordinary Longevity.

A Vienna correspondent tells of a remarkable case of longevity. Persons in Hadikties of Moravia, aged, if his documents are to be accredited, to at present the "lions" of. His still works in his vineyard and goes to the neighborhood fairs, always in the chaise is "two hours" distant from his home. His eyes are still good and enable him to see at a distance. His digestive apparatus is still strong and healthy, and he does not have to be cut that they may not choke his sight. His likes to talk of old times, and tells interesting stories. His mother died aged 120, but his father died young. After this another case reported by a Paris correspondent must decidedly take a second place. A retired tradesman named Wirth was buried recently, having died in Paris at the age of 104. She had always lived in the Eleventh arrondissement, which is not thought the healthiest in Paris.

Buttermilk Toddy.

Buttermilk is in much greater demand as a summer beverage than sweet milk. As a therapeutical agent it is now near to the sick person when nothing else is allowed. It is a powerful nerve tonic. Buttermilk is now considered better than sweet milk for persons inclined to dyspepsia, because one of the difficulties of milk—its slow digestive qualities—is removed at once, as buttermilk has already gone through one process of digestion. Iced buttermilk is a fashionable fad now. Ladies offer a glass of buttermilk to their friends in summer just as they do the "cup of tea" in the winter.—Field and Farm

This Date in History—June 13.

31—Cneius Julius Agricola, the Roman commander who completed the conquest of Britain, born in Provence; died 93. his son-in-law Tacitus wrote his life.

1455—Earl Rivers, Lord Scap, Sir Thomas Vaughan and Sir Richard Haven murdered by order of the Duke of Gloucester, afterward Richard III.

1788—Mme. D'Arblay (Frances Burney), English novelist, born at Lynn; died 1840; her best novel, "Evelina," is supposed to have been the greatest success of any author's first work.

1789—General Winfield Scott was born near Petersburg, Va.; died 1866.

1820—Called election in Maryland to choose congressmen for the extraordinary session of congress, on account of delay in the admission of Union majority.

1864—Grant abandoned his York and Chickahominy lines and moved to the James.

A Philosopher Puzzled.

The proprietor of a tanyard determined to build a set of stand or shop for the part of the year when his leather stored, and even the smallest infant, guided by the same instinct, seeks frequently day and night, and if its stomach is empty for any prolonged period it cries for food.

Digestion requires no interval of rest, and if the amount of food during the twenty-four hours is in quantity and quality sufficient to nourish the body and keep it in health, it makes no material difference to the stomach how few or how short are the intervals between eating, but it does make a very different thing in the physiological condition of the body to have a bushelful of food in the stomach during the time of sleep, that, instead of digesting it, as it should, it only ferments, and thereby destroys a large portion of it. Then, too, the fermentation of the food in the stomach during the early hours of the night, is not conducive to healthy action, and does not tend to refresh the nervous system.

I am fully satisfied that many who weakly, the emaciated and the sleepless to slightly take a light meal or meal of simple, nutritious food before going to bed for a prolonged period, also in the latter would be thereby lifted into a better standard of health.

Extraordinary Longevity.

A Vienna correspondent tells of a remarkable case of longevity. Persons in Hadikties of Moravia, aged, if his documents are to be accredited, to at present the "lions" of. His still works in his vineyard and goes to the neighborhood fairs, always in the chaise is "two hours" distant from his home. His eyes are still good and enable him to see at a distance. His digestive apparatus is still strong and healthy, and he does not have to be cut that they may not choke his sight. His likes to talk of old times, and tells interesting stories. His mother died aged 120, but his father died young. After this another case reported by a Paris correspondent must decidedly take a second place. A retired tradesman named Wirth was buried recently, having died in Paris at the age of 104. She had always lived in the Eleventh arrondissement, which is not thought the healthiest in Paris.

Buttermilk Toddy.

Buttermilk is in much greater demand as a summer beverage than sweet milk. As a therapeutical agent it is now near to the sick person when nothing else is allowed. It is a powerful nerve tonic. Buttermilk is now considered better than sweet milk for persons inclined to dyspepsia, because one of the difficulties of milk—its slow digestive qualities—is removed at once, as buttermilk has already gone through one process of digestion. Iced buttermilk is a fashionable fad now. Ladies offer a glass of buttermilk to their friends in summer just as they do the "cup of tea" in the winter.—Field and Farm

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE.

INFORMATION NECESSARY FOR THE PRACTICAL HOUSEKEEPER.

Pests That Cannot be Found Elsewhere—The Experiences of Others Versely Told—Receipts That Should be Carefully Kept in a Scrap Book.

Housecleaning, to be a success, must be done systematically. There should be a regulary clearing of the small things before the housecleaning proper begins. To bent the carpets, use a horse whip. To take spots out, rub the carpet with sprits of of ammonia diluted with water. To clean, mix an ox-gall with double its bulk of water. Rub on the carpet with a sponge, gently to produce a lather, then wash off with clean water, dry it with linen cloths. Then lay it on the grass to dry.

HOUSEKEEPER'S ODDS AND ENDS.

Chloride of lime is a sure preventative for rats.

An excellent way to clean old boots is to rub it with a brush saturated with household ammonia.

A few drops of turpentine sprinkled where cockroaches congregate will entice infinite Vices at once. Moths also flee from the odor of it.

To clean paint never use a cloth, but take a flannel and a soft hair or bristle brush. A sponge dipped into soda and water and rubbed on the paint quickly will clean it thoroughly.

To wash lawn or thin muslin, boil two quarts of bran in three quarts of water for half an hour. Strain through a coarse towel and mix in the water in which the muslin is to be washed. Use no soap and no starch. Rinse lightly in luke water. This preparation both cleanses and stiffens the lawn.

A CONVENIENT BOOKCASE.

It Will Hold Books While the Top is Used as a Table.

Many handy bookcases to have in the house is a long, low one, the top of which can be utilized for books, bric-a-brac, a writing desk or whatever one may choose to put upon it.

The best places for these bookcases is in the space alongside the mantelpiece between the chimney breast and the wall, or the mantelpiece and the wall. There are always a couple of spaces that may be nicely utilized in this way without taking up any of the space needed for moving about.

Have a carpenter measure the length between your mantelpiece and your window, and then order a case of that length. A bookcase that will just fit in the space. When he comes to put it in place, let him take out the washboard or baseboard, and then the bookcase can be built against the wall, leaving no space behind it for books or bric-a-brac to slip down and be lost for months.

Let the bookcase be just high like the mantelpiece and just as broad as your room will allow. You will find that six or eight feet will not be too broad for your purpose. Then when you have tired of it after you have once got it in place and find that how convenient it is. Decorate the edges of the shelves with neatly-fitted lambrequins, put on with gilt tacks, and then put in it all the family supply of books. You need not fill the shelves full, and, in fact, you will find that it is much better not to do so, because you will want plenty of space to add books, and you will also find the shelves are very handy for setting extra things that are in the way and yet cannot be banished from the room.

THE PINCHED BOOKCASE.

Knitting may be laid in security upon the bookcase shelf, while such things as the last new book about books and writing materials, if only one is not at hand for the purpose, find the most excellent lodgment here. On top of the bookcase put the inevitable vase of flowers, a clock, a stand and, indeed, anything that will serve as ornaments. A pot of growing plants may be placed upon the bookcase, if so desired.

But it is really unnecessary to tell the owner of such a bookcase of its possibilities, because, having once placed such a piece of furniture in the room, the many ways of using it will come up that the question will be what cannot be put upon the bookcase rather than what can be put there.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Mucorni at Its Best.

Mucorni should be soaked in about eight times its bulk of water, and should be plunged in when the water is boiling hard. It should be allowed to boil rapidly for twenty-five minutes. It should then be drained and sprinkled with a little salt and about four tablespoonfuls of Parmesan cheese to a quarter of a pound of Mucorni. Heat up a can of tomato puree. Talk some olive oil and strained at the best Italian grocery stores in case of about the size of a can of French peas. To heat up the puree, fry a clove of garlic or a piece of onion in a tablespoonful of lard. Add a tablespoonful of flour. Remove the garlic or onion and let the flour brown in the butter. Stir in the tomato puree and when it is thoroughly heated, pour it over the macaroni. This tomato puree is made of a certain little red tomato, which is raised in Italy and which has an especially firm flesh.

Woman's Way.

A woman is a queer thing:
She starts with but a dime,
And shops all day. Yet strange to say
She rarely spends a time.

You do not understand how this Can be. Yet wait until Next month from every place she's been
You get a dunning bill.

Then, as you gnash your teeth, you will
In agony exclaim:
"A woman is a funny thing.
But gets there just the same."
—Clark Review.

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION.
1873. Membership 158,000. 1892.
Death benefits paid over $6,000,000 since organization.
Golden Rule Lodge, 509, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Thursdays, at eight o'clock, in Knights of Honor Hall Building.
Immediate relief, $100, sick benefits per week $5.
JOHN A. VARALETTE, Dictator.
RALPH A. TOMPKINS, Reporter.
Washington Commandery, No. 34, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight p. m.

Hotels.

Caspar's Hotel,
24 & 26 E. Front St
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Transient and Family Boarders taken at
Reasonable ‡ Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.
PLAINFIELD.
Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.
☞ First-class bar attached.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE,
Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and William V. Milbery. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. Flowerless accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
CORNER
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Kline's Extracts,
Pure Fruit Flavors.

We are getting away with lots of Russet Shoes this month—now is the time to buy them.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S,
22 West Front Street.

P. S.—Our $3 shoe never takes a back seat.

IF!

A poor article is dear at any price. A good article is cheap at any price.
The Duluth Imperial Flour is the best in the world and the prices are right.
Insist on having it from your grocer, or apply to

FRENCH BROTHERS,
TELEPHONE 34. 8, 10 and 12 SOMERSET STREET.

Auction Sale of Valuable Real Estate.
I have been authorized to sell the property of Ira Watkins place,
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 15, 1892,
on the premises at 2 o'clock p. m.
Lot 66x180, with two-story French roof house with all modern improvements, in first-class order.
Large stable and carriage house; macadamized drive to the street. Is a very desirable property, being in a first-class neighborhood. Five minutes' walk from main depot, school and churches. This will be a grand opportunity for some one to get a cheap home. Terms easy and will be sold without reserve or limit. For further information inquire of
T. J. CAREY, - Auctioneer.
76 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING
WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER
One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.
Whole Suits from $5 up.
Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.
C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.
70 WEST FRONT STREET.

The Time
has come when all should buy their
CLOTHING AT HOME
providing they can get Quality, Style and Fit, that is good and cheap. Take the Acme Tailoring Co.
guarantee to do, and produce a Perfect Fit or no Sale.
We have the Largest Assortment of
CLOTHS & CASSIMERES
in the State. Our store is Exclusively devoted to Merchant Tailoring.
Kindly give us a call for Inspection.
Acme Tailoring Co.,
No. 19 West Front Street.
John H. French, Pres. and Treas.
Walter C. Limberger, Sec. 3 31 3m

THE BEE HIVE!
Summer Underwear.
Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.
Ladies' ribbed vests, in high neck, short sleeves and long sleeves, 25c.
Ladies' gauze vests, in short and long sleeves, 25c.
Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed, gauze and medium weight.
Men's balbriggan shirts, in long and short sleeves, and drawers to match, 25c.
Men's Summer Merino shirts and drawers, 50, 75 and 85c.
Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, 5c.
Children's Summer merino and gauze vests, in short and long sleeves also pantaloons, sizes 16, 18c; 20, 22c; 24, 26c; 28, 30c; 32, 34c; 36, 38c; 40, 42c; 44, 46c; 48, 50c.
A full line of Parasols, Lace caps, white and colored hosiery, long and short fashionable gloves.
Louis Callman,
40 West Front Street.

C. DICKINSON,
PRACTICAL
OPTICIAN
and
JEWELER.
Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Agent for the American
Rambler Bicycles.
No. 12 Park avenue.

13c. Buys a New Broom at V. and W.'s
Wash Dress Fabric.
Our assortment is considered the finest ever displayed in this city. We have on sale 36 inches Cotton Crepe Cloth at 12½; Imperial Cloth at 15c., Cotelines at 17c., Satines at 17, 19 and 25c., Batistes at 10 and 12c. for the fine even Scotch Gingham at 12c., terrycloth at 10c.
For Twenty-eight Cents
We will sell 75 dozen extra fine Out-ot-Covers made of Lonsdale Cambric and Hamburg Trimming.
Spring Coats.
We are anxious to close our our stock this coming week and to do it we have reduced every garment one third in former price.
For Twelve Cents
We are selling an extra good Ribbed Vest, cheap at 18c.
Cheviot Cloth
Is a very fine corded French Dress material, that is specially adapted for afternoon wear. They come in all the new fancy colorings and you will surely like them. Price 12c.
Porch Screen
Are very handy to have when you want to sit out on your porch these hot days. We have them in all sizes from 25c. to $1.50.
For Five Cents Each
We will sell 50 dozen fine thin tumblers, former price 25 cents.
For Ten Cents
You buy Curtain Poles all complete. This is a fine variegated pole and is far better than any pole ever sold at these prices.
Van Emburgh & White.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,
OF PLAINFIELD.
Firm of
RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY,
Importers and Tailors,
231 Broadway, New York.
Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring.
Moderate Prices.
35 1m*

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with
LAMP AND BELL,
under penalty of $50 fine.
A large and complete assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the Wheelmen's [redacted] Headquarters,
Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.
FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

RANDOLPH'S
BEEF, IRON AND WINE,
THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!
PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
21 WEST FRONT STREET.

ETIQUETTE

PRACTICAL PARAGRAPHS.

Brief Suggestions in Good Form for Many Occasions.

Gleaned from Harper's Bazar are the following useful replies to questions often asked:

At a wedding before 6 o'clock the groom should wear morning costume—that is, black cutaway or frock coat, black waistcoat, light trousers, white four-in-hand tie, white gloves and patent leather shoes. A white waistcoat may be substituted for the black if preferred. The invitation for a home wedding reads: "Mr. and Mrs. —— Smith request the pleasure of your company at the marriage of their daughter Mary to Mr. John Brown, Monday evening, March first, at eight o'clock. 237 John street, Newark, N. J."

If you are writing the addition to your card, write simply the date and hour, "Mar. 1st, at 8." If the invitation is engraved, add the "o'clock." The use of "at home" is almost obsolete. It is never used for a first reception after a wedding. Yes, always leave cards at a call. The may be made on the table or brought in, as you choose.

A married couple should be addressed "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith." If your husband has received a card for the tea, send two of his cards with your own.

Never put your best foot forward or correct form to say "Mrs. Dr." If you want to designate why not say "Mrs. Smith, the wife of Dr. Smith?" Mrs. Bishop Brown would leave a card which would read "Mr. John Brown." It is better style for his family not to speak of him as "the Judge."

Yes, it is correct form to omit bidding your hostess adieu.

It is not desirable to have the town engraver open your card, unless you are traveling or paying many calls in other cities.

If you invite a man to escort you where a carriage is necessary, of course you furnish the carriage.

Give a reception or a tea, and let your people present your fiance to your friends. A dinner is a very good way of announcing an engagement.

Your cards should be sent to Mr. and Mrs. Brown. You are obliged to include your husband if you desire to invite the wife.

Send cards to the relatives of your daughter-in-law and wait for them to call upon you. However, it is better to make social concessions than to have strained relations with connections.

Send your gift to the bride.

Certainly, send cards to the "at home" if you cannot attend. One of your own and two of your husband's.

Yes, the two dozen (1877-92) engraved on invitations to your crystal wedding. Use many white flowers and also much cut glass for decorating the house and the table. A pretty cake can be prettily trimmed with crystal bead fringe and paper ornaments, will be appropriate for the occasion.

The bride and her maids carry bouquets, but it is no longer customary for guests at weddings to carry flowers.

A lump of sugar saturated with vinegar will sometimes cure hiccoughs.

Just What You Need!
If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an
Arnold Steam Cooker.
Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.
You can buy the above articles at 24 Park avenue. Also the only genuine
BOSTON BROWN BREAD,
made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every day. Use the day, and delivered to any part of the city.
M. E. BEACH, Agent.

Tennis, Croquet, Hammocks, etc.
10 PER CENT. OFF
on all Tennis Goods.
Special Discounts
on large orders or to clubs.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front Street.

FRED. W. DUNN,
Successor to
Barkalew & Dunn,
18 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.
Fine Groceries.
THREE BEE TEA

GET YOUR
Bicycle Repaired
NO. 2 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
by
Henry Goeller, Jr.

COAL and WOOD,
E. H. HOLMES,
YARD—64 Madison Avenue.
Office—37 North avenue, (with Weddell & Smith.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. — T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Lock Box I. Telephone Call 46. Printing of All Kinds. — 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. — PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," — TUESDAY, JUNE 14, 1892. — PRICE TWO CENTS.

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR SUMMER VACATION, SHOULD SEND NEW ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THIS NEWS TO THEM.

The Weather.

Partly cloudy to fair and slightly cooler.

BREVITIES

—Werner, the clothier, is offering some very pretty styles in straw hats this week.

—Foreign physicians are now experimenting with frog lymph as a preventative of hydrophobia.

—Hallock and Davis have a large assortment of negligee and puff bosom shirts, especially adapted for a 95 degree day.

—T. J. Carey says don't forget the auction sale of valuable real estate to-morrow, at 70 Webster place, at two p. m. sharp.

—About forty young men of North Plainfield were bathing in Wilson's pond in the valley back of the mountains, last evening. Abbreviated bathing costumes were worn.

—Mayor Saunders' free illustrated lecture about the "Sea Bottom as Geologist" will take place in Holy Cross parish building, Thursday evening, instead of Friday, as previously announced.

—An elderly gentleman, overcome by the heat, was taken from the 6.24 train at the Western Union telegraph office, last evening. After resting awhile he was assisted to a carriage and driven to his home in this city.

—The Acme Tailoring Company, having a large stock of fine cloths and cassimeres on hand and not wishing to carry them over, have made great reductions and will sell at a sacrifice. See advertisement in another column.

—The Pullman company are building one hundred first-class passenger coaches for the Philadelphia and Reading road, and twenty-five coaches for the Central R. R. of N. J. This will materially help out on the Summer travel.

—A carnival of athletic sports will be given on July 4 by the New Jersey Athletic club of Bayonne. Considerable interest is being manifested in the meeting by the many athletes of adjacent cities.

—The Port Reading people have made extensive arrangements for carrying excursion delegations to the re-union of the old army of the potomac, which will be held at Scranton, Pa., on the 15th inst. A number of members from this city will attend.

—Arrangements are being made by the Crescent League to give a grand pyrotechnical display at the ball grounds on the glorious Fourth. Several pieces of Pain of London, have been contracted for and a band of music has been engaged for the occasion.

—A large dog ran howling out of one of the North avenue stores this morning. It was thought by all to be mad. The proprietors fled in all direction but quickly returned when the proprietor of one of the stores informed them that the dog had been annoying a large cat and got the worst of it.

—A warm weather, a most refreshing drink, recommended by everyone is tea. It is easily made when you get the right kind of tea. Messrs. Lehmann Bro's. appreciate the public and have an especially good tea, they, as well as other groceries for a warm weather. Their advertisement will appear to-morrow.

—Union county, New Jersey, is still doing a good deal of advertising on account of her roads. The largely circulated New England Homestead has a long article this week headed, "The Famous Roads of Union County." The article is one of the United States where the best of our county roads has not been. Our county roads will be worth millions to Union county before all the advertising results from the good roads shall cease, the example and success of Union county in road building will ultimately be followed by millions in the United States.—Elizabeth Journal.

—Edward Emmet, a fireman in the employ of the Suburban Electric Light company, Elizabeth, met with a peculiar accident yesterday. An express dashed out on Emmet walked east of the depot toward the trenches, and the crash of the shell of a torpedo, which had been placed on the track by the mad men, struck him on the temple, killing him senseless and inflicting a fatal wound. He was picked up and carried into the works, where he soon expired.

—The question of using convict labor on the county roads is being agitated. A meeting held not long ago, the following gentlemen brought up the subject and it was universally approved: Hon. Leon Lenz, of the Union County Board of Agriculture, Secretary Dennis C. Haley, Dr. Chauncey B. Bigley, of Westfield, E. P. Beebe and Gideon Ludlow, of Union County Board, President Edward Burroughs, of the State Board; R. B. Voorhees, of New Brunswick; Denise, of Freehold, Dr. J. B. Ward of the Farms; William R. Lippincott of Assemblyman Davidson, of Gloucester county.

—4th of July Excursions on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

In pursuance of the usual custom the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets for the Fourth of July, to and from all stations on the system of Pittsburg and Erie, at a rate of one fare for the round trip.

Excursion tickets, which open up a rare opportunity for holiday tourists, will be sold July 1st, 2d and 3d, and will be good for return until July 5th, 1892, inclusive.

THE GREAT ROAD RACE

A Twenty-five Mile Wheelmen's Race being Arranged by the C. L. W.

The Crescent League Wheelmen, although one of the youngest clubs in the State, has now a membership of over 35 and is one of the most prosperous organizations in this vicinity.

It is now arranging a 25-mile road race, open to all wheelmen in this State, which will be one of the great events of the season.

The course of the race will be from the corner of Fifth and Richmond streets, out the former to Fanwood road, to Front street, to Richmond street to Scott's Press Works and around this circle as many times as will make the requisite 25-miles.

The first prize will be a Victor pneumatic wheel, donated, and many other suitable prizes will be given.

The committee of arrangements will be: Dr. D. C. Adams, Capt. J. A. Haynes, and Messrs. Robert Meeker, F. R. Stevens, and John Kenney.

Arrangements are also being made to construct a quarter mile track at the ball grounds on Somerset street, to be opened in the Fall with athletic games and bicycle races.

A MAD DOG KILLED.

Mr. J. F. Pearson Successfully Dispatches the Animal at the Residence of Mr. Satterline.

A mad dog ran in Mr. Satterline's dwelling, on Greenbrook road, this noon frightening the occupants of the house and snapping at everything within its reach.

Mr. J. F. Pearson, who was passing the house at the time, was called in, and after several brave with a hoe succeeded in killing the animal.

The dog was a black and, tan and was foaming at the mouth when it ran into the house.

Everybody in the house, including Mr. Satterline himself, was terribly frightened and had it not been for Mr. Pearson's presence of mind, considerable damage might have been done.

A Great Game To-morrow.

To-morrow, weather permitting, the game between the Crescents, the New Jersey Central State League leaders, and the Staten Island Athletic Club, the amateur champion of the world, which was to have taken place last Wednesday, will be played.

The Staten Island Club will bring with them their strongest team and attempt to get even with the Crescents for the defeat they gave them several weeks ago at New Brighton.

The battery order will probably be as follows:

Crescents—Hofford, c.; Turner, 2d b.; Murphy, 1.f.; Daley, 3d b.; Leidy, c.f.; Bonner, s. s.; Jones, 1st b.; Sweeden, p.; Regan, r.f.

Staten Island—Van Zandt, 2d b.; Krans, c.; Brill, 1st b.; Brush, s.s.; O'Connor, 3d b.; Clare, p.; Weir, r.f.; Geer, c.f.; Vroom; l. f.

Regan, the new man, is from the New England States, and is not only a fielder but also a pitcher. He will be given a trial in to-morrow's game.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Samuel H. Milliken, of Central avenue, returned Saturday from Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Spicer, of East Fifth street, have gone to Belmar, N. J., where they will spend the Summer.

The funeral of the late Abraham Voorhees, took place at New Brunswick yesterday, and was one of the largest ever witnessed in that city.

Mayor Gilbert, the delegate to the Minneapolis convention from this district and also one of the committee to notify President Harrison of his re-nomination, is expected back to this city to-night or to-morrow. Judge John Ulrich, the Republican Congressman, who has also gone to Minneapolis, is also expected back to-night.

The Salvation Army.

During the week ending June 13th, ten meetings were held by the Salvation Army at their Hall on Second street, formerly the "Elwood Saloon." Six week night meetings with a total attendance of 1,208 and four services on Sunday, (beginning at seven a. m.) with a total attendance for the week of 2,314.

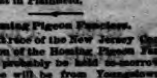
Can this be Equalled.

Mr. S. H. Milliken's gardner presented him with a fine lot of new potatoes on Friday, June 9th, and a nice lot of new peas on Monday, June 13th.

Mr. Milliken, justly takes great pride in his garden and wants to know if it can be beat in Plainfield.

Homing Pigeon Fanciers.

The ninth race of the New Jersey Central Section of the Homing Pigeon Fanciers, will probably be held to-morrow. The race will be from Youngstown, Ohio, to this city, a distance of 380 miles. The Plainfield birds have already been shipped to that point, for the race.



Board of Health Wanted.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—It would be a "God send" to send the Board of Health to Madison avenue and Second street.

A MADISON.

DID YOU FEEL WARM?

NO WONDER, YESTERDAY'S WEATHER BROKE THE RECORD.

How Some Plainfielders Managed—Reading of the Blizzard—etc.—The Record of Thermometers Here and Elsewhere.

HE weather yesterday was warm. That is not an item of news, although it is of interest as it proved expectedly so to dispensers of "cool ware" who numbered their sales in four figures. The sun-Glared down in the woods, where the mosquitoes and Blue heavy and faint in a languid Breeze. And the fans were curing with a will and and, although it was generally appreciated, it was not known, fortunately, that yesterday was the hottest June 13 on record. Had it been known people would have wilted completely.

The coolest place in the country, by a strange antic of nature, was at a remote southern point.

Towards noon, gauze shirts, wide-brimmed straw hats and an unknown quantity of perspiration began to appear.

Directly before and after the noon hour all sorts of expedients were used to keep cool.

One philosophical News reader, who evidently believed in the faith cure, hunted up a copy of THE NEWS containing the account of and regaled himself reading the only account published at the time, of a remarkably cool section of Plainfield weather.

THE GREAT BLIZZARD.

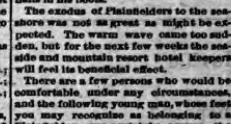
Very few cases of sudden shocks from the vicinity of the "it is hot enough for you?" bend are recorded.

As might be expected the "hot weather liar" was on hand with his usual trite remark, that "although this weather isn't a circumstance, it puts me in mind of—" a prelude to a tale of heat the created the enamel on the teeth, or, warped the nails in his boots.

The exodus of Plainfielders to the seashore was not as great as might be expected. The warm wave came too soon, but the next few weeks the seaside and mountain resort hotel keepers will feel its beneficial effect.

There are a few persons who would be comfortable under any circumstances, and the following young man, whose feet you may recognize as belonging to a Plainfield citizen, was certainly among the number. To use a common phrase, he was not only "in it" but



"OUT OF DOORS."

To-day will equal, if not exceed the temperature of yesterday. At one o'clock this afternoon the Front street thermometers registered from 94 to 99 degrees, and although there is quite a breeze stirring the heat is intense.

THE THERMOMETER RECORD.

Yesterday was a record breaker. The mean was has observed the weather says that it was the hottest 13th of June ever known and everybody believes him.

The thermometers in New York city registered 97½ degrees, or 10½ degrees more than they ever before on the same date. Last year the thermometer on June 13th only registered 87 degrees and the year previous 78 degrees. The humidity yesterday in New York was 71 per cent.

In this city the thermometers registered from 94 to 99 degrees, but there was a slight breeze which made life more easy to bear.

In Albany the mercury rose to 101 degrees, Boston 98 to 99 degrees, and at Waterbury, Vermont, 100 degrees.

The "Parsons" not all Right.

There was a great ball playing on the Third street grounds on Saturday afternoon. The public are finding out that these grounds are very conveniently located and easily reached, and the ball players put up those few nickels the very best they ever got at.

It was the second battery game as many others, and that pleased the large and vociferous audience all the more. The work on both teams was all the way from fair to excellent, and they made the fielders chase to the best of their skill. It was, in fact, one of the best games that has ever played on the grounds, and the score was a close one all the way through. In the ninth, comparatively few of the rooters left it out of the room of the fielders.

Parsons did great work, after his stagger in the middle in giving little never-did Hanford his base on balls. Hanford is by no means a "has been" ball player, as some of his former work will show. Sweeden was a puzzle to the Parsons. Their usual single hitter was the only batter who could connect with the "curves" as the ash water boys dubbed them, are only fair.

It was a game to see, and the score: Parsons 6, Crescents 5. Batteries considered to carry off the victory.—Elizabeth Journal.

WANT THEIR FEES.

Chancellor McGill Reserves His Decision in the Job Male Lawyers' Case.

The long contested will case, left as a legacy by the late Job Male, made its periodical appearance in the Court of Chancery again yesterday, headed up by a host of lawyers. Notice was given last Monday that an application would be made to the Chancellor for counsel fees for the proponents. This brought into court ex-Governor Bedle and Counsellor Marsh, the proponents; and ex-Chancellor Runyon, Foster Voorhees, Lawyers Reed, Lindabury and Stillman who represented the heirs.

The chancellor intimated when he rendered his decision as to the legality of the will, that he probably would not allow counsel fees to the proponents, and in regard to this point, Mr. Marsh made an effectual plea. He declared that the money consideration was nothing to him but his professional honor was at stake. He wanted the Chancellor to grant some fee. He declared he would be satisfied with but one dollar and he would let the vast amount of work performed by him in the case go without reward. He also pip vaged his decision in his favor, because if he did not receive it, and an injurious inference might be drawn against him professionally.

The Chancellor said it was not that amount involved, but the principle of how far an estate should be subject to legal expenses that made him pause.

Ex-Governor Bedle informed the Chancellor that he could live without the fee he thought he was entitled, but he believed it in all fairness the estate should pay for the litigation of counsel by the proponents of the will.

Chancellor McGill reserved his decision in regard to counsel fees, and granted an order returnable a week from Saturday, why a receiver of the administrator should not be appointed.

STATE NEWS

The bicyclers of Bridgeton had a parade on Saturday night.

Many soft shell crabs are being shipped from Seaside Park to the New York markets.

A young woman who rides horseback man fashion is one of the sights at Toms River.

A corporation called the Maurice River Sand Company will shortly be organized at Millville to exonerate glass sand on a large scale.

Richard Schenck, Albert Smith and Frank Spicer, three young boys who ran away from their home in Trenton, Saturday evening and went to Atlantic City, were captured by the police.

Mayor Wanser, of Jersey City, has vetoed Camp Inspector Couk's pay roll for the second time. After the first veto the Street and Water Board "corrected" it by deducting one day's pay and sent it back to the Mayor for approval.

The five-year-old son of George Eckart, of Clifton, Passaic county, was instantly killed yesterday. The boy was in a hammock stretched from the house to the shed. His father, in swinging the hammock, reached too heavily upon it and the boy was pulled the shed down upon the boy, killing him.

The Rev. Albert Von Schilinen, pastor of St. Michael's church, Elizabeth, has at last succeeded in clearing the church and school from every cent of debt and the delighted congregation are about to present the reverend gentleman with a purse of $1,500 in gold as a recognition of his labors in their behalf.

On Friday last lightning struck the house of Nathan Lane at Longwood, Hunterdon county. The current entered the interior of the house through a hole in the wall, passed through a closet, breaking nearly twenty glass jars, then passing out of the house through one of the chimneys, splitting in three pieces a block under the stove leg. Beyond a considerable shaking up, no great damage was done.

FENCE JUMPING RUNAWAYS.

While Isaiah Fritts and a hired man were plowing in a field on the farm of Clinton Apgar, near Somerville, a horse became frightened and ran away. After running a short distance he kicked himself loose from the plow, and then as if to change the monotony of being hitched up to farming tools, he kicked himself over a fence, and in this way they ran the length of the field, when the other horse jumped the fence, and both horses took the road, and hit out down the backstretch for Bluff Bridge, but were captured by Surveyor Todd, of the animals was quite seriously cut up.

Life of the Commissioner.

The commissioner is an outgoer. He is just on the verge of applying for a pass—not quite there. In the city a man may have a good night out. The commissioner is to be away from home all night. He looks forward to the day when he can be a boarder in the house of somebody else. He builds his own happiness. "Where the rose that best expresses—" if they put on the rose that best expresses the situation he has next week—"We're to have some one to meet us at the depot—some one to meet us at the depot—" Where do you suppose we're going to?" "We'll have a large garden affair—" "Oh, the commissioner is going!" And at once the commissioner is the city is the most unworthy and everything else in the vocabulary and fruit has wonderful powers. The lowest manifestation of power, the basest of human passions, the most benevolent, or anything, and around the corner that can be had in the world the commissioner is going to be. He is the recipient of a thousand invitations. He is the object of a thousand smiles. He is the recipient of a thousand invitations. He is the object of a thousand smiles. He is the recipient of a thousand invitations. He is the object of a thousand smiles

EDITORIAL NOTES

General D. S. Stanley.

By the retirement on account of age of General David Sloan Stanley the United States army loses from its active service one of the most splendid soldiers and fighters of the civil war. The hero of Spring Hill and Franklin took part in as many severe and sometimes desperate engagements as any other Union general, in every one of which he acquitted himself in a way that showed commanding military genius. He was a captain in the regular army in 1861. A generalship in the Confederate army was offered to him, but he refused it. Not until 1864 did he receive a promotion to a brigadier generalship in the regular army, although he had been made a major general of volunteers early in the civil war.

During the civil war, before the close of September, 1861, Stanley's old southwest had fought in the battles at Independence, Forsyth, Dug Springs, Wilson's Creek and Rolla. Next at New Madrid and Island Ten he was complimented in official military reports. Then he participated in the fight at White House and the battles of Iuka. At Corinth he was exposed to the severest of the Confederate fire, but his line was not broken. Wherever desperate courage was needed, he showed desperate courage wherever level headedness was the requirement, Stanley was level headed.

Then came the Atlanta campaign and more fighting; after that Spring Hill and Franklin. At Franklin Stanley and Opdyke saved the day, and although Stanley was severely wounded he did not leave the field till it was too dark to fight any more.

After the war his services to his country were no less valuable. In 1873 Dakota and Montana were almost unknown regions, uninhabited by white people. Stanley led his troops through this tract and gave such favorable report that settlers began to flock thither. Other officers got appointments at Washington and rested upon flowery beds of social ease, but not Stanley. He has been in hard service in the west and southwest ever since the war. Since 1884 he has had full command of the Department of Texas. It has been owing to the confidence felt in this grand leader, both by our people and by Mexicans, that the border disputes have resulted so harmlessly. Both felt that Stanley was in command. No man ever earned a happier, more honored rest.

At an age when many women would have thought themselves fit only to sit in the corner with their knitting work the late Mady Morgan, the famous cattle reporter of the New York Times, Herald and Tribune, was doing newspaper work that would have repelled many a young man in his early twenties. She was nearly sixty-four years old at the time of her death and lived at Metuchen, N. J., more than an hour's ride from New York city; yet in all weathers—winter and summer—every cattle market day she was at the Jersey City stock yards by 7 o'clock in the morning getting her notes for the day. Her knowledge of horses and cattle and of live stock in general would have been remarkable even in a man. In a woman it was phenomenal. A natural love of horses and cattle led her to learn their management. In her youth in the old country it was said there was no colt in Ireland so wild that she could not break and ride it. She selected and bought horses for the stables of King Victor Emanuel, in Italy, before she came to America. When she first entered on her duties as live stock market reporter both the cattlemen and the other reporters tried to put her down and drive her out, jeering her to her face. She lived to prove to them that she knew more about her business than all of them put together, and besides to gain the thorough respect and good will of every one of them. It was said that she was the best judge of the weight of a beef on the hoof of anybody at the stock yards. In spite of her rough work she was a lady of the utmost refinement and culture, with a voice somewhat deep in tone, which fell like music on the ear.

It was very near Memorial Day that General A. D. Straight passed over to the comrades to whose memory he had aided in doing honor for a quarter of a century. His epitaph, like that of many others, is being written through the earth in a tunnel is one of the two or three most thrilling and dramatic incidents of the war. The tunnel was designed by another Union prisoner, a soldier named Rose. Colonel Streight, in spite of a prison diet of corn bread and water, was still rather stout, and the difficulty he experienced in squeezing himself through the narrow tunnel has given him many a time. The tunnel escape is a story that will bear telling as long as the American flag waves. The boys and girls of each generation will enjoy hearing it as they enjoy the story of Putnam's ride down the stone steps at Horsneck.

Why cannot the unhappy Ulster men in Ireland be annexed to England, leaving the rest of the green island to have the home rule it wants? Then the Ulstermen can obey the British rule they love to well and everybody will be happy yet.

HILL MEN ARE HOPEFUL

They Claim Their Favorite Has 222 Delegates.

MR. CLEVELAND'S STRENGTH IS 367.

That Is the Estimate Made by Politicians Who Are Figuring on the Chicago Convention—A Hurricane Blows the Roof Off the Democratic Wigwam.

ALBANY, June 14.—The regular state delegation of Democrats to the Chicago convention, elected at the February state convention, will leave for the west on Thursday, and the contesting delegation is backed to go on the same day. Both delegations expect to do great missionary work among the delegates assembling thus early. The regulars have appointed Messrs. Bourke Cockran, David McClure, J. S. Ridgeway, John Delmar, Charles N. Bulger, A. C. Eustace and George N. Beebe as the committee to take charge of this work, and the opposition have put their work into the hands of Charles S. Fairchild, Norton Chase, Charles R. Coutant, John W. Kernan, Charles F. Bishop, W. R. Grace and E. Ellery Anderson.

What the Hill Men Claim.

Delegate Norton Chase, from this city, who has been prominently identified with the Cleveland movement, said that in case the New York delegation found that Mr. Cleveland had sufficient votes outside of New York to nominate him, they would not apply for admission to the convention as a contesting delegation.

If, however, they found that Mr. Cleveland had a majority in the convention but not the votes necessary to nominate, they would ask for admission as delegates from New York. The Hill people, on the contrary, claim that while Mr. Cleveland will have the largest vote on the first ballot in the convention, he will not have enough to either override the credential committee's report or obtain the nomination, and that after the first ballot he will steadily lose votes. The total number of delegates chosen to a Democratic national convention is 820, and by the rules adopted, two-thirds, or 546, are necessary for a choice.

A Possible First Ballot.

The tables given by leaders of the two factions as to the support they have already been assured of are extremely interesting, and show a possible first ballot standing as follows: Cleveland, 367; Hill, 222; Boies, 37; Carlisle, 77; other candidates, 99; no preference, 68. These are divided up by states as follows:

States.	Cleveland.	Hill.	No preference.
Alabama	22	10	..
Arkansas	..	..	..
California	18	..	..
Colorado	..	8	..
Connecticut	6	..	..
Delaware	6	..	..
Florida	..	10	..
Georgia	16	10	..
Kentucky	5	10	..
Kansas	20	..	..
Maine	10	..	..
Maryland	..	16	..
Massachusetts	30	..	..
Michigan	28	..	..
Minnesota	18	..	..
Mississippi	9	9	..
Missouri	34	..	..
Nebraska	..	..	8
Nevada	..	6	..
New Hampshire	..	..	..
New Jersey	20	..	..
New York	..	72	..
North Carolina	..	13	3
Ohio	39	4	..
Oregon	..	8	..
Rhode Island	8	..	..
South Carolina	1	8	9
Tennessee	25	..	..
Texas	18	14	..
Virginia	..	..	..
Virginia	12	..	12
West Virginia	6	6	..
Wisconsin	..	..	..
South Dakota	..	..	8
North Dakota	8	..	..
Montana	..	..	..
Idaho	..	6	3
Wyoming	..	6	..
Arizona	2	..	..
New Mexico	..	..	2
Oklahoma	..	..	..
Utah	..	2	..
Totals	367	222	68

Scattering and Other Candidates.

In addition to this, Boies gets 8 from Nebraska and 26 from Iowa; Carlisle gets 11 from Kentucky, 64 from Pennsylvania and 2 from District of Columbia. Washington will give to other candidates 8; Illinois 48 and Indiana 30. Of the Democratic delegates in the various states 696 have already been selected. Of the remainder 97 yet to be selected. The Hill people claim that the votes credited to Mr. Carlisle and to Mr. Boies will be turned over to them as also will Illinois, now credited to Palmer, and Indiana's 30 now given to Gray. They further claim that the entire North and South Carolina delegations will be for Hill.

The Convention Wigwam Damaged.

CHICAGO, June 14.—During the tornado here Monday evening the canopy over the wigwam in which will be held the national Democratic convention next week was torn to tatters and so utterly ruined that the contractors determined to have done with it and use instead a timber roof. A number of columns will be erected to support the roof. It is feared that this arrangement will impair the acoustics of the amphitheater, but there is no way to avoid it. Work was begun on the roof, and the contractor declares the wigwam will be ready for the convention at the stipulated time.

Dalzell Seems Hopeful.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Mr. Dalzell, Republican, of Pennsylvania, who has returned from Minneapolis, is elated over the success of Harrison. He stated that he had never known of such concentrated generosity in a presidential convention. Pennsylvania's vote for Harrison was well handled, and practically made the renomination of President Harrison possible. He refused to discuss the question of the vice presidency, but his manner indicated that he is not discouraged at the prospects.

Hill Meets His Friends.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Senator Hill was in conference with the political leaders and with visiting politicians from other states. He declined to talk, but his lieutenants claimed to have assurances of success in their efforts to capture the Democratic nomination.

New Sees Mr. Harrison.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—John C. New, who who was in command of the administration forces at the convention, is here. He called upon the president for an hour or so, then left Washington for New York. He sails on Wednesday for London.

No More One Horse Cars.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The house passed a bill to prohibit the use of one horse cars in Washington after Jan. 1, 1893.

THE WINDY CITY, INDEED.

A Child Killed by a Tornado in Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 14.—A genuine wild western tornado struck this city Monday. A two story brick cottage at 1,535 Whipple street was entirely destroyed, and its three inmates, Mrs. Frank Klima and her two children, buried beneath the ruins. When the storm came upon them they were frightened and made preparations to start for a place of safety. Before the three got out the building collapsed and a heavy timber fell upon Mrs. Klima's two-year-old child, Anna, and killed her instantly. Mrs. Klima and Emma, four years old, were injured, but not seriously.

The telephone, telegraph and electric light systems were almost totally demoralized. Poles and wires were torn down and general havoc was caused. Many houses were unroofed and otherwise damaged. The Rents-Stanley circus tent and poles, at the corner of Twenty-eighth street and Wentworth avenue, were razed to the ground and the performers compelled to seek shelter in neighboring houses.

New Orleans in Danger.

NEW ORLEANS, June 14.—The river has reached the highest point known here for forty-five years, and in consequence New Orleans is literally speaking, an island. Crevasses above, crevasses below, the raging river in front and the rapidly rising Lake Pontchartrain in the rear, have hemmed the city in and traffic on three roads has been suspended. Several serious breaks have occurred in the levees above the city. The levees that protect New Orleans are good and strong so far, but the greatest anxiety is being felt on account of the Jones rise that is on the way down.

Maine Had a Cyclone, Too.

CASTINE, Me., June 14.—A cyclone struck West Brooksville. The rear end of George Gray's store was moved six feet and 100,000 feet of lumber was blown away. Joists blown through a window knocked Mrs. George Gray senseless. Hailstones fell the size of robins' eggs.

The Missouri River Is Receding.

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—The Missouri river is becoming here, and reports from up the river say that a big flood is now coming from the upper country. There is every reason to fear grave danger to the lowlands.

FASHIONS

For the Summer.

AN ARTISTIC COSTUME.

How simple and graceful are the lines in the gown shown here. It is a good illustration of the artistic effects that successful costume designers are obliged to obtain in the gowns of the present season.

GOVERNOR FLOWER WRECKED.

Pitched Headlong, but Only Slightly Injured Near Elmira.

ELMIRA, N. Y., June 14.—Governor Flower, with his wife and a party of friends, were approaching this city on Erie train No. 8, when they were overtaken with what proved a very fortunate accident. The train was running at a high rate of speed when in rounding a curve near Cameron car No. 562, the private car of the Erie's officials, in which the governor and his party were, jumped the tracks.

Governor Flower jumped and pulled the bell rope, but the car was dragged eighty feet and thrown on its side before the train was stopped.

The governor was pitched headlong, but only suffered a small cut on one hand. The rest of his party were badly shaken up, but were not injured. The party took another car and proceeded on their way. Mrs. Flower was terribly frightened by the accident and was due to the spreading of the rails, caused by their expansion from the intense heat. Governor Flower visited the state reformatory and the state prison at Auburn yesterday, and was shortly after joined by the contractors determined to have done with it and use instead a timber roof. A number of columns will be erected to support the roof. It is feared that this arrangement will impair the acoustics of the amphitheater, but there is no way to avoid it. Work was begun on the roof, and the contractor declares the wigwam will be ready for the convention at the stipulated time.

Grubb Wants to Be Governor.

JERSEY CITY, June 14.—A letter was received in Jersey City from Captain John Grubb, who is now in Switzerland, from Liverpool for New York with General E. Burd Grubb, United States minister to Spain. Captain Grubb, for several years been General Grubb's confidential agent and speaks with authority. He says: "The general is in the fight for governor, and he will be here in time. I suppose I can afford to give the nomination next fall to any one else."

Such Murders Are Customary.

OTTAWA, June 14.—The minister of justice has received a petition for the commutation of the death sentence on a Mac Percy Indian, who killed a medicine man for failing to cure his two children. The ground for the plea is that it is according to the custom of these Indians to kill the medicine man when he allows the patient to die.

Trouble Feared at Tonawanda.

TONAWANDA, N. Y., June 14.—The strikers here are still determined to win their fight by any means, and the situation is threatening. The Twenty-fifth company is under arms at the armory. Sheriff Elmlon and fifteen deputies are here. Stevedores carried guns to their work Monday.

Printers at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—The fortieth annual convention of the International Typographical Union was called to the Drexel institute. Major Moses Veale welcomed the delegates on behalf of Governor Pattison. Mayor Stuart extended the greeting of the Quaker city.

ST. ANTHONY'S SHRINE

Thousands Flock to Get Father Mollinger's Blessing.

HIS PRESCRIPTIONS IN CYPHER.

But One Druggist at Allegheny City Possesses the Key to It—The New Private Chapel, Which Cost $500,000, Opened on Mount Troy's Summit.

PITTSBURG, June 14.—Monday was St. Anthony's day in the Roman Catholic calendar. For weeks past men, women and children in all stages of disease and deformity have congregated at Mount Troy, Allegheny, and there were about 2,000 present, anxiously awaiting the dawn of the day upon which the healing power of Father C. F. Mollinger is said to be strongest. The opening of Father Mollinger's new private chapel was a feature of the day's ceremonies. The edifice, erected at a cost almost equal to the gross receipts of the shrine in the world. In the rear part of this chapel are kept the sacred relics. There are hundreds of canes under glass covers. The day's ceremonies began with mass at 5 o'clock, and once every hour thereafter until at 10 o'clock solemn high mass was celebrated.

FATHER MOLLINGER.

Even before the break of day the congregation began to file up the steep sides of Mount Troy, and at the hour for solemn high mass between 8,000 and 10,000 were on the ground.

At St. Anthony's Shrine.

Scattered here and there could be seen groups of devout worshipers at the shrine of St. Anthony, crossing themselves, fervently praying and kissing relics for which they have so long sought in vain.

The sun beat down upon the heads of the multitude, women fainted, men uttered loud vows, children wept, and although the four uniformed policemen, assisted by church trustees, found it difficult to prevent the crowd from crushing the life out of the weaker.

When the front doors of the primitive looking church were thrown open those who had been pressing each other in the front yard made a wild rush up the steps. The guardians were pushed aside, their efforts to keep the people in line being in vain. The church was soon filled and the doors closed.

He Sprinkled the Faithful.

It was after 11 o'clock when Father Mollinger, with a gold cross containing the sacred relics, emerged from the church chanting a prayer. Instantly the crowd knelt and he slowly waving the cross of the patron saint, passed among the people. As he did so he sprinkled his faithful subjects with holy water, at the same time muttering a prayer in Latinized tones. As he moved through the throng the more devout ones fell over each other in an attempt to touch the flowing robes of the man in whom they have such unbounded faith.

After bestowing his blessing upon those kneeling in the churchyard Father Mollinger passed through the front gate and out into the street, where many were on their knees in the dust. Next he proceeded to Hazel street, where there were carriages containing physically impaired women and children, who with difficulty passed through the carriage windows in order that a drop of the holy water might fall upon their uncovered heads.

Money for Prescriptions.

The new church on Hazel street was thrown open at 2 o'clock. At that hour the crowd had increased to 10,000. With great difficulty they were kept in line as they were permitted to pass through the church.

Near the altar rail stood Father Mollinger, who bestowed his blessing upon and sprinkled with holy water the devout pilgrims as they momentarily knelt in front of him. The time honored custom of bestowing the blessing upon and prescribing for the ills of all who come was observed by Father Mollinger, who took up his position in the little room back of the altar in the old church and received his patients. There, also, received prescriptions written in cypher, the key to which is in the possession of but one druggist. For these prescriptions and blessings the patients are asked to contribute such sums as amounts ranging from fifty cents to twenty dollars, though this is not obligatory.

Butchered by Doctors.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., June 14.—Dr. E. R. Nunals and Dr. C. F. Merkel have been arrested, charged with criminal slaughter in the third degree. They performed an operation on Mrs. Lester Dallas for a supposed tumor. The woman died in a few hours. They testified that the supposed tumor was tuberculosis, and that it was the biggest case of butchery they had ever seen.

Shot by a Clergyman.

BRISTOL, Tenn., June 14.—Rev. J. W. Pannell, a crippled preacher, and W. R. Hutchins, a lawyer, became involved in a quarrel. Davidson stepped out with a knife and was about to stab the preacher when he got three bullets in succession in his body from the preacher's pistol. He died in a few minutes.

The Queen Praises Brave Men.

LONDON, June 14.—The queen has commanded the governor of Newfoundland to express to the eight men who rescued Wilhelm Voag, and the three men in Trinity bay during the February blizzard, her appreciation of their gallantry. The board of trade has sent to the men five pounds each.

Outrenger Again Free.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 14.—Bank Wrecker Jacob R. Outrenger was secured the release $100,000 bail on the forgery indictments and was released. His bondsmen are Abram Guilford and Conrad Hasbrouck, the latter of his nephews and Captain Jacob H. Tremper.

The Hudson River Regatta.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The annual regatta of the Hudson River Amateur Rowing association will be held June 18, on the Hudson river, off the foot of One Hundred and Thirty-eighth street.

Hill Will Not Go to Chicago.

ALBANY, June 14.—It is learned from reliable sources that Senator David B. Hill has decided not to go to Chicago, but will remain in Washington or New York city during the convention.

All the Teachers on Strike.

WOOSTER, O., June 14.—Professor J. B. Eberly, president, and the entire corps of teachers of the Normal academy at Wadsworth are on strike for higher salary.

The

1892 Model of the Remington

is now

on the market.

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.

Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of

C. R. MUSGRAVE,

37 Somerset street.

Call early and secure the best bargains.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

Having Disposed of the Produce Business

to Mr. L. A. Hummer, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E RIDER, Manager.

A Ticket to Europe

May be bought on any steamer; any line, CHEAPER THAN IN NEW YORK.

SINGLE TRIP: First-class—$80 and upwards. Second class—$50 and upwards. Steerage—$19 and upwards.

ROUND TRIP: First-class—$60 and upwards Second-class—$90 and upwards. Steerage—$38 and upwards.

Cabins, both first and second class, should be engaged as far ahead as possible.

Further information given upon application to agent, Henry D. Morrison, 9 Somerset street.

The Last Drop

Is as good as the first. No dregs. All pure and wholesome. The most popular drink of the day.

Hires' Root Beer.

A perfect thirst quencher.

Don't be deceived if a dealer, for the sake of larger profit, tells you some other kind is "just as good." Ask him. No imitation is as good as the genuine Hires'.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

A. M. SEGUINE,

PROPRIETOR OF

Laing's Hotel Stables,

on Front Street, Opp. Railroad Station.

TELEPHONE CALL, No. 28.

Coaches for weddings, funerals and private calls.

Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.

Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.

REASONABLE BOARDER RIGHTS GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!

ALL SIZES.

Of Sizes

Light Blue Color.

Both for concrete and road purposes. Delivered in any quantity to suit purchaser, at the Quarry or delivered on cars or boats at Dunham's Station, on the Central railroad of New Jersey. Orders can be left at the office of the Quarry Company, at the office of the Engineer, or at the office of the Contractor, on the line of the Somerset and Middlesex railroad, at Dunham's Station.

P. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.

ROBT. A. MEEKER, Street Com.

Smalley Bros.,

24 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Hraesme, Ag't,

30 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.

Invites the public to inspect the coal yard of his newly added steam vibrating machine, by means of which coal is screened and delivered to customers free from dust, and in a better condition than it possible by any other method of screening.

UPTON GRAHAM AND WHITEHOUSE COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried for sale.

ROUND CARD BOARD BOXES.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for Trucking, and Sawing of wood by steam, and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in RENT

QUALITY COAL

YARD AND OFFICE

SOUTH AVENUE.

P. O. BOX 1467.

Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & COLLINSON, Counsellors at Law, Commissioners, Masters in Chancery. Rooms 1 and 2 Du Bois building, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E. Engineer of the Famous Union County Road System. Special attention given to street paving and sewerage. Office, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Attorney-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, Notary public and Notary Public. Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 38 West Front avenue.

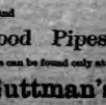
CLARK & REED, Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Solicitors and Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner Front and Somerset streets.

CRANE & HARRIS, Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Solicitor and Master in Chancery, Notary Public. Offices corner Front and Somerset streets.

OSCAR R. TEALE, Attorney at Law, 327 Broadway, New York city, rooms 23 and 24, Stewart building. Real Estate Building, Residence, Plainfield N. J.

PLAINFIELD

ODORLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY



JONES & CO.

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Trade solicited. Orders left at Office of Company, corner of Watchung avenue and Second street, or at residence of Jones, Park avenue, between Second and Third streets, or at Park House, Manufacturers of 100 Best Lawns, Garden and Field Fertilizers, P. O. box 1467, will receive prompt attention.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum and Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Segars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Segar store, No. 13 West Second street.

LAWN MOWERS, Bicycles, and GENERAL MACHINERY Repairs, at SCHENCK'S Machine Shop,

North Plainfield. Also Pipe Fitting.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Master and Furnisher.

46 West Front street.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to. P. O. Box 868.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION

OF

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the Rate of Three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, "
NATHAN HARPER, "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—6:00, 8:45 a. m., 12:05, 2:35, 5:45 p. m.
Close—7:00 a. m., 12:30, 3:00 and 6:00 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8:45 a. m., 2:35, 5:45 p. m.
Close—7:00 a. m., 6:00 p. m.

Parcel mail to Princeton and Philadelphia at 5:00 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 5:30 p. m.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

YANKEE TARS BLOWN UP

Thirteen Killed in Mare Island Navy Yard.

THEY BELONGED TO THE BOSTON.

White Filling Shells in the Magazines of the Navy Yard a Sailor Dropped One of the Projectiles Which Exploded, Causing Death and Destruction.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—At 11:30 a. m. a frightful explosion occurred at Mare Island navy yard in the filling house, where shells are charged, by which thirteen men were killed. The victims were Acting Gunner Hettinger and twelve sailors of the United States cruiser Boston.

A List of the Killed.

A list of the killed is follows:

T. D. G. Hettinger, gunner, U. S. N.

C. Sundberg, gunner's mate.

Thomas Seymour, chief gunner's mate.

William Heckel, apprentice.

A. Kotegell, seaman.

C. W. Smith, seaman.

William Washburne, seaman.

F. Legat, seaman.

W. Ostrander, apprentice.

William Rush, seaman.

—— Johnson, seaman.

S. Rhoke, seaman.

J. H. Holton, apprentice.

Three men were taken to the hospital badly injured, two of whom have since died. The only survivor of the terrible accident is J. Briscoe, and his injuries are of the most serious character.

Like an Earthquake Shock.

The report of the explosion shook Vallejo like a sharp shock of earthquake and immediately the fire bells at the navy yard rang. Down at the magazine there belched forth into the sky an immense cloud of smoke, and for half an hour report after report was heard, each more explosive. Immediately the entire navy yard force rushed for the magazine and a horrible scene presented itself. The burned and charred remains of the unfortunate seamen were on the beach 300 yards from the scene of the explosion. In the midst of the ruins and all around on the side hills were found bodies and pieces of bodies scattered here and there. The bodies were taken out as fast as possible, and when all were put alongside of each other they counted twelve, with Gunner Hettinger, of the Boston, at the head.

Scenes of Horror.

Some were cut in two, others were minus a leg or arm or head. Twelve men were killed outright and three were taken to the hospital wounded, but dying. Two of the three latter were picked up on the beach. The explosion had thrown them into the bay, and a boat from a merchantman rescued them. They were literally skinned alive, and soon died of their injuries.

There were fifteen men from the Boston at work in the filling room when the explosion occurred.

Dropped a Shell.

It is supposed that one of the party dropped a shell, and that the concussion caused an explosion. One of the first to go to the scene was Dr. Lewis, of the Naval hospital. Notwithstanding now and then an explosion of shell, he braved the danger and went into the midst of it to save life if possible, but the explosion had finished its work.

The magazine watchmen, Collins, Burns and Damstedt, who were on duty in other parts of the grounds, were severely injured. Watchman Collins had a narrow escape. A piece of shell glanced from the top of his head and left an ugly contusion. It came from the second explosion. The first one had shaken him almost senseless, and after he was struck he walked for an hour about the ruins. The body of Gunner Hettinger was found on the roof of shell house No. 2. The unfortunate man had been blown through the roof of shell house No. 2, which was afterward destroyed by fire. Mrs. McDougal, of the lighthouse, with her daughters, Misses Beard and Carrie, were early in giving assistance to the wounded. The entire crew of the Boston worked hard in the ruins under the direction of Lieutenants Blake, Robinson and Hayes.

Hettinger was appointed from Pennsylvania Oct. 28, 1890, and was detailed to the Boston Feb. 3, 1891.

Did Schlipf Kill Mary?

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., June 14.—Brakeman Henry Schlipf, employed by the Lehigh Valley road, was arrested on suspicion of being the murderer of Mary Anderson. The police claim that Schlipf was drunk when he killed the girl, and was frightened by the dead girl and that he had been heard to utter threats of vengeance.

Bardsley After a New Trial.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—Presiding Judge Thayer and Judges Arnold and Willson heard argument on a motion for a new trial in the suit of Dr. Bardsley against the Keystone bank, in which a verdict was recently rendered in favor of Assignee Magill for $1,000,000 and upwards. The court reserved its decision.

More Blue Envelopes Coming.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 14.—Collector Treadwell of customs on the Canadian side of the West shore railroad will receive their blue envelopes in a day or two for participating in the ticket scalping business with Conductors Simpson, Butler, Morphy and Hill.

A Prominent Rochester Man's Demise.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 14.—Mortimer F. Reynolds, the last child of white parents born on the Hundred Acre Tract, or Rochester, on the west side of the Genesee, is dead. He was a prominent citizen, and was worth $500,000.

Rev. Weeks Held for Trial.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., June 14.—Rev. E. Olivia Weeks, of the Port Monmouth Baptist church, was held for trial here on a charge of immoral conduct with Annie Onderdonk, a domestic employed in his family.

General Hosted Ill at Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 14.—James W. Husted, a prominent Republican of New York state, is at the Auditorium, unable to continue his trip to his home at present on account of illness. His wife and son are now with him.

A Famished Peasant Eaten by a Bear.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 14.—While the peasants are starving with hunger bears are driven by hunger to feed on the peasants. A bear attacked a peasant near Peterhof and devoured him.

Gravy's Son-in-Law Accused.

PARIS, June 14.—M. Wilson, son-in-law of the late President Grevy, has been elected manager of Lochee. It is charged that corrupt methods were used.

Didn't Know.

In the course of examining a witness from the back-woods yesterday, Solicitor Long asked, "When was the house erected?"

"Don't know," he replied.

"Now, sir," said Mr. Long, "do you have to look when the house was built?"

The fellow brightened up and said: "Yes, sir; yes, sir. I built it myself, I did, but I don't think it was ever erected—not since I been livin there, nohow."—Salisbury (N. C.) Herald.

The Police Letter Writer.

Mistress (writing a letter for her maid)—Anything more?

Maid—Just say, please, miss, that my pet is bad, I hasn't got a dictionary handy, so please excuse bad spellin and writin.—Judy.

PEACEMAKER COLLINS HOME AGAIN.

He Hopes to Soon See the Irish Factions United.

BOSTON, June 14.—General P. A. Collins has just returned from Europe, whither he went about the middle of May for the purpose of endeavoring to heal the breach that exists in the Irish parliamentary party. While the main object—the getting of both sides to unite under one leader—was not accomplished, the leaders on both sides are now, for the first time since the ructions, on comparatively friendly terms. General Collins said that the principal conference of the two factions took place in Dublin on June 1. Said he:

"The discussions were good natured, frank and full, and we all agreed that under the circumstances a campaign would have to be continued upon the lines already established, and that the superities of the campaign should be maintained.

"I believe that bringing the leading men of the two divisions in the Irish party together for the first time in many months will be fruitful of good results, and that we may early look to see all of all misunderstanding and a genuine union of all the forces. One thing ought to be distinctly understood by our people in this country. All the good work that is going on in Ireland is hardly ever reported in this country, while the slightest evil is not only reported by an actively hostile press, but is very greatly exaggerated in most instances."

An Appeal to Irishmen.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Redmond reception committee has issued an address to the Irish Nationalists of New York, which says: "Upon the heroic Irish race expects Irishmen in America to do their duty. In this duty we have never failed and will not fail now. We ask you to support the reception which will be tendered John E. Redmond, M. P., in the Academy of Music on June 15.

Negroes Boycott the Railroads.

COVINGTON, Ky., June 14.—The railroads are beginning to feel the effects of the separate coach bill recently passed. No class of people in the state gave so many and so largely attended excursions as the blacks. All that is now abandoned. A competent authority says the loss to the various roads will reach $100,000 this year.

Nancy Hanks Will Trot.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—The Belmont Driving club has made arrangements with Budd Doble to bring Nancy Hanks at Belmont park, Philadelphia, on Thursday, July 7, against her record of 2:09 for a special purse of $5,000, with $1,000 added if the record of Robert Bonner's Sunol, 2:08¼, is beaten.

The Cooley Gang Did It.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., June 14.—It has just been learned that the Cooley gang were the robbers who planned the robbery of the Baltimore and Ohio express above Layton's Station. Sheriff McCormick is trying to capture the gang before they get back to their mountain haunts.

Cape May Real Estate Sold.

CAPE MAY, June 14.—The Cape May Point real estate of Anson H. Hamilton was sold at bankrupt sale. The property, including the Sea Grove House, the Cape House, 240 cottages, a farm of 230 acres, valuable riparian rights and a valuable water plant, brought $22,000.

Selling Huggin's Yearlings.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The fifth annual sale of the Rancho del Paso yearlings, the property of J. B. Haggin, of California, comprising 120 colts and fillies, was begun at Tattersalls. The first day's sales amounted to $46,600; average price on the forty-eight head sold, $964.

"Speak Easy" Proprietors Make Threats.

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 14.—An anonymous letter was received by The Tribune from Jeannette "speak easy" proprietors, warning the town officials that if they do not cease persecuting, the town will be spared to the public buildings and county bridges.

To Sign the New Scale.

PITTSBURG, June 14.—Wednesday next between the hours of 10 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. the iron wage committee of the Amalgamated association will meet the Pittsburg manufacturers and present for signature the proposed scale for the season of 1892-3.

Twenty-one Years for Wrenn.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., June 14.—Tim Wrenn, the negro rapist, was brought into court guarded by forty armed deputies. Wrenn pleaded guilty and was sentenced to twenty-one years in the penitentiary. The trial lasted just ten minutes.

Will Push the Whisky Trust Cases.

BOSTON, June 14.—District Attorney Allen says that he will continue to push the cases against the whisky trust officers until he receives the opinion of the federal court in Ohio.

Two Drowned While Bathing.

BRIDGEPORT, Mo., June 14.—Mitchell Cowling, twenty-four years, and John Selger, thirty-three years old, were drowned at Cross while bathing.

England as an Interpreter.

PARIS, June 14.—The Petit Journal accuses England of loosening the bonds of the alliance between France and Russia.

An Ontario Official Suicides.

OTTAWA, ONT., June 14.—Thomas Cross, chief clerk of the department of railways and canals, has committed suicide.

STONE UNDER ARREST.

Accused of Having Advised His Daughter-in-Law to Secure Herself.

MARLBOROUGH, N. Y., June 14.—Ex-Deacon Chester F. Stone, who, it is claimed his daughter-in-law and then drove her to suicide, is under arrest. The verdict of the coroner's jury charges Former Stone with advising and encouraging the unfortunate girl to end her life. The closing paragraph in the verdict is as follows: "We also find from the testimony and many letters in the case in that the deceased, Mary A. Stone, was advised and encouraged to commit the rash act by her father-in-law, Chester F. Stone, when she knew of his wife's visit and the paternity of her illegitimate child."

There is no doubt that this verdict was found directly upon the evidences contained in the letter left by Alice Stone. To use this verdict is borne out by the grand jury the ex-deacon will be obliged to answer to the charge of manslaughter in the first degree. The law is accordingly with section 175 of the penal code.

When Stone was called to the witness stand he told how he was at work when a boy ran to him and yelled, "Alice has shot herself!" When asked whether Alice had ever made any threats in his hearing he replied, "Very many times, but I never believed she would do it."

"Did she," asked the coroner, "within the week before her death make any such threats?"

"Yes, sir, a day or two before she said to me, 'Father, I'll blow my brains out. I can't stand this any longer.' I told her not to do that, and said if I found she was going to kill myself I should think drowning would be the easiest way. I never told her to go drown herself. When she repeated the threat I said, 'Alice, you had better shoot me. Then I said, 'No,' for she would be hung if she did."

The coroner then asked the witness to tell what occurred when he told Alice she would have to leave his home.

"I never told her that," indignantly replied Stone. "I begged her to stay and make her home with me. When she had made up her mind to leave I asked her what she wished to take with her. She replied, 'I want to a sewing table, and I said 'Yes.' Then she said she would like the piano. I told her that the piano was hers, that I had willed it to her."

The letter found in the dress of the dead woman reads as follows:

For whoever finds this:

My name is ruined and it is impossible for me to live longer. I have told the one who ruined me that I should blow my brains out, and he very coolly told me to go ahead. I think it would be the easiest death; but I have not the strength to go to the river and my head hurts so that I am afraid I shall fail in my resolve. I want my own people to have Challis. My sister Edith has promised me always to take care of him if anything should happen to me. I do not want his Grandfather or Grandmother Stone to see him only from a distance, as they have said being laid away. As they are neither of them fit to bring up a child, and I would rather he would beg on the streets than to be with them.

Rev. J. E. Ackerman then took the stand. He gave a an important which history of the case, and among other documents read two letters in which Chester P. Stone made a clean confession of his guilty relations with the daughter-in-law. The letters were then given to the jury. In a little less than an hour they brought in the verdict. Up to a late hour Stone was still in charge of a constable, waiting to secure bail.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

The treasury department purchased 294,-000 ounces of silver at $0.897.

Mrs. Levi P. Tiles, mother of Senator Tiles, died suddenly at Madison, Wis.

The Almy murder case will be heard by the New Hampshire supreme court at Concord July 11.

The last indication at Washington of the coming hegira to Chicago was the granting of leave of absence to Senator Voorhees until June 20.

The khan of Tangiers has started with 8,000 troops to punish the rebels of Anjerah.

Captain Lugard, of the British East African company, has been ordered to abandon Uganda.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to rob the Baltimore and Ohio fast express at Connellsville, Pa., Sunday night.

Dr. Terry, a well known Philadelphia physician, died on the 5th inst., as he was suffering from an incurable disease.

The stone cutters employed by John Hanna at New Britain, Conn., have quit work on account of a strike by delegates of the union, who claims that the stone used by Hanna is boycotted.

Charles Waltz, an accountant, while giving an exhibition of his skill on the fair ground fell, 1,500 feet owing to the failure of his parachute to work, and sustained fatal injuries.

The three foreigners who were arrested in Paris for having in their possession explosive and calling him a "wooden head," were released by the police.

Secretary Foster has appointed Harry M. Calhoun of Indiana, assistant solicitor for New York at a salary of $6,000 per year.

The condition of Mrs. Harrison continues about the same. She holds up remarkably well under the prostrating effects of the extremely warm weather. She will leave Washington some time in July for the Adirondacks.

Phil Dwyer Gets the Stake Money.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Phil Dwyer, the well known turfman, has received the two deposits of the $10,000 stake money for the Sullivan-Corbett match which is subscribed to take place before the Olympic club, in New Orleans, on Sept. 7 next.

Three Women Stand for Trial.

HAMMONTON, N. J., June 14.—Mrs. Lloyd who committed suicide, and Mrs. Ellen Powell and Miss Elizabeth Van Rodmore, of Hammonton, were held for trial, charged with procuring abortion. Miss Van Rodmore is in a dying condition.

Nick Tesla's Fabulous Idea.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Superintendent Eales, in an interview with a correspondent in Washington, declared that $100,000,000 would be necessary next year to pay the pensions granted to ex-Union soldiers and their widows.

The Police Have a Clew.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—The police think they have a clew to the Berkley train robbers. A reward of $1,000 has been offered for the capture of W. D. Smith and Joe Davis, former employees of the Judson company.

No One Drowned at the Lake.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 14.—A special to The Journal from Excelsior, Minn., on the shore of Lake Minnetonka, says there is no truth in the rumor that a steamer was capsized and that a number of persons were drowned.

Jurymen Stand for Damages.

PARIS, June 14.—The twelve jurymen in the Deacon case have signed a petition asking for the immediate arrest of Mr. Dacon. The petition will be presented some time this week, it is said.

CARRIAGES and HARNESS.

$15.00

Buys hand made rubber mounted harness.

$100.00

Buys canopy top, natural wood carry.

Prices and styles to suit all.

SWIFT SAFETIES.

RYERSON,

32 SOMERSET STREET.

PIPTONIZED

Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'

To the Public:

Neuman Bros.

Desire to call special attention to their choice and select line of new canned vegetables, viz: French Peas, preserved sugar corn, Succotash & Martin's Paris asparagus, Shrewsbury tomatoes, Nori tomatoes, F. H. Leggett's stewed tomatoes, Fait & Winborne's extra sifted peas, Golden Gate sugar peas, extra early June peas, Hamburg Stringless Beans, Hudson River asparagus and tips.

Special reduction given by the case or dozen. Also a fine assortment of Gordon & Dewerth's jellies and sardines.

79 BROADWAY.

George - Bremmer,

No 28 SOMERSET STREET,

—READY MADE CLOTHING,

or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

Painters' Cards

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet

MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS,

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters

and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 18 Vine street. H. S. Gayle, No. 15 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 315.

R. V. SAUNS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Evton.

P. O. Box 1288

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. P. HOFFMAN.

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

Residence—24 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ARNOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Orders may be left at residence, 16 Arlington avenue, or at shop, 21 Somerset street. Interior hard wood work a specialty.

JOHN HERRMANN,

Dealer in all kinds of hard wood mantels and other pieces of furniture. Corner Second and Second streets, Shop, corner of Second and Second streets. Shop, 2 Somerset street, Plainfield.

GARDEN

FLOWER & LAWN

Seeds and

Fertilizers.

Special Lawn Seeds for shady and dry lawns.

GARDEN TOOLS

and

Lawn Mowers.

WATER PIPING AND PLUMBING.

Tinware, Hardware and Housefurnishings.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS ↓ †

‡ ‖ § PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—29 East Front street.

Joseph T. Sullivan,

No. 66 West Third Street,

Dealer in Choice

Wines, Liquors, etc.

BEER ON DRAUGHT.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

92 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

6 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.

9 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

20 & 22 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE.

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Six Varieties)

Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : :

- - - NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 46 EMILY STREET.

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any the of first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer, Telephone Co 137.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(The Port Reading R. R. Co., Lessee.)

Stations in Plainfield are at foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect May 15, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield for New York, 2 16, 4 37, 5 39, 6 14, 6 38, 7 55, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

Leave New York for Plainfield, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield for Newark, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

Leave Newark for Plainfield, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

Leave Somerville for Plainfield, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND SAYREVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

Leave Sayreville for Plainfield, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 7 30, 8 40, a. m., 1 30, 5 30 p. m.

Leave Lake Hopatcong at 7 30, 8 40, a. m., 1 30, 5 30 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

8 36 a. m. Express for Easton, Phillipsburg, Allentown, Bethlehem, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Pittston, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Williamsport, Sunbury, Shamokin, Lewisburg, Watsontown, Milton, Northumberland, Renovo, Lock Haven, Tyrone, Bellefonte, Altoona, Pittsburg, Erie, Cleveland, Akron, Canton, Alliance, Orrville, Mansfield, Crestline, Galion, Bucyrus, Forest, Kenton, Upper Sandusky, Carey, Fostoria, Findlay, Bowling Green, Toledo, Chicago, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Louisville, St. Louis, Columbus, Mount Vernon

THAT BROTHER OF MINE.

Who is it comes in like a whirlwind
And chases the flower in with a clean,
And, before he has taken his hat off,
Calls out for "some bread and some jam?"
Who is it that whistles so loudly,
As he works at some tangle of twine
That will send his kite up into cloudland?
Why, of course it's that brother of mine.

Who is it that, when I am weary,
Has always a hole in his coat,
A button to sew on in a hurry,
Or needs to be mended for a boat?
Who is it that hears in his basket
His marbles and long fishing line,
And squeals, undisturbed, there to find them?
No one else but that brother of mine.

Who is it that tiptoes about softly,
Whenever I'm sick or in pain,
And is every minute forgetting
And whistling some head splitting strain?
Who is it that when he is trying
To be just as still as he can,
Is always most terribly noisy?
My brother—no other—that's the man.

Who is it I'd rather have by me
When in need of a true, honest friend;
Who is it that I shall miss sadly
When I'm off on a visit for an end?
And when he is far from the old home,
And I long for a glimpse of sunshine,
When then is it I miss most and need her?
Why, of course, for that brother of mine.
—Agnes L. Pratt in Good Housekeeping.

GIRLS CAN KEEP SECRETS.

Sathbound Greek Letter Societies That Exist in Colleges for Women.

In the coeducational colleges the girls are not dependent upon the caprice of the young men for entertainment by any means. They have quite as good times in their petticoat nines and secret societies as in any gathering in which the young men participate. The initiations of the Greek letter fraternities are strange and mysterious to the last degree, and are all that student ingenuity and originality can devise. One of the chief charms to the uninitiated is the spell of mystery that enshrines all the ceremonies. Every chapter has its room or hall, where are kept the sacred emblems, the while a great oath which all initiates must ride into full membership and the precious documents that are never beheld by strange hands.

In this connection only are told the significance of the badge, the motto and the real name of the fraternity, and all the secrets that never penetrate beyond the walls. Of course the initiations are duly imposing, and all sorts of tricks are played to test the nerves of the candidate. One chapter conducts the bewildered initiate through all the mazes and labyrinths of the inferno as expounded by Dante with due impressiveness. Generally the whole proceedings wind up with a feast. The girls' initiation do not partake of that roughness or brutality which often characterizes such ceremonies in the men's fraternities, such as strapping the delighted victim to a derrick and raising him twenty or thirty feet to dangle in midair while he reflects upon the novelty of the situation and makes a mental note of his impressions, or lowering him in a coffin that he may contemplate the divine mysteries of the new order. Sometimes even the location of the chapter hall is not known outside the fraternity.

In one of the western colleges where considerable antagonism sprang up against fraternities the authorities determined to abolish the chapters already in existence and took every means to discourage their growth. As one was forbidding the establishment of women's fraternities. Now if there is anything in the world that a co-ed wishes to do, it is just what she is forbidden to do, and what is more she will generally contrive to do it too. After a while the faculty began to suspect that their prohibition had not had just the effect it was intended to have. A committee of several co-eds among the model students was appointed by the authorities to act as detectives and report the result of their investigations.

The girls reported that they had found no clew whatever to follow out and that having made a careful investigation had found no evidence of infringement of the rule. Of course murder will out, and it was subsequently learned that three of the five on the committee belonged to a fraternity which had enjoyed a flourishing existence for a long time. The young women met in a storeroom in the upper part of a business block in the town. The only means of access was through a dark room, several dim passages and up a ladderlike flight of stairs. The chapter met here once a week for over a year and enjoyed the most delightful seclusion imaginable.

It was in this same college that several of the girls played a prank upon one of the professors, and afterward slid down a rope from the third story window to avoid detection in the halls. The more dangerous the proceeding and the more serious the consequences of the offense is found out the more the western college girl enjoys the risk. She wants nothing mild, and it is to be for a purpose to put into it with all her might.—Chicago Herald.

A Plea for Co-education.

Education is for the purpose of developing and cultivating the thinking power. It is to the end of making a knowing and thinking man. The higher education is for the realization of broad knowledge and wide thinking. When we know this we know that the sister in a household should be educated as her brother is educated, that the mother should have the power, by reason of her own serious thought on literature, history, art, the varied good things of life, to guide and train the thought power of her children; that the wife should be in intellectual oneness with her husband, ever stimulating and inspiring him by her thinking, and never giving the opposite, a dragging down. Where ignorance, deprecation, her mental capacity in comparison with his own.

It is too late in the world's history to think that a woman's mind is not of as much consequence as a man's mind, or that, whatever may be her peculiar sphere, she is not to be richly developed, and, if we may use the word, thoroughly educated as well as he.—Timothy Dwight in Forum.

Babies.

A baby is born at every beat of the human heart. That is more than one for every tick of the clock. These "living jewels" (as the poets call babies) "dropped unstained from heaven," take wings and fly back whence they came one for every minute of the day. From Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 there are 365,000,000 and 40,000,000 living jewels are dropped into this cold world.

There are more baby girls than boy babies. The proportion of female births to male births is as 100 to 105. Thus between 2,000,000 and 2,000,000 more girls are born in the world each year than boys. There is always a surplus of women, and the extra number of girl babies keeps up the supply.

The rate of infant mortality is enormous. In round numbers, 5,000,000 babies never live long enough to talk, 5,000,000 more never have a chance to walk or run and 5,000,000 more never get old enough to go to school.—Baby.

Wandering a Boy's Intellect.

I knew a hard working literary assistant, one of those women who is born for her sex and yet neglected her office with a sort of loving enthusiasm for its possibilities. This lady observed one day that a little frisk boy who came for his books used to loiter long along the counter fine of story books which that literary would offer. She thought, and thought rightly, that he had had enough of them. She called him to her desk and showed him a handsomely illustrated book of butterflies. She asked him if he had ever seen any butterflies or grubs and made him promise her to tell her about them. She asked him if he would not like to know more about them, and then promised that if he would bring some specimens she would let them see some of the elegant illustrated books which bore on that matter.

When the little pirate came, she had put by for him a number of the tempting books which are now printed, open to the capacities of children, and she started them on a new career. Before a great while she had boring elegant—for example, that they were themselves watching the insects which they could readily enough find on the Common or in the parks of Boston, were making their own collection, and in short were started as naturalists, with a hobby, with an enthusiasm, with some portion of higher life, because she was willing to turn aside from the routine of book delivery to take one of them into her councils and to start him heavenward while there was a chance of his going in the other way. Perhaps an instance like that gives a better idea of what I should like to urge upon men and women who have some conscience than I could give by any argument based more upon theory.—Edward Everett Hale in Cosmopolitan.

The Way of the World.

"I met that Mrs. Smythe coming up the avenue with a great bunch of pink roses pinned on the front of her black dress. What ails the woman, Ella?"

"But, Ella," said the mother of the young lady who was speaking; "pink and black go well together."

"Yes, but pink and wrinkles don't. Roses on that elderly specimen—the idea!"

The "elderly specimen" went home, took off her roses, smelled of them lovingly, shook their petals tenderly, and then with a little sigh put them into a pasteboard box and called a messenger.

"Take these to Blank hospital and give them to the little girl in room No. 2 of the children's ward."

They fell fairer than the roses.

A little girl, pale, deformed, lay sleeping on a narrow cot. Her face was disfigured, and in her sleep she murmured over and over again the one word "pain."

When she opened her eyes she saw something pink.

"Oh," she cried, "my dear, dear rosest Mrs. Smythe has sent them. How I love them!"

They lightened her room, and lifted the cloud from the dark horizon of her life, and brought a breath of the air and sunshine that to the child were only heavenly dreams.

Mrs. Smythe loved flowers too. That was why she wore the roses home before she sent them out on their mission.

And so must the world enlightened be.—Detroit Free Press.

Women and Their Coats of Arms.

The people whose business it is to supply coats of arms furnish very entertaining reading. One of these asserts that he was commissioned by a charming girl to repaint the family shield. Her boudoir, she averred, was to be done over in white and gold, and the violent reds and blues of the family coat of arms would not harmonize with the new decorations. In vain the herald averred her labor. It was impossible to change the colors of armorial bearings, but on the young woman declaring she would take them elsewhere, as a business man he consented, and changed them to blue and gold. The prevailing tastes in coats of arms runs to dragons, lions and tigers.

One lady's pedigree being unraveled required a red eye leaping and dragging a golden chain. The lady was greatly impressed. The herald, who gives a handsome lion rampant, while she had received a monkey, as if she was an organ grinder. The wife of a military man on her part selected a flag with a cannon. The venerable device, on her coat of arms, was very indignant. "Only noncommissioned officers wear cherevons," she said. "My husband was never in the ranks."—New York Evening Sun.

A Mother's Duty to Her Family.

Diametrically different constitutions and temperaments are found in the same family. One son may be gifted with talents approaching to genius in arts or mechanics, while another may have no natural gift except a sturdy manhood, which every one must learn to respect, and it would be madness for one mother to try to force the same everyday ideas to argue against the other, who may seem to him but a flighty dreamer.

There is room enough in the world for all kinds and conditions of men and women, provided always that they are honest and true. It is a mother's duty especially to study the individuality of her children, to curb back no good aspiration; to check no useful talent, however mediocre it may seem to her. It may be the stepping stone to something higher.

A mother's life must be of necessity a succession of little things—a continual sacrifice. A happy family life of many members cannot be maintained unless there is concession and sacrifice on the part of every member. And in a small degree every child is an epitome of the life of the great world outside.—New York Tribune.

Miss Freeman Palmer.

In 1879 Miss Freeman went as professor of history to Wellesley college. In 1881 she became acting president, and in 1882 she accepted the presidency of the college. As in the days when she was a student at Ann Arbor, so her popularity was unbounded in her new field of labor. A pleasing, infinite tact, a masterly executive ability, a clear and keen intelligence, and above all a nobility of nature which is supplemented by the deepest religious devotion, it was not strange that her corps of teachers and professors cherished in common with her pupils a profound love and respect. "Don't call me fleshy!" said a lady of magnificent proportions. "I don't object to my size, but I simply can't bear that word!"

Another woman has not the least desire to marry, but cannot endure being called a "spinster."

Not long ago a pretty woman in the throng announced her intention of taking a somewhat extended trip alone, and ended it like the remark, "An old maid like me doesn't need an escort."

Then Marjorie, the little maid of the family, burst into a torrent of tears.

"You're not an old maid, auntie!" she wailed. "You're not! I can't bear it!"

"But I am, Marjorie," said her aunt, laughing. "Why, it's a nice thing to be like that."

"Oh, but you're not, you're not!" cried Marjorie, and she pushed off to the study to ask pantomimically, "Papa, is auntie an old maid?"

"No, dear," said her father soothingly, "not at all. She's only a postponed bride."

That proved wondrous comforting. The tears ceased instantly, and the little maid herself was somewhat electrified when a caller came that afternoon to hear the little girl inquire sweetly and in a tone so innocent that no one could suppose her meaning to repeat the remark:

"Did you know Aunt Helen is a postponed bride? Isn't it nice?"—Youth's Companion.

Valuable Zeal.

An exchange says that a lady who was looking about in a brie-a-brac shop, with a view to purchasing something odd, noticed a casket figure, the shoulders of which appeared above the counter.

"What a thing Japanese idol over there worth?" she inquired.

The shopkeeper's reply was given in a subdued tone:

"Worth about half a million, madame; it's the proprietor."

On Top Again.

"You never towld me yer husband was a sailor, Mrs. Donahue."

"Why, how's just like around the worruld."

"Close round to China on the opposite side, was he?"

"To be sure."

"Worra, but it must be easy he feels to get up here on top wanst more."—Washington Star.

Unsatisfiable.

A boy was stealing currants and was locked up in a dark closet by the grocer. The boy commenced to beg most pathetically to be released, and after much persuasion suggested, "Now if you'll let me out and send for my father, he'll pay you for the currants and lick me besides. The grocer could not withstand this appeal.—Texas Siftings.

An Absurd Request.

"You borrowed a fiver of me the other day, you know."

"Yes-es."

"I'd like to have it back if you can"—Indianapolis Journal.

The Advent of Summer.

The tennis blazer soon will mean
To brighten up the emerald lawn.
And in his fishing togs we'll see
The handsome hair-lip of dawn.

In paddling suit, with bottoms big,
The youth the quarter deck will strut
And thus arrayed in colors bright
A dashing figure he will cut.

We'll see him walk along the beach
In ruffled suits of sober style,
Or else arrayed for mountain climbs,
The summer hours away he'll while.

And as the summer girl he seeks
With whom to while away
His tailor will remain at home,
And wonder when he'll get his pay.
—Cloth'er and Furnish'er.

THE THINNING OF THE THATCH.

I was once a merry rookie—early handed I was called,
And I laughed at grand old people when I saw 'em going bald.
But it's not a proper subject to be lightly joked about,
For it's dreadful to discover that your roof is wearing out!

I remember asking uncle—in my innocent surprise—
How he liked his head made use of as a skating rink by flies;
But although their dread intrusion I shall manfully resist,
I'm afraid they soon will have another rink upon their list.

When invited to a party I'm invariably late,
For I waste the time in efforts to conceal my growing pate.
Though I coax my hair across it—though I brush away for weeks,
Yet I can't prevent it parting and dividing into streaks.

I have tried a hair restorer, and I've rubbed my head with rum,
But the thatch kept getting thinner, and the new hair doesn't come;
So I gaze into the mirror with a gloomy, resistant stare,
For the strain's getting wider of that open patch up there.

People tell me that my spirits I must not always lose to fall,
And that other generations won't have any hair at all—
Well, they'll never know an anguish that can adequately match
With the pangs of watching day by day the thinning of your thatch!
—C. K. Shetterly in Chicago Tribune.

A Powerful Extract.

—Life.

Economy the Road to Wealth.

"Whose fine mansion is that?"

"That is the dwelling of old Biggindy, the coal baron. It represents an entire year's pinching, scraping and economizing."

"He's immensely wealthy, isn't he?"

"Worth millions."

"Then what was the need of his pinching and scraping?"

"Oh, he didn't have to do the economizing. He made a 10 per cent. cut in wages the year he built it."—Chicago Tribune.

With a Difference.

One is sometimes startled at the discovery of a new and most disagreeable force in a single word, when that word is applied to himself to characterize some unpleasant trait of his own. A San Jose professor, infinite tact, a masterly executive ability, a clear and keen intelligence, and above all a nobility of nature which is supplemented by the deepest religious devotion, it was not strange that her corps of teachers and professors cherished in common with her pupils a profound love and respect. "Don't call me fleshy!" said a lady of magnificent proportions. "I don't object to my size, but I simply can't bear that word!"

Another woman has not the least desire to marry, but cannot endure being called a "spinster."

Not long ago a pretty woman in the

This Date in History—June 14.

1645—Battle of Naseby, Cromwell and Fairfax defeated Charles I. and dispersed his army.

1775—Colonel McArthur born in Dalhousie county, N. B. died near Chilli-coke, O., 1836; soldier, congressman and governor of Ohio.

1815—Battle of Marengo and death of General Louis D. d'Autoux, Chevalier Charles Drake, author, died in Boston, aged 77.

1826—Mary E. Prescott, author, died near Hackberry, Texas, born 1808.

1830—Sudden outbreak of cholera in Spain; 30 cases and the terrible general alarm and consternation of citizens.

No Good.

It was in front of the Broadway. They had just come in from Pumktown, and were debating ways and means to see Frohman's Lyceum on the following day.

"Tain't no use in us all goin in," said Cy Prime, "till we know whether it's any good or not. Guess we jist club together and send Seth in to see the show."

Accordingly a purse was made, and Seth Jones went in to pass critical judgement on the show.

His companions had been standing on the sidewalk about ten minutes when Seth came out. On his countenance was a look of keen disgust, and he proceeded to remember with which an operatic manager counting a sheaf of dollar bills in a happy blending of pantomime and ventriloquism.

"Take no good 'tall! I've seen better troupe right in Pumktown."

"Didn't it about?" asked his brother Josiah.

"Nothin. Only thing I see was a lot of fellers settin in front of a big picter of Jim."—Dramatic Mirror.

A Mystery.

"Paw, how wide is the Mississippi river?"

"In some places, my son, it is now ten or twenty miles wide."

"And how wide is a railroad track, paw?"

"Four or five feet. Why do you ask?"

"Cause the fellers that made this X, Y, and Z railroad map have got it just the other way."—Chicago Tribune.

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION.
1873. Membership 158,000. 1892.
Death benefits paid over $20,000,000 since organization.
Watchung Lodge, 701, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Thursdays, at eight p. m., in Watchung Lodge rooms, Music Hall Building.
Immediate relief, $100, sick benefits per week $5.
LOUIS I. VANALSTYNE, Dictator.
RALPH A. V. MORGAN, Reporter.
Watchung Commandery, No. 34, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight p. m.

Hotels.

Caspar's Hotel,

24 & 26 E. Front St

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Transient and Family Boarders taken at

Reasonable † Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE.

Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wesse V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.

City Hotel,

Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Kline's Extracts,

Pure Fruit Flavors.

We are getting away with lots of Rinest Shoes this month—now is the time to buy them.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S.
22 West Front street.

P. S.—Our $2 shoe never takes a back seat

IF!

A poor article is dear at any price.
A good article is cheap at any price.

The Duluth Imperial Flour is the best in the world and the prices are right.

Insist on having it from your grocer, or apply to

FRENCH BROTHERS,

TELEPHONE 24. 8, 10 and 12 SOMERSET STREET.

Big Bargains.

Extra fine 36c. Dress Ginghams at 16c.
Fruit Dress Ginghams, 7c.
Cutting Flannels, 5c.
Spool Silk in Tidy Lengths, 12c.
New figured Organdie at 8c., very stylish and pretty.
Fine Satin Parasols, 49c.
Fine Silk Parasols, 98c.
Black Silk Mitts, 25c.

Beautiful Fancy Cotton Pongee at 12c. Just the thing for Shirt Waists at 37c.
Men's Night Shirts etc.
Men's Collars and Cuffs.
Men's Cutting Shirts, etc.
The best 50c. ventilated Corsets ever offered at 25c.
Superior Silk Gloves Undressed, 47c.

Our assortment of new styles Mattings and Low Prices surpasses anything ever before offered in this city. Our assortment of Elegant Carpets, Art Squares, Rugs, etc., is complete and prices guaranteed the Lowest.

EDSALL'S!

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER

One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.

Whole Suits from $5 up.

Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.

70 WEST FRONT STREET.

THE BEE HIVE!

Summer Underwear.

Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.

Ladies' ribbed vests, in high neck, short sleeves and long sleeves, 25c.

Ladies' gauze vests, in short and long sleeves.

Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed, gauze and medium weight.

Men's Jacquard Socks, in long and short sleeves, and drawers at 25, 37 and 50c.

Men's Summer Merino shirts and drawers, 25, 37 and 50c.

Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, 9c.

Children's Summer merino and gauze vests, in short and long sleeves also panties, sizes: 16, 18c.; 20, 22c.; 24, 26c.; 28, 30c.; 32, 35c.; 34, 38c.

A full line of Parasols, Lace caps, white dresses, and infants' long and short cashmere coats.

Louis Callman,
40 West Front Street.

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC

SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS

SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC

4 & 5 cents per Copy.

Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.

A. M. Vanderbeek's,
28 PARK AVENUE.

C. DICKINSON,

PRACTICAL

OPTICIAN

and

JEWELER.

Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Agent for the American

Rambler Bicycles.

No. 13 Park avenue.

Miss Blanche Fellows

VOCALIST

and Teacher of Singing.

Rapid development and complete education of the voice.

Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formation and tone production.

Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Call or address
NO. 27 DUKE STREET.

13c. Buys a New Broom at V. and W.'s

Wash Dress Fabric.

Our assortment is considered the finest ever displayed in town. There are Irish Lawns at 12c., Cluster Crepe Cloth at 7½., Novelty Cloth at 7½c., Satteens at 7½, 10 and 12½., Percales at 10 and 12c. for the fine ones Scotch Ginghams at 12c., corsets price 25c.

For Twenty-eight Cents

We will sell 5 dozen extra fine Corset Covers made of Lonsdale Cambric and Hamburgh trimming.

Spring Coats.

We are anxious to show our stock this coming week and to it we have reduced every garment one third its regular price.

For Twelve Cents

We are selling an extra good Ribbed Vest, cheap at 18c.

Chevelin Cloth

Is a very fine combed French Dress material, that is specially adapted for afternoon wear. They come in all the new Summer colorings and you will surely like them. Price 15c.

Porch Screens

Are very handy to have when you want to sit out on your porch or piazza. We have them in all sizes and they cost but little.

For Five Cents Each

We will sell 5c. dozen fine thin tumblers, former price $1 dozen.

Crockery, Housefurnishings and Tinware—In this department we are offering some extra inducements. Call and see for yourself what is in the store to look through this department.

For Nineteen Cents

You buy Cream Pots of complete. This is a fine variegated pink, and is far better than any pale ever sold at the same price.

Van Emburgh & White.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,

OF PLAINFIELD.

Firm of

RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY,

Importers and Tailors,

231 Broadway, New York.

Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring.

Moderate Prices.

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with

LAMP AND BELL,

under penalty of $50 fine.

A large and complete assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the

Wheelmen's Headquarters,

Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.

FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

RANDOLPH'S

BEEF, IRON AND WINE,

THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!

PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

31 WEST FRONT STREET.

1892		JUNE.				1892
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fri.	Sat.
			1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2 4:51	Third Quarter	17 4:01
Full Moon	10 8:35	New Moon	24 9:07

Just What You Need!

If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an

Arnold Steam Cooker,

Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.

You can buy the above articles at 61 Park avenue. Also the only genuine made by the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD,

M. E. BEACH, Agent.

Tennis, Croquet, Hammocks, etc.

10 PER CENT. OFF

on all Tennis Goods.

Special Discounts

on large orders or to clubs.

A. W. RAND,

24 West Front Street.

FRED. W. DUNN,

Successor to

Barkalew & Dunn,

19 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Fine Groceries.

THREE SEP TEA

GET YOUR

Bicycle Repaired

NO. 8 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

by

Henry Goeller, Jr.

COAL and WOOD,

E. H. HOLMES,

YARDS—64 Madison Avenue.
Office—27 North avenue, (with Washburn & Scott).

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. — 2 cents per Week, Delivered.

E. W. Merrihew, Editor and Proprietor, Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Leeds Bros. Tel. Co. Printing of All Kinds.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," WEDNESDAY, JUNE 15, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

News subscribers leaving town for their vacation, should send new address to this office, before leaving. No extra charge for mailing The News to them.

BREVITIES

—A Harrison and Reid battery is soon to be organize in Cranford.

—Those are the days that the "ice cream girl" gotteth in her work.

—The National Democratic Convention will meet in Chicago a week from yesterday.

—Smallpox is reported breaking out in Paterson and growing much worse in Passaic.

—Wednesday morning, June 22d, is the morning of song of the High School. All interested are invited.

—The Order of Railway Conductors will have its first annual excursion this year on Tuesday, July 12th. They will go to Lake Hopatcong.

—A mad organ man has been grinding out "Sweet Violets," and "Te-ra-ra, Boom-de-ra" this afternoon. What his fate was we do not know.

—A mothers' meeting in charge of Mrs. Fernald will be held in the W. C. T. U. rooms Thursday afternoon at 3.30. A large attendance is desired.

—The World's Fair Commission met yesterday at the State House and discussed plans for "Little Jersey's" agricultural exhibit at the big exposition.

—A "Festival of Roses," under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, will be held in Vincent chapel on June 16th and 17th. For particulars see advertisement.

—Iced tea is the delicious drink for this hot weather. Messrs. Neuman Bro's have a 50-cent Formosa that they recommend. Strawberries received every morning. See advertisement.

—One of the delightful watering places at which to spend vacation time, so say all who have been there is at the Clifton House, Fatchogue, Long Island. Mr. Clifton of this city is the proprietor.

—The "Central" will run an excursion to Manch Chunck, Glen Onoko and the former Switch Back, on Saturday, the 18th inst. Fair, round trip $1.75. Train will leave North avenue depot at 9.37 a. m.

—To-night a meeting of the executive committee of the Journal trophy road races, will hold a meeting in Elizabeth. The entries for the first heat in this series will close with Capt. Calhoun of U. C. B. to-night.

—A rather mournful looking card was being handed about the street this morning announcing that the Rev. Dr. Chas. D. Eaton will address the pupils of Mr. Leal's school at their closing exercises at the Casino, Friday morning, June 17th.

—To-morrow evening at eight o'clock, the anniversary of the Ladies' Aid Society of the German church will be held in the lecture room of the church. Refreshments will be served. Patrons and friends are cordially invited.

—"The Whatsoever Circle" King's Daughters, of the Trinity Reformed Church, will hold a strawberry and ice-cream festival at 59 North avenue, on the afternoons and evenings of June 16th and 17th. Potted plants for sale will be one of the specialties.

—Chancellor McGill will hear to-day the arguments of counsel of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company, as to why the temporary injunction, restraining that company from carrying out the recent lease of the New Jersey Central road, shall not be made permanent.

—The employees on the Port Reading, Lehigh Valley Division, are making serious objections to the new mode of being paid by checks, instead of the necessary lucre. The new system went into effect yesterday, when the pay day passed through and the employees "kicked" against this new way of doing business.

—The Union county correspondent to the New Brunswick Home News says: "The heavy rains of Wednesday and Thursday were especially beneficial to grass, which promises a fair yield. Corn has come up well, except on low ground, which has been too wet. All farm crops and garden truck are looking well but need plenty of warm weather and sunshine." Would they like anything warmer than Monday and Tuesday?

—At the encampment of Winfield Scott Post, No. 72, held last night, the Post took action on General Horace Porter's idea of collecting money to add to the Grant Monument Fund. Gen. Porter's plan is as follows: Each Post is furnished with parchment and the members of the Post upon payment of one dollar sign their name and company that they served in during the late war. The plan is a good one and is highly recommended by all interested.

—Serious charges have been preferred against Rabbi Goodstein, of the Jewish synagogue of this city, by Rom Korogski, a seventeen-year old servant girl employed by him. The preliminary hearing was to have taken place this morning but before Justice Nash, but has been postponed until further developments appear. The physicians think that the girl is mistaken about her supposed condition upon which she based her charges, and the Rabbi says it is a case of blackmail.

The Doll Show.

The Doll Show and Fair, in behalf of the Brule Indian Mission, is being held at the Seminary, Seventh street, this afternoon, and will be continued this evening.

PERSONAL.

—The engagement of Miss Helen Warman of this city, and Mr. George Craig of Texas is announced.

Mr. Charles Pawlison, formerly of this city, but now of Philadelphia, arrived here to-day to attend the Manning—Dunn nuptials.

The Rev. Charles Dunn, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Albany, N. Y., is in this city and will officiate at the Manning—Dunn wedding this afternoon.

Miss Sadie Grant of Buffalo, who is visiting in this city, will leave this week for Asbury Park, where she will spend several days before returning to her home.

Judge Ulrich of this city returned from the Republican convention last night and immediately left for Somerville. He is expected back in this city to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Allan B. Wallace, all of Newark, returned to that city to-day after a few days' sojourn at the residence of Mr. H. M. Nevin of this city.

School Trustee J. C. Lounsbury is treasurer of the Hastings Card Company of New York, but for the past three months he has been compelled to keep away from business because of nervous prostration.

Mr. C. S. Kissam of this city, delivered a very interesting and stirring address at the Men's meeting yesterday afternoon at the Railway Y. M. C. A. rooms, his subject being "Impure Lips." The address was listened to with much interest by all present.

Mayor Gilbert who returned from the Republican Convention Monday night, told a News reporter this morning that he feels confident that the Republican ticket will sweep the country at the November elections. Mr. Gilbert leaves the city Sunday night, for Washington, and will dine with President Harrison Monday.

Miss Maria F. Gehres of Dunellen and Mr. Edward C. Reusch, a merchant of South Orange, N. J., were united in marriage at the residence of Mr. W. S. Stevens, at 5.30 o'clock to-day, by the Rev. A. J. Martine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of that place. The bride and groom left by carriage for South Orange this afternoon, at which place they will have their future residence.

The funeral of Frank Haffner of this city, who died at half-past twelve yesterday, will take place to-morrow afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. Winfield Scott Post No. 72, of which the deceased was a member, will attend the funeral in a body from his late residence on Manning avenue. The interment will be in the Soldiers' Plot, West Hill cemetery. Stages will run from this city to the cemetery.

Mr. Edward Phillips, the actor, better known on the stage as Edwin Varrey, and whose beautiful home is on the mountains west of this city, has entered into contract with Joseph Jefferson, to play with Jefferson's company in "Rip Van Winkle" next season. Mr. Phillips has lately been with Paulding's "Struggle for Life" Company. He was formerly connected with the Joseph Jefferson Company.

Mrs. William Beekman, an old and respected resident of Dunellen, died at her home on Front street, in that place, yesterday afternoon at four o'clock after a lingering illness of many months from consumption. Her husband died a year ago last March from the same cause. She leaves behind her a large family of small children. Mrs. Beekman was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church of Dunellen of many years' standing and was conferred in her last moments by the ministrations of her pastor. Rev. Mr. Kinney. She died as the Christian dies.

The wedding of Mr. John Henry Manning, the General Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city, and Miss Clara Owen Dunn, daughter of Mr. Stephen Dunn of Park avenue, this city, will take place at the Crescent Avenue Church at five-thirty o'clock this afternoon. The Rev. Charles E. Dunn of Albany will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Richards of this city. There will be no bridesmaids and the reception will be only attended by the most intimate friends of the families. The ushers will be Messrs. William D. Murray, J. A. Robinson, O. O. Clark of this city, and Mr. Charles Powlison, formerly of this city, but now connected with the Y. M. C. A. at Philadelphia. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Manning will leave on an extended wedding trip. The Y. M. C. A. have raised a purse of $200, which they have presented to Secretary Manning as a wedding gift.

General James Negley of Seventh street, during his recent extended trip into remote sections of Mexico had adventures which were thrilling. He went three hundred miles in the mazuta over the wildest of country, visiting the Tarahumari Indians. During the journey he encountered many hardships and privations which many here have experienced in some part. The General was interested in some gold mines which many here have purchased and is going to Mexico again, this time of necessity to verify. Gen. Negley, from what he could be induced to tell a News reporter, visited Mexico in the capacity generally visited Mexico in last, when only seventy years old. The General is now seventy-two years old, and his knowledge has grown during the intervening years by having journeyed in almost every part of the country. His startling experiences in Indian country for a while, and both interesting but on one of the occasions when he was in the Indian country, due to misinformation given Gen. Negley greatly admires President Harrison, and speaks highly of him. Gen. Negley fought side by side with the Mexicans, and is one of the Secret Sights of the war.

OUR NEW BUILDINGS.

OVER A QUARTER OF A MILLION DOLLARS' WORTH GOING UP.

Houses Ranging in Cost or Value from $25,000 Down to $1,000, and the New $80,000 Church of the Seventh-Day Baptists.

There is considerable building going on in Plainfield at present, and yet builders consider it a very ordinary year for business.

Mr. J. B. Dumont is erecting a $25,000 residence on Broadway, at the junction of Seventh street and Crescent avenue. Mr. Dumont is ex-Vice President of the Colony Mills Company, and Mr. Paul R., the longest in the world. He was President of the Plainfield Council in 1889, and is a popular citizen.

Banker J. R. Barnum of Seventh street is erecting a $20,000 residence on Eighth street.

Mrs. VanBuren of East Ninth street, widow of the late Gen. Daniel T. Van Buren, retired regular army officer, is erecting a $20,000 residence on Central avenue.

Ex-Mayor Cooley of North Plainfield has nearly completed, on Somerset street, an $15,000 sanitarium.

Bookbinder Irving H. Brown is erecting a $17,000 home on Central avenue.

Hardware Dealer Barnert is putting up an $8,000 dwelling on Madison avenue.

Mr. J. H. Reinhart, recently of Boston, Vice-President of the Chicago-Atchison and Santa Fe R. R., is building a $6,000 carriage-house in the rear of his residence on Belvidere avenue, Mediterranean style.

It is estimated by builder Pangborn that the new church in course of construction on Central avenue, for the Seventh Day Baptists, will cost not less than $80,000.

Messrs. Loomis & Rice are erecting a $7,700 flat on West Second street.

Builders J. Manning & Son are erecting a $4,500 residence on Sandford avenue.

Ex-Assistant Postmaster Albert Runyon is building a $3,000 dwelling on Mountain avenue.

Mrs. Mantz of Craig place is building there a $5,500 residence.

A $3,500 office is being erected on North avenue by the Plainfield Water Supply Company.

Builder S. Williams is erecting a $5,500 home on Richmond street.

Builder J. B. Mills is constructing a $5,500 home on Westerveit avenue.

Hustler W. F. Fulper's new house on West Fourth street is to cost $8,000. He is of the firm of Fulper & Stephens, comprising the United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association.

That perpetual builder, "Charley" Hand, owner of the Crescent Rink, and ex-owner of Amphion Hall, is putting up three buildings at $3,200 each on East Clinton avenue, and two $1,400 dwellings on Astor place.

Collector H. N. Spencer of North Plainfield is erecting a $6,000 dwelling on Harmony street.

A $3,000 residence is under way on West Fourth street for Mr. H. Pugh.

Grocer William Firstbrook of West Fifth street is building a $5,000 house on Liberty street.

Clerk Harry R. McDonald of East Front street is to build a $6,000 house building on Arlington avenue.

James McCarthy is building on West Second street a $6,000 house.

Mr. John Mair is building a $6,000 cottage on Richmond street.

Mr. Philip Wessell is erecting a $6,000 cottage on Deer street.

On East Front street there is a $6,500 dwelling progressing for Mr. L. E. Hart.

Justice Nash is building a $5,500 dwelling on Webster place.

Mr. James Flynn has a $6,100 structure going up on Somerset street.

Mr. Bernard Grey has a $6,300 house constructing on Hillside avenue.

Mr. Charles Powell is erecting two $6,000 houses on LaGrand avenue.

Mrs. David Drake is having a $6,500 dwelling on Watson avenue.

Builder S. F. Hoffman is building a $1,000 house on West Third street.

Mr. Stephen Dunn of Park avenue is constructing on Spooner avenue.

Mr. Charles Hall is having built on Munson place for Mr. J. P. Manning.

Mr. David Hand is erecting a $6,000 house on Hillside avenue.

On Berckman street Mr. James McClain is putting up a $1,400 house.

Mr. C. J. Hoyer, Mr. John H. Blanton, and Foreman Hoffman are erecting three $1,400 dwellings on Somerset street.

Mr. Alvah Drake is erecting a $1,600 home on Brook avenue.

These 36 nearly $200,000 will represent the building progress for this year, or about Plainfield's yearly average. The statistics given are from the records of the remembrancer of the county combined.

It is said that Plainfield, but steady, and that the call for Plainfield as a place for desirable investment.

We are indebted, for much of the information given, to Mr. Charles Hand, through the courtesy of Mr. Charles E. H. Hand.

A School Reception.

The scholars of the Misses Sarlbour and Newton's school were tendered a reception by their principals at the school building on La Grande avenue, last evening.

An excellent time was enjoyed by all. Messrs. Rogers and Combs furnished the music.

Among the guests present were the following: The Misses Alice Haynes, Ethel Haynes, Lucy Haynes, Lizzie Brown, Lottie Porter, Edith Hyde, Daisy Sheppard, Annie Miller, Edith Van Sanford, Mary Norton, Marion Brown, Ethel Hurlbut, Mabel Salisbury, Dolly Brown, Edith Green, Lottie Love, Dolly Brown, Edith Cox, Rogers Erickson, Leo Titsworth, Andrew Price, Henry Lowe, L. E. Worthington, Frederick Hamilton and Vincent Rockwell.

PUBLIC SCHOOL RECEPTION DATE.

The Parents and Friends of the Scholars Invited to Attend.

As parents and friends may be interested to see the progress in the character and quality of the work of the pupils of the public schools, the teachers have arranged to have a display of available work during the last week of school.

The drawing shown on the walls of the Assembly Hall in high school building will give the entire course from the lowest primary through the high school. This will show in a connected view the work of the school year under this system.

The system is largely in use in Eastern Massachusetts. Miss Lavers, the drawing teacher of this year is a graduate of Quincy school and of the Boston Normal Art school.

The plan aims to connect a knowledge of geometrical forms with molding, paper-etching and pasting, nature study drawing from the object, original developing to mechanical drawing, light and shade with pencil and crayon, water-colors and artistic design. Beside the drawing, charts and year books will give the pupils' work in each study in each grade of the schools.

One day of the last week will be given to each of the primary schools. The teachers will be present from four to 5.30 in the afternoon to receive any of the parents or friends who may wish to see the work.

The reception days of the primaries will be as follows:

Franklin—Monday, June 20.
Washington—Tuesday, June 21.
Bryant—Wednesday, June 22.
Irving—Thursday, June 23, and in the evening the usual closing exercises.

Teachers of the Grammar School and High School will be present at four p. m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, from June 20 to 23, in Assembly Hall.

Pastor Nicolai's Pulpit Declared Vacant.

The special session of the Presbytery of Elizabeth to hear the report of the committee appointed to investigate the conduct of the Rev. Nicholas Nicolai, the retiring pastor of the German Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth, met yesterday afternoon in Westminster church, Elizabeth. Rev. Dr. Buckle presided. The committee, consisting of the Rev. Dr. Parry of Flemington, the Rev. Dr. McNulty of Woodbridge, the Rev. I. Stelvelt of Roselle, and Elders Squires of Plainfield and Penny of Roselle, reported that three charges of forgery have been preferred against the runaway clergyman, and no defence having been set up the committee were led to conclude that the allegations were true. Testimony also had been taken of other charges of improprieties made against the clergyman, but did not think it necessary to make any report at this time. They recommended that the pastoral relations between the Rev. Mr. Nicolai and his flock be dissolved and that the pulpit be declared vacant. This was agreed to by the Presbytery.

The Presbytery fixed on June 27th, as the date for the missing pastor's trial. The Rev. E. B. Cobb, of the Second Presbyterian church, was appointed moderator of the German Presbyterian church until such time as a pastor could be obtained.

New Locomotives being Built.

The business of the Central Railroad of New Jersey for the first four months of the fiscal year ending April 30th shows an increase of net earnings of $161,227, an increase of 8½ per cent. over net earnings for the same period in 1891. The net earnings of the year will at this rate pay the 7 per cent. guaranteed by the Philadelphia and Reading Company, and gave them a clear profit of from $800,000 to $900,000 at the end of the year.

The heavy oil of the roads are now buying compound engines, and it will be only a few years before no more simple engines are used. It has been thoroughly demonstrated that increased power and speed can be gained with considerable economy by the second use of steam, and now they are working upon triple-compound engines. The Philadelphia and Reading will have ten compound engines within six months and the Central will have eleven, while the Pennsylvania has already begun building them at the Altoona shops.

Washington School Closing Exercises.

The closing exercises of Washington School will be held at the school house on Friday afternoon, June 17th, at two o'clock.

Parents and friends are most cordially invited to be present.

The programme will be as follows:

[illegible]

Plainfield's Have Laugh—Due to Plainfield Air of Course.

The Elizabeth Herald, referring to the game last Saturday, says:

Both teams made a fair exhibition of ball playing, and the manner in which Umpire Dailey pilloried his men on to every closely contested point was a treat to have a good opponent. The visitors from Plainfield, whose players engaged to be no who could outdo each other in laughing.

The players from Plainfield made use of their lungs and yelled to a charge upon the slightest pause of the heaven, still silent.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

A NEW BRIDGE FALLS.

Thirty Workmen Drowned in the Licking River.

CINCINNATI, June 15th. (Special.)—The false work of the new bridge over the Licking river between Covington and Newport, Ky., fell this morning. Thirty workmen were drowned.

Fifteen bodies have already been taken out.

They were putting in the iron beams for the floor when the weight caused the false work to give way.

UNEXPECTED HEIRS.

Relatives of the Late Richard J. Clark of Plainfield will Contest his Will.

NEW YORK, June 15th (Special.)—Richard J. Clark, the restaurant proprietor, who died at Plainfield, N. J., last Friday, left a fortune estimated at $2,000,000.

His will which will be presented tomorrow will be contested by relatives who have unexpectedly appeared.

STATE NEWS

—The South Jersey king crab crop is the most promising in many years.

—The corner-stone of the new Odd Fellows' Hall, at Atlantic City, was laid Monday.

—Judge Depue of Essex county, where Fales, the sixteen-year-old dime novel reader, was convicted of murder, says he will ask the next grand jury to indict writers of this class of pernicious literature.

—Frederick Bonner, an insane man, who was brought before Recorder Besher, in Bayonne, yesterday for robbing factories in several private houses of food, told the police that he was willing to be hanged if he could first enjoy a square meal.

—Two Thousand people assembled on the corner of Main street and Milton avenue, in Rahway, Monday afternoon, to witness the ceremonies attending the breaking of ground for the new Second Methodist church. The church will cost $30,000, and will be completed by November.

—Mrs. Harry Lane, living on Kellers street, near Liberty, New Brunswick, attempted suicide by taking laudanum Sunday night. She had been worried and frustrated by her mother, who knocked the glass from her hand, but prizing the bottle she succeeded in swallowing considerable of the poison. A physician saved her life. Jealousy of her husband was the cause of the trouble.

—P. J. Daly, employed on the Thomas Field homestead in Middletown township, Monmouth county, owns a duck that lays fifteen eggs a day, which is the rest of the stock of poultry combined. It is a common grey duck. She stole a nest from the hens and laid there for twenty-four eggs. She decided to raise a brood and began to sit. Daly accordingly furnished her the sitting duck one day-this week. How the fowl managed to get off the nest is a mystery to Daly. Daly took four of the eggs and placed them under a sitting turkey hen. On Friday all of the eggs hatched out. The turkey has four ducklings in her brood, while the duck is the mother of fifteen.

Additional Fast Express to the Southwest via Pennsylvania Railroad.

In order to better accommodate the increasing travel to the Southwest, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will, on and after June 19th, place in service a new fast express, to run between Jersey City and St. Louis. This train, to be known as the "Southwestern Express," will leave New York at 5.00 p. m. daily, Newark, to take on passengers for the West, 5.20, Trenton at 6.08, Philadelphia at 7.15, Harrisburg at 9.55, Pittsburg at 3.05 a. m., Alliance 4.50, Johnstown 6.00, arriving at Pittsburg 8.15a. m., Cincinnati 6.15 p. m., and St. Louis 7.30 p. m., the second morning after leaving New York. It will be completely equipped with Pullman sleeping cars to Pittsburg, St. Louis, and Memphis, via Cincinnati, and coaches to Pittsburg and Cincinnati, and connection at Pittsburg with a through car for Atlanta attached at 8.00 a. m. Dining cars will be run on all through trains between Jersey City and Pittsburg, and a dining car will be run between Pittsburg and St. Louis. This train, to be known as the "Southwestern Express," will leave New York at 5.00 p. m. daily, Newark, to take on passengers for the West, 5.20, Trenton at 6.08, Philadelphia at 7.15, leave Harrisburg at 9.55 p. m., Pittsburg at 3.05 a. m., Alliance 4.50, Johnstown 6.00, arriving at Pittsburg 8.15a. m., Cincinnati 6.15 p. m., and St. Louis 7.30 p. m., the second morning after leaving New York. It will be completely equipped with Pullman sleeping cars to Pittsburg, St. Louis, and Memphis, via Cincinnati, and coaches to Pittsburg and Cincinnati, and connection at Pittsburg with a through car for Atlanta attached at 8.00 a. m. Dining cars will be run on all through trains between Jersey City and Pittsburg, and a dining car will be run between Pittsburg and St. Louis. This train, to be known as the "Southwestern Limited," will leave New York at 8.00 p. m. daily, Newark, 8.20, Trenton 9.08, arriving at Pittsburg 6.15

EDITORIAL NOTES

When any hotly contested public question comes up for decision it may be noted that the side taken by the young men leaders is always the one that wins in the long run.

Walt Whitman had only to die to become appreciated in his own country. Already a Walt Whitman society has been founded, that held its first banquet in Philadelphia on the anniversary of the poet's birthday, which comes the same day as the melancholy date of the Johnstown disaster. It has been prophesied that fifty years hence Walt Whitman will rank as the greatest poet of his time in America or Europe. Possibly, but how grimly Walt would have smiled could he have known it.

Mexico is hereby recommended to go slow. Her people are of such mixed up and smorgrel blood already that she has difficulty in keeping them straight. But now she is admitting colony after colony of Mormons into her borders—Latter Day Saint rascals who skip over there to continue their many wived practices. A fresh nest of them has just received large concessions of land in Chihuahua, according to a dispatch from El Paso. A Chinese colony numbering several thousand expects to receive an extensive land grant in the state of Tamaulipas. If the Chinese will stay in their own colony and operate there alone they can give good object lessons to the Mexicans in economy and industry, but it is the scattering of them around promiscuously that is not pleasant. The Chinese are going to Mexico from the United States because they are offended by the renewal of our exclusion act.

The Boston Mustache War.

That piously inclined individual, Mr. Willie Lestie Wilde, once remarked that he never felt so shocked and scandalized in his life as he did when, on going to church soon after coming to America, he found in the pulpit a clergyman, and an able one, too, wearing a mustache. It would have been considered in England nothing less than an outrage for a clergyman to preach a sermon that issued from his lips beneath a mustache.

Something of the same sort of painful nervous shock seems to attack the hotel and restaurant keepers of Boston when they contemplate a table waiter with a mustache upon his face. Whether this horror is English and therefore the proper thing for a Bostonite, whether they think the waiter will waste time twirling his mustache when he ought to be yelling out "boss pork-'n-beans," or whether it will be distasteful to customers to be waited on by hands that in the lulls of business are occupied in training a mustache, does not appear. But at any rate they have issued an imperial ukase that no menial of a restaurant or hotel waiter shall serve at table wearing a mustache. The waiters, however, are independent American citizens, and, being besides that the more their faces are covered up the handsomer a good many men look. Therefore they vow by the beard of Moses and the long hair of Samson that they will wear a mustache whenever they blessed please. So the pretty fight stands.

Meantime if the waiters are obliged to give in at last they may console themselves with remembering that many distinguished lawyers, divines and millionaires, as well as the handsomest actors, always appear, like Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll, clean shaven.

Too Much Vacation.

Professor Charles F. Thwing is out in The North American Review against too much vacation for students and school children. The time for a student to prepare for a profession is all too short at best. It would be helping matters, in Professor Thwing's judgment, to increase the student's learning by shortening the annual vacation. With public school children the long vacation is particularly harmful. "Lawlessness is the general condition of boys in vacation."

Professor Thwing ought to mention here, but he does not, that delightful and useful occupier of the long vacation for grown students—the summer school in the woods or by the lake.

Of the running down effect of thirteen weeks' vacation on the mentality of the student he writes:

> The vacation becomes dissipation—moral, intellectual. Forces that are needed in college are not recruited. Self-mood, endurance, concentration, pluck, grit, are not saved. Habits are broken. Power of productivity, keenness is the direct result of summer listlessness. Recreation does not become recreation. The student who thinks himself to be in the garden of the lotos, and eating the lotos does not make a vigorous brain. The daily newspaper is the strongest intellectual influence in the land. Not writing be done in acceptance of invitations, and the severest physical work playing tennis. Much of it there was a necessity for exercise. If such a life as a reading student could have for a month, it would well, but to stretch out these months over at least three months is not well. The proportions are bad. Resting is one thing, and a very good thing, but resting prolonged becomes resting. Resting sets the body and mind. Students, like tools, lose as much by disuse as by use. Let a student read all day, and he will be dull. Let a student have all the rest, recreation, diversion, amusement required for keeping his forces in the finest condition, and he will need only a quarter of a year. A healthy student, and one as I constantly have in mind, can get as much vigor out of two months as out of three. Eight weeks in the woods will give all necessary power quite as well as thirteen. Eight weeks in the disclothing and charming enjoyments of society are better than thirteen for his college term. A short vacation is better for a time of rest and health; more than more than a long one spent in laborious diversions.

BATTLE WITH A BURGLAR

Secretary Searles, of the Sugar Trust, Shot At.

"YOUR MONEY OR YOUR LIFE"

That Was the Demand, Backed by a Pistol, That Greeted Searles at His Front Door—Midnight—One Desperado Captured After a Fight.

BROOKLYN, June 15.—A daring attempt was made to hold up John E. Searles, secretary of the sugar trust, at his own house door, 810 St. Mark's avenue, by two highwaymen, one of whom was captured. Mr. Searles was just about to retire when the bell of his house was violently rung. The maid who answered the summons was met at the door by two strange men. The elder, who acted as spokesman, inquired if the proprietor of the house were at home. Being told that he was the men said they wished to speak to him on important business. When Searles appeared the man asked if he were John E. Searles and acted so suspiciously that he attempted to close the door.

"Money or Your Life."

At this juncture one of the men pulled a big revolver, and leveling it at Mr. Searles said, "Your money or your life!" The latter attempted to shut the door by force, when the highwayman instantly fired.

The man's aim was poor and the bullet passed through a glass panel in the door about 6 foot away.

As the man fired his pal ran away. Mr. Searles sprang at the one who held the revolver and grappled with him. A terrible struggle ensued. It was Mr. Searles' object to get control of the weapon, while this the chief fought savagely to prevent. The man was apparently afraid to fire for fear of hitting himself, but all during the life and death struggle he tried to get the point of the weapon against Mr. Searles' breast.

It was a critical moment for Searles. The desperado managed to get the weapon against his side, but the latter was too quick, and as the man's finger pressed the trigger he by a dexterous movement turned the weapon upon the would be assassin.

His Fingers Shot Off.

The bullet went true to this time, and with a cry of pain the highwayman released somewhat his hold on Mr. Searles. Two fingers of his left hand had been cut off. Just at this moment Mr. Charles Sands, of 219 Greene avenue, who had been attracted to the scene by the report of the pistol, came up. He was followed by Mr. Tuttle, a guest of Mr. Searles. Mr. Sands found the two men in a deadly struggle upon the ground. The highwayman was under Mr. Searles, but the latter was just beginning to feel the effects of the unequal contest, and he could not have kept it up much longer. He, however, managed to hold the thief until he was bound by Mr. Tuttle and Mr. Green. The prisoner said he was George Carpenter, thirty; no residence. He refused to say who his companion was, and other than giving his name remained silent.

Plucky Postmaster Olmsted.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 15.—One of the most daring burglaries ever attempted in western New York was perpetrated in Spencerport early in the morning. The postoffice was entered by burglars, who had secured about $600 in stamps and other property when they were interrupted by the appearance of Postmaster W. L. H. Olmsted.

As he pushed open the door he was confronted by one of the burglars, who drew a revolver of the same material. The trimming consists of edged silk ruffles and band of ribbon velvet of a color to suit individual taste.

FADS OF THE FAIR SEX.

How the Fashionable Woman Dresses—Lessons for Royalty for Our Girls.

Jean Bagelow, the poetess, says "A woman's rights! I don't know much of them at all; we cannot have rights and privileges, and I prefer privileges. We shall lose our privileges when we demand our rights."

The popularity of the ribbon streamer is already on the wane. Not only has it been appropriated by all sorts and conditions of women on the verge of vulgarity, but the ladies have discovered that a yard or more of ribbon, with a high wind, is quite the reverse of picturesque and approaches the ridiculous.

A famous duchess in London recently went through the ordeal of having a dress made on her own figure. She stood for three hours while the dressmaker brought fifty yards of rare old lace that could not be cut, into a gown for a soiree, at the close of which every stitch and bit of trimming had been pinned and basted to the lady could disrobe. The amount of torture that fair women will undergo in the name of vanity would astonish the martyrs.

The Queen of Portugal makes her own hats and bonnets. The Princess of Wales sits and makes gowns for herself and family. The Czarina of Russia is well grounded in the principles of domestic economy, and each one is required to master the technique of some trade. The wife of the great prince is a lawyer, would scorn to wear a home-made gown or a hat not of her own design, and the daughters of statesmen and poets could make a dress in this line that for simplicity has graduate in the art of being idle gracefully and of being helpless elegantly.—N. Y. Sun.

Mysterious Murder of a Woman.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 15.—Lying in a pool of blood on the floor at 316 Rotterdam street was found the body of Mrs. Alexander Campbell. Her head was battered and her throat had been cut. The police are searching for the murderer, who is unknown.

Four Were Suntroock.

WINDSOR, Conn., June 15.—A switchman and three Italians were struck by a train here. One Italian will die. The thermometer registered 95 degs. in the shade.

Murderer Hamilton Indicted.

BROOKLYN, June 15.—James Hamilton, the colored ex-Methodist preacher, was indicted by the Queens county grand jury for the murder of his wife.

Drowned Herself and Her Children.

BAY CITY, Mich., June 15.—Mrs. George Beaudry, of South Bay City, jumped into the river with two of her children and all were drowned.

Warships at Barcelona.

MADRID, June 15.—Several warships have arrived at Barcelona to overawe the rioters and to defend vessels in the harbor.

FIFTEEN MEET A HORRIBLE FATE.

Frightful Explosion on the Oil Tank Steamer Petrolia.

BORDEAUX, June 15.—Latest advices from Braya state that fifteen lives were lost by the explosion of the British oil tank steamer Petrolia. Four lighters in the harbor were fired by the burning oil and sank, carrying down with them three men and a woman. The fire was started by a match dropped accidentally by a sailor into the Petrolia's hold, which contained 1,500 tons of oil. The foreman of the wharfmen, after the first explosion, ran and closed the connecting tubes. Almost immediately afterward came the second explosion, which killed fourteen, main and seven natives.

The Petrolia burned furiously and the heat was so intense that it was dangerous to approach her. Dense volumes of stifling black smoke hung over the burning steamer. Some of the more vivid reminiscences of the boatmen heard cries for help and rowed as closely as possible to the Petrolia. They succeeded in picking up sixteen of her crew, three of her engineers and the second officer. Some of the rescued men were severely burned.

She Had a Full Cargo of Oil.

PHILADELPHIA, June 15.—The tank steamer Petrolia, destroyed by an explosion at Blaye, France, sailed from this port on May 30 with a full cargo of 807,000 gallons of crude petroleum, valued at over $23,000. The shippers were Muller, Schall & Co., of New York, who consigned the cargo to Blaye for orders. The list of the crew is not obtainable here, as most of the officers and men were shipped in England. Captain Hubcock was in charge.

Handsome Tailor-Made Costumes.

NEAT AND COMFORTABLE.

Here are two sensible tailor-made gowns. The cute show the designs so well, that a description is unnecessary. The first gown can be made cheaply in the new granite cloth, or more expensively in all wool estamene serge in any suitable color.

The other costume can best be made up in all wool check and plain tweeds, with ruche of the same material. The trimming consists of edged silk ruffles and band of ribbon velvet of a color to suit individual taste.

FADS OF THE FAIR SEX.

How the Fashionable Woman Dresses—Lessons for Royalty for Our Girls.

Jean Bagelow, the poetess, says "A woman's rights! I don't know much of them at all; we cannot have rights and privileges, and I prefer privileges. We shall lose our privileges when we demand our rights."

The popularity of the ribbon streamer is already on the wane. Not only has it been appropriated by all sorts and conditions of women on the verge of vulgarity, but the ladies have discovered that a yard or more of ribbon, with a high wind, is quite the reverse of picturesque and approaches the ridiculous.

A famous duchess in London recently went through the ordeal of having a dress made on her own figure. She stood for three hours while the dressmaker brought fifty yards of rare old lace, that could not be cut, into a gown for a soiree, at the close of which every stitch and bit of trimming had been pinned and basted to the lady could disrobe. The amount of torture that fair women will undergo in the name of vanity would astonish the martyrs.

The Queen of Portugal makes her own hats and bonnets. The Princess of Wales sits and makes gowns for herself and family. The Czarina of Russia is well grounded in the principles of domestic economy, and each one is required to master the technique of some trade. The wife of the great prince is a lawyer, would scorn to wear a home-made gown or a hat not of her own design, and the daughters of statesmen and poets could make a dress in this line that for simplicity has graduate in the art of being idle gracefully and of being helpless elegantly.—N. Y. Sun.

Mysterious Murder of a Woman.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 15.—Lying in a pool of blood on the floor at 316 Rotterdam street was found the body of Mrs. Alexander Campbell. Her head was battered and her throat had been cut. The police are searching for the murderer, who is unknown.

Congressman Stockbridge's Death.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Ex-U.S. Senator Stockbridge, member of congress from South Carolina, died suddenly here. He was seventy-eight years old and had been president of the South Carolina Farmers' Alliance. He was a soldier under Longstreet.

The Schools Asked to Celebrate.

BOSTON, June 15.—The house of representatives passed to-day a resolution requesting the governor to issue a proclamation recommending due observance of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America, and especially by appropriate exercises in the schools.

Trouble May Follow the Marriage.

PARIS, June 15.—It is feared that trouble may result should Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria marry Princess Maud of Wales.

THE WIND'S WILD WORK

Cyclones Cause Loss of Life in Many Places.

STEAMER BLOWN OVER AT BANGOR.

One Girl's Body Recovered and Others Believed to Have Been Drowned—Eight Persons Killed at Chicago—Santa Fe (Ills.) Wrecked by a Terrible Tornado.

BANGOR, Me., June 15.—A violent wind swept over this section at 5:30 o'clock. The Little River steamer Annie was capsized within 1,000 feet of her wharf. She had from sixteen to twenty passengers on board, mostly women. The wind lifted the boat completely out of the water, turned her bottom up and then blew her down beneath the surface. Through the heroic efforts of Engineer Gerry and James Callahan, a passenger, fifteen were saved. It is impossible to tell how many were drowned.

A Girl's Body Recovered.

One body, that of Madeline Adams, aged eighteen, daughter of James Adams, has been recovered. She was on board with her brother, Dr. C. E. Adams, instructor of physical culture of Michigan University, who was saved. Several besides Miss Adams were drowned. Those who have been rescued say the waves since the accident tearfully inquiring for relatives they think have been lost. In Hampden dwellings were levelled and their occupants seriously injured.

Eight Killed in Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Death and ruin stalked in the wake of the storm. Eight lives were lost, a score or more of people were severely injured, building after building was blown away from their foundations, walls were crushed and a great amount of other damage was done. Among the victims were Mrs. J. P. Odell, president of the Union National bank.

John Lial was blown from a roof to the ground and his skull was broken. He will die. William Loosen's skull was broken by a falling brick. One of Edward Honeman's ears was cut off by a tumbling telegraph wire, and falling roof broke one of Max Jacobs' legs. E. Erickson was caught under a carpeted pile of lumber and injured internally. Mary Lamb Paddy was struck by lightning and is in a critical condition.

Wrecked by a Tornado.

GALESBURG, Ills., June 15.—The town of Galva, Henry county, a place of 2,000 inhabitants, was wrecked by a tornado. Considering the swiftness of the storm's descent, it is remarkable that only one person was killed. August Olsen's dwelling collapsed, burying in the wreck Mr. and Mrs. Olsen, Charley and four others. Mr. Olsen was instantly killed.

A large congregation was assembled in the Free Methodist church. The frightened terror-stricken crowd to run for their lives, and most had succeeded in getting out of doors when the church tumbled, a mass of ruins.

Nellie Monne, Mrs. John Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Erickson, Mrs. Nelson, Huldah Carlson and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Erickson and Mr. Sherman Anderson were buried in the debris and badly hurt.

At Chicago, Burlington & Quincy freight train was blown to a standstill on Seymour Hill. The engineer says it was the worst storm he ever encountered.

Chased by a Tornado.

BURLINGTON, Ia., June 15.—The Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern express, just here at 7 o'clock, was chased by a tornado for five miles. The engineer opened the throttle wide and ran for dear life. The storm passed up most of the cities, but struck the locomotive. The train was brought here by a freight locomotive.

Colonel James Duffy's Banquet.

HARRISBURG, June 15.—Governor Pattison, Private Secretary Tate and several others of the governor's staff; Superintendent Thomas D. Messler of the middle division of the Pennsylvania railroad, and a party of invited guests left in a special train at 12:15 o'clock in the afternoon for Marietta, Lancaster county, where Colonel James Duffy gave a banquet to his friends. The tables were spread in a grove near the colonel's residence.

Directors of the Poor Sentenced.

CARLISLE, Pa., June 15.—James Cole, Michael Seaver and John H. Rhoads, directors of the poor of Cumberland county, convicted of malfeasance in office and of indirectly causing the death of Joe Wilson, were called up for sentence. Coyle was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and three-fourths of the costs, while Seavers and Rhoads must pay the balance.

Blake May Take an Irish Seat.

TORONTO, June 15.—Hon. Edward Blake, the ex-leader of the Irish party in the house of commons, has received a telegram, signed by Justin McCarthy, John Dillon, Michael Davitt, T. M. Healy and Thomas O'Brien, asking him to accept an Irish seat in the British house of commons. Mr. Blake has the matter under consideration.

A Serious Reunion Held.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 15.—Convention work brought together in Minneapolis a number of relatives of President Harrison and a reunion of the Harrison family was held Tuesday at the residence of Mrs. E. J. Davenport, a niece of the president. There were present two brothers, five sisters, an uncle and a number of nephews and nieces of the president.

Connecticut Episcopalians Meet.

NEW HAVEN, June 15.—The annual convention of the Connecticut Episcopal diocese opened in Trinity church. About 200 clergymen were present. Rev. M. H. Bexley, of Farmington, was elected secretary and Rev. Dr. Langdon, of Windsor, was re-elected. Rev. F. B. Whitcomb, of Brantford, assistant secretaries.

Ex-Agent Finn Sentenced.

NEW YORK, June 15.—William A. Finn, the ex-agent of the Gerry society convicted of cruelty to children in the case of a disorderly house, was sentenced to six months in the penitentiary and the payment of a $250 fine.

A Homing Pigeon's Rapid Flight.

NEWARK, N. J., June 15.—A homing pigeon was released from the United States cruiser Newark off Point Lookout reached Newark Tuesday, having made 265 miles in seven hours.

More Millions for Pensions.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The president having signed the pension deficiency bill, the commissioner of pensions has made requisition upon the treasury department for $7,250,000.

War on the Sweaters.

CHICAGO, June 15.—War is being waged in Chicago on the sweater shops.

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.

Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of G. R. MUSGRAVE, 37 Somerset street. Call early and secure the best bargains.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

Having Disposed of the Produce Business

to Mr. L. A. Hummer, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have consignments on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E RIDER, Manager.

Everybody Likes Me.

ANTI-CHAP.

I contain no greasy or sticky substance I penetrate the skin; I eradicate spots and pimpl s; I keep the skin smooth, soft, pliable; I am harmless. Try me, and I will become your favorite.

All druggi-ts sell me at 25 cents.

Also remember the famous ANTI-CHAP SOAP in connection with ANTI-CHAP.

THE BEE HIVE!

Summer Underwear.

Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.

Ladies' ribbed vests, in high neck, short sleeves and long sleeves, 25c.

Ladies' gauze vests, in short and long sleeves, 25c.

Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed, gauze and uniform weight.

Men's balbriggan shirts, in long and short sleeves, and drawers at 25, 40 and 50c.

Men's Scotch or Merino shirts and drawers, 25, 35 and 50c.

Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, 8c.

Children's Summer merino and gauze vests, in short and long sleeves also panties, sizes, 16, 17c; 18, 19c; 20, 22c; 24, 25c; 26, 28c; 28, 29c.

A full line of Parasols, Lace caps, white dresses, and infants' long and short cashmere coats.

Louis Callman,

40 West Front Street

A Ticket to Europe

May be bought on any steamer: GUY R. CRELLIN & SMART IN NEW YORK.

SINGLE TRIP:
First-class—$30 and upwards.
Second class—$20 and upwards.
Steerage—$18 and upwards.

ROUND TRIP:
First-class—$60 and upwards.
Second class—$40 and upwards.
Steerage—$30 and upwards.

Cabins, both first and second class, should be engaged as far ahead as possible.

Further information and passage application to agent, Henry D. Morrison, 9 Somerset street.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

Do You Want Shirts?

If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your ideas.

The assortment we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects.

Puff Bosoms for hot weather; Blue Flannel for cool.

Hallock & Davis,

3 West Front Street

Trunks and Bags.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong ice to this market, now now prepared to serve town and country with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, GRANT avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CODDINGTON, Pres.
H. CODDINGTON, Vice-Pres.
ANDREW WILSON, Sec. & Treas.
J. MORTON, Gen. Supt.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum and Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Cigars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Cigar store, No. 13 West Second street.

LAWN MOWERS, Bicycles, and GENERAL MACHINERY Repairs, at SCHENCK'S Machine Shop,

North Plainfield. Also Pipe Fitting.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher.

40 West Front Street.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Watchung avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.
P. O. Box 982.

A. M. SEGUINE,

PROPRIETOR OF

Laing's Hotel Stables,

on Front Street, Opp. Madison Avenue.

TELEPHONE CALL NO. 26.

Carriages for weddings, funerals and private calls.

Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasuring.

Trotters, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.

BOARDING HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE.

CRUSHED STONE!

ALL SIZES.
Of finest
Light Blue Color.

Delivered—
P. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.
ROBT. A. MEEKER, Street Com.

Smalley Bros.,

94 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

29 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly erected steam vibrating screening process for coal, which will be of material interest to those who desire cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

DRYER LEHIGH AND MONTROSE COAL to best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND DRESSED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for receiving and shipping lumber, and will be pleased to receive orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in BEST

QUALITY COAL

YARD AND OFFICE

SOUTH AVENUE.

P. O. BOX 1407.

Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Counsellors at Law, Commissioners of Deeds, Conveyancers, etc. Rooms 22 to 25, Office, corner of Park avenue and Front street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C.E.
City Engineer of the Famous Union County Road System. Surveys and maps given for street paving and sewerage. Office, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

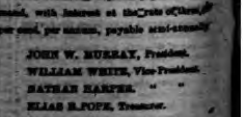
WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Attorney-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public. Money to loan. Conveyancing promptly made. Office No. 29 West Front street.

CLARK & REED,
Counsellors at Law, Solicitors in Court Cases in Chancery, Notaries Public and Conveyancers. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CRAIG A. MARSH,
Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public. Office corner Front and Somerset streets.

OSCAR S. TRALE,
Civil Engineer, 287 Broadway, New York city; rooms 31 and 32, Importers and Traders' Bank Building. Residence, Plainfield N. J.

PLAINFIELD
DOORLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY



JONES & CO.

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Terms reasonable. Orders left at office of the Company, No. 5 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J., will be promptly attended to. Orders may be addressed to the Company, Box 1407, Plainfield, or Post Office Box 1, Dunellen, N. J. Telephone call No. 24.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the Rate of Six per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7:20, 8:40, 9:40, 10:40, 11:40, 1:40, 2:40, 3:40, 4:40, 5:40, 6:40, 7:40, 8:40, 9:40, 10:40, 11:40 p. m. Close—7:30 and 8:30 a. m., 12:30, 1:30 and 4 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8:30 a. m., 1:30, 6:30 p. m. Close—8:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m. Mail closes at 4:30 p. m.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

BOIES' BOOM AT CHICAGO

Ten Thousand Iowans to Shout for Horace.

FIRST PLACE OR NONE THEIR MOTTO

Delegates at Large Martin Says the Whole State of Iowa Is Praying That the Governor May Be Named at Chicago to Lead the Democracy.

CHICAGO, June 15.—The presidential boom of Governor Horace Boies, of Iowa, has assumed and takes proportions of a part of the Palmer House. It was brought in by the advance guard of the Iowa delegation, consisting of L. M. Martin, one of the delegates at large; Edward H. Hunter, of the Iowa state central committee, and Dr. R. T. Liles. The men from the Hawkeye state enjoy the distinction of being the first to arrive on the field of battle. They at once opened headquarters at the Palmer House, where Boies enthusiasm was dispensed during the entire day. According to the members of the advance guard fully 10,000 Iowans will arrive in Chicago next week to shout for their governor. All the delegates from Iowa will reach the city Saturday morning.

All Iowa Praying for Him.

"This Boies boom which we have with us," said Mr. Martin, "will be a splendid healthy proportions when it strikes the convention. The delegates propose to secure the nomination, and they will stick to him to the last. We shall have 10,000 of the best citizens of the state here, and there will not be a man left behind in Iowa who will not pray that Boies may get the nomination. Governor Boies is not making this campaign; it is the state of Iowa. We wish it distinctly understood that we are not playing him for second place on the ticket. We would not wish him to accept any such place. We are selfish, and if he is not nominated for the presidency we will keep him at home."

Colonel John Tracy, who is at the Grand Pacific, expects Colonel Robert G. Monroe, secretary of the New York Cleveland delegation, to reach this city this evening, and ex-Mayor Grace and ex-Secretary of the Treasury Fairchild Thursday. The main body of the Cleveland men, 500 strong, will flood the Grand Pacific on Saturday next.

Indiana Solid for Cleveland.

Indiana sent two enthusiastic Cleveland men to the Palmer House in advance of the delegation from that state. They were B. B. Lonthlain and C. L. Wool, treasurer of Cass county. They called upon Secretary Sherin, of the national committee, and informed him that the Indiana delegation on its arrival Saturday would probably meet to consider the advisability of casting a solid vote for Cleveland. Many of the delegates will come instructed for Gray, but it is thought now that the delegation will push him for second place.

Secretary S. P. Sherin and Sergeant at Arms Bright are confident that the damaged wigwam will be completed in ample time for the convention. The canvas roof was the only portion of the structure injured by the storm, and Contractor Allen promises to have the new roof of timber completed Saturday, consequently the offer of Minneapolis to take the convention off Chicago's hands is not likely to be accepted now.

Depew Not to Succeed Blaine.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Chauncey M. Depew denies the report that President Harrison has requested him to accept the office of secretary of state, made vacant by James G. Blaine, resigned. Mr. Depew admits that he had a call from Secretary Elkins but will not admit that the secretary's visit had any connection with the offer of a cabinet position. Mr. Depew says that he has had no communication with President Harrison, and that a place in the cabinet has certainly not been offered to him.

Reid and the Printers.

Regarding the candidature of Whitelaw Reid, Dr. Depew said: "It was generally conceded that New York state should name the man to run for vice president. Mr. Reid was generally settled upon, but the question arose that his diplomatic attitude or connection might injure him. Knowing that President Kenney, of Typographia Union No. 6, was in Minneapolis I suggested that he be sent for to talk to the delegates on the subject. Mr. Kenney said that the difference between Mr. Reid and the union of which he was president had been settled with entire satisfaction to both sides.

"The typographical union, Mr. Kenney said, would not only not fight Mr. Reid's nomination, but would send word to other labor organizations that the dispute with Mr. Reid had been arranged with complete satisfaction to the union. Mr. Kenney said then that the labor troubles with Mr. Reid had not been adjusted to the complete satisfaction of the union. Mr. Reid would not have to receive the nomination for vice president. So you see his nomination is practically the nomination of Typographia Union No. 6."

Ohio Against Cleveland.

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—It is the fight against Mr. Cleveland in the Democratic state convention here, and the indications are that the fight is in the majority. The fight, however, is not concentrated on any one man. Some of the delegates favor Mr. Hill, others ex-Secretary of the Navy Whitney, a few Governor Flower, but the great body of the Ohio Cleveland delegates are noncommittal beyond the statement that they favor any man, east or west, the state's show of carrying New York, for that they will support, which means that Hill is that man. A number of district delegates have been instructed for Mr. Hill if he has been mutually agreed between the friends that no contest should be made to instruct the delegation of the delegates at large. Ex-Governor Campbell and Gen. Ohio Brice will be chosen by acclamation. The former is for Mr. Cleveland. The latter says he will go to Chicago entirely unpledged. His friends say that he is decidedly inclined toward Mr. Whitney, in the selection of this other two there will be contest between the Clevelandites and the field. The platform will make no reference to the silver issue.

Congressman Warwick says that a caucus of the delegates to Chicago made by parties in whom he had every confidence shows 19 anti-Cleveland to 9 for the ex-President. This does not include the delegates at large.

Cleveland and Hill.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The Press says "Some very important chess movement have been made in Democratic politics in New York within the past few days. Dr. Hill boom is disintegrating and Cleveland is practically assured of the support of Tammany and the nomination at Chicago. Mayor Croker, McLaughlin, Sheehan and other Tammany men have made individual concessions to the Cleveland faction. Mr. Hill's name will be presented in the convention at Mr. Maher's was presented at Minneapolis. The New York vote will go to him on the first ballot. It is possible that the New York may cast its vote for Hill on the second ballot, but when it becomes evident that Cleveland continues to hold his strength, then New York will cast the 72 votes for him and clinch his victory. Mr. Hill has been practically cast overboard."

Carter Harrison's Threat.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Ex-Mayor Carter Harrison in his paper, The Times, served notice on the Chicago Democracy that unless the constitution of that organization is revised so as to give the Harrisons a fair representation The Times will make trouble. He threatens to bolt the Democracy if "candidates for local offices who are owned by gamblers and dispensation, who desire office only to rob the people, or who hope to get into state, county and city legislatures only to sandbag corporations are nominated."

Harrison and Reid Indorsed.

CARLISLE, Pa., June 15.—The Cumberland county Republican convention nominated the following tickets: Legislature, John D. Shelley, of Mechanicsburg; district attorney, O. Wilson Swartz, of Carlisle; director of poor, David Lafever, of Penn township; surveyor, Cryer Grayson, of Shippensburg. Resolutions indorsing Harrison's solid administration and the Republican national ticket were passed amidst enthusiasm.

Hiscock Talks of Harmony.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 15.—Senator Hiscock, who has returned from the Minneapolis convention, says: "I have never known a convention to adjourn in better feeling, nor with the delegation more enthusiastic for the ticket. Mr. Reid's nomination gives eminent satisfaction. The campaign will be conducted by a harmonious organization in the interest of the Republican party."

Parnell Shouting for Harrison.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Congressmen Boutelle, of Maine, and J. Sloat Fassett, of New York, are at the Grand Pacific talking enthusiastically for Harrison and Reid. Both were Blaine men. Mr. Fassett said he had no doubt all Blaine men would support the ticket, and he looked for a sweeping victory next November. He would work for the success of the ticket until election day.

Harrison Denies the Story.

ALBANY, June 15.—William Barnes, jr., Republican state committeeman from this district, denies the report published during the Minneapolis convention in eastern papers which quoted him as saying that it cost $1,000,000 to carry New York for Harrison in 1888 and that it would cost twice that sum to carry the state for Harrison in 1892.

Jerry Simpson Renominated.

WICHITA, Kan., June 15.—Jerry Simpson was renominated for congress here by acclamation by the People's party convention. The only question at issue was the question of uniting the Democrats and People's vote on a state ticket. If this deal goes through the Democrats at their state convention, July 7, will endorse all the People's nominees.

German a Candidate.

NEW YORK, June 15.—There is a rumor current in political circles that Senator Arthur P. Gorman, of Maryland, is now an avowed candidate for the presidential nomination at Chicago next week, and that his name will be presented by the Maryland delegation. The senator is said to be in the city on a mysterious political errand.

The Louisiana Deadlock.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 15.—The joint assembly met at noon and for the fourteenth time balloted for a United States senator without a result. The ballot was as follows: Jonas, 31; Gibson, 25; Adams, 22; Eustabard, 16; Caffery, 17; Mahoney, 1; Bourgeois, 4; Bolton, 1.

Schurz for Cleveland.

Mr. Carl Schurz says: "I believe not only that Mr. Cleveland would be the strongest candidate the Democrats could nominate, but also that his nomination would be to the Democrats a positive element of weakness in the coming campaign whoever might be nominated by them."

Arkansas for Cleveland.

LITTLE ROCK, June 15.—The Arkansas state Democratic convention nominated a full state ticket, headed by William M. Fishback for governor. Delegates to the national convention at Chicago were elected. They are uninstructed, but favor Mr. Cleveland's nomination.

What Cleveland's Friends Claim.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Friends of ex-President Cleveland have given out a table of the vote on first ballot in the Chicago convention, in which they say he will have 500 at least. Representative Tracey, of Albany, figures out that the ex-president will have 566 delegates.

Griffiths a Delegate.

HARRISBURG, June 15.—The Democratic state committee elected H. B. Griffiths a delegate to the Chicago convention to represent the Twenty-fifth congressional district, composed of Mifflin, Juniata, Mercer and Beaver counties, to fill a vacancy.

Delegates Instructed for Vice President.

ST. LOUIS, June 15.—The name of Colonel Charles H. Jones, editor of the St. Louis Republic, is now freely discussed as a likely nominee of the Democratic convention at Chicago for vice president.

Tippecanoe Veterans Meet.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 15.—Tippecanoe veterans, who voted for Harrison and Tyler in 1840, may here. The nomination of Harrison and Reid was enthusiastically ratified.

Senator Aldrich Re-elected.

PROVIDENCE, June 15.—The Hon. Nelson W. Aldrich was re-elected United States senator. The vote was: Aldrich, 54; David Baker, jr., 34.

McDermott Wants Them Pardoned.

TRENTON, June 15.—Alex L. McDermott, chairman of the Democratic committee, filed a petition for the pardon of Thomas J. Fury and John McKeon, the Jersey City liquor dealers convicted of selling liquor on Sunday. They were sentenced to three months' imprisonment and the payment of $250 fine. McDermott declares that the punishment is too severe.

Of Interest to Elks.

BUFFALO, June 15.—At the meeting of the Elks the grand secretary's report showed that the order is in good standing, with a total membership of 18,221. The cash on hand in the grand lodge treasury is $61,-000. The value of property of the grand lodge is $262,317.56. The amount expended for charity during the year was $26,188.77.

Convict Bennett's Suicide.

HARTFORD, June 15.—Charles H. Bennett, sentenced at Middletown, Conn., Dec. 2, 1891, to four years in the state prison for attempted rape, cut his wristpips with a knife and died.

HALF A DOZEN ROAD.
—Brooklyn Life.

Too Convincing.

Strawber—Did you convince Swindon that it wasn't correct to wear a sack coat at an afternoon reception?

Singerly—Yes. My argument was so convincing that he insisted upon borrowing my cutaway.—Clothier and Furnisher.

Mud.

We're duly thankful that the rain
Has seen fit to relent,
Though we admit that while 'twas here
'Twas something to add mire.
—Indianapolis Journal.

BALTIMORE'S BIG BLAZE.

Half a Million Dollars Worth of Property Destroyed.

BALTIMORE, June 15.—A big fire started on the Bay Line wharf, at the foot of Union dock. A workman saw a flash among the thousands of bales of cotton stored there and gave the alarm. Almost before the great crowd of workmen on the spot knew it the Baltimore Steam Packet company's property was a roaring furnace. Three hours later the pain was complete and the damage, moderately computed at $500,000, had been done. The immense wooden freight shed facing Union dock 300 feet, the basin front, 400 feet, and the small dock at the west, 200 feet, were a mass of debris. Thousands of dollars worth of baled cotton, hogsheads of tobacco, bags of flour, barrels of whisky and rosin and miscellaneous freights were destroyed.

The fire also destroyed the old warehouse of James Corner & Sons with its contents. Captain Darius J. Hill, superintendent of the Packet company, was badly burned about the face and hands. The four masted schooner Augustus Well, loaded with ice at the Cochran-Cider dock, the furniture factory of Hollander & Co., four blocks from the pier, and other valuable property also fed the flames.

She Poured Oil on the Fire.

PITTSBURG, June 15.—Mrs. John Leray, the wife of a coal miner employed at the Imperial Coal works, poured kerosine oil upon the kitchen fire. An explosion followed, and the burning oil was thrown over herself and two children. Mrs. Leray made desperate efforts to extinguish the flames, but one child was burned to death, the other received fatal injuries and Mrs. Leray herself will die.

Cottagers Object to Corbett's Presence.

LOCH ARBOUR, N. J., June 15.—"Jim" Corbett has taken possession of the house of W. A. Brady, on the corner of Sinclair and Main avenues, which will be Corbett's training quarters. There is considerable ill feeling among the cottagers over the action of Brady in selecting the place as training quarters for the man who is to meet Sullivan.

Rate War at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, June 15.—The bottom has been knocked out of the rates from Pittsburg to Chicago on account of the meeting of the Pennsylvania lines west. The Pennsylvania lines announce a rate of $7.50 for the round trip, a cut from $10.50. The reduction is aimed to meet a Pittsburg and Western rate.

The El Norte Launched.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., June 15.—The launching of the new steamship El Norte from the yard of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company here attracted a large gathering. El Norte is the largest steamer ever built in the United States. She is 380 feet long and 45 feet wide.

Bought the William Penn Colliery.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., June 15.—The purchase and transfer of the William Penn colliery, one of the most prominent collieries of this region, has just been effected by the Pennsylvania railroad. The colliery was the property of E. & G. Brooke, of Birdsboro, and has an annual output of over 300,000 tons.

Tracy Orders an Investigation.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—Secretary Tracy has ordered that a commission be appointed to investigate the Mare Island navy yard explosion, and it is rumored that a general court martial will be held. Brower, one of the injured, is dead. Fourteen of the victims were buried here.

Scanlan's Season Returning.

NEW YORK, June 15.—It is stated that Actor W. J. Scanlan, who became insane while playing at Macauley's theater, the Fourteenth Street theatre last winter, is rapidly recovering his reason and may soon be able to leave Bloomingdale asylum to resume his profession.

Reynolds Elected President.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 15.—The New York State Association for the Protection of Fish and Game elected as president Charles B. Reynolds, of New York, and vice president, W. W. Hastings, of Rochester.

Rancho del Paso Steamboat Sold.

NEW YORK, June 15.—On the second night's sale of the Rancho del Paso yearlings fifty-six head were disposed of for $49,200, an average per head of $878.

The Atlantic Yacht Club Regatta.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The winners of the annual regatta of the Atlantic Yacht club were the schooners Shamrock, the sloops Wasp, Tigress and El Chico and the catboat Marguerite.

Train Despatchers Meet.

NEW ORLEANS, June 15.—The annual convention of the Train Despatchers' Association of America is being held here. The delegates arrived to-day. The convention will federate with the other labor organizations.

Harriet Beecher Stowe is Eighty.

HARTFORD, June 15.—Tuesday was the eightieth birthday of Harriet Beecher Stowe, but owing to her enfeebled condition there was no public celebration of the event.

Two Laborers Sunstruck.

HARFORD, June 15.—Two laborers named John H. Higgins and John Costigan were sunstruck while at work.

Two Killed by a Runaway.

FITCHBURG, Mass., June 15.—Abel Derby and W. C. Kelly, who were injured in a runaway accident, are dead.

38c.

Buys a full size, 1g-collared front, shirt, with 12mm bosom and wristbands; regular 50c quality.

17c.

Buys a five foot curtain pole with brass finials, complete.

Window Shades 75c. and upward.

Irons Chaillon &c. Best Prints 6c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 10 days at

BOEHM'S

No. 7 WEST FRONT STREET.

CARRIAGES and HARNESS.

$15.00

Buys hand made rubber mounted harness.

$100.00

Buys canopy top, natural wood surrey.

Prices and styles to suit all.

SWIFT SAFETIES.

RYERSON,

32 SOMERSET STREET.

PIPTONIZED

Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'.

George - Bremmer,

No 28 SOMERSET STREET,

READY MADE CLOTHING,

or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

Builders Carpenters.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet

MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS,

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 82.

R. V. SAUMS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Dunellen.

P. O. Box 128

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. F. HOFFMAN,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

Residence—64 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ABBOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Orders now left at Frost store, corner Second and Front streets, Plainfield, N. J., or residence, Grant avenue, Interior hard wood work. P. O. Box 1551.

JOHN HEERMANS,

Dealer in Rough and hard wood dressed lumber. Shop corner of Grand and Sumner streets, North Plainfield, N. J.

J. HEERMANS, 2 Sumner street.

GARDEN FLOWER & LAWN Seeds and Fertilizers.

Special Lawn Seeds for shady and dry lawns.

GARDEN TOOLS

and

Lawn Mowers.

WATER PIPING AND PLUMBING.

Tinware, Hardware and Housefurnishings.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS ↓ †

‡ ‖ § PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—19 East Front street.

Joseph T. Sullivan,

No. 66 West Third Street,

Dealer in Choice

Wines, Liquors, etc.

BEER ON DRAUGHT.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

95 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

6 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.

49 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

NO. 6 SUNION AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT PIS-KET AND PARK AVENUE,

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Six Varieties.)

Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : :

- - - NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

In buying a salesage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 46 EMILY STREET,

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

43 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We take with to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and prices with any of the first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer. Telephone Co. 187.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(The Port Reading R. R. Co., Lessee.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street, Thames street, and Map 1st, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 3.14, 5.27, 5.35, 6.14, 6.28, 6.58, 7.28, 7.45, 7.58, 8.14, 8.28, 8.58, 9.28, 9.45, 10.28, 10.58, 11.28, 11.45 a. m., 12.28, 12.58, 1.28, 1.45, 2.28, 2.58, 3.28, 3.45, 4.28, 4.58, 5.28, 5.45, 6.28, 6.58, 7.28, 7.45, 8.28, 8.58, 9.28, 9.45, 10.28, 10.58, 11.28, 11.45 p. m.

Express trains for Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis and the West leave Plainfield at 3.14, 5.27, 6.14, 6.58, 7.28, 8.14, 8.58, 9.28, 10.28, 11.28 a. m., 12.28, 1.28, 2.28, 3.28, 4.28, 5.28, 6.28, 7.28, 8.28, 9.28, 10.28, 11.28

GOOD HEALTH

TUBERCULAR CONTAGION.

Reasoning Evidence That Its Dangers Have Been Overdrawn.

The discovery reported from Berlin that the ejections from the mouths and nostrils of consumptive persons are less effective agencies for the spread of consumption than had been supposed is somewhat reassuring, according to the Philadelphia Record. It has been found on thorough investigation that many of the tubercle bacilli that infect the sputum of persons suffering with pulmonary disease are dead. This increases the chances of escape for those who may be brought into contact with tuberculous contagion, but it gives no assurance of absolute exemption. Recent examinations of milk and viscera from tuberculous cattle, made in the pathological department of the University of Pennsylvania by Dr. Formad, at the instance of the state board of health of New Jersey, have shown that the danger arising from the use of milk from infected animals has been overdrawn. It would appear from Dr. Formad's observations that unless the udder of the cow be infected with the bacilli (which seldom happens), the milk, though an imperviished and imperfect food, is not contaminated. The same thing is to a large extent true of the flesh of tuberculous animals whose lungs may have been in a state of advanced degeneration. Evidently we have only reached the stage of half knowledge in respect to the germs of consumption; but we have so far advanced as to be sure of the necessity for caution. Too much painstaking is better than too little.

Banana Juice in Bronchitis.

In cases of chronic bronchitis, with difficult breathing and scanty expectoration, the use of banana juice has been highly praised. The method of preparing it, described by The Medical Record, is by cutting up the bananas in small pieces and putting them away with plenty of sugar in a closed glass jar. The latter is then placed in cold water, which is gradually made to boil. When the boiling point is reached the process is complete. Of the sirup so made a teaspoonful every hour is the proper dose.

The Bacillus of Typhoid.

A scientist who has experimented with the bacillus of typhoid by exposing it to the action of light reports that its development is prevented by the chemically-active rays of the solar spectrum. He exposed test tube cultivations to the action of diffuse light and deprived others of light. The action of direct sunlight was to stop development in from five to ten hours.

The Brain Jar of the Military Step.

Dr. Colin, regimental physician in the French army, has published the results of his investigations into the effects of regular marching in disciplined bodies upon soldiers. The regularity of the step causes the incessant repetition of a shock of the bones and brain, infinitely more deleterious than an irregular walk, and to this regular repetition of the shock to the same parts of the body is due the peculiar aches, pains and illnesses of the troops. According to Popular Science News Dr. Colin says that this shock is repeated 60,000 times in a one day march, and often the strongest man who can walk the same distance without difficulty when not in line succumb to the strain in two or three days. Dr. Colin's preventive is a rubber heel in all military boots. The heel has been tried at his instance in the French fatantry, he says, and the result has been found to be a great relief to the soldiers. The experiments with the rubber heel are still in progress.

Of Interest to Smokers.

A foreign physician recommends the use of pyrogallic acid to neutralize the nicotine that saturates the pipe of smokers. A 10 per cent. solution applied on cotton is placed in the bowl of the pipe.

ETIQUETTE

FOR JUNE WEDDINGS.

Useful Hints to All Concerned in One of These Affairs.

Apropos of the season of June weddings, now beginning, the following useful items are reproduced from Harper's Bazar:

The wedding breakfast at 2 p. m. in June would consist of croquettes, thin rolled bread and butter, salads, berries, cake and ices. The bride offers her hand to those introduced to her.

Have engraved on the invitations in the lower left hand corner, "At home after June 5, at 909 Wood street, Versailles, N. J." The bride shakes hands cordially with strangers who call on her in her new home in a strange town. She should return first calls within ten days, and should send in her card and that of her husband also.

Bride's roses, or any white flowers except orange blossoms, can be used by the bride at receptions. A stylishly made India silk dress is suitable for the bride to receive calls in. A long gown may be worn when intimate friends are calling.

The maid of honor precedes the bride to the altar and holds her bouquet while the ring is being put on. The best man conducts the maid out of church, next the bride and groom. She stands next the bride at the reception.

Of gifts which a bride gives the bridesmaids, fan or brooches are most popular, and need not be costly. For an inexpensive gift to a bride a bouquet or basket of flowers is sent just before the hour of the wedding.

The groom wears a cutaway coat at a noon wedding or a Prince Albert frock coat at an afternoon wedding, no matter whether the bride wears a traveling dress or white satin. The bridal's father should wear a frock coat at a day wedding and a swallow tail coat in the evening.

At a home wedding the bride wears her veil throughout the evening or until putting on her traveling dress. The veil is a large square of tulle, such as is made for the purpose. It is not hemmed, and may be fastened on by gathering one corner under a cluster or wreath of orange blossoms.

At a wedding breakfast in June have croquettes, salads, sandwiches, strawberries, ices, cakes, etc. The groom's title and full name should be engraved on the announcement cards as Mr. John Henry Smith.

Send your cards upon the day of the wedding, and also upon one of the after receptions days.

THE CARPENTER'S WOOING.

The Chicago Post publishes a humorous poem, entitled "The Carpenter's Wooing," anonymous (it is to be hoped) that neither the name of the author of such verse was published more than thirteen years ago in a St. Louis paper, and a sequel published in the Boston Journal. These are the three poems:

THE CARPENTER'S WOOING.

Oh, I a dear you, darling one,
I hall ways loved your infuse,
And whether you reciprocate
The hand my hopes are rafter?

Your roof if you imagine that
I've not enough to board you;
We'll have a parlor, too, and, for I
Can hammer steak afford you.

I sawyer father yesterday;
"The plane lord have is marry,
Oh, let us to the joiner's ble.
Nor let us shingle tarry.

The cornice waving now, my love;
The gables all are ringing.
A lathi! Why let you longer plan?
I'm nowhere when I'm singing.
—Chicago Post, 1892.

THE CARPENTER'S WOOING.

"Oh, beam my wife, my awl to me!"
He said to his fiancé addressing—
"If I adze such a love as yours,
I'd set no other blessing."

"I am pleased, I'm sure, to speak,"
The maiden said with laughter—
"For though I hammer guileless girl,
It's plane when you are after.

Now, if file love you just a bit,
What further will you ax me?
Can—can I refuse you saw when with that,
Or will you further tax me?"

He looked hand saw her words were true

"No rival can displace me—
Yes, one more later I implore,
The child, in your lieu, brace me!"
—Eugene Field in St. Louis Times-Journal.

THE ANSWER.

She came full chisel to his arms;
It really him stair
To have her makes bolt for him
Before he could prepare.
He tried to screw his courage up,
And did his level best
To nail the matter then and there;
While clasped unto her breast.
Says he, "It augurs well for me,
Awl seems to hinge on this;
And when is your candidate to be,
The porch child wants a kiss."
He kissed her lip, he kissed her cheek,
And called her his adored—
He done his chewhanner next week,
And she will share his board.
—Yewob Street in Boston Journal, 1873.
—Detroit Free Press.

Medical Item.

Dr. Perkins Soonover is one of the most polite doctors in the business. He was recently called in to attend Mrs. Judge Peterby, whose bodily afflictions as a general thing are purely imaginary.

"Doctor, I am sure I have got the jaundice," said Mrs. Peterby.

"My dear madame, yellow is the most becoming color you can wear; besides it is fashionable just now."—Texas Siftings.

The Empire.

The poor umpire is on the ball ground. There is a limp in his gait and he carries a cane. He is an old vet, and played a right lively game before he was wounded. The ball struck him on the kneecap, and when he was discharged from the hospital he was placed on the retired list.

What are they doing now?

The umpire at the bat has made three strikes, and the catcher has thrown the ball to first base.

In the mean out?
Some may be is out and some may be isn't.
What does the umpire say?
He has not had a chance to say anything yet. He is out for the present.
Why do the two nines gather so closely around the umpire? He ought to have a little fresh air.
They are trying to bulldoze him.
Has he rendered a decision yet?
Yes, he has pronounced the man out.
Who was that who just struck the umpire?
That is the short stop.
Who is the man kicking the umpire on his game leg?
That is the man whom he declared out.
Is he a shame to kick, strike and abuse a lame man.
True, but look at the child lessness, who is creeping up behind him with a club in his hand.
What is he going to do?
He finds it necessary to kill the umpire to settle further discussion.
Has he struck him yet?
No, he has not hit him on the back of his head because the umpire has just reversed his decision.
Gone back on what he said in the first place?
Yes, he now says the man is not out.
Who fired that shot?
The left-fielder of the other club.
Whom is he shooting at?
The umpire.
Why?
Because the umpire reversed his decision.
Why, they have killed the umpire for going back on his first judgment.
Yes, but what is the difference? He would have been killed anyway by the club on the other side. He is a corpse and half a dozen to the other, and an umpire might as well die for an old sheep as a lamb.—Texas Siftings.

Valuable Advice.

A Vermont lady had removed from her native place to the beautiful California city of Oakland. She found like there very agreeable at first, but before long she began to experience distressing physical sensations. She became nervous, fretful and very uncomfortable; she lost much of her sleep at night and much more of her happiness by day.

At last she resolved to consult a physician, and did so, calling to see a bright light in the profession. He gave him a very full account of her symptoms, and then asked:

"What is it that ails me, doctor?"

"Pines, ma'am!" answered the doctor.

For this information the Vermont lady paid the doctor's minimum consultation fee of five dollars, and went her way, but not rejoicing.—Youth's Companion.

The Suitor's Confession.

The Parent—Young man, I have noticed that you are paying attention to my daughter. Now, is it all on the square?

The Lover—No. It's mostly on the stoop.—Smith & Gray's Monthly.

Taken Literally.

Stainie—To prove my love there is nothing I would not do for you.

Ethel (yawning)—All right; wind up the clock and kiss Pido good night.—New York Herald.

Wasted Ammunition.

He hired a dress suit for the night,
And how he did swell!
To find the girl he went to see
Had just been engaged!
—Brother and Furnisher.

NOW FOR STRAWBERRIES.

Be Better Preserved, but Now Even Know the Proper Way—Here it is.

The very best way of preserving strawberries is in their own juice, says the New York Times. Take a quart of the finest, firm berries, allow four and a half pounds of sugar. Put three pints of the berries in a porcelain-lined kettle with three-quarters of a pound of sugar. Set them at the back of the stove where they will simmer, and when they will on no account get beyond blood-heat.

In an hour the juice will have drawn out of them. Mash them with a potato-masher, and strain all the juice out of the berries through a fine strainer. Add this juice to the remainder of the sugar, and beat up the whites of two eggs with their egg shells in the syrup. Let the syrup come to the boiling point rather slowly, and boil steadily for about ten minutes. Then strain it, putting a cloth inside the colander, and setting the colander on the mouth of an open jar.

Return the syrup to the preserving kettle which should have been first thoroughly washed. Have the cans ready and set in boiling water in a tin pan. As soon as the syrup boils, add a few of the berries, just enough to cover the top. When these have cooked for five minutes put them in one of the cans and put enough syrup to cover them. As soon as you have a careful of berries, cover them with syrup and fill another can. When all the berries are used there may still be some syrup left. Can this by itself as it is richly flavored with the strawberry and use it for flavoring desserts in the winter. If you wish to make a strawberry cordial add equal quantities of white cooking brandy to equal quantities of this syrup.

It is not strictly necessary to clarify and strain the syrup for strawberry preserves, though the preserves are much handsomer in appearance if this is done. Strawberry preserves should be kept in a cool, dark place or they will be liable to ferment in the heat of the summer. The safest way is to pack the jars in boxes of sand and put them in a cool place. If you have, remembering that dampness is also objectionable as heat.

How to Wash Paint.

The outside paint of the doors and blinds is apt to look very shabby at this season, after the winter's rough usage. A fresh coat of paint is, of course, the most satisfactory remedy; but as this involves time and expense, try first what a thorough washing will do with a pail of soft soapsuds. It is quite wonderful how improved old paint will look with this simple remedy. Begin with the top, and wash down, drying as you go, to prevent any streaks of water. Any bad stains may be taken out with sapolio. If the paint is dark and has a white look after washing, wet a rag with kerosene oil and rub over the whole surface.

Fish Chowder.

Take a haddock weighing three or four pounds and boil until tender. While it is boiling pare and cut in thick slices six potatoes and three onions; also fry two or three slices of pork and cut into small bits. Take out the fish and put into the kettle the potatoes, onions and pork and let them boil. Remove the bones and skin from the fish. Put a few pilot in the kettle, add crackers, which first must be split open and dipped in cold water. Add from a pint to a quart of hot milk, thicken a little and season with salt, pepper and butter. Cook slowly for twenty minutes after everything is in.

Asparagus Soup.

Cut the tops from a bunch of asparagus and lay them aside. Cut up the stalks of the asparagus quite small. If very hard throw away the woody part. Put into a pint of white stock and boil till tender enough to go through a colander. When strained add the tops and boil all in two minutes. Take four yolks and four into a saucepan on the fire; stir till they bubble; pour a quart of hot milk to this, stirring all the time; then add the soup, the salt and lastly one gill of cream.

THE OLD CORNER CUPBOARD

Is Again Coming Into Use—A Valuable Piece of Furniture Cheaply Made.

The corner cupboard is one of those delightful pieces of old-fashioned furniture which has been revived in the last decade. There is nothing prettier for a china closet, and one of these, made, fitted with plate-glass shelves and a full glass front, so that it displays the china to the full extent. Nor is such a closet beyond the limits of the purse, for a very pretty closet of this kind framed in oak may be bought for $15.

Such closets are exceedingly attractive in upper rooms for clothes presses. In that case it is a simple matter to fit with a wooden door, and matches the other woodwork of the room. It should not extend to the top of the ceiling, however, but the top should be at least two feet below the ceiling, making a convenient place for a bust or a richly colored china plaque, according to the Y. Tribune. A carpenter will build such a closet for $8 or $9, and it can be painted or finished like the other woodwork of the room.

Your Kitchen Table.

Don't try to keep your kitchen table scrubbed up to the German ideal of whiteness, but cover it neatly with white enamel cloth, spread smoothly and tacked up under the projecting edges. This can be washed in about two minutes with the expenditure of very little strength. For neatness and thrift it is excellent plan to cover a small table with zinc, and thus save the wood or enamel-covered one from scratching.

For the Sink.

On hygienic as well as housekeeping principles every woman should have a rubber scraper for the sink. After the solid matter which will accumulate in even the best-regulated kitchens has been removed, wash the sink thoroughly with hot water. To prevent iron rust, rub it over with a rag dampened with kerosene.

Coffee Jelly.

One teacupful of very strong coffee. Dissolve it in one packet of gelatine. Put on the fire one pint of milk and six tablespoonfuls of sugar. When nearly on the boil, pour in the coffee and gelatine. Let all boil together for ten minutes. Pour into a wetted mould, and set away in a cool place until firm.

Handy Soup Dish.

A great convenience in a wire soup tray, which is to be had over the counter. It has two great advantages over the old style of soup-holder—it is always in place and never dirty, for the soup dripnings of water do not remain in the dish.

This Date in History—June 15.

1215—Magna Charta signed by King John and the barons on the plains of Runnymede, at Staines.

1381—Wat Tyler treacherously slain while in conference with the blunt frankness of a leader of the followers and reasoned opposition of English serfs.

1752—Benjamin Franklin, authority, discovered and gave himself name, how to Fort Totnam, now Philadelphia.

1794—Massachusetts militia ordered to Connecticut to Arnold, at Judson, on the find Indians, the French and British consuls and 43 others were killed.

1836—General Milroy, with about 8,000 men, repulsed by Stonewall Jackson, with about 4,000 men and nearly all his artillery and ammunition; Lee followed rapidly to invade the north.

1862—Grant's first assault on Petersburg.

1865—Edmund Ruffin killed himself at Redmond, Amelia county, Va., near 1865, he was a prominent writer on agriculture and fired the first shot at Fort Sumter.

1870—Frederick III, emperor of Germany and king of Prussia, died; born 1831.

Another Texas.

Little Sam had come from the country to visit his aunt in the city. On the day after his arrival an organ grinder came to the door. Sam was in search of his sister, that she, too, might hear the music. She followed him back to the door and handed him a nickel.

"Put it in the plate on top of the organ," she said, "and the man will play another tune."

Sam did so and again enjoyed the music. The next Sunday his aunt took him to church. During the offertory the organist played a most beautiful selection. Sam had never heard such music in church before, and being a musical little fellow he quietly fished out a penny.

His aunt gave him a nickel, and while passing it to him the gentleman who was taking the collection came up he thrust put it in the plate. Sam dropped the five cent piece in with a great clatter, and looking up into the gentleman's face with a bright smile said, in the politest voice imaginable, and quite audibly,

"Please, sir, that is for another tune."

Sam seemed to be contagious in that neighborhood just then. In fact, without meaning it, Sam had given pleasure to a considerable number of persons.—Youth's Companion.

Sad.

Of all and things by leagues or pan,
How sad it is to find
When you have paid a two hours' call
That tie was left behind!
—Clothier and Furnisher.

1892		JUNE.				1892.
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fri.	Sat.
			1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2 4:51	Third Quarter	17 4:21
Full Moon	10 8:32	New Moon	24 9:07

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION.

1873. Membership 138,000. 1892.

Death benefits paid over $36,000,000 since organization.

Watchung Lodge, 2401, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Thursdays, at eight p. m., in Watchung Lodge rooms, Music Hall Building.

Immediate relief, $500, sick benefits per week $5.

LOUIS I. VANALSTYNE, Dictator.
RALPH A. —ST, Reporter.
Watchung Lodge, No. 24, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight p. m.

Hotels.

Caspar's Hotel,

24 & 26 E. Front St

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Transient and Family Boarders taken at

Reasonable ‡ Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE.

Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and refurnished throughout and contains all improvements. Furnishes unsurpassed accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Kline's Extracts,

Pure Fruit Flavors.

NEW ○°○ STORE!

I beg to announce that I have opened a store pertaining to bedding at 70 West Front street. Below we quote some of our prices:

Mattresses	$1.50 to $15
2 pieces South American Hair Mattress, 35 lbs.	$15
Goose Feather Pillows	$1.50, 2.00, 2.50
Hen Feather Pillows	75 cents
Rider Down Pillows	50 cents
Counterpanes	$1, $1.25, $1.50

Sheets, 60c.; bolsters and pillow cases to correspond; Oriental and Turkish Rugs, $1 to $4.50; portierre curtains, all silk, $5 per pair; Commodes, Bedsteads, Springs, Looking Glasses, Pictures, Cradles, Cribs, Bedroom Crockery, Comfort, Rocking Chairs, Stands, and a hundred and one other things cheaper than you can buy them in any other store.

T. J. CAREY, - Proprietor.

70 WEST FRONT STREET.

As the weather is so warm, there will be no auction sale at Carey's until September.

IF!

A poor article is dear at any price.
A good article is cheap at any price.
The Duluth Imperial Flour is the best in the world and the prices are right.
Insist on having it from your grocer, or apply to

FRENCH BROTHERS,

TELEPHONE 24. 8, 10 and 12 SOMERSET STREET.

Big Bargains

Extra fine 36c. Dress Gingham at 10c.
Full Dress Percales, 7c.
Outing Flannel, 5c.
New style in Irish Lawns, 12c.
New figured Organdie at 8c., very stylish and pretty.
Plain Black Satteen, 10c.
Fine Silk Belts, 25c.
Black Silk Mitts, 25c.

Fine assortment of new styles Mattings and Low Prices everyone anything ever before offered in this locality. Our assortment of Elegant Carpets, Art Squares, Rugs, etc., is complete and prices equally low.

Fine Lawn Ruffling (Collar Trimming) at 10c.
Ladies' Night Robes at 50c.
Boys' Clothing (white) 25c.
Men's Clothing (white) 25c.
The best 50c. unrolled Corsets ever offered anywhere.
Superior Silk Gloria Umbrellas, $1.50.

EDSALL'S!

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER

One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.

Whole Suits from $5 up.

Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.

70 WEST FRONT STREET.

13c. Buys a New Broom at V. and W.'s

Wash Dress Fabric.

Our assortment is considered the finest ever displayed in town. There are Irish Lawns at 10c., Twilled Cretonne at 10c., Dimities at 8c., Challies at 5c. Ginghams at 7, and the finest at 12c. for the fine goods Scotch Ginghams at 10c., former price 5c.

For Twenty-eight Cents

We will sell a dozen extra fine Cut Corners made of Lonsdale Cambric and Hamburg Trimming.

Spring Coats.

We are anxious to close out our stock this season's work and to do it we have reduced every garment one third its regular price.

For Twelve Cents

We are selling an extra good Ribbed Vest, cheap at 15c.

Chevrette Cloth

Is a very fine corded French Dress material, that is specially adapted for afternoon wear. They come in all the new Summer colorings and you will surely like them. Price 15c.

Porch Screen

Are very handy to have when you want to sit out on your porch during the hot days. We have them in all sizes and they cost but little.

For Five Cents Each

We will sell 500 dozen fine thin tumblers, former price 8c. each.

Crockery, Housefurnishings and Tinware.

In this department we are offering some extra fine bargains, and it will repay you when in the store to look through this department.

For Nineteen Cents

You buy Curtain Poles all complete. This is a fine variegated wood, and is better than any pole ever sold at the same price.

Van Emburgh & White.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,

OF PLAINFIELD.

Firm of

RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY,

Importers and Tailors,

231 Broadway, New York.

Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring.

Moderate Prices.

25 Inch

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with

LAMP AND BELL,

under penalty of $20 fine.

A large and complete assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the

Wheelmen's Headquarters,

Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.

FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC

SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS

SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC

4 & 5 cents per Copy.

Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.

A. M. Vanderbeek's,

88 PARK AVENUE.

C. DICKINSON,

PRACTICAL

OPTICIAN

and

JEWELER.

Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Agent for the American

Rambler Bicycles.

No. 18 Park avenue.

Miss Blanche Fellows

VOCALIST

and Teacher of Singing.

Rapid development and complete education of the voice.

Specialties: Deep breathing, vocal forms, tone and tone production.

Voice tried Saturdays, from 12 m. to 1 p. m.

Call or address

NO. 37 DUER STREET.

RANDOLPH'S

BEEF, IRON AND WINE,

THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!

PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

31 WEST FRONT STREET.

Just What You Need!

If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an

Arnold Steam Cooker.

Remember, it costs a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.

You can buy the above articles at 61 Park avenue Also the only genuine

BOSTON BROWN BREAD,

made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.

M. E. BEACH, Agent.

Tennis, Croquet, Hammocks, etc.

10 PER CENT. OFF

on all Tennis Goods.

Special Discounts

on large orders or to clubs.

A. W. RAND,

24 West Front Street.

FRED. W. DUNN,

Successor to

Barkalew & Dunn,

19 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Fine Groceries.

THREE BOY TEA

GET YOUR

Bicycle Repaired

NO. 8 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

by

Henry Goeller, Jr.

COAL and WOOD.

E. H. HOLMES,

YARD—64 Madison Avenue.
Office—37 North avenue, with Weidel & Doble.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Owner and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Look Box I. Telephone Call 61. Printing of All Kinds. 15 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," THURSDAY, JUNE 16, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

Festival of Roses,

Under the auspices of

THE LADIES' AID SOCIETY,

June 16th and 17th,

in Vincent Chapel.

Admission, - - - 10 Cents

MUSIC AND REFRESHMENTS. 15 2*

BREVITIES

—The special officer at the North avenue depot arrested a man at 2.40 o'clock this afternoon, for stealing a ride. Three others who were with him escaped.

—According to the State Board of Assessors' report of the Plainfield Electric Railway has nine miles of railway, $25,000 capital paid in, and $25,000 debt.

—The Young Ladies' Missionary Society, of the First Baptist church, will hold a sewing meeting to-morrow afternoon in the lecture room of the church.

—Workmen are busy laying the street railroad down town tracks at the corner of Front and Somerset streets. When this is completed the up-town track will be laid.

—The annual State Convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in New Jersey was held at Elizabeth yesterday. About 200 delegates attended, and a gratifying increase in the order throughout the State was reported.

—A number of the members of the Thirtieth Regiment, N. J. V., met in Somerville yesterday. It was decided to hold a reunion in this city on September 1, and a committee of five to make the necessary arrangements were appointed.

—Few people realize what a wonderfully delicate piece of mechanism the human ear really is. That which we designate as the "ear," is, after all only the mere outer porch of a series of winding passages which lead from the world without to the world within. Certain of these passages are filled with liquid, besides having membranes stretched like parchment curtains cross the corridor at different points. When a sound wave strikes these they are thrown into vibrations and made to tremble like the head of a drum does when struck with a stick or with the fingers. Between two of these parchment-like curtains a chain of minute bones extend, which serve to tighten or relax the membranes and to communicate vibrations to them. In the innermost place of all, a row of white threads, called nerves, stretch like the strings of a piano from the last point from which the tremblings reach, passing thence inward to the brain. Truly, this is a wonderful piece of mechanism.

TOO HEAVY FOR OUR ROADS.

An Eight Ton Boiler Causes Much Trouble.

The large eight ton, 180 horse power, boiler, which the Edison Electric Light Company of North Plainfield ordered some time ago to increase their facilities for lighting the city, arrived yesterday and was left at the freight depot. The truckmen, after finding that the size of the boiler how they could not handle it and it was sent to the Pond Machine Tool Company, when it was hoisted on the truck by their two immense cranes, capable of lifting ten tons.

On Grant avenue the moving was delayed on account of the wheels becoming mired and at the corner of Front street and Park avenue the heavily loaded truck broke through the crosswalk of stone and blocked Park avenue for several hours.

On Somerset street the macadamized road was broken, and in front of the Electric Light Company's plant the wheels of the wagon sunk deep in the ground.

It is probably one of the largest and heaviest objects ever moved in this city.

Manning—Dunn Nuptials.

Mr. John Henry Manning, the General Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city, and Miss Clara Owen Dunn, daughter of Mr. Solomon F. Dunn, of Park avenue, this city, were married at the Crescent avenue church at 5.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Charles E. Dunn, of Albany, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Richards of this city. There were no bridesmaids and the reception was private. The ushers were Messrs. Wm. D. Murray, B. A. Robinson, G. O. Clark of this city, and Mr. Charles Fowlinson, formerly of this city, but now connected with the Y. M. C. A. at Philadelphia. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Manning left on the 6.05 train on an extended wedding trip.

Homing Pigeon Mates.

The birds in the homing pigeon race which were released at Youngstown, Ohio, at six o'clock yesterday morning, have experienced very heavy headwinds on their trip to this city.

Mr. J. Hervey Demler's bird was the first to arrive to-day at 11.39 o'clock. The Newark and Elizabeth birds have not been heard from yet. The distance covered is 340 miles.

An Alarm Last Night.

The Fire Department was called out last night by an alarm rung from Box 47, at the Pond Machine Tool Company factory.

In response the firemen found the fire at the house of Mr. George McInnis on Second street, owned by Mr. A. Young.

The fire caught in a closet filled with clothes but no damage was done other than the destruction of those articles.

THE DOLL SHOW.

A LARGE ASSEMBLAGE AT THE SEMINARY LAST EVENING.

Dolls of all Degrees, Sizes, Quality and Quantity- Funny, Solemn, and Half-and-half-Dolls — The Guests Have a Dance—Those Present.

N all ways the Doll Show and Fair in behalf of the Brule Indian Mission, held at the Seminary yesterday afternoon and evening, was a success.

The building was brilliantly illuminated and the plazza spacious and suitably in the shadow enough to allow a short confidential conversation.

In the Seminary Hall were dolls of all description, big dolls and little dolls, pretty ones and ugly ones, long dolls and short ones, and in fact all kinds of dolls imaginable.

The prizes for the various dolls were as follows:

Oldest doll, Addie Jackson.

Prettiest doll, Pamie Smillie.

Ugliest doll, Ralph Lawson.

Smallest, completely dressed, Carolyn Hall.

Oldest doll, Brockelhurst Miller.

Best family of paper dolls, Mattie Wadsworth.

Largest doll, Martha Tracy.

Best dressed doll, Edna Smith.

During the evening dancing was indulged in by the young people.

The fair reflects much credit upon the managers.

Among those who were present were Miss Kenyon, Mrs. Timpson, Mrs. Rowland Cox, Mrs. McClure, Miss Edith Hyde, the Misses Tracy, Miss Florence Waring, Miss Jane Schoonmaker, Miss Honegger, Miss Schoonmaker, Miss Vail, Miss Wyling, Miss Thompson, the Misses' Shrieve, Miss F. Smith, Miss Henderson, Miss Cooley, Miss Edith Taylor, Miss Edith Smalley, Miss Wilson, Messrs. Faber, Field, E. Murray, Howard Corlis, Fred Sirh, Fred Smith, L. Wood, C. VanBuren, R. Erickson, Berry Egan, Gus Wadsworth, H. Cox, Jr., Will Faber, Sherry West, Wesly Abbott, Walton.

PERSONAL.

Theodore Schell of West Second street, died this morning at five o'clock at Morris Plains, of softening of the brain. A wife, one son and two daughters, survive him.

Wm. H. S. Davey of Weston, and who has a law office in Elizabeth, was last week admitted as counsellor. At the same time James F. Powers was licensed as attorney. Mr. Powers hails from Rocky Hill and is one of Montgomery's rising young Democrats. He studied for a while in the office of Hodges & Anderson, and will probably locate in Plainfield.—Somerset Messenger.

The following is a list of those who will receive their diplomas next week from the High School: Charles Horton Engleman, Edith Jane Barton, Grace Johnson Carroll, Emily May Cathcart, Helen May Cahoone, Spencer L. Higgins, Addie Parker Jackson, Cora Estelle Mooney, Lillie Eloise Moore, Everett Lucius Morgan, Lillian Estelle Oakley, Louise Paton, Grace Howard Peirce, Charles Elmer Scudder, John Calvin Suthpen, Arthur Joseph Spicer, Josie L. Elliott Van Arsdale, Philip Bartlett Wells, John Alfred Wilson.

Will. M. Wilshere, a Jersey City newspaper man, is making a bicycle trip through the Southern and Western States, and passed through this city at noon to-day. He left New York at noon Tuesday and stopped at Rahway yesterday afternoon and last night as the guest of Dr. Holmes, secretary of the Associated Cyclers of Rahway, Carteret and the Union County Roadsters. Mr. Wilshere is making this trip in a leisurely way and will write his experiences for the New York and Jersey City papers. Like every other cyclist who comes to Union county, he is in love with the roads. He will stop at Flemington to-night.

The Presbyterian church at Rye-on-the-Sound was the scene of a pretty wedding at high noon on Tuesday. The contracting parties were Thomas Wallace McMullan of Belfast, Ireland, and Miss Florence Henrietta, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. MacLeod. The bridesmaids, cousins of the bride, were Misses Emma and Katie Schoonmaker of New Rochelle; Gertrude Andrews of this city, and Ann De Reuse of Monticello. The maid of honor was little Miss Edna Schoonmaker, daughter of Dr. F. W. Schoonmaker. The ushers were William Maurice, the bride's brother; Harry W. Mabie, Edward L. Patterson and Arthur W. Corning. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John E. Rockwell. A reception followed the ceremony, at the home of the bride's parents, "Rock Cottage."

Half Rates to Omaha, Neb., via Pennsylvania Railroad.

For the benefit of delegates and visitors to the Independent Party National Convention, at Omaha, Neb., on July 4th, 1892, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets of the round trip class from Omaha to Chicago, from all principal stations on the line, at a rate of one fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold from June 28th to July 1st, inclusive, and the return coupons will be good until July 16th inclusive, and by making new must be deposited on date of sale. Tickets will be valid for continuous passage only in each direction.

LOCAL BASE BALL.

THE CRESCENTS DEFEATED THE STATEN ISLAND CLUB YESTERDAY.

Manager Moore's Phenomenons Not "In It" with the Crescents—Regan a Good Addition to the Club—Murphy's Two Three-badgers—The Score 5 to 2.

Yesterday was an ideal base-ball day. The blazing sun, of Monday and Tuesday, seemed to have some compassion for the boys and did not pour down its rays quite so intensely.

The game was a good one, every man on both teams playing well.

Regan, the new player from the Williamsport of the New England State League, is a hitter and base runner. He will probably prove a valuable acquisition to the team.

Bonner covered short to perfection. He will fill Keller's place admirably.

Murphy made two three-baggers which were beauties, and he was loudly applauded.

Van Zandt and Vroom for the visitors did good work at the bat, the former getting a three-bagger and the latter a single and a two-bagger.

Berriman, as usual, umpired impartially.

Clare is a good pitcher, but nevertheless the home boys got ten hits from him.

The Staten Island boys made six hits from Snedden.

The latter was injured in the seventh inning, but continued the game, and it is expected that he will be in condition Saturday, to defeat the Somervilles.

The following is the complete score:

CRESCENTS.

	AB	R	BH	PO	A	E	SB	BB	SO	LB
Hofford, c..	5	0	0	4	3	0	0	1	1	0
Tunison, 3b..	4	0	0	0	2	1	0	0	0	1
Murphy, l.f..	5	1	2	3	0	0	1	0	0	0
Daley, 2b....	4	0	0	0	0	3	0	0	1	0
Regan, r.f....	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	1
Bonner, s.s..	4	0	1	1	6	0	0	0	0	0
Jones, 1b...	4	1	1	10	0	0	0	0	1	1
Snedden, p..	4	0	2	0	1	0	0	0	0	0
	5	10	27	14	2	2	2	1	5	7

STATEN ISLAND.

VanZant, 2b	4	1	2	1	1	0	0	0	0
Miller, s.s....	4	0	0	2	3	0	0	0	0
Brill, 1b.....	4	0	0	12	1	0	0	0	1
Brush, c.s..	3	0	1	2	2	0	0	0	1
Vroom, c.....	4	0	2	5	0	0	0	0	0
Clare, p.....	4	0	0	0	4	0	0	0	1
Johns'n, c.f.	4	0	1	1	0	0	0	0	2
Ford, l.f....	4	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	2
Vroom, r.f..	3	1	2	2	1	0	0	0	1
	3	2	7	16	1	2	0	1	8

Crescents.....	0	0	1	1	2	0	1	0	0—5
Base hits.....	0	0	1	1	2	2	1	1	0—8
Staten Island.	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	0—2
Base hits.....	0	0	1	2	1	2	1	0	0

Plainfield, June 15th — Earned runs, Crescents, 4; Staten Island, 1. Two base hits, Vroom; three base hits, Van Zandt, Murphy (2); sacrifice hits, Gunnison, 2; Regan, Jones, Vroom, Clare, Johnson, Ford; passed ball, Vroom; wild pitch, Clare, hit by pitched ball, Vroom; time of game, one hour and fifty-five minutes. Umpire—Mr. Berriman.

A FIGHTING CHINAMAN.

Gee Wah, a North Avenue Laundryman, Strikes Out.

Several gentlemen were sitting in front of Councilman D. B. Roberts' livery stable last evening about eleven o'clock, principally discussing the ball game.

Some of them had just returned from the meeting of the Directors of the Crescent League, and Mr. C. E. Moore, of Fanwood, who had missed his team, was making arrangements to procure a carriage, and in that way go to his home.

In the midst of the conversation Gee Wah, a laundryman who has his establishment next to the stable, and who was listening to the discussion, advanced towards "Col." Moore, who was speaking, and struck him savagely with a stick, which he had in his hand.

The Chinaman probably thought the men were making fun of him, and in this way attempted to get even.

He also is said to be of an ugly disposition and at times indulges in too much liquor.

Mr. Moore made a complaint before Judge Coddington at once and Officer Cooney served a warrant on the Chinaman and arrested him at one o'clock this morning.

This morning at 10.30 he was arraigned in the city court, but on motion of the Prosecutor the case was postponed until five o'clock to night.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

Women's Piety.

To THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS—Words of condemnation fall upon the ears of the milliners, dressmakers, and tailors, and makes short stout dresses for his customers. The Supreme Sanitary Board of Hungary has taken to surgery, and appoints an "street sweeper." Sanitary stock-taking a necessity for the public health; that the trailing dresses of women gather up and distribute in the home the germs of tuberculosis, diphtheria, typhus fever and other diseases.

Public opinion and common sense make a triumvirate to make abolition in the "divine right," and should be the women's.

A WOMAN.

For Capt. Grant.

To THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—Is there no redress? The flower and plant thieves are again at work. Costly and beautiful plants are torn up by the roots and carried off, and handsome rose bushes in full bloom are bereft of their branches, being cut almost to the ground on Madison and Central avenues above Sleepy street.

ONE OF MANY VICTIMS.

COAL COMBINE WAR.

The Hearing Before the Chancellor Yesterday.

There was a remarkable array of counsel before Chancellor McGill yesterday morning when a hearing was given on the coal combine suit instituted by the Attorney-General.

The New Jersey Central road was represented by ex-Chancellor Williamson, Thomas N. McCarter and John R. Emery. The State had the Attorney-General, Barker Gummere and F. W. Stevens. The Attorney-General announced that they were ready to argue the case on the rule to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent. Ex-Chancellor Williamson asked for an extension of time in order that the New Jersey Central could prepare their papers. The Attorney-General opposed any delay, and gave the following reasons for quick action. If the statements in the information are true large amounts of money are being drawn from the people daily by a combination that is in open defiance of the laws and in defiance of the authority of the State. The question depends largely upon documents attached to the information, the lease and the tri partite agreement and the character of the corporations. When the rule to show cause was granted returnable in fifteen days the defendant should have been ready on the return day. If not ready it would seem to be the duty of the Court to grant the prayer of information and give the preliminary injunction.

Additional remarks were made by Messrs. Gummere and Stevens, who are associated with the Attorney-General, and by Messrs. Emery and McCarter, of Newark, who, with ex-Chancellor Williamson, appeared for the railroad companies.

The Chancellor, after listening attentively, said that the application for a delay of two weeks would be granted, and that counsel for the railroads might serve their papers on June 29th. Then it was agreed that counsel should meet informally July 1st, when the State would have a whole day to look over the lease and points of the defense. "This," said the Chancellor, "will enable counsel to be ready to proceed with the argument on July 7th.

STATE NEWS

W. G. Davis of Woodstown, claims to have picked the champion strawberry. It measure 6¾ inches in circumference.

James B. Currey, who has been looking after the Delaware & Raritan canal at Bound Brook, for twenty-eight years, died on Saturday, aged sixty-eight years.

Colonel Henry W. Sawyer of Cape May, has a field of rye six feet high, and it presents a great deal of admiration in that country, where it is unusual to see so fine a crop.

A lot of bones found by workmen who were excavating for the new Opera House were thought to be the remains of the sixty slaves formerly owned by Judge Joseph De Cou, who had a large plantation where the town now stands. Since then it was discovered that a slaughter house formerly stood on the spot, and that the bones were all legs of slaughtered animals.

A novel system of sending out weather signals for the benefit of the farmers has been evolved by the managers of the Pilesgrove Creamery. At nine o'clock every morning they receive the weather indications by wire from Washington. They send out the indications by blasts on a big steam whistle which can be heard for miles around. All the farmers within hearing of the whistle are supplied with the code, which is a very simple one, and the system has proved of wider benefit than a display of signal flags.

Patentees.

The following is a list of patents granted to Jerseymen for the week ending June 14, 1892: Implement for vermin destruction, W. W. Bell, Newark; bottle-filling machine, A. L. Hatfield, Newark; anchoring screw bolter, H. H. Hockey, Newark; fastening stop for curtain stave, R. Varley, Jr., Englewood; automobile seat, J. C. Ware, Irvington; combustible coloring bodies and process, R. S. Whitehead, Newark; centrifugal apparatus, G. A. Calvert, Jersey City Heights; potato digger, Wm. E. Brock, Plainfield; governor, Wm. Gregory (Gem patents), E. A. Edison, Llewellyn Park; electric railway, Edison, Llewellyn Park; electric railway, Edison, Llewellyn Park; electric railway,

EDITORIAL NOTES

A Month of Fire and Flood.

Early in May the great floods in the northwest assumed alarming proportions. May 5 the rush of water was so overwhelming that the fact was telegraphed throughout the country and generally commented on. Thence on the floods raged in increasing fury, till they covered a tract extending from Minnesota on the north to Texas and Louisiana on the south, and from Illinois on the east to Kansas and Nebraska on the west. Such deluges of water were never before known over so large a tract of country, and the loss of property from northwest to southwest amounted to not less than $50,000,000. Unprecedented, too, was the length of time the water remained, as indicated by swollen banks and bursting levees in the lower Mississippi, long after under ordinary conditions the flood would have subsided.

While this flood was at its height came the terrible fire at Spokane, in which much of the town was laid in ashes and a number of lives were lost. June 5, one month after the date when the floods in the west were at their worst, the flourishing new mining town of Creede was visited by a fire more destructive even than that at Spokane. A million dollars of Creede's newly earned prosperity went up in smoke.

The flood and fire wave meantime rolled eastward. On the same day—June 5—of the destructive fire at Creede came the calamity on Oil creek, Pa., a calamity which in its terrible picturesqueness exceeded anything except a volcanic eruption on a great scale. Oil creek was a sheet of flame for eighteen miles, from Titusville to Oil City. Three hundred lives were lost and again millions of property. Its cause was the flood, the awful flood. A cloudburst near the head waters of Oil creek swelled all the streams; a dam broke seven miles above Titusville; the waters swept away oil and gasoline tanks; the gas caught fire from a furnace, and then sheol broke loose. That other Pennsylvania disaster, June 1, 1889, three years ago, oddly enough, was likewise caused by the bursting of a dam.

*The saddest part of the Oil creek dis*aster, next to the loss of life itself, is that so many were drowned and burned to death whose names will never be known, as they were poor families of foreigners, and the annals of the poor are ever scant.

Sidney Dillon.

One of the last of the old style men who became millionaires by hard work and economy was the late president of the Union Pacific road, Sidney Dillon. He began to earn his own living at seven years old and also to save money. He earned a dollar a week and his food, and out of the dollar a week he saved enough in two years to buy a horse and cart. The boy of nine years old who has a horse and cart that he earned himself was not plentiful, even seventy years ago. Mr. Dillon's success depended largely on his physical energy, of which he seemed to have an inexhaustible supply. He was accustomed to say that he also owed it greatly to his singularly happy and harmonious domestic life, which enabled him always to find in his home a haven of perfect rest. Although he was eighty years old at the time of his death, he was still a man of uncommonly fine physical presence and appearance. A bodily ailment ever downed him except the indigestion which caused his death and which attacked him three months ago. It was the sign of the breaking up at last of the grand machine which had served its owner's purpose so long. Here is a life for the poor-boys-who-became-millionaires series that will thrill the young imagination as few such stories have done.

It is difficult to believe that Queen Victoria, nearly as broad as she is long, riding heavily about the garden in a donkey cart, with a big groom leading the donkey, is the same queen who fifty years ago was so extravagantly fond of dancing and danced all night through sheer joy and lightness of heart. Yet it was so. Half a century afterward, when her majesty's grandchildren were taking dancing lessons of the great Taglioni, she sent a kindly message to the teacher one day saying that in her girlhood it was Taglioni's grace that filled her with such a passionate love of dancing, and that this grace had been an inspiration to her. It is hard to understand how the British queen could ever have been so impressionable.

We are going to have a viking boat at the World's fair, sent to us from Norway. Some years ago a genuine viking boat was discovered in an ice floe off the Norway coast. It was ages old—nobody could tell exactly how old—but was as sound and trim as if it had been cast away but yesterday. The ice had kept it while empires and dynasties rose and fell. It was eighty feet long and, strangely enough, had a cross at the bow.

If the stories are true that are told about the foolishness and vanity of the wife of Lieutenant Hetherington, who killed Banker Robinson, then the killing becomes doubly unfortunate. Such a woman was not worth a man's life. Probably few women are.

AT LEAST FORTY KILLED

Dashed to Death by a Falling Bridge.

REMARKABLE ESCAPE OF TWO MEN.

They Fell Sixty Feet with the False Work of a New Bridge Near Cincinnati, but Escaped with a Few Bruises. A Survivor's Story.

CINCINNATI, June 16.—At least forty men were killed by the falling of the false work of the new bridge that was being built over the Licking river between Covington and Newport.

Superintendent Sullivan says there were sixty-three men at work on the bridge when the crash came. Those who escaped were at work on the up stream side of the bridge. They fell with the wreck, but fortunately fell on top of it. Those on the down stream side fell under the wreckage and were either killed or injured. It is certain that those who cannot be found are lying at the bottom of the Licking river.

A List of the Dead.

Following is a list of the dead:

C. D. Champoux Semple, of Boston; Thomas Down, Wheeling, Va.; an unknown man about forty years old; J. H. Bixby, Redford City, Va.; Elmer Barber, Cleathemat; William Aiola, Ohio; C. W. Pendenbark, Wheeling, W. Va.; Dick Gorman, Dolphin, Pa.; John Adamel, Cincinnati; Frank Adams, 6 Walnut street, Cincinnati; Robert Baird, contractor, of 1,023 Columbia street, Newport; Andrew Baird, contractor, of Pittsburg, brother of Robert; Charles Gwadman, Covington, Ky.; Edward Sullivan, Loudlow, Ky.; James Johnson, of Havre de Grace, Md.; Dennis Barlow, Parkersburg, W. Va.; A. Frank, Pa.; Charles Stall, Ironton, O.; Charles Tyre, Mitchell, Ind.; William Burton, Pendleton, Ky.; Patrick Murray, Greenbrier, W. Va.

The missing and probably dead are:

Martin Luther, La Grange, Ky.; Frank Mure, Newport, head carpenter; George Burge, Irvington; N. W. Burton, Winchester, Ky.; William Wessling, Newport; Fred Brant, 46 Main street, Cincinnati; Dick Adams, Cincinnati.

Twenty-two others were injured, some of them fatally.

A Survivor's Story.

William Wilson, an iron work inspector of Covington, Ky., was on the fatal structure and had a thrilling escape from death. He made the following statement immediately after being rescued and then relapsed into unconsciousness:

"I was standing on the false work, near the traveler, on the Newport side, talking with Andy Baird, one of the contractors who had just arrived, and we were chatting together. Suddenly we felt the structure sinking beneath us, and with common impulse we started to run for the Newport end. We had scarcely gone ten feet when the whole thing went down and we were thrown headlong through the air. I lost consciousness, and did not recover my senses until I rose to the surface of the water. The first thing I saw was the form of Baird, fearfully mangled, wedged in between the timber. He groaned several times and died. I managed then to seize a piece of drifting timber and to hold on until a small boat came to my rescue. I cannot tell the cause of the accident."

It Was a Horrible Scene.

Soon after the crash came both banks were lined with people. A big portion of the false work was submerged, and with it were the unfortunate workmen. The scene was a horrible one. In a minute the air was filled with the shrieks of the injured and dying. Those who could free themselves from the tangled network of timber struggled to the surface of the water and tried to get ashore. One after another gave up the desperate and uneven struggle and sank into the muddy water. Among the first to be taken out was one of the Baird brothers, the contractors. His body was in a horrible condition, his back being crushed and broken. Next to be taken from the water was John Sponsor.

A log weighing a couple of hundred pounds crashed through Sponsor's abdomen driving it through his back. The look of pain on his face was horrible. The bones of all the dead men were crushed, broken and splintered, and in many instances were forced through the flesh, presenting a sickening sight. The terrible calamity is due directly to the recent heavy rains. The traveler was fully seventy feet high, and the false work sixty feet. Two men were at work on the top deck of the false work when the crash came. They fell into the river, but escaped with few scratches. They were J. P. Lynch, colored, and Bruce Comas. Lynch fell with the bridge and landed on top of it. Comas fell underneath the work but, singularly enough, escaped with a few bruises.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

W. K. Vanderbilt and W. Seward Webb will go to the World's fair in their yachts if the depth of the water in the canals is sufficient.

The Master Car Builders' Association of the United States and Canada began their twenty-sixth annual convention at Saratoga.

The American Boiler Manufacturers' association is holding its fifth annual convention at Buffalo.

George Jamison died at New Albany, Ky., from drinking a quart of whisky.

A lead trust is projected to control the industry in Missouri.

Miss Margaret Foster Herrick, of the Harvard Annex, has won the largest prize of $100 for the best metrical translation of an ode of Horace.

Dublin university has bestowed on Henry Irving the degree of LL.D.

The king and queen of Italy will start on June 10 on their proposed visit to the kaiser.

It has been officially announced that parliament will be dissolved on Tuesday, June 28.

Prince George of Wales took his seat in the house of lords as duke of York.

A convention of silver clubs of Nevada has been called to meet in Reno June 24. Members will be pledged to vote only for candidates who favor free coinage.

Miss Louise Burnett, daughter of ex-Congressman Joseph Burnett, was married in Boston to C. P. Choate, jr., son of President Choate, of the Old Colony road.

Sir William Gordon Cumming, of baccarat notoriety, proposes to stand for parliament as Unionist candidate for Elgin.

Leonard Tenny, of New Jersey, Me., in order to wed Edith Barnett, forged the name of her father to a written consent to the marriage. She was under age and he is in jail.

R. L. Ashley, Democrat, defeated Barby, the third party candidate, for Senator Miller's seat in congress.

William Walter Phelps is now talked of for secretary of state.

General John C. New, consul general to London, sailed for Europe with his daughter.

Fifty thousand workmen are on strike in and around Barcelona.

PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITIES SCORED

Senator Morgan Touches Them Up In His Silver Speech.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, delivered an able address to the senate on the silver question, in the course of which he managed to again cast a dart at the presidential possibilities on the floor by referring to them as dark, if not illegitimate, and broken horses and colts. He scored Mr. Sherman severely and produced many letters and statistics to show the necessity for free coinage legislation. When he concluded his remarks a desultory silver discussion was started, in which Mr. Palmer, of Illinois, and Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, participated. Mr. Stewart on the request of Mr. Palmer to state whether he was or was not in favor of free coinage.

The petition of the colored citizens of Mandeville, Kas., denouncing the failure of the general government to adequately protect the colored race in its constitutional rights in that mob and lynch law have been permitted to take the place of the regular form of judicial proceedures, was presented to the senate by Senator Peffer. The petition concludes with a demand for equal rights before the law, equal protection and one law for blacks and whites.

Senator Paddock presented to the senate a petition signed by a large number of citizens of York county, Neb., requesting that the salaries of senators and representatives who favor the free coinage of silver be paid in silver coin.

In the House.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The house passed the fortification appropriation bill without division. The measure appropriates $2,418,-976, or $1,326,697 less than was appropriated by the last congress. An effort by Mr. Outhwaite to make contracts for certain works, involving a further expenditure of $1,876,000. The bill reducing the duty on tin plate, terne plate and black plate to one cent a pound after Oct. 1, 1892, and removing all duty thereon after Oct. 1, 1894, occupied the remainder of the day. Mr. Shively (Dem.), of Indiana, and Mr. White (Dem.), of Iowa, favoring the measure, while Mr. Raines (Rep.), of New York, opposed it.

FASHIONS

Corselets and Sashes.

This season dame fashion seems to have taken the waist under special protection, and corselet bodices and corselet belts represent a popular decree. The special corselet belt here illustrated is of suede, and embroidered all over with a narrow soft colored cord outlined with a gold thread. It fastens on the shoulders with braces and buckles, and laces down the front. Worn over those blouses whose popularity seems to increase each year, it looks remarkably well; to a shirt, too, even one full of manly suggestiveness, with a high linen collar and a tie, it is an effective addition; while scarcely how it seems to be successful in forming a connecting link between bodices and skirts of widely different materials and textures, and it could not fail to comfortably adapt itself to the needs of the athletic woman. Doubtless it would elastically lend itself to her every movements, no matter of how energetic a nature.

NEW CORSELET BELT.

Some charming sashes which fasten at the back and which fasten at the front, the prettiest of these latter being those which consist merely of a double band of 4-inch ribbon drawn round the waist and fastened in front under a short rosette bow. These are made of wonderful ribbons—watered, shaded, plaid, ingrained and plaid—plaid being, perchance, the most attractive; and among these are many which cannot fail to wind themselves around the heart of any woman of taste.

Cotton Bedford Cords.

Cotton Bedford cords are now slightly crinkled and are made effective as the finest of wools and much smarter. They come in the fashionable pink, pale Sevres blue, gray and lilac shades, and are made up with fancy braidings of white, black or red, and wide corselet of black moire ribbon. This corselet may cross the front only—while the back is in coat shape—and is without sleeves, but with a frill of the material edged with a long upright bow. An inch wide black ribbon band tied at intervals in bow knots edges the full skirt, and is set around the top of the high collar. Eton jackets and blazer suits of Bedford cord are popular in white striped with blue, black or brown, to wear with white or colored shirt waists of cheviots, percales, Madras or of washing silk.—Harper's Bazar.

A. O. U. W. Men Meet.

HELENA, Mon., June 16.—Supreme lodge, A. O. U. W., is in session here. The order has a total membership of 362,000, a gain for the year of 30,000. Since last October, $600 was paid out to the heirs of deceased members.

Dr. John Agnew Dead.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 16.—Dr. John Agnew, of Philadelphia, died at his summer home, in Ocean Grove, aged thirty-six. The doctor was brought here last week in the hope of regaining his failing health.

Delegate Stranahegner Very Ill.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 16.—J. A. Stranahegner, delegate from the Seventh Pennsylvania district to the recent Republican convention, lies critically ill in this city. His home is in Norristown, Pa.

The Trial of Prince Michael.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 16.—At the trial of Prince Michael Elia Bowlinson, who came to the colony last December from Toronto, Ont., testified as to having had criminal relations with Michael.

HISSES FOR TIM HEALY.

Cries of "Kill Him" During Redmond's Speech.

PARNELLITES READY FOR PEACE.

Mr. Redmond Said That Ready Abuse Stands Between the Warring Irish Factions—All the Blame for the Dissension Placed Upon the McCarthyites.

NEW YORK, June 16.—"The only men who stand between Ireland and peace are Mr. Healy and his friends. We believe, if a truce could be established in Ireland that the home rule bill of Mr. Gladstone would afford an admirable battle for union. It is to the interests of every Irishman that Mr. Gladstone should return to power, and that as soon as possible."

That was the keynote of the address on the Irish question which John E. Redmond, M. P., delivered at the Academy of Music before an audience of Irish men and women which crowded the building. Judge Lynn made the speech of introduction. He said that Mr. Redmond came to speak not for men but for principles—(applause)—not for a faction, but for a great cause. [Applause.]

When Mr. Redmond rose he was greeted with another burst of prolonged and enthusiastic applause and cheering.

His Tribute to Parnell.

He began by saying that when he had last stood upon the American platform Ireland was advancing toward her rights. "By the strength, the unity, the calmness and the dignity of our national movement," he said, "we had made our national demand admitted by the world. All that was the work of one man."

Great applause greeted this and every successive allusion to Mr. Parnell.

"All that," he continued, "was the work of one calm, far seeing brain, one dauntless, unquenchable heart. Mr. Parnell taught Irishmen self-respect and self reliance. Mr. Parnell taught the doctrine that we Irishmen were the equals of those Englishmen who sought to be our masters. He fought and won. Even when he had a band of only a score by his side he defeated both of the great English parties in turn—first the Tories, then the Liberals. Finally he brought one of those parties to admit Ireland's claim to home rule." (Loud applause.]

"What is the position of our cause now? The Irish National party is rent asunder, the national hope is destroyed, the national leader is dead. The man who made Ireland respected and feared is gone.

"We look around for a man fitted to take that place. Ireland, maddened by sorrow and vengeance, torn by warring factions, is in danger of loosing the respect of the world and the fruition of her hopes."

"It is our political opponents and not Mr. Parnell's followers who are responsible for the breaking up of that movement."

Forbearance Asked.

Mr. Redmond went on in detail to show how he and his friends had made repeated efforts to bring about harmony and union. He recounted the overtures that had been made by his side, and how Healy and his followers had rejected everything while professing a desire for peace. He said:

"We don't even ask that that man (Healy) shall be driven out of public life who publicly boasted that he would drive Parnell into the grave or into a lunatic asylum. But we ask the same measure of forbearance on their side. Peace may yet be restored if Healy be not permitted to rule the destinies of his party. If a policy of conciliation all around is adopted then we are ready to ground our arms. But if there is to be a policy of vengeance then we will fight it out."

Mr. Redmond emphasized what he believed to be the necessity for the continuance in the Irish Parliamentary party of Irish politicians absolutely independent of every English political party.

Shouts, groans and hisses greeted every mention of Healy's name, and one gray haired man shouted, "Kill him!" The excitement became tremendous when Mr. Redmond referred to him as the man who stood in the path of Ireland's liberty. A basket collection was taken up at the close of Mr. Redmond's address and about $2,500 was raised for the coming elections.

Dr. Dinsion Continued.

DES MOINES, June 16.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Irish National league the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we condemn the dissision now existing in Ireland and declare that we will not contribute one cent to either party until they unite, and we also condemn the action of each party in sending a delegate to America, thereby transferring the quarrel to this country.

Homeopathists Elect Officers.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The American Institute of Homeopathy elected the following officers: H. McClelland, of Pittsburg, president; C. E. Fisher, of San Antonio, Tex., first vice president, and Millie J. Thompson, Pittsburg, second vice president; Pemberton Dudley, of Philadelphia, general secretary; T. M. Strong, of Boston, provincial secretary; E. H. Kellogg, of New York, assistant secretary; H. C. Allen, of York, assistant treasurer, and a board of censors.

Vice President Succeeds Rudgar.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 16.—William H. Stevenson has resigned his position as vice president and general manager of the Housatonic road, which is now under control of the Consolidated road. The following is the board of offices: President, George M. Miller; vice president, W. H. Barnett; general superintendent, C. H. Platt; secretary and treasurer, M. E. Stone.

General Forser for President.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 16.—The Army of the Potomac elected General Horace Porter, of New York, president; General Horatio C. King, of Brooklyn, and General Tremdell, of New York, were re-elected to their respective offices of secretary and treasurer. The next reunion will be held at Boston.

Mrs. Deacon at San Jose.

SAN JOSE, Cal., June 16.—The Evening News says that Mrs. Deacon, whose paramour, M. Abelle, was shot and killed by her husband, is living at the home of her brother, Charles Bidwell, a short distance from San Jose. Mrs. Deacon is living in retirement.

Wiped Out By a Cyclone.

MONTREAL, June 16.—The village of Saint Rose, a summer resort near Montreal, has been wiped off the face of the earth by a cyclone. A number of persons were killed.

New York Aid for Oil City.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Contributions to the Oil City sufferers have reached a total of $900.

The 1892 Model of the Remington is now on the market.

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.

Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of G. R. MUSGRAVE, 37 Somerset street. Call early and secure the best bargains.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

Having Disposed of the Produce Business

to Mr. L. A. Hummer, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.

Fun For Two.

All children enjoy a drink of

Hires' Root Beer.

Reduce every other member of this family. A 25 cent package makes five gallons of this delicious drink. Don't be deceived by a dealer, for the sake of larger profit, who says he has something "just as good." Be firm. No other flavor is so good as Hires'. Be sure the name Hires is on the package.

A Ticket to Europe

May be bought on any steamer; any line, CHEAPER THAN IN NEW YORK.

SINGLE TRIP:
First-class—$50 and upwards.
Second class—$30 and upwards.
Steerage—$19 and upwards.

ROUND TRIP:
First-class—$90 and upwards.
Second class—$60 and upwards.
Steerage—$35 and upwards.

Cabins, both first and second class, should be engaged as far ahead as possible.

Further information given upon application to agent, Henry D. Morrison, 9 Somerset street.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

A. M. SEGUINE,

PROPRIETOR OF

Laing's Hotel Stables,

on Front Street, Opp. Madison Avenue.

TELEPHONE CALL NO. 28.

Coaches for weddings, funerals and private calls.

Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.

Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.

BOARDED HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!

ALL SIZES,
Of finest
Light Blue Color.

References—
F. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.
ROBT. A. MEEKER, Street Com.

Smalley Bros.,

94 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

30 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly added steam vibrating machine, which cleans coal perfectly, and I believe enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

UPPER LEHIGH AND WYOMETROOK COAL. In best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND DRESSED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for Turning and Scroll Sawing, and is prepared to execute orders of the same in the best manner in short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in BEST

QUALITY COAL

YARD AND OFFICE

SOUTH AVENUE.

P. O. BOX 1407.

Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Counsellors at Law. Commissioners Deeds. Masters in Chancery. Notaries Public. Offices, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E., Engineer of the Famous Union County System. Special attention given to street paving and sewerage. Office, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Attorney-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public. Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 28 West Front street.

CLARK & REID, Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Solicitors in Chancery. Offices over First National Bank building.

CHAS. A. MANNIS, Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public. Office corner Front and Somerset streets.

OSCAR R. TRALLE, Architect, 247 Broadway, New York city; rooms 22 and 23. Importer and Trader. Bank Building, Residence, Plainfield N. J.

PLAINFIELD

ODORLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY

JONES & CO.

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Telephone in operation. Our operations by day or night. Leave orders at Office in Chamberlain's Block, Corner Park Place and Front Street, or at Residence, Corner Second and Madison avenues. Orders can be left at Park House. Manufacturers of Improved Odorless Excavating Apparatus. P. O. Box 1009. Telephone call 37.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum and Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Segars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Segar store, No. 12 West Second street.

LAWN MOWERS, Bicycles, and GENERAL MACHINERY Repairs, at SCHENCK'S Machine Shop,

North Plainfield. Also Pipe Fitting.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher,

36 West Front Street.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 942.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—6:40 a. m., 8:10, 9:55, and 4:30 p. m.
Close—7:30 and 9:30 a. m., 12:30, 3:30 and 6:15 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—9:40 a. m., 1:15, 4:50 p. m.
Close—7:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 8:30 p. m.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

NO BEE IN HIS BONNET.

Ex-Secretary Whitney Not a Presidential Candidate.

GOV. PATTISON FOR SECOND CHOICE

Report That the Cleveland Men Have United Upon Pennsylvania's Governor as Their Favorite in Case Ex-President Cleveland Fails to Get the Nomination.

CHICAGO, June 16.—The Cleveland men have opened headquarters in the Grand Pacific hotel, and a force of clerks and typewriters are grinding out literature in the interest of the ex-president, which will be distributed among the delegates as they arrive. The "antimoppers" will not be here so soon as expected. Disgusted by the defeat by General Tracey, who is unquestionably the Cleveland bureau, informed him that ex-Secretary Fairchild would not reach Chicago until late Thursday night. Friday morning W. C. Whitney, E. Ellery Anderson, Roberts Grier Monroe, ex-Mayor William R. Grace and James P. Archibald will come in as the advance guard of the oncoming delegation. Mr. Archibald is a well known labor leader, and will, it is understood, bring strong indorsements of Mr. Cleveland from the labor element of New York. The regular delegation will not arrive until Saturday morning.

A Hill Badge Appears.

The first Hill badge to appear in the city entered at the Auditorium on the coat of Commissioner C. P. Peckham of Albany. Peck is one of the alternate delegates from New York, and has been traveling in the west in the interest of the Hill movement.

"Cleveland will not be nominated," he remarked with emphasis. "The Republican ticket, because of its tail, cannot possibly carry New York, and the resulting fact is that David B. Hill will be nominated at the Chicago convention and will be elected president by an overwhelming vote. Hold him killed the Republican ticket in New York because 250,000 organized labor men are against him. Cleveland is 50,000 votes weaker than he was four years ago because he is distrusted. The distrust for Cleveland arose from a widespread belief that he sympathized with if he did not give his support to the mongrel ticket which almost lost us the state of New York. I do not make this charge, but there is no use trying to conceal the fact that it is generally believed."

C. F. Cochran, of St. Joseph, Mo., is at the Grand Pacific in advance of the delegation from his state. "There is not a single precinct in Missouri which would take Hill as second choice," he said, "in preference to Palmer, Campbell, Gorman, Boies or any other possibility. The Missouri delegation is largely in favor of Cleveland; but they can be brought to the support of another candidate if they find any good reason why such action should be taken. No power on earth could force them, however, to aid in the nomination of Hill."

Vest Fears Cleveland Cannot Win.

Senator Vest, of Missouri, has arrived here. He says: "I am a Democrat and I want to see my party nominate a Democrat who can be elected. For that reason I authorize the United Press to say that I am apprehensive that Mr. Cleveland cannot carry the state of New York. This most unfortunate and unnatural fight in our party in that state makes me fear that we will lose it unless we go outside for a candidate. I have felt this apprehension ever since I understood how deep and bitter was the feeling between the two sections of the organization and I speak of it now because the time has come when I feel that the Democratic party has the right to ask an expression of opinion from every Democrat. My feeling toward Mr. Cleveland has not changed. I regard him now with the same confidence and friendship that I have ever felt, but I consider his power to carry his state. The Missouri delegation will vote solidly for Cleveland."

Pattison as Second Choice.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—It has leaked out that Cleveland delegates from Pennsylvania and New York and in fact the Cleveland delegates from a number of other states have decided to take up Governor Pattison as their second choice at Chicago. If they will do, it is asserted, in case the Hill delegation develops enough strength to prevent Cleveland's nomination. A gentleman high in the councils of the Cleveland and Pattison managers said, in speaking of the Democratic nominee: "It will be either Cleveland or Pattison."

A few days ago Secretary of the Commonwealth William F. Harrity, Attorney General Hensel and ex-United States District Attorney John B. Reed made a private visit to New York, where it is said they had a private conference with ex-Mayor William R. Grace, ex-Secretary of the Treasury Charles S. Fairchild, Edgar Ansbrow, Francis R. Coudert and other active anti-Hill men. At the conference it was decided that Governor Pattison was the strongest candidate who could be taken up by the Cleveland people in the event of an impossibility to nominate Mr. Cleveland.

It is generally said that the Cleveland and Pattison men will stand firmly together in the convention. When closely questioned about the deal the Cleveland and Pattison men do not deny that such a conference had been made, but are disposed to be reticent about it, as they desire, if possible, to nominate Cleveland on the first ballot. They claim that while Cleveland might not be able to carry New York against the Hill opposition on a general election, Pattison certainly could, as the Hill forces could have no personal opposition to him.

Only One for Cleveland.

COLUMBUS, O., June 16.—The Democratic state convention chose ex-Governor Campbell, Senator Brice, L. T. Neal and Robert Bee for delegates at large to the Chicago convention. Ex-Governor Campbell is the only supporter of ex-President Cleveland in the delegation at large, the other three regarding him as a possibility in the presidential possibility. Strong favor was shown toward Governor Campbell as a dark horse. The state ticket named was as follows: For secretary of state, W. W. Taylor, Franklin county; for judge of the supreme court (long term), Judge John S. Briggs, Monroe, short term), Judge Thomas Beer, Clermont. The platform pledges earnest and cordial support for the nominees of the Chicago convention; demands a reform of the present tariff law; declares that the wines and products of our tariff law as will secure admission of our agricultural products into foreign countries free of duty; denounces the Sherman act of 1890, and believes that gold and silver should circulate as money with parity maintained; favors liberal and just pensions for deserving soldiers and sailors, and closes with the declaration that the wise and patriotic administration of the Democratic party four years ago entitles it to a return to power.

Whitney Not a Candidate.

LOWELL, Mass., June 16.—The Evening Star received the following autograph letter from ex-Secretary of the Navy Whitney:

NEW YORK, June 15.

DEAR SIR—Many thanks for the kind thoughts of me and your flattering words, but I must say to you that all sentiment that I can only see not a candidate, but have held my friends as in such a way that they understand it, and will stand by me for me. I do not wish the nomination. No business of Mr. Cleveland's, particularly one who is so well known to the members of the party as I am, can defeat the nomination. He would be instantly charged with seeking for it, and for that reason, and for others, I would say positively, if I do accept it necessary, that I would not take it if it were offered me, for it will not be because I have tied the hands of all my friends, if for no other reason. I appreciate your friendship, but this is the truth, and there is nothing under the heaven. Yours truly, W. C. WHITNEY.

Mr. Reed and the Printers.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The statement made by Chairman M. Depew that the differences between Whitelaw Reid and Typographical Union No. 6 had been adjusted, and that the union had requested his candidacy, is a mistake, it is said here. It was stated by an officer of the union to a reporter that Mr. Depew spent some time with Mr. Reid at his home in Ophir farm in regard to the matter, but no settlement had been reached. Members of the union say that if the committee at Minneapolis reports to the union that such a settlement had been reached it placed the union in a false position and exceeded its authority.

Against Reid and Flower.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Organized unions of the various branches of the printer's trade promise to take a conspicuous part in the approaching political campaign. A fight has already been begun on the Republican ticket by the unions of the state because of the nomination of Whitelaw Reid for the vice presidency, and now they have started a movement, the purpose of which is to prevent the success of the Democratic state ticket by the defeat of any candidate who has ever opposed organized labor. The printers also entertain a bitter feeling against Governor Flower because he vetoed the New York state printing office bill.

Whitelaw Reid Denounced.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—At a meeting of the International Typographical union a resolution was offered condemning New York Typographical Union No. 6 for its alleged action in recommending the nomination of Whitelaw Reid for the vice presidency, whom the resolution characterizes as "the worst enemy that organized labor has had to contend with." Action on the resolution was deferred until the union cited could be heard from, after an attempt to table it was defeated.

Warner Miller Talks.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Warner Miller says he thinks the ticket nominated at Minneapolis is a very strong one. With Mr. Reid as the candidate for the second place Mr. Miller was of the opinion that New York would be carried by a larger majority by the Republicans than when the president first ran. "Harrison's administration," he said, "is a strong and clean one; and although Mr. Blaine was my favorite, I will support heartily the ticket now in the field."

Brice's Alleged Wager.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—It is said that Senator Brice, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who left Sunday evening to attend the state Democratic convention of Ohio, offered to wager $1,000 that Mr. Cleveland would be nominated and be elected. He is said to have made the proposition to two different members of congress, who promptly repeated it to prominent Cleveland men. To say that the latter are well pleased with the conduct of the national chairman is putting it mildly.

But One Louisiana Delegation.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 16.—Two conference committees of the divided Louisiana Democracy have reached a mutually satisfactory agreement providing for an amalgamation of the two factions of the party and the sending of a single Democratic delegation uninstructed to Chicago.

To Manage Cleveland's Canvass.

NEW YORK, June 16.—William C. Whitney, D. Cady Herrick, of Albany, and William Bissell, of Buffalo, have been selected by the Cleveland leaders to manage his canvass at Chicago.

The Tribune's Union Foreman.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The Advertiser states that William J. Brennan, who is ex-president of Union No. 6, has been selected for foreman of the Tribune composing room.

Is the Wigwam Safe?

NEW YORK, June 16.—The Herald says it is feared the Wigwam at Chicago in which the Democratic national convention is to be held is unsafe.

Another Rumor About Hill.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—A rumor was current in Washington that Tammany had decided to forsake Senator Hill and vote for a western man.

Leveling for Governor.

WICHITA, Kan., June 16.—The People's party convention nominated L. D. Lewelling for governor and W. D. Vincent for lieutenant governor.

The California Delegation en Route.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—The California delegation to the national Democratic convention at Chicago left on a special train.

Political Points.

The Utah delegation to Chicago is composed entirely of Gentiles.

Representative Bland is talked of as the ball to the Cleveland ticket.

Congressman John C. Otis, of the Fourth Kansas district, has been defeated for renomination.

A Washington special quotes Senator Brice as saying that he thinks Cleveland will be nominated.

It is said that there will be a split in the delegation from Indiana to the Chicago convention. Some of this gentleman are in favor of presenting his name as a candidate for the presidency. The Cleveland men threaten that if this be done they will do all their can to prevent Mr. Gray receiving any consideration from the convention.

Hon. Basil B. Gordon will be elected to succeed Hon. John E. Barbour as the Virginia member of the national committee.

Yale Senior Drowned.

NEW HAVEN, June 16.—William Henry Bronson, of the senior class of the scientific department of Yale, was drowned in the harbor while bathing. He had just been appointed instructor in physics at Yale for next year. He lived in Rye, N. Y.

Murderer Reaches an End.

JERSEY CITY, June 16.—Arthur Stocker, the slayer of his wife, was put on the witness stand. His testimony was to the effect that his wrongful act occurred in a fight under which he was suffering at the time of the shooting.

He—Let me help you, Miss Hawkins.
She—No; I guess we have light enough here as it is.
He—Your smile would make it bright anywhere.
She—Yes; but perhaps I'm not going to smile.—Harper's Bazar.

No Concessions from Anti-Parnellites.

DUBLIN, June 16.—William O'Brien, M. P., said at Cork that the proposals for an amalgamation, offered by Mr. Healy, were not intended to be accepted; they were merely intended for consumption in America. His friends rejected as an insult the idea that a settlement had been reached. It placed the union in a false position and exceeded its authority.

Printers at Atlantic City.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—The visiting members of the International Typographical union were tendered a complimentary excursion to Atlantic City by the Ex-Delegates' association of Philadelphia.

Cornell Trustees Re-Elected.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 16.—At a meeting of the Cornell university trustees Henry W. Sage and S. D. Halliday were re-elected trustees. George Turner, of Astoria, was elected alumni trustee.

New Orleans Will Be Flooded.

NEW ORLEANS, June 16.—The Belmont levee is threatening 200,000 cubic feet a second, and this volume of water is filling the lake. The rear portion of the city will be flooded.

Her Second Elopement.

ATLANTA, June 16.—Georgia Hardin, who ran away with her brother-in-law, Charles Sardin, and who was returned to her husband, has again eloped with Charles.

THE BEE HIVE!

Summer Underwear.

Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.

Ladies' ribbed vests, in high neck, short sleeves and long sleeves, 25c.

Ladies' gauze vests, in short and long sleeves, 25c.

Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed, gauze and medium weight.

Men's balbriggan shirts, in long and short sleeves, and drawers at 25, 40 and 50c

Men's Summer Merino shirts and drawers, 25, 35 and 50c.

Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, 9c.

Children's Summer merino and gauze vests, in short and long sleeves also pantaloons, 10, 12c.; 18, 15c.; 20, 18c.; 22, 20c.; 24, 25c.; 26, 28c.; 28, 30c.

A full line of Parasols, Lace caps, white dresses, and infants' long and short cashmere coats.

Louis Callman,
40 West Front Street

Do You Want Shirts?

If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your ideas.

The assortment we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects.

Puff Bosoms for hot weather; Blue Flannel for cool.

Hallock & Davis,
5 West Front Street.

Trunks and Bags.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong ice to this market, are now prepared to serve their patrons with ice of the finest quality and in lower carload rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CODDINGTON, Pres.
H. CODDINGTON, Vice-Pres.
ROBERT WILSON, Sec. & Treas.
J. MORTON, Gen. Supt.

Tennis, Croquet, Hammocks, etc.

10 PER CENT. OFF on all Summer Goods.

Special Discounts
on large orders or to clubs.

A. W. RAND,
24 West Front Street.

FRED. W. DUNN,
Successor to
Barkalew & Dunn,
15 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Fine Groceries.

THREE BEE TEA

38c.

Buys a full size, reinforced linen, shirt, with linen bosom and wristbands; regular 50c quality.

17c.

Buys a five foot curtain pole with brass fixtures, complete.

Window Shades 25c. and upward.

Dress Chaillies 5c. Best Prints 4c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 30 days at

BOEHM'S
No. 7 West Front Street.

CARRIAGES and HARNESS.

$15.00
Buys hand made rubber mounted harness.

$100.00
Buys canopy top, natural wood surrey.

Prices and styles to suit all.

SWIFT SAFETIES.

RYERSON,
26 SOMERSET STREET.

PIPTONIZED
Beef, Iron and Wine
50c.
Per Pint Bottle.
at
WILLIAMS'.

George Bremmer,
No 28 SOMERSET STREET,
READY MADE CLOTHING,
or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

Builders Hardware.

Daniel Hulick,
Carpenter
and
General Jobber.
SHOP
35 Jackson Avenue.
Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet
MAKER.
Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished
ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.
John Peterson,
SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.
Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,
MASONS and BUILDERS,
28 East Front Street.
First-class work guaranteed.
Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

PIERSON & GAYLE.
Carpenters and Builders.
W. J. PIERSON, No. 15 Vine street. H. B. GAYLE, No. 11 Vine street.
All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH.
PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.
All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.
Residence—Somerset street.
P. O. Box 315.

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter & Builder.
Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Bound Brook.
P. O. Box 126.
Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. P. HOFFMAN,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Residence—24 West Second street, Plainfield.
Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ARNOTT,
Carpenter, Contractor and Builder. Jobbing promptly attended to. Estimates given. Factory on Grand and Second streets, Plainfield. Residence, 1 Second street. P. O. Box 344.

JOHN HERRMANN,
Plain and hard wood mantels made to order. Jobbing promptly attended to. Shop corner of Grand and Second streets, Plainfield.
Residence, 1 Second street.

GARDEN
FLOWER & LAWN
Seeds and Fertilizers.
Special Lawn Seeds for shady and dry lawns.
GARDEN TOOLS
and
Lawn Mowers.
WATER PIPING AND PLUMBING.
Tinware, Hardware and Housefurnishings.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
M. EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

GEORGE VOEHL,
the
CONFECTIONER,
Is now prepared to furnish
Parties & Receptions
with Delicious
ICE CREAM
in bricks.
25 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.
Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS and PAINTERS.
Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—29 East Front street.

Joseph T. Sullivan,
No. 60 West Third Street,
Dealer in Choice
Wines, Liquors, etc.
BEER ON DRAUGHT.

V. L. PEAZEE,
GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES
25 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE
45 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.
37 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.
Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,
REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGES
NO. 45 NORTH AVENUE. Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,
FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE.
General Hardware and Housefurnishings,
LAWN MOWERS,
(Six Varieties.)
Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,
ICE CREAM FREEZERS.
Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : :
- - - NOT A SCHEME!
TO RECEIVE A
CASH DISCOUNT,
in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of
R. W. RICE & CO.,
GROCERS, 49 EMILY STREET,
Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
Successors to
The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,
Dealers in
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.
Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro., to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.
A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice
Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,
BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.
If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any the of first-class wholesale houses in New York City.
F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer.
Telephone Co. 157.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.
(THE PORT READING R. R. CO., LESSEE.)
Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Station in Jersey City, foot of Central avenue.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 2 11, 2 27, 2 38, 2 48, 3 28, 5 00, 7 08, 7 36, 8 00, 8 15, 9 27, 9 55, 10 43, 11 08, 11 38 a. m., 12 05, 12 30, 12 45, 1 05, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 05, 12 45, 2 15, 3 45, 5 15, 6 45, 7 15, 8 45, 9 45, 11 15 a. m., 12 15, 1 45, 3 15, 4 45, 6 15, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 p. m.

Leave New York at 2 15, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 15, 7 30, 8 15, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 6 15, 7 30, 8 15, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND RARITAN.

Leave Plainfield at 5 15, 6 15, 7 30, 8 15, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 5 15, 6 15, 7 30, 8 15, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

Sundays 7 30 a. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5.15 a.m., for Somerville and Flemington, Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Hazleton, Pottsville, Shamokin, Mount Carmel, Harrisburg, Williamsport, Sunbury, Lewisburg, Milton, Watsontown, Danville, Bloomsburg, Catawissa, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Great Bend, Binghamton, Elmira, Waverly, Owego, Ithaca, Geneva, Canandaigua, Rochester, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Suspension Bridge, Dunkirk, Jamestown, Corry, Oil City, Titusville, Meadville, Erie, Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Columbus, Toledo, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Washington, Baltimore

THREE BRAVE SISTERS WHO SACRIFICED AND WERE SILENT.

"There are more pathetic stories of real life that are never heard of," said Mr. Ireland, a Broadway bookseller, "than were ever invented by the novelist or dreamed by the most imaginative romancer of the daily press. Since this time ago I received a letter from a lady residing in the interior asking me to go and see her brother, who was reported sick in one of the lodging houses, and stating that if anything could be done for him the expense would be gladly defrayed. I had known the family more or less intimately for a number of years, and the young man in question I knew as a handsome, cultured gentleman, somewhat scholarly, but most of the time dissolute. He was one of the handsomest man I ever saw, and his sisters always referred to him with great pride.

"I found him at the number designated in the letter under the care of a competent physician, but from the latter I soon ascertained that it was the man's last illness, and that he quickly or we got him out of the city the better. So as soon as we could get him on his feet I got him a railroad ticket and sent him home, where he died shortly afterward.

"Having some business out there I subsequently called upon the ladies. I was there unexpectedly brought in contact with a person I had never seen or heard of before—a deformed idiot about forty-five years of age, who I learned from the reluctant lips of the ladies was their brother. They had cared for him privately from his childhood, refusing to allow him to be taken to an asylum. These three girls had grown up to old maidhood, had refused to marry, had given up all the pleasures of the world and steadfastly devoted their lives to the care of their idiot brother and the education of the handsome younger brother. The latter had died a failure—the poor idiotic cripple still lived.

"These sisters, alone in the world from early girlhood, compelled to work, had patiently and successfully grappled with a domestic situation absolutely appalling to the ordinary mind. In all the years I had known them they had never uttered a word of complaint—had never said a word to me of that mental and physical deformity in the back room! Just think of it! They had slaved from morning till night to put one brother through college while nursing that horrible skeleton in the family closet. Pride of the other made one fine young collegian, always. Complaint of the helpless and hopeless home burden, never! There is the basis of a story more thrilling and more instructing than anything I ever read in a novel."—New York Herald.

Mothers' Duties and Scarlet Fever.

How often it happens in these days that homes are startled by the dire cry "scarlet fever." It strikes a child to every mother's heart, for she knows what a treacherous disease it is, changing in a few hours from a comfortable stage to a dangerous one. Its means weeks of isolation and anxiety, to say nothing of the expense always attendant upon sickness of any kind. There are some children's complaints which it is quite as well they should put behind them, such as measles, mumps or whooping cough, but even the doctor says, "I'd much rather my child would never have scarlet fever." Under such circumstances can guardians and parents be too careful when it occurs in their own households?

And yet very often they are startled by some instance of wanton neglect, some dreadful exhibition of ignorance or carelessness. Not very long ago a teacher in a public school in this city observed one of her pupils who from time to time seemed to be picking from her arm pieces of skin. After a few questions she found, without a doubt, that the child had been sent to school before she had fully recovered from scarlet fever, and there she had been placed, a source of positive danger to twenty-five or thirty other children. There must have been some carelessness on the part of the teachers in this case as well as the parents, to bring a rule of the board of health that no child shall return to school, either public or private, after the scarlet fever without a permit. Flagrant as this case is, others still might be cited to show it is not uncommon for teachers to find children in school who are actually broken out with the measles, or are trying to smother whooping cough.

The cause for some of these instances is doubtless ignorance, when the question arises among those interested. How can the ignorance be dispelled? Should good mothers, who realize their lack of knowledge and experience in cases of infectious and contagious diseases, take measures to better fit themselves for those duties and responsibilities which rest with them more than any one else?—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Length of the Waist.

Many women dress as if the face was the only consideration, yet we see the face once where we see the whole person twenty times, as soon as we turn on the street. Again, they dress as if they were a half length portrait, not considering what is behind the waist. So they look in the mirror, but she forgets that what she adds above she cuts off below, and were she to look in a long glass she would see by apparent deficiency of limbs she has one full more height than she gains by lengthening her waist.

The shorter the woman the shorter should be her waist. Imagine a short, stout woman with a large head, wearing a heavy wreath of French flowers on it, and a heavier wreath with quite dark leaves mixed with the flowers encircling her form at the end of a long corselet bodice. Were she to look at herself in a long glass she could hardly fail to see that she appears to be out off at the knees, and a dress is especially ludicrous. The stout woman who has clearly established her appearance makes an absolute study of height and waist. The form is lengthened in at one place most successfully pulled out at another, and the bust and thighs gain additional prominence by contrast with the small waist.

If short, she should wear looser frocks and drape the front of their bodices with straight folds and not define the waist sharply at all, there would be an agreeable doubt in the mind of the spectator as to how much was woman and how much dress, where at present there is an also distinct unpleasant certainty.—Tollotte Magazine.

Started with Little.

Mrs. Clara McAdow, a few years ago when the Northern Pacific road was building, found herself with $500 and no means of support. After taking stock of herself she concluded to go to Montana. But her $500 spend all her money she took only enough to pay her way and two weeks' board. Then she secured a position as cook at once. Getting a letter of introduction to the chief engineer of the road from an obliging fellow traveler, she presented herself and asked for employment. She said she could do clerical work, and knew something or nursing. She was accordingly put to work as a nurse. Her action inspired herself about the country, and as she was a good talker, distinguished strangers to whom the country was to be talked up engaged her by the month. As soon as she saved money enough she bought a town lot in Billings, and a few weeks after sold it for double the money. As there was no bank in town she used to do a banking business on the street by cashing checks.

Then she went into real estate, and when she broke her leg she had a map of the town hung in front of her bed and carried on business on her back. She was not Mrs. McAdow. Mr. McAdow was a stonecutter who had taken Spotted Horse mine for debt. One day she sent for him and offered him $11,000 for it. He was astounded by her lack of business ability, and chivalrously told her it wasn't worth it. She persisted in buying it, and in six months she took out of it 400,000 in gold. Mr. McAdow subsequently married her. She is now the treasurer of the Billings board of trade and is worth several millions. She conducts business in her own name, and her husband is only her confidential partner.—New York Evening Sun.

The Common Moth.

It is now a clearly defined fact that there are three distinct species of wool destroying moths common in this country. The commonest species are light brown in color. They begin to appear late in April, and may occasionally be seen flitting about as late as August. They pair off and the females at once go in search of suitable places for the disposition of her eggs, working her way into dark corners, crevices of the walls, cracks in the floor, deep in the folds of garments, apparently choosing by instinct the least conspicuous places. The moth lays from 10 to 140 eggs at a time. From these eggs hatch, in a period from three to seven days, the white, soft body larve of worms, all of which begin to make a case for themselves from the fragments of the cloth upon which they feed. The case is in the shape of a hollow roll.

The worm reaches its full growth in thirty-six days and then, crawling into some warm, protected spot, becomes torpid during the winter within its case, which by this time is thickened and fastened at either end and is the full sized cocoon. It is the thirty-six days period from the time that the eggs are laid to the time that the worm or grub reaches full size that the danger is done.

For a thorough airing of a woolen fabric for the purpose of driving out any concealed moth (for a moth abhors light), and after time has been given to the development of the eggs, it is safe to say that reasonably sure that there is nothing harmful on the fabric; then it is as safe done up in paper parcel as it would be if it should be buried beneath all the antimoth remedies in existence.—Upholsterer.

A Woman Brewer.

Mrs. Julia M. Crissey is a druggist of Omaha. Mrs. Crissey received a classical education at the Morgan Park seminary, Chicago, from which college she graduated with high honors. She afterward read a course of pharmacy lectures and attended the Chicago College of Pharmacy. She was assisted in her studies by her late husband, who was a druggist. To him she owes much credit is due for her thorough and practical knowledge of pharmacy. Mr. and Mrs. Crissey were formerly in business at Kansas City, Missouri, but came to Omaha in April, 1883. Since Mr. Crissey's death, which occurred in October, 1889, she has continued the business with success, and her absolute success is a proof of her thorough mastery of the profession. Mrs. Crissey is a firm believer in the fact that women should enter the field of pharmacy. As a woman from entrance into a profession.

Mrs. Crissey is the author of a number of valuable and instructive articles on pharmacy, and is an active supporter of and an incessant worker for the Nebraska State Pharmaceutical association. In May, 1890, at the annual meeting of the N. P. A., she was elected secretary of the organization, and at the expiration of her first term she was unanimously re-elected to the office of treasurer, which office she still holds. She was also unanimously re-elected for a second term. She is deservedly popular in Nebraska, as she has filled the office of secretary as well as treasurer, and has efficiently refined, tempered with clear business judgment, is capable of doing, and with a skillfulness that is highly commendable and fully demonstrated by her work.—Pharmaceutical Era.

How Women Carry Themselves.

"The prevailing style among women of dressing the neck low," said an artist recently, "emphasizes the fact my profession has long regarded, that a woman with a head well supported by a graceful neck and rising from even, sloping shoulders, is not common. Look about in the company of young women, whose faces perhaps are delicate and pretty, often beautiful, and whose figures seem, when facing them, rounded and elegant, and then get behind them and see how few show an attractive pose from that point. Even if she has a good back and shoulders, which is almost sure to be developed, she will wear a head so far forward of her chest as to developan angle at the naps of the neck, where nature certainly never intended to put one.

"Most artist elegant, and then get behind shoulder blades, one shoulder point rising higher than the other, or, worse still, a ridge of muscle on each side of the figure a trifle in advance of the left, which gives them from a side or back view a decidedly crooked appearance. This, too, in spite of the modern line and every about gymnastics and physical culture. It is going to take a generation of careful training to do away with these bad habits, and when I see these young schoolgirls going to school the streets by dozens, with heads still bent and shoulders rounded, I think it may take several generations to accomplish much good."—Providence Journal.

Half Sheets of Note Paper.

Frugal minded women whom waste disposes may regard with favor the following suggestions in regard to utilizing half sheets of note paper. They are many individuals who have spent years in solving the problem. Says one: Set them into the pot on a cover of some known paper, or some other stuff, bind them together with paper clips or wires and send them to a children's hospital.

Another says: Ones arm't so altruistic states that say one possessed of a pricking wheel and some adhesive gum can turn half sheets of paper to good account by pricking the same kind of note paper, folded about envelope size, and intended to be stuck down when written on. The address is outside the pricked lines all around, and when the envelope is opened edge is torn off, and thus the letter opens. The arrangement has all the conveniences of a postmark, while at the same time the contents are kept private.—Chicago Tribune.

When Women Carved.

In George I's reign it was the bounden duty of the mistress of a country house to carve for her guests. Etiquette demanded it of her, and no one might relieve her of her arduous task, not even the master. To the latter was only allowed the easy labor of passing the bottle and looking on, while each joint was placed in turn before his wife or daughter, as the case might be, and by her rapidly manipulated. Carving became one of the branches of a good feminine education, and there were professional carving masters who taught the young ladies.

Lady Mary Wortley Montagu took lessons in the art three times a week, and on her father's public days made a practice of having her own dinner on hook of two beforehand. A guest who did not receive his portion from his hostess' own fair hands would have considered himself much aggrieved.—Kansas City Star.

The Title of "Mrs."

The title Mrs. was in olden time applied to unmarried as well as to married women, and to young as well as to old. Sir Walter Scott spoke of Joanna (unmarried) as Mrs. Joanna Baillie. Although it is not quite so universal to address quite young children, as it was those over twenty-one, by the title of Mrs., yet it was frequently done. The most ludicrous example of this occurs in the register of burials for the parish of St. Margaret, Westminster. The burial of Milton's second wife and that of his infant daughter, named after her, who died at the age of five months, are both recorded in that register, the name in each case being entered as "Mrs. Katherine Milton," without any mark of distinction save the letter "C" for "child," after the second name. Even in the reign of George II, as we read in "Pope's Letters," unmarried ladies used to be styled Mrs.—London Tit-Bits.

Woman's Influence.

I have always contended that woman's intuitiveness and quick decisive judgments were superior to those of a man, and as has been noted from the earliest moment of recorded time, from the apple experience of Adam and Eve, the hair cutting operation between Delilah and Samson, the devoted band and more especially the well beloved sisters who made the earthly path of the Saviour of his race more easy—through all the great names of later history, good or bad, the Henrys, the Napoleons, the Fredericks, the Georges, the Washingtons, even to the petty politicians of our time, woman's hand has ever been the more conspicuous and her influence dominant.—Joseph Howard in New York Recorder.

A Noble Gentlewoman.

The name of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts, granddaughter of the English banker, Thomas Coutts, head of an important financial house, endowed with vast organization, among the most active people in the world in aiding those put so well supplied with the world's goods, is well known throughout the charitable world.

Although complimentary gifts to the cause of making human beings happier are the Church of St. Stephen the Martyr in the miserable Rochester row, London, the Ragged schools of Canada, Cape Town and Adelaide, in Australia, and of many emigration societies in Ireland.—London Letter.

The International Trailing Gowns.

Apropos of trained gowns, it is an interesting fact that it was Queen Anne—Richard II's Queen Anne—who introduced trailing gowns into England nearly 300 years ago. It was the same lady who first set the fashion of enormously high peaked headgear, from which the "mantua maker" is no doubt descended, and also changed the style of the horsewoman from the cavalier style to the side saddle. Altogether she is responsible for a great deal of feminine woe.—Exchange.

An Infant's Chances Improving.

The day is fast approaching when an infant's chances of life will be the overnight there is a special study in this particular branch of knowledge spreads, its influence will be felt in a marked degree upon the health of the children of the poor in the cities, those who now have to struggle as best they can against sour milk, heat, dust, tenement life and all the evils and discomforts that attend in the very poor. A chance of healthful living generally the greatest evil.—Lippincott's.

The Queen's Appetite.

Queen Victoria's digestion is so good that her appetite is the envy and despair of the court. When lords and ladies play with their entrees, and satisfy hunger with boiled milk in their private apartments, the queen makes her way unhesitatingly through any bill of fare. Neither grief or state nor fatigue or body affects her appetite for food.—London Letter.

Do Not Forget the Table Linen.

Every housekeeper revels in the appointments of her house and particularly her table. In these days when so much art embroidery is indulged in on bits for every room in the house, of course the table linen must not be omitted from the beautifying fingers of the expert needlewoman.—Philadelphia Times.

An Old Maids' Insurance Company.

An old maids' insurance company has been opened in Denmark. Spinsters can insure themselves by a small sum on reaching the age of thirteen, and if still unmarried as forty are entitled to a regular allowance. If they marry, however, they forfeit all claim.

How many mothers are merely drugs upon their children and hold them back with their old fashioned tenets and narrow outgrown theses? How much secret deception must come between the child and mother in such cases as these!

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION.
1878. Membership 188,000. 1892.
Death benefits paid over $20,000,000 since organization.
Wetumpka Lodge, 3401, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Tuesdays, at eight p. m., in Wetumpka Lodge rooms, Music Hall Building.
Immediate relief, $100; sick benefits per week $5.
LOUIS I. VANALSTYNE, Dictator.
RALPH A. FORT, Reporter.
Wetumpka Commandery, No. 24, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight p. m.

Hotels.

Caspar's Hotel,
24 & 26 E. Front St.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Transient and Family Boarders taken at
Reasonable † Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.
PLAINFIELD.
Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.
First-class bar attached.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE,
Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
A corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Kline's Extracts,
Pure Fruit Flavors.

LOOK at Werner's Show Windows
80 WEST FRONT. STREET,
and see what you can do in $15 suits reduced to $10
Cut in Latest Styles.
FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS ONLY.
All Sizes and All-Wool.
Outing Shirts and Straw Hats just receive. Clothing Made to Order. Other goods at proportionately Low Prices.

NEW & STORE!
I beg to announce that I have opened a store pertaining to bedding at 76 West Front street. Below we quote some of our prices:

Mattresses	$1.50 to $15
3 piece South America Hair Mattress, 35 lbs,	$15
Goose Feather Pillows	$1.50, $2, $2.50
Hen Feather Pillows	75 cents
Eider Down Pillows	$3 each
Comforts	$1, $1.25, $1.50

Sheets, 60c.; bolsters and pillow cases; Oil Cloth 25 to 40c. per yard; Oriental and Turkish Rugs $1 to $4.50; portieres curtains, all silk, $5 per pair; Cornices, Tassels, Springs, Looking Glasses, Pictures, Cradles, Cribs, Bedroom Crockery, Couches, Rocking Chairs, Stands, and a hundred and one other things cheaper than you can buy them in any other store.
T. J. CAREY, - Proprietor.
76 WEST FRONT STREET.
As the weather is so warm, there will be no auction sale at Carey's until September.

Big Bargains

Extra fine 32c. Dress Gingham at 18c.
Yard Wide Sheeting, 5c.
Ladies' Parasols, 25c.
New style in Irish Lawns, 12c.
Hemstitched Handkerchiefs at 3c., very stylish and pretty.
Plaid Nainsooks, 5c.
Fine Satines, 10c.
Black Silk Mitts, 25c.
Ladies' Colored Cotton Fancy Hose, 5c.
Gents' Fancy Half Hose, 5c.
Men's Night Shirts 49c.
Boys' Outing Shirts 25c.
Men's Fancy Vests, 49c.
The best 50c. ventilated Corsets ever offered this city.
Superior Silk Gloria Umbrellas, $1.39.

Our assortment of new styles Mourning and Low Priced Dress Goods is now complete and prices guaranteed the Lowest.
EDSALL'S!

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING
WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER.
One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.
Whole Suits from $5 up.
Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.
C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.
70 WEST FRONT STREET.

Legal Advertisements.

ESTATE OF JOHN P. GRIFFEN, DECEASED. Pursuant to the order of George T. Parvin, Surrogate of the County of Union, the day made, on the application of the undersigned, executrix, of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased, within nine months from the date hereof, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.
MARY M. GRIFFEN, Executrix.
May 6th, 1892. 5 12 9

ESTATE OF MANNING VERMULE, deceased. Pursuant to the order of George T. Parvin, Surrogate of the County of Union, the day made, on the application of the undersigned, executor of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased, within nine months from the date hereof, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.
NELSON BUNYON, Executor. 4 19

ESTATE OF ROSE VENABLE, DECEASED. Pursuant to the order of George T. Parvin, Surrogate of the County of Union, the day made, on the application of the undersigned, executor of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased, within nine months from the date hereof, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.
STEPHEN A. GINNA, Administrator.
March 16, 1892. 3 26 9

USE THE BEST!
DOMESTIC
SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS
SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC
4 & 5 cents per Copy.
Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.
A. M. Vanderbeek's,
822 PARK AVENUE.

C. DICKINSON,
PRACTICAL
OPTICIAN
and
JEWELER.
Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Agent for the American
Rambler Bicycles.
No. 12 Park avenue.

COAL and WOOD,
E. H. HOLMES,
YARD—24 Madison Avenue.
Office:—27 North avenue, with Weston & Bonlt.

We are getting away with lots of Russet Shoes this month—now is the time to buy them.
DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S,
22 West Front street.
P. S.—Our $3 shoe never takes a back seat.

A $6 BOOK AND $4 PICTURE
ARE FREE TO YOU.
When your cash purchases amount to $25 we will make you a present of the magnificent work entitled "Wood's Natural History of Man," and the 10-color picture from Rose-Belford's famous Fair painting, "The Lion at Home."
This Book and Picture are on Exhibition at Our Store.
CALL AT ONCE AND GET A CARD FREE.
United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,
Leading Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers. 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with
LAMP AND BELL,
under penalty of $20 fine.
A large and complete assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the
Wheelmen's Headquarters,
Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.
FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

RANDOLPH'S
BEEF, IRON AND WINE,
THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!
PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
61 WEST FRONT STREET.

This Date in History—June 16.

1815—One of the dates assigned for the beginning of the modern French Republic, as the day the Count, father of Hugh Capet, died and the latter took his place.
1820—Ex-Queen of England born; son of Henry III and Eleanor of Provence.
1837—Queen Victoria ascended the throne of England.
1839—Death of Talleyrand, one of the most celebrated of the men and was called "Long Shanks."
1846—The Duke of Connaught died an Indian Prince.
1847—Death of Lord Chancellor Eldon.
1877—General John Burgoyne began his advance from St. Johns via Lake Champlain.
1815—Battle of Ligny, in which, two days before that of Waterloo Blucher was defeated, but rallied his army and effected a junction with Wellington.
1856—General Lee's corps, having reached Petersburg during the night, hastily erected new works, and by sunset the two armies confronted each other as of old: General Butler's advance assaulted General Beauregard's line of works.
1866—Edwin Percy Whipple, author, died in Boston.
1880—Discovery of a mine under the palace on Galeshika and widespread conspiracy to blow up the czar.

One of the Satisfied Sort.

She takes a pill that digestions,
Makes a salad of tomatoes,
But she doesn't know a Latin noun from Omaha.

And as well she could a chicken
That your appetite "would quicken,
But she cannot tell what's modern from antiques.

She knows how to set a table,
And make order out of Babel,
But she doesn't know Shakespeare from Kant.
Once at making pies I caught her,
I said sugar must have taught her,
But she knew all true science from a can.

She has quite a firm conviction
She ought only to read fiction,
And she doesn't care for science, not a bit.
She likes a pie that chickens,
And she's very fond of Dickens,
From Copperfield to Martin Chuzzlewit.

She can make her hats and dresses
'Till a fellow fair confesses
That there's not another maiden half so comely.
She's mastered home completely,
Where she shall live happily no doubt,
But from Browning not a line can she repeat.
(Thank goodness!)

Well, in fact, she's just a maiden
That whatever she's married,
Makes her look just like the heroine of a piece;
Wouldn't I callin to have tarried,
So tomorrow we'll be married,
And I'm certain I shall never regret the day.
—Yankee Blade.

1892			JUNE.			1892
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fri.	Sat.
			1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2	4:51 a.m.	Third Quarter	17	4:01 p.m.
New Moon	10	9:38 p.m.	Full Moon	24	5:11 a.m.

OWING
to Large stock
and Lateness of the Season,
we will sell for next
30 Days
at
A Sacrifice.
Fine all-wool pants to order
$4; worth $6.
Fine all wool Suits to order
$16; worth $22.
Call, examine and satisfy yourselves
Acme Tailoring Co.,
No. 19 West Front Street.
John H. French, Pres. and Treas.
Walter C. Limberger, Sec. 3 31 3m

Just What You Need!
If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an
Arnold Steam Cooker.
Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.
You can buy the above articles at 61 Park avenue. Also the only genuine
BOSTON BROWN BREAD,
made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.
M. E. BEACH, Agent.

GET YOUR
Bicycle Repaired
at
NO. 3 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
by
Henry Goeller, Jr.

Miss Blanche Fellows
VOCALIST
and Teacher of Singing.
Rapid development and complete education of the voice.
Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formation and tone production.
Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.
Call or address
NO. 97 DUER STREET.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$6 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Lock Box L. Telephone Call 48. Printing of all Kinds. 15 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," FRIDAY, JUNE 17, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

Grand Excursion to Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko, and the famed Switchback, via CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY, the Port Reading R. R. Co., leases.

SATURDAY, JUNE 18.

A special express train will leave Plainfield at 9.23 a. m.; returning arrive in city about 9 p. m.

Fare for round trip only $1.75; Switchback tickets at half rates if purchased on the excursion train.

Passengers can return on Sunday or Monday on payment of 25 cents at Mauch Chunk station.

18 15 16 17*

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR THEIR VACATION, SHOULD SEND NEW ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

The Weather.

Partly cloudy and fair, with slightly lower temperature.

BREVITIES.

—Borough Council meeting to-night.

—I. P. Laire & Co., of this city, are about to open a branch store in Welch's block, at Westfield.

—The Republican Club of Bound Brook will hold a grand ratification meeting to-morrow evening in Bound Brook Hall.

—$2 worth of goods for $1, is what the United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association offer in their new advertisement to-day. Read it.

—The post office department has officially cut the "s" from Budd's Lake, and that office is now known as Budd Lake.—Somerville Register.

—Mr. N. W. Pike of this city will speak to the drunkard at the Merrett Mission, New York city, Sunday evening in place of the regular evangelist.

—The "Central" will run an excursion to Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko and the Switch Back to-morrow. Fare, round trip $1.75. Train will leave this city at 6.37 a. m.

—A well dressed young woman has been victimizing the physicians and other professional men of Elizabeth, by claiming to be a daughter of Dr. Aaron Barr, and soliciting aid to reach her home in Kansas City.

—Governor Abbett has sought for many years a reputation as a stern critic of incorporated monopolies, but during his term of office the State of New Jersey has become the most popular in the Union as a resort for giant corporations seeking great public privileges and wishing to evade public taxes. In other words, New Jersey grants charters on most favorable terms to the applicants, which then do business in other States.

—A young man from this city had a peculiar thing happen to him while fishing several days ago. He felt a tug at his line, and, supposing he had a catch, began to haul in. When it reached the surface, to his horror he found it to be a sack containing some heavy object. Visions of a murdered infant came over him, but when he mustered enough courage to untie the package, to his infinite relief, he found it to be only a poor drowned "puppy cat."

PERSONAL.

Councilman W. G. E. See and wife and family, of this city, left yesterday for Ocean Grove, where they will spend the Summer.

Rev. Dr. Mason, Presbyterian pastor at Metuchen, will preach at the Seventh Day Baptist church, to-morrow morning at 10.30. Strangers welcomed.

To-morrow afternoon Mrs. J. J. Herring Pollion will pour tea at the Hillside Tennis Club, having to assist her, Mrs. Foote of Putnam avenue, Miss Wood, Miss Wale and Miss Huntington. The four tennis courts will be open for the playing.

Messrs. "Al" Pope, "Gus" Smith and Fred Sandford returned yesterday from a few days outing at Lake Hopatcong. They brought back about 100 pounds of pickerel, which they say they caught. They are all jolly fishermen and ought to know whether they pulled those fish in or not, but a joking friend said, shaking his head doubtfully, "They are getting awfully extravagant. Pickerel must cost about thirty cents a pound, now."

Miss Letitia Campbell, daughter of Teacher D. S. Campbell of Dunellen, and Mr. Walter G. Clawson of the same place, were united in marriage at the residence of the bride's parents at eight o'clock, Wednesday evening. The Rev. W. W. Jordan of Bound Brook, officiating. Assisted by the Rev. J. A. Canberry of New Market. The maids of honor were the Misses May Stryker and Annie Campbell. The happy couple departed on the 9.47 train, followed by the well wishes of all their friends.

Mayor Wm. L. Saunders of North Plainfield, lectured, on "The Sea Bottom at Bermuda" in the chapel of the Holy Cross Church, last evening. The lecture was illustrated by stereopticon views by Mr. A. A. Taft. The Mayor first described the Bermudas, which are composed entirely of "coral rock" and made by the innumbered years work of countless millions of these wonderful living curiosities of nature, the "coral plant," so-called. In the interests of business Mayor Saunders visited, in the usual cumbersome diver's costume, the sea-bottom off Bermuda. Fancy sketches of divers at work were shown and many amusing incidents were told by him of his experiences. The lecture was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience, which was drawn both by the novel title of the lecture and the knowledge of the lecturer's ability to interest.

THE CHURCH FAIRS.

THE "FESTIVAL OF ROSES" AT VINCENT CHAPEL.

Beautiful Decorations and Picturesque Booths—The Fair of the Trinity Reformed Church—The Committees.

SOME like, and cheerful in appearance was Vincent chapel last evening, on the first night of the "Festival of Roses." Roses and other flowers and greens were prominent among the decorations.

The Ladies' Aid Society have charge of the fair which will be continued again this evening.

The committees, whose skillful work made the chapel beautiful and the booths attractive, are as follows:

Ice Cream—Mrs. Pike, Mrs. Davis, Miss Jackson, Miss Sharp, Mrs. Ezra Loomis, Miss Yoehl, Mrs. Valiant, Mrs. Knox.

Coffee and Sandwiches—Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Colcefair, Mr. Geo. Rose, Miss French, Miss Homan, Miss Chandler.

Flowers—Miss Carroll, Miss Bradshaw, Miss Williams, Miss Teale, Miss Sperry Miss Hurlbut, Miss Cornwall.

Lemonade—Mrs. Homan, Mrs. Craig.

Printing—Mrs. L. M. French.

Decorating—Mr. Taft, Mr. McNaughton, Mrs. Mitchell.

Candy—Mrs. James Taylor, Mrs. P. M. Smith, Mrs. Packer, Mrs. Collis Pond, Mrs. Brown, Miss Morrison.

Music—Mrs. Colcefair, Mrs. Smith.

KING'S DAUGHTERS FESTIVAL.

Trinity Church Girls Hold a Fair for a Good Cause.

The strawberry festival, given by the "Whatsoever Circle," King's Daughters of the Trinity Reformed church for the benefit of the church fund, opened yesterday afternoon at 59 North avenue, opposite the Central Depot.

A large number were present and an enjoyable time was the result.

The booths were well arranged and tastefully decorated.

Those who had charge of the affair were:

Bower—Miss Mabel Woodruff, chairman; Miss Minnie Force, Miss Marion Nevius.

Conundrum Table—Miss Jennie Van Winkle, chairman; Miss Lillian Force.

Candy Table—Miss Phebe Mills, chairman; Miss Emma Gillem, Miss Grace Nevius.

Refreshment—Mrs. J. F. MacDonald, chairman; Mrs. Charles Leggett, Mr. A. L. Force, Mrs. Wm. A. Woodruff; Mrs. Gillen.

Lemonade—Miss Lizzie Dunn, chairman; Miss Susie Van Winkle.

Apron and Fan table—Miss Ella Dunn, chairman; Miss Mary Berg.

Popcorn table—Miss Florence Clark.

Waitresses—Miss Minnie Arnold, Miss Grace Clark, Miss Lue Berg, Miss Minnie Berg, Miss Bertha Fisher, Miss Ella Pennier, Miss Ella Gardner, Miss Cora Gardner and Miss Laura Emmons.

Base Ball Notes.

The Y. M. C. I. A., of Elizabeth have signed R. A. Fitzgerald. His position will be in the box.

The game Saturday between the Crescents and the West Ends of Somerville, promises to be a fine one. It is probable that the visitors will put Reese, the wonderful Lehigh twirler, in the box and from all accounts he is "a good one." Sneeden, no doubt, will have recovered from the injury to his hand received in Wednesday's game with the Staten Islanders and will have entire control of the ball.

Manager Mack would rather win this game than any other in the league and he will use all means to this end. No doubt a large assemblage will be present.

The following will be the batting order:

Crescents—Hofford, c.; Turner, 2b.; Murphy, 1.f.; Daisy, 3b.; Leidy, c.f.; Bonser, s.s.; Jones, 1b.; Regan, r.f.; Sneeden, p.

Somerville—Carbonnell, c.f.; Farrell, 2d.; Carlin, r.f.; Harkins, 1b.; Kennedy, c.; Ryman, l.f.; Morehend, s.s.; Cadmus, 3b.; Miller or Reese, p.

A Midnight Blaze.

A large blaze was seen last night in the direction of Scotch Plains a few minutes after eleven o'clock and it was fully ten minutes before the alarm was sounded.

In response to the call the firemen found the barn and carpenter shop of Ralph V. Samms, the builder, at 30 North Clinton avenue, had nearly burned to the ground.

Nothing could be saved and the place was totally destroyed.

The property was insured.

Before Justice Nash.

The case of Barrood vs. Darioed for $250 alleged confidence in the loan of $60, was adjourned for a week, on account of there not being interpreters enough to fully put the case before the court.

In the case of Matthews vs. Condit for contract, the court awarded the plaintiff $25.65.

—Leal's school held their commencement exercises at the Casino, Seventh street, this morning at ten o'clock. The Rev. Dr. Charles Eaton delivered the annual address to the graduates.

THE GINNA RECEPTION.

Nearly Four Hundred Guests Welcome Daniel P. Ginna and Bride.

The beautiful and spacious home of Mr. Stephen A. Ginna, President of the Plainfield Common Council, was thrown open last evening for a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Ginna to their daughter and Mr. Daniel F. Ginna and wife.

The interior of the house and the piazza were beautifully decorated with ferns, mountain laurels from Scranton, and exquisite flowers.

The music was by Herford, and Caterer Marcel of New York furnished the menu. Nearly four hundred guest were present.

Among those present were Colonel and Mrs. Mason W. Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. Evarts Tracy, Misses Tracy, Mr. John Erskine, Misses Erskine, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherwood, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Stewart, Miss Stewart, Mr. Percy H. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Cox, Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. De Grot, Mr. A. W. Duxbury, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Lovell, Mr. and Miss Denton, Mr. and Miss Dumont, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Miller, Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, Miss Kenyon, Mr. Draper, Mrs. Sprague, Mr. and Miss Corlies, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Goddard, Miss Martine, Mrs. Hart, Miss Hart, Dr. and Mrs. James Hayes, Miss Hayes, Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Richards, Mr. E. Van Buren, Mr. Laurens Van Buren, Miss Murphy, Mr. Clarence Murphy, Mr. and Miss John M. Whitee, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wood, Miss Wood, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Pierson, Mrs. Laura Talmage, Mrs. Eyre, Mr. and Mrs. Hunn, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Lodlum, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Nolan, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Marsh, Mrs. Many, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Munger, Mr. and Mrs. Irving L. V. F. Randolph, Mrs. Randolph, of Plainfield; Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Sheppard, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Sheppard, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. David Hall. Dr. and Miss Cole of Fanwood; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, Admiral and Mrs. Breese, Miss Breese, Miss Burt, Mr. and Mrs. Long, Mr. Wright, W. Brannaman Wrightof New York; Mr. and Mrs. Bloodgood of Orange; Mr. Geo. K. Lewis, W. Morris Lewis of Binghampton; Mrs. Dockerell, Mr. Wisner Decker of Rahway, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Talmage, Miss Talmage of Netherwood; Miss Haldeman of Netherwood.

Mrs. Mason W. Tyler, Mrs. Isaac Miller, Mrs. Walter E. Stewart received with Mrs. Ginna.

FINED AND RE-ARRESTED.

Gee Wah, the Fighting Laundryman, Held to Answer a State Warrant.

Gee Wah, the laundryman, again was held to answer to the charge of assaulting Col. C. K. Moore, Wednesday night, appeared before Judge Coddington, yesterday afternoon at 5.30 o'clock, and after one of the most amusing trials on record, was fined ten dollars.

An interpreter was present and informed the court what Gee Wah wished to say, which was principally that "Melican man got hundled Repda. Chinaman he got none."

The judge finally fined him ten dollars, with the warning to never take the law in his hands again.

Shortly after Gee Wah was released, he was re-arrested by Officer Lynch on a State's warrant issued by Judge Wadsworth, charged with breaking two bones in Mr. Moore's hand.

At ten o'clock this morning Gee Wah was arraigned before Judge Louis Wadsworth, and after a preliminary hearing bail was fixed at $500.

Lawyer Charles A. Reed acted as counsel for the defendant, gratuitously, as he thinks the Chinaman should be given a fair show.

Bail was furnished in the form of a check by the interpreter, who handed it over to Mr. Reed, who went the Chinaman's bail.

The case will come up at Elizabeth in the October term of court, unless Mr. Moore withdraws the charge.

Lehigh Valley Men Satisfied.

Rumors were circulated yesterday that the Reading system had reduced the wages of the switchmen and freightmen on the Lehigh Valley Railroad. Several of the switchmen, when seen last night, denied the report and stated that on the contrary the wages of the men at Jersey City and Perth Amboy had been raised from $1.20 to $2 a day. S. M. Williams, Third Vice-President of the Reading system, also denied the report and said: "But I have heard rumors to-day of the engineers of the Central Railroad of New Jersey having some grievance. At present, however, we have no idea what it is. I guess it is nothing serious." An engineer said the only trouble with the company was the old one of discontinuing trains through the combine and so throwing men out of employment.

Lehigh Valley Men Satisfied.

Rumors were circulated yesterday that the Reading system had reduced the wages of the switchmen and freightmen on the Lehigh Valley Railroad. Several of the switchmen, when seen last night, denied the report and stated that on the contrary the wages of the men at Jersey City and Perth Amboy had been raised from $1.20 to $2 a day. S. M. Williams, Third Vice-President of the Reading system, also denied the report and said: "But I have heard rumors to-day of the engineers of the Central Railroad of New Jersey having some grievance. At present, however, we have no idea what it is. I guess it is nothing serious." An engineer said the only trouble with the company was the old one of discontinuing trains through the combine and so throwing men out of employment.

Electric Cricket Club of Newark, N. J. vs. St. George's Cricket Club.

A cricket match between the above clubs will take place on Saturday, June 18, at this city.

The game will be called at 3 p. m.

The St. George's team is as follows:

Captain, John Arden; Fred Wharton, J. S. Higham, James Ogden, G. Jolly, John Ogden, H. Henry, B. Marston, Harry Turner, Tom Reed, David Thompson.

The above game should have been played on May 21st, but was postponed on account of rain.

—The Union County Roadsters of Rahway which is the largest wheeling club in the State, are holding a three-days' fair for the purpose of building a new one-quarter mile racing track, which, when completed will be the finest in the State.

THE $750,000 CONTRACT

THE POND TOOL WORKS AHEAD OF ITS ORDERS.

Twelve of the Enormous Lathes Completed, and Forwarded to the Watervliet, N. Y., Arsenal.—A Fine Achievement for Plainfield.

Twelve of the twenty-five $60,000 gun lathes for the U. S. Arsenal at Watervliet, N. Y., which are being made at the Pond Tool Works in this city, have been delivered, tested and accepted. One of these enormous lathes was not promised until 1893, so the company is that much ahead of its orders.

The lathes are used for rifling the tension guns of our new navy, and the Pond Tool works is one of only four concerns in the entire country having the capacity to do such large work.

The twelve used in these lathes, after it leaves the foundry, is sent to Philadelphia to be tested as to tensile strength. This is done by special machinery. The iron must come up to a specified standard in these tests or it will not be used in the lathes at all.

Then each machine when completed is subjected to severe tests by government experts.

It is with such care in every step that the government is attaining such high proficiency.

Efforts are being put forth to have the Pond Tool Works begin the manufacture of locomotives, and the company, since their success in making these lathes, are reported favorably inclined to the idea, since the lathes are fully as difficult to make.

The company continues its other branches at the works as usual.

It is reported that the government saves $6,000 on each of the lathes made in Plainfield, or $125,000 in all, over the former prices.

STATE TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

The Programme for the Three Days Session at Asbury Park.

The following will be the programme of the New Jersey State Teachers' Association, at their thirty-ninth annual meeting, at Educational Hall, Asbury Park, June 30th, and July 1st, and 2nd.

THURSDAY, JUNE 30.—Afternoon.

2 00—Prayer.
Music.
Address of Welcome—Mayor James A. Bradley, Asbury Park.
Response—A. B. Poland, President of the State Teachers' Association.
Music.
2 20—How can Proficiency of Pupils for Promotion and Graduation to be Measured? Henry Snyder, City Supt. of Schools, Jersey City Discussion.
4 00—Secondary Education in New Jersey. George G. Ryan, City Supt., New Brunswick Discussion.

Evening.

8 00—Business.....Appointments of Committees and Enrollment.
8 15—Address—"The Philosopher's Stone" N. Sims, D.D., Chancellor Syracuse University.

FRIDAY, JULY 1.—Morning.

9 00—Business.
Music.
9 20—A National Course of Study for Primary and Grammar Schools. Chas. De Garmo, Ph. D., President Swathmore College.
Discussion.
11 20—Report of Committee on Education Progress—Chairman, Edward Brooks, Principal State Normal School.
Discussion.

Evening.

8 00—Business—Election of Officers.
Music.
8 20—Education in its Relations to the Social and Economic Conditions of To-day. James McAllister, A.M., President Drexel Institution.

SATURDAY, JULY 2.—Morning.

9 00—Business.
Music.
9 15—Literature for Children—George E. Hardy, Principal Grammar School No. 8, New York. Discussion—Miss Julia E. Bulkley, City Superintendent of Schools, Plainfield.
Music.
9 50—Essay Contest at the Columbian Exhibit. A. R. Pound, State Supt. Public Instruction.
Brief reports to be made by the Chairmen of each Department of the work contemplated.
Reports of Officers.
12 00 M.—Adjournment.

Miss Julia E. Bulkley, Principal of the Plainfield Public Schools, is announced as one of the speakers in the discussion on "Literature for Children."

Hill Climbing.

Speaking of hill climbing, Mr. Wells, the recognized champion hill climber of the world says:

"To climb a hill is an easy task when one knows how, and it is equally easy to know how, although to climb steep grades some practice is necessary. Many riders make the mistake of tackling every hill with a burst of speed and pedalling as fast as possible as far as they can stand it. The result is that they soon become winded and tired and are obliged to dismount. A slow, regular pace is much better adapted to the work, and after one or two efforts the rider will get the knack of both pedals moving, not allowing one foot to stop till the other has started.

The breathing will be equalized and the rider will find his stopping powers increasing. To get the most power out of the wheel the cycler should sit well over his work and lean forward, not lifting too hard on the handle bars. On very difficult hills it may be necessary to get a few grips on the handle bars, but ordinarily this is not necessary.

STATE NEWS

At Mount Holly, on Saturday, the Relief Fire Company, the oldest volunteer organization in the United States, will lay the corner stone of a handsome new engine house.

The electric storm Tuesday night played sad havoc with the telephone and telegraph wires in Paterson, and the electric light plant was shut down. Repairs were made yesterday, and everything was all right last night.

Wm. Dartlan, of Johnsonburg, has a chicken two weeks old, with three legs. The third leg grows between the other two, just a little behind, about half as long as the other two and has five toes.

ELIZABETH'S BIG FIRE.

A Business Block Swept Away by the Flames.

The worst fire that ever occurred in the business portion of Elizabethport, as was reported in yesterday's News, broke out at 6.30 o'clock yesterday morning and raged furiously until 10 o'clock, when it was got under control. The entire fire department of the city battled with the flames, and the steam lighter Advance was also called to the scene. The entire block on the east side of First street, between Livingston street and Broadway, is in ruins, with the exception of the Elizabethport Banking Company's building and the Adam Meisgar building, and these were only saved by the fact that they were brick. National Hall, the old landmark and the scene of many famous meetings, political and otherwise, is wiped out of existence.

The fire was first discovered by Michael Belgin, a carpenter, who broke into the office of Mitchell's furniture warerooms and gave an alarm through the telephone.

The house owned by Mrs. Susan L. Clapp of 56 Mercer avenue, North Plainfield, was the next to ignite. It was located on the north side of National Hall and was a two-story building, 80x100 feet.

Mrs. Clapp's loss is estimated at $8,000, which is covered by insurance.

Several firemen were injured by falling walls but not seriously.

The total loss will amount to about $600,000, with less than $80,000 insurance.

If you have borrowed from recreation to satisfy the demands of business, you can pay back quickly by having a dish of H-O (Hornby's Oat-Meal) for breakfast.

Cent-a-Word Column.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

A COMPETENT laundress wants work by the day; laundry work or sewing. Address "A. M.," Plainfield P. O. 16 3

WANTED—Situation as chambermaid and waiting. Apply at Mrs. Haviland's, 25 Rockview avenue. 16tf

WANTED—Situation as coachman in private family or driver for delivery wagon; is called German; speaks German, French and English. To be seen at 28 East Front street, Friday. 16-3

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—A first-class cook. Reference required. Call at 55 Westervelt avenue. 15-3

WANTED—An experienced colored nurse for a young infant. 16 Crescent avenue. 15-3

$75 TO $250 can be made monthly working for B. F. Johnston & Co., 2300-2306 Main street, Richmond, Va. 1m*

BOARDERS WANTED.

AT 19 Craig place, furnished rooms with board. Table boarders accommodated. 6 3 25

LOST AND FOUND.

FOUND—A memorandum book containing money. Owner may have same by calling at this office and proving property.

FOR RENT.

A $185 safety bicycle to rent at 15 cents per hour by the day. Call at 11 Somerset street. 16 6

UPPER part of house five rooms to rent for $9 per month. Apply Crescent road, from depot. Address "Agreeable," care of EVENING NEWS. 17-4

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Cheap—Two lots on Mountain avenue, each 25x150. Address "R.," P. O. Box 2911, New York City, N. Y. 17 4*

MISCELLANEOUS.

A BUILDING wagon suitable for use, by small club of young men. Rent must be cheap. Address "Club," care of EVENING NEWS. 16 3

FIRST-CLASS laundry work done at home. Prices reasonable. One trial will convince. Mrs. A. F. Wilcox, corner of 3d and Grant place. 1,12s 6

FOR WARM WEATHER—Try iced tea. 50c. Formosa, at Neumann Bros'., Broadway. 15 3*

OLD-FASHIONED furniture in good order bought and sold. Call Furniture rooms, 11 Somerset street. 2-3m*

SECURE your tickets for the Columbian Fair. For particulars apply at Mailford's. 5 29tf

EITHER

Hot Water or Steam Heating Apparatus

furnished and set up in residences and public buildings.

J. N. SCHENCK,

40 MANNING AVENUE, North Plainfield.

25 years' experience. Pipe fitting, machinery repairs.

Agents for the celebrated "Furman" house heating boiler.

ELIZABETH'S BIG FIRE.

A Business Block Swept Away by the Flames.

The worst fire that ever occurred in the business portion of Elizabethport, as was reported in yesterday's News, broke out at 6.30 o'clock yesterday morning and raged furiously until 10 o'clock, when it was got under control. The entire fire department of the city battled with the flames, and the steam lighter Advance was also called to the scene. The entire block on the east side of First street, between Livingston street and Broadway, is in ruins, with the exception of the Elizabethport Banking Company's building and the Adam Meisgar building, and these were only saved by the fact that they were brick. National Hall, the old landmark and the scene of many famous meetings, political and otherwise, is wiped out of existence.

The fire was first discovered by Michael Belgin, a carpenter, who broke into the office of Mitchell's furniture warerooms and gave an alarm through the telephone.

The house owned by Mrs. Susan L. Clapp of 56 Mercer avenue, North Plainfield, was the next to ignite. It was located on the north side of National Hall and was a two-story building, 80x100 feet.

Mrs. Clapp's loss is estimated at $8,000, which is covered by insurance.

Several firemen were injured by falling walls but not seriously.

The total loss will amount to about $600,000, with less than $80,000 insurance.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

WHOLESALE LYNCHING.

Four Italians Hung for Murder.

MOUNT VERNON, Wash., June 17, (Special.)—Peter Brosalia arrived last night with meager accounts of a murder and lynching. He said that on Monday last a gang of eight Italians who were working under a Swedish boss on the Everett and Monte Cristo Railroad became angered with him. They caught him alone and hurled a crowbar through his body. Four escaped to the woods and four went back to camp. The white men heard of the murder and immediately started in search of the murderers. They found the four Italians and strung them to a tree without ceremony. The hanging was done quietly.

DR. DEPEW TO BE SECRETARY.

The Appointment, it is Said, is Only a Question of Hours.

NEW YORK, June 17th. (Special.)—A despatch from Washington was shown to Chauncey M. Depew to-day. It stated that the President had decided to appoint him Secretary of State to-night or to-morrow.

Mr. Depew read the despatch carefully and then said: "I don't think this is a subject on which I am prepared to talk now."

It is pretty well understood that Mr. Depew will accept the office when the times comes.

PANIC AT A BULL FIGHT.

One Person Killed and Many Others Injured at Linares.

MADRID, June 17. (Special.)—During a panic at a bull fight in Linares to-day one person was killed any many injured.

OXFORD TO ROW HARVARD.

The Race to Take Place on the Thames in September.

LONDON, June 17. (Special.)—Oxford has accepted the challenge of Harvard to row on the Thames in September next.

Friday, June 17 Trade Makers.

For 48c.

We will sell you a first-class Summer Corset. 'Tis about as good as you generally pay 75c. for.

For a Children's full regular made fast black Stocking, Hermsdorf dye, worth 20c. they are.

The price but 35c.

Gentlemen, you need them these warm days, a French Ballbrigan Shirt that is worth 50 cents of any one's money.

As complete an assortment of wash fabrics, such as Gingham, Challies, Cambric, Crepe Cloth, Satteen and Bedford Cord as you find in most New York houses, and the prices and styles you will not find fault with.

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE.

For a Delicious Drink

NEUMANN BROS.

Have just the article, a select

50c. Formosa Oolong.

TEA, to make a

Delicious Iced Tea.

Fresh roasted Coffee received weekly. Strawberries received every morning. All goods sold at Lowest Prices. A full line of Vegetables received Daily

NEUMANN BROS.

79 BROADWAY.

NOTICE.

The map of the proposed extension of Broadway, together with the report of the commissioners, may be inspected by those interested, at the house of the North Plainfield Township Committee, Stoneleigh Hall, Friday evening, June 17th, at half past seven o'clock. H. J. MARTIN, 15 td Township Clerk.

ANOTHER ELECTION COMING.

But this is a Selection for the public. 22 WORTH OF GOODS FOR $1.

1 lb new crop Tea (any kind).
1 lb fresh roasted Coffee (bean or ground).
1 lb Cake of Plainfield Baking Powder, (has no equal.)
1 lb best Corn Starch.
1 lb best Rice.
½ lb best Pepper.
1 lb best Tapioca.
1 cake Chocolate.
1 3oz. bottle extract, Vanilla or Lemon.
1 bottle Pickles.

What we feel we cannot afford to offer. You cannot afford to miss. The last time we offered similar goods at this fabulously low price, some went away disappointed. Come early.

Choice table Butter, 19c per lb. Sole agents for J. D. Mason & Co. crackers and cakes, Baltimore, Md. See our variety. Finest in the State.

In Bridal Lowers and Cut Glass Ware, we haven't got a competitor in the city. Selling more in a day than we use stores in two weeks.

Don't forget to ask for a card that entitles you to a $5 book and 24 picture free.

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,

Distributors of Pure Goods Wholesale and Retail 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

GASOLINE STOVES.

THE NEATEST, CLEANEST, and EARIEST stove for housekeepers in the world. For sale at the Plainfield Hardware Store,

Zimmerman & Rumpf,

42 West Front Street.

We are getting away with lots of Russet Shoes this month—now is the time to buy them.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S.
22 West Front street.
P. S.—Our $2 shoe never takes a back seat.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,

OF PLAINFIELD.

Firm of

RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY,

Importers and Tailors,

231 Broadway, New York.

Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring.

Moderate Prices.

25 1m*

EDITORIAL NOTES

Professor Garner and the Apes.

The account of Professor R. L. Garner's preparations for his visit to the Congo country is itself an epitome of the achievements of modern science. He goes 300 miles up the Congo river, to the region inhabited by the gorillas, in order that in their native wilds he may study the speech of the apes which most resemble man in physical conformation.

To protect himself from wild animals and hostile natives, Professor Garner has made an iron cage into which he can lock himself securely. The cage can be taken down and set up like a tent. It can be locked fast to trees, so that any attempt to dislodge it would be vain. The cage will contain the professor's camping outfit and supplies. It will contain, besides a telephone, a phonograph, photographic apparatus and an electrical battery. The battery arrangement is the most ingenious of all. Besides working phonographs and telephone, it will be a protection more safe than half a regiment of soldiers. Professor Garner charges the wires of his cage with a current of 300 volts. If serpents crawl upon the wires, if some of the gorillas whose friendship Mr. Garner seeks desire to see him because they love him so; if, again, any of the natives have hostile designs on him in the cage or seek to meddle with its contents while he is absent, the first touch upon its electric wires will make them feel like the civilized citizen when an electric light wire drops upon him in the street.

Professor Garner will always carry buckled under his arm a canteen filled with strong ammonia water. A touch of a metal ring upon his finger to the nozzle of the canteen will on the instant send a terrible spray of ammonia into the eyes of any wild beast that attacks him. He has also chloroform to quietly stifle the life out of "specimens" which he wishes to secure without disfiguring them. If he wishes to shoot animals at a distance he will use for the purpose a powerful spring gun. The instrument of death will not be a bullet, for the noise of exploding powder would frighten away the animals he most wished to get. But the spring gun will noiselessly drive into the creature's brain a hollow steel arrow, containing fifteen drops of prussic acid. Death will be painless and almost instantaneous.

Thus equipped, Mr. Garner will have his cage conveyed into the forest and there study his favorite science of monkey and ape talk. While he himself is perfectly insulated by rubber blankets inside of his cage, its electrical wire meshes will repel outside attacks at close hand. In the heart of the African jungle he will seek to pluck the heart out of the mystery of monkey talk. He will listen as no man ever had opportunity to listen before to the sounds made by anthropoid apes in the free wild state, unterrified and undisturbed. He believes these man monkeys have a real language and that he can phonograph and translate it. For years the idea has been present with him, and after reading his letter in The North American Review, one is more than half inclined to admit that it seems a reasonable one. He says: "I am not a fanatic on whom the thought has suddenly dawned, for I have persistently sought for years for that one great secret—the first form of speech."

For many years the professor has studied the sounds made by the smaller monkeys in captivity. He believes he has made progress toward understanding them. At any rate, he will bring back from his African journey valuable contributions to the knowledge of the Congo country.

An Ohio school teacher will spend her summer vacation in an original way. From Yellow Springs, O., where she lives, she will travel upon a bicycle to Davenport, Ia. The trip will require twenty-five days, and the plucky young woman's gain in mental, muscle and nerve power should be great. It is strange that vacation excursions of this sort are not more common. Instead of being crowded into a stuffy summer boarding house for weeks a party of ladies and gentlemen might have a delightful vacation bicycle excursion. The way to see the country is to travel leisurely through it, looking at nature and objects of interest at first hand, not through the window of a flying car. History, botany, geology and biology might be studied thus in the true way—the way that Agassiz advocated.

This is sensible: The colored people of Columbia, S. C., in convention assembled, passed a resolution urging negroes to "desist from crimes that provoke them and the whites, to frown mobs down and let the law take its course." On the same day that the Columbia convention was held the colored citizens of Washington and other places spent the hours in fasting and prayer because of the outrages inflicted on their race in the south. Meantime a southern paper remarks, "When negroes stop outraging white women, then white men will stop lynching negroes."

It required 500 cars to transport to the starving districts in the interior of Russia the grain and provisions carried to Riga by the good American ship Tyrhead on her errand of mercy.

IN A TORNADO'S TRACK.

Thirty or Forty People Killed in Minnesota.

THE GRANT MONUMENT SHATTERED

Lightning Strikes the Handsome Memorial in Lincoln Park, Chicago, Killing Three People and Stunning Forty More. Wild Scenes When the Fatal Flash Came.

MANKATO, Minn., June 17.—One of the worst disasters that ever visited southern Minnesota occurred between 5 and 6 o'clock. The terrible funnel shaped tornado again stalked abroad over the land and laid waste scores of happy homes and sent forty or fifty souls to eternity. Curious shaped clouds began to form over in the southwest and many people gazed in wonder at the sight. About 5:30 p. m. a circling black cloud was seen rapidly advancing and demolishing everything in its course. It passed two miles northwest of Sherburne, and it is reported that it then struck a district schoolhouse in which were the teacher and eighteen scholars. The building was demolished, one scholar was killed and all the others injured.

At Hartford five were killed. Four dead bodies have been brought into Minnesota Lake and three into Wells. John Brown, his daughter, a lady school teacher boarding with him and a neighbor's son are the dead at Minnesota Lake. Brown's wife cannot live. He is a wealthy farmer living between Wells and Minnesota Lake, and not a stick of his property is left.

Houses Swept Away.

The county is flooded and the prairie is covered with people looking for their homes or friends. Horses, horsecake and in all kinds of conveyances. The houses are mostly swept away entirely without a vestige to show where they stood. When the full reports are in it is believed the list of fatalities will be thirty or forty.

The cyclone split when it reached Winnebago City, and one part of it went south of

THE GRANT MONUMENT.

Wells, while the most destructive part went north. Many people are missing and the suffering is even worse than was at first reported.

Mr. Yonkers' house in Rutland was wrecked and all the family injured. One child was killed instantly, one has since died and another is not expected to live.

Saw the Funnel Approaching.

At Wells, a brakeman who saw the storm said he plainly saw the funnel approaching from the west, and as it passed north of the village he ran to the ground by the terrific pressure of the air, which almost stifled him. It is impossible at present to get a list of those killed or wounded. Probably not less than a hundred were wounded, and as they were mostly in the country, distant from medical aid, their sufferings were terrible. From Jackson to Minnesota Lake the scene is one of devastation. This is one of the richest sections of the state and is prairie, with now and then a wind break of trees planted by the settlers. The wind had full sweep.

A House on the Track.

The men on one of the freight trains which pulled out of Mankato, after running a few miles from that city, discovered a huge obstruction across the track. It proved to be a house that had been blown across the track, and the engine was stuck touching it when it stopped, a flash of lightning having revealed its presence just in time to save another wreck. Two of the hands with lanterns proceeded to examine the wrecked building and heard moans of distress in the ruins. Within the building were half a dozen people lying among the broken timbers, all seriously and some probably fatally hurt.

In Freeborn township Mrs. Mike Iverson and three children and a child of J. Steen are reported killed. Many more are more or less seriously injured.

One man was blown into a field uninjured, but suddenly a large log fell upon him, injuring him fatally.

The Grant Monument Struck.

CHICAGO, June 17.—During the thunderstorm that passed over the city last night lightning struck the Grant monument in Lincoln park, in the corridors of which nearly fifty people had sought shelter. Three were killed and two seriously injured. All of the others, with the exception of three, were thrown violently to the stone floor of the monument and some received severe shocks. The monument was but slightly damaged. The killed are:

Lewis Meyer, 32 Nutt street.

Mrs. Shelly, 164 Austin avenue.

Unknown man.

The injured: Harry Phillips, 134 East Kinzie street, stunned.

Mrs. Mattie Olsen, 134 Fairfield avenue, stunned.

Over Forty Stunned.

The pedestal forms a series of gigantic arches on which is poised a bronzed equestrian statue of General Grant. When the skies began to darken about fifty men, women and children ran to the monument to escape the threatening storm. They chatted and joked over the situation. Suddenly there was a deafening clap of thunder and a bolt of lightning struck the monument. The great pedestal trembled and all beneath it fell to the ground, some dead.

Over forty were knocked down and stunned. Among the badly injured are Harry Phillips, Mrs. Mattie Olsen, Lillie Weaver, Mrs. Kate Shelby and child and J. P. Herrickson.

The lightning struck the northeast corner of the pedestal, passed around beneath the arches and traveled directly through the crowd. The flash blinded all for an instant, and when those who recovered scrambled to their feet five were left prone on the ground, three dead and two unconscious. A panic instantly prevailed, and those who could walk ran terror stricken from the scene.

The bronze statue was not struck and the damage to the pedestal consists of two rents through the granite and a general shattering.

THE BOMB PROOF CLOAK ROOM.

Mr. Morrill Says That Is Where Senator Proctor Called Candidate Platt.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—One of the most occasions when the senate lost an opportunity to be host Mr. Morrill, the venerable chairman of the committee on finance, spoke on a subject of interest, was afforded when Mr. Morrill delivered an able and exhaustive speech on the question of free coinage. Mr. Morrill made many interesting comparisons in his remarks and caused a broad smile to spread over the senate by referring to Democratic statesmanship in finance as calling "to the bomb proof cloak room" to escape voting on the silver bill. The senate was on the point of adjourning when Mr. Washburn called up the anti-option bill from the table and after some debate it was referred to the committee on the judiciary. Then Mr. Frye reported that the conference on the river and harbor bill had failed to agree on the senate amendments providing for a boat railway around the Dalles, Ore., and for a canal from Lake Washington. Messrs. Frye, Mitchell, Allen, Squire and others defended the senate amendments and the senate agreed to insist on its amendments and ask a further conference.

Tin Plate in the House.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The tin plate bill occupied the time of the house, although but little interest was manifested in the debate. Among the speakers opposing the bill were Mr. R. R. Taylor (Rep.), of Ohio; Mr. Johnson (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Dalzell (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, while Mr. Bunting (Dem.), of New York, favored it.

FASHIONS

MODES OF THE DAY.

A Few Features in the Many and Diverse Styles Now Prevailing.

Just now Fashion is in her most liberal mood: she gives out new orders daily with a prodigality that defies economy. Lace, for instance, is one of the idols of the hour.

LACE FICHU.

Many of the summer dresses are trimmed with it, and we have not only lace jabots, frills, bibs and tuckers, but deep fichus, capes and pelerines of the same. Among these last is a fichu, here illustrated, which combines the coarser with the finer make of lace most deteratively; it has a collar band frilled with fine lace, and to this is attached a very full turned down collar of coarse lace, from which hangs a full deep frill of the finer lace again, tying in the front with pointed ends. Reminiscent of the fashions of bygone days is a pelerine of coarse lace with a full frill round the shoulders, and a discriminate combination of the old and new styles is made of guipure edged to a point at the back and front, and edged with a frill of lace caught up on the shoulders with bows of ribbon.

Most French dress skirts have some small trimming at the edge, either a ruche or one or two narrow flounces. Sleeves are more or less puffed, with cuffs more or less deep, being so big that they cannot possibly get bigger, we may now expect to see them dwindle gradually until they get to the opposite pole. In some instances the high collar is replaced by a frill or ruffle. Most of the new mantles have lace ruffles at the neck and wrists.

Etон jackets are likely to be all the rage. For ordinary wear they will be of chevonette serge or cloth and untrimmed; but when intended to go with smart gowns they will be of silk or velvet.

The new short cape looks wonderfully chic made of black velvet with a delicate yellow or pink lining. It should be worn open in front and pushed back a little on the shoulders in order to show the dainty lining and black lace underbodice.

Seed Men Elect Officers.

HARTFORD, June 17.—The American Seed Trade association elected the following officers: President, J. C. Vaughn, of Chicago; first vice president, Thomas Dreer, of Philadelphia; second vice president, W. W. Rawson, of Boston; secretary and treasurer, A. L. Dow, of New York.

To Criticise Wanamaker.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The house committee on postoffice in the civil service, investigating the charges that federal officials in Baltimore had violated the civil service law, have completed their report, which, it is understood, severely criticises Postmaster General Wanamaker.

Trouble Seems Certain.

PITTSBURG, June 17.—The Amalgamated Association conference committee is busy considering the manufacturers' scale. The difference between the workers' and manufacturers' scales are so great that it hardly seems possible that serious trouble can be averted.

Gladstone Dropsies Labor.

LONDON, June 17.—The labor candidates were so disgusted with Mr. Gladstone's refusal to approve reducing the hours of labor by parliamentary enactment that they have decided to put each labor candidate into the field in the general election.

Elks to Meet at Detroit.

BUFFALO, June 17.—Buffalo purple was continued as the color of the Elks and the forgetmenot as its floral emblem. A law prohibiting Sunday sessions or picnics was decided. The grand lodge adjourned to meet in Detroit next year.

A Car Runner Killed.

CRESSON, Pa., June 17.—John Baker, car runner at the Dickson colliery, was crushed to death by empty cars.

HENRY S. IVES GOES FREE

The Indictments Against the Young Napoleon Quashed.

CONVICTION SEEMED IMPOSSIBLE.

District Attorney Nicoll at New York States That a New Trial Would Be Useless and Recommends the Dismissal of the Famous Case.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The eight indictments which have been pending in the district attorney's office since 1880 against Henry S. Ives and George H. Stayner were dismissed by Judge Cowing on recommendation of Dr. Lincoln Nicoll. The indictments specified grand larceny, the fraudulent issue of stock and felony. Both financiers stood trial on the latter charge in the court of general sessions before Recorder Smyth, but it ended in a disagreement of the jury. Lawyer Cowing, representing Ives and Stayner, in an elaborate affidavit set forth that his clients were smarting under the indictments, and added that they would be injured in their present pursuits if the accusations were not dismissed.

No Conviction Could Be Had.

The lawyer also averred that Ives and Stayner had assigned all of their estates for the benefit of their creditors. Mr. Nicoll, in recommending the dismissal, said that it required the vigorous efforts of two committees, the officials of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad company, to bring the defendants to bar. He believed that without the conviction of these officers no conviction could be had.

Princeton's Big Freshman Class.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 17.—Preliminary examinations of the candidates for admission to Princeton college were begun here and at New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. There have been 650 applications for admission, and next year's freshman class will exceed by at least 100 any class that has ever entered the college. The $200,000 new commencement hall will be ready for '93 to graduate in.

Pennsylvania Hibernians' Adjourn.

WILKESBARRE, June 17.—The A. O. H. state convention adjourned sine die. Following are the officers elected: State delegate, James Johnson, of Philadelphia; secretary, Cornelius O'Brien, of Philadelphia; treasurer, Patrick Fallon, of Pittsburg. The order contains 20,000 members. Pittsburg was selected as the next place of meeting.

Thirty Bodies Recovered.

CINCINNATI, June 17.—Another section of the Licking river bridge between Covington and Newport, a part of which collapsed Wednesday, causing the death of more than thirty men, fell Thursday. Five men who were working on it escaped without injury. Two bodies were taken from the wreck, making thirty in all.

Wiman Will Be Heard at London.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Erastus Wiman, who was refused credentials to represent the Board of Trade at the Associated Chambers of Commerce in London June 20, has been elected a delegate by the Brantford board of trade and will be heard from concerning prolonged commerce on that continent.

John Redmond's Farewell.

NEW YORK, June 17.—John E. Redmond, M. P., leader of the Parnellite party in Ireland, made his farewell appearance in this city last evening at a meeting of the Irish Men's Amnesty association. The meeting was addressed by representative Irishmen, both of the Parnellite and McCarthyite factions.

The Watchdog Married Fifty Years.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Representative and Mrs. Holman was celebrated by them last night at the Hamilton house. Many persons in official and social circles called to offer congratulations.

"Old Hutch" as a Restaurateur.

NEW YORK, June 17.—"Old Hutch," the Chicago grain operator, has located at 39 Bridge street, where it is said that he proposes to open a restaurant and retire forever from the allurements of the grain market.

Only Four in Custody Now.

LONDON, June 17.—In the house of commons the attorney general for Ireland stated that the total number of persons imprisoned under the coercion act was 1,628, and that only four remained in custody on June 1.

Iron Mine Hour Day Not Consummated.

BUFFALO, June 17.—The boiler manufacturers' convention adopted a resolution that we do not and cannot countenance the eight hour movement as it becomes universal in all the boiler shops in the country."

Moonshiner Killer Sentenced.

SOMERSET, Pa., June 17.—William C. Miller, the murderer of old man Hochstetler, was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary. His son Bob escaped with a sentence of two years.

Negroes Destroyed at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—The 126th annual commencement of the University of Pennsylvania took place at the Academy of Music. Degrees were conferred by Provost Pepper.

Carter for President.

NEW HAVEN, June 17.—The New England Baptist Missionary society elected Rev. J. H. Carter, of Boston, president, and Rev. G. H. Gutlock, of Newark, N. J., vice president.

Counterfeiters at Asbury Park.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 17.—George Smith and Edward Jones, strangers at this place, were arrested charged with passing counterfeit silver dollars.

WIH Wiedle's Fast Riding.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 17.—During the relay bicycle race Willie Hommer, of Worcester, a distance of six miles, in twenty-four minutes.

The Oriental Bank Failure.

LONDON, June 17.—At a meeting of the creditors of the new Oriental bank it was decided that the bank should go into voluntary liquidation.

Ex-Dictator Fonseca Dying.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—General Deodoro da Fonseca, the late president of Brazil, is dying. Extreme unction has been administered to him.

Murderer Pointon Hanged.

YORK, Pa., June 17.—William Henry Pointon, the murderer of Mrs. Michael Strohmyer, was hanged here.

BUTTAN'S CASE DISMISSED.

Mayor Was on Hand, But His Accuser Was Not.

HACKENSACK, June 17.—The case of Recorder Buttan, of Jersey City, charged with the murder of Thomas Degnan, on a charge of having received indictment on state funds deposited in Princeton, was called by Assistant Prosecutor Hopper. Mr. Degnan was on hand, but Mr. Buttan was not, the latter being kept at his home by illness.

A warm debate ensued between counsel on the motion of the counsel for the defendant, ex-Senator J. E. Herr, in notifying his supposed witnesses that they need not appear because of Mr. Buttan's sickness.

Fatten Stopped the Sweetmeats.

NEW HAVEN, June 17.—The broadsword contest between Captain Brian E. Lynn, of this city, and Major McGuire, of the English army, for the championship of America and $1,000 a side, was stopped by the police after Lynn had severed the Englishman's mustache and drawn the blade of his sword well down upon McGuire's skull. The blood spurted from the wound, but the major was going on when the police interfered. Lynn was unmarked. Last night's fight was bloodless. Her father is the owner of the Palace Carouselle. Mr. Schnitzler vows that he will never forgive his daughter.

Hibernians at Bridgeport.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 17.—The state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians began here. The order in the state numbers 7,000. Mayor Walsh, of New Britain, was elected state delegate; J. D. Cunningham, of New Haven, secretary, and T. D. Ryan, of Hartford, treasurer.

Just What You Need!

If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an

Arnold Steam Cooker.

Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.

You can buy the above articles at 61 Park avenue Also the only genuine

BOSTON BROWN BREAD,

made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.

M. E. BEACH, Agent.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

FRED. W. DUNN,

Successor to

Barkalew & Dunn,

18 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Fine Groceries.

THREE STAR TEA

George - Bremmer,

No 28 SOMERSET STREET,

READY MADE CLOTHING,

or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

In what you eat. When you eat meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

Having Disposed of the Produce Business to Mr. L. A. Hommer, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.

H. E. RIDER, Manager.

Do You Want Shirts?

If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your ideas.

The assortment we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects.

Full Sleeves for hot weather; Blue Flannel for coat.

Hallock & Davis,

5 West Front Street.

Trunks and Bags.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum and Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Cases can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Sugar store, No. 19 West Second street.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong Ice to this market. Are now prepared to serve their patrons with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CODDINGTON, Pres.
H. CODDINGTON, Vice-Pres.
ANSON WILMOT, Sec. & Treas.
J. MORTON, Gen. Supt.

Tennis, Croquet, Hammocks, etc.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in BEST

QUALITY COAL

YARD AND OFFICE

SOUTH AVENUE.

P. O. BOX 1407.

Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Counsellors at Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public, etc. Offices, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E., Engineer of the Famous Union County Road System. Special attention given to surveying and topography. Offices, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Attorney-at-Law, Notary and Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public. Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 28, West Front street.

CLARK & MEEK, Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Special Masters in Chancery, &c. Rooms over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CRANE & MARSH, Counsellor at Law. Supreme Court Commissioner, Conveyancer and Master in Chancery. Notary Public. Office of Marsh & Crane, Brokers' Block.

OSCAR S. TEALE, Attorney-at-Law, 27 Broadway, New York city, Rooms 33 and 35. Important and Trustee Bank Building, Westfield, Plainfield P. O.

PLAINFIELD BOOMLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY

JONES & CO.

Work quickly and successfully done. Best skills in operation. Our machine is the latest and most perfect of its kind. Can be seen at work on Somerset street, between Second and Third streets. Contractors and others desiring excavating done, call at the office, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

ARRIVE—7:20, 8:40, 10:30, 11:55, 2:40, 5:35, 7:10, 8:30 p. m. Sunday—7:20 and 8:30 a. m., 12:30, 1:30 and 7:10 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8:30 a. m., 1:55, 6:30 p. m. Sunday—8:30 a. m., 1:55, 6:30 p. m.

Closes—7:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:00 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. Mail closes at 5:30 p. m.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

MURPHY ON MUGWUMPS

Why the New York Chairman Opposes Cleveland.

GRACE AND FAIRCHILD ATTACKED

Bitter Words for the Men Who Are Backing the Ex-President in the Empire State—Chairman Murphy Declares that Cleveland Cannot Carry New York.

CHICAGO, June 17.—The flag of David B. Hill was hoisted over the camp of his adherents at the Auditorium by the advance guard of the army that will be here within the next thirty-six hours to fight his battles. The advance guard was composed of Lieutenant Governor Sheehan, Richard Croker, the head center of Tammany Hall, and Edward Murphy, Jr. They declared that they were in the fight until the New York member was either declared the nominee or defeated. Edward Murphy, Jr., who is a delegate at large to the Democratic national convention and chairman of the Democratic state committee, made a statement to the press this afternoon in which he believed that if nominated Mr. Cleveland could not carry New York state. He says:

Why Murphy Opposes Cleveland.

"The Democrats of the country at large, who favor Mr. Cleveland, believe that the Democrats of New York are obstinate and willful in opposing their wishes to those of the great majority. They do not know that the Democracy of our state would not be for Mr. Cleveland if Mr. Hill were not a candidate. They do not understand that the opposition to Mr. Cleveland is based upon an idea that has become as fixed as a principle. The idea is in dislike of the mugwump; it matters not whether he be a Republican mugwump or Democratic mugwump, like ex-Secretary Fairchild or ex-Mayor Grace. The Democrats dislike them all with a bitterness far exceeding any ill-will which they entertain toward their Republican opponents, for the reason that the latter are open and manly antagonists, while the mugwump, pretending to be a friend, slips his stiletto in your back while you are opposing the common enemy.

They Bolted Governor Hill.

"In 1885 the New York Times and the New York Evening Post and all their followers bolted Governor Hill. Ever since that time they have assailed him at every step. They have since that time opposed him again for the office of governor after a unanimous nomination in 1888, at the same time charging that Mr. Cleveland, who was also a candidate for office, did not want him elected, and could prominent members of the national committee induce Mr. Cleveland to so much as say that no one had authority to say that he was opposed to the election of Governor Hill. Every one knows what they did in 1890 in the contest against Tammany Hall, the regular Democratic organization of the city of New York. Grace, Fairchild and Dana were prominent in an open and undisguised combination with the Republicans, and had the combination been successful the whole election machinery of that great Democratic stronghold would have been turned over to the Republican party, which would have absolutely controlled it in this presidential election.

To Drive Out the Mugwumps.

"As the people know the various other acts of treachery occurring in the several years from 1884 down to the present time, I will pass these and come to the convention of 1891, when the Democratic party, smarting under the ignominies heaped upon it by these mugwumps, determined to drive them out of the party. So they elected the County Democracy, the official representatives of the mugwump from the convention, tumbling Mr. Grace and the rest of them in a heap together. The result was that at election even Lieutenant Governor Sheehan, whom they hated most and against whom they strove hardest, received over 50,000 majority. When that result was reached the Democrats of the state of New York thought they were not to be troubled longer with the hypocrisy and treachery of the mugwumps, and they took steps which resulted in the holding of the February convention and its action.

Concerning Cleveland's Nomination.

"The nomination of Mr. Cleveland would mean the destruction of the regular organization in the great Democratic cities of the state as in the state itself, under which organizations the party has successively won victories by increasing majorities for the last seven years. It would not be possible for Governor Hill and every member of the national delegation, including from now until the day of election, to convince the rank and file of the Democracy that the nomination and election of Mr. Cleveland would not be brought in power the mugwumps. Our people look upon the contemplated action of the Democracy in some of the other states as intending a reward of the would be Democratic mugwump associates.

"Therefore the feeling in growing very bitter in New York state toward Mr. Cleveland, and we honestly trust that the Democracy of other states will not humiliate the Democracy of New York by nominating a resident of that state when the support of them there are positive cause for defeated. Mr. Cleveland, by acquiescence in the action of the mugwump convention, proves that he is willing to go before the country as a representative of a body of bolters, and by saying that the party leaders in the state might do would in my opinion convince the rank and file that they were not against the candidate who was the representative of such a body."

Who Will Be Chairman?

There is a good deal of speculation regarding the temporary chairmanship of the convention. The subcommittee of the national Democratic committee is holding an important meeting at the Palmer House to-night to decide who will be temporary chairman of the convention. No selection will be made until Monday. The members of the subcommittee are Senator Gorman, of Maryland, and Senators Brice, of Ohio; Gorman, of Maryland, and Ransom, of North Carolina. Every member of this committee is opposed to the nomination of Mr. Cleveland, and it is doubtful if any candidate with pronounced pro-Cleveland views will be accorded the honor of temporarily presiding over the convention. Three names were suggested for the consideration of the committee. They were Senator Daniel Voorhees, of Indiana; Adlai Stevenson, of Illinois, and Clayton A. Crafts, speaker of the lower house of the Illinois legislature. Governor Jackson, of Maryland, is also talked of, but it is believed he is slated for the permanent chairmanship. Mr. Watterson was overjoyed that the Cleveland men had been defeated in their attempts to have the Ohio delegation instructed for the ex-president.

"Senator Brice controls Ohio," he said, "and the Cleveland fellows were handsomely routed in the convention. The old factionals did the business. Gorman, Brice and Campbell will work hand in hand and the McLean crowd in Cincinnati will back them up. I guess Campbell would not be averse to securing the nomination. He would make a strong candidate, and we could have strong hopes of electing the ticket if he headed it. But, then, there is no lack of available candidates."

Ex-Secretary Fairchild's Views.

Ex-Secretary of the Treasury Fairchild, who is here, says that no fair minded man, well informed as to the sentiment of New York, can doubt that Cleveland is by many thousand votes the strongest candidate for that state, and the favorite of the masses of the party throughout the entire country. "No man," he concluded, "need fear that any member of this delegation will do anything for selfish or personal considerations which could in his judgment in the least imperil the well being and success of the party."

The Tribune and the Printers.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The following statement concerning the paper's differences with Typographical Union No. 6 appears in The Tribune: "The difference between Typographical Union No. 6 and The Tribune having become a subject of discussion since the nomination of Whitelaw Reid for the vice presidency, the officers of the union have prepared the following statement, which has been approved by Mr. Reid. The unions statement follows: 'It is not true that this settlement was made or hastened because of Mr. Reid's candidacy for the vice presidency. In fact it is known that Mr. Reid was not a candidate and did not accept the nomination. The negotiations began nearly TWO YEARS AGO while he was minister to France. Charles J. Dumar was then president of the union. Mr. Dumar, anxious to secure The Tribune once more as a union office, selected as his mediator a well-known citizen, Mr. Max Judd, John R. Mildeberger, who had for years been connected with The Tribune. Matters were progressing and a settlement was well within sight when Mr. Mildeberger died suddenly.

"Mr. Dumar had gone out of office and William J. Brennan had become the official head of the union, when at last Mr. Mildeberger's recovered enabled the negotiations to proceed. Mr. Mildeberger went to Paris to consult with Mr. Reid personally. Mr. Reid pointed out that a practical difficulty in the way of an immediate acceptance of the union's proposition arose from the fact that The Tribune was not an ordinary printing office, but a linotype machine establishment. In a letter to Mr. Brennan, dated Oct. 13, 1891, which Mr. Mildeberger brought back from Paris, Mr. Reid discussed the bearings of this point. He said:

Your note of Sept. 21 was duly received. Its courteous tone and friendly spirit are fully appreciated, and it would be a personal pleasure if I could, in justice to my own interests and to those of my associates, accept at once the full text of the proposition it contains. I have accepted all of it that is properly applicable to The Tribune and shall be pleased if you find it satisfactory. The Tribune does not now employ compositors at all, but linotype operators. Your organization is one of compositors. The trade is absolutely a different one and a knowledge of composition is not necessary to become proficient in it. With the simple exception of the weekly issue of wages, which is now and long has been in The Tribune as high as or higher than the scale you name, I do not see a clause in your regulation in the least applicable to The Tribune. I am paying the highest wages going, and will gladly co-operate with you in maintaining, or even in advancing them. With your main object, that of keeping up wages, I am in perfect sympathy. I will gladly enter into the contract you propose to attain, and I have suggested no modification that will interfere with it.

"The union's proposition, as modified by Mr. Reid, was presented to the union by Mr. Brennan. Not all the members were fully satisfied with it. The difficulty still remained of adapting the rules of the union to the conditions created by the machine method of composition. It was finally proposed by the union that the same plan be adopted which had been successfully employed in settlements with the International Journal of Printing of employing a foreman of The Tribune office a member of the union in good standing.

"This proposition tendered to Mr. Reid was promptly accepted. A list of between twenty and twenty-five names of members of the union qualified to fill the position of foreman was submitted to Mr. Reid, who chose Mr. William Brennan, the last president of the union and late night foreman of the American Press association, thereby proving his perfect faith in the union. Mr. Brennan is now foreman of The Tribune composing room."

Governor Pattison Will Not Talk.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 17.—Governor Pattison, after reviewing the Society of the Army of Pennsylvania parade, positively refused to talk concerning the United Press dispatch that the Cleveland men had decided to unite with the Pennsylvania delegation at Chicago in supporting him for the presidency. He was found unavailable, but he refused point blank to say anything. The smile which lighted up his face, however, suggested that he would not enter any objections to such an undertaking.

Blizzard and the Deputy Banker.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The president was overrun with callers. Secretary Elkins was the most important caller and remained with the president some time, giving him the result of his New York trip. Secretary Elkins declined to say whether he had been deputed by the president to offer the portfolio of state to Mr. Depew.

Three Killed at Scranton.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 17.—A cloudburst is manifesting itself in this city this evening, and on the main thoroughfares the water stands from three to four feet. The flats on the Lackawanna are covered, and the water has driven many families from their homes. Lightning struck six houses, killing three persons and maiming several more.

Yale Will Not Race with Oxford.

NEW HAVEN, June 17.—It now that Yale wins the boat race with Harvard it is no longer probable that the crew will be arranged with Oxford university, in England. The boating men are loath to undergo the three months' hard training, and the Yale faculty is opposed to the scheme.

Father Mollinger Lying in State.

PITTSBURG, June 17.—The body of Father Mollinger was taken to the little chapel in which he was wont to receive and bless all who came, and where it will lie in state until Saturday morning, when it will be laid away in the cemetery of the Church of the Most Holy Name.

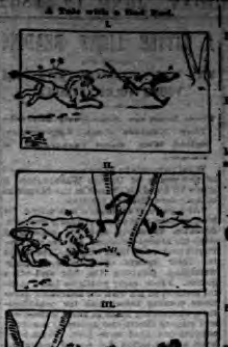
Stocker Found Guilty.

JERSEY CITY, June 17.—Arthur Stocker, on trial for the murder of his wife, was convicted of murder in the second degree and the jury recommended him to mercy.

Governor McKinley Renominated.

COLUMBUS, O., June 17.—Governor McKinley has had the honor of doctor of laws conferred upon him by Miami university.

A Tale with a Sad End.



—Pflegende Blatter.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Archbishop Ireland is in Paris.

Blanco, vice president elect of Bolivia, is dead.

The blockade of Matto Grosso, Brazil, has been raised.

M. Pruzich, one of the three regents ruling during the minority of King Alexander, of Servia, died from heart disease.

Sixty Esquimaux will be sent to the World's fair from northern Labrador.

It is believed that Mrs. Samuel Jones and her child, of Gordonsville, N. H., have been killed and eaten by bears.

Two students of Phillips academy, Exeter, N. H., Jackson Whitmore Shadden, '93, of New York, and Joseph Feder, '93, of Cincinnati, have been sent home for arranging a fight with two ounce gloves.

Lady Elizabeth Louise Monck, wife of Lord Monck, who was governor general of Canada from 1861 to 1867, is dead.

The Lowell Fellows' bill to increase the cost of the custom house site in New York from $1,500,000 to $2,200,000 will be reported favorably to the house.

The house of commons in committee has authorized the government to purchase the Irish railway trunk lines throughout the country at a cost of £1,000,000.

Reynhol, anarchist and murderer, will set up the plea of insanity on his trial.

The Central Creek Mining company of St. Louis has struck eight mines in and around Webb City for upward of $2,000,000.

The national convention of Loyal Orangemen at Pittsburg have declared against keeping the World's fair on Sunday.

The Allen infantry (First Defenders), of Allentown, Pa., have decided not to participate in the G. A. R. parade at Washington in September unless they are assigned to the right of the column.

The Doylestown express on the Reading railroad collided with a freight train near Chalfont, Pa., on Monday. The engineer, was instantly killed, and Richard Hudson, the fireman, and several passengers were seriously injured.

The consultant state of the Balmaceditist party in Chili before the triumph of the patriots, writes from Buenos Ayres that his party is still alive.

The Italian steamship companies are protesting against the provision of the immigration bill which throws the burden of verification and examination of immigrants upon the officers of a ship.

THE BASEBALL WORLD.

At Cleveland—First game—	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland.....3 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—3	6	2
Louisville.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2—2	5	2
Young and O'Connor, Stratton and Grimm.
Second game—	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland.....1 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—2	12	1
Louisville.....2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—2	8	1
Beiger and Zimmer; Jones and Grimm.
At Washington—First game—	R.	H.	E.
Washington.....0 2 4 1 0 0 0 0—7	9	1
Baltimore.....0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0—2	6	2
Gastright and Milligan, Terry and Gunson.
Second game—	R.	H.	E.
Washington.....0 0 1 0 2 0 0—3	3
Baltimore.....0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—1	5
Knell and Sullivan, McMahon and Robinson.
At New York—	R.	H.	E.
New York.....3 0 1 1 1 0 0 1—7	12	3
Brooklyn.....0 3 0 0 0 0 0 0—3	4	4
Crane and Boyle, Haddock and Dailey.
At Pittsburg—	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburg.....0 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—4	7	1
Chicago.....0 0 0 1 0 0 0 1 1—3	10	2
Gumbert and Mack; Hutchinson and Ritteridge.

EASTERN LEAGUE GAMES.

At New Haven—	R.	H.	E.
New Haven.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0	4	1
Providence.....0 2 1 0 0 1 0 1 x—5	10	2
Wells and Gruber; Ryan, Murphy and Kelly.
At Albany—	R.	H.	E.
Albany.....0 1 0 0 0 0 1 0—2	8	2
Syracuse.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0	5	2
Shearon, Sullivan and Brown; McKeough and Meakim.
At Hamilton—	R.	H.	E.
Hamilton.....2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—2	4	1
Troy.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—1	5	2
Hemming, Odell and Clarkson.
At Philadelphia—	R.	H.	E.
Athletic.....0 0 1 0 0 0 0 1 0—2	6	1
Binghamton.....3 0 0 1 2 0 0 1 x—7	11	1
Devlin and Gray; Wilson, Pike and Townsend.

Killed in a Runaway.

UNION HILL, N. J., June 17.—John Adams, of New Durham, in company with his two young sons, was driving capitized team of horses through this place when the horses ran away. Henry, the oldest boy, was instantly killed.

Oxford Is Confident.

NEW YORK, June 17.—William R. Grace before leaving for Chicago expressed his confidence in the nomination of Mr. Cleveland. The regular delegation of the Democratic party left in two special cars for the convention.

Jaeger's Relatives Aided Him.

FRANKFORT, June 17.—The relatives of Jaeger, the cashier who embezzled nearly two million marks from the Rothschilds, have confessed that they aided and abetted him. Most of them are under arrest.

Henry Irving Coming Again.

LONDON, June 17.—Mr. Henry Irving will make a tour of the United States in the autumn.

France Is Angry Now.

PARIS, June 17.—The French government has decided to blockade the coast of Dahomey.

38c.

Buys a full size, re-inforced front, shirt, with Linen bosom and wristbands; regular 50c quality.

17c.

Buys a five foot curtain pole with brass fixtures, complete.

Window Shades 10c. and upward.

Dress Chettles 5c. Best Prints 6c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 30 days at

BOEHM'S

No. 7 West Front Street.

CARRIAGES and HARNESS.

$15.00

Buys hand made rubber mounted harness.

$100.00

Buys canopy top, natural wood survey. Prices and styles to suit all.

SWIFT SAFETIES.

RYERSON,

33 SOMERSET STREET.

PIPTONIZED

Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'.

PHILLIPS CADOO.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter and General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS,

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 667.

PIERSON & GAYLE.

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 16 Vine street. H. S. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH.

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 22.

R. V. RAUMS.

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Rahway.

P. O. Box 128

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. F. HOFFMAN,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

Residence—44 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ARBOTT,

Carpenter, Contractor and Builder. Estimates cheerfully furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Corner Park and Front streets, Plainfield. Orders left at Arbott's Planing Mill will receive prompt attention. Telephone No. 1. Interior hard wood work. P. O. Box 887.

JOHN HERRMANN,

Plain and Ornamental Slate and Metal Roofer, Sheet Worker of Cornice and Skylight Work, North Plainfield, N. J.

Jobbing promptly attended to. Estimates furnished. Residence, 5 Sagamore street.

GARDEN

FLOWER & LAWN

Seeds and Fertilizers.

Special Lawn Seeds for shady and dry lawns.

GARDEN TOOLS

and

Lawn Mowers.

WATER PIPING AND PLUMBING.

Tinware, Hardware and Housefurnishings.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

119 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS and PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—39 East Front street.

Joseph T. Sullivan,

No. 66 West Third Street,

Dealer in Choice

Wines, Liquors, etc.

BEER ON DRAUGHT.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

25 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

46 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING,

49 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

NO. 42 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE,

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Six Varieties)

Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : :

- - - NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 49 EMILY STREET.

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

43 to 49 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

PORTER AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any of the first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer.

Telephone Co. 187.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(THE PORT READING R. R. CO., Lessee.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Take ferry to foot of Liberty street.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

[Dense railroad timetable omitted]

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

[Railroad timetable omitted]

PLAINFIELD AND BASTON.

[Railroad timetable omitted]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

[Railroad timetable omitted]

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

[Railroad timetable omitted]

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

[Railroad timetable omitted]

DUNN BELDON CORAL MINES, ETC.

[Railroad timetable omitted]

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

[Railroad timetable omitted]

BROWN & DRIELL,

Steering and hair cutting parlor, in connection with the Plainfield Steam Laundry, 5 POND AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. Clothes fully washed, ironed and returned in one week. Hand laundry done at short notice.

PURE MILK.

Delivered to any part of the city by

D. D. SORENSON.

A postal card to him, 20 Bond Street, answers will receive prompt attention. 1217

Educational.

ELOCUTION.

For instruction in Elocution, class or private lessons, address Miss. Alberd, P. O. Box 1009.

FRENCH LESSONS.

Instruction and private lessons in French literature. Class or private lessons at reasonable rates. Miss Fannie Bonnet, graduate of Normal Conservatoire (class Professor Fleischhauer) Berlin, Germany, and Professor Dr. Hudson, New York. Apply or address, 1 Grove street, or write to Prof. L. Vivien, care of Messrs. Brentano and Bowman, 17 La Grande Rue.

HARNED ACADEMY.

The Harned Academy will be opened for the reception of pupils on the 4th day of September. EDWARD B. HARNED, Prin. 1287 127 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISS FAWCETT'S

Home and Day School, Re-opens Monday, Sept. 26th, 1892.

Pupils prepared for the Junior and Senior Classes in Vassar, Wellesley and Smith Colleges. Thorough preparatory and intermediate courses. Instruction in English and French. 23 Dover Street, Orange, from 9 to 4 p. m. 19 Netherwood street, North Plainfield.

MISS FRANCESITE MATTHEWS,

Teacher of Piano, Organ and Harmony, offers her services to the public. Lessons given at her own or at pupil's residence. Address 1287 Box 1287 Plainfield, N. J. Best of references.

Miscellaneous Cards.

MRS. LINDSAY,

Public Stenographer and Notary Public, 34 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Will also keep a list of other female typewriters, proofreaders and clerks. 1287

H. S. BROWNELL,

Dealer in Coal, 10 Somerset street, grocery and market, Plainfield and proprietor of Coal and Lumber Yard, Grant street, Asbury Park. W. C. Brownell, Agent, Asbury Park. Telephone No. 7. Orders left at Plainfield store will receive prompt attention. Coal delivered in Plainfield, North Plainfield, Asbury Park, Ocean Grove, Long Branch and vicinity. Lowest prices. Best coal mined. Orders solicited.

Machine Works.

FREDERICK P. CHASE,

Manufacturer of

Electrical Machinery,

Models, Machine Tool Supplies, Special Machinery for Inventors, Brass and Iron castings made to order. Machine Shop—Stock building and polishing.

201 North Avenue,

Corner Berkeley street, Plainfield, N. J.

New York Office, 220 Fourth avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,

Manufacturers of Hardwood, Sash, Blinds, Doors, etc.

Corner Madison avenue and Third street.

SCROLL SAWING, TURNING.

Also plain and ornamental glass furnished to order. 1287

The Curiosity Shop

EPITAPHS IN ENGLISH LITERATURE

Perpetuating the Memory of Some Great Men.

An epitaph is of all things the most difficult to write, the difficulty lying not so much in the form as in the matter. Nothing save that which is praiseworthy can be carved upon the marble which commemorates the blessed dead. Is it not Thackeray who in one of his stories asks where all the bad husbands and fathers are buried? Those whose names appear on the memorial marble are uniformly "tender," "affectionate" and "devoted." The writer of epitaphs, therefore, has not seldom to write against his convictions—a subject is set him and he has to make the best of it. Hence his style often lacks spontaneity, and in the absence of true feeling he resorts to extravagant adulation. Take for example the epitaph by Pope, who prided himself upon the skill with which he wrote these things. The following couplet appears upon the monument to Newton:

Nature and Nature's laws lay hid in night;
God said "Let Newton be!" and there was Light.

Great and unparalleled as were Newton's contributions to the sum of human knowledge, they scarcely deserved such extravagant praise as this. Nevertheless Pope's epitaphs are on the whole excellent specimens of this class of literature. They do not come up to Ben Jonson's famous three-lined epitaph, "Underneath this sable hearse Lies the subject of all verse;" nor are they equal to some modern productions. Landor's "autoepitaph" would be among the finest ever written were it not for the first line.

Strove with none, for none was worthy strife.

It too arrogant a saying for any man be numb a Milton or a Shakspeare. In the Rose written by Lord Tennyson for Sir John Franklin's cenotaph in Westminster abbey we have perhaps the finest epitaph ever written during the last hundred years:

Not here! the white North has thy bones and thou,
Heroic sailor soul,
Art passing on thy happier voyage now
Toward no earthly pole.

Of "autoepitaphs" there would appear to be but few. We recall those written by Prior and by Gay, and the latter appeared above the ashes of the departed:

Life is a jest and all things show it;
I thought so once, but now I know it.

Thus the couplet runs in one of Gay's letters to Pope; thus it may still be read in Poet's Corner today. Prior's autoepitaph is in a different vein:

Nobles and heralds, by your leave,
Here lie the bones of Matthew Prior,
The son of Adam and of Eve.
Can Bourbon or Nassau go higher?

But this quatrain does not appear upon the monument in Poet's Corner, for the erection of which Prior left £500.

Forms of Salutation.

Numbered with antiquated forms of salutation are the following: The Genoese, in their time of prosperity, used the form "Health and gain!" According to Hum boldt, the morning salute on the Orinoco is, "How have the mosquitoes used you?" The old religious views of the Persians are found in their wishes, "Live forever!" and still retained in Spain) "May you live a thousand years!" They believed only in this life, and that through divine favor it might be unlimited.

The terms of affection in greeting are numerous. The following are unbackneyed and of interest. Some Orientals say, "Thou hast made me desirous by thine absence from me," and the ordinary form of greeting among the Zulus is simply, "I see you and I am glad."

The variant phrases of respect are also multitudinous. Perhaps the most distinct form in which the common and ancient expression of the east, "I am your slave," survives in western Europe is in the Piedmontese dialect of Italy. The word, through the influence of Moors and Jews, have many relics of orientalism. It becomes colloquial in the form Usted corrected from "Vuestra merced," "your mercy," "your grace" often appearing in the phrase, "I kiss my hands to your grace."

Graves of Jefferson, Madison and Monroe.

Thomas Jefferson rests at his beloved Monticello, a rural cemetery in Albemarle county, Va. A plain granite shaft, nine feet high marks the spot. James Madison's grave is within a small lot, inclosed by a brick wall, in the center of a large field on his estate at Montpelier. He had an interior monument. Of the signers of the United States constitution he was the last survivor. James Monroe, borne to Marble cemetery, New York, after having seven years was removed to Virginia's lovely Hollywood, where a Gothic temple of beautiful design commemorates his distinguished dust. He was the third president to die on Independence day, the others being Adams and Jefferson.

The Finger Ring.

In striking contrast with decorations worn on the clothing, in the hair, around the neck and arms or pendant from the ears, lips and nose, is the finger ring, the model of convenience. It is seldom lost for it need not be taken off; requires no preparatory mutilation of the body, is not painful, is always in view, a perpetual reminder, either of the giver or of the purpose for which it is worn. The popularity of the ring must therefore be in large measure due to its convenience, and that this good quality was early learned may be inferred from the Hebrew tradition which attributes the invention of shipment to Tubal-Cain, "instructor of every artificer in brass and iron."

That Monstrosity, the Hoop.

The magnitude of the hoop which flourished as the "Farthingale" under Queen Elizabeth, returned early in the Eighteenth century. The hoop is said to have made its first appearance on the French stage toward the end of Louis XIV. Actresses who personated the heroines of tragedy had, from the time of Corneille, been greatly given to increase the amplitude of their skirts by artificial help. They eagerly adopted the fashion of the hoop from some English ladies who visited Paris after the peace of Utrecht. The well abused monstrosity reached its greatest extravagance on the stage in both France and England.

June.

"Give me a month," said the Summer,
Demanding of Nature a boon,
"And shall make early Winter forgotten,
And be with all sweet things in tune.

"The skies must be blue, the Sun golden,
Love must light the white lamp of the Moon."
The great Mother smiled, and it was June!
And the smile and the kiss were—June!
—R. H. Stoddard.

AROUND ABOUT THE HOUSE.

INFORMATION THAT WILL ASSIST THE BUSY WIFE.

What Other Women are Doing is Briefly Told Here—Also What Not to Do—Valuable Recipes—Hard Learned Experiences.

For hoarseness beat up the white of an egg, flavor with lemon and sugar, and take some occasionally.

Original Fancy Work.

To produce an attractive piece of needlework, it is by no means imperative to expend much money, and those who have leisure at command, and are gifted with taste and ingenuity, may, if they so will, become by the aid of the most inexpensive materials, owners of unique and really decorative textiles. As an instance of cheap but effective needlework, it may be remembered that linen garments should not be put into the wash in that condition as the spots can never be taken out after they are laundried. If a little moisture is rubbed on each stain they will entirely disappear.

Another equally simple remedy and very easy to be had is starch paste; that is, the raw starch powdered and mixed with water. This spread on any discolored places on mattresses or furniture, covered with brown paper and left to dry will generally leave the place quite clean when brushed off. If one application is not sufficient it may be repeated several times.

Every one knows or ought to know that ink yields to milk, whereas water has no effect upon it, and soap is fatal to it. Soap sods, as they call it, is nearly all stains. And children's clothes should always, therefore, be carefully examined by an experienced person before they go to the wash.

The chemical action of certain substances upon others is very curious, what it is quite often difficult to say when one effect is another. Fruit stains will nearly always disappear if the material is spread over the top of a cup and boiling water is poured through the stain.

If these simple and "get-at-able" antidotes to the many disfiguring stains that children's clothes especially are liable to, were always understood by a nurse, and if she examined the little garments as they are discarded, treating each piece with its own remedy—it would be gratifying to the advocates of the juvenile wardrobe.—N. Y. Tribune.

THINGS USEFUL TO KNOW.

It is claimed that a preparation made of two-thirds lemon juice to one-third Jamaica rum will remove freckles.

Clean hairbrushes with warm water and a little ammonia. It best to clean two brushes at a time, as they can be rubbed together. Let them dry in the hot sun.

It is frequently stated that granite ironware cannot be mended after it leaks, and so must be thrown away. But in fact it is quite possible to mend it in the same way as tin, by soldering.—Good Housekeeping.

Corn Gems.

One pint of cornmeal, one pint of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, a little over half a pint of milk. Sift the cornmeal, flour and baking powder together; add the milk and mix into a firm batter; fill well-greased tin gem pans and bake fifteen minutes in a hot oven.

Destroy that Smell of Cabbage.

A bit of charcoal put in the saucepan with cabbage destroys much of the disagreeable odor usually pervading the atmosphere at such times.

TO REMOVE STAINS.

Information That will Save Much Annoyance and Should be Kept.

It is now the time when children begin to come in from their play with their pretty gingham and cambric frocks apparently ruined with ugly green grass stains, and they ought to be kept so to remember that these garments should not be put into the wash in that condition as the spots can never be taken out after they are laundried. If a little moisture is rubbed on each stain they will entirely disappear.

Another equally simple remedy and very easy to be had is starch paste; that is, the raw starch powdered and mixed with water. This spread on any discolored places on mattresses or furniture, covered with brown paper and left to dry will generally leave the place quite clean when brushed off. If one application is not sufficient it may be repeated several times.

Every one knows or ought to know that ink yields to milk, whereas water has no effect upon it, and soap is fatal to it. Soap sods, as they call it, is nearly all stains. And children's clothes should always, therefore, be carefully examined by an experienced person before they go to the wash.

The chemical action of certain substances upon others is very curious, what it is quite often difficult to say when one effect is another. Fruit stains will nearly always disappear if the material is spread over the top of a cup and boiling water is poured through the stain.

If these simple and "get-at-able" antidotes to the many disfiguring stains that children's clothes especially are liable to, were always understood by a nurse, and if she examined the little garments as they are discarded, treating each piece with its own remedy—it would be gratifying to the advocates of the juvenile wardrobe.—N. Y. Tribune.

THINGS USEFUL TO KNOW.

It is claimed that a preparation made of two-thirds lemon juice to one-third Jamaica rum will remove freckles.

Clean hairbrushes with warm water and a little ammonia. It best to clean two brushes at a time, as they can be rubbed together. Let them dry in the hot sun.

It is frequently stated that granite ironware cannot be mended after it leaks, and so must be thrown away. But in fact it is quite possible to mend it in the same way as tin, by soldering.—Good Housekeeping.

Corn Gems.

One pint of cornmeal, one pint of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, a little over half a pint of milk. Sift the cornmeal, flour and baking powder together; add the milk and mix into a firm batter; fill well-greased tin gem pans and bake fifteen minutes in a hot oven.

Destroy that Smell of Cabbage.

A bit of charcoal put in the saucepan with cabbage destroys much of the disagreeable odor usually pervading the atmosphere at such times.

A LITTLE LIGHT READING

WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH THE YOUNG FOLKS' STUDIES.

Where Home are Judiciously Selected—They Contain Much Information, Spiced With Short Paragraphs of Humor.

What purports to be an authentic record of the youth of George Washington is given by Dr. J. M. Toner in the Magazine of American History for May.

"As a pupil Washington was noted for his general obedience, orderly conduct, devotion to study, and his popularity with his school-fellows. He was the personal umpire in their disputes, the leader in their sports of shooting, leaping, wrestling, pitching the bar and other games. From early youth he had a mental method of his own for analyzing questions coming before him for consideration, examining them in their immediate and remote effects and generally reaching conclusions that were just. From boyhood he was noted for sound judgment and ability to concentrate the powers of his mind almost at will upon any given subject. He early evinced a mastery of method and in all the affairs of life it never deserted him. While not demonstrative in his temperament he was remarkable for social and strongly attached to his friends. His occupations from an early period led him into association with persons older than himself.

"He was neat and careful in his dress but not the least inclined to foppishness. Whatever he made use of or wore he wished to be in good taste and the best of its kind. He was fond of children, considerate of the feelings of others, kind and liberal to servants, punctual to engagements, circumspect in his intercourse with people in general, painstaking and explicit in his business transactions."

WISDOM AND FOLLY.

Three Resolutions.

Alan, Charlie and Maurice one morning made a promise to their mother. The promise was this: They all agreed that during the day they would try to do something to add to the comfort and happiness of other people.

When evening came mother asked her little boys how their resolution had succeeded. "What have you done for others to-day, Alan?" she asked.

"I couldn't find anything to do, mother," he said simply; "there's nobody I can do that's of any good to other people."

Maurice smiled. "And you, Charlie?" he asked next.

Charlie looked uncomfortable. "I quite forgot my promise till a few minutes ago, mother," he replied.

"Well, Maurice, what have you to say?" questioned his mother, drawing the little boy to her side.

"I remember, but my remember another," he answered, "and I kept all day to keep in a good temper, so as not to worry nurse."

"Well done, my boy!" said his mother. "You see, Alan and Charlie," she added, "we need never say there is nothing we can do for others; every little act of self-denial, every victory over temper, or even the most simple act, may greatly add to the comfort and happiness of those around us."

HOW SOME WORDS GOT MIXED.

Is all Game From Being Shaken up in the Dictionary.

Old Dictionary felt very queer, very,
Because all his words went wrong,
For doleful and drowsy got mixed up with merry,
And erying got mixed up with song.

And then polish and silks got doubled up so
That you couldn't tell this from that,
While cross became go and yes became no,
And looking for leave you found fat.

The big, fat old book grew so angry he shook,
And scattered his words all about
Into every quick nook, where they every one took
A vow that they'd never come out.

But to come they began, and got mixed as they ran,
So that some little children say still:
"I can't" for "I can"—you smile, little man?
And "I won't," when of course they mean "will."

The Pot and the Kettle.

"You are black," said the pot, "you are black as can be,
Such a very black kettle I never did see.
Then you've not the least polish, no manners at all,
So you're never brought forward when friends make a call.
Now, that bright copper kettle is often
And while people drink tea, on the stove it will sing."
"What you say," said the kettle, "no Still I think, Mr. Pot, I'm not blacker than you."

A Boy's Composition on His Kind.

"A boy is a singular feller. He hain't neither a monkey nor a mule. If he's strong up all night he'll come out lushy; if he hain't, he's bad as Sunday. It's better to study his nature than to lick him. Some fathers can git along with boys; others can't. No more at present. Good-by."—M. Quad.

Useless Knowledge.

The man, they never sting; but as long as he and I have our twins and dress alike this bit of knowledge availeth not.—Brandon Buckeye.

This Date in History—June 17.

1208—John outlawed. Polish here and king, died.
1706—John Wesley, founder of Methodism, born at Epworth rectory, Lincolnshire (O. S.).
1775—Battle of Bunker Hill; British force, 3,000; American, 1,500. British loss 1,054, including 92 officers killed and wounded. American loss, 449.
1846—Charles evacuated Philadelphia.
1863—Stonewall Jackson's corps passed from Southampton, arriving in New York on the 19th.
1865—Battle of Boonville, Mo.; greatly exaggerated at the time, but laughed at in the newspapers.
1865—Sheridan on Petersburg by the Second and Ninth corps of the Army of the Potomac (important movements gained in a succession), all assault ordered for the next day.
1871—Clement L. Vallandigham died at Lebanon, O.; he had a "constitutional" with the government during the war.

A Lesson—Perhaps.

Sharp Father—I believe that handsome stranger has fallen in love with you, my dear.

Extravagant Daughter—Do you? Why? Sharp Father—I saw him gazing sadly at the last expensive dress you have got.—New York Weekly.

A Ballade of Jests.

The merry wit of years gone by
Are dead and buried long ago.
In dust have turned the saucily eye
That twinkled with its witty glow.
Of quip and gibe on belle and beau;
For them there were no deathless bays,
Their fame is dead with them, we know
Where are the jests of other days?

Gone are the dames and cavaliers,
The kings who used to come and go,
When Shakespeare mocked them from their bier.
Or crowned beneath the early blows
For jesters then as now had woe,
And were not ever fed with praise.
All times their quips fell flat and low
Where are the jests of other days?

The snarling critic sadly sneers
At jokelets handled in the inn,
And every whippersnapper jeers
At fancy's oldest, brightest glow.
And relegates to realms below
Our quaint, allusive, merry lays,
And will not deign to say or show
Where are the jests of other days?

envoi.

Prince, to some old newsdanier go,
Of comic paper's banks a raise,
In them your answer line, for, lo!
There are the jests of other days.
—New York's

1892			JUNE.			1892
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fri.	Sat.
			1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2 4:51 p. m.	Third Quarter	17 4:01 p. m.
Full Moon	10 8:39 p. m.	New Moon	24 6:37 a. m.

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION. 1878. Membership 138,000. 1892.
Death benefits paid over $8,000,000 since organization.
Watchung Lodge, 5691, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Thursdays, at eight p. m., in Crescent Lodge rooms, Model Hall building.
Immediate relief, $100; sick benefits per week $5.
LOUIS I. VANALSTYNE, Dictator.
RALPH A. ——ST, Reporter.
Watchung Commandery, No. 34, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight p. m.

Hotels.

Caspar's Hotel,
24 & 26 E. Front St
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Transient and Family Boarders taken at
Reasonable † Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.
PLAINFIELD.
Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.
First-class bar attached.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE,
Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Kline's Extracts,
Pure Fruit Flavors.

LOOK at Werner's Show Windows
30 WEST FRONT STREET.
and see what you can do in $15 suits reduced to $10
Cut in Latest Styles.
FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS ONLY.
All Sizes and All Wool.
Outing Shirts and Straw Hats just receive. Clothing Made to Order. Other goods at proportionately Low Prices.

NEW ○○ STORE!
I beg to announce that I have opened a store pertaining to bedding at 26 West Front street. Below we quote some of our prices:

Mattress	$1.50 to $15
3 piece Four American Hair Mattress, 35 lbs.	$15
Goose Feather Pillows	$1.50, $2, $2.50
Hen Feather Pillows	75 cents
Elder Down Pillows	50 cents
Combination	$1, $1.25, $1.50

Sheets, 60c.; bolsters and pillow cases; Oil Cloth, 25 to 65c. per yard; Oriental and Turkish Rugs $1 to $4.50; portiere curtains, all silk, $5 per pair; Commodes, Bedsteads, Springs, Looking Glasses, Pictures, Cradles, Cribs, Bedroom Crockery, Couches, Rocking Chairs, Blankets, and a hundred and one other things cheaper than you can buy them at any other store.
T. J. CAREY, - Proprietor.
26 WEST FRONT STREET.
As the weather is so warm, there will be no auction sale at Carey's until September.

Big Bargains

Extra fine 36c. Dress Ginghams at 18c.	Excellent quality Cotton Flannel at 12c.
Plaid Dress Ginghams, 7c.	Lot Ladies' Shirt Waists at 47c.
Outing Flannel, 5c.	Men's Night Shirts, 39c.
New style in Irish Lawns, 12c.	Boys' Outing Shirts 25c.
New figured Organdie at 9c., very stylish and pretty.	Men's Outing Shirts, 39c.
Plaid Nainsooks, 8c.	The best 50c ventilated Corsets ever offered this city.
Fine Silk Satin, 19c.	Superior Silk Gloria Umbrellas, $1.39.
Black Silk Mitts, 25c.

Our assortment of new styles Mattings and Low Prices surpasses anything ever before offered in this city. Our assortment of Elegant Carpets, Art Squares, Rugs, etc., is complete and prices guaranteed the Lowest.
EDSALL'S!

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING
WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER
One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.
Whole Suits from $5 up.
Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.
C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.
70 WEST FRONT STREET.

OWING to Large stock and Lateness of the Season, we will sell for next 30 Days at A Sacrifice.
Fine all-wool pants to order $4; worth $6.
Fine all wool Suits to order $10; worth $22.
Call, examine and satisfy yourselves
Acme Tailoring Co.,
No 12 West Front Street.
John H French, Pres. and Treas.
Walter C. Limberger, Sec. 2 21 3m

USE THE BEST!
DOMESTIC
SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS
SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC
4 & 5 cents per Copy.
Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.
A. M. Vanderbeek's,
22 PARK AVENUE

C. DICKINSON,
PRACTICAL
OPTICIAN
and
JEWELER.
Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Agent for the American
Rambler Bicycles.
No. 13 Park avenue.

COAL and WOOD,
E. H. HOLMES,
YARD—24 Madison Avenue.
Office—27 North avenue, with Woodson & Buckle.

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with
LAMP AND BELL,
under penalty of $20 fine.
A large and complete assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the
Wheelmen's Headquarters,
Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.
FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

RANDOLPH'S
BEEF, IRON AND WINE,
THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!
PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
21 WEST FRONT STREET.

IF !
A poor article is dear at any price.
A good article is cheap at any price.
The Duluth Imperial Flour is the best in the world and the prices are right.
Insist on having it from your grocer, or apply to
FRENCH BROTHERS,
TELEPHONE 24.

6, 10 and 12 SOMERSET STREET.

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.

Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of G. R. MUSGRAVE, 37 Somerset street. Call early and secure the best bargains.

Summer Resorts.

Cliffton House,
BY THE SEA, PATCHOGUE, L. I.
Situated directly by that beautiful sheet of water, the GREAT SOUTH BAY, and only a few minutes sail from the OCEAN.
Boating, bathing, bowling, billiards, music and livery. Send for circular.
W. M. JENKINS, Prop.
Now opened for guests. Grand opening Hop July 2d. 6 15 3m

THE ALBION,
EIGHTH STREET AND PARK AVENUE
Select family hotel.
Newly furnished throughout.
Special rates to permanent guests.
FRANK E. MILLER.
12 25 6m

THE BEE HIVE!
Summer Underwear.
Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 12½, 15, 19 and 25c.
Ladies' ribbed vests, in high neck, short sleeves and long sleeves, 25c.
Ladies' gauze vests, in short and long sleeves, 25c.
Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed, gauze and medium weight.
Men's balbriggan shirts, in long and short sleeves, and drawers, 25, 39 and 50c.
Men's Summer Merino shirts and drawers, 25, 35 and 50c.
Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, 5c.
Children's Summer drawers and gauze vests, in short and long sleeves also pantalets, sizes, 16, 18c.; 18, 19c.; 20, 19c.; 24, 22c.; 26, 25c.; 28, 27c.; 30, 29c.
A full line of Parasols, Lace caps, white dresses, and infants' long and short cashmere coats.
Louis Callman,
40 West Front Street.

GET YOUR
Bicycle Repaired
at
NO. 5 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
by
Henry Goeller, Jr.

Miss Blanche Fellows
VOCALIST
and Teacher of Singing.
Rapid development and complete education of the voice.
Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formed tone and tone production.
Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.
Call or address
NO. 87 DUER STREET.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$6 per Year in Advance. — E. W. Harrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Look Box L. Telephone Call 48. Printing of All Kinds. — 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. — PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," SATURDAY, JUNE 18, 1892. — PRICE TWO CENTS

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR THEIR VACATION, SHOULD SEND THEIR ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

The Weather.

Generally fair and warmer.

BREVITIES

—The Somerville and Plainfield clubs are battling for championship honors in the base ball arena to-day, in this city.

—The Electric Cricket Club of Newark, and the St. George's Club of this city, are playing a cricket match game in this city to-day.

—The "Central's" excursion to Manch Chunk this morning, took only a small number from this city, because of the stormy weather.

—Hillside avenue people want their street macadamized. A petition was sent to the Common Council at their last meeting to that effect.

—Marshal Pangborn reports that thirteen North Plainfield dogs, caught running loose, have been killed within a week. Ten were redeemed and two are in the pound awaiting the sentence of death.

—Boynton Beach opens in its old time splendor to-day. The popular proprietor of that resort, Mr. Boynton, has added several new attractions, which will greatly aid picnic parties at the pleasure grounds.

—In the case of S. A. Cruikshank vs. Skinner, Backman, charged with using indecent language, the latter changed his plea from not guilty to non cul sondere. Judge Coddington fined him one dollar.

—Lightning played a curious freak yesterday at Rahway during a severe thunder storm. John Brown, a carpenter there, was walking home with a coil of copper wire slung across his shoulder when a terrific crash was heard. A telegraph pole, a few feet away from Brown, was shattered, the electric current jumping from the pole to the wire on Brown's shoulder, throwing him violently to the ground. The lighting played around every strand of the wire, besides melting it into fantastic shapes around the man's body, which was severely burned. His watch chain was melted. He was found lying unconscious in the road and taken to his home, where he revived sufficiently to relate what had happened. His condition, however, is critical, as he suffers greatly from shock.

A NEW CITY.

Large Manufactories to be Erected at Garwood.

A large tract of unimproved land, between Westfield and Cranford, through which the county road runs, has been purchased, and will be known as Garwood. Four manufactories, with stores and dwelling houses, for at least 10,000 operatives, are to be constructed. The industries to be operated are steel and iron carwheel works, signal appliances, and electrical railroad appliances. The erection of a station and shops, with side tracks, etc., have been begun.

Two of the industries will be the Boston Car Wheel Company, of which that popular citizen, Major J. C. Paul of East Fifth street, Plainfield, is president, and the Ball Block Signal Manufacturing Company.

The locating of this manufacturing town has made necessary the building of an electric railroad along the line of the improved road between these two places. The project has been extended, however, and now it is stated that an electric railway will be built between Plainfield, the extreme western, to Elizabeth, the extreme eastern boundary of Union county. This road will run through Cranford, Garwood and Westfield. The Central Railroad of New Jersey encourages its construction as it will facilitate traffic to and from the various stations on its line.

The influx of the new manufacturing population, most of which is said to be Catholic, will cause the building of a large Roman Catholic church at Westfield, the present one being now too small for its congregation.

Bishop Wigger will go to Westfield next week to look at sites for the new church.

Lands, especially building and farming sites, have advanced in price from 25 to 100 per cent. along the line of the improved roads. Farming lands for which $300 an acres was asked four years ago command $600, while choice residence sites are bringing high prices.

A Popular Resort.

Mr. Clifton of this city is one of the Board of Managers of The Clifton House at Patchogue, L. I., which is advertised elsewhere. Following is what the Brooklyn Citizen says of this well-known hotel:

The Clifton House is in many respects an exemplary illustration of the American hotel. It is conducted on first-class principles, and consequently patronized by first-class people. The best resources of its economy are evidently to be found in the fact of a recently erected extension, of tasteful architectural design.

Its hops are always sure to attract a large attendance. Professor Koerner, formerly of the West Point Military Academy Band, and his capable company of musicians render the music, which is an important feature of the assembles. These assemblies are celebrated on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, respectively, followed by a musicale and promenade concert. They have been appreciated in the past and the season will find many new members on the programme. There are other fascinating suitably bowling, croquet, boating, fishing, sailing, driving and bathing. It must be borne in mind that each feature is brought within reach of all twice a day through the medium of boat connection with the ocean.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Randolph Marsh of Plainfield avenue, left for Europe on Saturday. Just he and his wife are greatly distressed because only one is missing from the interesting family, and they have delightful gathering for him. That's human nature.

Mr. J. D. Mabie of Beaver Run, and formerly drug clerk for Clark & Duncanson of Jersey City, has taken a more lucrative position with Williams, druggist of Plainfield, N. J. "Excelsior" seems to be the motto that Somerville boys adopt after leaving the parental roof.—Somerset Independent.

As a NEWS reporter was homeward bound last evening, he met, passing to the leeward, the merry captain Geo. D. Morrison, who was cruising up the side walk. Big drops of rain were beginning to fall before the wind, and captain and reporter were making all sail to reach port before the storm. Thus into the reporter the merry captain spake—quoth he:

"Then the rain came down the rind
Hailstones, shoes and bruges mixed.
But when the sun shone out the rain
Soon you may taste all again.
When the sun rises in the morn
It's no use for you to run.
Storms on sea
And do not run when you don't know."

These were not the result of long experience of wisdom in the navy, for it says that young mariners are often puzzled to compute their whereabouts. Here is a saw to help them:

"Greenwich time least
Latitude by sun
Greenwich time best
Longitude West."

Still another relates to the duration of a storm, guided by changes of the barometer.

"Short noise soon past.
Long noise long last."

The Hon. Cyrus West of a few days ago, had the following to say regarding Mr. Charles H. Davis, of Ninth street, one of the most interesting exhibitions of pictures of any kind ever held in the Academy of Design will be found the last three days of this week. The pictures of Mr. Charles H. Davis and Mr. E. Starr Sanford, No. 346 Fifth avenue. Each picture is the property of the artists leaning it, and, while some are old favorites of the public, there are many that have never been seen. Among the latter, notably some pastels by J. Wells Champney. Other artists exhibiting are: Messrs. Louis C. Tiffany, C. Y. Turner, James D. Smillie, George H. Smillie, Edward Gay, Frederic Remington, Will Champney, F. D. Millet, Charles Carlyle Coleman, Will H. Low, George H. McCord, Rhoda Holmes Nicholls, Mary S. Nicholls, Agnes G. Northrup, E. W. Kemble, T. de Thurstrup, Frank B. Carpenter, Edward P. Bruce, Miss Carson Brevoort, Joseph Lauber, Frederick C. Sonell, Frank De Haven, Harry L. Mills, Edward Dowdall, Miss Ida Waugh, William M. Chase, Alden D. Turner, Bruce Crane, C. A. Platt, Irving R. Wiles, Miss Lucia Fairchild, F. S. Dellenbaugh and W. C. Fitler. Mr. Davis and Mr. Sanford intend to introduce pictures by photography, in contradistinction to the ordinary photograph, which is so often anything but desirable. Both have artists in charge of the photographic apparatus, lighting and other accessories. Mr. Davis is well fitted for this task, as he has been a prominent figure in local artistic circles, and has won medals and distinguished mention in his line. His photographs are artistic in conception, possess a fine finish, and are valuable and admirable as works of art, aside from their value as pictorial likenesses. Mr. Davis was long a prominent member of the Plainfield Camera Club, and took active part in their amateur photography.

A full-page half-tone portrait of Mayor William L. Saunders of North Plainfield appears in the Sunday issue of "Scott," the name of a high-class illustrated magazine, published at Indianapolis. On the first page is the following sketch of the portrait in our frontispiece is of once clerk, all readers of 260 is acquainted with through the fairy-tale ing these months to come. The who does not know, but tells what he knows in that simple way that sure pupils into friends; like two sponges exchanging moisture, and absorbing the other dry and absorbing the surplus that the other may need. A parting glance below Mr. Saunders, it is an excellent likeness of William L. Saunders. He was born in Dublin, Ireland, in 1828, the son of Rev. Dr. Saunders, of Virginia, who was near how of Robert Saunders, the celebrated professor of mathematics, and afterward president of William and Mary College, at Williamsburg, Va. The ancestry dates back in the Saxon to Edward the Confessor. He was one of the celebrated "Knights of the Horseshoe" of the Old Dominion. On the mother's side he was descendant of Walter Morton, of Ayrshire, Scotland, and was a cousin of Governor Burrus. Wm. L. Saunders was "brought up on the Gulf of Mexico, in Florida, and educated by his father, who was a graduate of Dublin in 1822, and entered the scientific department of the University of Pennsylvania, and was graduated as civil engineer in 1876, and while at college was first officer-in-chief of the University Rangers, and was captain of the crew. The effect of this training is still visible in his contributions to the literature of the press. He also studied law in the office of Hon

EDITORIAL NOTES

Liberty and Ozone.

Once in forecasting the future of music in America Emma Abbott declared her conviction that the great singers of the world were to come from this country. Everything pointed to that. The freedom from conventionality enjoyed by American girls and the consequent power to develop their faculties fully made one great point in favor of this. The second great point was our American climate. It is dry and exhilarating so that it tunes up the voice to the keenest, strongest timbre. Then, too, our air was full of glorious ozone, giving us the best breathing apparatus and vocal cords, and making us at once robust and of fine nervous organization. What was true of singers was also true of actors; the great ones of the future, Miss Abbott thought, would come from America. But we must cultivate our voices first, the common speaking tones of the people, making them clear and musical.

Miss Abbott was undoubtedly right. Whenever anybody predicts that the best of anything is going to be produced in America he is always right. If we do not in time become the happiest, most cultured, polite, good natured and beautiful race on earth, it will be simply because we have not taken advantage of our liberty and ozone. In thinking on our mercies we have not heretofore made enough account of ozone. In the mystic workshop of nature it is ozone that builds into the American character its invincible pluck, energy and quick wittedness. It enables us to do in a month often what older nations would require a year for. Where else can a civilized town be made in a wilderness in four days?

Liberty and ozone now and forever!

Joy on Legs.

That is what Mr. Charles F. Lummis calls his journey on foot from Ohio to California. He made the distance, 3,507 miles by the routes he took, in 143 days, and if we are to believe his account he never had so much fun in his life. Real tramps, those who make their living at it as a profession, in one or two instances tried to rob him, not recognizing him at all as a man and a brother. He sent his luggage by express and carried with him only matches, tobacco, fishing tackle and writing material. He wore knickerbockers because nobody except an experienced walker knows the nuisance of a couple of feet of flapping trousers. As to his feet he was shod in Apache moccasins, one pair of which Mr. Lummis would not give for a carload of civilized shoes. He says if one is unaccustomed to walking, broad soled, strong shoes are best, but if the experienced walker starts on a tramp he will find most comfort in being shod as lightly as possible. At first, with thin moccasins his feet became sore and inflamed, but a few days toughened them and he had no more trouble.

His money Mr. Lummis carried in $2.50 gold pieces strapped in a leather belt around his body. There were resting places in his journey where the display of a twenty dollar gold piece would have cost him his life. It may be mentioned that in addition to the other items he carried a revolver. Thus equipped and thus tramping he tasted for nearly half a year the delights of earthly paradise.

Sometimes there are facts that point either to the existence of a sixth sense or to a connection among the other five that resolves them all into one. One noted example of a blind man who is apparently not inconvenienced to any great degree thereby is Herreshoff, the boatbuilder, a man able to plan a yacht or steamboat with a symmetrical and beautiful model, and also about his shipyard and manage a large force of workmen better than most men with two good eyes could do. Another man, equally remarkable, is a Massachusetts farmer, stone blind, but who superintends successfully the details of 700 acres. He buys his own live stock, judging of age, flesh, breed and other qualities simply by passing his hands over the animal, and he is never deceived. The nerve power from the lost eyes seems somehow to have passed to the other senses and quickened them powerfully. All the senses are resolvable into the one of touch, and eyesight is often made up for by acuteness in the finger tips. But no acuteness of touch has as yet been able to make a deaf man's nerves detect the vibrations of sound against his finger tips. Perhaps a machine will one day be invented which will enable him to do this.

Is there any kind of reference or insinuation or anything in the following sentence from the British magazine, English Illustrated, occurring in an article on Prince George, the next heir to the throne: "The undoubted brain power that he possesses is inherited perhaps from the prince consort as well as from the queen of Denmark."

California has a new idea in fuel. It is peach stones. In places where the canning and drying industries are pursued peach stones lie about by the carload, and it has occurred to some genius to utilize them for burning. They make a fragrant, brightly burning fire, which gives out as much heat as the same amount of coal.

MILLIONAIRES AT WAR.

Line Fence Row Between Astors and Vanderbilts.

NEWPORT THE SCENE OF ACTION.

William K. Vanderbilt's Workmen Meddle With John Jacob Astor's Grounds and Astor, Who Is Conducting Hostilities by Telegraph, Retaliates.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 18.—Workmen employed by John Jacob Astor have forcibly moved a fence and changed walks which the employees of W. K. Vanderbilt put in position but a few days ago. This act is the culmination of a misunderstanding which has existed for some time between the millionaire cottage owners of Bellevue avenue. The trouble arose when Mr. Vanderbilt began building his white marble cottage between Bellevue avenue and the cliffs, his premises being bounded on the north and south by the estates of William and John Jacob Astor. It originated, it is charitable to suppose, from the attempts of officious employees to shroud the construction of the cottage in mystery.

As if to prevent spying from the windows of the neighboring cottagers, high and unsightly fences were built about the Vanderbilt structure, greatly marring the beauty of the wide and well kept lawns which had hitherto been merged into each other, small hedges alone marking the boundaries.

Then the Astors Got Mad.

These lofty barriers were continued a block across the front of the Vanderbilt lot in a tall wall of stone, flanked on either side by huge iron gates, backed by corrugated sheet iron. The thoughtlessness of these structures were annoying, but the Astor gorge did not rise till Mr. Vanderbilt's men attempted to change the aspect of the beautiful cliffs, and alter the neighborly without so much as saying "By your leave."

They built an artificial promontory from the cliffs out into the ocean, completely shutting off half of the ocean view from the estate on either side, this elevated plateau being connected with the Vanderbilt lawn by grading the latter up above those of the Astors. Not satisfied with this, and being determined to shut out a view of the grounds as well as of the marble house from the ocean walk, the Vanderbilt workmen curved the Astor walks seaward and down along a terrace dug in the face of the cliffs, carrying the pathway by a tunnel through the promontory.

When this came to the knowledge of John Jacob Astor, who owns the property at the south, he ordered his gardeners to change the path back to its old position, sodding over the new path on the verge of the precipice. To emphasize his disgust and determination he put up a rough fence of pine scantling and boards on the border line between the estates, from the old path to the cliffs, the distance being about twenty feet.

Vanderbilt's New Strike Back.

An opening was left between this and the barbed wire fences and hedges of the Vanderbilt property, so that pedestrians could drop down to the path on the lower level and plunge into the tunnel there.

Much to Mr. Astor's surprise, the other day the Vanderbilt men tore up the fence, moving it inland to permit the replacing of the path along the verge of the cliff, the turf being again shifted and bestowed over the face of the cliffs. Astor's employees were instructed by telegraph to change the path back to the old line, move the fence out to the cliff as before and to see that it stayed there. This was done at once, the turf being moved out to the cliffs and stamped down hard so that the Astor path now ends abruptly against the Vanderbilt boundary and wire fence, the bank between the upper and lower paths being sodded, while watchful gardeners prowl about in the vicinity on either side of the boundary.

Almost the whole side of the promontory—rocks, earth, shrubs and all—has apparently given away and fallen, for the path is below in the ocean. Moreover, the walls of the tunnel have been so damaged that it has been necessary to shore them up with heavy timbers.

Usurped by Vanderbilt.

All this is particularly unpleasant to the public. The state law declares that land within 100 feet of high water mark is free to every one. The cliff dwellers purchased their estates under this limitation, knowing that a few years ago estate-holders had the right of the public to free and unobstructed passage along the cliffs. W. K. Vanderbilt has, however, usurped this public domain with his artificial walks and placed placards in every direction threatening the direst punishment of the law for trespassers on his territory.

He has also forced the danger of the path by carrying it out of the straight line desired by the Astors and composed of slabs, the face of the cliff. Much this way about in contrast with that of his brothers and other cliff cottagers, who keep the graveled path and lawns in the best condition and place no obstructions in the path or view of pedestrians.

The walk is a favorite promenade for summer residents, some of whom give free expression to their disgust. They applaud the Astors in their fight to keep the path at its former level.

Mr. Vanderbilt is said to be planning a counter attack which will probably develop during the next few days. Meanwhile the gardeners rest on their arms on either side of the fence and an amused and disgusted public looks on.

No Suits Against the Ulster Bank.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 18.—The court of appeals has sustained Judge Furman's order restraining all persons from bringing suits against the Ulster County Savings bank to recover deposits made prior to its resumption of business.

The Minor Law Sustained.

LANSING, Mich., June 18.—The state supreme court has filed an opinion sustaining the Miner criminal law. The opinion was written by Judge Montgomery and concurred in by all the other justices.

Prince Michael Convicted.

ANN ARBOR, June 18.—Prince Michael was convicted here of criminally wronging Bernice Bechtel, through the exercise of his so called religion. The judge sentenced him to five years' imprisonment.

Pinkham's Counsel Appeal.

BUFFALO, June 18.—Counsel for John Pinkham, under sentence of death to hang, entered a motion for a new trial. This will serve as a stay for the execution which was set down for June 27.

Big Grocery Firm Disagreed.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The great grocery firm of Acker, Merrall & Condit has disagreed and Willis H. Marshall has purchased the interests of John W. Condit and the Acker heirs.

THE MINNESOTA CYCLONE.

The Loss of Life Exaggerated, but Many People were Killed.

WELLS, Minn., June 18.—The following is a partial list of the killed in the vicinity of Wells: Alfred Frederick, John Brown, Mrs. John Brown, Annie Brown, Andrew Petersen, Mrs. John Lalasek, Herman Brewer, Alice and Mary Meichert, John Iverson and three children, a child in the family of Andrew Lindenberg, near Easton; child of John Dell, child of Mayland Gusin.

The exaggerations of Thursday were quite natural, owing to the millions of telegraph chess occasioned by the storm. For twenty-four hours trains were unable to move, and for a longer period telegraph service was in a state of paralysis. The losses to property, buildings, telegraph, railway and mail property in half a dozen counties is, however, not exaggerated. It will reach $200,000.

All Monday's deaths are estimated at not less than thirty, and probably fifty. As Albert Lea special gives the following list of the dead in Freeborn county: Andrew Hansen, near Hartland; Mrs. Michael Iverson and three small children, Freeborn township; M. Shequin and family, E. McCarthy and family, Andrew Paulsen, Mr. Christopher and child; unknown man, drowned between Hartland and Bickland. Two people were killed north of New Richland. An eighteen-months old baby was found alive there in a swamp. It is not known who its parents are.

Horace Smith's Generosity.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 18.—Horace Smith, president of the Chicopee National bank, of this city, has given seventy-five shares of Boston and Albany railroad stock to the endowment fund of the Mount Vernon school for boys at Northfield, conducted by Evangelist Moody. The gift is considered good as $15,000 cash. A similar amount in stock is given by Mr. Smith to the endowment fund of the Northfield seminary for girls, also conducted by Mr. Moody.

FASHIONS

An Outing Costume.

LIGHT, AIRY AND GRACEFUL.

We show here the very newest design in the way of a charming boating or tennis costume in striped flannel, combining elegance with comfort; the bodice being quite loose has all the advantages of a blouse, adapting itself to any figure, without the inconvenience of a boned bodice. It can be made up in any other light material, though there is nothing so satisfactory as striped flannel.

Car Builders Chose Officers.

SARATOGA, June 18.—The Master Car Builders' convention elected E. W. Grieves, Baltimore, president; F. D. Casanave, Fort Wayne, Ind., John S. Lentz, Pittsburgh, Pa., and T. A. Blesell, Buffalo, vice presidents; John W. Cloud, Chicago, secretary; G. W. Demarest, Baltimore, treasurer.

To Protect the Red Cross.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Representative Cogswell, of Massachusetts, has introduced a bill to protect the insignia and name of the Red Cross as prescribed by the treaty of Geneva of August, 1864, and to incorporate the American National Association of the Red Cross.

To Notify Whitelaw Reid.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 18.—The Hon. W. J. Durbin, chairman of the committee for the official notification of the Minneapolis platform and the vice presidency, gives notice that the members of the committee will notify Hon. Whitelaw Reid on Tuesday, June 21.

Minister Lincoln's Warning.

LONDON, June 18.—United States Minister Lincoln warns Americans that the notorious William Lord Moore is again sending numerous letters to Americans for the purpose of getting their money as retainers for his services in pressing their claims to enormous estates in England.

Father Quick Deposed.

DUBUQUE, M. J., June 18.—The Polish church case, which has caused great bitterness among the parishioners of St. Hyacinthe's church, has finally been settled by the removal of the priest, Father Quick. Charges of drunkenness were preferred against him.

Catholicism Is Democratic.

BERLIN, June 18.—The Tageblatt, with the pope's approval, denies the Archbishop Ireland's report that Catholicism is imperial, says that the Roman Catholic religion should be tied to a corpse like the French monarchy. The instincts of Catholicism are democratic.

Emperor William to Visit the Fair.

MUNICH, June 18.—The Munich Allgemeine Zeitung, Bismarck's organ, announces that Emperor William will visit Chicago during the World's fair. He will be accompanied by a squadron and will make the trip in great pomp, the Allgemeine says.

Three Boys Drowned.

MOORESTOWN, N. J., June 18.—Three boys, while bathing in the lake at New Lisbon, were drowned. One of them was a son of Superintendent Joseph Chitts, of the County Almshouse farm. The other boys were both inmates of the almshouse.

IS IT SECRETARY DEPEW

The Great Orator Will Probably Succeed Blaine.

HE IS NOW AT THE CAPITAL CITY.

The Belief Is General at Washington That President Harrison Has Already Offered Mr. Depew the Portfolio of the State Department.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Chauncey M. Depew arrived here on the 11 o'clock train from New York. He exposed himself from talking on the subject of his selection for secretary of state, and merely referred to his trip as a "lark and dandy" one. He also said that he would remain in Washington until Saturday evening or Sunday. His presence here strengthens the general belief that the president has chosen him as Mr. Blaine's successor.

Mr. Wanamaker Accused.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The Democratic minority of the house committee on reform in the civil service will report upon a long report written by Mr. Boatner, of Louisiana, on the alleged violations of the civil service law at Baltimore, which have been so lively a subject of controversy between Postmaster General Wanamaker and Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt.

The report labors to make out a case against Mr. Wanamaker. It finds that the action of the civil service commission in recommending the removal of certain employees in the Baltimore postoffice was well founded. The report says: "The replies of the postmaster general to many of the questions propounded by your committee were evasive and utterly inconsistent with the evidence on which he claims to have acted.

Chicago to Get Its $5,000,000.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The house committee on the World's fair completed its bill making an appropriation to aid the World's Columbian exposition, and authorized Mr. Durborrow to report it favorably to the house.

The bill provides that, for the purpose of aiding in defraying the cost of completing in a suitable manner the work of preparation for inaugurating the World's Fair, there shall be coined at the mints of the United States silver half dollars, of the legal weight and fineness, not exceeding 10,000,000 pieces, to be known as the Columbian half dollar, the devices and designs for which shall be prescribed by the director of the mint, the coins to be manufactured from uncurrent subsidiary silver coins now in the treasury.

The President's Thanks.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The president has received hundreds of congratulatory messages from all parts of the country, and they still continue to pour into the White House by every mail. It is utterly impossible for him to acknowledge any considerable number of them, and he hopes the writers will not think he fails to appreciate their kindness because he does not receive the answers he would be glad to send, were it within his power to do so.

Brand New Lawyers.

ALBANY, June 18.—The Albany Law school, a part of the Union university, held its graduating exercises in this city. The following graduated: Charles Appleby, David H. Agnew, James A. Barnes, Willis Bennett, George H. Brigham, Franklin W. Cristman, Edward Dennin, Thomas de K. Dedrick, John K. Garnsey, George William Gedney, Thomas Guy, Edgar M. Haines, George B. Harrison, Arthur Hale, Clayton Haff, Herbert H. Hand, Bernard H. Lord, Warren McConihe, Edward Murphy, Rufus Maltby, Charles L. Nellany, Edward D. O'Brien, Charles H. Page, jr., Leslie A. Pease, Rufus W. Peckham, jr., Robert M. S. Putnam, Nash Rockwell, Walter S. Schuyler, James E. Ryan, Ralph Thompson, James E. Towner, jr., Albert V. Van Vorst, Clarence B. Ward, Walter H. Wertine.

Five Children Drowned.

PITTSBURG, June 18.—Five children were drowned at Neville island, on the Ohio river, eight miles from this city, at 2:30 p. m. Their names are: Paul Pitcock, three years old; Zufo Pitcock, nine years old; Maggie Pitcock, twelve years old; Ada Pitcock, fourteen years old, and Rina Richardson, thirteen years old. The Pitcock children visited father's president of the Bellaire National Glass company, in a pleasure buggy when it toppled over the bank into the deep water, pulling the five children with it.

A Cut in Wages Advised.

PITTSBURG, June 18.—One of the first time since the Amalgamated association was organized manufacturers addressed its delegates in their convention hall, advising a reduction of 10 per cent in wages. They deplored the fact that a reduction was necessary.

Princeton's Campus Deserted.

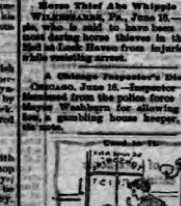
PRINCETON, N. J., June 18.—Princeton college has graduated her one hundred and forty-fifth year, and the campus is deserted. The class of '92, numbering over 150 members, have received their diplomas.

Horse Thief Abe Whipple Killed.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 18.—Abe Whipple, who, it is said, to have been one of the most daring horse thieves in this country, died at Lock Haven from injuries received while resisting arrest.

A Chicago Inspector's Disgrace.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Inspector Marsh was dismissed from the police force by order of Mayor Washburne, on the charge of being a partner in the Columbian club, Cottage Grove avenue, a gambling house keeper, to indorse the same.



Visitor (reprovingly)—Look out; you have your finger in my mouth.

Professor Scratchit—Ah, I don't mind that. I have main finger in more as a bulwark months to-day, alretty.—Puck.

The 1892 Model of the Remington is now on the market.

CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT has characterized the history of the REMINGTON STANDARD TYPEWRITER. The changes introduced into the 1892 model represent the carefully tested results of expert study of various points deemed capable of improvement. They present advantages in the quality of the work, and ease as well as convenience of operation which will readily commend themselves to all users.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

Wyckoff, Seamans & Benedict, 327 Broadway, New York

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

Having Disposed of the Produce Business

to Mr. L. A. Hummer, all persons owing the Plainfield Produce Co. are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.

GASOLINE STOVES.

THE NEATEST, CLEANEST, and EARIEST stove for housekeepers in the world. For sale at the Plainfield Hardware Store, Zimmerman & Rumpf,

42 West Front Street.

ANOTHER ELECTION COMING.

But this is a Selection for the public. $2 WORTH OF GOODS FOR $1.

1 lb new crop Tea (any kind).
1 lb fresh roasted Coffee (bean or ground).
1 lb Pride of Plainfield Baking Powder, (has no equal.)
1 lb best Corn Starch.
1 lb best Rice.
¼ lb best Pepper.
1 lb best Tobacco.
1 cake Sweet Chocolate.
1 2oz. bottle extract, Vanilla or Lemon.
1 bottle Pickles.

What we feel we cannot afford to offer, you cannot afford to miss. The last time we offered similar goods at this fabulously low price, some went away disappointed. Come early.

Choice table Butter, 19c per lb. Sole agents for J. D. Mason & Co. crackers and cakes, Baltimore, Md. See our variety. Sweet in the State.

In Middlesex, Somerset, Sussex and Hunterdon we haven't got a competitor in the city. Selling more in a day than most stores in two weeks.

Don't forget to ask for a card that entitles you to a $5 book and $4 picture free.

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,

Distributors of Pure Goods Wholesale and Retail. 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

We are getting away with lots of Ernest Shoes this month—now is the time to buy them.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S,
22 West Front street.

P. S.—Our $3 shoe never takes a back seat.

George - Bremmer,
No. 28 SOMERSET STREET,
READY MADE CLOTHING,
or made to order—at prices
To Suit Your Purse.
Call and see Samples.

Joseph T. Sullivan,
No. 90 West Third Street,
Dealer in Choice
Wines, Liquors, etc.
BEER ON DRAUGHT.

A Ticket to Europe

May be bought on any steamer any time CHEAPER THAN IN NEW YORK.

SINGLE TRIP:
First-class—$30 and upwards.
Second class—$20 and upwards.
Steerage—$12 and upwards.

ROUND TRIP:
First-class—$60 and upwards.
Second class—$40 and upwards.
Steerage—$25 and upwards.

Cabins, both first and second class, should be engaged as far ahead as possible.

Further information given upon application to agent, Henry D. Mortimer, 9 Somerset street.

A. M. SEGUINE,
PROPRIETOR OF
Laing's Hotel Stables,
on Front Street, Opp. Madison Avenue.
TELEPHONE CALL NO. 26.
Carriages for weddings, funerals and private calls.
Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.
Fleet, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.
BOARDED HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!
ALL SIZES,
Of Same
Light Blue Color.
References:—
F. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.
ROBT. A. MEEKER, Street Com.
Smalley Bros.,
29 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!
L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,
30 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,
Invites the public to inspect the screening of his newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for coal and coal, which is confidently believed to be the best and most perfect screen that is possible to any other method of screening.
OFFERS LEHIGH AND WYOMING COAL, in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.
HOUSE AND BARN MOVING LIVERIES.
He would also announce recently increased facilities for Teaming and Excavating, and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,
Dealer in BEST
QUALITY COAL
YARD AND OFFICE
SOUTH AVENUE.
P. O. BOX 1407.
Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Counsellors at Law, Commissioners, Real Estate Masters in Chancery. Rooms 1 and 2 Pol lock Building, Plainfield, N. J.

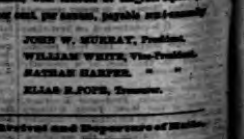
F. A. DUNHAM, C. E. & S., Engineer of the Plainfield Union Country Road Board, and City Surveyor. Special notice given to street paving and sewerage. Office, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Counsellor-at-Law, Master in Chancery, Solicitor in Chancery, Master of Deeds and Notary Public. Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 20 West Front street.

CLARK & REED, Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners of Deeds, Solicitors in Chancery, Masters in Chancery, Notary Public. Office corner Front and Somerset streets.

OSCAR B. TRALLE, Counsellor at Law, 115 Broadway, New York city, rooms 32 and 33, Importers and Traders' Bank Building, Residence, Plainfield 72.

PLAINFIELD
ODORLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY



JONES & CO.

Public satisfaction and Municipality Must Have been the object of the Plainfield Odorless Excavating Company. Our existence is the result of the Public Demand. Our success is due to the fact that we have given satisfaction. Orders for cesspools, sinks, cellars, etc., promptly attended to. Office, Garden and Park Place.

THE DIME
SAVINGS INSTITUTION
OF
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of FOUR PER CENT. PER ANNUM, payable semi-annually
JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Brokers and Bloomingdale Mail Routes.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Close at 7:30, 8:45, 10:30 a. m., 12:30, 2:30, 4:30, 6:30 p. m.
Arrive at 7:30, 8:45, 10:30 a. m., 12:30, 2:30, 4:30, 6:30 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Close at 8:30 a. m., 1:15, 5:30 p. m.
Arrive at 10:30 a. m., 1:15, 5:30 p. m.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 5:30 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 5:30 p. m.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

THE BALANCE OF POWER

Hill Men Said to Hold It at Chicago.

GORMAN WILL SUPPORT CLEVELAND

The Maryland Dark Horse Announces His Preference—Iowa Roosmen Flirting with Hill's Followers — Ex-Secretary Whitney's Answer to Edward Murphy, Jr.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Ex-Secretary of the Navy William C. Whitney, leader of the Cleveland forces here, has made the following reply to the strictures of Hon. Edward Murphy, Jr., chairman of the New York state Democratic committee:

In his interview Mr. Murphy seems desirous of giving the impression that the leaders in the Hill conversion movement have been in the habit of opposing Democratic state tickets in New York, and particularly that of 1891. The facts are to the contrary and he knows it very well.

Mr. Murphy Forgets, He Says.

Does Mr. Murphy forget that last fall both himself and the state committee were very anxious to make Mr. Cleveland believe and say to the Democratic committees that Mr. Fairchild and his friends were merely supporting Governor Flower as well as the Democratic state and legislative tickets?

Does he forget that the state committee requested me to prepare an address to the Democratic and independent voters of the state for publication? Does he forget that I prepared that paper, and that it was finally given out by that committee with the statement that it was one of the most important events of the campaign? Among the signers to the document were seven gentlemen who are now delegates from the Syracuse convention to Chicago. According to Mr. Murphy, the rank and file of the Democratic party are prepared to vote against the most popular Democrat in the country for the presidency because they fear his election would please the Syracuse delegation. To this we say that if Mr. Murphy believes what he says, he is unfit to lead his followers as Mugwumps rather than Democrats.

"His Interview an Insult."

His interview is an insult to the regular Democracy of the state. There are two men prominent in the Hill organization who are regarded with suspicion by the Democrats in general. These men are Murphy himself and Lieutenant Governor Sheehan. There is a general impression in the state of New York that they were treacherous to the national ticket in 1888, and I think it not unlikely that they will be so again this year if they do not happen to be pleased with the nomination made. But they will not be able to carry with them as many Democrats as there were before, and I have yet to find any evidence that they will be supported in any county by Tammany Hall or the Kings county organizations. The man who, pretending to be a friend, sticks a stiletto into your back is a man who is known only among Murphy's own followers. But his power for evil is minimized this year by the new ballot reform act. He is a man who will be less feared than ever by anybody.

Every other Democrat in the state of New York will vote for Mr. Cleveland if he is nominated, and he can hold an independent and Republican vote of the state before March 4, in a national campaign. Nobody else can do this nor come anywhere near it. For that reason, although there were made in the state when I would have personally preferred to Cleveland for the presidential nomination, I have no doubt he is the strongest available candidate for the state of New York.

Fairchild Denies a Story.

Charles S. Fairchild said to a representative of the United Press: "The story published that the Hill people are making inroads in our solid state delegations is the purest bosh. The rotten old trick, in many from states where Hill has been given votes by us in our schedule, we are receiving assurance that the delegates will not vote for him at all. By this time he will be able to give assurance to Mr. Cleveland's adherents that he will have sufficient votes to nominate him on the first ballot."

Thomas J. Ring, president of the New York State Trades assembly, and representing 250,000 workingmen of that state, arrived here. When asked his position by a representative of the United Press, said: "As the president of the trades assembly I am here to favor the nomination of David B. Hill. Without any personal prejudice against Mr. Cleveland, I say unequivocally that he cannot get the workingmen's votes of New York state. My organization is sympathetic to the movement, and in fact is so, but the nomination of Mr. Reid on the Republican ticket forbids our supporting it. We therefore look forward to a ratification of the nominee that we can support, and we believe that Mr. Hill, having done so much for labor, is the man."

Senator McGarren, a Hill delegate from Brooklyn, says: "The delegates from Kings county are unalterably opposed to the nomination of ex-President Cleveland and unqualifiedly in favor of the nomination of Senator Hill."

The Hill men literally covered the interior of the Auditorium hotel with lithographs of their candidate. A Tammany literary bureau has also commenced active operations. Its ammunition includes a pamphlet entitled "Hill's extracts from newspapers favorable to Hill or antagonistic to Cleveland."

Chief Croker, of Tammany Hall, and Lieutenant Governor Sheehan are holding the fort pending the arrival of the rank and file of their braves, when they propose to make the fur fly. Croker is declared to be concerned at the appeal of the Cleveland leaders. He says that Fairchild is a mugwump, and altogether too much given to talking at random and that Tammany is for Hill to the end, and that the people who profess to know differently don't know what they are talking about.

Lieutenant Governor Sheehan is bitter in his denunciation of the opposition. He tells every visitor to the headquarters that while the people may consider a western man other than Hill, they will not under any circumstances indorse Cleveland.

Roscoe Friend Himself Talks.

William C. Bissell, of Buffalo, talked to Grover Cleveland's partisans before the ex-president went into politics, is quartered near the apartments which ex-Mayor Grace will occupy, and he will be taken into the counsel of the Hill forces.

"Mr. Cleveland will, I believe, be the nominee of the convention, but it is a mistake to think that the defeat of the Democratic party will have made the greatest mistake of its political existence," said Mr. Bissell.

"Certainly the conditions and situation in New York city call for the nomination of no other man. I have read the manifesto issued by Messrs. Murphy, Croker and Sheehan, in which they made an assault on the ex-president. Democrats of the independent voters they would as are by no means to be lightly alluded to. In Buffalo I have met hundreds of men who are independents in politics and they have told me that they will vote for Mr. Cleveland. Mr. Cleveland is much stronger today than in 1888. The reform idea has taken deep root since 1888."

Pennsylvania a Cleveland Unit.

Some talk is heard concerning Congressman W. D. Morrison as a dark horse. It is mainly promoted by Congressmen Forman and Fithian, who have established themselves at the Palmer House.

William F. Harrity, of Philadelphia, the avant courier of the Pennsylvania delegation, is at the Sherman House. The delegation, sixty-four in number, and a big contingent of enthusiastic lovers of the Keystone statesman, came in by special train over the Pennsylvania lines at 3 o'clock.

Other state sends sixty-four delegates to the convention and they are a task for Cleveland," said Mr. Harrity.

Gorman at the Scene.

Senator Arthur P. Gorman, of Maryland, arrived on the Baltimore and Ohio 1:55. Senator Gorman was accompanied by Governor Frank Brown, of Annapolis; Charles J. M. Gwyn, of Baltimore; Congressmen Barnes Compton, of Lapeel; I. Freeman Rosts, of Baltimore, and G. M. Upshur, of Snow Hill. All these gentlemen are delegates at large. The distinguished Marylanders had not been in the Palmer House long before it was known that they would vote solidly for Cleveland until it was shown he could not be elected, and then the delegates would drop into line for Gorman.

Hill Holds the Balance of Power.

Just about one-eighth of the 900 men who Chicago will make the Democratic nominee for the presidency next week and 2,000 interested outsiders are in Chicago. It is conceded by representatives of all the elements that the adherents of Senator Hill will hold the balance of power. Just what particular number of votes the supporters of Governor Cleveland will lack upon the first ballot is a debatable question. A table carefully prepared by one of the "unterrified" and based upon the actions of either of the various state conventions gives the ex-president 500 votes, or 99 less than the total needed to nominate.

In this estimate, however, the 48 votes of Illinois are counted for Palmer, and the 30 of Indiana for Gray. Neither of these calculations can be accepted as reliable, as the ex-president is absolutely certain of at least 14 votes from Indiana and 30 from Illinois, which would bring his estimate up to 584. In the estimate in question 68 Hill delegates are credited to seven southern states, but it is contended by the Clevelandites that the men so classified are open to argument.

Friends of Governor Boies, who have entered upon a remarkable campaign, are not inclined to think that the ex-president will get even 500 votes as a starter, although their favorite is credited with only the 26 votes of Iowa. They say that they have assurances of at least 75 votes on the first ballot. The 8 votes of South Dakota, which were supposed to be split up between Cleveland and Hill, will, they say, be solid for the Iowan, while they would have support from the southern states that would upset the calculations of both the Hill and Cleveland leaders.

So far as the southern missionary work is concerned they are banking considerably on a speech in opposition to the Lodge bill delivered by Governor Boies at Keokuk in October, 1890, and in which he took strong ground that the measure in question was not more necessary in the southern states than in the north. There was no little significance in a call made by a number of Iowa delegates upon Croker, Sheehan, Murphy and others of the Tammany brigade. An hour or two after this some of the New Yorkers paid a fraternal visit to the Iowa headquarters. The Hawkeye contingent is inclined to repudiate with some heat the suggestion that there is anything behind this little flirtation, but the feeling prevails that they are feeling their way toward assistance with the Hill men in the interest of their candidate. The Tammany delegation has received an accession in the person of a number of prominent New York congressmen, including Bourke Cockran, John R. Fellows and Amos J. Cummings.

Some considerable betting is being done in the hotel lobbies. Offers were made of $500 to $100 that Senator Hill would not be nominated and of $100 to $50 that if he were he would not carry New York state. There were no wagers made on either of these propositions. The situation seems to be briefly resolved into Cleveland against the field, with no odds on either side.

Croker and Brice Fall Out.

Sackem Richard Croker and Senator Calvin S. Brice had a falling out at the Palmer House. They met head to in one of the hotel parlors for over an hour, when the senator came out hastily. His hat was jammed down over his eyes, his face was red and he looked angry. Mr. Croker followed him and tugged at his arm, speaking to him meanwhile in a low tone. Mr. Brice replied with a considerable show of temper: "I won't do it. I won't consent to any such thing."

Mr. Croker replied in a whisper and Mr. Brice answered him in a tone easily heard fifty feet away: "No, sir; it is no use talking. I will not consent to such a thing."

Then he broke away from the grasp of the Tammany man and, hurled down stairs, while Mr. Croker turned and walked back to the room.

Congressman Tracey, who is with the Cleveland forces, said to the United Press: "Illinois will vote solidly for Mr. Cleveland on the first ballot and that is a big gain for us."

There came near being a melee at the Great Northern hotel when the Buffalo delegation, wearing Cleveland badges, came in contact with a party from Illinois county, which was shouting for Hill. Both sides became excited, very strong expressions were exchanged, and some of the disputants were pushed about, but the presence of their friends prevented an exchange of something stronger than verbal personalities.

Graces Says Tammany Will Not Bolt.

Ex-Mayor W. R. Grace, of New York, on being interviewed said: "I consider that President Harrison is particularly strong in the New York state delegation. Executive views on the currency, and I believe that Cleveland is the only Democrat that can be nominated who will agree with him. Cleveland is unobjectionable, and I will go a little further and say that I feel more than satisfied that he will be entirely acceptable to Tammany."

All doubts regarding the position of the Indiana delegation were set at rest by the positive statement of Senator Gray that they would formally place the name of Governor Isaac P. Gray in nomination.

It is believed that Adlai T. Stevenson, of Bloomington, Ill., will be made temporary chairman.

Curtain Against Cleveland.

The most damaging blow to the Cleveland faction came in the form of a direct statement from Senator Carlisle, of Kentucky, ex-speaker of the house of representatives:

"I shall go against my will," said he, "I am forced to believe that Cleveland cannot carry the state of New York for the Democratic ticket. If I thought success were possible through him I would be his most earnest supporter."

Minister Adams' Funeral.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 18.—The funeral of Lyell T. Adams, late United States minister at Hayden, Switzerland, was held here this afternoon. Mr. Adams was born in Monticello, Sullivan county, in 1827.

Ouch that very properly contains a supply of which adds to the enjoyment of all the other delicacies, and makes a picnic a picnic indeed.

Hires' Root Beer

A 25 cent package makes 5 gallons of this very popular beverage.

Don't be deceived! If a dealer, for the sake of larger profit, offers you something which he says "just as good," or "the same," do not listen to it as good as the genuine Hires'.

For a Delicious Drink

NEUMANN BROS.

Have just the article, a select

50c. Formosa Oolong

TEA, to make a

Delicious Iced Tea.

Fresh roasted Coffee received weekly. Strawberries received every morning. All goods sold at Lowest Prices. A full line of Vegetables received Daily

NEUMANN BROS.

79 BROADWAY.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong ice to this market, are now prepared to serve their patrons with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CODDINGTON, Pres.
H. CODDINGTON, Vice-Pres.
ANDREW WILSON, Sec. & treas.
J. MORTON, Gen. Supt.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture ∴ Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

FRED. W. DUNN,

Successor to

Barkalew & Dunn,

18 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Fine Groceries.

THREE DEF TEA

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring now shown here.

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher,

46 West Front Street.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum and Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Segars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Segar store, No. 12 West Second street.

EITHER

Hot Water or Steam Heating Apparatus

furnished and set up in residences and public buildings.

J. N. SCHENCK,

40 MANNING AVENUE,

North Plainfield.

20 years' experience. Pipe fitting, machinery repairs.

Agents for the celebrated "Furman" house heating boilers.

38c.

Buys a full size, re-inforced front, side, with Linen bosom and waistbands; regular 50c quality.

17c.

Buys a five foot curtain pole with brass fixtures, complete.

Window Shades 10c. and upward.

Dress Chaillies 5c. Best Prints 4c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 30 days at

BOEHM'S

No. 7 WEST FRONT STREET.

CARRIAGES and HARNESS.

$15.00

Buys hand made rubber mounted harness.

$100.00

Buys canopy top, natural wood surrey.

Prices and styles to suit all.

SWIFT SAFETIES.

RYERSON,

33 SOMERSET STREET.

PIPTONIZED

Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter and General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet

MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS.

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 985.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. PIERSON, No. 15 Vine street. H. S. GAYLE, No. 18 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH.

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 1265.

R. V. SAUMS.

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton street, near depot, North Plainfield.

P. O. Box 1265.

Jobbing promptly attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. P. HOFFMAN.

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

Residence—24 West Second street, Plainfield.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ARNOTT.

Practical Plasterer and Builder. Residence—Corner Second street and Grandview avenue, South Plainfield, P. O. Box 1265. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN HERRIMAN.

Mason, Builder and hard wood finisher. Residence, South Plainfield, P. O. Box 1265. Shop—Rear of 24 Somerset street.

Just What You Need!

If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an

Arnold Steam Cooker.

Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.

You can buy the above articles at 61 Park avenue. Also the only genuine

BOSTON BROWN BREAD,

made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.

M. E. BEACH, Agent.

Do You Want Shirts?

If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your ideas.

The assortment we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects.

Puff Bosoms for hot weather; Blue Flannel for cool.

Hallock & Davis,

5 West Front Street.

Trunks and Bags.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS ↓ †

‡ ‖ § PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—60 East Front street.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

28 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

46 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING

30 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

30 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE.

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Six Varieties.)

Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : :

- - - NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 49 EMILY STREET.

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

43 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any the of first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer, Telephone Co 157.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey. (The Port Reading R. R. Co., Lessee.) Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time table in effect May 15, 1892.

PLAINFIELD TO NEW YORK.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD—7.11, 8.11, 9.11, 10.11, 11.11, 12.11, 1.11, 2.11, 3.11, 4.11, 5.11, 6.11,

Science Progress.

A BRIER ROOT PIPE.

Sketches Illustrating the Process of Making the Finest Briar Pipes.

At an interesting show of pipes and everything in connection with smoking, held at Ryde, Isle of Wight, one of the exhibits that attracted most attention was the process of making the bowl of a brier root pipe. From a firm engaged in the manufacture of these pipes came the following information:

WOOD AND HORN FOR PIPE.

There are few people probably who have any idea of the trouble and difficulty of producing a perfect pipe. Few are aware when buying a pipe that the same has passed through more than fifty hands before it is ready for sale in the tobacconists' shops. With clean pipes the process is of course much simpler; nearly all have molded mouthpieces and are inferior in quality and finish. They are rarely all made abroad, whereas the finest briar pipes which can possibly be produced are of London manufacture, and one of the latter will last as long as three of the foreign made pipes. The words "own make" in addition to the trademark on the stem of the pipe indicate that it is of English make.

The briarwood is a wild growing shrub, and is not reared in any way to the plant with fragrant leaves. The proper name is "bruyere." It is found in the Pyrenees, Italy, Corsica and northern Africa, and is cut into pieces like Figs. A and B, in the first cut, on the spot where it is found, and from there shipped in bales to all parts of the world, and particularly to those towns which make the pipe bowls their specialty. The process of making the bowl is a very slow one, and one piece of wood passes through more than a dozen hands before it is ready to receive the mouthpiece, which also passes through numerous hands before it is perfect, as also does the silver band and other adjuncts to a well made pipe. Fig. A shows how a piece of briarwood measuring three or four inches square can be made the basis of. Fig. C is the pipe at home, from which the mouthpiece is manufactured.

In the second cut Fig. 1 illustrates one stage in the process of shaping the "rebouchon" (as the French call it) by means of a circular saw, after which it is wedged in a chuck and put onto the lathe. Figs. 2, 3 and 4 represent various stages of the bowl during the turning operations, while 5 is the polished and completed pipe, to which the silver band adds additional strength and elegance.

STAGES IN PIPEMAKING.

Telegraphy Without Wires.

Among the recent patents granted is one for Thomas A. Edison, which provides for the transmitting of signals electrically without the means of connecting wires, says The Industrial World. Mr. Edison has discovered that if sufficient elevation is obtained to overcome the curvature of the earth's surface and to reduce by the minimum the earth's absorption, electric telegraphy between distant points can be carried on by induction without the use of wires. The most important use to which this invention can be put is the signaling of vessels at sea one to another, making collisions in case of darkness, by fog or night a thing of the past, and by the establishment of stations on shore, vessels could be warned of dangerous coasts.

The Visibility of Light.

Experiments lately made show that light 252 be seen through a clean cut opening of not more than 1-40,000th of an inch. Popular Science News tells that this fact was determined by taking two thoroughly clean straight edges, placing a piece of paper between the surfaces at one end of the edges and being allowed to come together. The straight edges being placed between the eye and a strong light in a dark room, a wedge of light was received from the space between which the paper was placed and those opposite when brought together. The thickness of the paper being known, the distance apart at the two edges of the small end of the wedge of light was easily calculated, and the result was shown as above.

Scientific Devotion.

From London comes the report of experiments in constructing piano backs on a new plan, whereby the usual solid back, with its deadening influence on tone, and the gluing of the wrest plank are done away with.

The Electrical World states that the first successful application of electricity for gin driving, and in fact for any of the work, was made at Auburn, Ala., recently, at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Alabama.

The use of sheet metal for ceilings is on the increase.

A writer in Electricity says that so far as known, the magnetic property is peculiar to iron, nickel and cobalt, and this property is easily destroyed by admixture with certain foreign substances, such as manganese.

The Household

SUMMER FANCY WORK.

Dainty Articles Now Furnishing Occupation for Skilful Fingers.

Of doilies some are in white silk and lace, with white flowers in the center; others in candle are trimmed with a tiny fruit in natural colors, and again some are composed entirely of stars in the finest crochet, connected together with a fancy linen galoon. Round doilies seem to be as much in favor as square ones.

Crashed wool is a prevailing conception, and there are patterns of every kind in this particular cloth. A rather striking sample is a border of large interlaced rings gradually tapering toward the middle of the table cover for an occasional table, which is just there slightly dented; from thence the rings in silk, beautifully shaded, again widen toward the opposite edge. They are finished with gold tinsel and finished off with tassels. These pretty fluffy tassels also tip two uncommon valances in stripes or vandykes, suitable for a bedspread.

Handkerchief cases covered with satin linen are arranged with gold thread and raised cotton embroidery. The same kind of work is applied to satin and also to pillow shams.

A favorite style of working spotted materials is to cover the large spot entirely with silk, one stitch of silk to match, as in this invention can be put is the signaling of vessels at sea one to another, making collisions in case of darkness, by fog or night a thing of the past, and by the establishment of stations on shore, vessels could be warned of dangerous coasts.

A Hot Weather Convalescence.

Housewives are not infrequently prevented from using ice in their summer housekeeping for want of a refrigerator. The patent ones are costly and require greatest care to keep them wholesome. A writer who has used a home made ice box for several years gives in Orchard and Garden an illustration of this same with directions for making the satisfactory article. It was built directly on the sandy cellar bottom, and consisted of nothing more than two square boxes, one about a foot smaller than the other, with the space between packed with sawdust.

HOMEMADE ICE BOX.

Each box had a hinged cover. The ice was placed on a rack at the bottom of the larger box, whence as it slowly melted the water ran into the smaller box. The latter was so arranged that the shelves might be placed at different heights, according to the amount of ice. On these shelves the food was placed, and the great convenience of the whole arrangement came when fresh ice must be put in. Then a part or all of the shelves had to be taken out; but this could be done far less often than in an ordinary refrigerator, as the ice melted very slowly. The air in the box was always pure and sweet, and the food was kept at a low temperature—from 45 to 50 degrees. Enough simple board shelves were provided, so that one set could be scrubbed and dried in the open air each week.

Fads and Fancies in Brie-a-Brac.

Elsie Beetell in Jewelers' Circular of the following:

An elegant novelty is a flower holder consisting of a brass tube the lower portion ornamented with elaborate work and rising from a brass base with gold tinsel and finished off with tassels. These pretty fluffy tassels also tip two uncommon valances in stripes or vandykes, suitable for a basket.

Handkerchief cases covered with satin linen are arranged with gold thread and raised cotton embroidery. The same kind of work is applied to satin and also to pillow shams.

A favorite style of working spotted materials is to cover the large spot entirely with silk, one stitch of silk to match, as in this invention can be put is the signaling of vessels at sea one to another, making collisions in case of darkness, by fog or night a thing of the past, and by the establishment of stations on shore, vessels could be warned of dangerous coasts.

Fine Bohemian glasses are sometimes used in the place of filagree, but then the tip of the petal is caught down to the material with one stitch of silk to match, whereas the filagree is passed through the material at the tip of the petal, about two threads being taken up with the needle.

Mantel and cornice scarfs of antique linen are arranged with gold thread and raised cotton embroidery. The same kind of work is applied to satin and also to pillow shams.

Loops of the finest baby ribbon are sometimes used in the place of filagree, but then the tip of the petal is caught down to the material with one stitch of silk to match, whereas the filagree is passed through the material at the tip of the petal, about two threads being taken up with the needle.

Fine Bohemian glasses are sometimes used in the place of filagree, but then the tip of the petal is caught down to the material with one stitch of silk to match, whereas the filagree is passed through the material at the tip of the petal, about two threads being taken up with the needle.

Strawberry Mousse.

Put the yolks of eight raw eggs into a pan with the whites of three eggs, two ounces of powdered sugar, quarter pint of fresh strawberry juice, half a teaspoonful of essence of vanilla, and a few drops of liquid carmine to color it nicely; stand the pan containing this in another half full of boiling water and whip the eggs, etc., over the fire till warm, then lift it out of the boiling water and whip it until cold and thick, when half a pint of whipped cream must be added, the whole whipped together, then poured into a mold and frozen for two and a half hours.

New Peas in French Style.

Boil some young peas in plenty of water with a little salt in it; when done, drain and stew them for a few minutes with a small piece of butter, a green onion, a sprig or two of parsley, salt and a little powdered sugar, when they seem dry, mix with a lialson of the yolk of an egg and a couple of spoonfuls of cream. (When preserved peas have to be used, throw them first into boiling water, then drain them, and finish off as above.)

Butter for Fritters.

It may be mentioned that the butter is always improved by standing for an hour before it is used, the white of half the eggs used for the latter being whipped to a stiff froth and stirred into it just at the last before using the batter. Be careful when mixing it the whites to do so as lightly and quickly as possible.

Good Health

BACTERIA.

Their Story Has Been Only Half Told. Don't Think Too Hard of Them.

Bacteria are in rather bad odor in the minds of some people, and we are told in clinics to "beware of bacteria." Commenting upon this in an address upon the uses of bacteria, Dr. W. H. Conn, of Connecticut, says: "The reason for this fervent, if not ply an historical one. When bacteria were first discovered it was early noticed that they had a causal relation to disease, and scientists went to work from the very first to investigate closely its relation to bacteria. The result was that after a few years a great deal of information had accumulated showing that bacteria caused diseases. The so called epidemics are usually the result of bacteria, and with whole fatent upon this side of the question, and the public has given much attention to the good that bacteria might do in the world.

"We look upon bacteria in our bodies as causes of disease rather than things which are of any value, and yet a healthy person always has bacteria in large quantities in his mouth, in his stomach and in his intestines. The bacteria are always migrating in the body in places of abnormal growth and there they immediately set up the thinking that to a certain extent these bacteria act as scavengers in the human body. Some of them unquestionably act as producers of disease, but to a certain extent it seems that these bacteria are of value in assisting in the decomposition of tissues that are dead and worn out, and there is reason for thinking that they assist in the digestion of food. There is no question that bacteria may assist in the process of digestion, and it is doubtless a fact that the bacteria which are take into our alimentary canal are not wholly injurious. They may be possibly beneficial to us either in the line of scavengers in removing material which might act as a pabulum in our bodies or in assisting digestion. This point, however, is not yet demonstrated, and I merely allude to it as a possibility."

Varicose Veins.

Varicose veins (large, swollen, tortuous veins of the lower extremities) sometimes burst, and unless proper treatment is at once instituted a large quantity of blood is lost. Popular Science News says: "The first care should be on the score of prevention, and to this end those having varicose veins should wear a tight-fitting silk or rubber stocking, or should apply a neat roller bandage every morning immediately upon rising. When a vein bursts the subsequent hemorrhage may be at once checked by pressing the finger upon the bleeding part and laying the person down flat, either on the ground or on a bed. A pad is then applied over the injured part and bound down tightly with a roller bandage—which bandage must be first applied upon the foot. Whenever the injured part and bound down tightly with a roller bandage—which bandage must be first applied upon the foot. Whenever the injured part is to be used, the bandage is first removed, the wound is healed, and then substituting a plaster for the pad and reapplying the bandage."

Etiquette

WEDDING BLOSSOMS.

The Correct Flowers for the Bride and Other Participants.

The bride's bouquet should be made of white flowers, and the bridesmaids' floral arrangement as well as to those for the bouquets of the remainder of the bridal party. The Ladies' Home Journal gives the following timely information: Lily of the valley, orchids or roses, but orchids and roses are seldom used in the same bouquet. They are rival queens that are happiest apart.

A pretty idea in a bridesmaid's bouquet is to have it composed of several sections, that after the bride leaves the house the maid of honor may distribute to those friends whom the bride may wish to honor. The ribbon can remain on the section intended for the bride's mother. At times the bride has a favorite flower, or there is a bit of romance or sentiment attached to some colored flower, such as a violet or Jacqueminot rose, and she wishes to either these yards of thread which ribbon to match the groom in tone and texture or twenty or thirty yards of very narrow ribbon with long bows, the ends extending down at different lengths, with delicate flowers attached to a number of these ends. Sometimes a large bow of ribbon is tied and arranged as though it were coming from the center of the bouquet. The ribbon thus used has no meaning, and is very apt to become soiled by the moisture on the flowers.

As the bride's bouquet is always white those carried by the bridesmaids should, as a contrast, have some color. If the bride, in addition to white flowers, has used for trimming or mourning decided blends and brunettes, strong and beautiful color contrasts can be obtained in both gowns and flowers. The flowers for the bouquet must be fresh when used. In arranging such a cluster it is wise to have it arranged carelessly, or rather not to interfere too much with nature.

The groom should wear a buttonhole bouquet, not very large, made of the same kind of flowers as the bride's bouquet—possibly one rose and two or three sprays of lily of the valley. One white orchid, if this be very small, and several sprays of lily of the valley are very effective. Gardenias are much sought after and have been the favorite flower in London for wedding boutonnieres for a number of years. Six sprays of lily of the valley also make a very pretty boutonniere.

The best man should wear a larger bouquet than that worn by the groom, made of the same kind of flowers as the maid of honor carries. The ushers should wear very large, white bouquets—four carnations is none too large; often as many as six are used. Either twelve sprays of lily of the valley or six sprays of Romana hyacinth, arranged compactly, make a pretty bouquet.

This Date in History—June 18.

1812—John Hancock, Engineer, patents certain methods of propelling boats.

1812—The United States Congress declared war against Great Britain.

1815—Battle of Waterloo, fought between the allied armies of Europeans, under the command of Wellington, and the French, under Napoleon.

1822—Alice Thorndike Rice, JOHN HANCOCK'S heroic great-grandmother, born.

1846—The settlement of a boundary line between the United States and Canada, west of the Rocky Mountains, was effected.

1846—The Council on the Confederate Home at Petersburg organized with great slaughter.

1864—Henry Raymond, journalist, died in New York city, born 1820.

1865—The United States steamer Saranac arrived in Sitka harbor, Alaska, on her return from a voyage to Alaska.

1865—King Leopold appointed Henry M. Stanley governor of the Congo state, to enter upon his duties in 1887.

Decidedly Different.

Mrs. Billus—Why don't you pay it and say nothing, John? I wouldn't make so much fuss over a doctor bill.

Mr. Billus (cross eyed with wrath)—I didn't say doctor bill, Maria! I said doctoral bill. It's from the gas company!—Chicago Tribune.

A Brave Lover.

"Hawkins is very fond of his horse, isn't he?"

"Why, no; he hates him."

"That's queer. I saw him riding in the park the other day, and he had his arms about the animal's neck."—Harper's Bazar.

A Short Farewell.

He—Farewell. Will you ever call again?

He—Tomorrow night.—Brooklyn Life.

The Appointed Day.

From where the broad Hudson
Reaches its home upon the strand
To the shores whereon Atlantic
Waves wash the sandy land,
From the broad spread inland waters
Of the lake-dotted north
To where the Gulf Stream's tide
And each valley and each hill
And the opposite breezes with expectancy are filled.

For the birthday's here again
Of the fair Columbia,
Its virtues, exploits, exploits, poets many sublime.

1892			JUNE.			1892
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fri.	Sat.
			1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30

MOON'S PHASES.

D	First	2	4.51	Third	17 4.01
●	Full	10	5.53	New	24 8.07
◐	Last	10	5.53

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION. 1872. Membership 128,000. 1892.

Death benefits paid over $6,000,000 since organization.

Watchung Lodge, 360, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Thursdays, at eight p. m., in Watchung Lodge rooms, Music Hall building.

Immediate relief, $100, sick benefits per week $5.

LOUIS I. VANARSDALE, Dictator.
RALPH A. P'ART, Reporter.
Watchung Commandery, No. 34, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight p. m.

Hotels.

Caspar's Hotel,

24 & 26 E. Front St

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Transient and Family Boarders taken at

Reasonable Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE.

Now open for the reception of visitors under the management of George Wallace & Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.

City Hotel,

Corner

PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient and Family Boarders Invited.

Kline's Extracts,

Pure Fruit Flavors.

LOOK at Werner's Show Windows

30 WEST FRONT STREET,

and see what you can do in $15 suits reduced to $10

Cut in Latest Styles,

FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS ONLY.

All Sizes and All Wool.

Cutting Shirts and Straw Hats just receive. Clothing Made to Order. Other goods at proportionately Low Prices.

NEW STORE!

I beg to announce that I have opened a store pertaining to bedding at 75 West Front street. Below we quote some of our prices:

Mattresses	$1.50 to $15
3 pieces Extra Superfine Hair Mattress, 25 lbs.	$15
Good Feather Pillows	$1.50, $2, $2.50
Hair Pillows	$2
Down Down Pillows	50 cents
Counterpanes	$1, $1.25, $1.50

Mattresses, bolsters and pillows cased; Old Mattresses made over into new; Cribs, Cradles, Cots, Bedsteads, Springs, Lounges, Tables, Bureaus, Washstands, Chairs, Rockers, Settees, Looking Glasses, Pictures, Cradles, Cribs, Bedroom Crockery, Crockery, Bedding, Carpets, Blinds, and a hundred and one other things at prices that will astonish you. Don't buy of any others.

T. J. CAREY, - Proprietor.

75 WEST FRONT STREET.

As the above store, there will be no auction sale at Carey's until September.

Big Bargains

EDSALL'S!

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHING CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER.

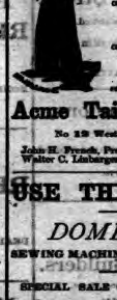
One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.

Whole Suits from $5 up.

Spring Overcoats and Cashmere Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.

C. SCHEFFLIN & CO.

70 WEST FRONT STREET.



OWING to Large stock and Lateness of the Season, we will sell for next 30 Days at A Sacrifice.

Fine all-wool pants to order $4; worth $6.

Fine all wool Suits to order $10; worth $22.

Call, examine and satisfy yourselves

Acme Tailoring Co.,

No 19 West Front Street.

John H. Franck, Pres. and Treas.
Walter C. Limberger, Sec. 3 21 3m

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC

SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS

SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC

4 & 5 cents per Copy.

Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.

A. M. Vanderbeek's,

23 PARK AVENUE.

C. DICKINSON,

PRACTICAL

OPTICIAN and JEWELER.

Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Agent for the American

Rambler Bicycles.

No. 13 Park avenue.

COAL and WOOD,

E. H. HOLMES,

YARD—24 Madison Avenue.

Office—37 North avenue, with Weeden & Smith.

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with

LAMP AND BELL,

under penalty of $20 fine.

A large and complete assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the

Wheelmen's Headquarters,

Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.

FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

RANDOLPH'S

BEEF, IRON AND WINE,

THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!

PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

31 WEST FRONT STREET.

IF!

A poor article is dear at any price.
A good article is cheap at any price.

The Duluth Imperial Flour is the best in the market, and the cheapest.

Call on leaving it from your grocer, or apply to

FRENCH BROTHERS,

TELEPHONE 24. 8, 10 and 12 SOMERSET STREET.

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.

Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of G. E. MUSGRAVE, 27 Somerset street. Call early and secure the best bargains.

Summer Resorts.

Clifton House,

BY THE SEA, PASCHOUG, L. I.

Situated directly by that beautiful sheet of water, Great Scrapoo Bay, and only a few minutes sail from the Ocean.

Boating, bathing, bowling, billiards, music and livery. Reed Bros., Props.

W. M. JENKINS, Prop.

Now opened for guests. Grand opening May July 93. 6 12 2m

THE ALBION,

EIGHTH STREET AND PARK AVENUE

Select family hotel.

Newly furnished throughout.

Special rates to permanent guests.

FRANK E. MILLER.

12 26 6m.

THE BEE HIVE!

Summer Underwear.

Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.

Ladies' ribbed vests, in high neck, short sleeves and long sleeves, 25c.

Ladies' fancy vests, in short and long sleeves, 25c.

Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed, plain and fancy weight.

Misses' ribbed vests, 5, 10, 12½ and 15c.

Misses' fancy vests, 15c.

Misses' Drawers, Merino skirts and drawers, 25, 39 and 50c.

Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, 5c.

Children's fancy vests and pants, 10, 12½, 15, 20, 25c.

Gents' ribbed vests, 25c; fancy vests, 39, 50c; shirts and drawers, 50c; Merino shirts and drawers, 50c; Merino shirts and drawers, 75c; Camel's hair shirts and drawers, 75c; Natural wool shirts and drawers, 75c; Balbriggan shirts and drawers, 50c; Gents' fancy half hose, 5, 10, 12½, 15, 20, 25c.

A full line of Parasols, Lace caps, white aprons, and infants' long and short cashmere.

Louis Callman,

20 West Front Street.

GET YOUR

Bicycle Repaired

AT

NO. 4 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

BY

Henry Goeller, Jr.

Miss Blanche Fellows

VOCALIST

and Teacher of Singing.

Rapid development and complete education of the voice.

Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formation and tone production.

Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Call or address

NO. 27 DUER STREET.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

40 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Long Bus. I. Telephone Call 48. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," MONDAY, JUNE 20, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR THEIR VACATION, SHOULD SEND NEW ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

BREVITIES

—Twelve hundred persons were present at the Somerville-Plainfield ball game Saturday.

—The first trial of the bicycle team race will be run over the Cranford course on Saturday next.

—The Summer girl is booming up, especially around the soda water fountains and ice cream parlors.

—A strawberry festival is being arranged by the ladies of the Holy Cross Episcopal church for Wednesday June 22d.

—Republicans of this city will ratify the nominees of the Minneapolis Convention, a week from to-morrow night, June 28th, in Music Hall.

—The Medical Society of New Jersey will hold its annual meeting on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 28th and 29th, in the United States Hotel, at Atlantic City, commencing at four p. m. on Tuesday. A reception and collation will be given on Tuesday evening, and a yacht excursion and an excursion to Longport on Wednesday afternoon.

—Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M. will hold a strawberry and ice cream festival in the Sangerbund Hall, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, June 22d and 23d. It was formerly the intention to hold the festival in Reform Hall but as dancing would not be permitted in that building the Council procured Sangerbund Hall for the occasion.

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

Mr. Edwin Loomis, of the firm of Loomis & Rice, who has been seriously ill is reported better.

Mrs. Mary A. Mulford, of Sanford avenue, has gone to Cottage City, Martha's Vineyard, where she will spend the Summer. After which Mrs. Mulford will probable leave on a trip to California.

George Mahon, manager of the Wheelmen's Headquarters, Plainfield, recently rode 10 miles in 30m. 30s. It is safe to say that Mr. Mahon will be one of Plainfield's six men who will represent the Journal trophy.—Westfield Standard.

A musicale will be given at the Sunday-school rooms of the Holy Cross church, North Plainfield on Saturday afternoon, June 25th at four o'clock for the benefit of the mission church of the Heavenly Rest, Bronx. The rector and warden of the Holy Cross church have most kindly given the use of their rooms; and the organist, Mr. Miner has generously offered his services, and all the ladies and gentlemen who take part give of their time in the same spirit, without compensation. Every one is ready and willing to help the little mission in its present need. The particulars of the musicale are advertised elsewhere.

Amidst a profusion of ferns, wild flowers and potted plants, Mrs. J. J. Herring Poillon, received the guests of the Hillside Tennis Club at the Tea, held on Saturday afternoon last. Assisting were Miss Walz, Miss Wood, Mrs. Sprague, and Mrs. Charles F. Foote. The cool afternoon made teams enjoyable and the four courts were constantly occupied. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bowen, the Misses Tweedy, Mr. August Wadeworth, Dr. Vincent Baker, Miss Ethel Bowers, Mr. Robert L. Barnett Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wood, Mr. Dexter O. Tilney, Miss Lord, Mr. H. W. Beebe, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Walz, Mr. James P. Murray, Mr. Charles W. Opdyke, the Misses Davis, Mr. Sherwood West, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Mellick, Mr. and Mrs. F. Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Herring Poillon, the Misses Martine, Mr. E. L. Walz, Jr., and Miss Anthony.

Commencement Day.

Next Thursday is Commencement Day and the Scotch boy and female girl graduate will be out in full force.

The following is a list of the subjects and graduates of the Plainfield High School.

"The Historical of the Three Great Religions," Charles Horton Ainsworth.

"The Flags of All Nations," Edith Jane Baldwin.

"New England Roots of the American Elm," Helen May Osborne.

"The Power of Ideas," Grace Johnson Carroll.

"The Power of Song," Emily Mary Caldwell.

"The Power of the Press," Spencer L. Higgins.

"Historic Mountains," Addie Parker Jackson.

"The Boyhood of Authors," Cora Estelle Mooney.

"The Great Hall of William Rufus," Lillie Helen Moore.

"The Wonders of Electricity," Everett Lucius Morgan.

"Unwritten Music," Lilian Estelle Oakley.

"A Festival of Flowers," Louise Patteson.

"The Modern Messenger," Grace Howard Petrie, Valedictorian.

"Man as Architect," Charles Elmer Sanford.

"The Columbian Exposition," Arthur Lucas Spencer.

"The Locomotive and one of its Inventors," John Calvin Stephens.

"Wolfe at Quebec," Jose L. Elliott Van Arsdale.

"Scylla and Charybdis," Phillip Barbarit Weiss.

"The Value of a Presidential Election," Allan Alfred Wilson.

The North Plainfield scholars who will graduate are as follows:

Mary Adelaide Lewis, Anna K. Van Arsdale, Gertrude A. Conover, Chauncey Beck Conover, Wanda M. Church, Mary Rose Bolle Lester, Walter Reynolds, Mary McDonald, Alice Louise Avery, Annie Saunders, Elsie Rutherford Hampton, Lewis Williams, Alice Louise Needham, Jessie M. Coddington, Bessie M. Gardner, Edward Sanderson Lotzenzer.

A PLAINFIELDER IN IT.

Organization of the Society of the Army of the Potomac.

Over 50,000 people were present at the meeting June 16th at Scranton, Pa., for the organization of the Society of the Army of the Potomac. Of the corps meeting we find the following account in the Scranton Tribune, and a Plainfielder among those especially honored;

Yesterday morning the army corps represented in the Society of the Army of the Potomac met in the court house and organized. The meeting of the army was presided over by General Ira M. Hedges of Haverstraw, N. Y. Officers reports were read and several new members admitted. The corps elected as their President, Captain F. De Lacy; vice presidents, first division, Major Thomas Ridgeway; second division, Colonel Conyngham; artillery division, Colonel Ricketts; corresponding secretary, Colonel Campbell; treasurer, Colonel Stevens; chaplain, Rev. Mr. Long; secretary and treasurer, Dr. C. H. Booth; executive committee, General J. R. Hawley, General G. J. K. Miller, General J. L. Lynch, Major A. E. Quarte and Major M. Murrell.

General Hawley then Porter handled the gavel during the meeting of the Fifth corps. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, General Fitz John Porter; vice president, Major H. E. Smith; second vice president, Major W. Hoffman; secretary, Captain Reiter; treasurer, General F. T. Locke; executive committee, General J. L. Chamberlain, Captain Reiter, Appleton and Colonel Smith.

The meeting of the Sixth corps was presided over by General W. Mc Mahon. The officers elected were: President Colonel Julian Scott, Plainfield, N. J.; vice presidents, Colonel T. W. Burtis, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Colonel E. B. Beaumont, Wilkesbarre, Corporal L. A. Upson, Thompsonville, Conn.; recording secretary, Captain George B. Fielder, Jersey City, N. J.; corresponding secretary, Colonel L. L. Buckley, Flemesburg, N. J.; treasurer, Colonel Samuel Truesdell, Brooklyn, N. Y. Among the new members admitted to the corps were General W. H. McCarthy, of Wilkesbarre, and John T. Howe and E. A. Holly of this city.

Captain Henry Pratt, vice-president of the Fifth corps, was called to the chair during the meeting of that body. E. L. Buck of this city, acted as secretary.

The officers elected were: President, Colonel Andrew D. Bairds, of New York; vice-president, Major D. F. Wright, of Brooklyn; secretary and treasurer, Gen. C. N. Barney; recording secretary, Colonel C. H. Houghton; vice-president of the Ninth corps, Fifth army corps, Ninth corps, Major James Wren, of Boyertown, Pa. The corps set aside a sum of money for the support of their late commander, General Reno, upon the monument marking his resting place.

The Second corps elected as their officers the Eleventh corps: President, General John C. Lockman, of New York; vice president, Colonel T. A. Dodge; of Boston; division vice-presidents, First, Gen. Howard J. Reeder, of Boston; Second, Captain Diger, of Prontroyal; Third, Captain Theodore Fielding, of New York; Fourth, Gen. W. Wright, of New York; corresponding secretary, Dr. Haven of New York; recording secretary, Captain Anthony J. Allen, of New York; historian, Colonel Augustus C. Hamlin, of Bangor, Me. It was decided to allow the sons of members to attend the meetings, as death is playing and havoc with the membership.

Vice President Boice presided at the meeting of the Twelfth corps. The officers elected were: President, General E. W. Royce, of New York; first vice president, Moses Morley, of Scranton; second vice president, M. Carr, of Scranton; secretary and treasurer, Dr. Love, of Montclair, N. Y.

The officers chosen by the Nineteenth corps were: President, Colonel Wm. E. Holbrook, Seventh Vermont Volunteers; first vice president, Colonel T. A. Conrad, Brooklyn; second vice president, Major J. Lincoln Ward, New York; third vice president, Captain John W. Hunter, Brooklyn; fourth vice president, General Stanley Matthews, Fifth; fifth vice president, Major George Haven Putnam, New York; secretary, General Augustus Van Horn Ellis; treasurer, Captain Wm. H. Jewell, Brooklyn; executive committee, General N. W. Day, Colonel Wm. H. Seward, Major Wilfred F. Rogers, Lieutenant George E. Herbert, Captain Alexander Hunter, Captain W. D. Seymour. The calvary corps elected as their officer: President, Colonel S. H. Hill, Brooklyn; first vice president, Colonel Offley; second vice president, General J. L. Thompson; third vice president, Colonel Wm. Ludlow; fourth vice president, Major H. W. Sharp, Fifth; fifth vice president, General George L. Palen. Major G. Ward Whitehead, Fifth Pennsylvania, was chosen treasurer and General G. K. Warren, assistant adjutant general of United States volunteers, secretary.

Umpire Lennie Dismissed.

A special meeting of the Central New Jersey Baseball League was held at Hyatt & Bird's yesterday afternoon. The meeting was called to consider the objections to the further services of Mr. Lennie as umpire in the league games. In the game played Saturday last between the Crescents and the E. M. C. B. C. of Elizabeth, Mr. Lennie gave decisions to Mr. Leddon, but on many of his decisions, but because of his lack of knowledge of baseball rules, and the many mistakes he made. After considerable discussion, Mr. Lennie was dismissed from further services as umpire. The next game will be played between the Crescents and the Elizabeth Athletic Club, Saturday afternoon. Mr. Lennie was simply to be dispensed with, Mr. Leddon, who officiated as umpire, was not appointed. The vote stood: For dismissal, Plainfield, Westfield and Elizabeth. For reinstatement, Elizabeth. It is a pity that the League has taken such action, as Mr. Lennie is an honest and impartial umpire, and will be a loss to the league in the wood pile somewhere.—Elizabeth Herald.

—Extensive preparations are in progress for an old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration in Westfield. There will be an oration and games in the morning and fire works in the evening.

—The projected annual excursion of the New Jersey Editorial Association has been abandoned for this year. The reason given is that no low rate can be obtained. Of these, 9 of Cleveland, 8 of Detroit, 7 of Toledo, 6 of Buffalo, 5 of Cincinnati, 4 of Milwaukee, 3 of Chicago, 2 of Indianapolis, 1 of Columbus, 1 of Pittsburgh, 1 of Rochester, 1 of Syracuse, 1 of Utica, 1 of Albany, 1 of Troy, 1 of Boston, 1 of Worcester, 1 of Springfield, 1 of Hartford, 1 of New Haven, 1 of Providence, 1 of Portland, 1 of Bangor, 1 of Manchester, 1 of Concord, 1 of Montpelier, 1 of Burlington, 1 of Quebec, 1 of Montreal, 1 of Ottawa, 1 of Toronto, 1 of Hamilton, 1 of London, 1 of Kingston, 1 of Winnipeg, 1 of Halifax, 1 of St. John, 1 of Charlottetown, 1 of Fredericton, 1 of Portland, 1 of Victoria, 1 of Vancouver, 1 of Nanaimo, 1 of New Westminster, 1 of Seattle, 1 of Tacoma, 1 of Spokane, 1 of Walla Walla, 1 of Portland, 1 of Salem, 1 of Eugene City, 1 of Albany, 1 of Oregon City, 1 of Astoria, 1 of Dallas, 1 of Pendleton, 1 of The Dalles, 1 of Baker City, 1 of Boise City, 1 of Helena, 1 of Butte City, 1 of Great Falls, 1 of Missoula, 1 of Anaconda, 1 of Deer Lodge, 1 of Bozeman, 1 of Livingston, 1 of Miles City, 1 of Billings, 1 of Glendive, 1 of Lewistown, 1 of Fort Benton, 1 of Havre, 1 of Great Falls, 1 of Helena, 1 of Butte City

EDITORIAL NOTES

Philadelphia has a curiosity worth seeing. It is a Chinaman who can speak German fluently. Where is now the Chinaman in this country that can speak English?

Most people have a silent conviction that the best capacity of electricity either as a motive power or as an illuminant has never yet been developed. If the story of an inventive boy in young San Francisco engineer is true, then he has made great progress in adding to the usefulness of electricity in both respects. He has prepared some chemicals, explosive on contact with the air, which generate electricity. The chemicals are confined in airtight copper bulbs no larger than a walnut. From the bulbs pass electric wires conveying the current to machinery just like other supply wires. The young man's name is Charles Sellander, and the point about his invention is its immense power in an almost infinitesimal space. The chemicals prisoned in the tiny copper bulbs generate electric force for a long period, surprisingly so. In the lake near Oakland, Cal., one small boat impelled by electricity from this ridiculously small battery towed seven other rowboats rapidly through the water. Hope this is all true.

The Sun's Idea.

The New York Sun criticises the action of the national house in passing the bills for the admission of New Mexico and Arizona as states of the Union because of their scant population. It has a plan out of its own brain, however, for settling the question of statehood in the southwestern territories, and if it is as follows:

There is a wise and practicable method of admitting New Mexico and Arizona, without doing violence to the dignity of them from the reproach of being rotten borough states. Let these two territories be joined. Let Utah, as part of the same plan, be divided by extending southward the boundary line between Idaho and Wyoming, giving the western part of Utah to Nevada and the eastern to Colorado. Let the corner of Arizona north of the Colorado be set off at the same time to Nevada as thus augmented from Utah. Then we shall have the territorial portion of the southwest solved, and if there with the gravest of the many past errors in state making remedied.

We shall have Nevada redeemed and meriting for the first time in twenty-eight years her two senators and representative. We shall have the Mormon question disposed of, the political power of Mormondom being no possible source of alarm with Utah thus divided and added to the neighboring states. We shall have New Mexico and Arizona brought into the Union as a single strong state, instead of two contemptibles. They will enter the race well equipped for competition with the very best of their voting neighbors, instead of coalescing for years in vigilance as constant applicants for the aid of congress. They will have not one state government to support and will be united as when they were acquired from Mexico.

What to Do with the Indians.

A writer in the American edition of The Review of Reviews is of opinion that the absorption of the Indian into the white race by admixture of blood would not under decent and orderly conditions be debasing. There are, he says, 30,000 to 30,000 Sioux in the northwest whose ultimate commingling with the white race could not be regarded as a calamity. Yet thirty years ago these same Sioux were the worst of all the bad Indians of the northwest, and the ones at the bottom of the massacres in Minnesota in 1862.

General Morgan, commissioner of Indian affairs, advocates industrial education for young Indians as the necessary preliminary to citizenship. They ought not to be made citizens till they are earning their living in some of the white man's occupations. The best trades for them at first are those which remove them least from their free, outdoor life. Farming and stock raising are two of the most available. Then, too, when well drilled and disciplined, Indians make dashing and gallant soldiers, particularly in the cavalry arm of the service.

In The Review are portraits of some young Indian students taken soon after they were first housed into civilization and again after three or four years of industrial and literary education. The difference is especially notable in the added mobility of expression of countenance which the educating process has made. The faces no longer look as if carved in red stone. The Haskell institute in Kansas is doing energetic work in settling the Indian question. Here every pupil, besides learning the elementary branches of education, is obliged also to perfect himself in some trade by which to earn a living. The pupils take to manual training more readily than to book learning, as might be expected. They are also fond of baseball and brass bands.

But after they are educated these wards of the government should not be abandoned to the wilds. They will usually drop back and become "blanket Indians" again in that case. On this point Professor Blackmar, of the Kansas university, writes:

> The great problem in Indian education, then, is purely a social and industrial one. It is a race problem. It is the struggle of a race with no independent culture being forced to contend with a race that has had 1,000 years of independent culture and civilization. It is to force the Indian rapidly forward, but the difficulty in the way is his contact with the world; the want of a favorable opportunity for the use of his acquired knowledge. Let the government follow the Indian into industrial society and bring him an opportunity to use his education. Let the tribal spirit be broken down and the educated Indians be adopted as citizens. Then will the Republic call in the Indians shall be absorbed in the social body and there will be no Indian problem.

GORMAN'S BOOM GROWS.

Report That He Will Get the Hill Delegates.

THREE DARK HORSES WITHDRAWN.

Senator Palmer, Ex-Governor Campbell, of Ohio, and William R. Morrison Declare That They Are Not in the Fight. The Hill Men Seem Happy.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The wigwam on the shores of Lake Michigan, in which the Democratic national convention of 1892 is to meet on Tuesday next, is a remarkable building. It breaks the record in at least three respects—in size, in ugliness and in the misfortunes which have accompanied its construction. Nevertheless, the indications now are that it will be completed in time for the assembling of the convention, and that its interior conveniences and decorations, its acoustic properties and the immensity of its seating capacity will go far towards atoning for its unmitigated homeliness, the muddy ways by which it is approached and the shabbiness of its surroundings.

Externally the building is only a mammoth dry goods box, constructed of the roughest lumber, roofed over with tarred planks and approached from the outside by broad flights of wooden steps—four in front for the delegates and two at each end for the spectators. The canvas covering originally placed on the building was torn into shreds by a storm some days ago. Since then the unprotected interior has been several times drenched by the torrents of rain storms which spoiled the decorations, as far as that had advanced. But the building contractor, Mr. Gooding, the chairman's stand is a four post arch handsomely decorated, bearing on the two front pillars heroic sized busts of Andrew Jackson and Stephen A. Douglass. Behind the chairman there is a big papermache spread eagle, and extending all round the rear of the hall are twenty half length Hoxie portraits of distinguished Democrats, including Jackson, Van Buren, Polk, Pierce, Buchanan, Case, Breckenridge, Pug Houston, Stephens, McClellan, Seymour, Hancock, Hendricks, W. H. Barnum, Stephen A. Douglass and Sydney Bruce. The arrangement of the body of the hall is much like that of the Minneapolis convention hall. That is to say, the delegates are seated in the center and the spectators are ranged in two gently sloping tiers, running all round the building. Facing the upper gallery are displayed the flags and coats of arms of the forty-four states. The gallery seats about 8,000 people; the lower tier about 12,000. Nine thousand people can be seated in the wigwam; 20,000 can get inside it. The thirty posts which support the new roof are covered with white cotton cloth and decorated with the national colors.

THE CONVENTION WIGWAM.

Senator Hill's Silver Letter.

An absorbing topic of conversation among the delegates is the letter written by Senator Hill to Charles K. Holliday, Jr., of the Kansas Democratic committee, which Senator Hill said:

> My faith is unshakeable in the sound common sense of our fellow countrymen. They know that the Democratic party at the present time is the sole efficient instrument for tax reform and monetary reform. . . . The Democratic party might as well commit suicide as shirk either duty, nor will it betray the people's trust by allotting the executive power to any one whose acts are similar to the views of President Harrison, and who is pledged like him to block every approach to a free bimetallic coinage.
>
> It is a scandalous misuse of executive power to employ the veto in preventing remedial legislation from being carefully planned and passed when so great a majority of the people's representatives have been elected by the people expressly for that very work; to repeal the Sherman silver law and to promote the return by free, bimetallic coinage to the old and diligent at the capacity of the gold monometallic standard which Senator Hill said—of public opinion. Free bimetallic coinage is the demand of a vast majority of the American people, and the Democratic party at the present silver dollar and the gold dollar for eighty years. Free bimetallic coinage is the last work of monetary science. To restore it safely, surely and finally is the mission of the Democratic party. . . .

The letter was made public at a favorable time to influence the doubtful free silver delegates in favor of Senator Hill, and the Colorado people who are here to beat Grover Cleveland have sequenced themselves in favor of Hill. The Colorado people say that 180 delegates favor free silver and that the silver men cannot get a free silver vote for Cleveland. Mr. Pence, of Colorado, says that Harrison will not get more than 15 per cent of the Republican vote in Colorado, that Cleveland cannot get more than 15 per cent of the Democratic vote, and that if Cleveland is nominated the state will fall into the hands of the Farmers' Alliance. At the same time he says that Hill's letter places him on record for free silver and assures Hill Colorado's vote in the convention.

Some opposition was raised about the authenticity of the Hill silver letter; Mr. Hill's private secretary, who has been in telegraphic communication with the senator, was asked if that silver letter of Senator Hill's to Mr. Charles K. Holliday, Jr., of Topeka, in which he substantially declared for free coinage of the bullion in coinage till if the party should call for genuine?

"It is," said Mr. Birmingham. "But the senator did not authorize its publication. The letter contained matter personal to the senator and Mr. Holliday, which, now read, is omitted from the published copy."

Birmingham will say nothing further in regard to the letter.

A Partisan Hill Combine Story.

A publication which would divide into two parts the silver letter, but for its probability, is the report that Hill is out of the race and will throw his strength to Pattison, of Pennsylvania. The information is said to have come in a letter from a prominent Republican politician of Philadelphia, who is opposed to Harrison and who has talked with the Hill men. According to this story, the Democratic leaders in Pennsylvania is to go to Pattison if he were nominated. All this is news to the Pennsylvanians, but as they are quite willing to talk on a guarded way about the possibilities of Pattison's nomination, they do not repudiate their allegiance to Cleveland though indeed that under the unit rule will receive the vote of the entire delegation on the first ballot, if not longer.

The anti-Harrity people, headed by ex-Senator Wallace and J. M. Guffey, of Pittsburg, have announced that they will fight the unit rule, but Mr. Harrity thinks their opposition will not amount to much. Harrity thinks that the break from the unit rule is only in the interest of Governor Pattison, and he claims to be the conservator of the only genuine Pattison boom.

Morrison and Palmer Out.

Senator Vilas and ex-Secretary of State Thomas F. Bayard are the guests of Lambert Tree. In answer to an inquiry whether Palmer would get the Cleveland votes if Cleveland were not nominated, Mr. Vilas said: "That isn't a supposable case. Senator Palmer is sincerely, enthusiastically for Cleveland. His only desire is that Illinois shall cast its vote for Cleveland and secure that gentleman's nomination. And there is no doubt but Cleveland will be nominated."

Hon. William R. Morrison, of Illinois, has declared himself for Cleveland and put a stop to the men who have been boomboming him. In view of this, Delegate Echols insists that Illinois will vote for Cleveland. The Illinois delegation does not feel quite so confident of the nomination, and the failure of the delegates are regarded with suspicion by the Cleveland people.

Indiana in Sizes and Sexes.

Among the Indiana politicians there is considerable disgust expressed at the manner in which the influence of the state is likely to be frittered away by divisions over the two presidential nominations, and the failure of one of them expressed it, "to appreciate the politics in the situation." One of the best known politicians in the Hoosier state is the Hon. James H. Rice, ex-state auditor. He says: "I believe Cleveland could carry Indiana, but with another candidate, it would be easier won. If New York and Indiana are the two doubtful states. The first contest here a solid delegation opposing the ex-president, and a majority of the Indiana delegation for another candidate. These facts seem to demonstrate the politics of the affair."

One of the delegates at large nodded approvingly and added: "Ain't we a help show! Indiana now has a president and if I had my way she'd have another at the end of Harrison's term. And yet here we are, divided, hopelessly divided. Instead of uniting Cleveland, a candidate who has not a vote from his own state, and refusing to cast their second in voting for Gray, a man from Indiana, who is the equal of any candidate named. And yet they think they are politicians. It makes me tired."

A reporter asked Senator Vanhes if he were going to place ex-Governor Gray's name before the convention, as stated by some of the Indiana delegates.

"That has not been discussed. "That has not yet been decided. The situation is chaotic. There is no organization behind anybody but Mr. Cleveland, and it looks to me that he would be nominated on the first ballot. I have no disposition to antagonize Mr. Cleveland. If a majority of the party want him for a candidate, let's take him and see what the outcome will be."

Cleveland Men in Conference.

The Cleveland men held a long conference. When ex-Secretary Whitney emerged from the conference room he remarked just five words of the claims of the Hill men that they had Cleveland beaten he said: "There is absolutely nothing in it. We have 501 votes absolutely that we can hold to the end. There is more than that, but 501 may be put as the minimum, simply because we consider it equivalent to a nomination on the first ballot. There is no more doubt of Cleveland's nomination than of the fact that I am standing here."

JOHN M. PALMER.

Patrick Collins, of Massachusetts, Governor Abbett, of New Jersey, or Governor Campbell will present Mr. Cleveland's name.

The Connecticut delegation at a meeting at the afternoon directed the chairman to cast the entire vote of the state—12 votes—for Cleveland. This is a Cleveland gain of 3 votes, as it was known that Governor Russell was a strong advocate of Mr. Cleveland's nomination, and he says that he is himself not among the dark horses.

New York State Senator William L. Brown says: "I am for the Democratic party. Tammany Hall and Grover Cleveland have no personal dislike to Mr. Hill, but I believe that the people want Mr. Cleveland."

The Wisconsin delegation brought with it a boom for Governor Peck for vice president. The Wisconsin men think that Mr. Peck, as a practical printer, would be a good offset to Mr Reid.

The West Virginia Cleveland men came on a special car decorated with the inscription, "West Virginia solid for Cleveland." Some one in Ohio shot at the banner creating a sensation in the car and nearly killed a delegate.

ANTI-HILL MEN JUBILANT

Report That They Will Turn Their Strength to Gorman.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The Hill men have developed a sudden confidence which proves their opponents have struck a vital spot. Expressions that something gratifying has occurred. They are reticent about it even among themselves, but Mr. Sheehan is becomed himself so far as to say, "Can't tell you how, but Cleveland's beaten."

The Gorman movement has assumed unexpected proportions and it is whispered that the deal over which the Tammany men are chiefly responsible, is a combination of the Hill and Gorman strength to overthrow Cleveland. Crew workers from Mr. Cleveland in the south where Mr. Gorman has peculiar strength. The plan is to put enough favorite sons to the field to prevent the nomination of Mr. Cleveland on the first ballot, and then if necessary, to cast the strength of Mr. Hill to Mr. Gorman. New York is trusted to cast her vote for Mr. Hill on the first ballot unless he withdraws in the meantime.

But after the first or second ballot it is generally believed that the delegates from the Hill strength is ready to go to any other available candidate but Cleveland. If it shall appear to Mr Hill that he cannot win, it is the general belief that an alliance offensive and defensive has been formed between the Hill and Gorman people.

Color is given to this belief by the fact that on Sunday Senator Gorman was closeted with Hon. Calvin S. Brice, Governor Flower and Richard Croker for a long time. Mr. Gorman asked Mr. Flower what his view of the situation in New York were, and the latter replied that the letter said: "Mr. Cleveland cannot carry New York, and that is sufficient against him. I have always been Mr. Cleveland's friend, but I do not believe in backing a lame horse."

Another important caller was Senator Youmans, of Iowa, who told the New York leaders that not a man in the Iowa delegation would vote for Mr. Cleveland even if Mr. Boies was withdrawn. "We are for Boies first," he said, "and after that we are for Mr. Hill."

The Hill managers are jubilant and lay claim to gains in Connecticut, California (which they are claiming as a whole), Kentucky, South Carolina, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa. Senator Gibson, Mr. Gorman's colleague, does not hesitate to say who is Maryland's choice, and as Mr. Gorman professes to be party to none but those who vote the junior senator may be regarded as speaking for his silent senior. Mr. Gibson said: "The Maryland delegation does not come to Chicago in the interest of any one man, nor is it here to sell any man's defeat. I have not a word to say against Mr. Cleveland, as I come from a Cleveland state. I would not disparage him to lead Mr. Gorman, and yet I will say that if the time ever comes during the session of the convention when the party to turn to Mr. Gorman, every one of the Maryland delegation will be with him, heart and soul. I have talked with the members of the two houses at Washington, and I do not hesitate to say that fully 75 per cent. of all the members prefer him to any other man."

At 6 o'clock the Kings county (N. Y.) men, 200 strong, arrived by a special train on the Pennsylvania road. They wore white high hats and carried silk umbrellas. A notable feature of the parade was the band of fifty paid to a Cleveland banner displayed by an Indianapolis club.

At 5:15 the first section of the Tammany train arrived, and shortly afterward the second New York train of the "antimasons" came in. It contained in all about 200 men. The other three sections of Tammany arrived during the night. The Tammany delegates make their way quietly to their hotels without any musical accompaniment. The Cleveland men became aggressive just after Tammany arrived, and the banners and carrying Cleveland banners marched into the Auditorium hotel shouting for their candidate and waving big banners. The very noses of the Tammany men. Richard Croker was asked if the rumor was true that he had agreed with Mr. Gorman to withdraw Mr. Hill's name and said: "Mr. Hill is in the race now and always."

It is put hard work for the Hill leaders to figure out that if the unit rule did not obtain in some states Cleveland would really not have an admitted majority of the delegates in addition to the Guffey-Wallace protest against the unit rule in Pennsylvania, there is a split in the vote where the Hill men, headed by Charles K. Halliday of The Kansas Democrat, are protesting against the instructions of the state convention. Ex-Governor Glick, the leader of the delegation, says, with Mr Harrity, of Pennsylvania, that he has no fear of serious trouble over the unit rule.

BOIES AND PALMER.

The Iowan Still a Dark Horse—The Senator Supports Cleveland.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The programme of the adherents of Governor Boies is a decidedly one. "No deals, no dickering, no combinations until the first ballot has determined the relative standing of the various candidates," is their motto. If Cleveland is not nominated on the second ballot, they claim that his prospects will steadily diminish and his supporters will go to Boies. Support for Boies as candidate on the first ballot has been pledged by some of the delegates from Texas, Arkansas, Nebraska and South Dakota.

The leaders of the Boies campaign say that they have been considerably harassed by the circulation of reports that their candidate is unsound on the silver question, and also that his father and he have leaded toward making him as much of a Republican as Democratic.

Senator Palmer, who has been anxiously awaited by the entire Cleveland element, who look to him to draw Illinois into line, arrived here just before midnight. He was met by a representative of the United Press, to whom he said that there was no candidate from Illinois who would contest the nomination of Grover Cleveland. He himself was not a candidate, but he knew he did he believe that Colonel Morrison would allow the use of his name. He believed that any good democrat could run well with or without New York. Cleveland would furnish all the necessary strength to carry Illinois, while the naming of Gray for second place would insure the solid vote of Indiana. Concerning the Syracuse delegation he said frankly he did not believe that they ought to be recognized as delegates.

CAMPBELL'S BOOM BURSTS

But the Ex-Governor Himself Did the Bursting.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The governor has punctured his boom and the Ohio delegation will not cast their votes for Campbell in the convention. This answer to a question as to the attitude of the Ohio delegation was received by the governor who now proposed to serve their patrons with the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CONOVER, Pres.
H. CONOVER, Vice-Pres.
ANDREW WILSON, Sec. & Treas.
J. MONTON, Gen. Supt.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

Joseph T. Sullivan,

No. 60 West Third Street,

Dealer in Choice

Wines, Liquors, etc.

BEER ON DRAUGHT.

He Dies Over the Gas.

NEWCOMB, N. Y., June 20.—John Hayes aged twenty-nine died from asphyxiation at Merchant's hotel. He blew out the gas

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

Having Disposed of the Produce Business to Mr. L. A. Rheaume, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co,

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the house business and have constantly on hand fine cookstove, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.

ANOTHER ELECTION COMING.

But this is a Selection for the public. $2 WORTH OF GOODS FOR $1.

1 lb new crop Tea (any kind).
1 lb fresh roasted Coffee (bean or ground).
1 lb Pride of Plainfield Baking Powder, (has no equal.)
1 lb best Corn Starch.
1 lb best Rice.
¼ lb best Pepper.
1 lb best Tapioca.
1 cake Premium Chocolate.
1 doz. bottle extract, Vanilla or Lemon.
1 bottle Pickles.

What we feel we cannot afford to offer, You cannot afford to miss. The last time we offered similar goods at this fabulously low price, some went away disappointed. Come early.

Choice table Butter, 19c per lb. Sole agents for J. D. Mason & Co. crackers and cakes, Baltimore, Md. See our variety. finest in the State

In quality Jersey, Surrey Curved Hams, Bacon and Shoulders, we haven't got a competitor in the city. Selling more in a day than most stores in two weeks.

Don't forget to ask for a card that entitles you to a 46 book and 84 picture free.

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,

Distributors of Pure Goods Wholesale and Retail 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

We are getting away with lots of Roset Shoes this month—now is the time to buy them.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S,
23 West Front street.

P. S.—Our $3 shoe never takes a back seat.

BABY-: LAUGHS

when mamma uses

ANTI-CHAP.

For children and infants. There is no preparation so cleansing and healthful for the little ones as Anti-Chap.

Wash your baby with Anti-Chap Soap. Dust the baby with

ANTI-CHAP POWDER.

Fear, Mamma, Everybody should use the delicious Anti-Chap. Your druggist keeps it. 25 cents each.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong Ice by Railroad. We now prepared to serve their patrons with Ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

FRED. W. DUNN,

Successor to

Barkalew & Dunn,

18 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Fine Groceries.

THREE BEE TEA

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before.

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher.

46 West Front Street.

HYDRANT

Hot Water or Steam Heating Apparatus

Furnished and set up by residences and public buildings.

J. N. SCHENCK,

20 MANNING AVENUE, North Plainfield.

20 years' experience. Pipe fitting, machinery repairs.

Agents for the celebrated "Furman" hoop heating boilers.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum

and

Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Cigars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

A. M. SEGUINE,

Proprietor of

Laing's Hotel Stables,

on Front Street, Opp. Madison Avenue.

TELEPHONE CALL No. 26.

Carriages for weddings, funerals and private calls.

Light carriages of all descriptions for sports.

Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for hollow driving.

BOARDED HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!

ALL SIZES.

Of Stone

Light Blue Color.

Reference:—

F. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.

ROBT. A. NIXSMER, Street Com.

Smalley Bros.,

24 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

30 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly added steam screening machinery. This machine, which is automatic, believes smokes him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

Upper (Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal. In best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

Hoods and Kindling Lumber.

He would also announce recently harvested facilities for Trucking, and Scroll Sawing, and is prepared to execute orders for same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in BEST

QUALITY COAL

YARD AND OFFICE

SOUTH AVENUE,

P. O. BOX 1607.

Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Counsellors at Law, Commissioners Deeds, Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Offices, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E. Engineer of the Famous Union County Road System. Special attention given to Sewerage and Drainage. Office, 1 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Attorney-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public. Office, 2 Park avenue, Plainfield. Open only nights. Office No. 25 West Front street.

CLARK & REED, Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Special Masters in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CRAIG A. MARSH, Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Solicitor and Master in Chancery, Notary Public. Office corner Front and Somerset streets.

DUNCAN & TEALE, Architects, 287 Broadway, New York city, rooms 31 and 32. Importers and Dealers in Portland Cement. Plainfield, N. J.

PLAINFIELD

CORDLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY

JONES & CO.

Wash underwear and Hosiery Mens' collars and cuffs a specialty. Our reputation is a guarantee of the best Laundry in Plainfield. Orders left at Dunham's Hatter, Front street, or at Park House, Merchant & Co's Law Office, Garden and Front Streets. P. O. box 1091. Telephone call 26.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION

OF

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, "
ELIAS R. FOSS, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7:00, 8:00, a. m., 12:05, 2:45, 5:30, 7:30, 9:30 p. m.
Close—7:30, 8:30, a. m., 12:30, 3:00, 6:00, 8:00 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND BARTON MAILS.

Arrive—8:00 a. m., 1:05, 6:30 p. m.
Close—8:30 a. m., 4:00 p. m.

Mails for Dunellen and Fanwood close at 4:00 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. Mail closes at 6:30 p. m.

WORKMEN WILL RESIST

Battle Over the Scale Probable at Pittsburg.

MINNESOTA MINERS MAY FIGHT.

Troops Are Already at the Scene of the Trouble and Bloodshed Seems Probable.

Now the Workmen Received a Large Force of Deputy Sheriffs.

PITTSBURG, June 20.—The 8,000 employees of the Carnegie firm at Homestead held an opening meeting and resolved to stand together in resisting the reduction in wages proposed by the firm. The formal answer to the Carnegie scale will be delivered on Friday, and it will be an unqualified refusal. The men have been plainly informed that the firm will not discuss the scale. They will continue at work until the last day of June. On the 1st day of July they expect men to be imported from other steel mills to take their places.

Preparing for a Siege.

They claim, however, that enough new men cannot be obtained to operate the great mills successfully, and that special effort have been made to a number of the present employees to continue at work. These all deny that they have any thought of deserting their fellows.

The work of preparing the mill for a siege is being steadily continued. Great trenches are being dug thirty-five feet apart so that the mill and the ground surrounding can be instantly lighted up in case of an attack at night. More ground will also be inclosed with a fifteen foot board fence this week. In this inclosure, it is believed, quarters for the new men will be erected.

Bloodshed Is Feared.

ST. PAUL, June 20.—A special from Tower, Minn., says that the opinion is general that it will require strong measures and perhaps bloodshed in order to maintain strikers from interfering with men who will be put to work at the Minnesota company's mines. The strikers are determined not, the most disturbing element being Austrians, many of whom have served in the army before coming to this country.

Their success in compelling the deputy sheriffs to leave the mines on peril of their lives has added to their recklessness. There were about 600 men in the strike, according to deputy sheriffs, and by a clever flank movement they completely surrounded the deputies, many of whom had never smelled gunpowder.

Soldiers at the Scene.

The sheriff saw that his men were weakening, and came to the conclusion that discretion was the better part of valor. Rumors are current that the strikers will compel the whole mining force of 1,500 men to go out. These rumors were so alarming that Sheriff Sharvy determined to send for two additional companies from West Duluth before attempting to start the mines.

Company A, Third regiment, arrived with forty-seven men, Captain Tear in command. They are quartered, with forty deputy sheriffs, about a quarter of a mile from the mines. The sheriff and General Manager D. R. Bacon, of the Minnesota Iron company, are determined not to risk a pitched battle without more men. All forces are waiting the arrival of the West Duluth contingent, when the mining machinery will be started. It is the determination of the sheriff, Captain Tear and Mr. Bacon to show no mercy if the strikers make an attack.

Printers Denounce Mr. Reid.

NEW YORK, June 20.—At a meeting of Typographical Union No. 6, held at Clarendon hall, the action of the Minneapolis committee was condemned by a resolution, carried by a vote of 575 to 8. Speeches were made in which Mr. Whitelaw Reid was denounced, and the following resolutions were thereupon adopted:

Whereas, It has been claimed by the public press that Typographical Union No. 6, through a committee, indorsed the nomination of Whitelaw Reid for the office of vice president of the United States, and

Whereas, The organization has never given the Minneapolis committee power to indorse any person for political preferment, but simply authorizing the committee to report to the convention assembled that hostility to that party had caused; therefore be it

Resolved, That while No. 6 still asserts that it has no grievance as an organization against the Republican party, it cannot indorse any person for political office.

We desire to have it thoroughly understood that No. 6 is an organization of printers, designed solely to advance the interests of its membership, and that no individual or individuals, nor any newspaper or publication of any description whatever, has the right to speak for No. 6 unless in duly authorized credentials, given under the seal of the union.

Senator Hill Angry.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Senator Hill was seen in regard to the report that he was going to Chicago to attend the Democratic convention. The senator was very much disturbed, and in a vexed tone said he wondered how many times he would be required to reiterate his statement about the matter. "I am here," said the senator. He then denied emphatically that he intended to attend the Chicago convention.

Drank with a Leper.

CHESTER, Pa., June 20.—John Anderson, a Swedish leper, escaped from the county almshouse at Lima and came to Chester. He ordered several drinks and then created a furore by disclosing his identity. When J P McCarty undertook to take hold of him Anderson bit his wrist severely on the hand. Dr C W Perkins, president of the board of health, had the man returned to Lima.

Lena McMahan's Mind Affected.

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., June 20.—Lena McMahon, the girl who was assaulted by Bert Lewis, the lynched negro, wandered away from her home in this place, but was overtaken by her father. It is thought the excitement of the past few days had caused temporary aberration of the mind.

Shot by Mistake.

SAVANNAH, June 20.—Patrick Cahill and two deputy sheriffs surrounded a cabin in which a dangerous negro lunatic named Perry was supposed to be hiding. Cahill was mistaken for Perry by one of the deputy sheriffs and fatally shot.

German Troops Routed.

BERLIN, June 20.—It is reported from Zanzibar that Buelow's Killimanjaro company, consisting of 300 Germans and 1200 Soudanese were defeated in the Mochi territory on June 10. Nearly a hundred men were killed.

Murder Over a Game of "Craps."

CHESTER, Pa., June 20.—Charles Martin shot and instantly killed John Riley at South Chester. Both are colored and were quarreling over a game of "craps." The murderer escaped.

EX SECRETARY BLAINE'S SORROW.

His Son, Emmons Blaine, Will Be Buried Wednesday.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The funeral of the late Emmons Blaine will be held on Wednesday. No definite arrangements for the funeral have yet been made and none will be made until the arrival of James G. Blaine, who is expected here this evening. Who the pall bearers will be and whether the body will be buried in Chicago or in the east, will not be known until Mr. Blaine has been consulted. Emmons Blaine died at 11:10 a. m. Saturday from blood poisoning, the result of infection of the bowels. The death took place in the great brown stone mansion of the McCormick family on Rush street. Mr. Emmons Blaine and her two-year-old son, McCormick, were the only persons present besides Mrs. Cyrus McCormick, young Mrs. Blaine's mother. This has been a sad four years for James G. Blaine.

EMMONS BLAINE.

He has lost his oldest son, his oldest daughter and his second son, while Mrs Blaine lay for weeks at the point of death of her sister. It is only two weeks since Emmons Blaine was an active figure in the Republican convention at Minneapolis, the supposed representative of his father.

Mr. Stanley Breaks a Story.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 20.—Hon. J. H. Manley has sent the following communication to the United Press:

AUGUSTA, Me., June 19.

The statement widely published that Emmons Blaine returned from Minneapolis sorely disappointed at the result and worn out by his labors in the cause of Harrison, I discussed with me at the West hotel during the convention and I was with him constantly. I dined at the house in Chicago on Sunday, June 12, and he with his wife drove to the station Sunday evening to bid me goodby. He was in perfect health and in the best of spirits. I never saw him in a happier frame of mind, lighter hearted and full of hope for the future. His last words to me were: "The result of the convention is all right. Give my love to every one in Maine. You will see us all this summer. Do not have any misgivings for father. His fame is secure."

J. H. MANLEY.

Mr. Blaine Leaves Boston.

BOSTON, June 20.—Hon. James G Blaine, Miss Blaine and Miss Harriet Blaine arrived in Boston at 6:30 a. m. Sunday from Bar Harbor, breakfasted at Young's hotel and left for Chicago by the 10:30 train on the Boston and Albany railroad.

A Neat Hat.

SERVICEABLE AND PRETTY.

One of the prettiest hats seen this season is given here. It is of watercress green fancy straw, trimmed in front with a large bow of green velvet having a paste buckle in the centre, and a white zigzette, above the bow. The crown is draped very prettily with white gulpure lace.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS.

The New Haven and the Athletic Clubs Drop Out.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 20.—After a stormy session of two days the Eastern League adjourned. An eight club league was formed. New Haven and the Athletics, of Philadelphia, retiring. The former club was frozen out and its $1,000 guarantee forfeited. The Athletics' guarantee was returned, owing to a special arrangement made with them on entering the league.

The following players of the retiring clubs have been apportioned to the different clubs remaining, as follows: Fournier to Rochester; Johnson to Syracuse; Griffin, Walls, Cross and Donnelly to Buffalo; Flanagan to Troy, and Dwelin to Albany.

A new schedule was adopted for the remainder of the first season.

The League Record.

Clubs	W.	L.	Per Ct.
Chicago	30	14	.682
Boston	29	15	.659
New York	27	17	.614
Cleveland	25	20	.556
Pittsburg	21	21	.500
Cincinnati	19	25	.432
Philadelphia	16	26	.381
St. Louis	15	28	.349
Washington	13	30	.302

National League Record.

Clubs	W.	L.	Per Ct.
Providence	30	14	.682
Rochester	29	15	.659
Jersey City	27	17	.614
Toronto	25	20	.556
Hamilton	21	21	.500
Binghamton	19	25	.432
Utica	16	26	.381
Elmira	15	28	.349
Buffalo	13	30	.302

National League Games.

At St. Louis—
St Louis..... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 4 3
Louisville..... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 5 2
Moran and Gleason. Grim and Vinn.

Eastern League Games.

At Providence— R. H. E.
Providence..... 2 0 0 1 0 0 1 0 0—4 9 1
Troy..... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 7 2
Cahill and Welch, Murphy and Sullivan.

At Rochester— R. H. E.
Rochester..... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—1 5 2
Buffalo..... 1 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—2 3 2
McKeough and Dewsbrough. Babese and Daley.

At Albany— R. H. E.
Albany..... 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—2 7 1
Athens..... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 4 3
Sullivan and Brown; Carrody Kilroy and Gray.

Depew Leaves Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Mr. Chauncey M. Depew has left Washington for New York. No intimation has been given by Mr Depew whether he will accept or decline the portfolio of secretary of state. It is understood, however, that he has the matter under consideration and will probably announce his decision in a few days.

"Old Colony."

—Life.

Sidney Dillon's Will.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The will of the late deceased Sidney Dillon directs that his estate be divided into halves, two-thirds to be equally divided among Mrs. Julia D. Ripley and Mrs. Cora D. Wyckoff, his daughters, and Sidney Dillon Ripley and Harry Dillon Ripley, his grandsons. Of the remaining third the other grandchildren are to receive $100,000 each.

To Probe the Lynching.

FORT JERVIS, N. Y., June 20.—About thirty subpoenas were served here by Sheriff Alexander on persons who are supposed to know about the lynching of Bob Lewis, and they will testify before the grand jury at Goshen on Tuesday. The district attorney intends to make a searching investigation.

Maggie Cline Fined Five Dollars.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Maggie Cline, the singer, was a prisoner in the Tombs police court, where she was fined five dollars, which was remitted. Her husband and a cabman were her fellow prisoners. She won fame by singing, "Throw 'Im Down, Mc. Cluskey."

Archbishop Ireland Thanks France.

PARIS, June 20.—Archbishop Ireland lectured here concerning the progress of Catholicism in the United States. Archbishop Ireland emphasized the democratic character of Christianity, and thanked France for causing the republic to be recognized at Rome.

Prince Michael in Prison.

JACKSON, Mich., June 20.—Michael K. Mills, "Prince Michael," has arrived at the prison here to serve his five-years' sentence. He does not seem in any way cast down. He will be shaved and shorn of his ten years' growth of beard and hair.

Streets Strewn with Corpses.

CALCUTTA, June 20.—The cholera is raging with increased mortality in Persia and Afghanistan. In Turkestyhan the streets are said to be strewn with corpses.

Routed the Arabs.

PARIS, June 20.—Prince de Croy and Lieutenant Michaut have routed two powerful bands of Arab slave raiders on the South Congo frontier.

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC

SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS

SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC

4 & 5 cents per Copy.

Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.

A. M. Vanderbeek's,

22 PARK AVENUE.

C. DICKINSON,

PRACTICAL

OPTICIAN

and

JEWELER.

Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Agent for the American

Rambler Bicycles.

No. 13 Park avenue.

George - Bremmer,

No 28 SOMERSET STREET,

READY MADE CLOTHING,

or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

A Ticket to Europe

May be bought on any steamer; any line, CHEAPER THAN IN NEW YORK.

SINGLE TRIP:
First-class—$30 and upwards.
Second-class—$20 and upwards.
Steerage—$19 and upwards.

ROUND TRIP:
First-class—$60 and upwards.
Second-class—$40 and upwards.
Steerage—$30 and upwards.

Cabins, both first and second class, should be engaged as far ahead as possible.

Further information given upon application to agent, Henry D. Morrison, 9 Somerset street.

38c.

Buys a full size, re-inforced front, shirt, with Linen bosom and waistbands; regular 50c quality.

17c.

Buys a five foot curtain pole with brass fixtures, complete.

Window Shades 25c. and upward.
Dress Chellies 25c. Best Prints 4c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 30 days at

BOEHM'S.

No. 7 WEST FRONT STREET.

CARRIAGES and HARNESS.

$15.00

Buys hand made rubber mounted harness.

$100.00

Buys canopy top, natural wood surrey.

Prices and styles to suit all.

SWIFT SAFETIES.

RYERSON,

28 SOMERSET STREET.

PIPTONIZED

Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet

MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—24 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS,

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 923.

DIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Dierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. R. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.
All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Glendview avenue.

P. O. Box 813.

R. V. SAUMS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Dunellen.

P. O. Box 1208.

Jobbing attended to. Satisfaction given thoroughly on all kinds of work.

S. P. HOFFMAN,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

Residence—34 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

All orders given Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ABBOTT,

Practical carpenter and builder. Jobbing promptly attended to. Orders left at residence, 24 Somerset street, Plainfield, or at my shop, rear Second street, Scotch Plains, will receive prompt attention. Interior hard wood work. P. O. Box 1241.

JOHN HERRMANN,

Dealer in lumber and hard wood mantels, Shop corner of Somerset and Sargent streets, North Plainfield, N. J.

J. HERRMANN, 6 Sargent street.

Just What You Need!

If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an

Arnold Steam Cooker.

Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.

You can buy the above articles at 61 Park avenue. Also the only genuine

BOSTON BROWN BREAD,

made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.

M. E. BEACH, Agent.

Do You Want Shirts?

If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your ideas.

The assortment we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects.

Full Bosoms for hot weather; Blue Flannel for cool.

Hallock & Davis,

5 West Front Street.

Trunks and Bags.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS

and

PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—29 East Front street.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

25 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

45 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.

49 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND BOND NOTE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST, MORTGAGE

NO. 6 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE,

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Six Varieties.)

Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : :

- - - NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 48 EMILY STREET.

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

43 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

PORTUGUESE AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any the of first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer. Telephone Co 187.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(The Four-Hundred R. R. Co. Limited.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time table in effect May 15, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 2 14 2 37, 5 20, 6 14, 6 28, 6 58, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Arrive at New York at 4 25, 5 20, 6 10, 6 40, 7 10, 7 40, 8 10, 8 40, 9 10, 9 40, 10 10, 10 40, 11 10, 11 40 a. m., 12 10, 12 40, 1 10, 1 40, 2 10, 2 40, 3 10, 3 40, 4 10, 4 40, 5 10, 5 40, 6 10, 6 40, 7 10, 7 40, 8 10, 8 40, 9 10, 9 40, 10 10, 10 40, 11 10, 11 40 p

CURIOUS FOLKS

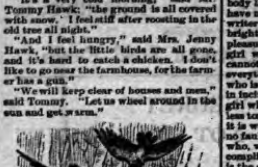
THE HAWKS AND THE RABBIT.

A Brave but Unsuccessful Race for Life by a Nimble Fellow.

"It's a very cold morning," said Mr. Tommy Hawk; "the ground is all covered with snow. I feel stiff after roosting in the old tree all night."

"And I feel hungry," said Mrs. Jenny Hawk, "but the little birds are all gone, and it's hard to catch a chicken. I don't like to go near the farmhouse, for the farmer has a gun."

"We will keep clear of houses and men," said Tommy. "Let us wheel around in the sun and get warm."



"SEE ME CATCH HIM," SAID TOMMY.

And so they did, and while they moved to and fro so high that they seemed only specks in the sky, Jenny's sharp eyes were on the lookout for a breakfast. Soon she spied Johnny Rabbit scudding along, also looking for something to eat after a frosty morning. "Here's our chance," said Jenny.

"See me catch him," said Tommy. And down they plunged so fast that you would have thought they must strike the ground hard.

But Johnny with his long ears had heard the soft whirr of their wings, and, being a nimble fellow, dashed off with might and main for his home across the field. But the hawks are still swifter and make ground curve in their fly. They are catching up, and their sharp beaks are close to his fat sides. Run, Johnny, run, if you wish to save your life! The bushes are all bare. There's no place to hide. There is no safety in the open field. Where is your burrow? Run and hide! Johnny did his best, but he did not get off. Tommy and Jenny had a fine meal of rabbit pie.

The Vain Elephant—A Fable.

A grand visier in a large city owned an elephant which he used to ride on important occasions. When he appeared among the people, they all with one accord bowed themselves to the earth in token of obeisance. Seeing this, the elephant began to give himself airs, and fancied that such honors were meant for him alone, and not for his master. He did not confess these thoughts to anybody, but on one occasion, when the driver was taking him to the water, the latter happened to look them through a town. The passers by, seeing only the elephant and his driver, did not take any particular notice or even stop to look at them, as those animals were very common in the city. So the huge beast stopped and began to trumpet with a loud noise, by which he meant to call them to thought of duty and respect for his dignity.

"Hold your noise, and march on," yelled the driver, as he gave the animal several sharp thrusts with the goad which he carried. "Don't them fellers think that folk wish to be troubled with thee and thy noise?"

So the poor elephant had to tramp on much quicker than he liked, and he had also to endure the laughs and hootings of the boys and men in the street, who could not help cracking jokes at his expense.

Moral—There are many in this world who require praise and honor which they have done nothing to earn.

The Girl That Everybody Likes.

Have you ever met the girl that everybody likes. You are unfortunate if you have not met her. She is the girl, says a writer in Golden Days, who is not "too perfect for" to be able to find joy and pleasure all over the world. She is the girl who appreciates the fact that she cannot always have the first choice of everything in the world. She is the girl who is not aggressive and does not find joy in inciting aggressive people. She is the girl who never causes pain with a thought or tongue. She is the girl who, whether it is warm or cold, clear or stormy, finds no fault with the weather. She is the girl who, when you invite her to any place, complimente you by looking her best. She is the girl who makes this world a pleasant place because she is so pleasant herself.

And, by the by, when you come to think of it, isn't she the girl who makes you feel she likes you, and therefore you like her?

The Story of a Shower.

Little maidens One and Two,
Sewing fast, as well they may,
Little hooded cloaks of blue,
Ready to go on show.

Enters little maiden Three.
"Counsel you've lookup all the day
Time enough for cloaks, for me.
When the rain has well begun"

THEN THE SHOWER COMES HARD AND FAST.

Little maidens, One, Two, Three,
Gayly playing, till at last
Just a drop or two is seen.
Then the shower comes hard and fast.

One and Two laugh at the rain:
As for little maiden Three,
When she scampers home again,
No drown'd rat looks worse than she!

Where Go the Boats?

Dark brown is the river,
Golden is the sand,
It flows along for ever,
With trees on either hand.

Green leaves a-floating, castles of the foam,
Boats of mine a-boating, where will all come home?

On goes the river, and out past the mill,
Away down the valley, away down the hill.
Away down the river, a hundred miles or more,
Other little children shall bring my boats ashore.

—Robert Louis Stevenson.

To Clean Small Ivory Articles.

Carefully brush each piece with a new and moderately firm brush; make a paste of fine sawdust damped with water and some drops of lemon juice. Lay this thickly over all the pieces in every part, let it dry slowly but thoroughly, then brush it all off. If not satisfactory, repeat the operation with a slight addition of fresh lemon juice.

HOW CALLAHAN WENT TO THE WALL.

There was a man named Callahan who paid a penalty once
For shooting at his wife, and always looked as sprucs as elevating guns.
His coat and vest were nearly pressed, his hat was up to pay property.
And neither had his shirt front, nor the collar round his neck.

The noble youth, to tell the truth, set very little store
On anything the earth contained aside from what he wore.
"Let others eat," he used to say, "let others smoke and drink;
But as for me I'll stand before the looking glass and think."

Alack! A last it came to pass when Cal was twenty-four
He met a girl much lovelier than any clothing store.
And after that he sat and sat and heaved sigh after sigh,
And thought no more about his coat, his collar or his tie.

In the case of you, 'twas likely true that when love touched your heart
You found yourself a dude and looked exceeding smart.
But Mary Ann from Callahan drove every other thought
Like the number 10—she was the 1 and he was simply 0.

He popped—she murmured. She saw there was no other way
Than this the leaving home.
True life, but she could never wed a man so poorly dressed.
She cried, No, and let him go from dear old Hackensack.
To wander, seedy-gone-ward with his old clothes on his back.

His courage gone, he plodded on, his form he gone to shrieks,
He tasted of the cup and used what little cash he had for drink;
And so he rose, and so in jugs he journeyed toward the west,
Until one day he laid himself beside a stream to rest.

Beside a stream which served for steam to run a paper mill
Lay Callahan, the wanderer, a-sleeping sound and still;
And lying there, the weary hair concealing all his face,
He looked just like a heap of rags to those who passed.

Poor Callahan! The workmen ran and yet him in a bag;
They packed him in, they jammed him in, they pushed and crowded even.
They felt no bones, his muffled tones they did not hear at all,
And Callahan—he's paper now on some one's parlor wall.

—Morris Waite in Detroit Free Press.

His Idea of Poetry.

A celebrated journalist once concluded an important leading article with a carefully composed and eloquent peroration. To his dismay, however, a printer's idiosyncrasy caused his peroration to appear to the world cut up in separate lines, and posing as a poetical quotation.

The irate journalist, conscious that some of his best work had been spoiled, rushed wildly into the editor's sanctum, and pointing to the printed muddle, excitedly exclaimed:

"Look here at this. See what that fiend's imp has done. He has ruined —utterly ruined my work!"

The editor, with that serene composure and affability which is so characteristic of his race, listened quietly to a recital of the printer's crimes and then gravely arose.

"I will see justice done, my good fellow; he shall not escape," and then, armed with a copy of the paper, strode into the composing room.

"Jenkins, did you set up this?"

A compositor of the good old school came forward.

"Yes, sir, that is some of my work."

"And very fine work it is, too," exclaimed the editor. "Do you know that this is some of Mr. S——'s finest prose, and you have been thick headed enough to set it up by paragraphs?"

"Please, sir, sir," muttered the compositor: "Well, I looked at that paragraph, and I read it for'ards and I read it back'wards, and I couldn't make head nor tail nor common sense out of it, so I thought it must be poetry and pi'ed it as such!"—London Tit-Bits.

Called the Bet, but Got Left.

Some years ago an English engineer, now prominent in the official management of one of our great railroads, was superintending the construction of a new road in Pennsylvania. After supper one evening he strolled into the "setting room" of the country tavern, where some twenty men were seated around the stove, smoking and chatting.

A regular down east Yankee was expounding the respectable strength of the arch, its use and application in mechanics, and illustrating his remarks by pawing a half bushel of peanuts.

"You ain't up to that," said he, "how strong the arch is, if you are right—if you know how. Now there's the egg; nobody's got a greater arch than the egg, and if you eat it right it's mighty strong. Why, I'll set an egg on this floor in such shape that you can't break it with this half bushel maul."

A general murmur of scouting disbelief ran around the room, but the Yankee was game.

"I said I'd do it, and I do, and I'll bet the drinks for the crowd on it."

The engineer hated a Yankee, and though a very quiet man, he could not resist the temptation to take a whole party with such an arrogant and preposterous statement, so he quietly said:

"I will take that bet."

An egg was brought in from the kitchen and handed to the Yankee. He took it and stood it upon the floor in the corner of the room, where the measure couldn't reach.

The engineer did not even attempt to fill a specimen egg with sand, but produced, instead,

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

65 per Year in Advance. T. W. Merriam, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Lock Box L. Telephone Call 65. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," TUESDAY, JUNE 21, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Somerset Council, 104,

JR. O. U. A. M.,

STRAWBERRY AND ICE CREAM

FESTIVAL

to be held in

SANGERBUND : HALL,

Plainfield, N. J., on WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY Evenings,

June 22 and 23, 1892.

Admission 10 Cents. Dancing after the o'clock Music by Prof. Guttman's orchestra, (14 pieces.) 20 2

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR THEIR VACATION, SHOULD SEND NEW ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

BREVITIES

—Commencement day Thursday.

—Thermometers in this city registered 92 degrees in the shade at three o'clock to-day.

—The Summer time table for the Port Reading Railroad, Central New Jersey Division, will go into effect Sunday, June 26th.

—Terry, the Brooklyn pitcher, who it was reported had been secured by the Somervilles, has gone with the Pittsburg League Club.

—Several entries have already been received by J. Harvey Doane, for the Crescent League Bicycle tournament, next month.

—The New Jersey Athletic Club are arranging to give a grand fireworks display on the Fourth of July night, at the grounds, Bayonne.

—The annual meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of New Jersey will be held in the auditorium, Ocean Grove, on the 6th and 7th inst.

—Twenty-four members of the Plainfield Lady Cyclers, (F. L. C.) left on their wheels this morning for Summit, where they will spend the day. They took their lunches with them.

—The second annual Christian Endeavor excursion under the auspices of the Dunellen, New Market and Warren Mission Societies has been arranged to take place in August.

—A horse attached to Mr. J. P. Laire's, the hardware man's delivery wagon, fell at the corner of Third and Richmond streets yesterday afternoon, cutting itself severely as the knees.

—A musicale in aid of the Mission Church of the Heavenly Rest, will be held at the Sunday-school rooms of the Holy Cross Church, North Plainfield, at four o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 25th. See advertisement.

—The first annual commencement of St. Mary's school will be held in Stillman Music Hall, on Friday evening, June 24th. The programme will consist of orchestra and vocal music, recitations dramas and military drills.

—Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M. will hold a strawberry and ice cream festival to-morrow and Thursday nights at Sangerbund Hall, North Plainfield. Prof. Guttman will furnish the music. For particulars see advertisement.

—The Street Railroad Company are laying track at the rate of seven hundred feet per day. Workmen were engaged stretching the wire yesterday on Front street and the company promises to have the cars running by July 15th.

—On Saturday, June 25th, 42 desirable plots, each containing from two to five acres and surrounding the Netherwood Hotel, will be sold at auction by the well-known real estate auctioneer, Jere Johnson, Jr. Refreshments will be furnished prior to the sale.

—The Crescent League pyrotechnical display on July 4th in the evening will be the finest ever given in this city. Pain, of London and Manhattan Beach fame, will have several set pieces, one of which will be the Crescent ball team in a blaze of fire. It will not be the intention to roast them.

—The proprietors of one New York store have set up an immense soda fountain, where the cool stuff can be had for three cents a glass, and every woman who buys there runs up and refreshes herself while the cash girl is absent. It must pay or they wouldn't do it, but how they can sell for three cents what other stores charge seven and ten for is more than somebody can understand.

—The number of men who carry umbrellas and women who make use of the biggest palm leaf fan they can find and let their neighbors get the benefit of it are examples of the increased common sense of the average citizen. The pocket fans women used to carry did not give a bit of wind and only made them tired waving them around, and then they were always getting lost. Now a big palm leaf is as much an object of envy as it once was of ridicule, and everybody tries to get the seat next to the woman who carries one.

—The French poet, St. Foix, who was always in debt, set one day in a barber's shop waiting to be shaved. He was bothered, when the door opened and a tradesman entered who happened to be one of the poet's largest creditors. No sooner did the man see Saint-Foix than he angrily demanded his money. The poet composedly begged him not to make a scene. "Won't you wait for the money until I am shaved?" "Certainly," said the other, pleased at the prospect. Saint-Foix then made the barber a victim of the agreement, and immediately took a towel, wiped the lather from his face and left the shop. He were a beard to the end of his days.—New York Herald.

PERSONAL.

—Mrs. S. Osborne of Broadway, will leave Friday for Johnstown, N. Y., where she will spend the Summer.

Mr. Frank Fisig, formerly of this city but now of New York, spent last night with friends in this city.

Mr. W. A. Clapp, a teacher at Leal's Academy, leaves to-day on his "wheel" for his home in Wappinger Fall, N. Y., where he will spend his vacation.

Mayor Gilbert was one of the committee that notified President Harrison of his renomination, at Washington, yesterday. He returned to this city last night.

The graduation hop at Buzzers College, New Brunswick, takes place to-morrow, and the event promises to be a fashionable one. The patronesses of the hop are Mrs. Samuel Sloan, Mrs. James Neilson, Mrs. Roderick Terry, Mrs. Robert Ballantine, and Mrs. E. B. Monroe.

Miss Clementine de Vere, who is well-known in this city, and who has sung at several of the Meiopois concerts, is probably the best paid choir singer in this country. The pay for Dr. Paxton's West Presbyterian church $4,800 a year for eight months' service Sundays alone, and she is allowed an additional vacation of five weeks for her concert tour. Occasionally she sings at Sunday night concerts after the service in Dr. Paxton's church.

Newark Defeats the St. George at Cricket.

As stated in yesterday's News, the Newark Electrics visited this city Saturday and defeated the St. George team by the score of 35 to 26.

The following is the result of the inning:

ELECTRICS.
R. Gallemore, c. Hendry b. J. Ogden..	1
J. Forsyth, leg b. w. b. Hendry.....	0
J. Wells, b. Higham.....	9
T. Parkin, b. Ogden.....	4
J. Reynolds, leg b. w. b. Higham.....	1
S. Saunders, b. Higham.....	2
J. Hampshire, b. Higham.....	3
J. Ayer, not out.....	8
Y. Thompson, b. Higham.....	0
W. Oxley, b. Higham.....	2
J. Holmes, c. Wharton b. Hendry.....	0
Lee bye.....	1
	33

ST. GEORGE'S.
H. Turner, c. Ayer b. Wells.....	0
J. Ogden, b. Wells.....	0
F. Wharton, b. Wells.....	2
J. Arden, b. Ayer.....	0
J. Ogden, jr. Saunderson b. Ayer....	0
John Ogden, b. Wells.....	6
John Ogden, run out.....	2
J. Jolly.....	4
Hendry, c. Forsyth b. Wells.....	2
H. Hamilton, c. Wells b. Ayer.....	0
D. Thompson, not out.....	6
Bye.....	1
	26

Farmers' Alliance Convention.

The Farmers' Alliance party of New Jersey held a State convention at New Brunswick on Saturday for the purpose of electing delegates to the Omaha convention. A Mr. Wentworth of Orange was elected chairman, and H. D. Opdyke of Stanton secretary.

The following delegates were elected:

At Large—John W. Hayes and James R. Buchanan.

Districts—First, C. P. Atkinson; Second, John Wilcox; Third, William Farr Goodwin; Fourth, E. E. Potter; Fifth, Charles Birdsall; Sixth, J. W. Arrowsmith; Seventh, James T. McBride; Eighth, William B. Dobbs.

An executive committee, consisting of one member from each county, was appointed. The convention adopted the St. Louis platform and also indorsed the Swiss form of Republican government.

Plainfield vs. Morristown To-morrow.

To-morrow afternoon the Crescents cross bats with the Morristown Athletic Club, one of the strongest semi-professional teams in Northern New Jersey.

Manager Keller has obtained W. C. Stevens, the crack twirler from the Lyons, Mass., team, to pitch to-morrow's game, and in all probability he will be signed.

The Morristown club will send down its strongest team and Hetzel, of last year's Star Athletics, will be in the box. The batting order of the team has been changed. "Little" Daley will follow Hofford and "Gentle William" follows Daley. The batting order will be as follows: Hofford, c.; Daley, 2b.; Murphy, 1f.; Turner, 3b.; Leidy, cf.; Bonnet, ss.; Jones, 1b.; Regan, rf.; Stevens, p.; Snowden, extra.

The State Reform School.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the New Jersey State Reform School will be held at Jamesburg on July 6th. The guests will be permitted to inspect the institution, and the regular order of exercises will be in operation until eleven o'clock. The schools will be in session from 11.15 till 11.45 a. m. Employes and boys will dine at 12 m. Dinner will be served to guests at 12.30 p. m. At 2.30 p. m. exercises will be held in Assembly Hall, and at 3.30 p. m. the military parade and review will take place.

To lay out a Course.

Captain Frank L. C. Martin and Mr. Frederick Keer, entered this morning in map out the course for the century run of the Metropolitan Association of Cycle Clubs. The route will be from Newark, through Plainfield and Princeton to Princeton. The date for the run has not yet been set.

—Van Emburgh & White will fit you out for these warm days.

—Hallock & Davis are selling "two-ounce zephyr" hats like hot cakes.

—Vanderbeek is having a special sale of four and five cent music. Some of the pieces are gems.

OCEAN GROVE'S PROGRAMME.

The Camp Meeting Services as the Various Other Societies and Associations to Convene.

The great annual camp meeting services will begin at Ocean Grove on August 28, and will continue the usual ten days. The opening sermon will be preached by Bishop John H. Vincent, formerly of this city, at 10.30 in the morning.

This famous religious resort already begins to feel the thrill of Summer life among its hundreds of boarding houses and hotels.

The opening day of the religious exercises on the camp meeting grounds will be Sunday, June 26th.

The opening sermon at 10.30 a. m., will be preached by the Rev. J. R. McCarty, D.D., of the Central New York Conference. The Ocean Grove Summer Sabbath-school, which includes the famous Bible class of Dr. Hanlon, of Pennington Seminary, will begin in the afternoon at two o'clock. St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church will at that time hold a reunion service in the auditorium. Addresses will be delivered by Dr. Stokes, Dr. Hanlon, the Rev. G. H. Yatman and others. Beach meeting will be held as usual at the foot of Ocean Pathway at six p. m. The Rev. Mr. Yatman will preach the evening sermon.

On July 11th the Society of the King's Daughters, of which Mrs. Margaret Bottome, of New York, is president, will hold its annual meeting.

The Epworth League Sunday School Assembly will be held from July 13 to 21, inclusive. The Rev. Dr. Sims, the chancellor of Syracuse University, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, July 17, and the Rev. N. E. Adams, the pastor of Methodist Episcopal Church at Morristown, N. J., will deliver the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle oration on Thursday, July 21. The Rev. Dr. B. B. Loomis will preside over the entire session.

The New Jersey Sabbath Union will hold its anniversary on Friday, July 22, under the direction of the secretary, the Rev. J. H. Knowles, D.D.

On Tuesday, July 26, the African Methodist Episcopal Church will hold its annual jubilee. The services will be in charge of one of the bishops of that church.

The National Temperance and Publication Society will be in session from July 27 to July 31, inclusive. J. N. Stearns of New York, will be in charge of the exercises. That popular orator, Col. George W. Bain, of Kentucky, will deliver an oration. The Silver Lake quartette will be in attendance.

The twenty-third anniversary of the first religious meeting ever held at Ocean Grove is Sunday, July 31. The morning sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler of Brooklyn.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society will be in convention on August 20 and 21. Prominent missionary workers from foreign fields will address the meeting.

John Kean Bearen.

There was much satisfaction yesterday afternoon over the news from Trenton that the Court of Errors and Appeal, the highest in the State, had rendered a decision in favor of the Metropolitan Gas-light Company, whose charter the old Elizabethtown Company sought to take away. The competition of the Metropolitan has brought down the price of gas from $2.20 per 1,000 feet to $1.20 on streets where only one gas company has the mains laid, and 75 cents on streets where both have mains.

The Elizabethtown Gas Company was started by Col. John Kean in 1848, and for many years enjoyed a monopoly of the business of lighting the city. The price paid for years was $20 a lamp to the gas company.

The advent of the rival company caused the old monopoly to lower the rate to $12.80 per lamp.

Congressman Kean has succeeded his father as head of the old company, and he began a vigorous fight to test the validity of the new company's charter, granted in 1871, but which, for many years, had lain dormant until the International Gas Company of New York agreed to furnish the capital to operate the plant.

The vote in the Court of Errors was 7 to 5 in favor of the new company, all the Lay Judges and two Law Judges voting in the affirmative, and Judges Beasley, Vandyke, Depue, Magee, and Scudder in the negative.

Elizabeth Rejoices.

The games of Saturday in the Central N. J. Leagues series gave an unlooked for turn to events, and placed the lead of the victorious Plainfielders.

The Elizabeth Red Legs developed an extraordinary streak of luck, and by dint of heavy and concentrated stick work bunched up for almost certain signs in the field and strong support of Miller, they almost succeeded in shutting out Plainfield, and at 5.30 p. m. the military parade and review will take place.

STATE NEWS

The wreck of the steamer Florida, at Atlantic City, has been blown up with torpedoes by the government officials.

Monmouth County Freeholders have refused to act on the new improved roads, which Long Branch, Eatontown and other towns have been wishing for.

A party of amateur fishermen at Burlington captured 185 cod by fish one hour Wednesday. The catch weighed 1,900 pounds, the largest fish tipping the scales at 35 pounds.

The corner stone of St. Luke's Episcopal Mission, at South Paterson, was laid Sunday afternoon in the presence of about four hundred persons. Archdeacon Jenvey, of Jersey City, officiated.

The twenty-fourth annual session of the National Council, Junior Order United American Mechanics, will open at the United States Hotel, Atlantic City to-day. A parade afternoon and a public meeting Wednesday evening will be the features.

R. H. Lawrence of Toms River, a deaf mute, has been for many years principal of a deaf mute school at New Orleans, is advocating the establishment of a second school in New Jersey. He says the State institution at Trenton will not accommodate all the mutes in the State, and many parents have been refused admission last year, on account of lack of room.

Lists are being circulated in Cape May City for subscriptions to the capital stock of the Philadelphia and Cape May Railroad Company, a new line designated to connect Cape May with the leading system at Landisville, on the Atlantic Road. The road will run along the bay side. No money will be asked of subscribers till the road is completed and in operation. Ex-Mayor Reed and Thomas C. Rich are said to be leading promoters of the proposed road.

St. Bridget's Young Men's Catholic Lyceum of Montgomery Place, Jersey City, was dedicated Sunday afternoon. The building is of brick, three stories high, with a solid stone front. The rest of the building is finished in terra cotta. The services were conducted by the Right Rev. Bishop Wigger, assisted by Fathers Mansioni, Gilloo, Clancy, Kelly, Farrell, Quinn, Smith and Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York. Father Lavelle made an address. Prior to the dedication a number of church organizations paraded in the vicinity of the lyceum.

Dunellen Doings.

The subject, "Is Marriage a Failure" does not seem to have any effect on either the young or old in this town, as the following will not. Wednesday afternoon last the leap year marriage season was opened with a will at this point.

Miss Maria Geers took the lead by becoming the bride of Mr. Rush, a prominent baker of Orange.

Miss Campbell took unto herself a husband and is now Mrs. Clawson, her husband being a prominent mason in the town.

Miss Hill becomes the bride of our young gentlemen's furnishing goods merchant, Walter E. Smith, commonly known as "quiet Walter" who says little and thinks much. The ritual was tied very quietly on Sunday evening.

Miss Matilda Winter, is to wed Squire Lucky. This matrimonial ceremony will be performed by one of the local preachers, possibly to-night. He is a retired gentleman and our ex-Borough Commissioner.

"Last but not least" comes Miss Minnie Swackhammer, who is to marry Mr. Oakley, son of a prominent hardware merchant of New Brunswick, N. J., who owns the residence in this town now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Stevens and will probably make it their future home. Miss Swackhamaer has been one of the most prominent teachers in the public school of the town, and resigned at the close of this season in anticipation of this event.

There are several others, "too numerous to mention," and as their arrangements have not yet been fully consummated we will leave them for future writing, but the good work still continues to move on.

We are sorry to say that our neighbors in New Market, are not so, below us, are alive to anything else but matrimony. At the same time they ask their neighbors to be patient; They will be heard from before the close of the year, but there are very few marriageable daughters left in that section of the country.

It is reported that the Rev. Mr. Speer-Hague, formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Dunellen, will occupy the pulpit of the latter next Sunday, having exchanged with the Rev. Mr. Martine.

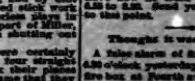
The closing ceremonies of Miss C. B. Peck's orchard and kindergarten has been postponed from Friday evening next to Monday afternoon following.

The people of Dunellen seem to feel that the railroad has gone back on them since the summer time table has been in force. There are now no trains to Plainfield after 8.35 to 8.55. Send your electric railway on this point.

Thought it was a Letter-box.

A false alarm of fire was sent out at 6.30 o'clock yesterday morning from the fire box at Fourth avenue and Twenty-first street. The occupants of a house on the box to post a letter, mistaking it for a mail box.

—I. F. Laire & Co., have now six varieties of lawn mowers. Refrigerators for all sizes.



SMITH—In this city, June 21, Fred W. Smith, in his 30th year.
Notice of funeral hereafter. 21 1*

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

ALL FOR CLEVELAND.

What the Democrats are Doing at the Convention.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 20.—(Special)—1 o'clock.—It is raining here very heavy.

Everything seems solid for Cleveland and a choice will probably be made Wednesday, or Thursday at the latest.

1.30.—Governors Flower of New York and Boies of Iowa have just entered and are being loudly cheered.

Wilson of West Virginia, will be permanent chairman.

Cochrane or Fellows will put Hill's name before the convention.

The Syracuse convention delegates will not contest New York's seats as Cleveland's nomination seems positive.

Gray, of Indiana, will no doubt be nominated for Vice-President by acclamation.

Rules governing last National Convention were adopted.

Convention adjourned at 1.30 p. m., until to-morrow.

A HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Boiler Explodes and Fifteen Men are Scalded to Death.

Rome, France, June 21st.—While the new cruiser Dupuy de Lome, 6,300 tons, was trying her machinery yesterday the end of one of the boilers was blown out. The fire-room was immediately filled with steam and sulphurous smoke, caused by the water extinguishing the fire, and the electric lights went out leaving the place in darkness, as the furnace doors were closed. The engineers and stokers could not escape until the chief engineer and another man rushed down the ladder and broke open the door.

A horrible sight was presented. Men were lying on the deck delirious from agony, writhing in convulsions with blackened and distorted faces and blistered bodies. Several in their torture had bitten their arms and hands, and even their unfortunate companions.

Fifteen were dying when they were taken to the ship's hospital and others will undoubtedly die. It is believed that beside their external injuries nearly all of them inhaled steam.

—A chimney on the Salvation Army building, formerly the Elkwood, caught fire last evening at five o'clock from a defective flue. No damage was done as the fire was quickly extinguished.

For men who work and women who worry

HORNBY'S

H-O

OAT-MEAL

Means tonic—recuperative energy.

A royal summer dish!

A LOST BOY!

Information wanted of the whereabouts of my son, Frank, age fourteen years, who disappeared from home, May 20, 1892, and has not been heard from since.

I will feel very grateful to whoever can help me find him, and relieve the distress of mind of my wife and myself.

Randolph Marsh,

44 PLAINFIELD AVENUE.

19 6

Legal Advertisements.

NOTICE.

In the matter of the application of John Kline, for a charter of incorporation for the Plainfield Academy of the Arts, for the laying out and opening of a street in the northwesterly part of the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union, and state of New Jersey, and for the taking of the lands necessary therefor.

Pursuant to the order of the Supreme Court of New Jersey, made on the 20th day of June, A. D. 1892, on the application of John Kline, for a charter of incorporation for the Plainfield Academy of the Arts, and for the laying out and opening of a street in the northwesterly part of the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union, and state of New Jersey, and for the taking of the lands necessary therefor, notice is hereby given that the said application will be heard at the Court House in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union, on the 5th day of July, A. D. 1892, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard thereon.

The said street is to be laid out and opened of the width of sixty feet, and to run from the north line of Front street to Second street, as follows:

To Commence at a point in the northerly line of Front street, distant 100 feet westerly from the westerly line of Madison avenue, and running thence (1) northerly and parallel with Madison avenue 200 feet to the southerly line of Second street; thence (2) westerly along the southerly line of Second street 60 feet; thence (3) southerly and parallel with Madison avenue 200 feet to the northerly line of Front street; thence (4) easterly along the northerly line of Front street 60 feet to the point or place of beginning.

To Commence at N. Stevens.

The said Court has appointed that the report and map of the said proposed street may be filed in the office of the clerk of the county of Union, and that the Court of the County of Union, sitting in the Court House in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union, on the 5th day of July, A. D. 1892, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard thereon, will hear the said application, and all persons interested in the lands and premises through which the said street is proposed to be laid out and opened, and all persons interested in the lands and premises proposed to be taken for the said street, and all persons interested in the lands and premises proposed to be taken for the said street, and all persons interested in the lands and premises proposed to be taken for the said street

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Philadelphia Times claims that that city has not only more separate homes to the family than any other city in the United States, but also that it is the cheapest city in the country to live in.

What we want is a men's beauty show. Why should girls and women monopolize all the prizes for good looks and physical development? Have men no rights in this matter? At any rate, if some enterprising manager would arrange a beauty show of men, with classes for the best looking young men, husbands and bachelors, and let women be the judges, it would take amazingly.

An organization of women that meets with approval from the most conservative is the Housewife's union, of Germany. It has effected reforms in Berlin from which the whole city has benefited. At one time the price of food supplies became exorbitant. The union organized a systematic boycott of those at the head of the high price movement and brought down food supplies to moderate rates all over the city. Next the women took up the food adulteration question, established laboratories of their own and beat the food poisoners utterly. They have established also a cooking school, a free intelligence office and diet kitchens.

The Red Cross.

Some time after the close of our war, the American division of the International Red Cross society was permanently organized, with Clara Barton for president. The society has done great good in Europe, being in many cases the first to reach the wounded upon a battlefield and take them supplies and aid. Wherever the scarlet cross, which is the society's badge, was seen hostile forces made way for its messengers, knowing they conveyed aid to both sides. In the Franco-Prussian war the society's good works were especially marked.

But many wondered why the organization should be permanently continued here in America, where there was no war or any prospect of any. Events have fully answered this query. They have shown the necessity, if possible, more need for the beneficent Red Cross society in peace than in war. First, there was the yellow fever epidemic. Nurses, food, money and quickly improvised hospitals, before other aid could be brought to bear, were part of the showing of the work of the Red Cross agents. Next came the Charleston earthquake. Here as before Clara Barton's staff went immediately to the scene of suffering with needed supplies. In the Johnstown disaster, in the Spokane fire two years ago, in the floods of the west and south that have made thousands homeless and hungry, the same helpful hand has been held out. At Titusville, Pa., the first train that went through after the wave of fire and flood down Oil creek carried an agent of the Red Cross society. Wherever sudden and appalling calamity overtakes mankind, there the Red Cross plants its banner before the rest of the community has recovered from its horror.

Judge Pryor on Naturalization.

How thoroughly a wise man can change his mind was never better exemplified than in the case of ex-Confederate General Roger A. Pryor, now an influential judge and leading lawyer of New York. Judge Pryor believes that the abuses of the naturalization law in times of political excitement are such as to demand that the whole business of conferring citizenship and examining candidates for naturalization shall be taken out of the hands of the judges of state courts altogether and put directly under federal charge. The state judges have not time to examine candidates properly. In Judge Pryor's opinion no more than one in fifty of the foreigners on whom citizenship is conferred is fit for it. He is not sure whether, among other things, a candidate for citizenship in the United States ought not to be required to have in all cases a working knowledge of the English language. It the superior court of New York city has fall nearly 7,000 foreigners were made citizens in twenty days by two judges.

In view of the many abuses under the naturalization law a memorial has been presented to congress asking an investigation into the matter, in New York particularly. While Judge Pryor is in sympathy, believing additional national legislation is called for in the case. But would it make that fierce old irreconcilable Robert Toombs turn over in his grave and yell to hear his former confederate colleague giving utterance to the following sentiments:

The remedy I would propose is this: 1. The federal government should withdraw all of the hands of the state courts the administration of the naturalization law and should insist performance by the municipal officers of the 2. The federal government should create, for the proper administration of the law, a national bureau of naturalization, having its headquarters at Washington and subordinate in various cities, presided over by commissioners or judges appointed for life and keeping a complete and easily accessible register of persons naturalized.

Aside from the consideration that the assumption of administration of the law by the federal government would probably effect a great reform, there is another grave reason why it should be done. It would be, strictly speaking, not an assumption of a function, but the resumption of one, for it is a federal function which the federal government has delegated to the states. Is that delegation of a function a constitutional act? In my judgment it is not.

DEMOCRACY DAY.

The Great National Convention Opened at Chicago.

CLEVELAND GAINS POWER.

Indiana and Illinois Are Both for Him Now.

This Fact His Supporters Claim Is Indisputable Evidence That He Will Get the Presidential Nomination on the First Ballot—Gorman Is Now Out of the Race and the Anti-Cleveland Men Are Rallying to the Support of Morrison, of Illinois, and Boies, of Iowa. The National Committee Decides That William C. Owens, of Kentucky, Shall Be Temporary Chairman of the Convention—Cleveland Men Displeased with the Choice—Governor Abbett to Present the Ex-President's Name.

CHICAGO, June 21.—The national Democratic convention to nominate candidates for president and vice president of the United States was called to order in the convention wigwam at noon. When National Committee Chairman Calvin S. Brice rapped for order the great wigwam was well filled with delegates, alternates and spectators, and there were probably about 10,000 people in the building. The national committee had selected for temporary chairman Hon. W. C. Owens, of Kentucky, but as he was opposed by many of the Cleveland men quite a lively fight developed in connection. S. P. Sheerin, of Indiana, was made temporary secretary; Richard J. Bright, of the same state, sergeant at arms, and E. B. Dickenson, of New York, temporary stenographer.

GOVERNOR ABBETT.

The national committee, through the efforts of ex-Secretary Whitney, granted the "antisnappers" and their alternates from New York seats in the convention hall, together with 100 extra tickets for their friends.

If the figures carefully prepared by Messrs. W. C. Whitney, William F. Vilas and Don M. Dickinson are correct, they secure the nomination of Grover Cleveland on the first ballot. The first ballot, according to the Cleveland estimates will result as follows:

Cleveland's 683 Votes.

	No. of Delegates.	Cleveland Delegates.
Alabama	22	11
Arizona	2
Arkansas	16	9
California	18
Colorado	8	0
Connecticut	12	12
Delaware	6	6
District of Columbia	2	2
Florida	8
Georgia	26	15
Idaho	6
Illinois	48	48
Indiana	30	30
Iowa	26
Kansas	20
Kentucky	26	9
Louisiana	16
Maine	12	12
Maryland	16
Massachusetts	30	3
Michigan	28
Minnesota	18
Mississippi	18
Missouri	34
Montana	6	1
Nebraska	16	11
Nevada	6
New Hampshire	8
New Jersey	20	2
New Mexico	2
New York	72	1
North Carolina	22
North Dakota	6
Ohio	44	44
Oklahoma	2
Oregon	8
Pennsylvania	64
Rhode Island	8
South Carolina	18
South Dakota	8
Tennessee	24
Texas	30
Utah	2
Vermont	8
Virginia	24	18
Washington	8
West Virginia	12
Wisconsin	24	24
Wyoming	4
Totals	808

Necessary to choice, 605.

Besides the increased claims for the votes of several of the southern states the Cleveland managers count on the entire vote of Indiana and Maryland. This in itself is a gain of 33 over Sunday's figures and more than exceeds the necessary two-thirds. It is expected that if Illinois casts her entire vote for ex-President Cleveland on the first ballot the Ohio delegation, it is claimed, as a result of a conference held last night, will cast a solid vote for Cleveland on the first formal poll of the delegates. Similar accessions of strength are expected from all the states where tariff reform has been made the leading issue.

INTERIOR OF THE WIGWAM.

vote for the ex-president, followed by Indiana with her solid delegation, the roll will be brought to an abrupt end and Mr. Cleveland's nomination made by acclamation.

Cleveland Has Indiana Now.

A great victory for the Cleveland men is the fact that the Indiana delegation settled its dispute as to whether Cleveland or Gray should be supported when it came into the convention solid for Mr. Cleveland. The thirty Hoosier state delegates are now claiming that they were instructed by the state convention for Cleveland. Delegate Lamb says that the instruction of Cleveland and Gray, while not as satisfactory as the original programme of the Gray men to have the ex-governor head the ticket, will satisfy the Cleveland Democrats and lead to solidity the party in that state. Mr. Lamb said that no assurance had been received from the Cleveland managers that the ticket named would be accepted by them, but the ex-congressman spoke in a thoroughly confident manner of the outcome.

German Practically Riot Yet.

It is Morrison now. Gorman has practically withdrawn, failing to receive the written assurance he demanded.

The anti-Cleveland men have now centered on William R. Morrison, of Illinois, and claim 420 votes in sight, leaving Cleveland 260, but the final action of the Missouri delegation has knocked to pieces part of this computation. After two hours and a quarter of the hottest kind of debate, the Missouri delegation decided to stand by the unit rule and instructed their chairman to cast the solid vote of Missouri for Cleveland.

The Morrison movement began in the Arkansas and Missouri delegations. Rogers and Jones, senators of Arkansas, have already been among Morrison's most strenuous supporters, and they have been quietly but actively at work with the other southern delegations. Governor Fishback is lively in the movement and expects to swing Kentucky into line for the "star eyed statesman of Illinois," who is remembered as the author of the original tariff reduction bill.

The Ohio delegation, it is claimed, as a result of a conference held last night, will cast a solid vote for Cleveland on the first formal poll of the delegates will cast 32 votes for Morrison and 14 for Cleveland. Similar accessions of strength are expected from all the states where tariff reform has been made the leading issue.

What Morrison Shooters Claim.

The silver men have not yet been heard from, but they are so bitter in their opposition to Cleveland that their 91 votes are counted on as a matter of course. A good deal of canvassing has been going on during the morning between the Illinois and New York delegations, each asking the other to take the lead in voting, pursuant to the direction of the new Morrison anti-Cleveland boom. At the present writing each is waiting for the other. Meanwhile the Morrison shooters, without exhibiting any tables, persist in the assertion that they have 490 votes in sight.

The New York delegation says Gorman allowed Maryland, his own state, to drop him, thus putting him out of the race. With Gorman, whom they expected to support after Hill, out of the question, the New Yorkers will undoubtedly support Morrison by their influence, but not by their votes. If the first ballot fails to run Hill's way, it will be a Tammany man. "The whole of Gorman's vote cannot be obtained by Morrison, and Cleveland may get enough to nominate him on the first ballot."

Mr. Murphy, Mr. Sheehan, Governor Flower and Mr. Croker still assert that the nomination of Cleveland is sure.

With a tenacity that is remarkable, the Hill men remain faithful to their leader, and in the face of admissions by delegates said by the managers now here not delegates that they are beaten, are going right ahead with their missionary work.

Lieutenant Governor Sheehan still clings to Missouri, but it is evident that the only hope left to Tammany is to gain Illinois and Kansas, and the major part of the work is being done there. When Chairman Murphy was confronted with Mr. Whitney's statement that he would forfeit anything that could be named if Mr. Cleveland was not nominated on the first ballot, he said: "Whitney is a false and bad prophet. We are not issuing statements, but we are doing good work and that will show for itself. But Mr. Murphy's courage did not extend to his followers. Senator Ahern, of New York, a member of Tammany, said: "What's the use of talking. We fought hard and we are beaten, and we might as well admit it. The up state New Yorkers were chased up by the opposition and compelled by their constituents to vote for Hill. But they will be given out here until the first ballot is taken for candidates."

Illinois Is for Cleveland?

"Illinois will cast forty-eight votes for Ex-President Cleveland on the first ballot." This is the statement given out by the Cleveland adherents. The credit of bringing the delegation into line (if it has been done) belongs exclusively to General John M. Palmer. Although fatigued by his journey from Washington, he proceeded immediately to the Auditorium House upon his arrival just before midnight, and for over three hours was in consultation with delegates representing all the various elements in the delegation. What the venerable statesman said was largely a repetition of the views he had stated in the United States senate while on record that his name was in no circumstances to be considered, and that if the delegation did its duty it would vote for Cleveland on the first ballot.

C. A. BRICE.

The temper of the body of the men differed greatly from the ordinary run of political processions. They were serious and hardly working men, from the farms and coal mines, dressed in their homely clothing and slouch hats, and the visits to a national convention was evidently a great event in the lives of most of them. Considerable cheering for Boies accompanied the line of march.

Abbett to Nominate Cleveland.

Leon Abbett, of New Jersey, is expected to present the name of Grover Cleveland to Indiana will second the same through Senator Voorhees. Hon. Patrick Collins, of Massachusetts, may make some remarks during the roll call. It is also expected to make the nominating speech on the ground that Massachusetts had seven new electoral votes for the Democratic party and that Mr. Cleveland was a resident of New Jersey.

William C. Dewitt, of Brooklyn will present the name of Don M. Dickinson. It will be the third name presented. The presentation will be that of Horace Boies, of Iowa, through Hon. J. F. Dunsombe, of Fort Dodge, who will name her favorite son. From present indications only three names will be presented to the convention.

Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, is willing to take the second place on the ticket with Cleveland. He said so in the Palmer House, where he was surrounded by a group of friends, who were congratulating him on the possibility of being named. "I am very much flattered by the compliment paid me by my friends," said he. "It is very gratifying, and I don't say that there is a prospect of its being true."

Think It Means Cleveland.

It is now known that the delegation from Pennsylvania, admitted from the start from both sides to be a pivotal one, will cast its 64 votes as a unit on the first ballot for Grover Cleveland. In the opinion of the leaders of the ex-president's candidacy, as expressed both before and after the caucus of the delegation, this action finally settles the question of his nomination. The scenes in the Pennsylvania delegation at the caucus were a vivid reminder of those which were enacted at the Lindell in St. Louis four years ago when the New York delegation was called upon to decide between Thurman and Gray as the vice presidential candidate.

ARTHUR P. GORMAN.

Through the long corridors on the second floor, down the stairway into the lobby, and then out into the street, the people were packed in one solid perspiring mass. There were representatives of all sorts of delegations, Cleveland men, Hill men and Gorman men—all waiting with the most intense interest the outcome of the caucus. Around the door of the parlor, packed in so tightly that they could scarcely move their shoulders, was a delegation from the New York Hill faction headed by Lieutenant Governor Sheehan.

When the fight inside began in earnest the anti-Cleveland men, with a view to testing the relative strength of the two factions, submitted a motion that no action on the question of preferences should be taken. The previous question was ordered and like a flash the motion was defeated by a vote of 24 to 18. Determined to follow up their advantage, the Clevelandites submitted a resolution indorsing the ex-president and instructing the delegates from Illinois to vote for him on the first ballot as a unit.

The motion was seconded from all parts of the room, and simultaneously a half score of the opposition were on their feet. Representative McInerney, of Chicago, was the first to gain recognition. His cry in figure could be heard through the closed windows clear across the street he passionately denounced the resolution and its supporters. He declared that it was an attempt to muzzle the delegation in behalf of a man who had no solid support, who had been beaten before and who would be beaten again. He talked until his voice was exhausted, and wound up by moving that the resolution be laid upon the table.

Cleveland Carries Illinois.

Then came the roll, the stillness silence the roll call was commenced. The last name had barely been called when the sergeant-at-arms poked his head out of the door and announced to those in the hall: "37 for Cleveland, 11 against." A cheer went up from those in the immediate neighborhood. It was taken up and passed through the crowded corridor and lobby and down to the street, "Cleveland gets the delegation," and the hundreds that had been anxiously awaiting the news scattered to spread it far and wide.

The "Antisnappers" Happy.

The information that the antisnappers would have seats in the convention hall was brought to the Grand Pacific just as they had gone into caucus by Senator Brice himself, and it had a soothing effect. It had been generally supposed that the real fight on the question of making a contest against the regular delegation, but the subcommittee, into which had been appointed at the morning caucus adjourned until it was not ready to report. While the caucus was breaking up a member of the subcommittee said: "The situation is simply this, we are here to promote the interest of Grover Cleveland. If we can best fulfill that mission by remaining quiet, we will stay quiet; if by making a contest, we will contest. The courtesy that has been extended to us we regard as something in the nature of an olive branch, and my own judgment is that there is no opposition."

Pennsylvania Under Unit Rule.

A signal victory for the Cleveland forces was fought and won in the Pennsylvania delegation, the question of the unit rule. At a caucus State Chairman Grant Herring, one of the Cleveland delegates at large, announced that Grover Cleveland was the choice of the delegation and counted the preliminary votes which belong to Senator Hill."

According to Senator Shields it is understood that if the Gorman strength can be concentrated on Boies he will receive about 100 votes on the first ballot.

Soon after the news of the alleged Brice-Watterson deal was announced the friends of Governor Boies in the convention hall made a great show. They were supported by a thousand strong and marched in five divisions, each preceded by a brass band. The appearance

FASHIONS

WALKING GOWNS.

The Latest and Prettiest Designs Seen on New York Avenues.

Among the pretty and inexpensive gowns seen on the street are those of tinted woolen in quarter-inch bloom of gray and white, made with a Milkaid flared opening up back and front and three rows of white crepon widely gimlined with black mohair ribbon. The low crowned straw hat is black throughout, with white band of black velvet in front, and a twist of lace around the crown.

A dress of pin-head checked woolen of white and black is made with a yoke gathered across the back under a black satin belt, with opened fronts showing a blouse of red and black dotted batiste, which gives character to the otherwise colorless costume. The bell skirt has three small ruffles of black satin silk-ben each two inches wide.

A cool-looking Chambry dress, pretty enough for wearing in the afternoon, is of lavender ground, with darker stripes woven in bow-knots at intervals. The sleeves in bloom are in a modified gigot style of plain lavender Chambry, to which the striped blouse is garnished with an erect frill. A genuine Russian belt of green silk and silver confines the blouse. The bell skirt is entirely without trimming.

Eton jacket suits of navy blue flannel are worn by ladies, by young women and girls in their teens at all hours of the day. The accompanying buys the jacket well made by a tailor for $9 or $10, and makes the simple bell skirt at home. A shirt waist is added of light or dark blue India silk, or of peach-colored wash silk striped with white, and trimmed with a double ruffle down the front. A wide-brimmed sailor hat, white castor gloves, and low shoes of dark brown leather completes the costume, which is neat for the country, though worn at present in town. — Harper's Bazar.

For the Seaside.

Seaside dresses are shown in bright Mephistopheles red serge and Turkey red cretonne, with Oriental designs made up over silk linings, and trimmed with Irish lace. White alapaca is a good material for seaside wear, and is made up with galon and sleeves of striped silk.

The Difference.

Mrs. X.—You don't give me as handsome presents as you used to.

Mr. X.—No; but I have to pay for those you give yourself.—Life.

FRED. W. DUNN,

Successor to

Barkalew & Dunn,

18 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Fine Groceries.

THREE STAR TEA

EITHER

Hot Water or Steam

Heating Apparatus

furnished and set up in residences and public buildings.

J. N. SCHENCK,

40 MANNING AVENUE,

North Plainfield.

Agents for the celebrated "Furman" house heating boilers.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum

and

Briar Wood Pipes

Holders and Sugars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Sugar store, No. 19 West Second street.

A Ticket to Europe

May be bought on any steamer; any line. CHEAPER THAN IN NEW YORK.

SINGLE TRIP: First-class—$65 and upwards. Second class—$35 and upwards. Steerage—$19 and upwards.

ROUND TRIP: First-class—$60 and upwards. Second class—$40 and upwards. Steerage—$28 and upwards.

Cabins, both first and second class, should be engaged as far ahead as possible.

Further information given upon application to agent, Henry D. Morrison, 9 Somerset street.

When "old Sol" makes all things sizzle, Drink Hires' Root Beer.
When dull care makes life a fizzle, Drink Hires' Root Beer.
When you feel a little dry,
When you're cross and can't know why,
When with thirst the children cry,
There's a sweet relief to try
Drink Hires' Root Beer.
A 5 cent Package makes five gallons.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts,

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher.

45 West Front Street.

The

1892 Model of the Remington

is now

on the market.

CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT has characterized the history of the REMINGTON STANDARD TYPEWRITER. The changes introduced into the 1892 model represent the carefully tested results of expert study of various points deemed capable of improvement. They present advantages in the quality of the work, and ease as well as convenience of operation which will readily commend themselves to all users.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

Wyckoff, Seamans & Benedict,

327 Broadway, New York.

Big Bargains

Extra fine 25c. Dress Ginghams at 15c.
Plaid Dress Ginghams, 7c.
Outing Flannels, 9c.
New style in Irish Lawns, 12c.
New figured Organdie at 8c., very stylish, and pretty.
Plaid Ginghams, 5c.
Fine Silk Belts, 15c.
Black Silk Mitts, 25c.

Extra quality Cotton Crepon at 12c.
Ladies' Waists at 47c.
Men's Boys'
Men's
The
this city.
Regular Silk Gloria Umbrellas, $1.98.

Our assortment of new styles Mattings and Low Prices surpasses anything ever before offered in this city. Our assortment of Elegant Carpets, Art Squares, Rugs, etc., is complete and prices guaranteed the Lowest.

EDSALL'S!

ANOTHER ELECTION COMING.

But this is a Selection for the public. $2 WORTH OF GOODS FOR $1.

1 lb new drop Tea (any kind).
1 lb fresh roasted Coffee (bean or ground).
1 lb Pride of Plainfield Baking Powder, (has no equal.)
1 lb best Corn Starch.
1 lb best Rice.

½ lb best Pepper.
1 lb best Tapioca.
1 cake Sweet Chocolate.
1 2oz. bottle extract, Vanilla or Lemon.
1 bottle Pickles.

What we feel we cannot afford to offer, you cannot afford to miss. The last time we offered similar goods at this fabulously low price, some went away disappointed. Come early.

Choice table Butter, 19c per lb. Sole agents for J. D. Mason & Co. crackers and cakes, Baltimore, Md. See our variety. finest in the State
In strictly Jersey. Sugar Cured Hams, Bacon and Shoulders, we haven't got a competitor in Jersey. Selling more in a day than most stores in two weeks.
Don't forget to ask for a card that entitles you to a $5 book and $4 picture free.

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,

Distributors of Pure Goods Wholesale and Retail 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

Having

Disposed

of the

Produce Business

to Mr. L. A. Hummer, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No. 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.

H. E. RIDER, Manager.

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC

SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS

SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC

4 & 5 cents per Copy.

Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.

A. M. Vanderbeek's,

23 PARK AVENUE.

Miss Blanche Fellows

VOCALIST

and Teacher of Singing.

Rapid development and complete education of the voice.

Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formation and tone production.

Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Call or address

NO. 27 DUER STREET.

Joseph T. Sullivan,

No. 66 West Third Street,

Dealer in Choice

Wines, Liquors, etc.

BEER ON DRAUGHT.

98c.

Buys a full size, reinforced front, shirt, with Linen bosom and wristbands; regular $1 quality.

17c.

Buys a five foot curtain pole with brass fixtures, complete.

Window Shades 15c. and upward.

Dress Chellies 5c. Best Prints 4c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 30 days at

BOEHM'S

No. 7 West Front Street.

For a Delicious Drink

BRUMANN BROS.

Have just the article, a select

50c. Formosa Oolong

TEA, to make a

Delicious Iced Tea.

Fresh roasted Coffees received every week; these always received every morning. All goods sold at Lowest Prices. A full line of Vegetables received Daily

NEUMANN BROS.

79 BROADWAY.

PIPTONIZED

Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'.

BUILDER'S GUIDE.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet

MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS,

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 982.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Watson street. H. S. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 218.

R. V. SAUMS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, North Plainfield.

P. O. Box 1288

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. P. HOFFMAN,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

Residence—24 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ARNETT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Orders may be left at Frost Bros., Front street, or at residence, Somerset street, near Grant. P. O. Box 284.

JOHN HERRMANN,

Mason, Builder and hard wood mantel maker. Shop corner of Grand and Second streets, North Plainfield, N. J.

Residence, 2 Hermann's Court, Second street.

Just What You Need!

If you are looking around for what you should have an

Arnold Steam Cooker.

Remember, it cooks a whole dinner on one over a small oil stove.

You can buy the above articles at 61 Park avenue. Also the only genuine

BOSTON BROWN BREAD,

made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.

M. H. BEACH, Agent.

Do You Want Shirts?

If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your ideas.

The assortment we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects.

Puff Bosoms for hot weather; Blue Flannel for cool.

Hallock & Davis,

5 West Front Street.

Trunks and Bags.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks

15 West Front Street.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS

PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—39 East Front street.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

26 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

45 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.

49 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security. Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND BROKERAGE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

NO. 45 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE,

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Ice Varieties)

Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : : : : NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

in buying a millage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 46 EMILY STREET,

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

62 to 69 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc., Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

PORTER AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any the of first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer, Telephone Co. 137.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(The Port Reading R. R. Co., Lessee.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street, Jersey City, as altered May 15, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

PLAINFIELD AND ROSELLE.

PLAINFIELD AND MADISON.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEHIGH VALLEY RAILROAD.

For Philadelphia, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Easton, Phillipsburg, Manch Chunk, Bethlehem and Allentown.

LONG BRANCH, OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

For Philadelphia and the South, Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville, Cape May, Atlantic City, Wilmington, Delaware Water Gap, Bethlehem, Mauch Chunk, Allentown, Harrisburg, Reading, Pottsville, Williamsport, Lewisburg, Sunbury, Shamokin, Mahanoy City, Hazleton, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Watkins, Geneva, Rochester, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Suspension Bridge, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Pittsburg

WHEN A WOMAN MOST NEEDS THE CARESSES OF HER HUSBAND.

There appears to be a curious tendency on the part of many men to lavish upon the little ones the affection once exclusively the wife's. A division of demonstration would be both natural and gratifying to a woman, but too often she is ignored in this respect entirely. The boys and girls are joyfully greeted by the homecoming father, while the wife is carelessly nodded at over their sunny heads. A wise observer once said, "Trouble comes with the first baby if it is coming at all." Different ideas of government are often the entering wedge of dissension. The little one sometimes separates the father and mother, and at his cradle the husband goes away from the wife in thought and deed just when she needs him most. While she rocks that cradle she thinks deeply, and in the readjustment of her plans womanhood is merged into the stronger force of motherhood. She demands more of her husband mentally and morally than ever before, because he is baby's father, and is sometimes disappointed.

In the matter of expenses paterfamilias is apt to be more generous in the direction of his children than for the less tangible wants of their mother. He admits that clothes can be outgrown, but is skeptical about their going out of fashion. We are told that a mother becomes unselfish. For herself, yes; but is she not tempted to overlook the claims of others in seeking all good things for her children?

I doubt if the mother, burdened with the care of her child's living and the fear of its dying, can half enjoy the beauty per se of childhood. The outsider can rejoice in all the loveliness, oftener with more appreciative eyes, because they are not blinded by dread. Heredity, to a conscientious woman, is simply appalling. How can she punish a child for faults inherited from herself? Can she be happy as she notes the growth of a disposition which should, for the good of the race, end with her husband's life? Is it possible, too, for her to discover that her children, though gazing at her with her mother's eyes and speaking to her in the tones of a voice that has made the music of her life, are aliens to knowledge of self?

But, some one says, I know all that; there are years of patient care and toil—years, perhaps, when the husband and wife go their separate ways, one nursing the children, the other going on alone, absorbed in business interests, forgetful of the woman left behind; but when the sons and daughters grown, matters adjust themselves. Not always. The fair girl graduate becomes the faded little mother's rival, and in the devotion of father and daughter the wife is still left out. It is generally the rough boy, with the warm, loving heart, which makes boys so dear the world over, who gladly divines the situation, and with bearish hugs and mammouth pats cheers and sustains the lonely heart. While it lasts it is the sweetest thing, this romance between the mother and her son; but, alas! it is brief. Some clever little maiden takes the lad captive, and then the jealousy, the acute suffering of that mother's heart, who can fathom?—Helen Jay in Harper's Bazar.

Women and Their Bank Accounts.

"I cannot understand," remarked a teller to us an up town bank recently, during one of the lulls in business, "why it is more sensible young ladies' schools in the country do not add to their curriculum a course, however brief, in banking and accounts. Few girls have any practical idea of such things, and it is really extraordinary how ignorant are many women with property about the details of its care, and though they can blow a check, they cannot know how to ascertain their balance or prove it. I know of a wealthy woman who keeps no account for convenience in a New York bank during the winter and closes it out in the spring, when she leaves the city. Last spring she visited a certain large jewelry store and purchased a wedding present for a friend, giving in payment her check for seventy-five dollars. In doing so she said that she wished the check deposited immediately, as she closed her bank account when she left the city.

"Two days later she called at the bank, drew out all the money to her credit and calmly left the city. The watcher passed and she received no acknowledgment of the wedding gift, but her perplexity at this turned to horror when on returning to the city she learned that the payment had actually been sent C. O. D. Investigation showed that the check in payment of the gift had reached the bank the day after she had drawn out her balance, and of course it had been thrown out. The jewelry store people, instead of looking up their customer, which in this case would have been an easy task, stupidly sent her present 'collect,' and forced a situation very hard to explain, but which arose simply from an inability to subtract the total of drafts from the total of deposits."—New York Tribune.

The Daughter of Gladstone.

In person Miss Gladstone is tall and rather ungraceful, a defect which is intensified by her carelessness in the matter of dress, a very unimportant item in her busy life. But one forgets her want of grace in the charm of her face, which without being really handsome, is full of the sweetest expression. The spirit of her father's genius shines through her eyes and causes one to forget that her features are wanting in actual beauty.

She wears her hair brushed from her face in rather severe style and coiled in a knot at the back of her head. Her forehead is low, but well shaped; her mouth rather large, with full, expressive lips. Miss Gladstone is of a very retiring nature, having a great dislike to publicity of any sort, and is by no means the "strong minded" woman whom one would expect to find at the head of a college.

She is an indefatigable walker, and on dewy mornings her ghost follows her example. Although her nature is a reserved one, and she is as a rule rather silent, she is, when she speaks, a most brilliant talker, and her powers of conversation constitute one of her great charms. Even the most frivolous "lion" would feel delighted at being requested to take Miss Gladstone into dinner.—Cor. Omaha World-Herald.

A Way of Making Beef Tea.

"I watched a five-dollar-day trained nurse make beef tea the other day," said a woman, "and this is how he did it, for it was a man, nursing a patient in the last stages of consumption. He cut up two pounds of lean, juicy sirloin steak into pieces about two inches square; then he put a clean skillet, which was very lightly greased with butter, over a very hot fire of red coals, and as soon as the pan was hot tossed the beef in. With a fork he turned the pieces over and over, letting them sear on all sides. Then he put a scant pint of juice in the pan while he was doing it, so quickly did the strong heat accomplish its work.

"When the pieces were heated through he took them out one by one and rapidly squeezed them through a wooden lemon squeezer, which had been standing in boiling water, and the skins were scarcely dry also in hot water. Tossing in a pinch of salt, and laying a thick folded dinner napkin over the bowl, he carried off quickly the strong hot juice to the patient, leaving him in the kitchen barely eight minutes.

"The tea can be made in this way with a chafing dish in one's own room if access to a kitchen is difficult. He told me he sometimes froze beef tea if it was distasteful to the sick person when hot. This he did in a few minutes by putting it in a small covered pail, setting that in a larger one, and filling the space between with salt and crushed ice. In fever cases the patient will often take the frozen beef juice when he will absolutely refuse it in a liquid state."—Her Point of View in New York Times.

The Period of Development.

The period of growth and development is one of special susceptibility to disease, or to the establishment of a physical condition more or less abnormal. Many infectious ailments, such as measles, whooping cough, mumps, chicken pox and scarlet fever attack a person, if at all, in this period. Even scarlet fever is little liable to attack one later in life, and the child is vastly more susceptible to the diphtheritic poison than the adult.

No microscope can explain this decreased susceptibility by any search among the various tissues, but it is not only one of the most important facts of medical science, but one of the familiar facts of every household.

It is during the period of growth, also, that inherited morbid tendencies work their ruin. The power of resistance is then at its weakest. In numberless cases the parents "have eaten sour grapes and the children's teeth are set on edge." Or the morbid tendencies may have lapsed over one generation, and the grandchildren are the sufferers.

In some respects it is a beneficent provision of nature that so many unfortunates fall early in the struggle. The race is thus purged of its worst pathological elements. —Youth's Companion.

How to Hang Pictures.

In hanging pictures it is to be remembered that although all paintings look better hung in the usual way, with a sloping in from the top to the wall at the bottom, yet etchings and water colors often look better when they are hung on the wall, a picture with shadows should, if possible, have the light side next the windows, so that the shadows will fall naturally. Pictures do not generally come to their best advantage though often two pictures, similar in idea and subject, may find convenient places on corresponding sides of a room, yet quite as often the stiff effect by "pairs or companion pieces" takes away the artistic value of both pieces. Paintings or any pictures should not be hung so high that it is uncomfortable to look at them, but some pictures are of such large design or brilliant color that they look much better hung high up than down low. Moldings are much better to hang pictures from than nails in the wall, and are not very expensive to put up.—National Tribune.

Shopping by System.

"But," says some woman, "we must 'shop' we must get the things we want." Certainly, but you need not 'shop' all you want; but why not apply some kind of a system to the idea? Don't make a day of it. Give an occasional morning to the pleasure (?), and stock up in between. "Easy talking," says some one, "but we cannot always leave our business when we want to, as you seem one." My dear woman, God gave you just exactly the same amount of time as he does to men, and he hasn't given you a particle more to do with that period of time. The trouble is the woman are not systematic enough.

I played the part of eavesdropper in some of the stores, and was surprised to find the clerks seem really to know just what they wanted. They knew in a general way, but not in a definite sense. Now when a man goes shopping he knows precisely what he wants, asks for it, gets it, pays for it and goes away. Women's purchases are undoubtedly different, and such a simple system cannot perhaps be followed by them. But that women could simplify their shopping expeditions, numbers of their own sex have confessed to me within the last few days.—Edward W. Bok in Ladies' Home Journal.

An Aid to Sleep.

I should like to give the young mother struggling with a cross baby, wearing away her strength by hopeless walking or rocking, which does little or no good, a simple receipt which is well worth trying. Children under two years of age are very subject to indigestion from various causes, caused by the existence of unfermented food in the stomach and bowels, and are more often fretful from this than any other cause. By injecting with a fountain syringe a moderate quantity of lukewarm water just before bedtime, and thus cleansing the lower way instead of the upper, in nine cases out of ten the child will fall into healthful sleep. This may be repeated two or even three times a day with equally beneficial results. The time that mother will try this experiment, I feel sure she will wake in the morning with a baby exhibiting that peace and calm of mind which only results from a sound and refreshing sleep.—Constance B. White in Babyhood.

Cleaning That Requires Great Skill.

The covers of albums and other drawing room books soon become worn and faded if much used, but the binding are of leather they can easily be revived by the following process: Wash the leather as lightly as possible with water in which the smallest morsel of soda has been dissolved, in order to free it from grease. Then wash with clean water to remove the soda and let it dry. Now dissolve a bit of gum arabic (about half the size of the first joint of the finger nail is a teaspoonful of water, and heat this up with about the same quantity of white of egg with no speck of yolk in it. With a bit of soft sponge take this and lightly over with this glair and let it dry. Should the glair, however, froth up on the leather, as it will very likely do if there is much work in the face, rub it down with the palm of the hand or with the sponge squeezed as dry as possible till removed.—Chicago Tribune.

Two Ways of Cleansing Sponges.

An effectual method of cleansing sponges which have become soft and slimy is to place them in water in which a large lump of common soda has been dissolved, and let them remain as long as may be necessary, which will depend on the state in which they are. A few hours may be sufficient or a day or two may be required. The water should be frequently changed and each time the sponge should be squeezed or pressed with the hand or with a wooden spoon. Another method said to be very successful is to place the sponge in the stone trough for it to soak till the water is quite cold; then take the sponge and rinse it thoroughly in cold water, press out all the water and let it dry, when it is found to be perfectly clean.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Studying Medicine with Success.

The Woman's Journal tells an inspiring story of the success of one of the southern women physicians, Mrs. Dr. Cady, of Louisville. Having a taste for medicine and a little experience from treating the simple ailments of her own colored tenants, Mrs. Cady, finding herself obliged to support her family, entered and was graduated from the medical college in St. Louis. A few weeks before commencement her ninth child was born, and eleven days later she was again at her place in the lecture room. She returned home with her baby and her diploma, resumed the care of her family and began the practice of her profession, in which she gained remarkable success.

In estimating the comparative capabilities for work between the sexes conditions of this kind are rarely taken into consideration.

High Barometer Means More Dust.

When the barometer falls, the air around expands into a larger volume, and the air inside the cupboard also expands and forces itself out at every minute crevice. When the barometer rises again the air inside the cupboard, as well as outside, condenses and shrinks, and air is forced back into the cupboard to equalize the pressure; and along with the air is goes the dust. The smaller the crevice, the stronger the jet of air, the farther goes the dirt. Witness the dirt tracks so often seen in imperfectly fitting ingrain or Kidderminster carpets. Remember, however you see the barometer rising, thus an additional charge of dust is entering your cupboard and drawers.—T. Pridgin Teale in Popular Science Monthly.

To Improve the Light.

The light given by a coaloil lamp can be greatly improved by soaking the wick in vinegar before using it, and even by reviving an old wick by the same process. Of course the vinegar must be dried off before the wick is used, or it will be difficult to get a light at all, but with the simple precaution a great improvement in the light can be secured. A small lump of camphor dropped in the oil reservoir has a similar effect, and a teaspoonful of salt dissolved making a wick smoke, while vinegar has a sweetening tendency, and hence is more desirable in every way.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Her First Knickerbockers.

One of the most droppet and learned of young lawyers in Mecklenburg, of England, who achieved somewhat unique distinction a few years ago by biting the tail of a live tritom, or crested newt, to vent the efforts of the social agonies the said animal gives out when angry. These were decidedly disagreeable in experience, causing an irritation of the throat, a foaming of the mouth, with spasms and convulsions lasting several hours. Miss Ormerod has since achieved a high scientific reputation, traveling, no doubt, many other instances of self sacrifice in her part.—London Letter.

The Value of the Bath.

We know that a bath is to refresh as well as to cleanse the person. A sponge bath, with a little bay rum or alcohol added to the water, will be found a most refreshing bath. The shower bath creates a glow; this can be obtained by the sudden application after the bath of a large sponge wet with cold water, followed by friction and gentle exercise. Some people are too delicately organized for such heroic treatment. A half hour rest is too inconsiderable factor in the matter, with spasms and convulsions as special attention. If sightly taken it is a magic rejuvenator.—Young Ladies' Banar.

Collections of Old Shoes.

The fad for collecting old boots and shoes of celebrated people is growing. The queen of Italy is an enthusiastic collector. The tottering treasures of Marie Antoinette, Mary Stuart, the Empress Josephine, Queen Anne and the Empress Catherine of Russia, Lady Tennyson de Maurier, wife of the British ambassador at Berlin, has a beautiful collection. They are of all shapes and sizes, from dainty satin ball shoes to boots made for those who tramps through the snow.—London Tit-Bits.

Home.

Cherish the home with infinite tenderness. You cannot love it too much nor give it too much time and thought. Remember, life has nothing better to offer you; it is the wittiest and surest of God's gifts. Make every day of life in it rich and sweet. It will not last long. See to it that you plant no seeds of bitter memory; that there be no neglect and no harshness to haunt you in after years.—Detroit Free Press.

To Clean Chamois Skin.

Chamois may be cleaned in a weak solution of soda in warm water. Rub plenty of soft soap into the leather and allow it to soak for two hours. Then rub it well till it is quite clean and rinse it well in a weak solution composed of soda, yellow soap and warm water. If rubbed in water only it becomes hard when dry.

To Whiten the Hands.

Melt a pound of white castile soap over the fire with a little water. When melted perfume slightly with any one of the extracts, and stir in half a cupful of common oatmeal. Use this preparation when washing your hands and you will be surprised at the improvement in their appearance.—New York Journal.

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION.
1873. Membership 138,000. 1892.
Death benefits paid over $26,000,000 since organization.
Wetumpka Lodge, 340, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Tuesdays, at eight p. m., in Wetumpka Lodge rooms, Music Hall building.
Immediate relief, $100; sick benefits per week $5.
LOUIS I. VANALSTYNE, Dictator.
RALPH C. VAN ARSDALE, Reporter.
Wetumpka Commandery, No. 34, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight p. m.

Hotels.

Caspar's Hotel,
24 & 26 E. Front St
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Transient and Family Boarders taken at
Reasonable Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.
PLAINFIELD.
Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.
For First-class bar attached.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE.
Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and supplies all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.

City Hotel,
Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Kline's Extracts,
Pure Fruit Flavors.

LOOK at Werner's Show Windows
30 WEST FRONT STREET,
and see what you can do in $15 suits reduced to $10
Cut in Latest Styles.
FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS ONLY.
All Sizes and All Wool.
Cutting Shirts and Straw Hats just receive. Clothing Made to Order. Other goods at proportionately Low Prices.

We are getting away with lots of Russet Shoes this month—now is the time to buy them.
DOANE & VAN ARSDALES.
22 West Front street.
P. S.—Our $3 shoe never takes a back seat.

NEW ○°○ STORE!
I beg to announce that I have opened a store pertaining to bedding at 26 West Front street. Below we quote some of our prices:
Mattresses ..... $1.50 to $15
2 piece Mattresses, extra Hair Mattresses, 35 lbs., ... $5
Goose Feather Pillows $1.50, $2, $2.50
Hen Feather Pillows ..... 75 cents
Elder Down Pillows ..... 50 cents
Comforts $1, $1.25, $1.50
Sheets, 42x90, Pillow and pillow cases; Oil Cloth 1/4 to 4/4, per yard; Oriental and Turkish Rugs 4/4 to 8/4 in all patterns; curtains, all silk, 49 cts. per pair; Curtain Poles, Spring, Looking Glasses, Pictures, Cradles, Cribs, Bedroom Crockery, Comfort, Rocking Chairs, Tables and a hundred and one other things cheaper than you can buy them in any other store.
T. J. CAREY, - Proprietor.
26 WEST FRONT STREET.
As the weather is so warm, there will be no comfort sale at Carey's until September.

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING
WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER.
One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.
Whole Suits from $5 up.
Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.
C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.
70 WEST FRONT STREET.

SUN RISE, 4.26; SUN SET, 7.34.

VanEmburgh & White
INDUCEMENTS.
For 48c.
We will sell you a first-class Summer Corset. 'Tis about as good as you generally pay 75c. for.
The price but 13c.
For a Children's full regular made fast black Stocking, Hermsdorf dye, worth 20c. they are.
The price but 35c.
Gentlemen, you need them these warm days, a French Balibriggan Shirt that is worth 50 cents of any one's money.
As complete an assortment of wash fabrics, such as Gingham, Challies, Cambric, Crepe Cloth, Satteen and Bedford Cord as you find in most New York houses, and the prices and styles you will not find fault with.

OWING
to Large stock
and Lateness of the Season,
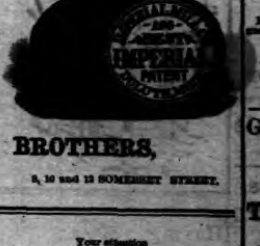
we will sell for next
30 Days
at
A Sacrifice.
Fine all-wool pants to order $4; worth $6.
Fine all wool Suits to order $16; worth $22.
Call, examine and satisfy yourselves
Acme Tailoring Co.,
No. 18 West Second Street.
John H. Appleton, Prop. and Treas.
Walter C. Ellenger, Mgr.

COAL and WOOD,
E. H. HOLMES,
YARD—24 Madison Avenue.
Office—27 North avenue, with Worsdell & Dubois.

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with
LAMP AND BELL,
under penalty of $20 fine.
A large and complete assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the
Wheelmen's Headquarters,
Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.
FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

RANDOLPH'S
BEEF, IRON AND WINE,
THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!
PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
21 WEST FRONT STREET.

IF!



A poor article is dear at any price. A good article is cheap at any price.
The Duluth Imperial Flour is the best in the world and the prices are right.
Insist on having it from your grocer, or apply to
FRENCH BROTHERS,
TELEPHONE 24. 8, 10 and 12 SOMERSET STREET.

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.
Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of
G. H. MUSGRAVE,
37 Somerset street.
Call early and secure the best bargains.

Summer Resorts.

Clifton House,
BY THE SEA,
PASSONGROS, L. I.
Situated directly by that beautiful sheet of water, the Ocean Shore Road, and only a few minutes ride from the OCEAN.
Fishing, sailing, bowling, billiards, quoits and bathing. Boating for parties.
W. M. JENKINS, Prop.
"Now opened for guests. Grand opening May 30th, 1892. 2 to 30

RIP VAN WINKLE HOUSE,
Catskill Mountains.
OPENS ABOUT JUNE 9TH.
For particulars and circulars address S. V. Van Loan, Pine Hill, Ulster county, N. Y.
19 1m tue

THE ALBION,
EIGHTH STREET AND PARK AVENUE
Select family hotel.
Newly furnished throughout.
Special rates to permanent guests.
FRANK R. MILLER.
19 2t tue.

Flags, Fireworks,
and
Japanese Lanterns, and other necessaries for a Jolly Fourth,
can be had from
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front Street.

THE BEE HIVE!
Summer Underwear.
Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.
Ladies' ribbed vests, in high neck, short sleeves and long sleeves, 25c.
Ladies' gauze vests, in short and long sleeves, 25c.
Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed, gauze and medium weight.
Men's balbriggan shirts, in long and short sleeves, and drawers at 25, 40 and 50c.
Men's Summer Merino shirts and drawers, 25, 40 and 50c.
Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, 9c.
Children's Summer merino and gauze vests, in short and long sleeves also gauze pants, 10c; 12, 15c; 16, 20c; 20, 25c; 22, 30c; 24, 35c; 26, 40c; 28, 50c.
A full line of Parasols, Lace caps, white dress, and infants' long and short white cloaks coats.
Louis Callman,
30 West Front Street.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.
Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong ice to this market, are now prepared to serve their patrons with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.
Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.
J. W. COMMERFORD, Pres.
H. CORNELISON, Vice-Pres.
ALBERT WILSON, Sec. & treas.
J. MORROW, Gen. Supt.

J. E. YOSE
Furniture Moved
To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.
PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.
Large covered trucks.
30 W. Second street.

C. DICKINSON,
PRACTICAL
OPTICIAN and JEWELER.
Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Agent for the American
Rambler Bicycles.
No. 18 Park avenue.

George - Bremmer,
No. 28 Somerset Street,
READY MADE CLOTHING,
or made to order—at prices
To Suit Your Purse.
Call and see Samples.

GET YOUR
Bicycle Repaired
at
NO. 2 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
by
Henry Goeller, Jr.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Lock Box I. Telephone Call 48. Printing of All Kinds. 15 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS.

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR THEIR VACATION, SHOULD SEND NEW ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities are that it will be cooler this evening, with local rains.

BREVITIES

—A number of the sporting fraternity of this city will attend the Montana-Major Domo match race at Sheepshead, next Saturday.

—The regular business meeting of the Woman's Temperance Aid Society will be held on Thursday, June 23, at 2.30 o'clock at Reform Hall.

—Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold an ice cream and strawberry festival at Sangerbund Hall to-night. Prof. Guttman will furnish the music.

—In the case of Barten vs. Waldren, jr. et al for contract and a promissory note, tried before Justice Nash this morning, judgment was entered for the plaintiff for $300.

—The Republican State Committee will meet on Tuesday, the 28th inst., at Taylor's Hotel, Jersey City, at two p. m., for the purpose of organization and other business. Hon. John Kean, Jr., the State chairman, called the meeting.

—The "Central" are arranging a "Fourth of July" excursion over the Royal Blue Line to Trenton, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington. Tickets will be sold on July 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th and will be good to return until the 5th. Particulars later.

—Manager Keller has "Jack" Galligan, formerly of the Louisvilles and the Eastern League Clubs, here to-day to play in the field against the Morristown Athletic Club. He is a great hitter and a fine fielder, and it is probable he will be signed. Stevens and Regan will possibly both be pat on trial in the box.

—That was a grand time the Democratic National Convention did yesterday, in expressing sympathy for Mr. James G. Blaine, in his present great affliction. It was done with such a will, too. In the midst of the greatest of political turmoil and excitement, there prevailed that "touch of nature, which makes the world akin."

DUNELLEN ITEMS.

Interesting Happenings in that Suburb.

Miss Matilda Winter became Mrs. Luckey at three o'clock yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. I. Martine of the First Presbyterian church of Dunellen, of which Mrs. Luckey was a member. In the near future their honeymoon will be spent traveling in the West.

A concert and entertainment will take place at New Market Hall this evening. Friendship Council Jr. O. U. A. M. Band will play and Prof. T. H. Roberts will lecture on the "Civil War." The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the band, who are to have new uniforms.

Fourth of July will be celebrated in a fitting manner by Mt. Holly Council, No. 55, and Friendship Council, No. 81, Jr. O. U. A. M. In the morning there will be a grand parade, also other interesting features. The parade will leave Dunellen depot at 11.30 and terminate at New Market. The base ball games will commence at one o'clock ending at six p. m. At 8.30 the fine works will wind up the day. Several out of town organizations will take part.

Miss Mamie Emery is here spending the Summer with the Read family.

Carrie Notter and Frank P. Haffner, Jr., who have suffered severely with measles during the past ten days, are doing nicely, and their attending physician, Dr. G. W. Endicott, says they will be out next week.

Miss Sue B. Peck's select school and kindergarten closing ceremonies will take place on Monday afternoon next, having been postponed on account of illness.

The concert for the benefit of the Church Fund will be held in the First Presbyterian church, Monday evening.

The hotels and boarding houses are filling up quite rapidly and by July 4th, there will be no space left. The town is full of new faces.

Dunellen Lodge 2763 K. of H., will meet to-morrow evening in New Market Hall and confer degrees on Prof. T. H. Roberts and elect officers.

The Rev. Martine has exchanged pulpits for next Sunday with the Rev. Stellinger, a former pastor.

THE CITY COURT.

Five Cases Before Judge Coddington this Morning.

Michael Cox was arraigned before City Judge Coddington this morning on the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He pleaded guilty and was fined ten dollars.

John Filmer and his wife Mary Filmer were arraigned on the same charge. Both pleaded guilty and were fined. The former was found guilty and fined $20 or 20 days. He paid the fine. His wife was also found guilty and sentence was deferred a week.

Joseph Dillion was arrested last night on complaint of his wife for beating her. He was arraigned this morning and plead not guilty. The Judge after hearing the testimony adjourned the case until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. As they were taking Dillion to his cell, the wife broke down and requested the Judge to release him. He was recalled and after changing his plea to guilty was fined three dollars and released. Both were Swedes and the services of an interpreter were required.

George Rockafellow, Jr., a son of Constable Rockafellow appeared before the Judge and charged Lorenzo Fahn with insulting and using indecent language to his wife. Several witnesses testified to the truth of the occurrence and Fahn was fined $10 or 10 days. He paid the fine.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Albert Cox, of Raritan, spent Sunday with his parents, on West Sixth street.

Mayor Saunders will read at the musicale in aid of the mission Saturday afternoon in Holy Cross Church.

Mrs. Anna Rice Powell will address the W. C. T. U. meeting to-morrow afternoon. Every one will be welcome.

Mr. Andrew W. Fritts, son of Dr. Fritts of Park avenue, will leave in the Fall for Kansas City, where he will enter into business.

Mr. John Emerson, of Haywarden, Iowa, left for his home to-day, after spending several weeks with his mother on Central avenue.

Assistant Freight Agent Andrew E. Kenney, who has been confined to his home by illness, resumed work at the freight depot yesterday.

Miss Grace Carroll, a daughter of Dr. H. K. Carroll, and one of the North Plainfield graduates, has been poisoned by a plant and will be unable to participate in the school commencement.

The invention of Mr. W. E. Brock, of Mountain avenue, for propelling tricycles by hand and foot power, to which we referred some time ago, is attracting considerable attention. Mr. Thomas, a talented acquisition to the journalistic fraternity of Plainfield, was engaged last evening preparing an elaborate description of the machine for our bright young coutemporary, the Courier.

Mr. Henry E. Bowen of Netherwood has been placed in charge of the Brooklyn edition of the Mail and Express, and is showing that his hand hath not lost its cunning. His father, the proprietor of the New York Independent, twenty years ago, by his vigorous onslaughts through the Brooklyn Union, which he then owned, broke up the old Brooklyn ring, which had piled up millions of debt for the Brooklyn taxpayers. Now the son, Mr. Henry E. Bowen, intimates that there is a new ring, and shows by figures that they have within a very brief period rolled up debt so rapidly that the limit allowed by law has already been exceeded to the amount of $9,694,778. The articles are all clear and incisive, such as one might expect from such a talented journalist as our townsman is. Mr. Bowen retains his interest in the large wholesale drug concern in New York in which he is a part proprietor, although while engaged in this special mission of breaking up the alleged New Brooklyn ring he has arranged his affairs so that his drug business is taken care of by others. We congratulate the Mail and Express on its valuable acquisition.

The private theatricals given at the West Seventh street residence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Stewart, by the "Sub Rosa" Club, an organization of prominent young women the other evening was greatly enjoyed. The play produced was from the pen of Miss Stewart, and was entitled "All for Lord Dumpkins." It told the story of an English lord, who came to Plainfield to find a wife. The friends of the girls were treated to a great deal of friendly banter. The production as a whole was most laughable and was enjoyed by a large number of people. The several roles of the play were sustained by the following members: Misses Mabel Mosher, Mrs. George Wendell Richmond, Miss Fred Schenck, Miss Kimberly, Miss Fred Stewart, Miss Strong, Miss Wood, Miss Hosmer, Miss Van Boskerck, Miss Tiddle-dee-Winks, Miss Van Boskerck, Miss Littlejohn, Miss Harte, Miss Fetherwait, Miss Dumont, Miss Bachero, Miss Yates, Miss Lobs, Miss Green, Empress Miss Huntington. The entertainment was in charge of Mrs. G. W. Edwards, Mrs. D. F. Gilbert and Mrs. Stewart. Miss Wood, Miss Hunt, Miss Yates, and Miss Dumont. Dancing and refreshments concluded the evening's entertainment.

After New Men.

Harry Stevens, the crack Lyon twirler, who was in pitch for the Crescents in their game against the Morristown Athletic Club to-day and who would probably have been signed by them, telegraphed Manager Keller last night, that it was impossible for him to come. It is probable that the Lyon people have offered him more money and he will stay where he is.

Manager Keller and his representative left this city this morning, one in each direction, after two new pitchers, who will be signed immediately.

SHOOTING AT SUSPECTS.

A LIVELY CHASE, FOR HOURS, TO CATCH THEM.

Special Glose and Policeman Saunders Start Them—Capt. Grant and Policeman Lynch at the Wind-up.—All Escape.

About three o'clock this morning, on Le Grande avenue, Special Watchman Giese noticed two wagons, each with a horse, the latter tied to the rear of the first wagon, moving slowly along toward Seventh street. There was a boy in the first wagon, the sole driver.

He turned into Arlington avenue, at the Casino, and disappeared from view.

Mr. Giese later saw three men moving about suspiciously.

He rapped for assistance, and was answered by Policeman Saunders.

Two of the men had disappeared, and the other, who proved to be the boy, was called upon to halt.

Instead he ran toward the wagons, shouted in fear and to alarm the others, got into the wagon and drove off, the officers pursuing.

They then gave up the chase, and started back to their respective beats. At Ninth street they were approaching along Arlington avenue the two men who had disappeared.

The men were walking along the middle of the road following the tracks of the wagon, which were fresh after the storm. A woman who was aroused by the rumbling of the wagons, raised her window as the police passed and asked them the cause.

It is supposed the noise of her voice attracted the men and they saw the officers at the very time they were discovered and started to run. Policeman Saunders called to them to halt, and, upon their refusing to do so, fired three shots at them, none of which took effect.

The men finally disappeared in the bushes and were lost sight of.

The officers then hurriedly notified Capt. Grant, who with Policeman Lynch got a conveyance and started at 4.30 this morning to try and overtake the wagons. They were not successful.

MARBLE IN NEW JERSEY.

Important Discovery in Sussex County Which Will Create a New Industry.

G. W. King, who owns a large tract of property in Sussex county about three miles from Stanhope made an important discovery on his ground on Monday that will yield him a fortune and at the same time open up a new industry in New Jersey.

About a year ago Mr. King was prospecting for zinc and found a trail of marble. He thought little of it at the time, but on Monday, while making an excavation, he discovered a solid ledge of the same stone, and he believed that it was solid marble. He procured the services of a mineralogist, who examined the ground and discovered a ledge of marble resembling the Knoxville marble, over 200 feet long and 60 feet in width. He took specimens of the marble to expert stone workers, who pronounced it to be valuable.

The stone is very hard and is susceptible of a high polish. It is dark in color, is very peculiarly mottled and is of a kind greatly in demand for wainscoting, fancy table tops and monuments.

This is the first deposit of marble ever found in New Jersey, with the exception of a few traces discovered on Schooley's mountain some years ago.

Mr. King proposes to form a stock company and will begin to work the ledge and take out the stone as soon as the necessary arrangements can be perfected. The find is estimated to be worth about $100,000.

Scott Press Company Sued.

In the United States Circuit Court Tuesday the Hoe Printing Press Company began a bill against the Walter Scott Printing Press Manufacturing Company of this city, for an alleged infringement of a patent duplex printing machine and folding apparatus combined.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL MAP.

The public school map puts the American educational system in a striking form.

Thirteen million pupils are now enrolled in the public schools of the United States—that is, there are more than three times as many pupils as the entire population of the United States in 1800. The entire population in 1890 was 12,986,000; there is consequently a larger nation of children now in our free schools than the whole nation of sixty years ago.

These 13,000,000 public school pupils are one-fifth of our present population of 65,000,000. There are something over a million more in private and parochial schools. But it is this nation of our free school youth, this nation within the nation, that will be controlling the republic fifteen years from now. These "children of the states," imbued with our characteristic American spirit, will soon be the rulers of the people who are to solve the problems of the opening years of the coming century.

One-fifth of our population in the public schools means that the American idea of universal education will enjoy a sacred immunity from labor while the preparation for life is going on. In all our states the age when children can be employed for wages during the school term is steadily creeping upward. The time is not far off when one-fourth instead of one-fifth of its population will be enrolled in the schools. Here is the place for state legislation to make rapid and sure strokes. When the children of a poor family find that no wages there comes an apparent relief to the family; but child labor invariably reduces the labor of adults. Raising the school age always operates to raise the wages of the men and women to whom labor belongs. In the states not yet awake to this the children who ought to be in school are with their little hands holding down the general rate of adult wages. If fifteen were made the uniform school age, with strict penalties for hiring a child under fifteen during school hours, millions of toiling children would be added to the hopeful nation of pupils now in the public schools.

Who are the instructors of this grand democracy of children? Three hundred and fifty-two thousand teachers are employed. One-third of them are men, two-thirds are women. The men are usually well trained. The proportion of trained female teachers is increasing year by year, as the normal schools send out their classes. Nevertheless, scores of thousands of these female teachers are untrained. Forty per cent. of all the female teachers serve for only one term! Think what that means. In the rural districts of many states teaching is but a "job" to which almost any girl may turn. Careful examinations of teachers are not to be expected when the school board is composed of the cheapest teachers are the only applicants.

The faults of the American public school system, however, are all on the surface and can easily be remedied. State superintendents and higher educators generally are giving to all the weaknesses discernible in our system their careful attention. They are determined that the new century shall open upon an educational plant as nearly without defects as progressive energy can make it.

The public school is our most distinctive American institution. It is this same public school which, more than race, has made the difference between this republic and the republics of South America. When the world gathers here at our 400th anniversary to scrutinize our life that our progress in institutions may be pointed out as the chief source of American greatness and enlightenment.

It is a very fitting thing that the colossal C. of Columbus Day, Oct. 12, be placed in the hands of the American public school. Through the school house ring movement, and the education in patriotism aroused by it, the schools of the republic have been the greatest safeguard against the disintegrating influences of their relation to the life of the nation. As our 13,000,000 of public school pupils are committed to them the celebration of America's greatest anniversary they will receive a new and higher impulse. The prospect is that the public holidayship which dovetails upon the educated American.

—The Central Railroad are arranging to run an excursion to Manch Chunk, on the "Glorious Fourth."

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

NEWS OF THE CONVENTION.

Mills, of Texas, Takes Ill—Unit Rule Prevails — Convention Adjourns Until Five o'Clock.

CHICAGO, June 22d. (Special.)—Weather clear and pleasant.

11.54 a. m.—Shortly after the convention was called to order to-day the delegates called for a speech from Mills of Texas. He was escorted to the platform but was taken ill and had to be taken from the Wigwam to the hotel.

11.59 a. m.—Cries of "Palmer," "Speech" were heard and the Senator was escorted to the platform where he made a short address, which was received with much applause.

It is said that the Cleveland men will make the fight to-day on the question of abrogating the unit rule in order to prevent a ballot to-day.

THE CONVENTION WIGWAM.

11.59 a. m.—A Boies banner is calling forth much applause.

12.15 p. m.—Raining heavily. Band playing to keep up the delegates' spirits.

Loud cheering when the band plays "Dixie."

Wilson in his speech said that McKinley's reciprocity bill is one of the greatest absurdities of the age.

Unit rule will be held during the session. Platform Committee not ready to report.

1.00 p. m.—Carlisle asked to address convention.

1.30.—Cries for Voorhees and Vilas. Taylor, Governor of Tennessee, asked to speak, but declines.

1.40 p. m. Cochran of New York asked to address the convention. He says he will speak later on.

1.44 p. m.—Adjourned until five o'clock to-day.

A RECEIVER APPOINTED.

A New Turn in Richmond Terminal Affairs.

NEW YORK, June 22, (Special.)—Walter G. Oakman of this city was to-day appointed Receiver for the Richmond Terminal.

Judge Brown of the United States District Court made the appointment.

Mr. Oakman is president of the company.

Killed by a Freight at Newark.

NEWARK, N. J., June 22.—(Special.)—An unknown man was struck by a freight train at the Oliver street crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad and was instantly killed at 6.30 o'clock this morning. There were nine commutation tickets between Newark and New York in his pocket. The man looks like a foreigner. There is nothing about him to lead to his identity. The police have charge of the body and it is now at the morgue.

Lively Times at Westfield.

A very lively meeting was held at Westfield last evening to discuss the water question. Mr. Frank Bergen represented the Union Water Company and several other gentlemen spoke in favor of a new company.

At times the excitement rose to a very high pitch. The question will be decided on Thursday by a special election.

What is H-O? Simply this—

HORNBY'S

H-O

OAT-FOOD

Nature's finest grain translated into mental and physical energy.

JERE. JOHNSON, JR.'S FLAG PROTECTED BY DECISION OF SUPREME COURT, NOV. 13th, 1882

JERE. JOHNSON, JR. AUCTIONEER

DON'T IMITATE FLAG.

POSITIVE TRUSTEE'S SALE.

By Order of WM. L. STRONG, Esq., Trustee,

At 2.30 o'clock p. m., on the premises, rain or shine,

Saturday, June 25th, at

42 Desirable Plots,

containing from 2 to 5 acres each. Surrounding the magnificent Netherwood Hotel,

NETHERWOOD,

in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey.

The property overlooks and is about 120 feet above the line of Plainfield avenue.

On parts of the property previously sold suspension bridges, stone walks, sewers, gas, $20,000 square, have been erected.

There is a charming club lot on the property, gas and Water Mains in some of the streets. Central passenger Station at Netherwood. Numerous trains either way.

Refreshments Prior to Sale. Special Train leaving foot of Liberty street, New York, at ONE o'clock.

Terms of sale in brief.

10 per cent. of the purchase-money and the Auctioneer's fee on each numbered plot on the day of sale. Balance in 30 days. Or 20 per cent. may remain on bond and mortgage at 6 per cent. interest, payable as follows: The first year, 5 per cent. The second year, and the remaining 10 per cent. the third year.

Maps, Conditions of Sale, Passes and additional information of JERE JOHNSON, JR., No. 80 Liberty street, New York, room 10, up one flight; agent Street, Brooklyn, or from F. A. Dunham, Civil Engineer and City Surveyor, 11 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J. 18 5

A LOST BOY!

Information wanted of the whereabouts of my son, Frank, age fourteen years, who disappeared from home, May 29, 1892, and has not been heard from since.

I will feel very grateful to whoever can help me find him, and relieve the distress of mind of my wife and myself.

Randolph Marsh,

44 PLAINFIELD AVENUE.

18 6

CARRIAGES and HARNESS of Every Description.

STYLES and PRICES to SUIT ALL.

Carriages taken on sale or stored on ground floor.

Accessible at Any Time.

RYERSON, 38 SOMERSET STREET.

Miss Blanche Fellows

VOCALIST and Teacher of Singing.

Rapid development and complete education of the voice.

Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel forming tone and tone production.

Voice tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Call or address NO. 97 DUER STREET.

Cents-Word Column.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

WANTED—Situation at general housework or as upstairs girl. Please call at 146 West Second street. 22-3*

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Young girl as nurse. Call morning, No. 29 Vine street. 22-2*

WANTED—A competent colored cook and housemaid. Reference required. 46 Madison avenue. 20-3

WANTED—A good dressmaker to go out by the day. Address, Miss Fawcett, 13 Grove street. 22-2

$75 TO $250 can be made monthly working for R. F. John-ton & Co., 2203-5-7-9 Main street, Richmond, Va. 1m*

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST—On Seventh street, a large pearl scarf pin and a large blue enameled forget-me-not pin. The finder will please return to 137 Seventh ave. 21-3

BOARDERS WANTED.

A T 19 Craig place, furnished rooms with board. Table boarders accommodated. 6 2 20

FOR RENT.

A $100 safety bicycle to rent at 15 cents per hour by the day. Call at 11 Somerset street. 16 6

FURNISHED house to let, 74 Grove street. Eleven rooms, city water. All improvements. Rent reasonable. Possession July 1st or October 1st. Terms moderate. Inquire on premises. 22-3

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—A fine young Shetland pony. Very small. Address "S.," care of EVENING NEWS. adv

FOR sale or lease, a large building, formerly used as a livery stable, 21-23 Fourth street. For particulars inquire on the premises.

FOR SALE—A fine family horse; quiet, well mannered, easily driven by ladies or children. Price low if taken immediately. Address "Prince," care of EVENING NEWS. 20 2*

MISCELLANEOUS.

A SMALL farm, not to pay from Plainfield, wanted. Address "Farmer," care of EVENING NEWS. 21-3*

CARRIAGES taken on sale or storage, 29 Ryerson, Somerset street. 20-3*

OLD-FASHIONED furniture in good order, bought and sold. Call Furniture store, 11 Somerset street. 2-20tf

PALMS, coleus and vase plants at Denion's Hillside avenue nurseries. 20 3

SECURE your tickets for the Columbian Fair. For particulars apply at Shaw's drug store. 5 23tf

WANTED—Pupils on the banjo. Address "J.," care of EVENING NEWS. adv

MUSICALE, in aid of The Mission Church of the Heavenly Rest,

Saturday, June 25, at four o'clock p. m., to be held at the Sunday-school rooms of the HOLY CROSS CHURCH, North Plainfield.

Tickets 50 Cents, for sale at Shaw's drug store. 20 3 eod*

BOYNTON : : - - BEACH,

With Greatly Increased Attractions,

OPENED SATURDAY, June 18th, 1892.

LOOK at Werner's Show Windows 30 WEST FRONT STREET,

and see what you can do in $15 suits reduced to $10

Cut in Latest Styles, FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS ONLY.

All Sizes and All Wool.

Outing Hats and Straw Hats just receive. Clothing Made to Order. Other goods of proportionately Low Prices.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,

Firm of OF PLAINFIELD.

RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY, Importers and Tailors, 231 Broadway, New York. Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring. Moderate Prices.

DEATHS

SMITH.—In this city, June 21, Fred W. Smith, in his 20th year.

Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend his funeral from his late residence, 22 Putnam avenue, on Thursday, 23d inst., at 4 p. m.

Interment in Greenwood, Friday.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The American made casemate armor intended for the naval vessels Indiana and Massachusetts has been proved by the tests of its strength at Indian Head to be the best armor plate ever manufactured anywhere. The progress made by the United States in warship building and equipment since we began our new navy is scarcely less than marvelous. The navy is going ahead of the army in the path of progress.

General Miles declares he is satisfied from the Chicago experiment that the bicycle can be made of use to the army in carrying despatches from one post to another. Well, it might be if we had fairly good country roads in the United States. On good roads an expert cyclist can make as good time as a trotting horse. But carrying General Miles' message from Chicago to General Howard at New York took a hundred men four days. They relieved one another by rapid relays, a fresh man and a fresh wheel being ready to seize the dispatch and fly onward with it to the next relay station. The distance from New York to Chicago is 1,000 miles, so that the best relays of wheelmen can do in our country is an average of a little more than ten miles an hour, at least in rainy weather, which continued all the four days. When the highways were good one of General Miles' wheelmen showed that he could travel a mile in three minutes, and he kept up this gait for nearly half an hour. In France not long since a single wheelman, who was of course obliged to stop for rest and food, made for thirty-five hours the same average speed that our cyclists did in relays. Let us have decent roads.

The Temperance Saloon.

Why not? Rev. Dr. Rainsford's proposal to have the churches countenance resorts where beer and light wines are sold, and even to encourage such as a temperance measure, is one that fills total abstainers with horror. And certainly if the reverend gentleman had studied the figures of the awful increase of drunkenness in Germany in the past thirty years, where just such drinking places as he suggests have been the vogue for generations, he might have hesitated before positively recommending drinking saloons as a church reform measure.

But there might be real temperance saloons without any intoxicants at all offered for sale. It is the social feature of the beer saloon that has lured many a good fellow to his ruin. The glow and brightness, the merriment and human good fellowship are what draw at least half of mankind to the whisky shop. Men go to it of evenings because they have nowhere else. Most of the poor houses or cheap boarding houses are not inviting to those who toil all day.

But let us have the temperance saloon, where workingmen may spend their evenings. There can be many pleasant, refreshing drinks without beer, ale, wine or whisky. Light eatables might be added. The men could smoke to their heart's content and play all the games they now are forced into the whisky shop to enjoy. Such temperance houses, carefully managed, would pay in every town and city, and would be a long distance improvement on Rev. Dr. Rainsford's church beer saloons.

The American Catholic Church.

What is called by its enemies the "Cahensley conspiracy" has resulted in raising a most important question in the Roman Catholic church in America. Cahensley worked sedulously to obtain papal authority to have the children of Catholic immigrants in America instructed in the language of their parents, both in church and in school. There should be, according to the Cahensley idea, priests, bishops and archbishops of all the nationalities represented by all churches in America. Thus keeping alive foreign languages and instruction and being presided over by foreign priests, the Roman Catholics in America would be more easily controlled from Europe, Cahensley argued.

Against this doctrine Archbishop John Ireland, of St. Paul, set himself. He was chaplain in one of the Minnesota regiments during the war. He is a believing American, believing in the government of the United States with all his soul. He wishes the children of foreigners as soon as possible to be instructed in the constitution and government and in the workings of our free institutions. For this reason he advocates instruction in the English language in the church schools, and would put instructors who teach in English over all the children. Only in this manner he believes the unity of the American Catholic church can be preserved. Where separate English parochial schools can only be maintained with difficulty Archbishop Ireland would have Catholic children sent to the public schools rather than that they miss the thorough training in English.

The question before the mind of Archbishop Ireland, as summarized by Albert Shaw, is this: "Is the Catholic church in America to be considered now and permanently a complex group of European colonies, or is it to be made American in language and sympathy, accepting in the fullest sense the principles of American government and life?"

CLEVELAND-GRAY

That Will Probably Be the Democratic Ticket.

HILL MEN WORKING HARD.

They Claim Three Hundred Anti-Cleveland Votes.

The "Anti-Snappers" from New York Start a Contest for Representation in the Convention, but Soon Abandon the Move—Hon. William F. Harrity, of Pennsylvania, Will Probably Be Chairman of the National Committee. Hon. W. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, Chosen Permanent Chairman of the Convention—Watterson Declares Himself for Governor Boies—Senator Vilas Says the Democracy Will Remain in Session Three Days.

CHICAGO, June 22.—The national Democratic convention, which adjourned Tuesday at 1:56 p. m. without taking a ballot, reassembled slowly at noon. When the delegates were in their seats ready for the second day's work there were about 20,000 people in the great wigwam. W. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, who had been chosen permanent chairman of the convention by the committee on permanent organization, was escorted to the chair amid cheers, thanking the delegates for the honor conferred upon him. The permanent organization was then perfected. The seating of Temporary Chairman W. C. Owens, of Kentucky, the delivery of his speech, the appointment of committees, the adoption of the same rules that governed the last national convention and the passage of a resolution of sympathy for James G. Blaine in his recent affliction, constituted the work of the first day's session.

WILLIAM F. HARRITY.

Temporary Chairman Owens' Speech.

The speech of Temporary Chairman William C. Owens, of Kentucky, was as follows:

Two great dangers menace the Democratic party. One is external, the other internal. The first is the organized machinery of organized capital, supported by the whole power of the government. The second is a tendency among Democrats to make issues among themselves.

Two issues therefore stand before us indispensable to success—unity and harmony. Of the one this chair and gavel stand representative. It remains for you to supply the other. In this spirit I greet you, fellow Democrats, as the advance guard of a grand army, sent forward to plant a pathway to victory. How momentous is your responsibility I need not tell you.

If your work be done in wisdom the millions toiling in mine and shop and field will rise and call you blessed. The very life of the republic attests that its heart and its conscience are with us in our war with the representatives of greed. The best thought of our age is a platform that challenges the approbation and invites the support of the people.

We can not succeed—we must do more; we must deserve success. Above the wreck if need be, of selfish ambition, must your work be reared, to the plain people and build a shrine so broad that there every lover of his kind may kneel.

The burden must be lifted from the back of labor, and to that end it has a right to demand that whoever bears our banner must lift it above the mire of sectional hate. In this position, that every Democrat of the Union may follow its lead by an honest and irresistible combat. Let us not mistake. The gravity of the situation demands the broadest patriotism and every needful sacrifice. Our work but begins here. Under the suns of summer and the frosts of autumn we must carry it forward with unfaltering courage to a triumphant end. Then again must be a campaign of education. The study of the cornfield begun in the west and south must be carried into every hamlet of the east and north.

The Chilian Affair.

The people and Harrison there true relation to the tax gatherer. They must learn that no railroad presidents champion the tribunes of the people; that no tainted money can be used by the administration to debauch the ballot box. Then will they learn, too, that for personal and political advantage their country was sheltered by the broad shield of the Monroe doctrine with shame and regret that the very day the warlike proclamation of the president was read in the halls of congress the peaceful response of the little eight-by-ten republic of Chili, accepting the terms of the presidential ultimatum, was read in every capital of the world.

Our opponents must be measured by their deeds and not by their professions. Fifty-first congress wrote the blackest page in our legislative history and became a thing of the past. It challenged the approval of the people, and they responded in tones so portentous that it seemed the voice of God.

With an unanimity that finds no parallel in the story of popular government they denounced that it was a billion dollar fair too much to pay for such a museum of freaks. If we but permit it they will stand by their verdict. That verdict was strengthened by the work of the senate in the heat of contention let us not forget that our political brother may be just as honest and perhaps better informed. Imagining for the purpose, and that purpose the public good, we will free ourselves of the bitterness and mad humor burnings that characterized the Republican party when its Marshal Key went down at Minneapolis and the awful lapses of the bread and butter brigade.

After the rules of the last convention had been adopted the roll of states was ordered called for the selection of members of the various committees.

Governor Abbett's name in the New Jersey list was changed, by order, to the name of Bourke Cockran and Governor Flower from New York. Senator Daniel, of Virginia, and Bragg and Vilas, of Wisconsin, were appointed on the committee on resolutions called a "pooh bah" delegate from Alaska, who took most of the committees himself, raised a laugh. The merriment increased when Indian Territory, Hawaii and Alaska were passed and found to be assigned to some member of the Jackson family. Oklahoma, called for the first time in a Democratic convention, received a warm welcome. When Utah was called John T. Caine, representing the Mormons, and P. J. Kiesel, the Gentile, contesting delegate, both put the secretary's eye and presented two faces.

Senator Gorman offered a resolution calling for the admission of all ex Union soldiers to the unoccupied seats in the gallery. The delegates were invited through a communication signed by the convention to visit the World's fair grounds.

Sympathy for Blaine.

Mr. Cable, of Illinois, offered this resolution of sympathy for James G. Blaine:

Resolved, That this convention tender its profound sympathy to that distinguished American, Julius G. Blaine, in the many afflictions which have befallen him.

The reading of the name of Mr. Blaine was a signal for an outburst of greater enthusiasm than the convention has known before. The resolution was adopted without dissent.

Edward C. Sweet, of Maine, got the floor and briefly thanked the convention for the last half of the Maine delegation. Such an affliction as Mr. Blaine's, he said, levelled all ranks. Continuing, he referred to the many misfortunes and bereavements which had come upon the distinguished gentleman in the last few years, and said that only in a Democratic convention was such a tribute to him the sympathy which comes from every section and every state. Mr. Sweet's remarks were greeted with prolonged applause.

General Bragg, of Wisconsin, moved that the convention adjourn to 12 o'clock, but on suggestion of several delegations changed the hour to 11 o'clock. The band struck up, "When Johnnie Comes Marching Home" and the "Suwanee River," and the convention dispersed.

Cleveland and Gray.

* Unless all signs fail, Grover Cleveland will receive the nomination for president at the Democratic convention, whenever the first ballot may be taken, and Allen W. Thurman, of Indiana, will receive the nomination for vice president in the same manner. It was said that the Hill men had given up in despair, but they are still fighting hard for their favorite, and the leaders of the New York Hill delegation are alleging that a dark horse may yet beat Mr. Cleveland. The rank and file of Hill men do not, however, share this sentiment, and it is common talk on the street corners and in the hotel lobbies where New York state men are gathered, or where the Tammany banner is displayed, that the Hill people are badly beaten. Mr. Murphy took particular pains to deny, on the streets yesterday, the story that some members of the New York delegation had asked that Mr. Hill's name be dropped.

"There is not a word of truth in it," he said. "Nobody has thought of such a thing. We do not concede that we are beaten, and shall not concede so until after a ballot has been taken."

A Hill-Boies Combine.

The general opinion is that a combine of Hill and Boies is being formed, but it is doubtful whether they can stop Mr. Cleveland's nomination on the first ballot. Nevertheless, this plan is being pushed, and the New York leaders are as hard at work as if the contest had just begun. They have framed a manifesto declaring that Mr. Cleveland could not obtain the electoral vote of the state if nominated. This was signed by every delegate from New York state, including James H. Manning, of Albany, the son of Mr. Cleveland's deceased secretary of the treasury, who has been a stanch supporter of Mr. Cleveland and personally unfriendly to Mr. Hill. Lithographed copies of this statement, containing the facsimile autographs of the signers, were put about in all the hotels and thousands of copies distributed on the street. The Tammany leaders point to the signatures of Cockran, Croker and Fellows to show that the rumors of a break to Cleveland are false.

Senator Vilas says that the convention will be in session three days. "We must pay Chicago for building the wigwam," says he.

Watterson Would Not Serve.

The first meeting of the Kentucky delegation was Henry Watterson's declination to serve on the platform committee. Explaining his action afterward, Mr. Watterson said: "I am not in favor of a regarded the nomination of Mr. Cleveland as assured. If he is nominated his annual message of 1887 will be his platform. That and his silver letter of 1891 will constitute in reality the issues on which the campaign will have to be fought. If Mr. Cleveland is nominated no one will support the ticket more heartily than I shall. I am his friend, not his enemy. But I am not the man who ought to place Mr. Cleveland upon his own platform.

"In 1884 we had a war candidate on the peace platform; in 1888 a hard money candidate on a soft money platform, and a Republican on a Democratic platform, and in 1890 a protectionist on a free trade platform. In each instance disaster followed.

"Mr. Cleveland is a platform to himself. Both his personality and his opinions are unescapable, and even if we desired to falsify them by silence we could not muzzle or ride our straddle with any grace or safety. As I have opposed his nomination, I could not go upon the platform committee without incurring the suspicion of seeking to wreck the party to the silver controversy in the Cleveland camp.

"I shall not support Cleveland in the convention. If Mr. Boies's name is presented, my vote shall be cast for that gentleman. If no other name but that of Mr. Cleveland is mentioned, I do not know what the balance of the Kentucky delegation will do, but certainly the claim that the solid vote of Kentucky will be cast for Mr. Cleveland is unfounded."

"The Antisnappers" Contesting.

The greatest surprise of the day was the announcement that the Syracuse delegates and given notice that the Cleveland men did not like the way they were treated by the national committee in the distribution of seats. The committee recognizing Senator Vilas as the leader of the Syracuse delegation, gave them tickets for themselves, their alternates and 180 friends besides, making in all 360 tickets for the gallery. The 360 extra seats in the amphitheater back of the regular alternates, the anticsnappers were thrown into a fenced off corral in a hot hole immediately in the rear of the New York Hill delegates, where it was almost impossible to see or hear anything. They were very angry at this treatment. Their action created a great deal of surprise among the delegates, because it had been the general understanding that Mr. Whitney and the other Cleveland leaders were opposed to having against the wishes of the leaders of the regular delegation

THEIR FIRST GUN FIRED.

Harrison and Reid Ratified at New York City.

GOVERNOR MCKINLEY THE ORATOR.

Whitelaw Reid Also Makes a Speech Before the Representative Gathering of Republicans — Ex-Senators Platt and Miller Among Those Present.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The first gun for Harrison and Reid was fired at Carnegie hall last night. Republicanism was rampant, it bubbled from the dingy galleries, lower tiers, boxes and lower auditorium, and every cheer that went up from the front part of the house received a hearty response from the crowd of distinguished Republicans from almost every state in the Union. Three thousand persons were present and heard Governor McKinley make a telling speech on the campaign issues.

Governor McKinley's Speech.

Governor McKinley began by saying that the Minneapolis convention recorded the unsecuring will of the Republican party and registered its decree in the nomination of Benjamin Harrison and Whitelaw Reid. The mention of the names of Harrison and Reid were received with enthusiastic applause. Mr. McKinley continued:

Benjamin Harrison was chosen as the standard bearer of our great party because the voice of the majority of that party thought he should be chosen, and in our political organization the voice of the majority is the choice of all. [Applause.]

Republican national conventions never make mistakes. They never have; the sober sense, the righteous judgment, the enlightened conscience of that great party of progress always does the sensible thing in national assembly. [Applause.] It made no mistake thirty-six years ago when it selected John C. Fremont the great "pathfinder," and from that moment the Republican party has been "blazing" the pathway of progress which mankind and civilization have walked. It made no mistake in 1860 when it nominated Abraham Lincoln [applause]—the immortal and never to be forgotten Lincoln—who placed liberty and equality in the constitution of the United States, where it had never been before, and where, under God, it shall remain forever. [Cheers.]

It made no mistake in 1864, when it renominated Abraham Lincoln, and it made no mistake when, in 1868, it nominated the great hero of the war, Ulysses S. Grant, [applause and cheering] who closed his lips on the word "victory" at the Wilderness, and refused to speak, and fought it out on that line until the final grand surrender at Appomattox Court House.

"What About 1884?"

It made no mistake when it nominated Hayes [applause;] no mistake when it put in nomination for the first time Benjamin Harrison, of Indiana, [cheers] to defeat the chosen idol of the Democratic party in his own state and rout the entire Democracy of the Union, and it has made no mistake in putting him in renomination. He is tonight the embodiment of every principle of the Republican party.

At this juncture a voice in the gallery asked: "What about 1884?" Governor McKinley continued, replying to the query as follows:

The Republican party made no mistake in 1884. That splendid American citizen, that ripest and best of all American statesmen, for whom and to whom every heart goes out in feeling of sympathy for his great family bereavement, cheated by a fraud, overtaken by a drank, or he would have been president of the United States, as he ought to have been, from 1884 to 1888.

We have a right to be cheerful to-night when Lord Salisbury [hisses] has given adherence to our political doctrine of protection, and the New York Sun, in its leading editorial columns Tuesday interprets the conclusions of the Chicago convention as the ratification of Benjamin Harrison's nomination. Is it any wonder we rejoice to-night? The stars even are with us, for they all to a fellow voted to-night [cheering to Whitelaw Reid and S. B. Elkins, who occupied one of the proscenium boxes]. The Republican party loves all of its leaders, but it loves its cause and its country more than any one of them [applause].

"Glad It Is to Be Cleveland."

The Republican party stands today as it has always stood, for an honest currency, whether it be gold or silver or paper money, and insists that each shall be the equal of the other in debt paying and legal tender power. [Applause.] The Republican party believes in an honest ballot and a fair count. [Applause.] It wants this country to understand that it does not pay to steal, whether it is the suffrage of an individual or the suffrage of an entire state. The Republican party stands tonight as it has always stood, for a tariff. [Cheers.] An American tariff, a tariff which shall protect the American home and fireside, the American workmen and American industries.

I am glad it is to be Cleveland, for with no other candidate has Benjamin Harrison made that issue so sharply as with Grover Cleveland. He beat him once on that question and he will beat him again, for you can always trust the people of the United States to vote for themselves, and remember that the campaign this year, under the leadership of Benjamin Harrison, is a campaign in the United States to save the United States against all mankind. [Applause.]

The remainder of the speech was devoted to an able argument in defense of the new tariff bill.

Hon. Whitelaw Reid's Speech.

Immediately after Mr. McKinley had ceased speaking there were loud calls of "Reid," "1892," from all parts of the hall, and finally Mr. Reid rose in his box and said:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—One word only is in order from me, and that a word of heartiest and most grateful thanks to my townsmen and my friends and neighbors of the most generous greeting which they have given to the unexpected nomination of which I am proud that, nothing because you have had McKinley and you are to have Dalzell. Only let me venture in my capacity as a New Yorker, to-night still more as a Republican speaker of 1892. The gentlemen who are here tonight as your sincere representatives from independent states in this magnificent Union; they represent five territories and the District of Columbia, and to those representatives of the states and territories, I undertake to say on behalf of this audience, residents of New York, that it is your purpose, and it is known to you that it is to your power, to do next November what you did four years ago, and to do this without any reference to what they may choose to do at Chicago tomorrow.

Mr. Reid's remarks were applauded. Chauncey M. Depew and Congressman Dalzell also spoke. Among those present were Warner Miller, T. C. Platt, Governor Bulkeley, ex-Senator Evarts and Vice President Morton.

Cleveland and Russell Confer.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., June 22.—Grover Cleveland and Governor W. E. Russell, of Massachusetts, who is the former's guest at his villa here, were secluded all day. A private wire from Boston was strung from the Woods Hall branch of the Old Colony railroad wire and run into Mr. Cleveland's villa, and he has been receiving bulletins from W. C. Whitney and the Cleveland managers at Chicago.

Arkansas People's Party Convention.

LITTLE ROCK, June 22.—The People's Party state convention convened here. A platform similar in many respects to that adopted by the St. Louis convention was adopted.

FASHIONS

Elegance in Underwear.

To be stylishly dressed nowadays one must pay as much attention to one's underwear as to outerwear. The fewer underclothes the better, in order to get the slender effect all women long for. The domiciliated outdoor dresses necessitate the wearing of smart petticoats, as they require to be held up—not merely at a crossing or in getting in and out of a stage or carriage, but all the time. The newest petticoats are of the stiffest of rustling silk in bright colors. Shot silk is a favorite material for a flounced petticoat.

THREE STYLES OF SILK PETTICOATS.

One of the prettiest of French petticoats recently seen had little baskets of flowers thrown on a black silk ground, and was trimmed with a deep pinked out flounce of pale green silk, another of pale pink a trifle shorter, and yet another of black lace. This last was run with three rows of bebe ribbon in three delicate shades to match the pattern of the silk, and ornamented here and there with bunches of ribbon loops.

Mourning Bonnets.

A charming little mourning bonnet is composed of gray lisse, with a very narrow black cerise feather edge, and finished with feathers at the back. A pretty and becoming hat has a wide, flat brim of transparent beaded net, with a black velvet band around the edge, and a small crown, with a tuft of feathers at the back. A large gray chip straw is effectively trimmed for slight mourning with small black feathers.

EITHER

Hot Water or Steam

Heating Apparatus

furnished and set up in residences and public buildings.

J. N. SCHENCK,

40 MANNING AVENUE,

North Plainfield.

20 years' experience. Pipe fitting, machinery repairs.

Agents for the celebrated "Furman" house heating boilers.

Ice Cream Freezers.

The Automatic,

Needs no turning.

The Rapid,

Best and quickest cream freezer.

GARDEN HOSE,

and

Lawn - Sprinklers.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

A Ticket to Europe

May be bought on any steamer; any line, CHEAPER THAN IN NEW YORK.

SINGLE TRIP:

First-class—$70 and upwards.
Second class—$30 and upwards.
Steerage—$19 and upwards.

ROUND TRIP:

First-class—$92 and upwards.
Second class—$60 and upwards.
Steerage—$36 and upwards.

Cabins, both first and second class, should be engaged as far ahead as possible.

Further information given upon application to agent, Henry D. Morrison, 9 Somerset street.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum

and

Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Segars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Segar store, No. 12 West Second street.

George - Bremmer,

No 28 SOMERSET STREET,
READY MADE CLOTHING,
or made to order—at pri

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

Big Bargains

Extra fine 25c. Dress Ginghams at 18c.
Plaid Dress Ginghams, 7c.
Cutting Flannels, 9c.
New style in Irish Lawns, 12c.
New figured Organdie at 9c., very stylish and pretty.
Plaid Nainsooks, 8c.
Fine Silk Belts, 18c.
Black Silk Mitts, 25c.

Excel ent quality Cotton Flonge at 12c.
Lot Ladies' Shirt Waists at 47c.
Men's Night Shirts 49c.
Boys' Outing shirts 25c.
Men's Outing Shirts, 39c.
The best 50c. vanilla Corsets ever offered this city.
Superior Silk Gloria Umbrellas, $1.39.

Our assortment of new styles Mattings and Low PRICES surpasses anything ever before offered in this city. Our assortment of Elegant Carpets, Art Squares, Rugs, etc., is complete and prices guaranteed the Lowest.

EDSALL'S!

ANOTHER ELECTION COMING.

But this is a Selection for the public. $2 WORTH OF GOODS FOR $1.

1 lb new crop Tea (any kind).
1 lb fresh roasted Coffee (bean or ground).
1 lb Pride of Plainfield Baking Powder, (has no equal.)
1 lb best Corn Starch.
1 lb best Rice.

¼ lb best Pepper.
¼ lb best Cloves.
1 cake Sweet Chocolate.
1 25c. bottle extract, Vanilla or Lemon.
1 bottle Pickles.

What we feel we cannot afford to offer, you cannot afford to miss. The last time we offered similar goods at this fabulously low price, some went away disappointed. Come early.

Choice table Butter, 19c per lb. Sole agents for J. D. Mason & Co. crackers and cakes, Baltimore, Md. See our variety, flower in the door.

In strictly Jersey, Sugar Cured Hams, Bacon and Shoulders, we haven't got a competitor in the city. Selling more in a day than most stores do in a week.

Don't forget the sale for a card that entitles you to a book and 25 picture free.

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,

Distributors of Pure Goods Wholesale and Retail. 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you get. Where you get most, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

Having

Disposed

of the

Produce Business

to Mr. L. A. Hummer, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.

38c.

Buys a full size, reinforced front, skirt, with Linen bosom and waistbands; regular 50c quality.

17c.

Buys a five foot curtain pole with brass fixtures, complete.

Window Shades 25c. and upward.
Dress Chalties 5c. Best Prints 4c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 30 days at

B O E H M ' S

No. 7 WEST FRONT STREET.

For a Delicious Drink

NEUMANN BROS.

Have just the article, a select

50c. Formosa Oolong

TEA, to make a

Delicious Iced Tea.

Fresh roasted Coffee received weekly, once otherwise received every morning. All goods sold at lowest prices. A full line of Vegetables received Daily.

NEUMANN BROS.

79 BROADWAY.

PIPTONIZED

Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'.

Builders Carpenters.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber,

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet

MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS,

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 965.

PIERSON & GAYLE.

Carpenters

and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 13 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 10 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH.

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 252.

R. V. SAUMS.

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Bvons.

P. O. Box 1088

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. E. HOFFMAN.

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

Residence, 24 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ARNOTT.

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to. Corner new and Front streets, Plainfield, N. J. Shop in rear. Yard for lumber, laths and wood work. P. O. Box 1044.

JOHN HESSMANN.

Builder and dealer in wood mantels, sash, doors, etc., of every kind and description. Shop, Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

J. HESSMANN, 2 Somerset street.

Just What You Need!

If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an

Arnold Steam Cooker.

Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.

You can buy the above articles at 64 Park avenue. Also the only genuine

BOSTON BROWN BREAD,

made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.

M. E. BEACH, Agent.

Do You Want Shirts?

If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your ideas.

The assortment we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects.

Puff Bosoms for hot weather; Blue Flannel for coat.

Hallock & Davis,

5 West Front Street.

Trunks and Bags.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS

PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—218 East Front street.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

26 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

42 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.

42 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND INSUR NCE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

NO. 45 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE.

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Six Varieties.)

Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : :

- - - - NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 48 EMILY STREET.

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro., to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call we'll be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any of the first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer.

Telephone Co 157.

Railroad Time Table.

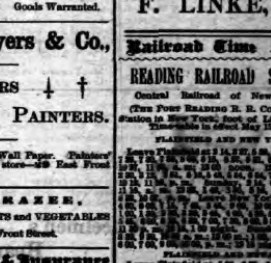
READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(THE PORT READING R. R. CO., LESSEE.)

Station in New York: Foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect May 15, 1892.

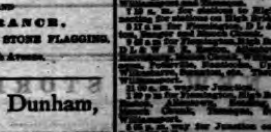
PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.



PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

PLAINFIELD AND RARITAN.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

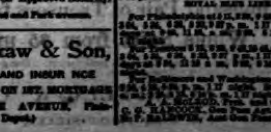


WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

LONG BRANCH OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.



Educational.

ELOCUTION.

Instruction in Elocution, class or private lessons. Call or address Miss. Aldwell, P. O. Box 1088.

FRENCH LESSONS.

Instruction and entertainment in French Lessons. Class or private lessons. Terms reasonable. Pupils received and conducted to Plainfield from Principal Plainfield High School, and others by train or if ordered. Apply at No. 17 Prospect avenue, Plainfield.

HARNED ACADEMY,

For Boys and Young Men, Re-Opens MONDAY, SEPT. 19th, 1892.

For full information call at the academy or address EDWARD HARNED, A. M.,

2 20 7 107 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISS FAWCETT'S

English Boarding and Day School for Young Ladies. Thorough instruction in English and French. At home Wednesdays, from 3 to 5 p. m. 35 Grove avenue, North Plainfield.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTISON,

Will receive pupils for instruction, either at her room or at pupil's residence. Liberal terms. Best of references. No. 127 Park avenue.

Miscellaneous Cards.

MRS. LINDSAY,

Dressmaker, Cutting Office, 29 West Front street, over Gaskill's grocery. All kinds of work done in the latest styles. Terms reasonable.

H. E. SCHENCK,

Dealer in all kinds of wood, green and dry, sawed and split, delivered to any part of Plainfield. Orders left at Arnold's Steam Cooker, 64 Park avenue, W. G. U. C. room, 107 Park avenue, City Hall, 2nd floor, Cor. Front and Park avenue, Dr. Hall's office, Cor. Front and Park avenue, Cor. Second and Watchung avenue, Dr. Hall's residence, Cor. Second and Watchung avenue, Dr. Hall's residence, Cor. Second and Watchung avenue, Dr. Hall's residence

MAN EXCELS WOMAN.

IN SOME LINES OF WORK DISTINCTLY HERS MEN SUCCEED.

Specialties That Have for Generations Been Peculiarly Confined to Women Are Now Filled by the Male Sex—Women, However, Are Invading Men's Domain.

When the historian of the future constructs the chronicle of the closing Nineteenth century a most interesting development incident to the period will be the curious exchange of industrial occupations between men and women wage earners.

In the interjection of unexpected and, indeed, brilliant success, women exploit their achievements in man's domain through the press and on the platform, quite ignoring the less sensational but none the less victorious invasion of woman's province by men. The absolute monarchs of the realm of millinery, woman's dress are Worth, Pingat and Felix, and the most famous milliners and most oft cited dressmakers are men. The best cutters, fitters, tailors and cloakmakers for women are also men.

The most noted costumers of the stage, those best versed in historical detail, with finer taste in the selection of harmonies and truer theories in the ethics of effect, are they who never wore a petticoat. The most celebrated cooks in the world, the chefs of the finest hotels, restaurants, clubs and private establishments, the caterers at all sumptuous weddings, banquets and dinners, are men. Even in the mattered ladies' lunches, those carnivals of esoteric luxury, a man who rose from the rank of waiter carries the banner for triumphant daintiness, woman's supreme gift and grace.

There stands on record one prominent woman's college, where every office of responsibility and honor is filled by a woman, save one—that of the cook. The learned and dignified president, the professors of ancient languages and modern science, the expounders of law, logic and sociology, all are women. The genius of the sanctum and kettle is a man. Remembering that one rich man's estate pays a salary more than double that paid to Harvard's president, it will appear how important is this department of woman's work appropriated by the invaders.

It must be confessed, at the risk of calling down the anathemas of all womankind, that the best housekeepers in the land are men.

The best butlers, waiters, "second servants," scourers of clothing, ironers, decorators and furnishers of houses, music and attendants are men. Even the old and honorable calling of professional housecleaner or charwoman is being usurped by men, and the dreaded ordeal of the spring and fall insurrection loses its terror under the executive ability of the new dispenser of suds and broomina.

Woman in the meantime is advancing rapidly through avenues hitherto open only to men, and in spite of tradition and heredity, inexperience and the resistance of public opinion, is demonstrating her superior ability in unexpected directions. As cashier women are acknowledged more desirable than men because of the greater accuracy and less vulnerable honesty. No one ever heard of an absconding woman cashier, and rarely is one discharged for small pilfering.

A philosophical youth on a small salary explains this superior honesty in women as the result of a lack of temptation, to cause the woman cashier doesn't have to take the girls out or support all her wife's relations. In the restaurant district the women cashier is said to be of peculiar value in subduing the righteous wrath of the hungry guest, superinduced by the tardiness many times exhibited in restaurant discomfort. The winsome face and engaging manner of just the right kind of a girl cashier reconcile any man, not a monster, to the small interruption to his dinner. Smiles rather steak and a wet napkin.

By somewhat recent competitive test arranged by the Department of Journals at Washington women have been proved superior to men as microscopists and type writers. In the manipulation of the microscope a woman's quicker observation of minute differents, greater accuracy, consentiousness and patience and more delicate touch give her the advantage over the male. One of the leading physicians of the city advocates that the great value of women in the medical profession promises to be in microscopic investigation and laboratory experiment.

It is a curious fact that men are begining to prefer women amanuenses and secretaries to men, and the quick touch of their quicker tact in grasping and reproducing the ideas given and the dainty nicety and correctness of their finished work, but also necessary in spelling, punctuation and all the secrets of their employers inviolate and are less likely to reveal them through bribery.

Women train dispatchers, conductors and switchmen have proved in every instance more faithful and capable than men, rarely if ever being guilty of neglect or blunders, resulting in accidents. The lack of intemperance among women and a keener responsibility concerning the delegation of life are said to be the important factors of success.

Women are practicing all professions with honor and profit. They are found in the financial and commercial world. They figure as officers of corporations, as architects of buildings, inventors of mechanical appliances, undertakers, blacksmiths, cattle breeders, lecturers, instructors, civil engineers, scientific electricians, bank directors, veterinary surgeons, brokers and lawyers.

A wife in Kansas became a mother and a mayor on the same day, and a wife in Kentucky took back to her family a week old baby with her diploma from the medical college where she graduated with honor. Where is the man who can beat that?

All honor to the plucky, industrious and energy of the American woman. Whether her the nation would be as desolate as our banner without the stars on the azure field. Three hundred and forty-two distinct industries give employment to her army of wage earners, and nearly 900,000 of her representatives are registered as architects, chemists, novelists, nurses, government clerks, public officials and teachers.—New York Sun.

Women's Chances of Marriage.

Miss Collett, writing in The Nineteenth Century, says that in England with wives the proportion of women who remain unmarried is, roughly, one in six. In London it is one in five. The worst is that this chance of marriage is so unfairly distributed. In Whitechapel there are only thirty-six unmarried women at the call facts age-period to every hundred married men at that age. In Hampstead village there are 326. Miss Collett's figures go to show that the chief marriages are greatest in the poorer classes, and least among the rich or servant keeping classes, which includes persons with £100 a year of income and upward.

A WELCOME GUEST.

When baby comes! The earth will smile,
And with her springtime arm bestride
The sleepy hills and valleys wide,
And breast caresses to their zone.
To greet my guest.

When baby comes! Now fleets from mind
All thought of self. The world grows kind
Old wounds are healed, and wrongs forgot
Borrow and pain remembered not Life hath no foes.

When baby comes! Methinks I see
The winsome face that is to be.
And old time doubts, and haunting fears,
Are lost in dreams of happier years
Smiles follow tears.

When baby comes! God make me good.
And rich in grace of motherhood.
Make white this woman's soul of mine,
And meet for this great gift of time,
In that glad time.
—Ida W. Wheeler in Ladies' Home Journal.

TABLE ETIQUETTE.

Some Excellent Suggestions for the Family and Dinner Table.

The person who takes dinner or tea at home in a disorderly, uncouth manner and surly mood 300 days in the year is far more likely to make a success of the neighboring dinner or tea tables during the remaining 65 afternoons. Have you not at table with the man who goes about his business with a scowl and oaths—as he would clear up a blackberry field, to every brush of which he owed a particular grudge, slashing here and there, snapping at the dinner as if it were a dog, ready to be delinquent or careless, or eating the entire contents of the pickle jar while waiting, because that was near and nobody else was there to be irritated reaching distance? This is the man who causes you to feel homesick; you lose your appetite and long for a beautiful picture, a glimpse of the ocean, a dish of violets, or daisies—anything devoid of animal life; for if the first element that goes to make a perfect dinner is a perfect animal, we are not content to have him rise no higher than the animal.

This man is a trifle less obnoxious than the woman who forgets that napkins have a use, or table, dissects a soft shell crab as recklessly as though she might be conducting an exercise in zoology, puts her fingers in the water with that air which bespeaks their importance as ingredients, rushes with her fork to the opposite extremity of the table for the biscuit, because she "never did like to trouble folks at the table," she thinks the man who manipulates the carving knife and fork a martyr, as though it were anything but a pleasure to serve our own at table or elsewhere.

A wise man once expressed his preference for a dry morsel taken quietly over a house full of meritless accompanied by strife, which no doubt means that he would willingly see every drop of the tea spilled and gnaw his bread silently, crust and all, rather than be perplexed.

But why not have the tea (dry morsels are not conducive to health), the bread, a choice bit or two, besides, if you will, to coax the appetite, all flavored with such conversational delicacies as are spontaneous, such side dishes of mirth as contribute to good digestion; for a laugh is scarcely less beneficial to the man or woman physically or mentally overworked than the dessert of ripe fruit. If you would be happy at your table and contribute to the happiness of others there:

Spare a few thoughts to the needs of others.

Make guests "at home."

Give your special aversion a rest.

Dinners each subjects at—well, anything that smacks of being talked over good naturedly.

If you have not the happy faculty of the first Lord Houghton in selecting your guests, consider well the accepted duties.

Provide palatable and digestible food not a stingy allowance, neither an over powering quantity.

Give children a little license in table manners, not compelling them to use any one form, as, "I'd thank you for the butter," or, "Will you please to pass the bread?" or, "Mother, may I have the salt?"

At breakfast, refrain from telling how many times you heard the clock strike during the night.

Remain silent rather than allude to your false teeth, if you are so fortunate as to own a set.

Smile your sweetest in declining what disagrees with you, never troubling yourself or others with the recital of its "effects on the system."—Mrs. Anna P. Payne in Good Housekeeping.

A Thought for Housekeepers.

The other night a New York man entered his Brooklyn home with a promising looking package wrapped in paper in his hand. Before he left the house in the morning the man had inquired its contents. "Wait and see," was the reply, and he unrolled the wrappings, disclosing at last a pretty lamp, fitted with a large porcelain shade and most approved burner.

His wife was a little disappointed.

"Another lamp!" she exclaimed. "Why, I've a hundred and fifty lamps in this house student and one or two useless but pretty bonder lamps. I really"—

"Now, now," interrupted her husband, "this lamp is not for you; it's for Ellen. I went down stairs last night and found her sewing by the light of a poor gas burner. I asked her why she hurt her eyes, and she said, 'Oh, no.' I knew better, and I bought this lamp out at the corner for the kitchen.'

His wife the next day, relating the incident, added: "I think that is the most wonderful man who works all day as a cook or housemaid does should be very well looked after —should have a comfortable bed and sleeping room, even if we have to do without a parlor. It is when she is in the best condition that she is capable of good work, he says, if the master is locked at merely in the light of policy."

Such unusual thoughtfulness on the part of a man of the house may give a hint to some housekeepers. Too many mistresses, careful in all other departments of their homes, give scarcely a thought to the comfort or convenience of their servants.—Her Point of View.

Favor Domestic Dressmakers.

An interesting return has recently been published, showing that unconsciously perhaps, but surely, the ladies of America are becoming strong patrons of home industries. In 1890 the dressmakers of four cities constructed of foreign manufactured material, while now three dresses out of four are entirely American made. The practice of having only dresses from London and Paris still prevails to some extent, though as immense number of dresses are made in the east and sold as the latest from Paris. But the great mass of the people do not attempt to import goods, and they are barely conscious of the fact that much of the dress they wear in small towns is now almost exclusively of home manufacture, whereas ten or twelve years ago a genuine American made costume was almost a curiosity.—Chicago Mail.

A Queer Sort of Bed.

"Yes," said a recently married bride's lady to a caller who dropped in one morning, "but I haven't swept my parlors thoroughly in three months, at least what we would ordinarily call sweeping them, and I am sure you will agree that they don't look it. Of course I have points in my favor, as there are no children about the house except those of casual callers, but even then I should not be under a glare of sweeping day as most of my friends are. To begin with, I never allow my rooms to get all litter up. To be sure, eternal vigilance is rather hard work, but all the same I think it pays. I never use a scrap of any sort on the carpet without picking it up at once, and when I sweep, I take pains to keep things so far as possible in their places, and, between you and me, what I think is the strongest of all points I have just as little in my room as I can get along with. For years my life was a burden with bric-a-brac and trinkets and ornaments and draperies and fancy articles of every description, which led to be put in order and dusted and looked after daily.

"Now I keep within easy reach a very large, soft square of flannel. This I wring very dry out of clean water, and once in awhile move an article of furniture and wipe the dust from the carpet under it with this cloth. I never allow myself to go over the whole room at one time, but just keep track of the places where dust is most likely to accumulate. My dusting I begin with soft, rather large cloths. I wipe up the dust with the utmost care, working very slowly, and between every article I take this cloth to the open door or window and give it a thorough shaking in this way I not only clear the dust off from the articles in the room, but keep it from the carpet and get it out of the room altogether. There is science in everything, even in dusting a room, and I contend, and with a fair array of facts to prove my statement that if the parlor is properly cared for one sweeping in a month will answer every purpose. Of course, sitting rooms and dining rooms need more care, but with these I would sweep and dust sitting cloth and brush are used with discretion and thoroughness."—New York Ledger.

Gorgeous Gowns of Humble Origin.

Many are the stories we have read about how some of the world renowned dressmakers study color effects and suggestions from tropical birds and gorgeous sunsets, and how they travel here and there and search the history of all times and peoples for new models. All this we have read, and our admiration for the versatility of these dress artists has been great, and in our ignorance we have given them more merit than is really their due. "Do you know," said a buyer for one of the largest shops to me the other day, "that a great many of the costumes sold by Worth and other well known dressmakers for fabulous sums, and which have helped to establish their names as authority on dress all over the world, are very often designed by some obscure little woman living in a back street?

"These poor, hard working women have sometimes great talents as designers, and whenever a particularly brilliant idea strikes them they will spend their last frane to buy the materials necessary to make the dress, which, when finished, they will carry to the head of some one of the large establishments in the hopes of selling it. If the dress happens to please, suggestions are made about changes or improvements, and the designer is given an order which enables her to provide herself from the warehouse's stock with every thing necessary to make the dress. When complete she again takes it to the head of the house, who pays her well for her work and sells the dress at a profit.

"Thus new dresses which cost perhaps 200 francs sold for as many thousands, and the name of the seller gains an added renown, which in his case only means of purchase. In Paris today not a few of the big dressmakers, by selling three or four gowns in this way, have made enough money to establish themselves in a business which their talents have enabled them to enlarge and make successful."—Philadelphia Press.

A Cure for Worn Out Faces.

No one knows the care of a house in all its departments as one who has tried it for years. No one can know the weariness of selecting, planning and knowing just what will be served (and better than any one else, too, just how it will be served) for the 1,095 meals which are needed to give one's family a year's growth, except one who has planned that number for several years.

Overwork never spoils many faces. She is worn out. She has kept house for fifteen years, and she is the best housekeeper I know.

All through the history of humanity it need calls forth a supply. Each condition of suffering or demand has through all ages brought forth its cure, its reply.

Overwork we do not run the race as quickly as we might, but it is always well-ing, always ready when our need is great enough to drive us to it.

What, then, is the response here to the hundreds of drawn, tired faces; the hundreds of strained, tired voices; the hundreds of breathless, overworked women, tired of ripening into a vigorous old age, withered and droop into different stages of incapacity and suffering?

The answer is here.

Learn bodily economy.

Spare your forces as you spare your money.

Watch your bank account of muscular and nervous strength.—Boston Herald.

Knew Her Own Mind.

A lady who was shopping visited the mantle department of a Woodward avenue store and the young woman attendant began to show her the different designs, exhibiting them on a lay figure.

"I think this would suit you," said the attendant, looking her over carefully.

"No," said the customer, regarding the long ends of the garment critically, "that is not my style."

"It will make you look slim," urged the girl.

"I have no desire to look slim," was the answer.

"But you will appear taller in it."

"And I do not wish to appear taller," said the lady quietly.

The girl looked at her a moment in surprise, then she said, with a little sigh:

"Happy woman! I wish more of my customers were as well satisfied with themselves. I always have to help them make up their minds as to what they want."

"I have a mind of my own," said the shopper tranquility, as she selected the garment that suited her and brought her shopping and the genial disputation to an end together.—Detroit Free Press.

The suggestion is offered by a clever needlewoman that a better stocking darner than the wooden or porcelain egg or polished solid cup is a discarded slipper sole, or rather the sole of a discarded slipper, for the two should remain mated.

This Date in History—June 22.

1867—Sylvester Markowell, Prevention commissioner, died; gave his name to a system of bicycle.

1868—John Fisher, laborer at Tower hill for denying the spiritual supremacy.

1869—Born, boy, author of "Smallest and Greatest Country in Europe," Andorra.

1870—Died, boy, author of "Smallest and Greatest Country in Europe," Andorra.

1871—Charles Dickens, author, died; was a London boy.

1876—Lord Lyttelton, Lord Justice of Appeal, died.

1878—Died, boy, author of "Smallest and Greatest Country in Europe," Andorra

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Lock Box I. Telephone Call 61. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week. Daily—red.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," THURSDAY, JUNE 23, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

The Campaign of 1892.

Now the tickets are formed. Harrison and Protection on one side, Cleveland and Free Trade on the other.

It is the same old issue.

With it the Democrats were buried from power four years ago.

It seems like threshing old straw to bring up the old arguments again by which this result was accomplished.

The Democrats are encouraged to try again, considering that they had the popular majority, although not the necessary electoral vote, in 1884, and in 1888 when they, while Republicans slept and before protection had had a fair trial, swept the country and changed a Republican Congress into one overwhelmingly Democratic, which lead them to keep in the old rut, and continue to serve the interests of the old world rather than those of the new.

We have no doubt as to the result.

The Republicans now are equipped with facts.

Before they had only theory.

Facts are stubborn things, and they throw all the weight of argument against the Democrats.

They will depend for success and assistance from the old world manufacturers to break down our home industries.

They will say: Show us who are protected other than the monopolists?

Has any mechanic had his wages raised because of protection?

Is your wife able to buy her dress any cheaper?

They will present the seeming fact of the popular will being against protection, claiming that it only makes the rich richer and poor poorer, and they will make many other catchy phrases that may delude easily persuaded people, and jingle well on the ear like a pleasant song.

The poor will in many cases believe they have discovered in the stump speakers' words the cause of their poverty.

They will not understand that whether it is Protection or Free Trade riches increase with the wise.

The men of fickle times knew this and urged their children to seek the ways of wisdom.

Solomon, reputed wisest of men, said, "my son, get wisdom, and with all they wisdom get understanding."

It seems like folly to tell that their popular majority comes in part from the States where the ballot rules the ballot, and Republicans in minority are intimidated, and in part from the States where, like in New Jersey, control was obtained by fraudulent voters as in Hudson and other counties, or in New York where Tammany rules, with all its rings and odious memory.

They will not tell that the question of wages is controlled rather by the law of supply and demand.

That the policy which encourages manufacturers must necessarily in the labor market increase demand and diminish supply, and that it is demand and supply which also regulate the price of goods.

Where there are twenty wage-earners and only one job, the one who offers the best terms gets the job.

Where they are twenty jobs and only one wage-earner, the employer who offers the best terms get the employe.

Protection is calculated to give the twenty jobs or so to every wage-earner.

Free Trade is calculated to make the twenty jobs wage-earners compete for the one job, and the heaviest must come down to the humblest or go hungry.

Where there are more goods than buyers bargains are offered.

Where they are more buyers than goods the goods come high.

All the arguments of the campaign will not change these results.

These are the issues which the men whose pictures we give above represent. Choose ye between them.

BREVITIES

—Some Plainfield cyclists lost their way on our streets the other evening, and "as they couldn't find any police men," they had to be directed how to reach home.—Westfield Leader.

—An adjourned sale of real estate will be held at 70 Webster place, on Saturday afternoon, June 25th, at two o'clock. This property was put up at auction some time ago, but as only $6,500 was bid, the sale was adjourned until the above date.

—There was some excitement last evening in that part of North Plainfield, commonly designated Bull Frog City. A keg of beer produced a row in a social gathering, and rumor has it that one of the party either tried to cut his own or some one else's throat, which, however, is not known. There were no arrests.

—Last Sunday was the forty-fifth anniversary of the first match game of base ball ever played. The contest took place at Hoboken, N. J., June 19, 1846. The game had originated nearly nine months before, it had gradually grown out of the old English school boy game of rounders. Rounders gradually "evoluted" into "town ball." In the latter sport, instead of bases, they were "corners." These were unattended, and runners were put out by being hit with the ball, which was thrown by the fielders. The ball used, was necessarily, therefore, much softer and smaller than the base ball of to-day and made entirely of rubber. And in many other respects the games differ considerably from what is used to be.

Bicycle Notes.

The Centre Church Committee is going to set aside one of the horse sheds as a bicycle shed. Not a few persons who attend the Sunday and week night meetings ride to and from the church on bicycles. Now they have to leave their bicycles outside; where the small boys tamper with them, and where, in case of a sudden shower, the machines would be injured by the wet. The shed will be enclosed and conveniently arranged for the storage of bicycles. So far as we can learn the Centre church is the first in the country to provide a bicycle shed. —Manchester Herald.

The teams of the Elizabeth Athletic Club Wheelmen, Cranford Cycling Club, and Roselle Rumblers will contest in the first of the series of races for the championship of Union county on Saturday. The race will be held on the Roselle course.

Boys' Club Attendance.

The following are some figures which may please the friends of the Boys' Club: Total attendance in May.....1,320
Largest " 125
Average " 61
Number of visitors.....77
" " family visits.....25
" " new members.....15

I. S. Bush, Supt.

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. E. Townsend and family, of Westfield, will move to this city on the 30th inst.

Miss Bertha Fieber, formerly of Somerville, but now of this city, was the guest of Miss Rockafellow of Somerville, Sunday.

Mrs. Fanny G. Foster, and Mr. and Mrs. Deane M. Van Vliet and daughter Ruth have gone to Forest Lake Club House, Mast Hope, Penn., for several weeks.

The address at the St. Mary's school commencement exercises at Music Hall, to morrow night, will be delivered by the Right Rev. Father Seton, of Jersey City.

Miss Maud Lowrie of Park avenue gave a "Bicycle party" to a number of her friends last evening. After the ride, refreshments were served at Dr. Lowrie's residence.

Mr. Frank D. Randolph, of this city, who recently graduated at Lehigh University with high honors, received the degree of Mechanical Engineer, (M. E.) and not civil engineer as reported.

The engagement is announced of Miss Lucy Wells Tyler, daughter of Mr. Corydon Tyler, formerly of this city, but now of Macon street, Brooklyn, and Mr. Clifford Kelsey, a civil engineer of New York city. Miss Tyler was visiting Mrs. John Drayton of Franklin place, yesterday.

West End Happy.

Nearly 100 of Somerville's most prominent and dangerous cranks journeyed to Plainfield on Saturday afternoon to see the West Ends defeat the Crescents. Not that they had any doubt for a moment that the result would be otherwise than it was, as it was known that Manager Mack had been reading the riot act to the members of the team, and that they were going to play "ball," all the while, and to win, in order to win, it was to go to sleep during the progress of the game. Such was the way it looked on Saturday, but it was because the Crescents put up a much stronger game than they were thought capable of, and their vigilance, under the circumstances, was entirely excusable. Had the players been the same individuals that were sampling gravel earlier in the season, South side jubilee prayed as though victory depended on the individual efforts of each player, and the efforts made by the Crescents to steal second on Kennedy, and two of Bonner's long hits, were failures. The first to take the chances was "genius" Willie Murphy, and he had probably thought that a lot of the boarders when Parnell had the ball. He made one of his marvelous slides, but gravitation and friction were both "agin" him, and he came in, covered with dust and a look of disgust in the last inning. Turner's bump of cocoanut held him into making the trial, also into wagering a dollar that he would succeed. The attempt was made and promptly knocked the dollar.—Somerville Messenger.

The Festival Last Night.

The strawberry and ice-cream festival given by Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M. at Somerset Hall last night, was a success. Prof. Dettman furnished the music for the dancing.

COMMENCEMENT DAY.

THE EXERCISES AT THE HIGH SCHOOL THIS MORNING.

Miss Bulkley, the Principal, Presented with a Handsome Traveling Clock.—Resolutions Offered—The Programme To-Night at Music Hall.

The closing exercises held at the High School building this morning, resulted in two very pleasant surprises to the principal, Miss Bulkley.

The exercises commenced with singing by the school, followed by Miss Bulkley's annual address in which she complimented the graduating class and school in general.

In view of Miss Bulkley's leaving this city to accept a position as Dean of the University of Chicago, the pupils of the High School called a meeting, the following resolutions, which were beautifully drawn by Mr. Ezra Loomis and presented to her this morning:

RESOLUTIONS

adopted by the High School of Plainfield, N. J., June 22, 1892.

Resolved, I.—That we, the members of the Plainfield High School, extend to our retiring Principal, Miss Sylvia B. Bulkley, our deep appreciation of her earnest and faithful work in the Public Schools of Plainfield; that we give her our sincere thanks for the example she has set in untiring industry and zeal, directed so successfully for the attaining of everything pertaining to the welfare of our schools.

Resolved, II.—That we feel that whatever progress the High School has achieved during the past two years is due to Miss Bulkley, and that we very largely to that personal and friendly guidance which she has always so warmly and unselfishly given us.

Resolved, III.—That we express through these resolutions our sincere regret at her decision to part with so helpful a leader and so genuine a friend as Miss Bulkley has proved herself.

Resolved IV.—That while we deeply deplore her leaving us, we sincerely congratulate Miss Bulkley on the honors lately bestowed upon her by the Board of Managers of Chicago, and while one second was but a temporary part of the work in the new field of labor which she is about to enter.

Resolved, V.—That these resolutions be presented to Miss Bulkley in due form and copies of them published in the daily papers of the City.

GRACE H. FRYER, '92,
CHARLES H. ANDERSON, '93,
AUGUSTA B. CRANDALL, '93,
GERTRUDE HUBBARD, '94,
W. HARRY C. LEONARD, '94,
MABEL M. MITCHELL, '94,
FRANCES BARTLETT, '95,
CLARENCE H. DAVIS, '95,
Committee.

Miss Bulkley in her reply said that words could not express her thanks for this unexpected surprise.

Mr. Hall, the secretary of the Board, on behalf of the teachers presented Miss Bulkley with an elegant traveling clock and case. In his presentation speech he said that he hoped that each minute would measure of happiness for her and that each time the gong struck, it would recall happy recollections of the time spent in Plainfield.

Miss Bulkley was too much taken by surprise to more than express her thanks.

To-night the sweet girl graduate will be in the van.

Music Hall will be packed with fathers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts of the fair girl and gallant young men graduates.

The programme will be as follows:

Overture—"Stradella".....Flotow
The Great Hall of William Rufus.....
.....Helen May Calhoun
Scylla and Charybdis.....Philip Bartlett Wood
The Flags of all Nations.....Beulah Jane Fenton
Selection—"Tyrolese".....Zeller
Dwarfdom.....Lucretia Rockwell
The Value of a Presidential Election.....
.....Alfred Wilcox
New England Roots of the American Elm.....
.....Helen May Calhoun
Waltz—"Sonorita".....Wood
The Power of Ideas.....Grace Johnston Carroll
The Sculpture of Nature.....Ethel Ingham
.....Charles Burton Anderson
The Modern Methuselah.....Philip Valentine
.....Grace Howard Foote
Selection—"Carmen Ramirez".....Eilenberg
Address.....Rev. Wm. H. Barrus, D.D.
.....Professor of History, Rutgers College.
Selection—"Second Concerto".....Goldmark

PRESENTATION OF REWARDS.

J. B. Professo, M. D.
For English Composition—Offered by George H. Babcock.
For Mathematics, (the late Dr. C. H. Stillman prize)—Offered by Mrs. C. H. Stillman.
For United States History—Offered by J. B. Professo, M. D.
For Reading—Offered by R. L. Pardy.
For Elocution—Offered by the Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D.D.
For Languages—Offered by E. R. Ackerman.

PRESENTATION OF DIPLOMAS.

By the President of the Board of Education.
National Airs.....Capps

Great preparations are being made for the reception to-night, and it is thought it will be one of the best arranged that has ever been held at the school.

Commencement at Billville.

From the Atlanta Constitution.

Commencement's come at Billville—the girls are in the show.
Ain't they lookin' as a-purty as ever, though?
Ain't they in sashes, a-waitin' to get the reins without a check?
Ain't they all ready a-standin' on the great horse-ly deck?

Ain't Mary's got her little hair—as gentle as a lamb?
Ain't Sue's study drum is heard—but even a humbler thing?
Ain't Annie really squaring—you almost see it shine,
Ain't Jennie are born at Bangen—at Bangen on the Rhine?

They're goin' like two-forty—the town can't get to sleep,
For, Pete, 'tis a fearful night, there's danger on the deep!
And I, I shall not ring to-night—they've sworn it, and they know!
Commencement's come at Billville and the girls are in the show.

List of Advertised Letters.

Remaining in the Plainfield Post Office for the week ending June 20th, 1892:

Brady, Mrs
Burt, Mrs E M
Bell, Miss Alma
DeMoore, Mr B
Dalrymple, Mrs
Grush, Mrs Wm
Kenney, Mrs Ruth
Lewis, Mrs Jas
Johnson, Miss Hattie
Johnson, Mr Geo
Kinney, Mrs L M
Moore, Wm
Mirrard, W
Miller, Mrs Ernest
O'Neil
Otley, Mrs Chas P
Reid, Alex Jr
Reid, Willie
Rowland, Charles
Wells, W P
Wentworth, Fred
Weeden, John
Woods, Maude
Waldron, John
Yates, Miss Annie

Persons calling for the above please say advertised. E. R. Page, Postmaster.

Dropped Dead.

A respectable-looking German, who gave as his name "Fritzs," seeming to be 50 years old, went to work yesterday afternoon for Farmer Chris. Herlich, at Warrenville, and dropped dead in the field soon after.

Doctor Eagle gave a permit for burial. The people are indignant that no effort was made to identify deceased.

LOCAL BASE BALL.

MORRISTOWN DEFEATED BY PLAINFIELD YESTERDAY.

The Visitors, However, Prove to be Capital Players—Powers Pitches for the Home Team—Score 8 to 1.

Those who attended the Morristown-Plainfield ball match yesterday, were agreeably surprised, as the game was an excellent one.

It put up a very good game of ball.

Over fifty Morristown people came over by rail and in carriages and enjoyed the game exceedingly.

A large number of ladies were present from both Morristown and this city.

Hetzel, who formerly pitched for the Star Athletics of Newark, occupied the box for the visitors and pitched remarkably well, striking out four of the Crescents.

Gillies, an old Crescent player, held down left field, but did not have a chance to distinguish himself.

The Crescents all played superbly in the field, but only Daly, Bonner, Jones and Powers secured safe base hits.

Powers, of the Allerton and other clubs, did the pitching for the home team and held the Morristowns down to five hits. He, however, sent four men to bases on balls.

Galligan, the new Seider, played right field, and accepted his one chance.

Powers secured three base hits as follows: Powers secured first by a bunt, Hofford secretaed Hetzel to Helfer, advancing Powers to second base. Daley hit to short center field, who fumbled it, allowing Powers to score and Daley to make third base. The latter scored on a long hit of Murphy's to right field. Two runs.

In the ninth, Leidy went to second base on Meeker's error and scored on Jones' hit. Galligan "flied" out to center field. One run.

The Morristowns made their run in the eighth inning. Hetzel made a two-bagger, secured third on Shannon's sacrifice, and scored on Helfer's base hit. One run.

The complete score was as follows:

CRESCENTS.

	AB	R	BH	SB	SO	PO	BB	LB	PO	A	E
Hofford, c..	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	5	0	0
Daley, ss....	4	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	4	0
Murphy, l.f.	3	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	0	0
Turner, 1b..	4	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	8	3	0
Leidy, 2b....	4	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	0
Bonner, s.s.	4	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	2	0
Jones, 1b...	4	0	1	1	0	0	0	2	13	0	0
Galligan, r.f.	4	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	1	0	0
Powers, p..	3	1	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	3	0
	34	2	5	1	1	2	1	3	27	12	0

MORRISTOWNS.

Shannon, 2b	4	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	3	0
Gillies, l.f..	4	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0
Helfer, 1 b..	4	0	2	0	1	0	0	2	15	0	0
Fritz, c.....	3	0	0	1	0	2	0	1	2	3	0
Hetzel, p....	3	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	2	0
Carr'g'n, 3b.	3	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	2	0
McGrath, r.f.	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0
Meeker, c.f.	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0
Hetzel, p....	3	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	2	6	0
	32	1	5	1	3	4	0	7	27	15	4

Crescents.....	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	0	1—3
Base hits	0	1	2	0	0	0	0	1	1
Morristowns...	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0—1
Base hits	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0

Plainfield, June 22d. Earned runs, Morristown, 1; two base hit, Hetzel; three base hits, Powers, Daley; Shannon, Meeker, McGrath; double plays, Hetzel and Helfer, Turner and Jones; time of game, one hour and thirty-five minutes; umpire, Mr. Berriman.

Manager Keller yesterday signed Danny Knoff, formerly of the Memphis, Southern League, team. He will pitch in Saturday's game against the West Ends.

Many people ask why Turner or Keegan was not put in the box in yesterday's game. As a reply to this, that Powers engineered the Leonine-Morristown game last Saturday, when the former won by the score of ten to one and consequently he was considered the man to secure. The reported game between the Morristowns and the Cuban Giants was a "fake."

Westfield has signed Tommy Esterbrook and Smith of Trenton.

Keegan has been released.

Beware of Canned Goods.

The season is at hand for giving special attention to the condition of food materials. From St. Louis thirty persons were reported seriously poisoned by eating ice cream, Monday, and for days past a wholesale poisoning was reported in Ten Rivers at Harlan from canned corn. Coroner Alford, Monday, recently on the body of a girl who died from eating canned corn. Recently a Jersey Admiralty board made an order prohibiting the issue to navy supplies of canned fresh berries, and order was issued after the death of an officer and the serious illness of three men from eating canned berries. Other recent poisonings, cases of a similar character were due to canned fish, very good canned fish, which formed part and in one case to be mixed with beans, one used and in the other to be pure beans.

It has been proved abroad that there is danger in the use of tin cans for articles for human food if not properly soldered. Recently a poisoning case in this country was traced to a defective soldering of the seam on the outside of the tin scrap instead of common salt.

Y. M. C. A. Outing.

All of the Y. M. C. A. Committees have their annual outing next Saturday afternoon and evening, at J. W. Cowell's home on the Watchung, near the Middle Road Rock. Stage will leave Y. M. C. A. rooms at 2.30 p. m.

First Pole for Harrison.

Jacob M. Higgins of Dover street, North Plainfield, to-day, completed the erection of a flag pole, and swung to the breeze a flag in honor of the nomination of President Harrison.

A BRUTAL NEGRO.

ATTEMPTS TO ASSAULT A FIVE-YEAR-OLD CHILD.

He is Arrested and Taken to the Police Station, but Quickly Transferred to Elizabeth Jail, from Fear of Lynching.

A brutal attempt was made by Alonzo Randolph, a young colored man, to criminally assault the five-year-old daughter of Richard Day, the East Front street liveryman, at about five o'clock yesterday afternoon. The negro was discovered and arrested, and confined in a cell in the lock-up.

In an interview with a News' reporter last evening, Mr. Day, the child's father, said: "My wife was upstairs at five o'clock and having finished Alice, my daughter, called to her. Receiving no response my wife went down stairs. Standing in front of a shed in the back yard was Gracie Terrill, a little daughter of Detective Terrill, of East Front street. My wife asked her where Alice was and she pointed to the shed. She then called to my daughter and receiving no response, walked towards the door. As she did so, the child was roughly pushed out of the shed, and was screaming.

Her clothes were partly off of her, and, after she told the reason, and what had occurred, my wife, enraged, started toward the shed, when the negro rushed out, striking at her as he run away to court, finding himself in the billiard saloon nearby. He has been known in the vicinity as a common loafer.

My wife called on Special Watchman Babbitt, a colored man, to arrest Randolph, which he did, and was not overcareful in handling him."

Dr. Tomlinson, who examined the little girl, said that the negro had not had time to accomplish his purpose.

Shortly after the negro had been arrested, Mayor Gilbert advised that the prisoner be taken to the county jail at Elizabeth, as the feeling in the city was very intense, and it was thought better not to incur any risks.

Captain Grant summoned a hack and he and Sergeant Lynch escorted the prisoner to Elizabeth, where he will be held to await the action of the Grand Jury. The prisoner was intoxicated when arrested.

Randolph is an old offender and has been up before the City Judge several times.

He will no doubt get his just dues, at the October term of Court at Elizabeth.

Cent-a-Word Column.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

A YOUNG North German lady, with highest references, would like a position as housekeeper or nurse. Can be seen commencing September 1st. Address "M. C.," care Mrs. Chas. W. McCutchen, North Plainfield. 21 5 eod

WHEN out of employment this is the column to put your notice in. The people you want to reach read it.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Young girl as nurse. Call morning No. 21 Vine street. 22 2

WANTED—A girl for general housework. A farmer's daughter preferred. A comfortable home and good pay. Address "Mrs. J.," care of Evening News. 21-4-a-o-d

WANTED—Honest, energetic man to solicit orders for nursery stock; expense and salary to man who can leave home and work steady; also one wanted in local agents; write for terms and territory. Address R. G. Chase & Co., 2 1m eod 1420 S Penn St., Phila., Pa

WANTED—A competent colored cook and waitress. Reference required. 49 Madison avenue. 22-6

WANTED—A good dressmaker to go out by the day. Address, Miss Pearsall, 10 Grove street. 22-3

$75 TO $250 can be made monthly working for B. F. Johnston & Co., 2000 Main street, Richmond, Va. 1m*

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST—Yesterday, Wednesday, a small gold watch, open backed, with gold chain and ornament attached. Person returning it to Seabury will receive suitable reward. 22-4

BOARDERS WANTED.

A T 10 Cook place, furnished rooms with board. Table boarders accommodated. 6 2 22

FOR RENT.

FURNISHED house to let, 76 Grove street. Modern conveniences, city water. Apply premises. Also, to let, 2 unfurnished rooms, 1st floor. Rent moderate. Inquire on premises. 22-6

FOR SALE.

FOR sale or lease, a large building fronting on the boulevard at 21-23 Somerset street. For particulars inquire on the premises. 22-6*

MISCELLANEOUS.

CARRIAGES taken on sale or storage. 27 Bowne, Somerset street. 21-6*

INVENTORS who wish aid in starting their inventions should send for pamphlet "H," care of Evening News. Give brief description of invention and idea of utility. 21-5-a-o-d

OLD-FASHIONED furniture in good condition bought and sold. Call Friday and Saturday, 11 Somerset street. 2-eod

SECURE your tickets for the Columbian Fair. For particulars apply at Mitchell's. 22-3*

WANTED—A second-hand saddle and bridle. Must be very low in price. "Bargain," care Evening News. 22 2

WANTED—21,000 or five purchase of first mortgage. Address "X," care News. 22 2

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

NEWS OF THE CONVENTION.

Gray will Probably be Nominated.

CHICAGO, June 23.—(Special.)—Shortly after the nomination of Cleveland, at 4.30 a. m. this morning, (the proceedings of which are on page 2) the Convention adjourned until two o'clock this afternoon, (three o'clock eastern time) to nominate a vice-President.

CHICAGO, Ill., 2.45.—The convention has not convened yet.

PROBABLE CANDIDATE FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

ISAAC P. GRAY.

The nomination for Vice-President rests between Gray of Indiana and Stevenson of North Carolina.

LATER.

5.10 p. m.—The Convention was called to order this afternoon at 3.54 o'clock. The work of nominating a candidate for Vice President is proceeding slowly.

5.15 p.m.—Stevenson of North Carolina has just been nominated by Williamson of Illinois.

5.19—Connecticut nominates Gray.

5.21—Idaho seconds Gray.

5.23—Iowa calls for Boies. Loud cheers.

5.25—Iowa declines to nominate Boies.

Dr. Scudder was Probably Insane.

CHICAGO, June 23, (Special.)—The examination of the brain and spinal cord of the late Dr. Henry Martyn Scudder, who died in jail from the effects of an overdose of morphine, presumably taken with suicidal intent, revealed conditions which, in the opinion of the physicians, indicated that he was insane.

The body will be taken to New York on Friday, and there, according to the custom of the family, will be cremated.

Gold Discovered in Arizona.

KINGMAN, Ari., June 23d. (Special.)—A great gold rush has set in to the new mining camp in Mohave County, Ari., fifty miles north of here. Mining men estimate the amount of ore on the surface worth not less than $1,000,000. The new town will be called Silverado.

The human body has its limitations

HORNBY'S

H-O

OAT-FOOD

diminishes wear and increases enjoyment.

JOHN JOHNSON, JR'S PLAN PROTECTED BY DECISION OF SUPREME COURT, NOV. 13th, 1882

JOHN JOHNSON, JR. AUCTIONEER

DON'T IMITATE PLAN.

POSITIVE TRUSTEE'S SALE.

By Order of WM. L. STRONG, Esq., Trustee.

At 2.30 o'clock p. m., on the premises, rain or shine,

Saturday, June 25th, at

42 Desirable Plots,

containing from 2 to 5 acres each. Surrounding the Magnificent Netherwood Hotel,

NETHERWOOD,

in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey.

The property overlooks and is about 100 feet above the level of the main street of Plainfield. On parts of the property previously sold numerous handsome residences are being erected, and the sales have been excellent.

There is a Chemical Engine in the property. Gas and Water Mains on both of the streets. Electric Railway Station at Netherwood. Numerous trains either way.

Refreshments Prior to Sale. Special Train leaving foot of Liberty street, New York, at ONE o'clock.

Terms of sale in brief.

10 per cent. of the purchase-money and the Auctioneer's fees paid down on the day of sale. BALANCE IN 30 DAYS. Or 25 per cent. may remain on bond and mortgage at 6 per cent. interest, payable 5 per cent. the first year, 10 per cent. the second year, and the remaining 10 per cent. the third year.

Maps, Circulars, Passes and additional information of JOHN JOHNSON, JR., No. 60 Liberty street, New York, and Nos. 189 and 191 Montague street, Brooklyn, and John H. Dunn, Civil Engineer and City Surveyor, 11 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J. 10 F

RIP VAN WINKLE HOUSE,

Catskill Mountains,

OPENS ABOUT JUNE 16TH.

For particulars and circulars address S. V. Van Loan, Pine Hill, Ulster county, N. Y. 19 1m tuw

A LOST BOY!

Information wanted of the whereabouts of my son, Frank, age fourteen years, who disappeared from home, May 29, 1892, and has not been heard from since.

I will feel very grateful to whoever can help me find him, and relieve the distress of mind of my wife and myself.

Randolph Marsh,

44 PLAINFIELD AVENUE.

18 9

BOYNTON : : - - BEACH,

With

Greatly Increased

Attractions,

OPENED SATURDAY,

June 18th, 1892.

ADJOURNED SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE, ON

Saturday, June 25th, at 2 p. m. Sharp,

On Property at 70 Webster Place.

Sale Rain or Shine.

T. J. CAREY, Auctioneer.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,

OF PLAINFIELD.

Firm of

RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY,

Importers and Tailors,

231 Broadway, New York,

Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring.

Moderate Prices.

CLEVELAND WINS

He Is Nominated on the Very First Ballot.

HOW THE DELEGATES VOTED

Wild Cheers Greet the Ex-President's Victory.

Governor Abbett Nominates Cleveland, De Witt, of Brooklyn, Freeman Hill's Name and Duncombe, of Iowa, Names Governor Boies—The Platform's Tariff Plank Attacked by Henry Watterson and Others and a Stronger Plank Substituted—An Attempt to Commit the Convention to Free Coinage Fails—Michigan Saves the Day—New Delegations Nearly Come to Blows—An All Night Session of the Convention.

CHICAGO, June 23.—Grover Cleveland was nominated on the first ballot early this morning.

CHICAGO, June 23.—When the delegates to the Democratic national convention were comfortably settled in their seats Wednesday noon Senators Mills and Palmer were called upon for speeches. Mr. Mills bade farewell for the hall, but the Illinois senator made a short address, appealing for harmony. "Let us be one," he said, "one in spirit, one in purpose, and let us be one in the great battle. Let there be no sulkers in camp." Continuing Mr. Palmer referred to the federal elections question as follows: "As sure as Benjamin Harrison is elected and the next congress is Republican, we will have a force bill such as the ingenuity of John Davenport or the devil may suggest." [Loud applause.]

In conclusion he promised the support of Illinois to the ticket.

Chairman Wilson's Speech.

Permanent Chairman W. L. Wilson received an ovation. In beginning his address he said that the platform of the Democratic party was to fight for the under dog, and when Republicans were in control the American people was the under dog. Republican success in the coming campaign, he said, meant that the people were to be stripped of their franchise through force bills in order that they may be stripped of their money through tariff bills. The speaker denounced federal control of elections. He added:

GROVER CLEVELAND.

For years we have been struggling to recover the lost right of taxing ourselves, and now we are threatened with the loss of the greatest right of governing ourselves. Shall you confer upon the government the power of dealing out wealth you reclaim every evil that can prey upon society? Every dollar of the constitutions—excessive taxation, class taxation, billion dollar congresses, a corrupt civil service, a debauched ballot box and purchased elections.

In every can sign the privilege of taxing the people will be the harvest for contributions to corrupt them at the polls. After every victory a new McKinley bill to repay these contributions, with usury, out of taxes taken from the people.

Tariff reform, the speaker said, was the only gateway to genuine Democratic government. The people knew from hard experience that protection as a system of taxation is but the old crafty scheme by which the rich compel the poor to pay the expenses of the government. The Democratic party intended to limit taxation to public needs and to levy taxes by the plain rule of justice and equality. Concerning reciprocity, Mr. Wilson said:

Already we are regaled with pictures of Benjamin Harrison clad in armor and going forth to battle for reciprocity as a plumed knight. Simple Simon, fishing for what is in his mother's rain barrel, in great crimson raptures at the occasional wiggle waggle in the true realistic picture of reciprocity of the McKinley bill. We are for the principle of reciprocity and for the reciprocity that reciprocates. We are in favor of protecting every man in the production of the fruit of his toil, but we believe only by his proper contribution to the support of the government, and we are for that reciprocity which has no commercial chasm between the American protector and the market he is obliged to seek in his products.

Ex-Governor Campbell, of Ohio, was loudly called for when the applause that greeted Mr. Wilson's speech had died away, and the famous Ohioan responded facetiously. In conclusion he asked the convention to keep its eye on Ohio in November. At 1:46 the convention took a recess until 5 o'clock.

The Rate Anti-Climax.

At a meeting of the committee on rules, the unit rule of voting was adopted after a hot fight. The platform was very slow in getting into the convention and one reason assigned for the delay was that Mr. Cleveland had sent word by wire to Mr. Whitney that his name must not be presented to the convention until he had read a synopsis of the platform upon which his candidacy was to rest. Mr. Whitney, when asked if this was true, said that is a measure it was. Mr. Cleveland had asked him to keep him informed upon the principal planks and he had done so.

The Convention Roughcasted.

The session of the second day opened with prayer by Rev. T. C. Green, of Cedar Rapids, Ia. Then there was a pause which was broken by some one in the gallery proposing three cheers for Cleveland, which the people all about him gave to an accompaniment of kisses from the floor. A motion to adjourn was lost, which was followed by defeated amid cheers of the Tammany men, who seemed to centre a first ballot. At 2:25 p. m. the chairman announced to the impatient convention that the platform was ready and would be presented by Jones, the chairman of the committee. Mr. Jones said that as soon as the resolutions were read he should move the previous question upon the adoption of the platform. This announcement was received with loud cries of "No" from the silver state delegations.

Mr. Neal, of Ohio, jumped on the platform and said with warmth, "In view of that statement I, representing the minority of the committee on resolutions, desire to announce that the minority expects to be heard [cheers] and to present its report before the previous question shall be put."

Mr. Jones closed by asking Mr. Vilas, of Wisconsin, to read the platform. Mr. Vilas began so do so in his magnificent, sonorous voice and most impressive style.

Cleveland's Name Wildly Cheered.

The first mention of Cleveland's name in the convention was when Mr. Vilas in the first paragraph of the platform read "From Madison to Cleveland." It called out the greatest enthusiasm of the day. The Wisconsin men led the cheering as the Cleveland delegates, and the Cleveland men in the galleries sprang to their feet waving hats, handkerchiefs and fans. The noise grew and grew until a Michigan delegate rushed into the hall holding aloft the white and gold banner of his state with a picture of Cleveland painted across its face. Don M. Dickinson climbed on a chair and all the Michiganders followed him, while delegates and spectators shrieked and yelled. The Iowans on the side saw Iowa's banner bearer holding aloft the picture of Boies. The cheering was renewed. Michigan rallied round the Cleveland banner and two or three delegates took it from Dickinson's hands and swung it in the face of New York's seventy-two. Then they passed it to Minnesota.

The Boies banner, in the meantime, had been retired to the comparative obscurity of the side aisle, where the Iowa delegation sat. Just as the band struck up "Yankee Doodle" the staff of the Cleveland banner broke, but its bearers quickly spliced it and waved it by the side. As it passed one delegation after another, led the storm of cheers in its honor. The cheering showed no signs of diminishing as the banner was borne down the centre aisle. The band took heart again and started to meet it. They waved it over the head of Chairman Murphy, of the New York delegation, as the band struck up "Auld Lang Syne" in order. The demonstration had continued for thirteen minutes, but the enthusiasts were in no mood to stop. Again the Michigan

OWING
to Large stock
and Lateness of the Season,
we will sell for next
30 Days
at
A Sacrifice.

Fine all-wool pants to order
$4; worth $6.
Fine all wool Suits to order
$16; worth $22.

Call, examine and satisfy yourselves

Acme Tailoring Co.,
No 12 West Front Street.
John H. French, Pres. and Treas.
Walter C. Limbarger, Sec. 3 31 3m

J. E. YOSE

Furniture Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

The Plainfield Ice
and
Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong Ice to this market, are now prepared to serve their patrons with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CODDINGTON, Pres.
H. CODDINGTON, Vice-Pres.
ANDREW WILSON, Sec. & Treas.
J. MORTON, Gen. Supt.

C. DICKINSON,
PRACTICAL
OPTICIAN
and
JEWELER.

Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Agent for the American
Rambler Bicycles.
No. 13 Park avenue.

ON SALE TO-DAY
Our Spring Line of
Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,
Hatter and Furnisher.
46 West Front Street.

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC
SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS

SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC
4 & 5 cents per Copy.
Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.
A. M. Vanderbeek's,
28 PARK AVENUE.

FRED. W. DUNN,
Successor to
Barkalew & Dunn,
18 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.
Fine Groceries.
THREE BEF TEA

GET YOUR
Bicycle Repaired
at
NO. 3 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
by
Henry Goeller, Jr.

The 1892
Model of the Remington is now
on the market.

CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT has characterized the history of the REMINGTON STANDARD TYPEWRITER. The changes introduced into the 1892 model represent the carefully tested results of expert study of various points deemed capable of improvement. They present advantages in the quality of the work, and ease as well as convenience of operation which will readily commend themselves to all users.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

Wyckoff, Seamans & Benedict,
327 Broadway, New York.

Big Bargains

Extra fine 32c. Dress Ginghams at 18c.
Plaid Dress Ginghams, 7c.
Outing Flannels, 9c.
New style in Irish Lawns, 12c.
New figured Organdie at 9c., very stylish and pretty.
Plaid Nainsooks, 8c.
Fine Silk Belts, 19c.
Black Silk Mitts, 39c.

Excellent quality Cotton Pongee at 12c.
Ladies' Fancy Shirt Waists at 47c.
Men's Night Shirts 49c.
Boys' Outing Shirts 25c.
Men's Outing Shirts, 39c.
The best 50c. ventilated Corsets ever offered this city.
Superior Silk Gloria Umbrellas, $1.39.

Our assortment of new styles Mattings and Low Prices surpasses anything ever before offered in this city. Our assortment of Elegant Carpets, Art Squares, Rugs, etc., is complete and prices guaranteed the Lowest.

EDSALL'S!

ANOTHER ELECTION COMING.
But this is a Selection for the public. $2 WORTH OF GOODS FOR $1.

1 lb new crop Tea (any kind).
1 lb fresh roasted Coffee (bean or ground).
1 lb Pride of Plainfield Baking Powder, (has no equal.)
1 lb best Corn Starch.
1 lb best Rice.

¼ lb best Pepper.
1 lb best Tapioca.
1 cake Sweet Chocolate.
1 25c. bottle extract, Vanilla or Lemon.
1 bottle Pickles.

What we feel we cannot affort to offer, you cannot afford to miss. The last time we offered similar goods at this fabulously low price, some went away disappointed. Come early.

Choice table Butter, 19c per lb. Sole agents for J. D. Mason & Co crackers and cakes, Baltimore, Md. See our variety, finest in the State.

In strictly Jersey. Sugar Cured Hams, Bacon and Shoulders, we haven't got a competitor in the city. Selling more in a day than most stores in two weeks.

Don't forget to ask for a card that entitles you to a $5 book and $4 picture free.

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,
Distributors of Pure Goods Wholesale and Retail 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,
17 West Front Street

Having Disposed
of the Produce Business

to Mr. I. A. Hunter, all persons owing the Plainfield Produce Co.
are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.

Ice Cream Freezers.

The Automatic,
Needs no turning.

The Rapid,
Best and quickest cream freezer.

GARDEN HOSE,
and
Lawn - Sprinklers.

A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

George - Bremmer,
No 28 SOMERSET STREET,
READY MADE CLOTHING,
or made to order—at prices
To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

A Ticket to Europe

May be bought on any steamer; any line; CHEAPER THAN IN NEW YORK.

SINGLE TRIP: First-class—$50 and upwards. Second class—$30 and upwards. Steerage—$19 and upwards.

ROUND TRIP: First-class—$90 and upwards. Second-class—$60 and upwards. Steerage—$39 and upwards.

Cabins, both first and second class, should be engaged as far ahead as possible.

Further information given upon application to agent, Henry D. Morrison, 9 Somerset street.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum
and
Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Segars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's
Sugar store, No. 12 West Second street.

38c.

Buys a full size, re-inforced front, shirt, with Linen bosom and wristbands; regular 50c quality.

17c.

Buys a five foot curtain pole with brass fixtures, complete.

Window Shades 25c. and upward.
Dress Chailies 5c. Best Prints 4c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 30 days at

BOEHM'S
No. 7 WEST FRONT STREET.

For a Delicious Drink
NEUMANN BROS.
Have just the article, a select
50c. Formosa Oolong
TEA, to make a
Delicious Iced Tea.
Fresh roasted Coffees received weekly. Teas whether received every morning. All goods sold at Lowest Prices. A full line of Vegetables received Daily.

NEUMANN BROS.
79 BROADWAY.

PIPTONIZED
Beef, Iron and Wine
50c.
Per Pint Bottle.
at
WILLIAMS'

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,
Carpenter
and
General Jobber.
SHOP
35 Jackson Avenue.
Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet
MAKER.
Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished
ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.
John Peterson,
SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.
Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,
MASONS and BUILDERS,
28 East Front Street.
First-class work guaranteed.
Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,
MASON AND BUILDER,
Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
P. O. Box 963.

PIERSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.
All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,
PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.
All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.
Residence—Grandview avenue.
P. O. Box 313.

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter & Builder.
Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot.
Evenings.
P. O. Box 1289
Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. P. HOFFMAN,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Residence—34 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.
Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ABBOTT,
Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Corner new and Front streets, Plainfield, N. J. Specialty—Turning and Interior hard wood work. P. O. Box 1501.

JOHN HERRMANN,
Stair Builder and hard wood mantel maker. Shop corner of Grand and Second streets, North Plainfield, N. J.
J. HERRMANN, 9 Second street.

Just What You Need!

If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an

Arnold Steam Cooker.

Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.

You can buy the above articles at 61 Park avenue. Also the only genuine

BOSTON BROWN BREAD,

made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.

M. E. BEACH, Agent.

Do You Want Shirts?

If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your ideas.

The assortment we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects.

Full Bosoms for hot weather; Blue Flannel for cool.

Hallock & Davis,
5 West Front Street.

Trunks and Bags.

GEORGE VOEHL,
the
CONFECTIONER,
is now prepared to furnish
Parties & Receptions
with Delicious
ICE CREAM
in bricks.
15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS ‡ †
‡ ‖ § PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—29 East Front street.

V. L. FRAZEE,
GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES
26 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE
42 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.
42 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.
Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,
REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE
NO. 6 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,
FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE,
General Hardware and Housefurnishings,
LAWN MOWERS,
(Six Varieties)
Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,
ICE CREAM FREEZERS.
Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : :
- - - NOT A SCHEME!
TO RECEIVE A
CASH DISCOUNT,
in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of
R. W. RICE & CO.,
GROCERS, 48 EMILY STREET,
Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
Successors to
The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,
Dealers in
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

---

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any of first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer.
Telephone Co 1257.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.
Central Railroad of New Jersey.
(THE PORT READING R. R. CO., LESSEE.)
Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Stations in Central Park May 15, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 2 14, 2 57, 5 30, 6 15, 6 28, 6 40, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p m, 12 00 night.

Leave New York for Plainfield at 12 00, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p m, 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 15, 6 40, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p m, 12 00 night.

Leave Newark for Plainfield at 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p m, 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND RAHWAY.

Leave Plainfield at 6 15, 6 40, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p m, 12 00 night.

Leave Rahway for Plainfield at 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p m, 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 15, 6 40, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p m, 12 00 night.

Leave Bound Brook for Plainfield at 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p m, 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND LONG BRANCH.

Leave Plainfield at 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p m, 12 00 night.

Leave Long Branch for Plainfield at 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p m, 12 00 night.

WESTWARD AND CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

6 15 a m, for Somerville, Flemington, Allentown, Bordentown, Burlington, Mount Holly, Lumberton, Medford, Mount Holly, Pemberton, Vincentown, Hainesport, Jacksonville, Lumberton, Mount Holly, Medford, Vincentown, Pemberton

A TOURISTS' CLUB

A Literary and Conversation Society of Young Women That is Alive.

The Tourists of Price Hill, Cincinnati—a successful travel club of several years' standing—has recently joined the general federation. The club idea was brought to Price Hill from "The Tourists" of Cedar Rapids, Ia., by Miss Julia Darnet (Mrs. Clarence A. Terrell), who, with Miss Nellie Moore (Mrs. Asa Bushnell Morgan), organized a new club in October, 1884, upon the same general plan.

After going about Europe in true tourist style for two years, the Tourists settled down for a year in Germany, studying music, literature and art. The fourth year they gave to a more thorough enjoyment of Italy and England. Then patriotism led them, tired of exile, to devote two years to their own country. And during this time they also visited Canada, made the fashionable trip to Alaska and had a very satisfactory glimpse of Mexico. The past season found them delighted with their well planned tour through South America.

The Tourists meet from 3 to 5 o'clock every other Tuesday, from October to June.

The usual afternoon programme calls for quotations in response to roll call, one or two papers, a reading or recitation, musical interludes, and ends with a half hour's conversation on a given topic under a named leader.

Having followed the plan of rotation in office for seven years, the Tourists have proved it an excellent one, keeping up the interest and bringing out the latent talents of each individual member.

The newly printed programme greets the members at the first regular meeting each fall—always on the first Tuesday in October. The programme is prepared during the three months of the summer recess, by a committee of three members appointed by the new executive committee after the annual election in May. The programme committee, acting with the president, has full power to map out the route and assign the work. The work on this committee is considered the most difficult and important that can be given a member; but each in turn has declared herself well repaid for her labor by the thorough knowledge of interesting countries gained in the necessarily studious preparation.

Some account of one of the Tourists' half hour conversations may perhaps interest those who would like to make such a feature a part of their own club programmes. "Myths and Folk Lore of the Amazonian Indians" proved one of the most entertaining topics of their recent tour through South America. After giving an introductory explanation of the subject, the leader, Miss Kate Leslie Moore, called upon members of the club for tales and legends current among these Indians. The myths, as was conclusively proved, have their variants among the negroes of our southern states, as well as among the Kaffirs and Hottentots of southern Africa. The members of the club had received an intimation that they were to be called upon for certain work and were found well prepared.

Among the Tourists it is considered a most difficult task to lead a conversation than to write a paper. It is necessary to be prepared at all points, for the member depended upon for an especially important part may disappoint one. She may perhaps bring a scrap of paper bristling with uninteresting statistics, which she calmly proceeds to read, or, having learned the little article privately bestowed upon her by heart, nervously makes of it a parrot-like recitation. It requires a great deal of tact and considerable practice before the one endeavoring to lead can successfully overcome the deadening effects of such additions to the conversation. Realizing what splendid drill these half hour conversations are, the Tourists strive bravely after the ideal extemporaneous speech. When occasionally the conversation degenerates into a series of little readings and the failure fazes their ideal conversation dampens their ardor and hurts their pride the Tourists always find that it is because a multiplicity of other interests has prevented them from taking time for proper preparation. This is essential to even the smallest success.—Cor. Homemaker.

A Leap Year Proposition.

As leap year is upon us the momentous question, Shall women propose? confronts us in various newspaper columns, with its usual four yearly regularity.

Conservative people will of course pooh pooh the idea, and the more frivolous laugh at the same. Some of our radical, would be social innovators will be advocates, and others will fulminate their varied denunciations.

Considered in the abstract we do not see why a woman should not express her natural preferences as freely as a man in regard to the opposite sex. Indeed, she seems to be free to do so in every other respect but that of love and marriage. And yet is not this the most important of all earthly relations to the human race as society is at present organized?

Mere reasoning aside, however, other considerations enter into our estimates of propriety. Here we have sentiment, which so largely makes up the sum of womanly opinions on most subjects outside of bread and breathing.

As the majority of people think now, and as they will probably continue to think for many years to come, there are certain moral and social questions wherein old time precedent will doubtless continue to rule! The realm of courtship and marriage still lies fully within these prescribed limits.

In this affair it has from time immemorial been her fashionable and silly gather charming privilege to be the one who should be sought, wooed and won. Whether this be altogether right or wrong it is so ingrained in the very nature of society at large that the feeblest kicks which are here and there made have so far produced little or no effect.—Yankee Blade.

Money That Patti Has Earned.

That marvelous little diva, Adelina Patti, is with us again. When I saw her last time she had charming Titian hair—hers is one which forms a suggestion of autumnal sunset. Now they tell me her hair is as dark as a raven's wing. What a pretty and gifted woman Patti is! And to think of the money which she has honestly earned with a sweet voice! Not less than $2,000,000, I should say, including dowcours from the czar of Russia and the kings and potentates of Europe. Her Craig-y-Nos castle is a royal palace. Of all the women that have come and gone upon this earth not one has ever earned so much money as Adelina Patti, the daughter of a wandering Italian minstrel. Queens and favorites have been richer than she, but the wealth was not of their getting.

When I last saw Patti it was in the Hoffman House last year. I called by invitation. She had been suffering from a cold and had not been singing for nearly a week. She was gracious and affable and vivacious, but in the midst of the chatter which had lasted for a half hour—her devoted husband, Nicolini, interposed, and informed her that under the direction of her physicians she was to take her evening draft and retire. She obeyed like a dutiful child. "You see," she said, "I am a slave to my throat and my doctor."—New York Cor. Brooklyn Times.

Woman Suffrage in This Country.

In the United States, where the communal system never existed except in some of its remote, modified forms, municipal suffrage for women has come slowly. In only two states, Wyoming and Kansas, are women admitted to the franchise and made eligible to municipal offices generally, although in fifteen states they may vote in the school elections. Several states have granted to women simply the right of being elected to school offices, provided always that they possess the qualifications prescribed for men.

The question is thus decided in California, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Maine, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island. At the present time the system of granting to women both rights, eligibility and suffrage in school matters has been adopted in the following states besides Massachusetts: Colorado, North and South Dakota, Idaho, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Oregon, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin, and the territory of Arizona.

Of course to this list must be added Wyoming, where women vote at all elections, and Kansas, where they possess complete local suffrage. Finally, Kentucky and Nebraska admit women [illegible] to the school franchise, and that under special conditions.—Woman Commonwealth.

To Help Women in the Country.

A Michigan woman, much interested in the fresh air work, suggests that city women engaged in this work should invite the country mothers who have entertained children at their homes to visit in the city homes a few days in the winter. Those farmers' wives, who take in the city waifs and time when summer work presses hardest and summer heat is most oppressive, need a change of scene almost as much as do the mothers and children in the tenements, and for lack of change and rest it is said that farmers' wives form a large per cent. of the inmates of insane asylums. It is not the hard work, but want of companionship, the isolation from books, music, lectures, the theater, the desolation of intellectual starvation.

In some of the western towns a movement is on foot to establish clubs among the farmers' wives, and there is no doubt one has ever earned so much money as Adelina Patti, the daughter of a wandering Italian minstrel. Queens and favorites have been richer than she, but the wealth was not of their getting.

When I last saw Patti it was in the Hoffman House last year. I called by invitation. She had been suffering from a cold and had not been singing for nearly a week. She was gracious and affable and vivacious, but in the midst of the chatter which had lasted for a half hour—her devoted husband, Nicolini, interposed, and informed her that under the direction of her physicians she was to take her evening draft and retire. She obeyed like a dutiful child. "You see," she said, "I am a slave to my throat and my doctor."—New York Cor. Brooklyn Times.

Woman Suffrage in This Country.

In the United States, where the communal system never existed except in some of its remote, modified forms, municipal suffrage for women has come slowly. In only two states, Wyoming and Kansas, are women admitted to the franchise and made eligible to municipal offices generally, although in fifteen states they may vote in the school elections. Several states have granted to women simply the right of being elected to school offices, provided always that they possess the qualifications prescribed for men.

The question is thus decided in California, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Maine, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island. At the present time the system of granting to women both rights, eligibility and suffrage in school matters has been adopted in the following states besides Massachusetts: Colorado, North and South Dakota, Idaho, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Oregon, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin, and the territory of Arizona.

Of course to this list must be added Wyoming, where women vote at all elections, and Kansas, where they possess complete local suffrage. Finally, Kentucky and Nebraska admit women [illegible]

PERPLEXED BY HIS MARRIAGE.

A Groom and Bride, Though One, Cannot Travel On a Single Ticket.

They were not particularly young and they appeared to have been transplanted from some town where potatoes and corn are the main industries, says the Albany Argus.

He was evidently an overgrown cow chaser, who was just preparing to take a collegiate course at the plough and harrow.

She was one of those 8x8½ farm girls with a face like a raw sausage and voice equal to a campaign flatboat.

They had come to the city to "git hitched" In style, to solve the question whether marriage is a failure or otherwise; to take the leap, as it were, into the territory of connubial bliss. They had their passport with them, in carrying it partly folded, as if offering it to each policeman as they came along.

There was a grin on his countenance, more sotatic than the one he had worn when he had sold his potatoes for four dollars a barrel.

He wore a four-in-hand scarf, tied in a low knot, and kept pushing it down in the back to give vent to his feelings.

"Sal," said he, "we're married."

"Ossum we be," replied she.

"We're one."

"Yaas."

"Sal we're goin' home to 'sprise the folks."

"Yaas."

"They's no use talkin', Sal, this only comes once in a lifetime; let's have a glass of soda."

They soddied and proceeded to the station.

"Let's git a gait on, Sal, 'nd hurry to the deepy; we're liable to miss the cars."

When they reached the depot he approached the ticket office and looked in.

"Gimme one ticket," said he.

"Where to?" queried the agent.

"Where I live."

"Where's that?"

"Why, where I was born, growed and allus lived."

"Well, how do I know where that is?"

"Well, I'm s'prised, b'gum, thought everyone knowed."

"Name the place."

"What'd ye want me to do that for?"

The ticket agent went to the task and swallowed seven glasses of ice water consecutively.

Returning he asked again:—

"Where do you wish to go?"

"Why, it's only three miles from Snecktidy."

"Well, why didn't you say in the first place that you wanted a ticket to Schenectady?"

"But I don't live in Snecktidy."

"You've got to go there to get to your home, haven't you?"

"Yaas."

The ticket agent stamped the coupon and handed it to him, bracing himself against the window, for he was aweary of this work.

"I'spose this is good for me and Sal?" said the yokel.

"Two of you!" queried the agent.

"That's only good for one person."

He looked at the ticket and broke out with, "Just the preacher said we was one."

"There's the door," said the agent to the titan," pulled the fatigued ticket seller. "The railroad says you are two."

And he was obliged to buy another ticket for Sal before he could get through the gate to the train.

ORIGIN OF TEA.

An Old Japanese Legend Which Practically Explodes It.

According to a Japanese legend the origin of tea is thus traced:—An Indian prince named Daruma, of a holy and religious character, visited China in the year 516 A. D. for the purpose of instructing the celestials in the duties of religion. He led a most abstemious life and denied himself all rest or relaxation of body and mind.

At last tired nature rebelled against such treatment and, thoroughly exhausted the Prince fell asleep. When he awoke he was exceedingly ashamed at his weakness that in order to purge himself of what he considered an almost unpardonable sin, he slit off his eyelids, thus shutting them the instrumants of his crime.

They fell upon the ground and each individual hair became transformed into a shrub, which eventually came to be known by the name of tea.

Price to that time it had been unknown, but Daruma quickly discovered the agreeable property of the leaves, which endowed his mind with fresh power to master abstruse religious principles, and prevented sleep from closing his eyes at inopportune moments.

He recommended his virtues to his disciples, who in turn extolled its praises to all whom they met. In a very short time its use became general throughout the Celestial kingdom, from which it gradually extended to all parts of the earth.

Darma's memory is perpetuated in Chinese and Japanese drawings by the representation of a rude figure of an old man standing in the water with a reed under his foot and one of his eyebrows sprouting out into a tea leaf.

In connection with the introduction of tea into England a very amusing story is told of a certain titled woman who had been presented with a pound of the finest green tea, and had no idea of its proper preparation and consequently boiled the entire quantity and served it up with melted butter as an accompaniment to a roast of beef.

She was not pleased with its appearance and gravely informed the guests that, although it had been cooked for several hours, it was simply impossible "to make those foreign greens tender."

In the Hour of Youth.

It is told of Bishop Doane, of Albany, that while dining recently at the house of one of his friends, he was pleased to observe that he was the object of marked attention from the small son of his host, whose eyes were riveted upon him. After dinner the bishop approached the boy, and said:

"Well, my young friend, you seem to be interested in me. Do you find that I am all right?"

"Yes, sir," returned the boy, with a glance at the bishop's knee-breeches, "you're all right, but say, won't your mamma let you wear pants yet?"—Harper's Monthly.

Two counter-irritants—A mustard plaster and a woman shopping.—Life.

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION.
1878, Membership 158,000. 1892.
Death benefits paid over $6,000,000 since Organization.
Metropolis Lodge, 326, Knights of Honor, meets 1st, Third and Fifth Thursdays, at eight o. m., in Wetumpka Lodge rooms, Music Hall building.
Immediate relief, $100, sick benefits per week $5.
LOUIS I. VANALSTYNE, Dictator.
RALPH A. —, Reporter.
Wetumpka Commandery, No. 34, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight p. m.

Notice.

Caspar's Hotel,

24 & 26 E. Front St

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Transient and Family Boarders taken at

Reasonable † Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 15 E. Front St.

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

☞ First-class bar attached.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Kline's Extracts,

Pure Fruit Flavors.

LOOK at Werner's Show Windows

SO WEST FRONT STREET,

and see what you can do in $15 suits reduced to $10

Cut in Latest Styles.
FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS ONLY.

All Sizes and All Wool.

Outing Shirts and Straw Hats just receive. Clothing Made to Order. Other goods at proportionately Low Prices.

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with

LAMP AND BELL,

under penalty of $20 fine.

A large and complete assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the

Wheelmen's Headquarters,

Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.

FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

We are getting away with lots of Russet Shoes this month—now is the time to buy them.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S,
22 West Front street,
P. S.—Our $5 shoe never takes a back seat.

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER

One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.

Whole Suits from $5 up.

Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.
70 WEST FRONT STREET.

Legal Advertisements.

ESTATE OF JOHN F. GRIFFEN, DECEASED. Pursuant to the order of Garret T. Farrow, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, executrix of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.
MARY M. GRIFFEN, Executrix.
May 9th, 1892. 5 18 9

ESTATE OF MANNING VERMEULE, deceased. Pursuant to the order of Garret T. Farrow, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, executor of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.
NELSON RUNYON,
March 29th, 1892. Executor. 4 1 9

ESTATE OF ROSE VENABLE, DECEASED. Pursuant to the order of Garret T. Farrow, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, administrator of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.
STEPHEN A. GIBNEY, Administrator.
March 16, 1892. 3 26 9

THE BEE HIVE!

Summer Underwear.

Ladies' ribbed vests, 10, 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.

Ladies' ribbed vests, in high neck, short sleeves and long sleeves, 25c.

Ladies' gauze vests, in short and long sleeves, 25c.

Also a full line of Ladies' Drawers, in ribbed, gauze and medium weight.

Men's balbriggan shirts, in long and short sleeves, and drawers at 25, 50 and 75c.

Men's Summer Merino shirts and drawers, 25, 35 and 50c.

Children's ribbed vests, all sizes, 5c.

Children's Summer merino and gauze vests, in short and long sleeves also pantalets, sizes, 16, 12c.; 18, 15c.; 20, 18c.; 22, 20c.; 24, 25c.; 26, 30c.

A full line of Parasols, Lace caps, white dresses, and infants' long and short cashmere coats.

Louis Callman,

40 West Front Street

Joseph T. Sullivan,

No. 68 West Third Street,
Dealer in Choice

Wines, Liquors, etc.

BEER ON DRAUGHT.

COAL and WOOD,

E. H. HOLMES,

YARD—24 Madison Avenue.
Office—27 North avenue, with Watkins & Runkle.

This space is reserved for
ZIMMERMANN & RUMPF,
the West Front street Hardware Dealers.

RANDOLPH'S

BEEF, IRON AND WINE,

THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!

PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

21 WEST FRONT STREET.

IF!

A poor article is dear at any price. A good article is always at any price.

The Duluth Imperial Flour is the best in the world and the prices are right.

Insist on having it from your grocer, or apply to

FRENCH BROTHERS,

TELEPHONE 24. 8, 10 and 12 SOMERSET STREET.

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.

Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of G. R. MUSGRAVE, 27 Somerset street. Call early and secure the best bargains.

SUN RISE, 4.26; SUN SET, 7.33.

VanEmburgh & White

INDUCEMENTS.

For 48c.

We will sell you a first-class Summer Corset. This about as good as you generally pay 75c. for.

The price but 13c.

For a Children's full regular made fast black Stocking, Hermsdorf dye, worth 20c. they are.

The price but 35c.

Gentlemen, you need them these warm days, a French Ballbriggan Shirt that is worth 50 cents of any one's money.

As complete an assortment of wash fabrics, such as Gingham, Challies, Cambric, Crepe Cloth, Satteen and Bedford Cord as you find in most New York houses, and the prices and styles you will not find fault with.

Morning Noon Night

Good all the time. It removes the languor of morning, sustains the energies of noon, lulls the weariness of night.

Hires' Root Beer

delicious, sparkling, appetizing.

Don't be deceived if a dealer, for the sake of larger profit, offers you some other kind of "Root Beer"—"Ginger Ale," &c. No imitation is as good as the genuine Hires'.

Miss Blanche Fellows

VOCALIST

and Teacher of Singing.

Rapid development and complete education of the voice.

Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formation and tone production.

Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Call or address
NO. 27 DUER STREET.

Summer Resorts.

Cliffton House,

By the Sea, Pasquoque, L. I.

Situated directly by that beautiful shoot of water, the Great Sound Bay, and only a few minutes sail from the Ocean.

Boating, bathing, bowling, billiards, music and livery. Send for circular.

W. M. JENKINS, Prop.

Now opened for guests. Grand opening Hop July 4th. 6 11 6m

THE ALBION,

EIGHTH STREET AND PARK AVENUE.

Select family hotel.

Newly furnished throughout.

Special rates to permanent guests.

FRANK E. MILLER.

13 26 6m.

Flags, Fireworks,

and

Japanese Lanterns,

and other accessories for a

Jolly Fourth,

can be had from

A. W. RAND,

32 West Front Street.

CARRIAGES

and

HARNESS

of Every Description.

STYLES and PRICES to SUIT ALL.

Carriages taken on sale or stored on ground floor.

Accessible at Any Time.

RYERSON,

26 SOMERSET STREET.

EITHER

Hot Water or Steam

Heating Apparatus

furnished and set up in residences and public buildings.

J. N. SCHENCK,

40 MANNING AVENUE,
North Plainfield.

20 years' experience. Pipe fitting, machinery repairs.

Agents for the celebrated "Furman" hose bending boiler.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Look Box 1. Telephone Call 48. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," FRIDAY, JUNE 24, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

COMMENCEMENT, '92.

INTERESTING EXERCISES AT MUSIC HALL LAST EVENING.

"Vincit Qui Patitur," the Class Motto. —Nineteen Graduates, of which Eleven are Young Ladies. — The Address by the Rev. Dr. Duryea of New Brunswick. — The Graduates and their Essays.—The Presentation of Rewards. — Miss Bulkley Remembered.—The Reception.

Last night was Commencement and Music Hall was, as usual, packed to its doors. Many people, who could not obtain admittance, crowded the lobby in the hope of hearing the essays and the excellent music that is always given on these occasions.

The exercises began at eight o'clock. Upon the stage were seated President of the Board of Education, George H. Babcock, ex-President of the Board of Education, Jacob Kirkner, Dr. W. H. Duryea, of Rutgers College, Dr. J. B. Probasco, Mayor Gilbert, Mr. Edward L. Finch, Superintendent of Schools, Miss Bulkley, senior teacher, Mr. Hunt, and eighteen graduates of the High School. Miss Carroll, one of the graduates was ill and could not attend.

The graduates presented a fine appearance in their evening dress, and went through the programme without confusion.

The music, which was very fine, was from Cappa's Seventh Regiment orchestra, New York.

The first number on the programme was an overture, "Stradella," by the orchestra.

Miss Lillian Eloise Moore read her essay, entitled "The Great Hall of William Rufus."

The Palace was most graphically described by Miss Moore. She told how it was erected from a tranquering hall to a place of justice, of the trial of Charles, the First, and Warren Hastings, of how the latter was found guilty on trial for his high treason and misdemeanor, that the hall still stands and that within its walls the English people wrought out their freedom.

Mr. Phillip Barnett Wells followed with the essay "Scylla and Charybdis."

Ulysses crossing the sea and meeting the monsters Scylla and Charybdis was compared with the young man of the nineteenth century. Whether to enter a business career or to go to college. Which will be the more favorable course for him to pursue?

It is said that business positions are crowded; so are professional ones.

The speaker then went on and told how every four years, the nation met a Scylla and Charybdis. The two great parties each assert that perfect government is only obtained in the election of their candidate.

Abraham Lincoln was an Ulysses and he strove against stronger foes than did the Ulysses of old.

"The Flags of all Nations" were then described by Miss Edith Jane Buxton.

We wonder what there is in mere bunting to move the people. A soldier dying, will fix his eyes upon his flag. A traveler in foreign lands will look upon sight of his national flag, feel a thrill come over him and a tender remembrance of his old home.

After mentioning the flags and symbols of ancient times, the speaker described the tri-color of France, the black, red and gold of Germany and the Union Jack of England.

In our flag, fidelity to the Union was signified. Not one State, but all. The stars and stripes, often called the floating piece of poetry. It is but a piece of bunting, but it speaks of the independence we secured together, for purity, red for valor and blue for justice.

This was followed by selections from the opera "Tyrolean," by the orchestra.

Miss Lillian Estelle Oakley's essay was entitled "Unwritten Music."

Miss Oakley beautifully described the sunroar borealis. Who has ever seen them, that has not thought of unwritten music? All nature is in harmony when it rains. All is still but the patter of the drops. Who does not hear the running water in the brook, the plaguing cataract, or the calmly flowing river, that does not hear the music in them?

When the sun shines and nature as he swings from bough to bough? The lark, the thrush and the bobolink all send sweet sisters aid in the grand concert. Mendelssohn himself is not able to produce music in comparison to the chirping of the birds, the roaring of the ocean, or the gurgling of the brook.

Mr. John Alfred Wilson gave his views on "The Value of a Presidential Election."

The two great parties have now selected their candidates to represent them in the coming campaign. This Fall everything will be asleep. Bands will play and men will parade. Does the Presidential campaign injure business? The mechanics say, yes. They do not vent it.

A blizzard injures them for a short time, but it is much longer before the loss to business is repaired after an election.

On the other hand an election educates the people. There are few voters who will not know more of true economy than at present.

"New England Roots of the American Tree" was the title of Miss Helen May Osborne's essay.

New England has almost entirely been the means of making the West. The country has grown from the roots of New England.

In Massachusetts there were two branches, Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket.

All the old towns were formerly busy whaling stations. The people would stand in the lookout and gaze out on the roaring ocean, in hopes of sighting the ship which carried their loved ones, and which so often never returned.

All these old places are now modernized. The sharp keen air of New England has instituted a new life in them.

The conclusions then followed with that delightful waltz, "Sonnita."

Owing to the illness of Miss Grace Johnson Carroll, her essay was read by Miss Ida B. Jackson. The title of the essay was, "The Power of Ideas," and the young lady went on to say that there was no effect without some cause.

Both the army and navy are useless without some one to guide and manage them.

The Jewish race probably have the strongest ideas. They are a distinct people and expect some day to be gathered at Jerusalem.

In the great Brooklyn Bridge the architect pictured every span, cable and wire long before the structure was begun.

Joan of Arc possessed an idea that she could save her nation, but failed.

Mr. Charles Horton Angleman gave as his theme "The Sisterhood of the Three Great Religions."

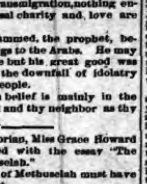
The speaker described the three great religions, Buddhism, Mohammedism and Christianity. The believers of the former think of transmigration, nothing endures. Universal charity and love are their ideals.

In 1623, Mohammed, the prophet, began his teachings to the Arabs. He may have been false but his great god was that he caused the downfall of idolatry among those people.

The Christian belief is mainly in the line "Love God and thy neighbor as thy self.

The Valedictorian, Miss Grace Howard Petrie, followed with the essay "The Modern Methuselah."

The boyhood of Methuselah must have lasted at least 100 years. Today the youth of 13 knows more than Methuselah did in his whole life. All he had to look after was his little patch of ground. Today the boy or girl student is versed in geography and all the other branches.



What would Methuselah think if he should visit this country to-day. He would quail before the express trains running at the rate of 60 miles an hour, marvel at the manufacture and wonder at the telegraph.

He possessed a newspaper, with the latest reports from all over the world. Verily, our life is worth more than the whole 969 of Methuselah's.

THE VALEDICTORY.

Citizens of Plainfield:

Through your aid the Plainfield High School has been made what it is. You are proud of the school and we are proud of what it has done for us.

We thank you for your interest, shown on this night, and at many times during the past year.

You receive, to-night, as do we, that our Principal, Miss Bulkley, is about to leave us. We feel that she has had at least interested not only in the Public school system, but also in each individual connected with it.

Gentlemen of the Board of Education:

To-night the members of the class of '92, the work you have done towards the improvement of the High School. Such a course of study has been established that after graduation, we are able to enter the leading colleges and scientific schools in the country. We have secured teachers, who have labored zealously to make our school the best possible. By the quality of our work, we have tried to show our gratitude.

Class mates:

We have had privileges given us which far surpass not only those of Methuselah, but even many in our own country.

Everything that others have been able to do for us, has been ours, all left for us to do, has been to make the most of our opportunities, and each member of the class knows how faithfully this has been done.

We are familiar with the couplet "Neither 20 Years of Europe, than a cycle of Cathay," and on this night we have had our attention again drawn to the fact that we are born in the golden age of opportunity; that we are enjoying the privileges and advantages secured to us by the early struggles of our fathers and here-fathers, and we not truly say "Better 19 years of our life, than 100 of Methuselah."

Following this an immense "Horn of Plenty" filled with beautiful flowers was presented to Miss Bulkley.

The Rev. Wm. H. Duryea, Professor of Ethics, Rutgers College, addressed the graduates and their friends.

He commenced by saying that he could not say fellow-citizens, although he had been to Plainfield once before, 25 years ago, but he could say, fellow Jerseymen.

He complimented the class very highly, saying that he had visited several commencement exercises during the past two weeks, but this one "capped the climax."

Referring to Mr. Petrie's theme he visited here 25 years ago, and who was a teacher, he said that his school was pleasantly situated in a grove of birches. Now that specimen of tree had disappeared, and the sugar maple takes its place.

The teachers are glad the school days are over, as well as the scholars and will now go on their deserved vacation.

He spoke very highly of Rutgers College, saying that the majority of Jerseymen were entering there, especially in the scientific department.

In closing he said that Plainfield should be proud of its schools and graduates.

His address, which was eloquent and at times humorous, occupied twenty-five minutes and was listened to with close attention.

Dr. Duryea's address was followed by selections from De Koven's opera "Robin Hood."

Mayor Gilbert, on behalf of the Board of Education, presented Miss Bulkley with a set of resolutions. A synopsis of his address is as follows.

Miss Bulkley:

It would hardly be considered an appropriate ending of this very interesting occasion if we should part without making some allusion to yourself and your labors amongst us during your connection with the public schools of this city. For many years you have been recognized as an important factor in our educational system; for eleven years you have stood at its head and upon you has rested the great responsibility of moulding and shaping the minds and characters of the boys and girls who have been committed to your charge; that you have not lightly regarded your responsibility is evidenced by the success that has attended your efforts. It must, indeed, be an inexpressible pleasure to you, on the eve of your departure from us, to know that your work has been appreciated and that the people of Plainfield profoundly regret that the tie which we had hoped would bind you to us for many years to come, is to be severed. You have won for yourself a warm place in the affections of our people, and the only consolation which enables us to regard complacently the proposed severance of the relation which for so long a time has existed between us, is the knowledge that you are called to fill a higher and more honorable position. That you will fill it with great credit to yourself and to the advantage of those in whose behalf you are to labor, we can readily believe; and it is our desire that you shall carry with you to your new field of work, as the only the pleasant memories that will cluster around your Plainfield life, but also our most earnest wishes for your future welfare.

You have been faithful here. The success which you have achieved for yourself, as the result of your own unaided personal effort, furnishes a bright illustration of the thought, that rewards always follow in waiting for those who, year after year, patiently persist in the effort to perfect themselves in the line of work and influence you can never lose—that it has been wide and far-reaching enough to give to our school system an enviable reputation throughout our State, none will deny. You have reared in the hearts of the boys and girls of Plainfield immeasurable monuments which will serve to keep fresh and green your memory for years to come, and, while we "Shall not look upon your like again," we can but say to you in the words of Tennyson,

"Farewell, with all my heart, and with all my prayer
That God may bless you."

Miss Bulkley in replying said that she only wished that she deserved all that had been said of her.

The presentation of rewards was next upon the programme.

Dr. J. B. Probasco, after a short address, announced the following rewards:

For English Composition, offered by Mr. Geo. H. Babcock; first, Hudson's Shakespeare, six volumes, W. A. G. Edgard; second, Whittaker's Irving's works, nine volumes, Helen T. French.

For Mathematics, (the late Dr. C. H. Stillman prize) offered by Mrs. C. H. Stillman, first, $15 in gold, Grace Howard Petrie; second, $10 in gold, John Alfred Wilson.

For United States History, offered by Dr. J. B. Probasco; first, Motley's History of the Republic, Clyde Burnet. Honorable mention, E. Osbourne, Edward Finch, H. D. Furman and L. Finch.

For spelling, offered by Mr. E. L. Finch; first, Sir Walter Scott's works, five volumes, C. B. Burnet, honorable mention, E. Osbourne and F. E. Wells.

For penmanship, offered by Rev. J. L. Hartsough; first, Ridpath's Young Folks, five volumes, Potter L. King, for best improvement in penmanship, Tennyson's works, three volumes, E. Roseberry.

For languages, offered by Mr. E. B. Ackerman; first, History of Rome; four volumes, Helen T. French; second, Homer's Iliad, Grace Howard Petrie.

The orchestra followed rendering Kay's "Guard of Honor March."

The President of the Board of Education presented the diplomas to the graduates with a short address, in which he stated that the Superintendent of Schools, Miss Bulkley, had received a letter from Amherst College, in which it stated that the faculty of that institution had passed resolutions allowing graduates of High School studies to enter the college without examination.

THE CHARMING GRADUATE.

AND HER DIPLOMA.

The following graduates received their diplomas:

CHARLES BOSTON ANGLEMAN,
EDITH JANE BUXTON,
HELEN MAY OSBORNE,
GRACE JOHNSON CARROLL,
EMILIE MARY CATHCART,
SPENCER L. ROGERS,
ADDIE PARKER JACKSON,
CORA MITCHLER MOONEY,
LILLIE MAUDE MOORE,
EVERETT LUCIUS MORGAN,
LILLIAN ESTELLE OAKLEY,
LOUISA PAYEN,
GRACE HOWARD PETRIE,
CHARLES ELMER SCUDDER,
ANTHONY JOSEPH SPICER,
JOHN CALVIN SUPPEE,
JOHN L. ELLIOTT VAN ARSDALE,
PHILLIP BARNETT WELLS,
JOHN ALFRED WILSON.

THE RECEPTION.

The class of '92 tendered the graduates a reception at Assembly Hall, high school building, after the exercises at Music Hall.

Many of the old scholars and their friends were present.

The music by the orchestra was excellent and towards the latter part of the evening, dancing was indulged in, much to the delight of the young people.

Refreshments were afterwards served in the lower hall.

As Commenced.

Proudly the platform's dress is planted;
Through it the class of '92 advance.
Where none, as rolls the year around,
Those noble graduates fail to see.

Oh, sweet-girl faces round a-row,
In draperies pure and white as snow;
Fresh from their homes come to-day
To whom a bumper bouquet!

How pretty's dead hopes and fancies meet;
Undaunted swords in the same sad seat.
How sees the world's wisdom of old
Sitting back, while life spreads out before.

Beauty and culture rear by your Side, while the world's heroes adore.
Amidst sweet forms it still and lean
Its wrinkled face, its scarred, its manly face!

Within the chapel's cloistered walls
A tender benediction falls.
Where Science and sweet flowery rest
Dryads have decked the place about.

Some lips speak low, some eyes are wet,
And tender hearts throb the plainest,
In spite of all hope's joyous cry,
For betimes it is sad to part to-day.

White-ribboned essays play their part
With music; but what memories start
Up from hearts of backward pages
To us who sit below the stage!

Joel Benton.

Mamma, is
The sky a curtain hiding heaven from our sight; are the moon and sun but windows made to give the angels light?
Are the stars bright flashing diamonds that the angels wear, and are the clouds but veils or vapor dropped from heaven floating there? Why, child, I don't know; I only peep, see it kisses
the earth, and then it's gone to heaven, I suppose.
Mamma, what is death? Why, child, it is nothing, flying earth about, or a call from God to the angels, and then you're off to the sky
to live with God.
Mamma, I'm not going to die, am I?
Why, child, what makes you ask me that question? Why,
I'm not going to die, don't you see
I'm going to live right and the angels will take me to heaven when I die. Are the angels kind to little children? Yes, child, shining in the sunset morning, noon, and night, left, by love and fairies, to guard the precious lighting
of the what the Prince of Glory dying for.

And
as the thousands of the people of the world dying
for.

PERSONAL.

Miss Edith Needham, who has been spending most of her time for several years past in New York, is now on a short visit to her home on Jackson avenue.

Mr. Powlinson of Somerset street is greatly improving his property by the erection of a new fence, with large gate posts, in place of the former picket fence.

Mr. James Vogiard, who until a few days ago was a master mechanic at Pond's Machine and Tool Works, was appointed business manager of a theatrical troupe, which will travel for the next forty weeks throughout the country, producing "A Trip to Chinatown." Mr. Vogiard is well known in the theatrical world as James L. Barton, and before arriving in Plainfield two and a half years ago to work at his trade had spent twenty successful years in the show business. His home is still in Plainfield.

The Hillside Tennis Club will be represented on Saturday afternoon next at Jersey City by Mr. Howard W. Soebe and Mr. Fred W. Webb, who will play doubles in an exhibition game of lawn tennis with the Elizabeth, N. J., and the Jersey City Lawn Tennis Clubs on the grounds of the latter club on Jersey avenue. The Jersey City Club will tender to the club a series of afternoon teas similar to those given in our city, and as an extra attraction for their guests invite the Hillside Club to send a team to play in doubles. It being the first time the home club has been represented on one of town courts, the result of Saturday's play is looked forward to with much interest.

League Game To-morrow.

A large delegation will no doubt accompany the Athletics on their trip to-morrow to Somerville, where they will play the sixth league game of the season.

Danny Knauff, the new pitcher arrived last night, and it is said that at a practice game this morning he did well.

A Sad Fact.

Of scholars we have quite a host
Whose works are excellent and fine
But how few who write "Hornby" the most Are those who cannot write.

—The Plainfield Bicycle Club will hold a "Citizens" race on Saturday afternoon to Elizabeth, for wheelmen. The Journal trophy race. The club will leave the club house at 1.30 o'clock.

CLOSING EXERCISES.

IN THE NORTH PLAINFIELD PUBLIC SCHOOL.

Sixteen Bright Young Scholars Receive Graduation Honors—President McCutchen Compliments Principal, Teachers and Scholars.

VERY six hundred people assembled to participate in the closing exercises of the North Plainfield Public School, in Warren Mission chapel, on Chatham street, last evening. The storm which arose shortly after seven o'clock, caused the scholars, in their graduating habiliments, to rush wildly through the streets, and many were the shrieks occasioned by every flash of lightning and loud thunderclap.

All was serene in the chapel, however, and the place was early filled with the scholars and their friends.

The graduating class, with their motto of "On, and Ever On," were

MAMIE ADELAIDE LEWIS,
ANNA E. VAN ARSDALE,
GERTRUDE B. CONOVER,
CHAUNCEY FIELD COLTHAR,
WARREN D. CHURCH,
MARGARET BELLE LEWIS,
WALTER RAYNOLDS,
MAY MACDONALD,
ALICE LOUISE AVERY,
BESSIE SAUNDERS,
ELSIE RUTHERFORD BOERE,
LEANORA WILLIAMS,
ALICE LOUISE NEEDHAM,
JESSE M. CODDINGTON,
MINNIE M. GARDNER,
EDWARD SANDERSON LOREAUX.

The following order of exercises was very successfully rendered:

Music—"Morning Invitation".....G. A. Veazie
School.
Declamation—"Nations and Humanity"
Walter Raynolds
Recitation—"The Belfry of Bruges"
Alice Louise Avery
Recitation—"A Musical Instrument"
May MacDonald
Recitation—"A Walk at Sunset"
Nettie M. Gardner
Music—"Waltz Song".....Frank Abt
Recitation—"The Secret of the Sea"
Essay—"Cobwebs".....Gertrude B. Conover
Declamation—"Marco Bozzaris".....Church
Recitation—"Columbus".....May Adelaide Lewis
Music—"Medley".....J. French
PART SECOND.
Recitation—"The Monk's Vision".....Saunders
Declamation—"Big Bill Dingle"
Chauncey F. Colthar
Recitation—"The Bible Legend"
Alice L. Needham
Music—"The Bonniswain's story".....J. L. Molloy
Recitation—"Harmony".....Leanora Williams
Declamation—"The Patriot Martyr"
Jessie M. Coddington
Recitation—"The Patriot Martyr"
Anna K. VanArsdale
Music—"Fing of the Free".....Richard Wagner
Arr. from Tannhauser
School
Declamation—"The Dignity of Labor"
Edward S. Loreaux
Essay—"A School-room (Gibberish)"
Elsie B. Horne
Music—"Farewell".....Mendelssohn
School
Presentation of Diplomas by President of Board of Education.
Music—"Farewell".....School

The singing was well conducted by Mr. W. H. Miller, accompanied on the piano by Miss Hammond.

Mr. Samuel McCutchen, as President of the Board of School Trustees, presented the diplomas in a few appropriate, stirring remarks, giving at the same time wholesome advice, and complimenting the class on its achievements.

The class colors, selected by the boys, were old gold and white green.

Flowers in abundance were presented each graduate, by admiring friends and relatives.

SCHOOL DAYS OVER.

DON'T get things mixed. Common oatmeals and H.-O. are as different as rich cream and skimmed milk. Hornby's-Oats are delicious as Cream!

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

Stood on his Head and Drowned by Playmates.

YORK, O., June 24.—(Special.)—Lenny James and Willie Wooley of Milford Centre, this county, each about 12 years old, yesterday noticed George A. MacDonald, about five years old, in a pool near that place, took him into the water and stood him on his head in the mud at the bottom and left him.

As the little fellow did not come home as soon as the mother thought he ought to, a search was instituted and he was found dead, standing on his head in the pool where he had been placed. The water was about three feet deep. The two boys were arrested for murder.

The Marquis de Mores will be Arrested.

PARIS, June 24.(Special.)—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of the Marquis de Mores who killed Capt. Mayer in a duel, and orders have been given for the prosecution of the seconds of both contants.

FOR INSULTING A WOMAN.

A Little Irishman Knocks Down an Italian and is Nearly Killed.

"Wurra hoo! ye bloody Oytalian nager! chew that much av me fist!" exclaimed a little Irishman, working with a gang of Italians, on the street railway near Plainfield avenue yesterday morning, as he drove his clenched hand against the pale-chocolate-colored visage of his neighboring laborer, who had aroused the ire of the son of Erin by an insulting epithet directed at an unknown woman who was passing.

The effect of the blow was paralyzing. The stricken man, although much larger than his opponent, fell on his back with such celerity and vigor that he almost turned a back somersault.

In an instant there was a row. The brother of the fallen man started on a run for the city to get a policeman. A second cousin, or more distant relation, standing back of the Irishman, who had squared off, waiting for more "nine pins to come up," took more instant and dangerous revenge. He raised his pick-axe and struck savagely at the man in front, the point of the instrument reaching the calf of the Irishman's leg, inflicting a severe wound. The plucky Irishman was totally unprepared for this attack from behind.

Then the entire group of Italians, who had knocked the pick from the handle, started forward with the improvised clubs to exterminate the wounded man, who, while quite willing, in defence of a woman's honor, to fight one at a time, couldn't withstand all, and ran. He turned at Harbenger's and took refuge with the keeper, Mr. Scerry, but by dire threats of shooting holes through the Italians drove them back to their work. Meanwhile a wound was dressed, and he was taken home.

BREVITIES

—The North Plainfield school reception will be held at the school house to-night.

—The table matter 19 cents per pound at United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association.

—A meeting of the City Committee will be held at Republican Headquarters to-night.

—St. Mary's school commencement at Music Hall to-night. An interesting programme has been arranged.

—Wm. Hamm, the boy who robbed Mrs. Pound yesterday noon of $23, was tried before Justice Nash this afternoon.

—The Independent Gun Club held a tournament at their grounds in this city yesterday. There were four live bird, and 10 blue rock events.

—The Democrats tried to ratify Cleveland's nomination last night, on North avenue. The storm made the attempt a failure, although they managed to get up a rocket, if not a rocket.

JUST RECEIVED.

A LARGE SHIPMENT OF FINE CREAMERY BUTTER.

19 Cents per Pound.

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,

Distributors of Pure Goods Wholesale and Retail. 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

ADJOURNED SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE, ON Saturday, June 25th, at 2 p. m. Sharp,

On Property at 70 Webster Place.

Sale Rain or Shine.

T. J. CAREY, - Auctioneer.

POSITIVE TRUSTEE'S SALE.

By Order of WM. L. STRONG, Esq., Trustee.

At 2.30 o'clock p. m., on the premises, rain or shine,

Saturday, June 25th, of

42 Desirable Plots, containing from 2 to 5 acres each. Surrounding the Magnificent Netherwood Hotel, fronting on Avenues, here laid out.

NETHERWOOD,

in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey.

The property overlooks and is about 100 feet above the level of the main center of Plainfield.

On parts of the property previously sold have been erected fine residences, which, with the additional Plots, for sale, here laid out, will form a charming Village.

There is a charming Cataract on the property. Gas and Water Mains on some of the streets. Sewerage, Telephone, and Electric Railroad connections, contract at Netherwood. Numerous trains either way.

Refreshments Prior to Sale. Special Train leaving foot of Liberty street, New York, at ONE o'clock.

Terms of sale in brief.

10 per cent. of the purchase-money and the Auctioneer's fee on each numbered plot on the day of sale. Balance in 30 days. Or 40 per cent. down, remainder in 1, 2 and 3 years, at 6 per cent. interest, payable 20 per cent. the first year, 20 per cent. the second year, and the remaining 60 per cent. the third year.

Maps, Circulars, Newspaper Puffs and additional information of JESSE JOHNSON, Jr., No. 60 Liberty street, New York, or from F. A. Dunham, City Engineer and City Surveyor, 11 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J. 19 d in aid of

MUSICALE,

The Mission Church of the Heavenly Rest,

Saturday, June 25,

at four o'clock p. m., to be held at the Sunday-school rooms

of the HOLY CROSS CHURCH,

North Plainfield.

Tickets 50 Cents, for sale at Shaw's drug store. 22 3 sod*

THE BEE HIVE!

Bathing tights, 10, 12, 14 and 15c.

Canvas belts, 5 and 10c.

Ladies' Jersey waists in black, tan and cream, 20 and 25c.

Ladies' ribbed Jersey vests, 10, 15, 20 and 25c.

Gauze vests, 25c.

Children's gauze vests in short and long sleeves and pantlets to match, 12, 15, 18 and 20c.

Full line of misses' white lawn suits.

Men's Balbriggan shirts and drawers, 25c. 40c. and 50c.

Men's Jean Drawers, 50c.

Boys' short gauze drawers 30c.

Louis Callman,

40 West Front Street.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Is There a Sea Serpent?

Yes, there is, answers Mr. J. B. Holder in The Century Magazine, and he boldly tackles it. He quotes in the beginning the remark of Captain Coffin, of Boston, when asked by Sir Charles Lyell if he believed in the sea serpent, "Unfortunately I have seen it."

The evidence seriously and scientifically gathered from various times and places by Mr. Holder sufficiently proves the existence of such a marine monster. That is to say, it would prove the existence of anything except a sea serpent or a ghost. For some reason the creature appears to have a predilection for the New England coast, particularly off Boston. Agassiz believed in the sea serpent, and a number of Bostonians have seen it. It is known absolutely that in the Indian and Pacific oceans are true ocean snakes, more or less venomous.

In 1817 the undoubted testimony of some of Boston's best citizens is to the effect that a gigantic sea serpent appeared off Cape Ann, Massachusetts. One who saw it was Hon. Amos Lawrence, who had a cottage overlooking the bay. It was of a dark chocolate color and was judged to be from 60 to 100 feet long. It had a caterpillar motion in the water. In 1819 many saw it again, among others Nathan D. Chase, of Lynn, Mass., who was within 100 feet of the monster as it wriggled past at about the speed of an ordinary steamer.

But the most tangible evidence is obtained from the following:

In the spring of 1885 the Rev. Mr. Gordon of Milwaukee, president of the United States Humane society, chanced to visit in the course of his duties a remote and obscure portion of the Atlantic shores of Florida. While lying at anchor at New River inlet the fluke of the anchor became foul with what proved to be a carcass of considerable length. Mr. Gordon quickly observed that it was a vertebrate, and at first thought it probably a cetacean. But on examination it was seen to have features more suggestive of the saurians. Its total length was forty-two feet. Its girth was six feet. The head was absent; two flippers, or forelimbs, were noticed, and a somewhat slender neck, which measured six feet in length.

This was the real thing, a sort of snake lizard. The carcass was drawn up on the shore out of reach of high tide, and arrangements were made for transporting the bones to New York. But before this could be done there came a hurricane tide and swept every vestige of this eternally elusive sea serpent out to sea.

A Jolly Old Tory.

It will interest the American citizen to know how the average British Tory regards this republic. In Blackwood's Magazine one of these amusing old fellows "soars on his opinions" like Mr. Partington's American eagle and holds this republic up as an awful example to the other British conservatives. The writer claims to put before his readers a thoroughly moderate and temperate view of the social horrors of the United States. And he says, among other things:

Two-thirds of the whole population of the United States never enter a church. Even of those who do attend church it is safe to hold that many of them have very quaint ideas of the attributes of God, and, are in fact idolaters. Children are growing up with no religious instruction, and only a comparatively few attend Sunday schools. Their moral backbone is weak. The number of drunken men and women who go wrong is remarkable. The children scarcely know what gratitude is, and they will, for a few dollars, blacken the characters of parents, or will allege that their parents are insane like the unscrupulous, black hearted negroes that they are.

The boys and girls grow up like half broken colts and fillies. They are headstrong and apt to take the bit between their teeth; they shy and balk and bite and kick and bick. Jealousy and meanness are very rife. They interfere, overreach and stumble. The girls are often so perverse as in "pure cussedness" to delight in mating pugs and kinds of sexual love. Many break through and get socially drowned, while others have to retire until their dirty linen is washed at home. There are more murders during one week in the United States than in the whole United Kingdom during one year. Some of our one week might perhaps be reduced to three days—aye, sometimes to one day. The number of suicides is awful, and reveals the fact that the United States are full of suffering humanity.

Dear, Dear!

It requires now much more to make a thoroughly equipped newspaper correspondent than it did a generation ago. Photography has come to the aid of journalism to such an extent that newspaper letters without illustrations are a drug on the market. Every correspondent, therefore, needs to be a photographer, to catch pictures of what he writes about. He must also either understand typewriting and prepare his copy on the machine himself or have somebody else do it for him, for typewritten manuscript is so easily read that it finds a readier sale than that written with a pen. If the correspondent is also an artist and can make drawings for the illustrations in his letters, then, and then only, can he be considered to have a tiptop chance in the start in journalism. Besides that, it is unnecessary to say that in our day a clean collar, gentlemanly manners and sober habits are essential. The old time Bohemian in journalism has gone out and given place to the gentleman.

A marked feature of the Republican convention was the number of new men among its delegates. They were not young men absolutely, but they were young compared with those whose names have been familiar at such national gatherings ever since the war. The old captains are laying down the leadership and new ones are taking it up. The prominent names, familiar for thirty years, will be nearly all ... by 1896.

STEVENSON THE CHOICE

The Illinois Man Nominated for Vice President.

HE WINS ON THE INITIAL BALLOT.

The Convention Adjourned Sine Die—An Electric Light Almost Falls Upon Governor Flower, of New York, and the Incident Nearly Creates a Panic.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, was nominated for vice president of the United States by the national Democratic convention at 4:56 p. m. Thursday. His principal opponent was Governor Isaac P. Gray, of Indiana, but at the end of the first ballot Mr. Stevenson was so strongly in the lead that many states that had voted for other candidates threw their support to the Illinois man. At this point the rules were suspended and Mr. Stevenson nomin. 1 unanimously by acclamation. The national committee was authorized to select the time and place for holding the next national convention. At 5:08 p. m. an electric light fell into the middle of the hall, nearly striking Governor Flower, of New York, and almost creating a panic. Men lost their heads and women fainted. Happily, however, a stampede was averted, and when the audience learned that no one had been injured it quieted down. Chairman Brice, of the national committee, thanked Chicago for her efforts in entertaining the delegates, and at 5:15 p. m. the convention adjourned sine die.

The Last Session.

It was in a muggy, damp atmosphere and uncomfortable quarters that the delegates and spectators entered the wigwam at 9 p. m. Another lebwy rainstorm had added to the general desire to get away. It had rained from one to four times a day since the delegates arrived, and the eagerness of the visitors to get into dry atmospheric surroundings is almost pathetic in its intensity.

The first indication of life in the wigwam was at 1:20, when the Democratic club of Indianapolis marched into the hall, prepared for the strain of yelling which they expected to do should the nomination of Gray for vice president be made. It was reported through the hall that Mr. Cleveland's friends were working for Stevenson, and the New York delegation said they would down Gray, as was done at St. Louis four years ago.

ADLAI E. STEVENSON.

The Band Played "Annie Laurie."

At 2:50 Indiana clubs marched into the hall shouting, "Gray, Gray, Isaac P. Gray," in unison. The Gray shouters marched through the aisles and then out of the hall. And the band played "Annie Laurie" as they disappeared. It was nearly 3 o'clock before Chairman Wilson called the convention to order. Immediately after the prayer the chairman announced that the next order of business was the naming of candidates for the nomination for vice president. Governor Porter, of Tennessee, offered a resolution to limit nominating speeches to five minutes each. The resolution was greeted with applause and adopted. The call of states was then begun, Arkansas nominated Gray, of Indiana, without comment. The name was greeted with applause. Colorado gave no place to Indiana, and Kansas took the platform to nominate Hon. Isaac P. Gray, he said:

Lauby Names Gray.

When I was selected as a delegate to this convention I hoped to have the honor as well as the pleasure of casting my vote for an honored son of Indiana for the presidency of the United States, but when I arrived I found that the majority had already decided for another to lead the hosts in the coming campaign. We bowed our heads to their judgment and united with the Cleveland democracy. [Applause.] Yesterday Grover Cleveland was the choice of the Democratic people. Today he is the nominee of this convention. The question which this convention has to decide is, who shall it be that will have the honor to hold up the banner of democracy in the state which is the center of the political battlefield of the great west—the state that has been the battle ground of American politics the last three of Thomas A. Hendricks. [Cheers.]

The speaker said that whenever the Democracy had listened to Indiana's advice, whether in 1876, when the fruits of victory were stolen, or in 1884, it had found victory. On behalf of the united Democracy he asked the convention to make fifteen electoral votes certain by putting on the ticket a Democrat who has never been a traitor—Isaac P. Gray. [Prolonged cheering.] He had carried Indiana by 10,000 more votes than Cleveland and Hendricks. The tongue of slander had never touched his armor.

Washington Nominates Stevenson.

Colorado gave way to Illinois and Mr. Worthington took the platform to nominate Adlai E. Stevenson. He paused for a passing railroad train and then began a eulogy of the man who is to be the democratic candidate to the convention. He was not ripe for the adoption of that resolution then. Without disparagement to the many worthy men who were prominently mentioned, he would say that he rose to say in the presence of a small fraction of the American public that a majority had been ascertained, and that the minority of the national committee should be a deliberative body, not subject to coercion. [Cheers.] If we could have exhibition in front of 65,000,000 of people in 7,000,000 of Democrats, well and good, but what we had to do was to let the people who can hear by one and cannot hear, consulting the interests of a Democratic convention and prevent a contest. [Applause.] But for the vice presidency it has been suggested that it would be a political advantage to call to urge his nomination.

Mr. Worthington said that he stood here to name as a candidate a man known by every woman and child and voter who ever licked a postage stamp—a big, big hearted, big brained man, who had been in the best kind of an honest, efficient public office-holder. The Democrats of the west had been educating the people, and Boies, Boyd, Palmer and Davis would the confidence of the ... stamps be presented a candidate who does not have to get a certificate from a labor organization to prove he is a friend of labor—Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois."

Yes Seconded Nomination.

R. J. Vance, of Connecticut, seconded the nomination of Isaac P. Gray. When Iowa was called the chairman of the delegation said: "Iowa has no candidate to present. There were cries for Boies all over the hall, and the chairman again taking the floor said: "It is the personal wish of Governor Boies, it is the unanimous wish of this Colegation, it is the wish of the Democrats of Iowa, that Governor Boies be not named as a candidate for the vice presidency in this convention."

When Kentucky was called Hon. John S. Rhea took the platform. He said that he came from the home of the star eyed goddess to second the nomination of Mr. Stevenson. Kentucky took her Democracy like her whisky, straight. He supported Illinois' candidate because he was a man who believed that to the victor belonged the spoils. [Great cheering.] If he were placed in position magwumps and Republicans would get no quarter at his hands.

Don M. Dickinson announced that Michigan would present a candidate through Hon. E. F. Uhl. Mr. Uhl took the platform and nominated Hon. Allen B. Morse, chief justice of the Michigan supreme court, whom he referred to as follows:

"He was a brave soldier. He carries an armless sleeve. He is a learned lawyer, an able legislator and a profound jurist. He is exceptionally strong with the mass of the people. He is exceptionally strong with the Grand Army of the Republic. He fought in 1865 he fought with dauntless courage to make certain 'an indestructible union of indestructible states.'"

They Sang "Grover, Grover!"

When New York was reached Governor Flower announced that the Empire state had no candidate to present. Ohio also had no name to lead. When Wisconsin was called the chairman announced that Wisconsin would present a candidate through General E. S. Bragg. General Bragg nominated Hon. John L. Mitchell in the rain by this time was pouring down so heavily that its noise drowned Mr. Bragg's voice, and he said he would suspend his remarks until the rain ceased.

The band struck up the "Baby" song from Wang. Silva of paper had been scattered among the delegates before the convention that bearing the words:

Grover, Grover, four more years of Grover.

In he goes, out they go, then we'll be in clover.

As the band struck up the air the Pennsylvania delegation rose to its feet, and presently the convention was singing "Grover, Grover!" The New York delegation did not join in the singing; Michigan did, and waved with Pennsylvania in its vocal efforts.

Finally General Bragg again endeavored to speak.

The mention of Mr. Mitchell's name was not greeted with applause, for General Bragg's voice could not be heard twenty feet away. Concluding General Bragg said that Wisconsin expected 10 give her twelve electoral for Grover Cleveland and John T. Mitchell.

The First Ballot.

Following is the vote on vice president as it stood at the time the convention made the nomination of Mr. Stevenson unanimous:

	Gray	Stevenson	Mitchell	Morse
Alabama	...	...	...	22
Arkansas	16	...	...	...
California	9	9	...	...
Colorado	...	8	...	...
Connecticut	12	...	...	...
Delaware	...	...	...	5
Florida	2	6	...	...
Georgia	...	23	...	...
Idaho	4	...	...	...
Illinois	...	48	...	...
Indiana	30	...	...	...
Iowa	...	23	...	...
Kansas	20	...	...	...
Kentucky	...	26	...	...
Louisiana	...	16	...	...
Maine	7	...	...	...
Maryland	12	4	...	...
Massachusetts	6	29	...	5
Michigan	...	...	...	28
Minnesota	...	18	...	...
Mississippi	...	9	...	...
Missouri	...	34	...	...
Montana	...	4	...	...
Nebraska	...	16	...	...
Nevada	...	5	...	...
N. Hampshire	...	8	...	...
New Jersey	16	1	...	...
New York	72	...	...	...
N'th Carolina	22	...	...	...
N'th Dakota	...	4	...	...
Ohio	...	45	...	...
Oregon	...	8	...	...
Pennsylvania	64	...	...	...
Rhode Island	8	...	...	...
S'th Carolina	...	19	...	...
S'th Dakota	...	4	2	...
Tennessee	...	24	...	...
Texas	...	30	...	...
Vermont	...	4	...	...
Virginia	...	24	...	...
Washington	...	...	...	4
W. Virginia	4	...	...	...
Wisconsin	...	...	...	24
Wyoming	...	4	...	...
Alaska	...	1	1	...
Arizona	1	1	...	...
Dis. of Columbia	...	4	1	...
New Mexico	6	1	...	...
Oklahoma	...	2	...	...
Utah	...	4	...	...
Ind. Territory	2	...	...	...
Totals	354	628	24	5

Note—One member of the Maine delegation was absent.

To Bar Out the Public.

Before any states had declared their votes in Stevenson's favor, on motion it was cast by Montana for Texas, by Illinois and Iowa for Bourke Cockran, of New York. Tennessee cast one for Boies and seven twenty-six for Hendricks. Wisconsin cast one for Boies and seven for Mitchell. Ohio, moved that the nomination of Stevenson be made unanimous. Indiana seconded this and it was carried amid cheers.

On behalf of the united Democracy of New York, Governor Flower offered a resolution to add Chairman Wilson to the notification committee. It was carried. A resolution authorizing the national committee to elect an chairman of the committee and of its executive committee persons not members of the committee was adopted. Mr. Collins, of Massachusetts, then arose and said:

I propose to address myself to the committee on notification, and therefore I propose to be not collected here. Twelve years ago I presented a resolution authorizing the national committee to provide suitable quarters for the next convention. The time was not ripe for the adoption of that resolution then. Without disparagement to the many worthy men who were prominently mentioned, he would say that he rose to say in the presence of a small fraction of the American public that a majority had been ascertained, and that the minority of the national committee should be a deliberative body, not subject to coercion. [Cheers.] If we could have exhibition in front of 65,000,000 of people in 7,000,000 of Democrats, well and good, but what we had to do was to let the people who can hear by one and cannot hear, consulting the interests of a Democratic convention and prevent a contest. [Applause.] But for the vice presidency it has been suggested that it would be a political advantage to call to urge his nomination.

Mr. Worthington said that he stood here to name as a candidate a man known by every woman and child and voter who ever licked a postage stamp—a big, big hearted, big brained man, who had been in the best kind of an honest, efficient public office-holder. The Democrats of the west had been educating the people, and Boies, Boyd, Palmer and Davis would the confidence of the ... and the big iron frame with its glowering eye some threw with a crash right in the middle of the New York delegation. A roar went up from the packed galleries, and the people sprang to their feet and started for the exits. The delegates had from the spectators, and the people cried, "Keep calm," and "Sit down." A police officer in the gallery, who had seen the flash of the electric lamp, a fraction sliding him. In the onslaught they knocked several of the New York and New Jersey delegates right and left, but they were able to get back in the aisle, but their object was accomplished. They hauled up the lamp, broken, but still burning, and as they did so the delegates cheered, and the vast crowd, seeing that no further damage was threatened, gradually recovered calmness and settled back in their seats. When something like order was restored Mr. Bissell, of Pennsylvania, moved that the resolution of Mr. Collins be referred to the new national committee with a favorable recommendation. His motion was carried. Then the usual resolutions of thanks were passed, and at 5:15 p. m. the convention adjourned.

Death Near Tammany's Leaders.

Just before the adjournment, fat Governor Flower, jolly Richard Croker, Edward Murphy, Jr., and Bourke Cockran, who all sat together had fortunately left their seats, and the lamp would have killed or injured them all.

The spur on the end of the lamp which fell pierced to the depth of almost an inch the chair in which Governor Flower had reposed, and then rolled, startling and blazing, as if in disappointment of its victim, over into the place which less than five minutes before had been occupied by Flower, Croker and Murphy. They were saved by an arrow a margin as over fortune favors a man, for their seats happened to be so placed as to throw the falling object off, and that, with wet cloths and wet floor about them, would have formed a death dealing circuit too fearful to contemplate.

Immediately after the convention adjourned the committee to notify the candidates of their selection met at the chairman's desk. It was agreed that if agreeable to Mr. Cleveland the committee will meet him in New York July 12 and formally notify him.

New York delegates are priding themselves upon an allegation of their own that after being defeated on the presidential nomination, they beat the Cleveland people on the nomination of Gray, which Whitney, Grace and other Cleveland leaders had promised Indiana it should have. It was almost cold when the convention was before New York's delegates notified Illinois they would help name Stevenson, and New York influence on the southern and silver states and its 72 votes undoubtedly did the business.

They All Kissed Stevenson.

General Adlai Stevenson, nominated for vice president by the Democratic convention, held a reception in the Palmer House last evening immediately after the convention. For two hours he stood in the hall in front of the rooms occupied by the national Democratic committee and received a constant stream of visitors. He was in the best of humor and had a pleasant word to say to every one. Among those who called were many ladies, and every pretty lady, in the exuberance of her enthusiasm, caught General Stevenson about the neck and planted a kiss on his lips amid the laughter of the crowd present. Afterwards General Stevenson entered the room of the national Democratic committee and was introduced to the members.

Indiana Democrats are not kicking over the result of the convention, but they are somewhat dazed. They don't quite know how it occurred. Ex-Congressman John E. Lamb, of Terre Haute, who placed ex-Governor Gray's name before the convention for vice president, was asked how Indiana came to lose the second place. "I don't understand why it was lost," he answered. "I think it done is plain enough. Wilson and Dickinson presented his nomination. Each brought out a candidate from his state, Governor Boies and Governor Morse had voted for Gray he would have been nominated."

"Was it the understanding that Gray should receive the nomination for second place?"

"That was the understanding."

Whitney to Succeed Brice.

The new national Democratic committee met at the Palmer House immediately after the convention. Resolutions regretting the death of Senator John S. Barbour, of Virginia, and C. A. Peabody, of Massachusetts, were passed. The committee adjourned, to meet in New York subject to the call of the chair. The impression is that they will meet about July 12. A resolution adopted, and a resolution that the chairman and secretary could be chosen outside the committee. It is understood that was passed with the understanding that Mr. Brice, chairman, and Mr. Gray, of New York, who managed the Cleveland campaign, will be made permanent chairman of the committee when it performs a permanent organization.

Sketch of Adlai E. Stevenson.

Adlai E. Stevenson, the nominee for vice president, is a resident of Bloomington, Ill. He was born in Christian county, Ky., Oct. 23, 1835. He attended Center college at Danville, Ky., and when sixteen years of age removed with his father's family to Bloomington, Ill., where he studied law and was admitted to the bar. In 1859 he located at Metamora, Woodford county, and began the practice of his profession, remaining there for ten years. In 1869 he was named as the presidential elector for the district. In 1869 he returned to Bloomington, forming the law firm of Davis & Stevenson, which still exists. He was elected to congress by the Democrats of the Bloomington district in 1874, although the district had always been strongly Republican.

In 1876 his party again nominated him for congress, but he was defeated. He was nominated a third time by the district and elected. He was a delegate to the national conventions of 1884, and was appointed first assistant postmaster general by President Cleveland. At the close of Cleveland's administration he returned to Bloomington. In 1877 President Hayes appointed Mr. Stevenson one of a commission to inspect the military academy at West Point. The present Illinois state convention elected him one of its delegates at large to the convention. He was served in the legislature when nominated for the vice presidency.

Cockran's Great Speech.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Bourke Cockran's speech in the committee meeting on Gray's nomination was one of biting sarcasm, and was delivered by the eloquent Tammany leader's superb style.

For three-quarters of an hour Bourke Cockran held his hostile audience in chains of eloquence which they could not stop—chains which also held fast the desire to break. It was the one glittering triumph of the long and weary night.

General Von Soden Killed.

BERLIN, June 24.—Baron Von Soden and many others of the German East African troops have been killed in battle with the natives.

Big Bargains

Extra fine 25c. Dress Ginghams at 18c. Plaid Dress Gingham, 7c. Outing Flannels, 9c. New style in Irish Lawns, 12c. Imported Organdie at 8c., very stylish and pretty. Plaid Nainsooks, 8c. Fine Silk Satin, 19c. Black Silk Mitts, 19c.

Our assortment of new styles Mattings and Low Prices surpasses anything ever before offered in this city. Our assortment of Elegant Carpets, Art Squares, Rugs, etc., is complete and prices guaranteed the Lowest.

Extra quality Cotton Flannel at 12c. Lea Ladies' Short Waists at 45c. Misses' Night Shirts etc. Boys' Outing Shirts 25c. Men's Outing Shirts 39c. The best 50c. ventilated Corsets ever offered this city. Superior Silk Gloria Umbrellas, $1.39.

EDSALL'S!

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

EUROPE!

Tickets for Hamburg, Stettin, Havre, Paris, Copenhagen. All Scandinavian or Finnish ports.

To Glasgow, Londonderry, Liverpool, etc.

AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES.

Illustrated catalogue giving views of scenery, etc., mailed free.

H. D. Morrison, 9 Somerset St.

(Any line or steamer.)

IF!

A poor article is dear at any price. A good article is cheap at any price.

The Duluth Imperial Flour is the best in the world and the prices are right.

Insist on having it from your grocer, or apply to

FRENCH BROTHERS,

TELEPHONE 24. 8, 10 and 12 SOMERSET STREET.

Having Disposed of the Produce Business

to Mr. L. A. Hummer, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the best business and have constantly on hand fine residence, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E RIDER, Manager.

Ice Cream Freezers.

The Automatic,

Needs no turning.

The Rapid,

Best and quickest crank freezer.

GARDEN HOSE,

and

Lawn - Sprinklers.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

12 East Front Street. Telephone 6.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company shipping Lake Hopatcong ice to this market, are now prepared to serve their patrons with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CORNELISON, Pres.
H. CORNELISON, Vice-Pres.
ANDREW WILSON, Sec. & Treas.
J. MORTON, Gen. Supt.

COAL and WOOD,

E. H. HOLMES,

YARD—24 Madison Avenue.
Office—27 North avenue, with Weston

Flags, Fireworks,

and

Japanese Lanterns,

and other necessaries for a

Jolly Fourth,

can be had from

A. W. RAND,

24 West Front Street.

CARRIAGES and HARNESS

of Every Description.

STYLES and PRICES to SUIT ALL.

Carriages taken on sale or stored on ground floor.

Accessible at Any Time.

RYERSON,

38 SOMERSET STREET.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture : Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

A. M. SEGUINE,

Proprietor of

Laing's Hotel Stables,

on Front Street, Opp. Station Avenue.

TELEPHONE CALL NO. 28.

Orders for weddings, funerals and private calls.

Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.

Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.

BOARDING HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!

ALL SIZES,

Of Same

Light Blue Color.

References:—

P. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.
ROBT. A. MEEKER, Street Com.

Smalley Bros.,

26 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

99 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,

Invites the public to inspect the specimens of his newly added steam thrashing machinery of coal now for sale, which is constantly being screened, and from which all dust and slate is possible to buy other method of screening.

Urban (Lehigh) and Honeybrook Coals in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

House and Stressed Lumber.

He would also announce his recently improved facilities for Thrashing Rye, Straw and Hay and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in BEST

QUALITY COAL

YARD AND OFFICE

SOUTH AVENUE,

P. O. BOX 1467.

Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

J. ADDISON & CODDINGTON, Counsellors at Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Conveyancers, Office, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E. Engineer of the Famous Union County Road System. Special attention given to sewers paving and drainage. Office, Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Attorney-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public. Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 28 West Front street.

CLARK & REED, Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Special Masters in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public and Bank Plainfield, N. J.

CHARLES MARSH, Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Solicitor and Master in Chancery, Notary Public. Office corner Front and Second streets.

OSCAR S. TRAIN, Assistant, 207 Broadway, New York City, Residence 1st and 2d floors over Plainfield National Bank Building, Endeavor, Plainfield, N. J.

PLAINFIELD

ODORLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY

JONES & CO.

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Two teams in operation. Our address, P. O. Box 1, or leave orders at Cornelison's, 24 West Front street, or at Cox's, 19 East Front street. Orders solicited at Park Bakery, Manufacturers & Builders' Supply Co., and Van Liew's Pharmacy. Telephone No. 47. Yard rear Washington and N. Y.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION

OF

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable or on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice President.
NATHAN HARPER, "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7:20, 8:45, 10:05, 11:05, 12:40, 2:40, 4:10, 5:40, 6:50 and 8:30 p. m. Also, 12:40 and 2:40 a. m. (Sunday mail.)

Close—7:30, 9:00, 10:30, 11:30 a. m., 1:00, 3:00, 4:30, 6:00 p. m. Also, 12:00 a. m. (Sunday mail.)

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 2:40 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.

WHAT POLITICIANS SAY

Whitney Says Tammany Will Stand by Cleveland.

THE EX-PRESIDENT'S MANIFESTO.

He Does Not Believe There Will Be Any Lack of Harmony in the Party—Senator Hill's Remarkable Self Control Admired by His Colleagues.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Ex-Secretary Whitney, who has so ably conducted the Cleveland campaign, does not express any surprise at the result of the ballot nominating the ex-president. But he is quietly jubilant and feels sure of success in November. I knew Mr. Cleveland would be nominated on the first ballot," said he. "Our canvass was a very careful one. The opposition was very bitter, but I think we treated it with such consideration that all dissension will die out before the election. We are all Democrats, and I believe the people will be with us. Mr. Cleveland will be elected by rousing majorities. New York will give him a greater plurality than has been awarded any president of late years. The electoral votes of Indiana, Connecticut, New Jersey, Wisconsin and a majority of those of Michigan will be counted for us. At no time were we doubtful as to what the ultimate result would be. From the first we had 520 votes pledged to stand by Mr. Cleveland until he was nominated.

No Need to Fear Tammany.

"I do not claim any personal merit for the victory. To the gentlemen associated with me great part of the credit is due. You need have no fear for Tammany. That organization is a Democratic one, and its great influence will be felt in New York. The organization is great enough to bury all disappointment and join in the march to victory."

Ex-Secretary Don M. Dickison said: "It was a glorious victory and will be ratified at the polls in November.

"The Democratic party cannot express too much gratitude for the able manner in which Mr. Whitney has conducted this campaign. I consider him the most astute politician in America today."

Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, said before his nomination for the vice presidency: "We have named the next president. Cleveland cannot be beaten."

Governor Leon Abbett, of New Jersey, said: "No wiser course could have been taken. My state will give an old time Democratic majority for Cleveland and he will carry the country by storm."

Ellery Watterson said: "Mr. Cleveland is nominated and I shall support him in every possible way."

William L. Harrity, of Pennsylvania, said: "This is a glorious victory, and the election of the Democratic ticket is a certainty."

Governor Flower remarked: "I don't know whether Cleveland can carry New York, but I hope he can."

Mr. Cleveland Congratulated.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., June 24.—Cleveland was early marked the day at Gray Gables. There were few callers, but Mr. Cleveland's time was largely occupied in reading the 200 congratulatory telegrams that arrived. Among those received were dispatches from ex-Governor Greene, of New Jersey; Governor Pattison, of Pennsylvania; Governor Wilson, of Maryland; one or two from members of the Tammany organization, but largely the telegrams have been from friends. Mr. Cleveland was asked by a United Press representative if he had received any congratulations from Mr. Hill or the Tammany organization and he smiled as he answered in the negative.

True to his promise ex-President Cleveland notified the reporters at 4:30 that he was ready to send them his statement. The statement was presumably written by Governor Russell, who in this instance caused the reporter, representing the combined press representatives. The statement is as follows:

Mr. Cleveland's Statement.

I should certainly be charged with dense insensibility if I were not profoundly touched by the call to me of the confidence and trust of the great party to which I belong and whose mandates claim my loyal obedience. I am confident that our fellow countrymen are ready to receive with approval the principles of true Democracy, and I cannot rid myself of the belief that to win success it is only necessary to propitiously and honestly advocate those principles. Differences of opinion and judgment in Democratic conventions are by no means unwholesome indications, but it is hardly conceivable in view of the importance of our success to the country and the party, that there should be any where among Democrats any lack of fidelity and active effort to win in the campaign which opens before us. I have therefore, by message on that subject. It will certainly be my constant endeavor to deserve the support of every Democrat.

Having issued that proclamation, Mr. Cleveland went to bed.

Jos Jefferson did yeoman service for the reporters in the early morning hours. He is a most enthusiastic Cleveland man, and was up all night with the committee and Governor Russell receiving telegrams.

Hill Was Last in Order.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Outward appearances could for anything, Senator David B. Hill has not lost any sleep over the Chicago convention. He looked bright and fresh when he reached the senate chamber shortly after noon, and his face showed no indication that he had remained up all night to receive the news of the day's victory. During the recital of the roll call Hill was in and about the senate chamber during the session. The wonderful self control of the man was commented on by many of his colleagues. Charged as he must have been at the result of the convention, and feeling the effects of the severe nervous strain under which he has been, Mr. Hill, nevertheless, showed not a trace of nervousness nor any allowed a shade of disappointment to come into his face. In conversation with a United Press reporter, Senator Hill said that he had made up his mind not to express himself on the subject of Mr. Cleveland's nomination. It was evident from a remark he made that he greatly grateful and much touched by the faithfulness of the Tammany men.

Governor Pattison Speaks.

HARRISBURG, June 24.—A rousing Democratic ratification meeting was held last evening in this city. After parading the streets thoroughly greeting the citizens a meeting was held at the court house, when Governor Pattison, who had promised to preside, appeared. The crowd cheered itself hoarse for five minutes. The governor, in his remarks, said: "I congratulate you on the man for whom you shout so much enthusiasm. He represents honesty, capacity and fidelity to the constitution. He sought to relieve taxation. We are trying under tariff. A pauper is made of one man and a millionaire of another. The taxes are always paid by the poor. [Deafening cheers.] It is a system of legalized robbery and the public is crying against it." [Prolonged cheers.]

Boies Congratulates Cleveland.

DES MOINES, June 24.—A correspondent of the United Press interviewed Governor Boies at his office in the capitol. He said: "I am pleased with the nomination, because a majority of the Democrats wanted it, and further, because Mr. Cleveland is a good man. There is nothing about the nomination which is not satisfactory to me." Governor Boies sent the following telegram:

Grover Cleveland, Buzzards Bay:

Accept the hearty congratulations of all Iowa Democrats, and be assured none will be more devoted to you than myself and those I am proud to number among my friends in this state. HORACE BOIES.

Clarkson Is Pleased.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Hon. J. S. Clarkson, chairman of the Republican national committee, says: "Of course, the Republican and Democratic conventions have nominated good, clean tickets, and both, I believe, fairly represent the strength of their respective parties. There will be a vigorous canvass made, and it will be doubtless remarkably free from scandal or personal antagonisms. The fight will be one of issues. It will be the issue of protection and honest money against free trade and dishonest money. On this issue I am confident the Republicans will win."

The New York Herald's Views.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The New York Herald says, editorially: "The Democrats have chosen to take unnecessary risks with the owner of Gray Gables. That they have not been wise is pretty generally admitted, but it is too late to mend matters, and they have nothing left except a fight which will tax their utmost energy and courage."

Henry Watterson in Line.

LOUISVILLE, June 24.—The Courier-Journal says:

"The nomination of Mr. Cleveland, made with rare unanimity, is the long been a foregone conclusion. The Courier-Journal accepts the result with no feeling of dissatisfaction or disappointment. On the contrary, it finds us fully prepared to support it sincerely and heartily."

Reid Sees the President.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Whitelaw Reid took luncheon with the president at 1:30 o'clock, and the two remained together for some time discussing the political situation. It is understood that one of the principal questions considered was the chairmanship of the national committee, and the selection is said to lie between General Horace Porter, of New York, and Commissioner Carter, who did such effective work for the president at the Minneapolis convention.

Hill Thanks His Friends.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Edward Murphy, Jr., received the following telegram:

To Hon. Edward Murphy, Auditorium Hotel: Please convey to the New York delegation my heartfelt thanks for their steady devotion to my candidacy and for the gallant fight which they made to preserve the rights and dignity of the regular Democratic organization of New York state.

DAVID B. HILL.

What Editor Dana Says.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The New York Sun, which supported Hill for the presidential nomination, says: "Better vote for the Illness and the white supremacy of the southern states, even if the candidate were the devil himself, rather than consent to the election of respectable Benjamin Harrison, with a force bill in his pocket!"

The Rocky Mountain News Roits.

DENVER, June 24.—The Rocky Mountain News hoists the Democratic ticket on account of the silver plank in the Chicago platform.

OWING to Large stock
and Laziness of the Season,
we will sell for next
30 Days
at
A Sacrifice.

Fine all-wool pants to order
$4; worth $6.

Fine all wool Suits to order
$10; worth $22.

Call, examine and satisfy yourselves

Acme Tailoring Co.,
No 249 West Front Street.

John H. French, Pres. and Treas.
Walter C. Limburger, Sec. 3 81 3m

C. DICKINSON,
PRACTICAL
OPTICIAN
and
JEWELER.
Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Agent for the American
Rambler Bicycles.
No. 13 Park avenue.

ON SALE TO-DAY
Our Spring Line of
Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.
Several new patterns this Spring never shown before
CALL AND SEE THEM.
O. M. DUNHAM,
Hatter and Furnisher.
46 West Front Street.

USE THE BEST!
DOMESTIC
SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS
SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC
4 & 5 cents per Copy.
Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.
A. M. Vanderbeek's,
22 PARK AVENUE.

FRED. W. DUNN,
Successor to
Barkalew & Dunn,
18 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.
Fine Groceries,
THREE DEP TEA

George - Bremmer,
No 28 SOMERSET STREET,
READY MADE CLOTHING,
or made to order at prices
To Suit Your Purse.
Call and see Samples.

Joseph T. Sullivan,
No. 60 West Third Street,
Dealer in Choice
Wines, Liquors, etc.
BEER ON DRAUGHT.

RIP VAN WINKLE HOUSE.
Catskill Mountains,
OPENS ABOUT JUNE 15TH.
For particulars and circulars address S. V. Van Loan, Pine Hill, Ulster county, N. Y.
19 1m tuw

GET YOUR
Bicycle Repaired
at
NO. 2 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
by
Henry Goeller, Jr.

38c.
Buys a full size, re-inforced front, shirt, with Linen bosom and waistbands; regular 50c quality.
17c.
Buys a five foot curtain pole with brass fixtures, complete.
Window Shades 35c. and upward.
Dress Chalies 5c. Best Prints 4c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 30 days at
BOEHM'S
No. 7 WEST FRONT STREET.

For a Delicious Drink
NEUMANN BROS.
Have just the article, a select
50c. Formosa Oolong
TEA, to make a
Delicious Iced Tea.
Fresh roasted Coffees received weekly. Strawberries received every morning. All goods sold at Lowest Prices. A full line of Vegetables received Daily.
NEUMANN BROS.
79 BROADWAY.

PIPTONIZED
Beef, Iron and Wine
50c.
Per Pint Bottle.
at
WILLIAMS'.

Builders Card.
Daniel Hulick,
Carpenter
and
General Jobber.
SHOP
35 Jackson Avenue.
Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet
MAKER.
Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished
ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.
John Peterson,
SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.
Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,
MASONS and BUILDERS,
28 East Front Street.
First-class work guaranteed.
Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,
MASON AND BUILDER,
Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect street.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
P. O. Box 982.

PIERSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.
All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,
PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.
All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.
Residence—Grandview avenue.
P. O. Box 825.

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter & Builder.
Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Evans.
P. O. Box 1220.
Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. P. HOFFMAN,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Residence—24 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.
Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ARNOTT,
Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to. Corner new and Front streets, Dunellen. Factory and residence, Bound Brook. P. O. Box 1141.

JOHN HERRMANN,
Mason, Builder and roof coated material. Jobbing promptly attended to. Residence, North Plainfield, N. J.
Office, J. Herrmann, 2 Bogert street.

Just What You Need!
If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an
Arnold Steam Cooker.
Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.
You can buy the above articles at 61 Park avenue. Also the only genuine
BOSTON BROWN BREAD,
made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.
M. E. BEACH, Agent.

Do You Want Shirts?
If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your ideas.
The assortment we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects.
Full Bosoms for hot weather; Blue Flannel for coat.
Hallock & Davis,
5 West Front Street.
Trunks and Bags.

GEORGE VOEHL,
the
CONFECTIONER,
is now prepared to furnish
Parties & Receptions
with Delicious
ICE CREAM
in bricks.
15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.
Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,
DECORATORS
PAINTERS.
Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—29 East Front street.

V. L. FRAZEE,
GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES
26 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance.
Edw. C. Mulford,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE
45 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.
49 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.
Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,
REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE
NO. 68 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,
FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE.
General Hardware and Housefurnishings,
LAWN MOWERS,
(Six Varieties)
Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,
ICE CREAM FREEZERS.
Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : : : - - - NOT A SCHEME!
TO RECEIVE A
CASH DISCOUNT,
in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of
R. W. RICE & CO.,
GROCERS, 48 EMILY STREET.
Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
Successors to
The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,
Dealers in
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.
Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.
A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We area wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and carefully selected stock of Choice
Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,
BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.
If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any the of first-class wholesale houses in New York City.
F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer.
Telephone Co. 127.

FASHIONS

Stylish Costume with Eton Jacket.

In the accompanying cut are given front and back views of a costume with the fashionable and stylish Eton jacket, which, like the popular blazer, is worn over a blouse waist. It is also sometimes worn over an open waistcoat and stiff linen shirt front with standing collar. This costume is in navy blue serge, the jacket is closed in front and a wide belt fashioned with a deep buckle.

ETON COSTUME—BACK AND FRONT.

A handsome costume with Eton jacket, which figured in the trousseau of a June bride, was made of gray Bedford cord with sleeves of the shape of those worn by a Russian blouse, the upper part being of gray velvet in the same shade as the cord. The revers in front were also of velvet, and a short square belt of the same crossed the bodice in front. A waistcoat of jade green surah, striped with gray, was visible between the revers, and gave a soupcon of color to the whole. The skirt was entirely plain.

Fashionable Bouquets.

No ribbon will appear in the latest form of the "shower bouquet," the long elegant sprays being simply caught together with an invisible bow. The only foliage used will be that of the flowers themselves.

The "handful posy" of the English fashion is so simple that its name exactly describes it. With the help of that term, which is hardly to be distinguished from nature, it has all the appearance of a handful of flowers just gathered and carelessly held together.

Some of the thalestaine bouquets are characterized by long hanging ends of ribbon matching the flowers and finished at the ends by their most "cunning" little knots and clusters of blossom.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.
Central Railroad of New Jersey.
(THE PORT READING R. R. CO., LESSEE.)
STATION IN NEW YORK, foot of Liberty street.
Time Table in effect May 16, 1892.
PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 2 14, 5 37, 6 50, 7 35, 8 20, 9 05, 10 00, 10 50, 11 35 a. m., 12 20, 1 05, 1 50, 2 35, 3 20, 4 05, 4 50, 5 37, 6 20, 7 05, 7 50, 8 35, 9 20, 10 05, 10 50, 11 35 p. m.

Leave New York at 12 00 midnight, 1 00, 1 45, 2 30, 3 15, 4 00, 4 45, 5 30, 6 15, 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 a. m., 12 15, 1 00, 1 45, 2 30, 3 15, 4 00, 4 45, 5 30, 6 15, 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 6 50, 7 35, 8 20, 9 05, 10 00, 10 50, 11 35 a. m., 12 20, 1 05, 1 50, 2 35, 3 20, 4 05, 4 50, 5 37, 6 20, 7 05, 7 50, 8 35, 9 20, 10 05, 10 50, 11 35 p. m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 45, 7 30, 8 15, 9 00, 9 45, 10 30, 11 15 a. m., 12 00, 12 45, 1 30, 2 15, 3 00, 3 45, 4 30, 5 15, 6 00, 6 45, 7 30, 8 15, 9 00, 9 45, 10 30, 11 15 p. m.

WESTFIELD CONNECTIONS.

Leave Plainfield at 6 50, 7 35, 8 20, 9 05, 10 00, 10 50, 11 35 a. m., 12 20, 1 05, 1 50, 2 35, 3 20, 4 05, 4 50, 5 37, 6 20, 7 05, 7 50, 8 35, 9 20, 10 05, 10 50, 11 35 p. m.

Leave Westfield at 6 30, 7 15, 8 00, 8 45, 9 30, 10 15, 11 00 a. m., 11 45, 12 30, 1 15, 2 00, 2 45, 3 30, 4 15, 5 00, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 00, 8 45, 9 30, 10 15, 11 00 p. m.

Leave New York at 12 00 midnight, 1 00, 1 45, 2 30, 3 15, 4 00, 4 45, 5 30, 6 15, 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 a. m., 12 15, 1 00, 1 45, 2 30, 3 15, 4 00, 4 45, 5 30, 6 15, 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 p. m.

Leave Elizabethport at 6 00, 6 45, 7 30, 8 15, 9 00, 9 45, 10 30, 11 15 a. m., 12 00, 12 45, 1 30, 2 15, 3 00, 3 45, 4 30, 5 15, 6 00, 6 45, 7 30, 8 15, 9 00, 9 45, 10 30, 11 15 p. m.

Leave Elizabeth at 6 10, 6 55, 7 40, 8 25, 9 10, 9 55, 10 40, 11 25 a. m., 12 10, 12 55, 1 40, 2 25, 3 10, 3 55, 4 40, 5 25, 6 10, 6 55, 7 40, 8 25, 9 10, 9 55, 10 40, 11 25 p. m.

Leave Roselle Park at 6 15, 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 a. m., 12 15, 1 00, 1 45, 2 30, 3 15, 4 00, 4 45, 5 30, 6 15, 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 p. m.

Leave Cranford at 6 20, 7 05, 7 50, 8 35, 9 20, 10 05, 10 50, 11 35 a. m., 12 20, 1 05, 1 50, 2 35, 3 20, 4 05, 4 50, 5 37, 6 20, 7 05, 7 50, 8 35, 9 20, 10 05, 10 50, 11 35 p. m.

Leave Plainfield at 6 50, 7 35, 8 20, 9 05, 10 00, 10 50, 11 35 a. m., 12 20, 1 05, 1 50, 2 35, 3 20, 4 05, 4 50, 5 37, 6 20, 7 05, 7 50, 8 35, 9 20, 10 05, 10 50, 11 35 p. m.

Leave Dunellen at 6 55, 7 40, 8 25, 9 10, 9 55, 10 40, 11 25 a. m., 12 10, 12 55, 1 40, 2 25, 3 10, 3 55, 4 40, 5 25, 6 10, 6 55, 7 40, 8 25, 9 10, 9 55, 10 40, 11 25 p. m.

Leave Bound Brook at 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 a. m., 12 15, 1 00, 1 45, 2 30, 3 15, 4 00, 4 45, 5 30, 6 15, 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 p. m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 45, 7 30, 8 15, 9 00, 9 45, 10 30, 11 15 a. m., 12 00, 12 45, 1 30, 2 15, 3 00, 3 45, 4 30, 5 15, 6 00, 6 45, 7 30, 8 15, 9 00, 9 45, 10 30, 11 15 p. m.

Leave Bridgewater at 6 10, 6 55, 7 40, 8 25, 9 10, 9 55, 10 40, 11 25 a. m., 12 10, 12 55, 1 40, 2 25, 3 10, 3 55, 4 40, 5 25, 6 10, 6 55, 7 40, 8 25, 9 10, 9 55, 10 40, 11 25 p. m.

Leave Raritan at 6 15, 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 a. m., 12 15, 1 00, 1 45, 2 30, 3 15, 4 00, 4 45, 5 30, 6 15, 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 p. m.

Leave Manville at 6 20, 7 05, 7 50, 8 35, 9 20, 10 05, 10 50, 11 35 a. m., 12 20, 1 05, 1 50, 2 35, 3 20, 4 05, 4 50, 5 37, 6 20, 7 05, 7 50, 8 35, 9 20, 10 05, 10 50, 11 35 p. m.

Leave Plainfield at 6 50, 7 35, 8 20, 9 05, 10 00, 10 50, 11 35 a. m., 12 20, 1 05, 1 50, 2 35, 3 20, 4 05, 4 50, 5 37, 6 20, 7 05, 7 50, 8 35, 9 20, 10 05, 10 50, 11 35 p. m.

Leave Dunellen at 6 55, 7 40, 8 25, 9 10, 9 55, 10 40, 11 25 a. m., 12 10, 12 55, 1 40, 2 25, 3 10, 3 55, 4 40, 5 25, 6 10, 6 55, 7 40, 8 25, 9 10, 9 55, 10 40, 11 25 p. m.

Leave Bound Brook at 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 a. m., 12 15, 1 00, 1 45, 2 30, 3 15, 4 00, 4 45, 5 30, 6 15, 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 p. m.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 6 45, 7 30, 8 15, 9 00, 9 45, 10 30, 11 15 a. m., 12 00, 12 45, 1 30, 2 15, 3 00, 3 45, 4 30, 5 15, 6 00, 6 45, 7 30, 8 15, 9 00, 9 45, 10 30, 11 15 p. m.

Leave Bridgewater at 6 10, 6 55, 7 40, 8 25, 9 10, 9 55, 10 40, 11 25 a. m., 12 10, 12 55, 1 40, 2 25, 3 10, 3 55, 4 40, 5 25, 6 10, 6 55, 7 40, 8 25, 9 10, 9 55, 10 40, 11 25 p. m.

Leave Raritan at 6 15, 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 a. m., 12 15, 1 00, 1 45, 2 30, 3 15, 4 00, 4 45, 5 30, 6 15, 7 00, 7 45, 8 30, 9 15, 10 00, 10 45, 11 30 p. m.

Leave Manville at 6 20, 7 05, 7 50, 8 35, 9 20, 10 05, 10 50, 11 35 a. m., 12 20, 1 05, 1 50, 2 35, 3 20, 4 05, 4 50, 5 37, 6 20, 7 05, 7 50, 8 35, 9 20, 10 05, 10 50, 11 35 p. m.

Educational.

ELOCUTION.
Instruction in Elocution, class or private lessons. For terms, address Miss. Albert, P. O. Box 1099.

FRENCH LESSONS.
Instruction and entertainment in French conversation, class or private lessons. Parties in Plainfield, Westfield and surroundings. Terms low. From Principal Plainfield High School of Languages. Highest testimonials from parents. For terms, etc., write to Prof. L. Vidal, care of Miss Sarah E. Thurston, 17 La Grande avenue, Plainfield.

HARNED ACADEMY,
A Boarding and Day School, for Young Ladies and Children, opens Sept. 19th, 1892.
For circulars, etc., call at the Academy or address EDWARD R. HARNED, Prin. 2 80 y

MISS FAWCETT'S
Kindergarten, Primary and Intermediate School. Thorough instruction in English and French. 24 Sept. Washington avenue. Hours 9 to 3 p. m. 15 Grove street, North Plainfield.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTISON,
Teacher of piano. Gives lessons at either her own or pupil's residence. Terms moderate. Best of references. No. 148 Somerset Street.

Miscellaneous Cards.

MR. LINDSAY,
Real Estate and Insurance Office, 24 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Money to loan at 6 per cent. on first mortgage. 1 30 y

H. E. STEVENS,
Carpenter and Builder. Second street, corner of Dudley. Carpenter and jobber. Other work 4 years old. All estimates. W. O. Gardner's residence, Grandview avenue, etc. Prompt attention to all orders, residence and retail. Send postal card. Carpenter, mason, plasterer, painter, cabinet maker, turner, wood worker, and all kinds of work done by the day.

Machine Works.
FREDERICK F. CHASE,
Manufacturer of
Electrical Machinery.
Repairs, Rollers and Engines repaired. Models for inventions, brass and iron castings made to order. In all its branches. Sandstone building and painting.
201 North Avenue.
Corner Dudley street, Plainfield, N. J.
New York Office, 203 Fourth avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,
Manufacturers of
Mouldings, Sash, Blinds, Doors, etc.
Corner Madison avenue and Third street.
SCROLL SAWING, TURNING,
Also plain and ornamental glass furnished to order. 12 ly

SHELTON & SHELLEY,
Cleaning and hair cutting parlor, in basement of Park avenue hotel. Ladies' hair cutting, shampooing, etc., done in a workmanlike manner. Hot bath closet connected with the store.

PURE MILK.
Delivered to any part of the city by
JOS. DUNHENCH,
A prompt attendance to Mrs. Gilman's Private Hotel will receive special attention. 2 1y

SOME ODD STORIES.

INTERESTING INCIDENTS RELATED BY MAJOR ALFRED R. CALHOUN.

The Mystery of Robinson's Forge—How a Jealous Lover Plotted Against a Rival and Fell a Victim of His Own Machinations—An Old Settler's Story.

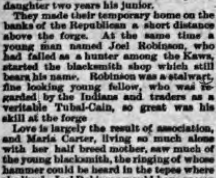
Many of the old settlers of Kansas will recall Robinson's forge, which once stood a short distance beyond the banks of the Republican. But while they can remember Twigg, Moore, Smith and others who plied the vocation of blacksmith, even the oldest inhabitant cannot remember any blacksmith by the name of Robinson.

There was, and is to this day, a ferry at Robinson's forge, beyond which there is an old hunting trail leading into Nebraska. The old log house is abandoned, and the more superstitious believe the place is haunted. The story of the forge was told me while encamped on the Republican, twenty years ago, by an old guide who was known by the simple and not uncommon name of John Smith. Here, in effect, is what John Smith said, though I will not attempt to give the story in his peculiar vernacular:

Among the St. Louis traders who came to Kansas with their families to trade with the Indians a generation ago was a well to do man named Jean Carter. His family consisted of a half breed wife, a reckless vagabond son of twenty and a pretty daughter two years his junior.

They made their temporary home on the banks of the Republican a short distance above the forge. At the same time a young man named Joel Robinson, who had failed as a hunter among the Kaws, started the blacksmith shop which still bears his name. Robinson was a stalwart, fine looking young fellow, who was regarded by the Indians and traders as a veritable Tubal-Cain, so great was his skill at the forge.

Love is largely the result of association, and Maria Carter, living so much alone with her half breed mother, saw much of the young blacksmith, the ringing of whose hammer could be heard in the tepees where she lived. Joel Robinson would have grown tired of pursuing his trade out on the lonely prairie had it not been for the hope, that grew daily stronger in his heart, of seeing this girl and being ever near her.



"MEET ME TONIGHT WHER THE MOON IS OVERHEAD."

The senior Carter was not indifferent to the growing intimacy between Robinson and his daughter. It was he who, on a former visit to the place, had built the log house in which Robinson conducted his business. One day, with a black scowl upon his brow, he entered the shop and said:

"Robinson, I am going to close this forge. I have no more use for it."

Stopping for an instant in his work, Robinson looked up and replied:

"There is more need for a forge here now than ever, and if you want this building it will only cost me to put up another."

With anger in his eyes, Carter shouted:

"It is you I want to get rid of! I warn you sir, if you value your life, to leave at once. Do you hear me?"

"I hear you," said the blacksmith, "but I have given you no reason for this threatment, and you have no control over me. I propose to leave in my own good time."

Carter left without another word, and the blacksmith went on whistling to the accompaniment of his ringing hammer.

Now it happened at the same time that a young French trader, named Louis Huger, who lived farther up the Republican, established feelings similar to those of Joel Robinson for the beautiful Maria Carter. Huger was a slender, sallow young man, for whom Mr. Carter had no particular liking, but it struck him that, by pretending to encourage the Frenchman, he could play the part of Iago and get rid of both of his daughter's undesirable admirers at once.

Jean Carter sought out Huger and told him of his dislike for Robinson and of his anxiety to be rid of him. Eager to find favor in the eyes of the man he was so anxious to have for a father-in-law, he took his hand and said:

"I hate the blacksmith as much as you do. Three days ago he ordered me out of his shop because I accused him of trying to steal the affections of your daughter."

"I don't want the wretch killed," Carter hastened to say, "but you know the Cheyennes and can get them to carry him off, I don't care where."

"I will have him carried off," hissed Huger, "and I will promise you that he will never come back."

"When can you do it?"

"At once; tonight," was the reply.

The men shook hands, and Louis Huger hurried away.

Three miles up the river was the camp of Wichita, a Cheyenne chief. In those days central Kansas was covered with buffalo. Louis Huger found the Cheyenne chief asleep in his lodge and woke him up. Speaking in the Indian language, which he knew as well as his own, Huger said:

"Wichita, you know the white blacksmith?" The chief replied:

"I do. He shod my horse that never wore shoes before, and made some arrowheads from iron that are better and sharper than stone."

"He is a traitor," hissed Huger. "He is here as a spy, and comes in the advance of thousands of white men, who are to follow and seize the land of the Cheyennes!"

The chief's eyes burned as he heard this, and reaching out his hand he said:

"Meet me tonight when the moon is overhead," and he pointed a red hand at the zenith.

That night, when the moon rose, Louis Huger saw Joel Robinson and Maria Carter talking under a cottonwood tree near the forge, but his jealousy was quenched by the thought that it would be their last meeting.

In the distance he caught a glimpse of a band of Indians, grouped by the bank of the river near Carter's house.

"Let them kiss and make love for a few hours more," said Huger, "there will be plenty of time for me."

The next morning Louis Huger was gone. Wichita, with nearly half of his Cheyenne warriors, was away; Maria Carter was missing, and near Robinson's forge was a spot of blood and the evidence of a desperate struggle.

This state of affairs soon became known in all the camps up and down the river.

It was some time before the truth came out; then it was made evident that the Cheyenne chief, for reasons best known to himself, but no doubt to satisfy an Indian's grudge, or to win favor by a deed worthy a brave, probably the same impulse that led him to help Robinson and Maria Carter to Leavenworth on the swiftest horses to be found in his tribe.

Joel Robinson made his way to St. Louis with his beautiful wife, and afterward became a rich merchant. Subsequently Carter's son was killed in a drunken brawl on the Smoky Hill, and the old man became reconciled to his son-in-law, and, strange though it seems, before his death he made a will leaving all his property to the man whose death he once deliberately planned.

The Lieutenant Colonel's Uniform.

I have promised myself, if ever I can command the time, to write out the more daring and successful of the escapes from military prisons by prisoners from the north and south during the late war, and should I do so I will certainly give the following incident a prominent place.

At this moment I cannot recall the captain's name, but still I get it I shall call him Jones. Doubtless hundreds of the survivors of Libby who delight to tell the story to their friends will set me right should they read this.

Captain Jones was among the Union officers confined in Libby during the winter of 1863-4. He was then a man of about thirty-five, and as will be seen he was wanting in neither nerve nor intelligence.

In his youth the captain had learned the tailor's trade, and he was in the clothing business in a northern town when the war broke out. In addition to being slightly wounded when captured, Captain Jones was in destitute circumstances, or at least he so pretended, which amounted to the same thing, for it enabled him to get into the prison hospital.

In some way it became known to the prison officials that Captain Jones was a superior tailor, and a lieutenant colonel called asking if he could be induced to work up some of his services, with a view, no doubt, to economy, as well as to the work.

The lieutenant colonel had come into possession of a uniform that had been constructed for a larger man, but which he was assured could be cut down and fixed up in a way that would lead the belles of Richmond to believe that he had been made at a great expenditure of Confederate money for himself.

He had brought the clothes to Captain Jones and asked him if he could and was willing to change them, and what would be the price for the work.

The captain examined the garments, took the lieutenant colonel's measure, stroked his chin thoughtfully, looked up at the low, dingy ceiling and said, Yankee fashion:

"I can work, that suit over so as to make it the dandiest uniform in Richmond. It will make you irresistible with the girls and a holy terror to Lincoln's hirelings, and the whole cost will be only $200, one half in advance, the rest when the work is finished, you to furnish thread, trimmings and so forth."

As Confederate money had depreciated by this time till it compared with gold as two hundred to one, the charge was considered reasonable. The garments were left, the needful appliances provided, and the half in advance paid over to the captain, who promised to have the uniform ready for the president's ball, a week from that time.

Although a generous man, Captain Jones did not spend that money on himself or his comrades. He had been talkative, but now he was silent, and as he piled his needle he looked like a man who was doing some mighty solid thinking.

Now and then the lieutenant colonel dropped in to see how the work was getting on, and he was a little disappointed to find that, instead of finishing each piece separately, the prisoner tailor was doing them all together, which explained the reason why the Confederate was "the only one that would insure a good fit."

When the Confederate was not present, the captain tried the clothes on himself, which was not be wondered at, as he and his employer were of about the same size. At the end of four days the work was finished. The lieutenant colonel had been in that morning and left with the assurance that the suit would be ready by noon of the next day, and he then consulted his watch, for his present uniform was very shabby—but then, so was the tailor's. Late on the afternoon of that fourth day, Captain Jones put on the uniform, and the curious ease of his face convinced his comrades that he was not doing it for fun, and they, half guessing his brilliant purpose, held their breath and kept silent.

Ten minutes after the captain had put on the uniform, which he had just finished, the guard about the prison was startled by the unusual thing he had been waiting for.

Then the captain stood up, whispered to the sentries within hearing, "God bless you, boys," then erect and without a limp he strode to the door, while the lookers on, after recovering from their amazement, hurried to the iron window.

Captain Jones opened the prison door, and as a lieutenant colonel of Confederate infantry passed out. The guard at the door came not on duty until an officer was in the hospital when the guards were changed.

In the gloaming the captain crossed to the other side of Carey street, where a lot of building soldiers stood. Then he went up the hill, where, in the gathering darkness, he was lost to the sight of his sorrowing companions back in Libby.

Once a man started to escape, and he did, reaching our lines in safety a week afterward.

The next day the lieutenant colonel called for his uniform, but it and the tailor and the $100 in advance were gone. What did he say? Well, some scenes can't be described, and that was one of them.

ALFRED R. CALHOUN.

The Guillotine of the Reign of Terror.

Under the Empire and Restoration the guillotine was permanently stationed in the Place de Greve and executed annually the criminals, and only persons. During the reign of Louis Philippe the guillotine was transferred to the Barriere St. Jacques and under the Second Empire to the Place de la Roquette, where it remains. During the Commune the old guillotine was burned by the people, and the present instrument is quite new. Sanson, who was the public executioner throughout the Reign of Terror, sold the original guillotine to Curtius for £1,000, and he in turn disposed of it for an equivalent sum to Madame Tussaud.—London Saturday Review.

A COLUMN FOR CHILDREN.

HERE THEY WILL FIND RECREATION AFTER SCHOOL STUDIES.

Interesting Items in Poetry and Prose.
The Sayings of Bright Little Ones.
Our Modern Mother Goose—Entered at History Notes.

Four little sparrows sitting on a tree,
One flew away and then there were three;
Three little sparrows playing peek-a-boo,
One tumbled off and then there were two;
Two little sparrows having lots of fun,
One got angry and then there was one;
One little sparrow laid upon the shelf,
If you want any more you can sing it yourself.

It was Father's Whippings Hurt.
We used to sneak off swimmin' in those careless, boyish days,
And come back home of evenings with our necks and backs ablaze;
How mother used to wonder why our clothes were full of sand!
But father, having been a boy, appeared to understand.
And, after tea, he'd beckon us to join him in the shed,
Where he'd proceed to tinge our backs a deeper, darker red;
Say what we will of mother's, there is none will controvert
The proposition that our father's lickings always hurt!

For mother was by nature so forgiving and so mild
That she inclined to spare the rod although she spoiled the child;
And when at last in self-defense she had to whip us, she Appeared to feel those whippings a great deal more than we!
But how we believed and took on, as if we'd like to die—
Poor mother really thought she hurt, and that's what made her cry!
Then how we youngsters snickered as out the door we slid,
For mother's whippings never hurt, though father's always did.—Eugene Field.

The Mistletoe—By a Boy.

The mistletoe is somethin' you read about. I never seen a mistletoe.

If I seen a gurl standin' under a mistletoe I wooden't kiss her. I just think there's no such thing as a gurl gettin' under a mistletoe exudentially.

I never seen a mistletoe, but I've seen lots of gurls.

I believe they get under a mistletoe on purpose to be kist.

I'd fool 'em.

Gurls likes to be kist, I gess. I feel sorry for gurls. It's too bad they hav'n't be oil boys, but the Sunday scool teacher sau they hav to be oil kinds of people in the world.

I doan't kno' much about mistletoe, but I cood rite a lot about gurls.—Detroit Tribune.

Naughty Claude.

When little Claude was naughty once,
At luncheon time and said
He'd not say "Thank you" to mamma,
She took him go to bed,
And cover up and stay two hours;
So when the clock struck two,
Then Claudeanda, "Thank you, Mr. Clock;
I'm much obliged to you."

A Youngsters Promise.

One day little May had been playing with her doll, when by accident she hit it with a stick and broke all the new dress out of it. A few days later her brother Harry was playing with a wooden sword and poking at May with it when she said only: "Oh, Harry! All the 'news dress' will come out of me if you poke at me like that."

The Sad Like a Horse.

Suppose my shoes were on my right
I couldn't get them off at night—
I might not choose,
But I could not refuse
To go to bed like a horse, in my shoes

She was Down as Sea, Anyway.

Dorothy (aged three) to her older sister—I'm so tall as you.

Marjorie—No, you're not. Stand up and see. There, you only come to my mouth.

Dorothy—Well, I don't care. I'm as tall that way; my feet go down as far as yours!

THE STORY OF A POSTAGE STAMP.

How Van Mahlke Rewarded Kindness to a Little Boy.

Some four years ago, among the letters received by the ex-Amour of Cabul at Muscoorie was one addressed to "His Majesty, King of Afghanistan," which ran nearly as follows: "Your Majesty—I am a little German boy, and am making a collection of stamps. I wish very much to procure some stamps of Your Majesty's kingdom, and shall be very much obliged if Your Majesty will send me some." The letter was made over to the English political officer in charge of the Amour, who good-naturedly answered the letter, inclosing a small collection of Cabul stamps. In due course came a reply from the little German boy: "Kind English Officer—The stamps which you so kindly sent me have arrived, and are valued by me in my collection. I showed them and your letter to a distinguished German officer, who is now staying at my father's house, and he is so pleased with the kindness of an English officer to a little German boy that he asked him to give me his photograph to send to you, which he has done, and I hope you will accept it." The letter contained a photograph, with the autograph, "Von Moltke, Field Marshal." The little German boy was the son of a well known manufacturer who had been most liberal in providing benevolent institutions for workmen in Germany, and who was the field marshal's host during the manoeuvres in the neighborhood of his property.

The Talking Doll Professed.

Young Mother (in ecstasy)—Yes, my little niece, this is your teeny weeny little baby cousin. Isn't he a darling, bless his itsy tootsy wootsies! He can talk too. Sit up, Baby, and talk to your little cousin.

Baby—Goo, goo, goo, woo, mawsy, wow, wow, goo, goo.

Little Niece (in disgust)—I've got a new doll at home 'at talks better nan either of you.

She Saw the Morse Show.

A little girl joyfully assured her mother the other day that she had found out where they made horses; she had seen a man finishing one. "He was nailing on his last foot."

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION. 1873. Membership 138,000. 1892. Death benefits paid over $20,000,000 since organization. Watsumpka Lodge, 3621, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Thursdays, at eight p.m., in "Watsumpka Lodge rooms, Hall Building. Immediate relief, $100; sick benefits per week $5. LOUIS I. VANALSTYNE, Dictator. RALPH J. ST. Reporter. Watsumpka Commandery, No. 34, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight p. m.

Hotels.

Caspar's Hotel,
24 & 26 E. Front St
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Transient and Family Boarders taken at
Reasonable † Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.
PLAINFIELD.
Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.
☞ First-class bar attached.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE.
Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and containing all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Kline's Extracts,
Pure Fruit Flavors.

LOOK at Werner's Show Windows
30 WEST FRONT STREET,
and see what you can do in $15 suits reduced to $10
Cut in Latest Styles.
FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS ONLY.
All Sizes and All Wool.
Outing Shirts and Straw Hats just receive. Clothing Made to Order. Other goods at proportionately Low Prices.

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with
LAMP AND BELL,
under penalty of $20 fine.
A large and complete assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the
Wheelmen's Headquarters,
Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.
FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

We are getting away with lots of Russet Shoes this month—now is the time to buy them.
DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S,
21 West Front street.
P. S.—Our $3 shoe never takes a back seat.

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING
WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER.
One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.
Whole Suits from $5 up.
Spring Overcoats and Cobblers Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.
C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.
70 WEST FRONT STREET.

SUN RISE, 4.29; SUN SET, 7.35.

VanEmburgh & White
INDUCEMENTS.
For 39c.
Embroidered Flouncings to-morrow 45in. wide. We have bought all there was of them, about 2,000 yards. The proper value is from 60c. to $1 per yard.
The price but 13c.
For a Children's full regular made fast black Stocking, Hermsdorf dye, worth 20c. they are.
The price but 35c.
Gentlemen, you need them these warm days, a French Ballbriggan Shirt that is worth 50 cents of any one's money.
As complete an assortment of wash fabrics, such as Gingham, Challies, Cambric, Crepe Cloth, Satteen and Bedford Cord as you find in most New York houses, and the prices and styles you will not find fault with.

EITHER
Hot Water or Steam
Heating Apparatus
furnished and set up in residences and public buildings.
J. N. SCHENCK,
40 MANNING AVENUE,
North Plainfield.
20 years' experience. Pipe fitting, machinery repairs.
Agents for the celebrated "Furnace" house heating boilers.

Do You Smoke?
The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of Meerschaum
and
Briar Wood Pipes,
Holders and Cigars can be found only at
N. H. Guttman's
Cigar store, No. 15 West Second street.

This space is reserved for
ZIMMERMANN & RUMPF,
the West Front street Hardware Dealers.

RANDOLPH'S
BEEF, IRON AND WINE,
THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!
PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
21 WEST FRONT STREET.

MR. ROBERT LUCKEY,
Firm of OF PLAINFIELD.
RICE, DUVAL & LUCKEY,
Importers and Tailors,
231 Broadway, New York.
Exclusively Fine Class Tailoring.
Moderate Prices.
☞

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.
Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of
G. H. MUSGRAVE,
27 Somerset street.
Call early and secure the best bargains.

The Usual Result.

She (wearily)—My head aches awfully. He—What have you been doing?

She—I've been trying to decide whether that bargain I got today at a bargain counter is a bargain or not.—New York Weekly.

He Worked.

"I'm disgusted with you tramps. Why don't you work?"

"I did work very hard last week."

"What doing?"

"Digging out of jail."—Philadelphia Press.

Cent-a-Word Column.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

A LADY leaving town for the Summer wishes situation for her waltzes. Address C., care of EVENING NEWS. 24-2

WHEN out of employment this is the column to look for your notice in. The people you want to reach read it.

HELP WANTED.

$75 TO $250 can be made monthly working for B. F. Johnson & Co., 2000-2004 Main Street, Richmond, Va. 24-2

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST—Yesterday, Wednesday, a small gold watch, stem winder, with gold chain and locket attached. Finder leaving same to Seaman's will receive suitable reward. 23 4

BOARDERS WANTED.

AT 19 Grant place, furnished rooms with board. Table boarders accommodated. 6 23

FOR RENT.

FURNISHED house to let, 74 Grove street. Eleven rooms, bath and all improvements. Stable on property. July 1st to October 1st. Terms moderate. Inquire on premises. 23-6

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—An 1892 cushion tire Pneumatic safety bicycle, cheap. Address "Psycho," care of EVENING NEWS. 24 2

FOR SALE—A lot on Mountain avenue. A bargain. H. D. Merrian, 9 Somerset street. 24-2

FOR sale or lease, a large building, together with the business at 61-63 Somerset street. For particulars inquire on the premises. 23-6

MISCELLANEOUS.

CARRIAGES taken on sale or storage, Ryerson, Somerset street. 21-6

OLD-FASHIONED furniture in good order, bought and sold. Call Furniture store, 21 Somerset. 5-20

SECURE your tickets for the Columbian Fair. For particulars apply at Mulford's. 5 20

WANTED—To buy—A small frame dwelling of six or seven rooms. Address "Buyer," care of EVENING NEWS. 24-3

WANTED—A second-hand saddle and bridle. Must be cheap for cash. Address "Economy," care EVENING NEWS.

WANTED to Buy—Property on or near Watchung avenue, North Plainfield. Address, stating price, etc., "R.," care of EVENING NEWS. 24 2

WANTED—$1,500 on first mortgage. Good references. Address "R.," EVENING NEWS. 23 2

Summer Resorts.

Clifton House,
BY THE SEA, PASSAQUIN, L. I.
Situated directly by that beautiful sheet of water, the GREAT SOUTH BAY, and only a few minutes sail from the OCEAN.
Boating, bathing, fishing, billiards, music and livery. Rates for guests.
W. M. JENKINS, Prop.
Now opened for guests. Grand opening Hop July 2d. 6 13 23m

THE ALBION,
EIGHTH STREET AND PARK AVENUE
Select family hotel.
Newly furnished throughout.
Special rates to permanent guests.
FRANK E. MILLER.
13 23 6m.

BOYNTON : : - - BEACH,
With Greatly Increased
Attractions,
OPENED SATURDAY,
June 18th, 1892.

A LOST BOY!
Information wanted of the whereabouts of my son, Frank, age fourteen years, who disappeared from home, May 20, 1892, and has not been heard from since.
I will feel very grateful to whoever can help me find him, and relieve the distress of mind of my wife and myself.
Randolph Marsh,
44 PLAINFIELD AVENUE.
18 6

Miss Blanche Fellows
VOCALIST
and Teacher of Singing.
Rapid development and complete education of the voice.
Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formation and tone production.
Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.
Call or address
NO. 97 DUER STREET.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Merrium, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Sidney street. Lock Box 1. Telephone Call 45. Printing of All Kinds. 15 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," SATURDAY, JUNE 25, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS.

The Weather.

For to-day, local showers, but generally fair during the day, winds shifting to westerly, cooler to-night and Sunday.

BREVITIES

—The graduates of the North Plainfield Public School went to Boynton Beach by stage this morning.

—The Parish Guild of the Holy Innocents church have realized $88 from the fair and festival that was held some few days ago.

—The reception of the Alumni of the North Plainfield Public School will be held in the school building Monday evening.

—Advice to a young lady: A raw onion chewed slowly and swallowed without much undue haste will destroy the odor of ice cream from the breath.

—There is one thing to which all agree and about which there is no division of sentiment. Each and every party wants to stay in power as long as it can.

—The first half of a man's life is spent in priding himself upon what a great man he is going to be, and the other half in thinking what a fool he used to be.

—A close observer says in an exchange that it is by getting to wait his neglect without being told, it is a sure sign that he is passing through his first love affair.

—A handsome black mustang attached to a buggy, commenced skylarking on Somerset street this morning. It kicked the harness to pieces before it could be secured.

—The ball game between the Plainfield Bicycle Club, of this city, and the Atlantas of Rahway, which was to have been played to-day at the latter place, has been cancelled.

—The following is the batting order of the Crescents at Somerville this afternoon: Hofford, c; Daley, 2b; Murphy, 1. f.; Turner, 3b.; Leidy, c. f.; Bonner, s. s.; Jones, lb.; Gallagan, r. f.; Sueeden or Knout, p.; Powers, extra.

—On the same day that the old passenger station of the Central Railroad of New Jersey at Elizabeth is vacated for the new building, the collection of years of unclaimed parcels and baggage at that station will be sold by auction to the highest bidder.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Chas. H. Theirs of Somerset street, has gone to the Adirondack mountains.

Mrs. J. L. Anthony, of Putnam avenue, has gone to Norwich, Conn., where she will spend several days.

Miss Pettis, a high school teacher, has resigned and will take charge, this Fall, of a female seminary.

Mrs. Patton of East Ninth street, will leave on July 1st, for Lorlie cottage, Fifth avenue, Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton of West Second street, started for Patchogue, L. I., this morning. They drove over in a carriage and will stay until September.

The International Hannemannian Association at its annual convention just closed at Narragansett Pier, unanimously elected Dr. Edward Rossmore of this city, president for the next year.

The Rev. H. T. Miller, of Chicago, will preach in the First Presbyterian church, to-morrow morning and evening. This is the second time Mr. Miller has occupied that pulpit since Dr. Ketcham's resignation.

Whitelaw Reid once owned and edited the Xenia, (O.) Gazette. It was he who discovered Abraham Lincoln. He secured employment on the Tribune as reporter, and became a great friend of millionaire D. O. Mills, whose daughter afterward became Mr. Reid's wife.

MR. MARSH SUSTAINED.

The Chancellor Approves of his Course and Awards him Counsel fee in the Job Male Will Case.

Ex-Gov. Bedle, Craig A. Marsh for the proponents and ex-Chancellor Runyon and R. V. Lindabury for the contestants in the Male will case, met the chancellor at his chambers in Jersey City this morning on the matter of appointing administrators of the estate and also disposing of the question of counsel fees.

The chancellor stated that he had carefully considered the matter of counsel fees and was of the opinion that counsel for the proponents had simply done their duty and were clearly entitled to reasonable fees and expenses. He decided to allow Gov. Bedle and Craig A. Marsh $1,125 each. The counsel for the heirs and next of kin, he would compensate according to their seniority. Chancellor Runyon will receive $1,500, Mr. Lindabury $1,250, and Wm. H. Sutphen, Chas. A. Reed and Foster M. Voorhees $750 each.

Ex-Chancellor Runyon and Mr. Lindabury asked for the appointment of Mr. Pope alone as administrator. Gov. Bedle and Mr. Marsh asked for the appointment of Mr. Pope and Mr. Harrison. The chancellor appointed both Mr. Pope and Mr. Harrison.

Impersonating an Officer.

Thomas Payne was arraigned before Justice Hoffman yesterday afternoon, for impersonating an officer and using insulting language. Annie Mason was the complainant. He was arrested at Cranford by Officer Mattox, and held in the sum of $600 bail, to await the action of the Grand Jury. Mrs. Conway went his bond.

Thanks to "The News."

To THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS—The watch, advertised in your columns at last, on Wednesday last, was found by Mr. G. F. Pierce of Second place and promptly returned to the Owner.

Saturday, June 25th.

ST. MARY'S SCHOOL.

FIRST ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT AT MUSIC HALL LAST EVENING.

An Interesting Programme Rendered Before a Large Audience—The Honors Conferred by the Rev. Father Smith and Stafford—The Address by the Right Rev. Dr. Seton of Jersey City.

The first annual commencement of St. Mary's school, was held in Stillman Music Hall last evening.

There was a large and appreciative audience present and the programme was well rendered.

In the boxes were the Rev. Fathers Smith and Stafford, of this city, Monseignor Seton, of St. Joseph's church, Jersey City, the Rev. Father James Smith, of Cranford, and the friends of the pupils.

The orchestra music, under the leadership of Prof. Guttman, was excellent.

Part first of the programme was well rendered, the chorus and double quartette especially, being loudly applauded.

In part second, the "Tambourine drill" by several little girls, was superbly arranged. The young ladies went through the drill admirably.

Master Connelly's solo, "Wrecked and Saved," was very vividly rendered, with the aid of stage thunder and lightning.

In the drama, "Dottie's Dream," the girls' performance showed careful training.

Following this came the song, "Our Gallant Boys in Blue," by St. Mary's Cadets, after which a military drill was presented, accompanied by the Cadet Drum and Fife Corps. The cadets' drill showed that the work of Colonel Parker had not been in vain.

In part third the vocal duet, entitled "Sweet Pleasure on the Water," rendered by the Misses J. Shaffer and Julia Day was excellent.

The Rev. Father Smyth, assisted by Father Stafford, then conferred the honors on the fortunate pupils.

Diploma and laurel wreath Miss KATE QUINN and Miss ELLEN DAY.

Senior Class, Grammar Department, gold medals for arithmetic, Miss JULIA DAY; for composition, Miss KATIE QUINN.

First preparatory class—For proficiency Miss Annie Roth; for composition, Miss ROSA PERLMAN; for arithmetic, FREDERICK HOOMES.

Second Preparatory Department—For proficiency, GRACIAN KUHN; for composition, DAVID SHERMAN; for arithmetic, MISS MAGGIE KUHN.

Third Preparatory Department—For proficiency, Miss MAMIE GORP; for composition, Miss LENA WEBER; for arithmetic, Miss MARY LYNCH.

Fourth Preparatory Department—For proficiency, Miss MARY DALY; for composition, PATRICK GETNER; for arithmetic, RICHARD SCOTT.

Misses ANNA ROTH, FRANCES MOORE and MARY DALY received crowns for punctuality and attendance during the year.

Miss ANN QUINN received the prize for correct deportment.

The balance of the prizes will be distributed next Sunday afternoon at the Sunday school.

The valedictorian, Miss Katie Quinn, announced as her subject, "The End Crowns the Work." The young lady gave a short history of the building of the school and her essay showed careful preparation.

The Rev. Father Smyth, after thanking the audience, and complimenting the pupils on their kind attention, introduced the Right Rev. Dr. Seton of Jersey City.

The reverend gentleman said that he could only repeat the Rev. Father Smyth's words of thanks for the presence of the audience proved their interest in the work.

The speaker then went on to show the education was the most important thing in the world. But that it interferes with religion, in addition to a part and parcel of education, is a part and parcel of atheism.

Returning to the Catholics, the gentleman said that it was erroneous to say that they waged war on the public schools. They do not interfere with them in the least.

The name of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, Maryland, was loudly applauded. Dr. Seton said that Mr. Carroll, who was the last signer of the Declaration of Independence, and who died in the arms of an aunt of his, was compelled to go to France for his education, as there was no Catholic institution in this country.

Thank God, said the speaker, we do not live in those days.

Dr. Seton spoke in the highest terms of the Rev. Father Smith, saying that much of the credit was due that gentleman for the prosperity of the beautiful parish school.

The speaker referring to the objections to the Catholic religion, said that the principal one was that many illiterate and ignorant people came here from the old country and they lead to crime. This, he said, was principally due to the Italian government which is not at present in harmony with the Catholic church, and which is largely responsible for the ignorance of its lower class.

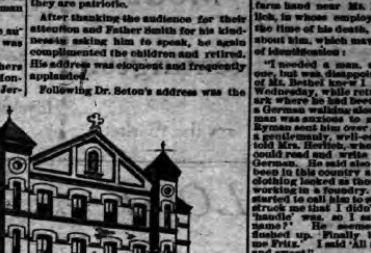
The speaker said that Americans will find warm friends in the Catholics, as they are patriotic.

After thanking the audience for their attention and Father Smith for his kindness in asking him to speak, he again complimented the children and retired.

His address was eloquent and frequently applauded.

Following Dr. Seton's address was the song "Sweet Angelus was Singing," with a beautiful tableaux illustrating "The Angelus."

The complete programme was as follows:



ST. MARY'S SCHOOL.

PROGRAMME.

PART FIRST.

Overture—"Plantation Echoes." ..... Orchestra

Chorus—"Columbia's Flag is Waving o'er a Welcome to All." ..... E. de Barry

Drama—"A Legend of the Rainbow."

DRAMATIS PERSONÆ.

Spirit of Sunshine ..... Miss L. Weber
Spirit of Earth ..... Miss M. Smith
Ruber ..... Miss F. Moore
Crocous ..... Miss M. Ryan
Lutous ..... Miss N. Drake
Coeruleus ..... Miss A. O'Keefe
Viridis ..... Miss N. Goff
Indicus ..... Miss E. Day
Violæ ..... Miss L. Quinn
Sunbeams ..... Miss A. Smith and Miss M. M'Donald.

Double Quartette—"Tho' the Last Glimpse of Erin." ..... The Misses Masters, Connelly, Sheehan, Daley, T. Connelly, Misses J. Schaffer J. Day, T. Scully, E. Day.

Tableau—"Rainbow."

PART SECOND.

Piano Trio—"Danse d'un Hanneton." ..... Holst

Misses E. Kelley, A. Roth, K. Carty.

Concert Recitation—"Death of King Conor Mac Nessa." ..... Sullivan

Master Thomas Connelly.

Vocal Solo—"Wrecked and Saved." ..... Visconti

Master Thomas Connelly.

Drama—"Dottie's Dream." ..... Mercedes

DRAMATIS PERSONÆ.

Nan ..... Miss M. Lynch
May ..... Miss A. Daley
Libbie ..... Miss E. Day
Eva ..... Miss E. O'Keefe
Cora ..... Miss S. Rogers
Nellie ..... Miss C. Newman
Dottie ..... Miss K. Roach
Grace ..... Miss S. Goff
Florrie ..... Miss K. Harding

FAIRIES.

Queen Mab ..... Miss S. Illsley
Gentle Voice ..... Miss L. Hughes
Kind Eye ..... Miss M. Burke
Ready Hand ..... Miss E. Guinee
Loving Heart ..... Miss S. McGinley
Happy Smile ..... Miss M. Hanning
Silver Tongue ..... Miss E. Walsh

Song ..... "Our Gallant Boys in Blue." St. Mary's Cadets.

Military drill, under the auspices of St. Mary's Cadets. Accompanied by Cadet Drum and Fife Corps.

PART THIRD.

Vocal Duet—"Sweet Pleasures on the Water." ..... Visconti Misses J. Shaffer and J. Day.

CONFERRING OF HONORS.

Valedictory ..... "The End Crowns the Work." ..... Miss Katie Quinn

Address ..... Rt. Rev. Dr. Seton

Tableaux and Song—"Sweet the Angelus was Singing." ..... Operti Miss J. Schaffer.

Orchestra—"My Lizel."

VALEDICTORY.

Why stands this solemn city our heart?
Why feels the solemn air of this day?
What is the meaning of this throng?
Where we gathered to be glad and gay?

Nay; cannot our hearts be from the old school bell
Its music to us never more shall tell?
Its voice to us never more shall call
Of hours to be spent in study all?

Our school day work is now complete;
We leave this dear old school to-day.
Before us stretch the years we know not!

Our tasks, our play, and pastime to-day
Shall be remembered when in years to come
Memorials shall, in thought and fond,
Bring us to places of our early home.

Alone I stand, and sad and cold;
My heart is full, and tears unbidden fall;
It is the story often told,
Of loved ones and of friends parted down.

To teachers and to parents kind,
We bid a fond, a last adieu;
May we forever mindful be
The lofty wisdom learned from you.

The use of school days we must prove;
Their lessons we must ever keep;
Their memories we must ever love,
Or else we shall not reap.

Farewell to the school, dear dear old friend,
How sweet the memories are to me!
With happiness, loving friend to me!
My heart is sad to part with thee!

—Julia E. Day.

AN AWFUL EXPERIENCE

THE STRANGE ACTIONS OF THE MAN WHO DROPPED DEAD.

A Farm Hand Who Could Read and Write French and German—Did Not Want His Name Known—Was the Intense Heat the Only Cause of Death?

Very brief mention was made in THE NEWS Thursday of the sudden death of a farm hand near Mt. Bethel, named Herlich, in whose employ the man was at the time of his death, tells the following about him, which may prove the means of identification:

"I noticed the man, and had expected out, but was disappointed. Mr. Thomas of Mt. Bethel knew I needed help, and knowing Herlich was looking for work, sent word he had been selling hay, met a German walking along the road. The man was out of work, and Mr. and Mr. Ryman sent him over to me. He seemed a gentlemanly, well-educated man, and told him I wanted to get help that could read and write both French and German. He said also that he had only been in this country a few months. His clothing looked as though he had been working in a factory. A peculiar thing I started to call him to supper, and then it struck me that I didn't know what his name was, so I asked, 'What is your name?' He seemed confused and flushed up. 'Finally he said 'Just call me Felix.' I said 'All right!' That's short and sweet!'

"He went cheerfully at the work laid out for him Friday, and Friday night asked for, and got, some coffee and bread. He complained of being sick, and around until about ten o'clock. When I was going out at noon he was sitting under a tree with his head on his arms.

"Later he got up, staggered into the house and almost fell on the stove; then wandered out and fell among some bushes. In a little while he arose, and still tottering came toward the house. My wife was frightened by his strange actions, and as he came in one door she went out of the other, and ran toward the field to call me.

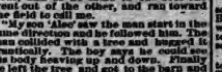
"It was then 4 o'clock he came in supper time and he followed him. The man collided with a tree and bugged it frantically. The boy says he could see his body heave up and down. Finally he left the tree and got to the barn and leaned against it. The boy still followed, and then took new boys. Then a paroxysm seemed to seize him and he ran wildly, with outstretched arms, crashing through picket, raspberry and fence, and on to the back of the house. There I found him after I came in. He fell on his back, turned him over. He was unconscious, and frothing at the mouth. I saw the end was near. I ran to the house and put 'Alec' on a horse and sent him on a gallop toward Mt. Bethel, about two miles away. Then I got a pail of water and my daughter down the road, the other way, thinking she might meet a doctor. She met Dr. Apgar and sent him on before the poor fellow was dead.

"Dr. Riglo came to the house at about eight o'clock Saturday, and his opinion that the man died from 'effects of the heat.'

"A letter, containing a valuation, was found on deceased, addressed to Hermann Hoffers & Co., Hoboken. It appears that he had a sweet-heart in Central Morichez, L. I., named Lizzie Lowmuller. It was thought that she had friends in Bound Brook, Jersey City.

"Mortification set in and immediately after death, and the funeral took place on Monday last. Interment was made at Mt. Bethel, Friday noon.

"Mrs. Herlich has been made almost ill from the effects of the fright she received."



[Notice of religious services are published under this head free of charge, but it is necessary that they be received by noon of Saturday to insure insertion the same day.]

The usual services will be held at the Mt. Pleasant school house to-morrow evening.

The workers' training classes will meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms to-morrow at 3.15 p. m.

Mr. Lozenby will hold the Gospel service at the East Front street Sunday. All are welcome.

An interesting meeting may be expected at the Mt. Pleasant school house to-morrow evening.

Services at the church of the Heavenly Rest, Clinton avenue, Evoss, at eleven o'clock a. m. Sunday.

Park Place Chapel. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m. Evening service at 7.45 p. m. Rev. Mr. Lozenby, D. D., will preach.

Church of the Holy Innocents (Episcopal, Dunellen). Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m. Church service and 4.30 p. m. Sunday-school.

The Sometarian Bible class will meet as usual to-morrow at 3.45 p. m. in the Park avenue church. A full attendance is desired.

Monroe Avenue Chapel. Class meeting at nine a. m. Sunday-school at the usual hour. Preaching at eight p. m. by Mr. J. R. Goodier.

Services in the German church will be held to-morrow at 10.30 a. m. only. Wednesday at eight o'clock p. m. Sunday-school at 9.15 a. m.

General conference meetings of the Women's Congregational Aid Society every Wednesday afternoon from 3 o'clock a. m., and 4.15 p. m. All are welcome.

Services in St. Joseph's church to-morrow will be as follows: Mass at eight and high mass at 10.30 a. m. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m. Vespers at eight p. m.

All Souls' church, Park avenue. Usual services at 10.30 a. m. The pastor, Rev. Robert Clarke, will preach. All seats are free. Sunday-school at 11.45 a. m.

Sometarians are invited to Park avenue church to-morrow at 3.45 p. m. Special Preliminary to-morrow at 3.45 p. m. by Prof. G. R. Sometar of Boston.

Services in Second Reformed church, Fourth avenue, will be preached at 10.30 a. m. Sunday-school at three p. m. Rev. Mr. Wortendyke will preach. Evening at 7.45.

Warren Union Meeting. Sunday-school at 2.30, service of song at 7.45. Devotional service at eight o'clock. Christian Endeavor meeting at 8.30 o'clock. Preaching at eleven o'clock.

Crescent avenue church, Rev. W. R. Richardson, pastor. Sunday-school at 12.30 a. m., and 2 p. m. Sunday-school at 9.30 a. m. All seats free at the crescent avenue.

Congregational church, West Seventh street. Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Sunday-school at close of morning service. Evening service at 7.30.

Rev. E. C. Peace will speak at the Memorial church, Washingtonville, Sunday evening at 7.45, on "Wesley, Methodism and Blessings." A good meeting is expected.

There will be the usual W. C. T. U. meeting at the Crescent, building to-morrow at nine a. m., and four p. m. A praise service will be held this evening at eight o'clock.

Services at St. Mary's church. Early masses at 7.30 a. m. Second mass at 10.30. Third mass at 5.45. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m., and evening service at eight o'clock.

Park avenue Baptist church. Sunday-school at 9.30 a. m. Preaching at 10.45 a. m. by Rev. J. Oliver Brown of Brooklyn. The choir will be assisted by Miss Tillman of Norristown, Pa.

Church of our Saviour, Netherwood Road. Rev. Rupert Hoyt, rector. Holy communion at 7.30 a. m. Morning prayer, litany and sermon at 11 a. m. Sunday-school at 2.45 p. m. Evening prayer at 4.30.

First Church of Christ—Preaching at 10.30, Lord's supper at 11.45. Sunday-school at three p. m. Preaching at 7.30 p. m. Ladies' meeting Meeting Wednesday at three p. m. All are welcome.

Services will be held as follows in the Trinity Reformed church to-morrow: Sabbath-school will meet at 9.15 a. m. At 10.30 a. m., and 7.45 p. m. Rev. A. F. Todd will preach. All are welcome.

The services in Hope chapel will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Lozenby at 10.30 a. m. Sunday-school at three p. m. Children's service and service of song at 7.45 p. m. All are welcome to the free seats.

Services will be conducted in Italian to-morrow at three p. m. by Rev. Antonio Arrigoni of New York. Holy communion, corner Ninth street. Christian workers please extend notice among Italians.

The church of the Holy Cross, the Rev. T. Logan Murphy rector. Celebration of the Holy Communion at eight a. m. Sunday-school at 9.45 a. m. Morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m. Evening song at 4 p. m.

Mr. Charles Brown will conduct the meeting to be held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms to-morrow afternoon at 4.15. A special invitation is extended to the men of our city to be present on this occasion.

Methodist Episcopal church. Sunday-school at 10 a. m. The pastor, Rev. Chas. B. Mitchell will preach at 11 a. m. Epworth League at seven p. m. The pastor will preach at 7.45 on "Sabbath Desecration."

Grace church, Rev. E. M. Hartman, rector. June 19th, '92. 3d Sunday after Trinity. Holy communion at 8 a. m. Second communion at 7.30 a. m. Morning prayer, litany and sermon at 10.30 a. m. Sunday-school at 9.15 a. m. Evening service at 7.45 p. m.

The church of the Holy Cross, the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, rector. Sunday-school at 9.45 a. m. Morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m. Evening song at five p. m.

Services in the First Presbyterian church on Sunday as follows: Sunday-school at 9.30 a. m.; preaching at 11 a. m., and 7.45 p. m. by Rev. Jesse Hurlbut of Chicago. Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor at seven p. m. in the chapel.

The Temple Builders Society of the First Baptist church, a missionary society of young men, will hold a meeting in the church, will hold a public meeting in place of the regular Sunday evening meeting. Members of the society will take part in the exercises. All, especially men, are invited to attend at 7.45 p. m.

First Baptist church, 10.30 a. m., special sermon of prayer; 10.30 p. m., sermon by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, 7.45 p. m., sermon by Rev. Dr. Lorimer, Bible school at 2.30 p. m., the Sunday-school and young men's Bible classes meet; Wednesday, prayer meeting at 7.45 p. m.; Friday, 7.45 p. m., prayer meeting of the Young People's League, both meetings at eight p. m. Strangers and all others cordially welcome.

Against the Trolley.

We have received from some of our readers a marked copy of the Journal of Commerce of last Monday containing a column article denouncing the Trolley, from which we make the following extracts which we find underscored:

"We cannot help but hear the appeals that come to us from citizens who oppose the trolley.

"We have not any very great sympathy for those who are just waking up to the necessity of protecting the lives of mind is threatened by some new project that brings the peril home to them.

"Not long ago in the United States where the trolley has been introduced to which is to not denounced most forcibly by the people who live along the line.

"On the first day the trolley line in Boston had its official opening, [illegible] persons were injured [illegible] 20; other accidents followed [illegible] people were killed and injured. From the operation of that one line last year. The official report for the first five and a half months of 1892 is not yet at hand, but we have been told it will show a still greater proportion of killed and injured. Boston has a population of about 450,000, and the number of persons killed and injured per year. There are over 300 daily awaiting to [illegible] Boston for the privilege of being killed or injured by the trolley cars. We think that these portions of the carriage made by the company for the purpose of protecting the occupants from injury will be found by the courts to be wholly inadequate.

"But after all the greatest objections to the electric system will not be found in the danger to life and limb, but in the fact that it will destroy the value of horses and their native power. It may be said to invest money in horses for the purpose of keeping up the electric cars, but it will destroy the value of these vehicles, so that fewer people will be run over and so many horses killed. The money that is now invested in horses cannot pay that investment. The money that is now invested in horses cannot pay that investment. The money that is now invested in horses cannot pay that investment

EDITORIAL NOTES

An Englishman who visited America says that the signs "push" on one side of our office doors and "pull" on the other are illustrative of American life and character. All is push and pull. So it is, especially the pull.

Man has lost in nervous sensitiveness through civilization, and it is questionable whether his gain in other directions makes up for his loss in this. Even the pig in a field can now detect when a storm is coming and prepare for it better than man by his unaided senses can. Before the clouds pour down there is diminished pressure of the atmosphere for several hours. The clouds could not pour if the thinned air did not let them. The pig, by the sensitive nerves in his snout, by the feeling all over his rough, angainly body, can perceive the diminished pressure of air upon him. Through the instinct gained by centuries and ages of the swine race before him, he knows that a storm is coming and prepares for it accordingly. The same fact is true of other animals in the fields and of birds. But man has denaturalized himself so long through his civilization that he cannot now tell by his nervous sensations when a storm is at hand. Rheumatic and neuralgic joints give him twinges, to be sure, and his civilized corns ache, and that is one way he knows sometimes when it is going to rain, but on the whole he would rather not know it at all than through that kind of nervous sensation.

To Have Clean Streets.

It is a very simple problem, whether you live in a village or in a city of 3,000,000 inhabitants. Look at the logic: First, streets are made filthy by what falls or is thrown into them, whether the same be old shoes, tomato cans, sweepings or papers. Do not throw anything into the streets and they will never become filthy. See?

The soiling of streets from the necessary wear and tear of trade and hauling is comparatively small. The city authorities could take care of that without great trouble or expense. But it is the things that are thrown into the streets by private citizens that are the burden of grievance—rags, sweepings, orange and banana peels and papers.

But most of all, papers. Whoever observes the eddying air currents on a windy day and gets his eyes full of dust for his pains will see that half the uncleanness of the public highway is caused by flying and dirty papers, brown grocery papers, pink drug store papers, old newspapers, envelopes, etc. If everybody will at once and forever stop throwing paper, even a scrap of it, into the streets, they will at least be two-thirds cleaner than they are now. Follow the same line with every other kind of unsightly trash and see how decent your highways will be.

Southern California.

What the fertile plains of Lombardy were centuries ago to the northern barbarians who descended upon them south ern California appears to be. It is indeed far more fertile and beautiful than those same plains of Lombardy are to-day, for its extraordinary fertility is maintained by irrigation, while in ancient Lombardy the woods have been cut away, the brooks and rivers are in consequence dry much of the year and the once teeming lands parch brown and barren every summer.

A writer in the Chicago Tribune, who may or may not be the secret agent of some enticing land company, reminds us that Holland, which has less arable land than southern California, yet supports 4,000,000 people. When the resources of southern California are fully developed they will maintain more inhabitants than the whole of Holland does, according to our writer. This wonderful region grows no less than eighty different kinds of fruits, vegetables and grains. The orange season lasts five months in the year, and during the busy part of it an average of 225 carloads of oranges per week is shipped, making three oranges apiece to every inhabitant of the United States. Moreover, the orange producing capacity of the land is not nearly developed yet. The sweetest orange that grows is that from Florida. The California product is slightly sourer.

Besides growing every kind of semi-tropical fruit known, and vegetables for [illegible] east and to the neighboring states, this happy region is also rich in minerals of a dozen kinds, it beats the world on honey and poultry and it is equal to any other place known for live stock in general. The climate—well, we have heard so much about the southern California climate that we would rather not hear it mentioned any more. We all intend to take a trip thither and test it for ourselves some day. People seem to live almost forever, and no wonder, for life actually appears to be a genuine pleasure, and the right to it less tollsomely won than elsewhere. The Tribune correspondent saw one old fellow who was undoubtedly 130 years old. It is a cheap place to live, but not so very cheap a region in which to buy property. There is much undeveloped land still, but if you want to purchase a good orange grove and settle down on your income you must pay $1,000 an acre for it. Still, it is to be remembered that twelve acres of orange grove will afford a handsome living.

THE POLITICAL WORLD.

Richard Croker Pledges the Support of Tammany.

JUDGE GRESHAM FOR PRESIDENT.

The People's Party Is Ready to Run Him If He Will Only Accept the Honor—He Says That He Is to Poor to Run for the Office.

CH.-GO, June 25.—Richard Croker was asked if he was leaving the city what he thought about Mr. Stevenson, and replied: "Well, we like a man that is a Democrat. When he was in office he believed in having the Republicans out, and if he had had his way a Democratic postmaster would have been in every office in the United States. He did everything he could to assist us in getting Postmaster Pearson, of New York, removed, and it was not his fault that a Democrat did not get the place."

"What about Tammany?"

"We will return home and give the ticket a hearty support. We were for Mr. Hill, and we will give the nominee of this convention the same support we gave Senator Hill. We do not do anything half hearted. If we are for a man we are for him. That is the way we do business."

"We Are Democrats."

"It is intimated, Mr. Croker, that there is some possibility that Tammany Hall will knife Mr. Cleveland. Is this true?"

"The only thing that will keep Tammany from supporting the ticket is just such suspicions as that. We are Democrats, and a reflection of doubt as to our loyalty might have a tendency to drive away some of our people." In reference to the tariff plank he said: "It is better to come out clearly and state the position of the party on that issue than to have adopted a straddle plank like the one reported by the committee. I am well enough satisfied to go into the campaign with a square understanding as to the position of our party on that leading issue.

To Notify the Nominee.

The committee appointed by the Democratic national convention to notify the nominees of their selection has appointed July 17 as the date on which the candidates will be notified. Congressman W. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, has been made chairman of the committee. He says the committee will visit Mr. Cleveland either at his summer villa at Buzzard's Bay, or perhaps in New York city, and formally notify him of his nomination. Then the committee will go at once to General Stevenson's home in Bloomington, Ills., and convey the information of his selection as vice president to him.

Senator Gorman said the national committee would meet in New York some time between July 30 and 25 to prepare for the campaign. He had heard, he said, that Mr. Harrity, of Pennsylvania, would be a candidate for the chairmanship. Mr. Quincy, of Massachusetts, had also been talked of from another source. It was learned that Mr. Harrity would not accept the place.

Stevenson Opens the Campaign.

General Adlai E. Stevenson, candidate for vice president of the United States, opened the campaign in parlor "O," of the Palmer House this morning. A great many visitors called in the forenoon. To a United Press representative General Stevenson said: "I believe we can carry Illinois for the Democratic ticket this fall. I don't say so because I am on the ticket with Cleveland and Gray or Cleveland and Boies, we could do it. The people are ready for a change and they want to see a return to a government by the people—the old Jeffersonian Democracy. Theoretically the campaign is already opened, but practically I don't think it will begin before September."

General Stevenson was in receipt of so many congratulatory telegrams that he found it impossible to reply to all of them. He accordingly expressed a desire that the following should be taken as his reply to all his well wishers: "I wish to express my thanks to all these kindly greetings and I express them through the press, because it would be impossible from a physical standpoint to acknowledge every one personally."

Gresham Is Too Poor, He Says.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 25.—In connection with the People's party move to induce Judge Gresham to accept the Omaha nomination, Judge Gresham is quoted as saying: "I am hourly expecting news from the old farm that my brother is dead, and that his family, with an aged mother, are left dependent upon me. My home has a mortgage for purchase money; my vital energy is impaired, the result of two wounds I received in the war. I am physically unequal to make the campaign.

"More than that, it would mean another mortgage. That is a man of my age and these claims upon the comforts of life, with the exception of your subtreasury scheme, which to me is visionary and unpractical, there is no difference, unless it be that many entertain a stronger hope than I do that we are to escape a bloody revolution before the plutocracy of wealth surrenders its hold."

Ex-Mayor Kirk Talks.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 25.—Ex-Mayor William B. Kirk, of this city, treasurer of the regular Democratic state committee, has returned home from Chicago. He says the Chicago people did all they could to make it unpleasant for the regular Democratic state delegation from New York. "Yes," said he, "in the face of [illegible] Tammany was represented [illegible] support the ticket. Tammany Hall has a leader in Mr. Croker who is a good Democrat, and he will give us a large majority in New York city. Now that Cleveland is nominated we will take off our coats and the regular organization will fight the battle for the supremacy over the Republicans. As to Senator Hill, he was before the convention as a great leader of the state, and his reception at Chicago made him many friends. He will stand in the front ranks of Democracy long after his opponents have retired."

Sewall to Succeed Clarkson.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Talk about the reorganization of the Republican national committee in Washington next week anticipates much of the time of leading Republicans here. Several persons have been talked of for the chairmanship, among the number being ex-Senator Sewall, of New Jersey; Hamilton Disston, of Philadelphia, and Chris Magee, of Pittsburg. The indications are that the latter will be honored to ex-Senator Sewall, who is a personal friend of the president.

Ex-Senator Sewall's Views.

CAMDEN, N. J., June 25.—Ex-Senator Sewall says: "The platform adopted at Chicago, particularly that section of it referring to the tariff, gives great encouragement to New Jersey Republicans. They do not believe that the great mass of voters in New Jersey who depend upon the employment given them by the manufacturing interests of the state for their livelihood will be likely to vote for Mr. Cleveland or a platform that denounces Republican protection as a fraud and declares for a tariff for revenue only."

Senator Quay's Opinion.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Senator Quay says: "The nominations of Mr. Cleveland, in connection with the free trade plank in the Democratic platform, will largely increase the Republican majority in Pennsylvania and in the electoral college. It is my belief that the Republican electoral tickets will prevail in all the states carried by the Republican party in 1888, in all the states admitted since 1888, and in the states of Connecticut and West Virginia."

Buffalo Democrats Ratify.

BUFFALO, June 25.—The Cleveland Democracy returned last night from Chicago. They were met at the Union depot by several brass bands and marching clubs and escorted to the Cleveland Democracy headquarters, where Congressman Dan Lockwood opened the campaign with an interesting address. A picture of Cleveland of large dimensions, illuminated by calcium lights, was saluted and lustily cheered.

Interesting Kansas Fight.

TOPEKA, June 25.—The nomination of Governor Lyman U. Humphrey by the Republicans, and Thomas J. Hudson by the People's party, as candidates for congress in the Third district, inaugurates one of the most interesting contests for a seat in congress that this state has known. Humphrey is the strongest man the Republicans had in the district, and Hudson will poll the full strength of both opposition parties.

Will Gresham Accept?

ST. LOUIS, June 25.—Mr. H. R. Tanbeneck, chairman of the national executive committee of the People's party, when asked if Judge Gresham would accept the nomination of the friends of his party, said that he had as yet no positive assurances.

Continuing, Mr. Tanbeneck said: "With him as our leader, Harrison or Cleveland could not carry a state west of the Mississippi river."

No Agreement with Indiana.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., June 25.—Senator Voorhees denies the existence of any agreement with the representative of Mr. Cleveland, by which the vote of the Indiana delegation was made solid for Cleveland with the understanding that the Cleveland influence was to be exerted to secure the nomination of ex-Governor Gray for the second place.

Cleveland Thanks Whitney.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Following is a dispatch Mr. Cleveland sent to ex-Secretary Whitney: "I must say to you, and through you to those who have acted with you, that I have a grateful appreciation of the efforts made in my behalf, and that my admiration is unbounded for the prudence, sagacity and generalship of my friends in Chicago."

Lydia Yeamans Founds Morrissey.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Lydia Yeamans, the actress, was arrested after pulverizing Manager James Morrissey with an umbrella, cutting his face. She says Morrissey called her bad names.

New York State Canal Mileage.

ALBANY, June 25.—As compared with last year's mileage on the canals of the state for seven days since 1891, 152,405, 1892, 155,411 Total tons, 1891, 142,972; 1892, 128,378.

FASHIONS.

SUMMER MILLINERY.

Attractive Things in Paris, London and New York Styles.

Decidedly a woman should be on good terms with her bonnet or hat. If she makes a good choice she may go through the season at ease with herself, at peace with the world; and the shape of the hats furnished by present fashions make this possible. French bonnets are close and small and the shape of the head is rather closely followed, except that an aspiring osprey or other trimming rises buoyantly from the crown.

A charming floral bonnet (flowers being more than ever in vogue) is made up of a double garland of heliotrope blossom, mingled with its own small leaves, resting lightly against a crown of loosely plaited pink straw. The ferrule fashion of a full of black lace depending from the brim, and softening the wreath of pink roses beneath it, suits many faces, and so do the pretty hat bonnets, formed of two of the green stocks of flowers, and have the flowers massed around the edge of the brim. These last are generally of the garden party wear. The little forget-me-not pansies, with a natural butterfly or two here and there, are very sweet; or any tiny blossoms on these unique confections are of the best. Any quantity of short and shaded ribbon and point de Venise is being used for black hats and bonnets.

THE GAINSBOROUGH HAT.

As to hats, they are what fancy dictates —large or small, bent or plain, just what suits the face and the taste of the individual wearer. Brims that are crinkled in and making give charming effects of light and shade about a pretty face.

Among the large picturesque hats of the season which form a distinct and characteristic style is the English Gainsborough here depicted. This handsome hat is in fine white chip; little rolls of silk cord form the entrance brim; plumes of white ostrich feathers and a full and handsome bow of white crepe, dotted with gold suits, foil of the same gauze carried around the hat, complete it.

A dainty little summer hat is made of fancy cream straw, which hails from the sunny province of Italy, trimmed with white ostrich plumes and white edged ribbon, small yellow pins securing the bow of white ribbon; one single white feather falls softly over the back hair.

STANLEY ON THE STUMP

The Explorer's Lively Campaign in Darkest England.

THREE THOUSAND IRISHMEN FIGHT

Another Hostile Meeting Between Parnellites and McCarthyites in Which 130 Men Are Badly Hurt—Dozens Be More Arrested for Killing His Adversary.

LONDON, June 25.—Henry M. Stanley's first effort to capture the suffrages of the costermongers in North Lambeth was a failure. From the beginning to the end of the indoor meeting, which he proposed to address last evening, confusion reigned supreme. The rough and ready element had complete control of the meeting, and despite the presence of Mrs. Stanley did not hesitate to insult and abuse the speaker. Mr. Stanley's appearance on the platform was the signal for shuffling and suppressed grossing. When he was introduced there was a roar of laughter mingled with yells. For the first ten minutes he was able to make himself heard, although he was interrupted constantly with coarse remarks. For a short time Mr. Stanley maintained his complacency, then he became embarrassed and showed symptoms of losing his temper. The disturbance increased with Mr. Stanley's confusion, until nothing could be heard except the hooting and taunting. Mr. Stanley stopped talking and glared fiercely at the mob.

Mrs. Stanley Wept.

Mrs. Stanley burst into tears and then sank into her chair. Her evident distress evidently had considerable effect upon the shouters, and they began to calm down. Before Mr. Stanley could resume his speech she sprang to her feet and cried: "Women all of you and I are dead and forgotten the name of Stanley will live, revered and honored."

Her words were followed by a burst of laughter and cries of "Shame!" The police ejected four men and constables were stationed around the hall. When order was partly restored Mr. Stanley resumed his address. The vote of confidence was barely carried and the meeting closed in an uproar.

Joe Chamberlain Nearly Mobbed.

LONDON, June 25.—Joseph Chamberlain tried to address a meeting at Coventry on the questions of the campaign. The meeting was disorderly beyond all precedent and several times was on the verge of riot. Mr. Chamberlain had uttered but a few sentences when the Radicals, who had packed the back part of the hall, began to hoot and jeer and several fights were started. The constables ejected seven men amid great confusion and Mr. Chamberlain proceeded. When he began speaking of his friendship for the laboring men pandemonium again broke loose and five more were thrown out by the police. After two more similar interruptions Mr. Chamberlain left the platform and was assisted, half fainting, to a carriage.

Balfour Claims Everything.

LONDON, June 25.—Mr. Balfour's election address is out. It claims practically everything in sight. It calls for warm and ungrudging indorsement of the government's policy at home and abroad, denounces home rule and Mr. Gladstone's attitude toward that question, and promises many labor reforms, mostly nonsense. Mr. Balfour says: "Through six eventful years the Unionist party has stood between the people and the manifold injustice, danger and misery of any scheme of home rule. The characters of Irish politicians and their objects, in view of their criminality and their methods, are matters of common knowledge, and to these men Mr. Gladstone proposes to hand the helpless minority."

De Morès Under Arrest.

PARIS, June 25.—The Marquis de Morès has been arrested for causing the death of Captain Mayer. He took his arrest calmly, saying it was all in the day's work. He is satisfied it is all that he had done and had a clear conscience.

Three Thousand Irishmen Fight.

DUBLIN, June 25.—A meeting of anti-Parnellites was held in the town hall in Limerick. Francis A. O'Keefe, anti-Parnellite member of parliament for the city of Limerick, was the speaker. When Mr. O'Keefe arrived before the hall he found several hundred Parnellites in front of the door. He tried in vain to enter, but they were driven back amid a storm of stones and mud. The hooting was the first announcement of trouble received by the crowd in the hall, but within ten minutes after it was over in the street and every man in a hand to hand fight with the Parnellites. The doors of the hall were knocked to pieces to supply weapons. Chairs were brought down from the platform and were used for fighting against the clubs of the Parnellites. When 130 extra police arrived the crowd in the street had dwindled to 3,000. The constables clubbed the rioters without mercy and in fifteen minutes restored order. About 130 men were hurt seriously in the fight, but nobody was injured mortally. The anti-Parnellites returned to the hall, accompanied by Mr. O'Keefe and his party, and held their meeting.

Harvard Seniors' Class Day.

BOSTON, June 25.—The Harvard seniors were blessed with fair weather for their class day exercises. The especially notable feature and innovation of '92's class day was the wearing of the cap and gown by the seniors. Hugh McKennan Landon, the orator of the day, delivered an eloquent address. The poem was by Robert Morss Lovett. Alexander M. White, of Brooklyn, was the ivy orator. The class ode was read by its author, Samuel Pitts Duffield.

Mabel Cahill Still Champion.

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—Miss Mabel E. Cahill, of the New York Tennis club, again won the title of champion lady lawn tennis player of the United States, and retained possession of the Wimshicum inn cup, at Wissahickon Heights. She only defeated her young opponent, Miss Bessie Moore, of Ridgewood, N. J., after a prolonged struggle.

Catholic Knights of St. John Meet.

TORONTO, June 25.—The fourteenth annual convention of the Roman Catholic Knights of St. John of America began here. The organization is a benevolent, social and religious one; has a membership of 13,000. Commanderies were present from Pittsburg, Rochester, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Detroit, Grand Rapids and other American cities.

Sister Hildeberta Dead.

READING, Pa., June 25.—Sister Mary Hildeberta, who was stabbed by Pietro Bocci, a patient at St. Joseph's hospital, is dead. Her former name was Tillie Shannon, and she was from Huntingdon, Pa. She was twenty-three years of age.

The 1892 Model of the Remington is now on the market.

CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT has characterized the history of the REMINGTON STANDARD TYPEWRITER. The changes introduced into the 1892 model represent the carefully tested results of expert study of various points deemed capable of improvement. They present advantages in the quality of the work, and ease as well as convenience of operation which will readily commend themselves to all users.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

Wyckoff, Seamans & Benedict,
327 Broadway, New York.

LOOK at Werner's Show Windows
30 WEST FRONT STREET,
and see what you can do in $15 suits reduced to $10
Cut in Latest Styles.
FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS ONLY.
All Sizes and All Wool.
Outing Shirts and Straw Hats just receive. Clothing Made to Order. Other goods at proportionately Low Prices.

JUST RECEIVED.
A LARGE SHIPMENT
OF
FINE CREAMERY BUTTER.
19 Cents per Pound.
United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,
Distributors of Pure Goods Wholesale and Retail 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

A Point Worthy of Attention.
Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both
GOOD and CHEAP.
the place for that is at
VOGELER'S,
17 West Front Street

EUROPE!
Tickets for Hamburg, Stettin, Havre, Paris, Copenhagen, All Scandinavian or Finnish points.
To Glasgow, Londonderry, Liverpool, etc.
AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES.
Illustrated catalogue giving views of scenery, etc., mailed free.
H. D. Morrison, 9 Somerset St.
(Any line or steamer.)

IF!
A poor article is dear at any price.
A good article is cheap at any price.
The Duluth Imperial Flour is the best in the world and the prices are right.
Insist on having it from your grocer, or apply to
FRENCH BROTHERS,
TELEPHONE 24. 8, 10 and 12 SOMERSET STREET.

Having Disposed of the Produce Business to Mr. L. A. Bummer, all persons owing the Plainfield Produce Co.
are requested to make a prompt settlement.
The office is, as heretofore, at No. 29 North avenue.
We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.
A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. M. RIDGEL, Manager.

A. M. SEGUINE,
PROPRIETOR OF
Laing's Hotel Stables,
on Front Street, Opp. Madison Avenue,
TELEPHONE CALL, No. 98.
Coaches for weddings, funerals and private calls.
Light carriages of all descriptions for hire.
Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.
BOARDED HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!
ALL SIZES,
Of Finest
Light Blue Color.
References:—
P. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.
ROBT. A. MERKER, Street Com.
Smalley Bros.,
94 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!
L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,
30 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,
Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly established coal screening works, by means of which he is enabled to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.
Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coals in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.
Rough and Dressed Lumber.
He would also announce recently increased facilities for Turning and Scroll sawing, and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,
Dealer in BEST
QUALITY COAL
YARD AND OFFICE
SOUTH AVENUE,
P. O. BOX 1407.
Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Counselors at Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public and Masters in Chancery. Notaries Public for Union county. Office, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E., Engineer of the Famous Union County Road System. Special attention given to Drainage, Sewerage, Water Supply, Sewage Disposal, Sewage Filtration, Sewage Irrigation. Office, Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Attorney-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public. Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 28 West Front street.

CLARK & REED, Counselors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Special Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Solicitors for National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CHARLES A. MARSH, Counselor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Solicitor and Master in Chancery, Notary Public. Office, corner Front and Second streets.

OSCAR S. TEALE, Architect, 207 Broadway, New York. Office, rooms 11 and 12, Imperial Building, Bank building, Residence, Plainfield, N. J.

PLAINFIELD
[illegible] EXCAVATING COMPANY

JONES & CO.
Work quickly and thoroughly done. Every [illegible] guaranteed. Sewers laid to the grade approved of by the Board of Health. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders left at office on Park avenue, corner of Second street, will receive prompt attention. Lawns, Gardens and Plant Purchased. P. O. box 1002. Telephone call 91.

THE DIME
SAVINGS INSTITUTION
OF
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.
JOHN W. BURRAN, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, Secretary.
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7:30 a. m., 12:05, 4:05, 8:30 p. m.
Close—7:30 a. m., 12:05, 4:05, 8:30 p. m.
BRIDGEVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—9:30 a. m., 1:25, 5:30 p. m.
Close—9:30 a. m., 1:25 p. m.
Mineral mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 5:30 p. m.
SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 5:30 p. m.
E. R. POPE, P. M.

THE IRON LEAGUE FIGHT.

Twenty Thousand Men May Soon Be Idle.

CARNEGIE AND HIS MEN AT ODDS.

Fears That a Big Strike May Occur at the Homestead Works—Preparing for Defense—Pinkerton Men Routed by the Angry Strikers at Cleveland.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The lockout of the housesmiths by the members of the Iron league is on. Every housesmith employed by the forty large iron manufacturers in this city, Brooklyn and Jersey City has been discharged. Only those who are nonunion will be re-employed Monday morning. The housesmiths, aided by a large number of affiliated trades, will retaliate by ordering strikes on Monday on all buildings where members of the Iron league are doing work. This will cause many of the large buildings to be tied up and thousands of men will be thrown out of employment.

Twenty Thousand May Be Idle.

It is said that there are about 3,000 housesmiths in the three cities who will be affected by the lockout, and about one-half of them belong to the Housesmiths' union. There are about fifty different unions affiliated with the housesmiths in the Building Constructors' District, Knights of Labor, and if they join in the struggle it is said there may ultimately be 20,000 men called out.

The Iron league was formed to break the power of the housesmiths, and a desperate struggle will probably take place between the Knights of Labor and the League. Both sides say it will be fought until either the Housesmiths' union or the league shall be wiped out of existence.

Carnegie's Men May Strike.

PITTSBURG, June 25.—The situation at Homestead has assumed a serious aspect. The conference between Carnegie, Phipps & Co. and representatives of their employees was disappointing. Friday was the last day the firm gave the men to accept the scale as a organization, and hereafter they will be dealt with as individuals. There seems but little prospect of a settlement, and the strike seems inevitable. The report that shiny orders have been cancelled and the preparations for defense, which go steadily on, leave little ground to hope that the differences will be easily adjusted. Platforms are being placed in the skylights of the various mills.

They will serve as watch towers in case of trouble. Electric lights with powerful reflectors will enable a strict surveillance to be kept of the premises at night. The workmen say they are ready to make any concessions that can be shown to be just and reasonable, but will not sacrifice one iota of what they consider to be their just right. If the firm is as ready to take the same stand a settlement can yet be effected before July 1, when the present scale expires.

The Pinkertons Routed.

CLEVELAND, June 25.—Pinkerton men and the striking employees of the East Cleveland Street Railway company came into collision last night at Lakeview. Edwin Eldred, a Pinkerton man, residing in Chicago, shot into the crowd. The strikers at once charged upon the Pinkertons and scattered them. Later on Eldred was found on the railroad track with his skull cut and two ribs broken. The Pinkertons have fled. Eldred will recover.

Fell Dead on His Son's Body.

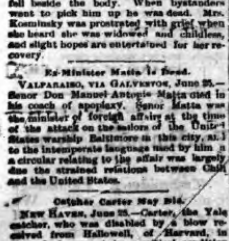
NEW YORK, June 25.—Edward Kosminsky, sixteen years old, of Port Richmond, S. I., jumped into a rowboat from a wharf there, the boat capsized and the boy was drowned. When the boy's aged father, a shoemaker, was notified of his son's death, he ran to the wharf. He looked at the body of his son, uttered a piercing shriek and fell beside the body. When bystanders went to pick him up he was dead. Mrs. Kosminsky was prostrated with grief when she heard she was widowed and childless, and slight hopes are entertained for her recovery.

Ex-Minister Matta Is Dead.

VALPARAISO, VIA GALVESTON, June 25.—Senor Don Manuel Antonio Matta died in his couch of apoplexy. Senor Matta was the minister of foreign affairs at the time of the attack on the sailors of the United States warship Baltimore in this city, and to the intemperate language used by him a circular relating to the affair was largely due the strained relations between Chili and the United States.

Catcher Carter May Die.

NEW HAVEN, June 25.—Carter, the Yale catcher, who was disabled by a blow received from Hallowell, of Harvard, in Thursday's game, is in a critical condition at the Hotel Vendome, Boston. He has been insane ever since the accident. His absence from the Yale nine will cripple it in the second game with Harvard next Tuesday.



Squire Littlefield (at window, 1.30 a. m.)—Hullo, there! Who is making that up near at this time o' night? Speak, or I'll shoot!

Uncle Toby—Dun shoot, Mar's Littlefe'l. It's only I—Toby. Yo' dun say de oldes' day dat yo' tink de chic'en house need whitewashin, an I cum down see's it did, dat's all.—Jester.

Eighteen Cars Demolished.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., June 25.—Two freight trains on the Pennsylvania railroad collided two miles east of this place at 4 o'clock, both engines and eighteen cars were demolished.

Swindler Beneditch Held.

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—Benjamin Beneditch, who was detected in several swindling operations on big stores, was held in

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Major Lewis C. Overman, of the engineer corps, recently tried by court martial, has resigned.

The explosion of a torpedo in H. M. S. Nile, of the Mediterranean squadron, killed two men.

Several buildings were struck by lightning in Chicago and rain did damage amounting to $150,000.

The Catholic summer school will open a three weeks' session at New London, Conn., on July 30.

A Family Affair

Health for the Baby, Pleasure for the Parents, New Life for the Old Folks.

Hires' Root Beer

THE GREAT TEMPERANCE DRINK

is a family affair—a requisite of the home. A 25 cent package makes 5 gallons of a delicious, strengthening, effervescent beverage.

Don't be disappointed by a dealer, for the sake of larger profit, sells you some other kind. Insist on Hires' and get the genuine. 25c. Package.

THE BEE HIVE!

Bathing tights, 10, 12, 14 and 15c.

Canvas belts, 5 and 10c.

Ladies' Jersey mitts in black, tan and cream, 20 and 25c.

Ladies' ribbed Jersey vests, 10, 15, 20 and 25c.

Gauze vests, 25c.

Children's gauze vests in short and long sleeves and pantiets to match, 12, 15, 18 and 20c.

Full line of misses' white lawn suits.

Men's Balbriggan shirts and drawers, 25c. 40c. and 50c.

Men's Jean Drawers, 30c.

Boys' short gauze drawers 30c.

Louis Callman,

40 West Front Street.

CARRIAGES and HARNESS

of Every Description.

STYLES and PRICES to SUIT ALL.

Carriages taken on sale or stored on ground floor.

Accessable at Any Time.

RYERSON,

33 SOMERSET STREET.

EITHER

Hot Water or Steam Heating Apparatus

furnished and set up in residences and public buildings.

J. N. SCHENCK,

40 MANNING AVENUE, North Plainfield.

20 years' experience. Pipe fitting, machinery repairs.

Agents for the celebrated "Furman" house heating boilers.

Flags, Fireworks, and Japanese Lanterns,

and other necessaries for a

Jolly Fourth,

can be had from

A. W. RAND,

24 West Front Street.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture . . . Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

GET YOUR

Bicycle Repaired

at

NO. 3 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

by

Henry Goeller, Jr.

Ice Cream Freezers.

The Automatic,

Needs no turning.

The Rapid,

Best and quickest freeze.

GARDEN HOSE, and Lawn - Sprinklers.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 East Front Street. Telephone 8.

C. DICKINSON,

PRACTICAL

OPTICIAN and JEWELER.

Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Agent for the American

Rambler Bicycles.

No. 13 Park avenue.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher.

40 West Front Street.

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC

SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS

SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC

4 & 5 cents per Copy.

Stiddies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.

A. M. Vanderbeek's,

22 PARK AVENUE.

FRED. W. DUNN,

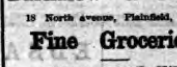
Successor to

Barkalew & Dunn,

18 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Fine Groceries.

THREE BEE TEA



George - Bremmer,

No 28 Somerset Street,

READY MADE CLOTHING,

or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

Joseph T. Sullivan,

No. 26 West Third Street,

Dealer in Choice

Wines, Liquors, etc.

BEER ON DRAUGHT.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong ice to this market, are now prepared to serve their patrons in one of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 21 North avenue, opposite depot. Docks, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CORNINGTON, Pres.
H. CORNINGTON, Vice-Pres.
ANDREW WILSON, Sec. & Treas.
J. MORTON, Gen. Supt.

COAL and WOOD,

E. H. HOLMES,

YARD—24 Madison Avenue.

Office—27 North avenue, with Woolson & Bolte.

38c.

Buys a full size, reinforced front, shirt, with Linen bosom and wristbands; regular 50c quality.

17c.

Buys a five foot curtain pole with brass fixtures, complete.

Window Shades 25c. and upward.

Dress Chenilles 5c. Best Prints 4c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 30 days at

BOEHM'S

No. 7 West Front Street.

For a Delicious Drink

NEUMANN BROS.

Have just the article, a select

50c. Formosa Oolong TEA, to make a

Delicious Iced Tea.

Fresh roasted Coffees received weekly. Store will be open every evening. All goods sold at Lowest Prices. A full line of Vegetables received Daily.

NEUMANN BROS.

79 BROADWAY.

PIPTONIZED Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—24 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS,

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P.O. Box 943.

DUNSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. Front St., No. 13 Pine street, N. Y. City. Jobbing promptly attended to. All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P.O. Box 313.

R. V. SAUMS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near Arlington Avenue.

P. O. Box 1020

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. P. HOFFMAN,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

Residence—24 West Second street, Plainfield, N.J.

Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ABBOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Residence Somerset street. Jobbing promptly attended to. Estimates given. Shop on Somerset street, rear of Post Office. P. O. Box 1041.

JOHN HERRMANN,

Carpenter and hard wood finisher. Shop corner of Grant and Second streets. Jobbing promptly attended to.

J. HERRMANN, 7 Second street.

Just What You Need!

If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an

Arnold Steam Cooker.

Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.

You can buy the above articles at 61 Park avenue Also the only genuine

BOSTON BROWN BREAD,

made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.

M. E. BEACH, Agent.

Do You Want Shirts?

If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your ideas.

The assortment we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects.

Puff Bosoms for hot weather; Blue Flannel for cool.

Hallock & Davis,

15 West Front Street.

Trunks and Bags.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

15 West Front Street.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS

PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—29 East Front street.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

25 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

45 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING

49 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

NO. 45 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE.

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Six Varieties)

Refrigerators, - - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : : - - - - NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 48 EMILY STREET.

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

32 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro., to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any in of first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer.

Telephone Co 187.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(The Port Reading R. R. Co., Lessee.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Plainfield in Mine Yard.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 1 15, 2 37, 3 39, 5 15, 6 39, 7 39, 8 39, 9 39, 10 39, 11 39, 12 39 a. m., 1 39, 2 39, 3 39, 4 39, 5 39, 6 39, 7 39, 8 39, 9 39, 10 39, 11 39 p. m. Leave New York—Liberty St., 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Foot of Cortlandt street, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 45, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND SWANEL.

Leave Plainfield at 6 30, 6 50, 7 10, 7 30, 7 50, 8 10, 8 30, 8 50, 9 10, 9 30, 9 50, 10 10, 10 30, 10 50, 11 10, 11 30, 11 50 a. m., 12 10, 12 30, 12 50, 1 10, 1 30, 1 50, 2 10, 2 30, 2 50, 3 10, 3 30, 3 50, 4 10, 4 30, 4 50, 5 10, 5 30, 5 50, 6 10, 6 30, 6 50, 7 10, 7 30, 7 50, 8 10, 8 30, 8 50, 9 10, 9 30, 9 50, 10 10, 10 30, 10 50, 11 10, 11 30, 11 50 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND ROSELLE.

Leave Plainfield at 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND RAHWAY.

Leave Plainfield at 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LANE SUPERIOR.

Leave Plainfield at 7 30, 9 30, 11 30 a. m., 1 30, 3 30, 5 30, 7 30, 9 30, 11 30 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

DRAFTS AT PLAINFIELD.

6 15 a. m. for Bound Brook, Somerville, Manville, Millstone, Kingston, Princeton Junction, Trenton, Lambertville, Flemington, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, Scranton, Wilkesbarre, Mauch Chunk, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Williamsport, Sunbury, Shamokin, Lewisburg, Tamaqua, Hazleton, Pittston, Wyoming, Binghamton, Elmira, Watkins, Geneva, Canandaigua, Rochester, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Suspension Bridge, Detroit, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Toledo, Columbus, Indianapolis, Louisville, Cairo, Memphis, New Orleans, Atlanta, Augusta, Savannah, Jacksonville, Tampa, Florida, Charleston, Columbia, Aiken, Augusta, Atlanta, Birmingham, Montgomery, Mobile, Meridian, Vicksburg, Shreveport, Dallas, Houston, Galveston, Austin, San Antonio, El Paso, Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Victoria, Vancouver, Kamloops, Ashcroft, Yale, Spokane Falls, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Livingston, Bozeman, Cinnabar, Gardiner, Cooke, Salt Lake City, Ogden, Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Leadville, Glenwood Springs, Grand Junction, Ouray, Silverton, Rico, Durango, Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Las Vegas, Deming, Phoenix, Prescott, Tucson, Guaymas, Nogales, Mexico City, Monterey, Laredo, Eagle Pass, Del Rio, Brownsville, Matamoras, Tampico, Vera Cruz, Havana, Nassau, Hamilton, Bermuda, Kingston, Port Antonio, Port Limon, Colon, Panama, Callao, Valparaiso, Santiago, Buenos Ayres, Montevideo, Rio Janeiro, Pernambuco, Bahia, Para, Manaos, Trinidad, Barbadoes, Demerara, Paramaribo, Georgetown, Caracas, Puerto Cabello, La Guayra, Curacao, Maracaibo, Port au Prince, Cape Haytien, Kingston, Port Antonio, Port Limon, Colon, Panama, Callao, Valparaiso, Santiago, Buenos Ayres, Montevideo, Rio Janeiro, Pernambuco, Bahia, Para, Manaos, Trinidad, Barbadoes, Demerara, Paramaribo, Georgetown, Caracas, Puerto Cabello, La Guayra, Curacao, Maracaibo, Port au Prince, Cape Haytien.

For Junction connecting for Dunellen, Metuchen, Perth Amboy, Woodbridge, Rahway, Elizabeth, Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, Orange, Bloomfield, Montclair, Paterson, Passaic, Hackensack, Nyack, Tarrytown, Sing Sing, Peekskill, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Rhinebeck, Hudson, Albany, Troy, Saratoga, Schenectady, Utica, Rome, Oneida, Syracuse, Oswego, Fulton, Auburn, Cayuga, Ithaca, Owego, Binghamton, Elmira, Watkins, Geneva, Canandaigua, Rochester, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Suspension Bridge, Detroit, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Toledo, Columbus, Indianapolis, Louisville, Cairo, Memphis, New Orleans, Atlanta, Augusta, Savannah, Jacksonville, Tampa, Florida, Charleston, Columbia, Aiken, Augusta, Atlanta, Birmingham, Montgomery, Mobile, Meridian, Vicksburg, Shreveport, Dallas, Houston, Galveston, Austin, San Antonio, El Paso, Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Victoria, Vancouver, Kamloops, Ashcroft, Yale, Spokane Falls, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Livingston, Bozeman, Cinnabar, Gardiner, Cooke, Salt Lake City, Ogden, Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Leadville, Glenwood Springs, Grand Junction, Ouray, Silverton, Rico, Durango, Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Las Vegas, Deming, Phoenix, Prescott, Tucson, Guaymas, Nogales, Mexico City, Monterey, Laredo, Eagle Pass, Del Rio, Brownsville, Matamoras, Tampico, Vera Cruz, Havana, Nassau, Hamilton, Bermuda, Kingston, Port Antonio, Port Limon, Colon, Panama, Callao, Valparaiso, Santiago, Buenos Ayres, Montevideo, Rio Janeiro, Pernambuco, Bahia, Para, Manaos, Trinidad, Barbadoes, Demerara, Paramaribo, Georgetown, Caracas, Puerto Cabello, La Guayra, Curacao, Maracaibo, Port au Prince, Cape Haytien.

Educational.

ELOCUTION.

Instruction in Elocution, classic and vernacular, private lessons. Address Miss. Alberti, P. O. Box 1000.

FRENCH LESSONS.

Instruction and entertainment in French conversation, or private lessons at residence in Plainfield, or private classes at Terrace Hall. Terms low. Pupils from Principal Plainfield High School, and others, can be accommodated. For terms or other information, write to Prof. L. Vivien, care of Miss. Barbour and Bowron, 17 La Grande terrace, Plainfield.

HARNED ACADEMY,

For Boarding and Day School, Re-opens MONDAY, SEPT. 19th, 1892.

For Circulars and other information, address the Head-ery or address EDWARD S. HARNED, Prin. 5 26 7 r 197 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISS FAWCETT'S

Kindergarten, Primary and Intermediate School. Thorough instruction in English and French. Also for Schoolgirls, from 9 to 15 Only 10 pupils received. Terms moderate.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTHEWS,

Teacher of Violin and Guitar, Pupils either at her own or at pupil's residence. Address Box 1207 Plainfield. Best of references. 3m. 149

Miscellaneous Cards.

MRS. LINDSAY,

Electrologist, Price Office, 24 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J. Ladies only. Send for a list of nine simple tests, prospectus, and circular. 1 29 7

H. S. SPENCER,

Mason and Builder, Somerset street, Grant and Arlington avenues and promenade. Office over 4 years old. All contracts promptly executed. Orders left at Coe's Hardware store, Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Cellars, vaults and sewers built. Brick, cement, Calcium lime, sand and stone for sale. Jobbing, repairing, etc., promptly done. Estimates cheerfully given. Residence, 24 Somerset street, Plainfield, N. J. P. O. Box 1041.

Machine Works.

FREDERICK F. CHASE,

Manufacturer of

Electrical Machinery.

Repairing, Pattern and Engine repairing, Models for inventors, brass and iron castings. Forging in all its branches. Boiler-shop building and painting.

201 North Avenue,

Corner Madison street, Plainfield, N. J.

New York Office, 203 Fourth avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,

Manufacturers of

Shoulderings, Studs, Billiards, Bowers, etc.

Corner Madison avenue and Third street.

SCROLL SAWING, TURNING.

Also jobs and ornamental glass furnished to order. 12 17

BROWER & DRIELL,

Blacksmiths and horse shoeing parlor, in connection with Brower's carriage factory, No. 5 Adams Avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Children's baby carriages a specialty. Carriages built and repaired at reasonable rates.

PURE MILK.

Delivered to any part of the city by

C. H. BOWNE,

Dairyman.

A special reference to Dr. Geo. Beyer, Health Officer, Plainfield, N. J. Cows examined by him every month.

Science Progress

YACHT LIGHTED BY ELECTRICITY.

How Complete an Electrical Equipment Can Be Put in Small Space.

The vessel herewith illustrated is said to be the smallest steam yacht lighted by electricity from its own plant, and shows how complete an equipment can be placed within the most limited space. The Marine Journal, from which these cuts are reprodnced, says:

The vessel is 25 feet over all and 7 feet beam. The hull is planked with white cedar, copper riveted and lined inside with cherry and white pine finished in oil. A

THE STEAM YACHT CYGNET.

Shipman oil burning boiler supplies steam at 100 pounds pressure to the two engines and donkey pump, all of which, together with the dynamo, are located in the cabin amidships. The main engine, which is a "Fore and Aft" compound engine having cylinders 3¾ by 6¼ inches and stroke of 5 inches, operates its fore and aft vacuum pumps by worm gear having a reduction of 4 to 1, and runs at 350 to 400 revolutions per minute. A high speed single engine is bolted to the cylinder head of the main engine, as shown in Fig. 2. This has a cylinder 2½ by 3 inches and makes 3000 revolutions per minute. Belted directly to the pulley of this high speed engine and located on a bracket attached to the front of the cabin is a ¼ kilowatt Edison generator, capable of supplying ten 16 C. P. incandescent lamps, also a search light so arranged that when desired it can be thrown into circuit. By means of this light it is said that the bottom of the lake can be readily seen in forty feet of water. The small knots of fascination which the electric light has for the finny tribe has been taken advantage of by fishing parties who have enjoyed an excursion on this little craft, and a large catch has testified to the efficacy of the method employed.

MACHINERY ON STEAM YACHT CYGNET.

The cabin is 8 feet 8 inches high and 6 feet square, with a passageway on either side. The yacht has been fitted throughout with great care in every detail and makes a fine appearance as well as a very comfortable cruising craft. A speed of nine to ten miles per hour is readily attained, and the natty little craft attracts attention wherever it goes.

Do Birds Like Bright Colors?

In order to test both the intelligence and color sense of birds Dr. C. C. Abbott once placed several woolen threads—red, yellow, green, purple and gray—near a tree in which a pair of Baltimore orioles were building their nest. Except in point of color the pieces of yarn were exactly alike, and their number was the same, but the red and yellow were intentionally placed on the top of the others. It was found that the birds used all the gray and a little of the purple, the bright colors being shunned as likely to make their home too conspicuous. Except in point of color they are anxious to prevent their nest from being easily noticeable Dr. Abbott proved in another way. By heating the branches he shrivaled up the leaves and exposed the nests to view. Although in some cases eggs had been laid the birds left their homes. In a few cases their already contained young ones the orioles showed the strength of the parental instinct by continuing to feed the babies until they were able to take care of themselves, in spite of the fact that the nests were visible.

The Smallest Wire in the World.

According to the New York Sun the smallest wire in the world is made at Providence. This wire is made by the use of diamond dies. Through them wire may be drawn finer than a human hair. Such wires are used in making receiving instruments for ocean cables, galvanometers for testing cables, etc. The smallest size yet made has a diameter of .0003 of an inch. Of this wire it takes sixteen miles in length to weigh a pound. Notwithstanding the smallness of this wire, it is wound with two layers of silk thread of smaller diameter than the wire, and the process of winding is said to be one of great delicacy. The wires are made of copper and German silver.

The Maxim Flying Machine.

Mr. Hiram Maxim, of flying machine fame, is quoted as stating that the most intricate part of his machine is the apparatus for keeping it on an even keel while flying. The idea is to make it do what the brain does for the bird. The apparatus is described as consisting of one very large plane with smaller ones attached to it. Mr. Maxim declares that his only anxiety is expressed in the question, "Will my engines be strong enough?" for the flying machine is very much larger than any that has ever been made before.

An Addition to the Telephone.

Practical Electricity states that two California inventors have devised a toll collecting apparatus for telephones. It consists of the usual coin-in-the-slot device, with the addition of a clockwork apparatus that automatically cuts out the telephone when the time for the talk has expired.

Scientific Brevities.

Californians are said to have discovered that peach stones burn as well as the best coal and furnish more heat in proportion to weight.

Soaking textile fabrics in a 10 per cent. solution of ammonium phosphate is a simple and efficacious process in rendering them uninflammable, according to French scientific authorities.

According to Science the only safe and proper way to bleach and deblcom mineral oil is to expose it to rain and air for a long time—two or three weeks or so—depending on the weather, and the only object is that it may be used to administer the more expensive animal and vegetable oils, such as lard, tallow, linseed and cottonseed oils.

THE OUTDOOR HOUSEHOLD

FASHIONABLE BOOKCASES.

Small, Low Cases or Curtained Shelves Represent the Favorite Style.

Low bookcases not more than five feet in height are to be chosen whenever one can furnish from the plumbing advisers Harper's Bazar, which further recommends that in a permanent home shelving fitted into the walls is the more attractive and practical where books increase continually. These shelves can be of natural woods like the finish of the room, or stained woods, once the orioles showed the strength of the parental instinct by continuing to feed the babies until they were able to take care of themselves, in spite of the fact that the nests were visible.

Many readers will be surprised to learn that the most elaborate bookcases are all to be made untouched from beginning to end, so that the symmetry is not disturbed. The deeper table certainly has the broadest sweep, and in some cases fruit, but not where extreme fashion is carried out.

In addition to the very high decorations and the delicate trails on the cloth a new feature is to have sprays laid on the table for the ladies' immediate wear. Moreover, the candlesticks, single ones being most used, are decorated in a quite novel fashion, which bids fair to prove a distinct and beautiful feature. The decorated supper table here illustrated displays a very light and beautifully executed centerpiece of exquisite roses, among which is set a dish of strawberries.

A DECORATED SUPPER TABLE.

For weddings favorite colors are pale gold and white or pure pink and white, the former perhaps being preferred on account of its likeness to the orange.

Tomato and Lettuce Salad.

Peel six tomatoes without scalding and keep them on ice till thoroughly cold. In the meantime make some mayonnaise dressing and put it also on ice. When ready to serve the salad, arrange twelve little nests of two or three crisp cold lettuce leaves each, cut the tomatoes in halves and place half a tomato in each nest, put a tablespoonful of mayonnaise on each, and serve.

GOOD HEALTH

THE PULSE IN DISEASE.

Its Principal Variations as Defined and Explained by The Medical Record.

The following are the principal variations of the pulse in disease:

Frequent Pulse—A pulse diminished in force, increased in frequency. A characteristic of debility.

Feeble Pulse—The fewer the rate of pulsation, and usually the force, is increased.

Feeble Pulse—A pulse that is readily extinguished by pressure with the finger. Indicative of great debility or exhaustion.

Thready Pulse—A pulse which gives the sensation beneath the finger of a vibrating thread. Present in cases of very great debility.

Slow Pulse—An unnaturally slow pulse occurs in cases of brain poisoning or apoplexy; it is present in compression of the brain from fracture and in unconsciousness from opium or liquor.

Quick Pulse—An abrupt, jerking pulse, either frequent or moderate in rate of pulsation.

Hard Pulse—A pulse which seems to indent the finger. This symptom indicates great excitement of the circulation.

Irregular Pulse—A pulse which now and then loses a beat. Indicative of either functional or organic disease of the heart.

Irregular Pulse—A pulse which is irregular in frequency and force. The irregularity may be only slight or may be extreme. Is generally found in heart disease. It is very often the result of the use of tobacco and of strong tea and coffee.

Irritable Pulse—A pulse which is both frequent and hard.

Wiry Pulse—A pulse which gives the impression of a vibrating wire.

People Overcome by Perfumes.

There are some constitutions that cannot stand perfumes. The patchouli, a perfume readily recognized in India silks or the India shawls, is to some persons almost rank poison. Ladies have been known to faint after wearing India shawls or painting with India ink, the latter of which has patchouli as the flavoring essence is to many persons extremely unhealthy. Whether the perfume causes nervous complications or exciting nausea cannot be ascertained, but it is certain that some constitutions will not bear it, and the St. Louis Globe-Democrat suggests that a lady finding herself losing appetite or strength, or having headache that have no explained cause, might look for the reason in some perfume that she is in the habit of using. On some persons the musk has a similar effect, others are affected by some one or other of the volatile oils derived from flowers, while more rarely the odor of apples or of other fruits has an unfavorable effect on persons of peculiar temperament. As a rule whatever perfume is unpleasant to the individual should be avoided, but exceptions occur to every rule, nervousness or debility which cannot be accounted for may sometimes be explained by the use of a well known perfume.

Long Dresses and Health.

The Lancet has something to say about "the supposed influence of the trains of ladies' dresses in spreading contagion." It admits having a special dislike for the fashionable skirt, "both on account of its dirt and clinging nature, and also because people talk around and on the ground of its public inconvenience." "Granted," is our answer, "that the germs of disease abound in a given quarter, no ordinary movements of the body will bring them in contact with the bronchial action of a flowing skirt." The subject has been recently discussed in Harper's Bazar, and the practical board of Hygiene has instituted a regular crusade against the obnoxious fashion.

A Physician's Advice.

If a child has swallowed anything that will not digest, particularly if it is sharp, let him eat immediately two or three pieces of rye bread. The soft mass will surround the object swallowed with a sort of coating. In addition, let the food for several days be more solid than usual, and under no circumstances give purgative medicine. The chances are that the child will feel no trouble from the carelessness.

A Cinnamon Spray.

Essence of cinnamon used in a spray is a very agreeable form of disinfectant now recommended for hospitals and sick rooms.

ETIQUETTE

OUTDOOR ENTERTAINMENTS.

Modes and Manners for Sports, Hunt Breakfasts and Picnics.

Now that the fashionable world is, so to speak, out of town, hunting, tennis and other outdoor sports are in order. Angering Maidens, the slighter, when taking part in hunting, shooting, fishing, etc., is quickly learned by those interested in them. For instance, any man chosen to be master of the hounds would be one who had such experience in the hunting field that the duties attending his new position would be easily understood by him.

It is customary in sections of the country where hounds meet for any of the residents interested in the sport to give a "hunt" or "meet" breakfast during the season to the master of the hounds and to all comers. This breakfast ought to be an informal affair, the food being much the same as would be offered at any ordinary morning entertainment.

Tennis clubs and athletic associations, each and all, usually have stearly defined rules, which ought to be carefully read and followed by everybody desirous of connection with them.

When one person gives a picnic, that one person, of course, provides everything, the mode of conveyance, the refreshments, entertainment, etc. Where several persons, however, join in issuing the invitations to a picnic, the labor and expense should be equally divided. The refreshments for a picnic consist chiefly of cold dishes such as meats, boned turkey, game, pates, sandwiches, salads, cakes, jellies, pies, punch, lemonade, claret and champagne.

A picnic generally lasts from noon until twilight, and the best season of the year is when it is most pleasant to be out of doors. Dancing is the chief amusement after eating, and a wooden platform is erected for the purpose nowadays. Dancing on the green sounds poetical, but modern pedestrians do not take to it kindly.

This Date in History—June 25.

1538—John Knox Yonge, political economist and writer on language, born in Westmoreland; died 1824. In support of the American war, and stimulated a subscription for the families of men "murdered by the King's troops at Lexington and Concord."

1760—Charles Barbarous, Grenadin physician, gallant and accomplished, accounted, as supposed, Charlotte Corday's lover.

1822—Lewis and Alexander I of Russia were born on the same day at Tilsit.

1862—Battle of Oak Grove, Va.

1863—Battle of Liberty Gap, Tenn., in Rosecrans' campaign against Tullahoma.

1876—General George A. Custer and 277 men of his command killed by the Sioux at the Little Horn River, Montana.

1879—Twelfth Peabs became khedive of Egypt.

—Died in 1881, and was succeeded by his son, Mehemet Tewfik, and Daughter of Ismail Pasha, died on Staten Island, N. Y., born 1854.

1890—Salvator won the $15,000 race against Tenny.

Still There.

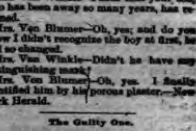
Mrs. Van Winkle—I hear that your son, who has been away so many years, has returned.

Mrs. Van Blumer—Oh, yes; and do you know I didn't recognize the boy at first, he had so changed.

Mrs. Van Winkle—Didn't he have any distinguishing mark?

Mrs. Van Blumer—Oh, yes. I finally identified him by his porous plaster.—New York Herald.

The Guilty One.



She (after an absence of several years abroad)—How do you do? So delighted to see you. Not married yet? Why, the last time I saw you, it seems to me, you were engaged?

He—Yes, I was.

She—Let's see, to whom?

He—To you.—Life.

1892 JUNE. 1892

Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fri.	Sat.
			1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2	8.32 a.m.	Last Quarter	17	4.01 p.m.
Full Moon	10	2.32 p.m.	New Moon	24	9.07 p.m.

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION.
1873.—Membership 138,000.—1892.
Death benefits paid over $8,000,000 since organization.
Wetumpka Lodge, Sait, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Thursdays, at eight p. m., in Wetumpka Lodge rooms, Music Hall Building.
Immediate relief, $100; sick benefits per week $5.
LOUIS I. VANALSTYNE, Dictator.
RALPH A. ——, Reporter.
Wetumpka Commandery, No. 84, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight p. m.

Hotels.

Caspar's Hotel,

24 & 26 E. Front St

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Transient and Family Boarders taken at

Reasonable † Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

☞ First-class bar attached.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout, and contains all improvements. Fire-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Kline's Extracts,
Pure Fruit Flavors.

NEW STORE!

I beg to announce that I have opened a store pertaining to bedding at 76 West Front street. Below we quote some of our prices:

Mattresses	$1.50 to $15
2 piece Pouch American Hair Mattress, 35 lbs.	$15
Goose Feather Pillows	$1.50, $2, $2.50
Hen Feather Pillows	75 cents
Elder Down Pillows	$2 each
Comforters	$1, $1.25, $1.50

Sheets, 60c.; bolsters and pillow cases; Oil Cloth 25 to 40c. per yard; Oriental and Turkish rugs $1 to $4.50; portierre curtains, all silk, $5 per pair; Counties, Brussels, Tapestries, Lace Curtains, Pictures, Cradles, Cribs, Bureaus, Commodes, Rocking Chairs, Stands, and a hundred and one other things cheaper than you can buy them in any other store.

T. J. CAREY, - Proprietor.

76 WEST FRONT STREET.

As the weather is so warm, there will be no auction sale at Carey's until September.

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with

LAMP AND BELL,

under penalty of $25 fine.

A large and complete assortment of Cycling Goods can always be found at the

Wheelmen's Headquarters,

Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.

FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

We are getting away with lots of Russet Shoes this month—now is the time to buy them.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S,
22 West Front street.

P. S.—Our $2 shoe never takes a back seat.

SOMETHING ABOUT CLOTHING

WHEN YOU WANT CLOTHES CALL AND SEE WHAT WE OFFER.

One Thousand Pair of Trousers from $1 up.

Whole Suits from $5 up.

Spring Overcoats and Children Clothing in great variety. Our goods are of a proven quality, and our Low Prices will surprise you.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.
70 WEST FRONT STREET.

Everybody Likes Me.

ANTI-CHAP
RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS
FOR
CHAPPED HANDS, FACE, LIPS, ROUGHNESS OF THE SKIN, WRINKLES
ANTI-CHAP IS SPLENDID YOU SHOULD ALL DRUGGISTS
ALL 25c USE IT.

Wash the baby with Anti-Chap Soap.

OWING
to Large stock
and Lateness of the Season,
we will sell for next
30 Days
at
A Sacrifice.

Fine all-wool pants to order $4; worth $6.

Fine all wool Suits to order $10; worth $22.

Call, examine and satisfy yourselves

Acme Tailoring Co.,

No 19 West Front Street.

John H. French, Free and Trust. Walter C. Limberger, Sec. 2 21 3m

Miss Blanche Fellows

VOCALIST
and Teacher of Singing.

Rapid development and complete education of the voice.

Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel forms and tone production.

Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Call or address
NO. 37 DUER STREET.

Big Bargains

Extra fine 36c. Dress Ginghams at 15c.
Field Dress Gingham, 7c.
Outing Flannel, 9c.
New style in Irish Lawns, 12c.
New Tinted Organdie at 8c., very stylish and pretty.
Plaid Nainsooks, 8c.
Fine Silk Satin, 12c.
Black Silk Mitts, 25c.

Excellent quality Cotton Forges at 12c.
Ladies' Laced Shirt Waists at 47c.
Ladies' Night Robes 49c.
Boys' Outing Shirts 25c.
Mens' Outing Shirts 39c.
The best 50c. ventilated Corsets ever offered this city.
Superior Silk Gloria Umbrellas, $1.35.

Our assortment of new styles Mattings and Low Prices surpasses anything ever before offered in this city. Our assortment of Elegant Carpets, Art Squares, Rugs, etc., is unequaled and prices guaranteed the Lowest.

EDSALL'S!

This space is reserved for
ZIMMERMANN & RUMPF,
the West Front street Hardware Dealers.

RANDOLPH'S

BEEF, IRON AND WINE,

THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!

PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

21 WEST FRONT STREET.

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.

Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of G. R. MUSGRAVE, 27 Somerset street. Call early and secure the best bargains.

Summer Resorts.

Clifton House,

BY THE SEA, PATCHOGUE, L. I.

Situated directly by that beautiful sheet of water, the GREAT SOUTH BAY, and only a few minutes walk from the OCEAN.

Boating, bathing, bowling, billiards, music and livery. Send for circular.

W. J. HENKING, Prop.

Now opened for the season. Grand opening Hop July 1st. 6 19 2m

THE ALBION,

EIGHTH STREET AND PARK AVENUE.

Select family hotel.

Newly furnished throughout.

Special rates to permanent guests.

FRANK E. MILLER.

12 26 6m.

SUN RISE, 4.39; SUN SET, 7.35.

VanEmburgh & White
INDUCEMENTS

For 39c.

Embroidered Flouncings to-morrow 45in. wide. We have bought all there was of them, about 2,000 yards. The proper value is from 60c. to $1 per yard.

The price but 13c.

For a Children's full regular made fast black Stocking Hermsdorf dye, worth 20c. they are.

The price but 35c.

Gentlemen, you need them these warm days, a French Ballbriggan Shirt that is worth 50 cents of any one's money.

As complete an assortment of wash fabrics, such as Gingham, Challies, Cambric, Crepe Cloth, Sateen and Bedford Cord as you find in most New York houses, and the prices and styles you will not find fault with.

Do You Smoke?

The Manufacturer, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum
and
Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Cigars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Sugar store, No. 12 West Second street.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Long Dist. Telephone Call 48. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," MONDAY, JUNE 27, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS.

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR THEIR VACATION, SHOULD SEND NEW ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

The Weather.

Increasing cloudiness, followed by showers to-night, south wind.

BREVITIES

—The "Glorious Fourth" is a week from to-day.

—Salvation Army exercises on Thursday evenings will be on the aim of temperance. Christians are invited to take part.

—The Medical Society of New Jersey will hold its one hundred and twenty-sixth annual meeting in the United States Hotel, Atlantic City, June 28th and 29th, commencing four o'clock in the afternoon of the 28th.

—John Rensehut was arrested by Marshal Pangborn Saturday night and arraigned before Justice Crossley this morning for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He was found guilty and fined five dollars and costs, which he paid.

—Two young men who, to drown their disappointment over the result of Saturday's ball game, imbibed to much liquor, started a general fight Saturday night in the rear of a saloon. When the police came around the combatants had disappeared.

—The entries for the 20 mile handicap road race, to be held July 9th, over the course published some days ago in THE NEWS will close Saturday, July 2d. Entries are being received at the Wheelmen's Headquarters and at Mr. J. Hervey Dosbois.

—The seashore Summer schedule on the All Rail Line and Sandy Hook took effect yesterday. On July 4th the "Central" will run an excursion to Mauch Chunk and to Lake Hopatcong. In addition they will sell holiday excursion tickets to Trenton, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington.

—The Somerville correspondent to the New York Sun must have seen double Saturday, as he reported three thousand people present at the Somerville—Plainfield ball game. The correspondent to the Tribune from this city says, "Elizabeth and Plainfield were the winners in the Central New Jersey League Saturday." Would that they were.

—Chancellor McGill on Saturday, confirmed the partition of land of Vail and Line located in Plainfield recently made by Elias R. Pope, John H. Jackson and B. Frank Jewett, commissioners, and made an allowance of $200 and costs, to Craig A. Marsh, counsel of complainants. The land is bounded by West Seventh street, John street, and Fourth street and consisted of about forty-eight lots.

Heavenly Rest Church Musicale.

The musicale in aid of the mission church of the Heavenly Rest, which was held Saturday afternoon in the Sunday-school room of the Holy Cross church, North Plainfield, was a success.

The rooms were well filled and the proceeds will no doubt help to swell the fund now being raised.

Those who assisted in the entertainment were Mrs. Patton, Miss Stevens, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Lewis, Miss Lizzie Price, Miss Teal, Miss Beabrouck, Mayor Saunders, Mr. Phillip Ward of Old Trinity church, New York, and a quartette from the Holy Cross choir, led by Mr. Bond, the efficient superintendent of the Boys' Club.

Very Nearly Crushed.

Worth Coddington, a ice wagon driver, came near meeting with a serious accident Saturday.

As he was driving the wagon, which was loaded with two tons of ice, on West Front street, the hind wheel broke, causing the wagon to upset.

The boy, still holding the reins, was thrown beneath the wagon, and as the horses jumped forward, he was pulled violently from his dangerous position.

He sustained no injuries but a bruised arm.

Elizabeth Wheelmen Win.

The first of the Union County Bicycle Club races was held on the macadam road between Elizabeth and Cranford, Saturday. The distance was ten miles and the competitors were the Cranford Cycling Club, Roselle Ramblers and the Elizabeth Athletic Club. Six men from each club entered. The Elizabeth Athletic Club carried off the honors, scoring 30 points and getting in the first five men. The Roselle Ramblers scored 45 and Cranford Cyclers 54.

Republicans Will Ratify.

A grand ratification meeting will be held in Music Hall to-morrow evening to ratify the nomination made at the Republican Convention at Minneapolis.

Mayor Alexander Gilchrist of this city, Hon. Gilbert Collins, Major E. Ferguson, Judge Wm. T. Hoffman and other prominent speakers will address the meeting.

The Hon. [illegible] Ulrich will preside.

Summer Tour to Nantucket.

The usual Summer Tour given in August by W. D. Honeyman is now announced to be planned for Nantucket, Cottage City and Newport, August 2—19, and the price is only $69.50. Mr. Honeyman may be addressed for particulars at 31 North avenue, Plainfield.

Colored Masons Meet.

The Grand Lodge of Masons, (colored) of the State of New Jersey are meeting at this city to-day.

Cyprian Commandery will tender them a reception to-night.

A large number of delegates are present.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mitchell of New York is the guest of her cousin, Miss Bessie Hull of Rich mond street.

A romance in three acts. Act I—Maid one. Act II—Maid won.—Act III—Made one.—Town Topics.

Miss Eva Baker of Fanwood, is visiting her friend Miss Lottie Raymond of 24 Kensington avenue.

Mr. George Kirkner, formerly of this city, but now of California, is back to Plainfield on a visit.

Miss C. L. Frost, of Smith's Falls, Canada, is spending the Summer with her uncle, Mr. George N. Frost, of this city.

Manager Keller and Captain Hofford, of the Cresscent League, left for New York this morning. They will probably sign several new players before they return.

Among those who will take part in the New Jersey Women's Christian Temperance convention, at Asbury Park, beginning Wednesday, July 6th is Mrs. Dr. T. B. Tomlinson of this city.

The wedding of the Rev. Robert Lowry of this city, the famous hymn writer, and Miss Mary Ramyon, daughter of the late E. W. Ramyon, will take place in New York City this afternoon at five o'clock.

First Lieutenant George Mahon, Second Lieutenant Ed. French, and Messrs. George W. Merwin, A. S. Fritts, J. Tinsworth, F. L. Mosher, A. L. C. Marsh, and Wm. Aigner, of the Plainfield Bicycle Club took a spin yesterday to Fetlers, New Dorp Beach, L. I., by way of Rahway, Woodbridge, Perth Amboy, returning by way of Port Richmond, Bergen Point and Elizabeth. The total distance covered was about 85 miles. The boys report having had a splendid time.

Prof. E. H. Lewis, of Alfred Centre University, has accepted the position of "Fellow in English" at the Chicago University. He leaves for that city October 1st. Professor Lewis was last week made a Doctor of Philosophy at Syracuse University. It is suggested that C. C. (called to Chicago) be affixed to the names of the learned men and women of the East, the "Windy City" is securing so many of them. Prof. Lewis is the son of the Rev. A. H. Lewis of the Seventh Day Baptist church of this city, and was formerly on THE NEWS staff, where he gained an enviable name as a "hustler."

Fighting Among Themselves.

A number of affidavits were filed in court Saturday in support of a suit brought by Gummere, Hamnill and others, of Trenton, against the Reading Railroad deal. These plaintiffs are stockholders in the Lehigh Valley, and they allege that the Lehigh Valley is being discriminated against in this deal. They claim that business formerly secured by that road is now diverted by the combine to the Central Railroad, and the affidavits, which come from shippers, merchants and others familiar with the facts, go to sustain these allegations. Affidavits are also presented, showing that at the Liberty street station of the Reading road in New York passengers who asked for Lehigh Valley tickets could not obtain them. The ticket agents insisting on selling them Central Railroad tickets. One affidavit is from a woman, who affirms that the agents at Liberty street refused point blank to sell her a ticket over the Lehigh Valley road. She was compelled to take a ticket over the Central road.

Westfield's Water Works.

At an election held at Westfield last Thursday on the question of bonding the town for water-works or making a contract with the Union Water Company of Elizabeth, for a water supply the vote was about five to one in favor of the town owning its own water-works and bonding the town for procuring the necessary funds for building the plant. The total vote was 298, of which 241 were for and 57 against. The town Committee held a meeting Friday night, and, with this emphatic preference of the people before them, resolved to issue bonds in the sum of $40,000; and requested Craig A. Marsh of Plainfield, the town counsel, to draw up the necessary papers. Steps will also be taken immediately to enter into a contract with some company for the erection of the plant. The Connecticut Pipe Manufacturing Company has agreed to build the works and lay about six miles of pipes for $35,000, and to give bonds in the sum of $40,000 for the completion of the works for that amount.

Jere Johnson's Sale.

A large sale of lots took place at Netherwood Heights Saturday.

Over three hundred people were present. About five hundred were from this city. There were over 80 lots in the sale and all were disposed of but two. The total amount received for the lots was $61,000.

Among those who purchased were Judge J. Ulrich, Mr. Chas. Haud, Mr. J. D. Runyon, Mr. C. C. Burke, Mr. C. J. Barr, Mr. A. D. Thompson. Mr. J. Van Deventer, Mr. C. W. Ellis, and Mr. L. A. Langhorn.

Commencement at Trenton.

Among the eight graduates of the State Normal School, at Trenton, this year, is Walter M. Sage. He stands one of the highest in the class in history and mathematics, with a general average of 91 in twenty-one subjects.

The exercises are to be held June 29th. His parents reside at Union village, and are well known in this vicinity.

—"Say! I want a drink, not a shoe-c," the way some Plainfielders present will not too much from on a glass of soda.

LEAGUE BASE BALL.

SOMERVILLE WON FROM PLAINFIELD IN THE LAST INNING SATURDAY.

Both Teams Make Numerous Errors in a Rather Exciting Game—Eleven Players on Each Side—Westfielders Play a Loose Game at Elizabeth—The Scores.

Over three hundred base ball fellows journeyed to Somerville, Saturday afternoon, to witness the poorest game that the home team have played this season.

There were nearly two thousand people present, who yelled themselves hoarse for their respective teams.

Whether it was due to the coy and festive dude, with the huge bouquet, noisy rattle and still noisier tin-horn, the Raritan water or Somerville's extraordinary luck, the Crescents lost the game in the last inning.

Not only did the Crescents show signs of "yellow" playing, but the West Ends did likewise, and certainly had no license to win the game. Rarkins, the crank (?) first baseman, had three errors to his credit at the end of the so-called struggle.

Knouff, the Memphis pitcher who came here so well recommended, was placed in the box during the first inning. His "Fayleyline" contortions allowed every man to half way round the next base, before he pitched the ball, and at the beginning of the second inning he was placed in right field and Turner, who pitched the great game on June 18th, was put in the box.

While the latter pitched well on that day and also did his utmost on Saturday, still he is no match for the Somerville batters.

His being put in the box demoralizes the out and in-field. Leidy, who is a capital outfielder and who has not been charged with an error in two years, was put at second base and fumbled two balls.

Galligan, who has played excellent ball all his life, was placed in Leidy's place and made three errors, two at second base and one in right field.

Sneedan was placed in the box during the latter part of the sixth inning, but as his finger was swollen twice its natural size, he had very little speed and comparatively no control over the ball.

Murphy played in a listless sort of way, striking out twice. After securing a base hit in the first inning and particularly cautioned by Hofford to be careful of Miller, the latter caught him napping off at first base, and threw him out. Again in the last inning, when he was on first, instead of running half way to second base on Leidy's fly to Ryman, he went the whole distance, and Ryman, who caught the fly, promptly fielded it in to Barkins, forcing Murphy back before the latter could regain first base.

There is no doubt but what there will be a limit to Manager Keller's patience and there will probably be some changes in the team before next Saturday's game with the Westfields.

Captain Hofford played for all there was in it and was completely disgusted with some of the work the balance of the team did. Special mention must also be made of Jones, Bonner and Daly; who under the existing circumstances did the best they could. The latter, however, should cover more ground and not leave everything for Bonner to get. Leidy as a fielder and Turner on second base are, in their respective positions, jewels of the first water, and it is to be regretted that they had to be called upon to leave those places.

Umpire Berriman was as usual, impartial, although at times his close decisions seemed to favor the West Ends.

Next Wednesday the home team play the New Jersey Athletic Club in this city, and it is to be hoped that they will be re-organized, so as not to allow the amateurs to defeat them.

The score was as follows:

PLAINFIELDS.

	AB	R	2B	3B	SB	PO	A	E
Hofford, c.	5	1	1	0	0	0	4	0
Daley, 2b.	5	0	1	0	0	2	3	0
Murphy, 1f.	5	0	1	0	0	1	0	0
Turner, 3b.	5	2	1	0	0	1	2	0
Leidy, ss.	4	0	0	0	0	2	1	3
Bonner, s.s.	4	1	2	1	0	2	3	1
Jones, 1b.	4	0	1	1	0	8	1	1
Galligan, rf.	4	0	0	0	0	1	0	3
Knouff, p.	1	0	0	0	0	0	2	0
Powers, c. f.	3	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Sneeden, p.	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
	41	4	7	2	0	27	16	8

*No one out when winning runs were made.

SOMERVILLES.

	AB	R	2B	3B	SB	PO	A	E
Carbonell, c. f.	5	2	1	0	0	1	1	0
Farrel, 2b.	6	1	3	0	0	3	3	4
Carlin, c.f.	5	2	1	0	0	1	0	0
Hennigan, 1f.	5	1	1	0	0	1	0	0
Barkins, 1b.	5	1	1	0	0	2	14	0
Kennedy, c.	4	0	0	0	0	6	2	0
Ryman, s.s.	4	0	0	0	0	2	2	0
Moorehead, s.s	5	0	0	0	0	1	0	1
Sullivan, 3b.	4	0	0	0	0	1	0	1
Miller, p.	4	0	0	0	0	0	3	0
Anderson, p.	4	1	0	1	0	0	3	0
	47	8	7	1	0	18	28	6

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	R	H	E
Plainfield	2	0	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	4	7	6
Base hits	2	0	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	4	7	6
Somerville	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	2	7	6
Base hits	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	0	0	0	1	7	7	6

Somerville, June 25th. Earned runs, Plainfield 3, Somerville, 1; two base hits, Hofford 2, Somerville, 2; Farrel, Barkins. Three-base hits, Leidy, Barkins. Bases on balls, Somerville, 2; Plainfield, 3. Double plays, Bonner and Jones; Ryman and Barkins. Hit by pitched ball, Carbonell, 2; Farrel, 2; Miller, Daley, Bonner, 2; Sneeden, 1; Turner, 1. Passed balls, Kennedy. Time of game, two hours and forty minutes. Umpire, Mr. Berriman.

The Westfields went to Elizabeth Saturday, prepared to get revenge for their defeat the Saturday previous.

They were never "in it" from the start.

Errors on both sides were numerous and costly. Elizabeth took the lead in the third inning and every never headed, leading a winner by the score of thirteen to three. Francis only struck out one man and eight hits were made from him. Clare was pounded unmercifully, the "mat water" men making a total of nineteen base hits. The following was the score:

	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.	E.
Coogan, r.f.	3	4	0	0	0
Bowes, 1b.	2	1	12	2	0
Mattray, s.s.	1	2	2	3	0
Williams, 2b.	2	3	1	3	0
Tierney, c.f.	1	3	0	0	0
Dillon, l.f.	0	1	1	0	0
Berry, 3b.	0	1	0	1	1
Rafferty, 2b.	1	2	4	1	1
Francis, p.	3	2	0	1	0
Total	13	19	27	11	2

WESTFIELD.

	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.	E.
Howe, s.s.	1	1	2	5	1
McIndoe, 2b.	1	0	0	0	1
Lever, c.f.	0	2	0	1	0
Hammond, 1b.	0	2	12	1	0
Smith, 3b.	1	1	2	4	0
O'Neil, lf.	0	1	1	0	2
Hamilton, r.f.	0	1	1	0	0
Warner, c.	0	0	7	0	0
Clare, p.	0	0	1	2	0
Total	3	8	27	13	4

Y. M. C. L. A. 0 0 1 1 3 0 1 4—10
Westfield 0 0 3 1 0 0 0 0— 4

Earned runs—Y. M. C. L. A. 6. First base by errors—Y. M. C. L. A. 5; Westfield, 2. Left on bases—Y. M. C. L. A. 10; Westfield, 5. Struck out—By Francis, 11 by Clare, 4. Two base hits—Coogan, 2, Williams, Bowes, Murray. Sacrifice hits—Williams. Stolen bases—Y. M. C. L. A. 7; Westfield, 2. Double play—Howe, Hammond and Bowes. Hit by pitcher—By Clare 1. Passed ball—Warner, 3. Umpires—McCarthy and Galligan. Time of game—2:13.

HOW THE CLUBS STAND.

	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Per Cent.
Plainfield	5	3	2	.667
Elizabeth	6	4	2	.667
Somerville	5	4	1	.800
Westfield	6	0	1	.167
Games lost	2	2	2

STATE NEWS

In the western part of Morris county, on Tuesday last, hailstones fell that were two inches in diameter. They broke hundreds of window glasses and stripped leaves and small branches from the trees.

Lightning struck at Caleb Wyckoff's place in Oxford township, Warren county, splitting a tree and killing a number of chickens and and cutting off the supply of the water from the mountain. Near Belvidere a tree was struck and fifteen chickens belonging to Florence Hefter were killed.

A 75-pound drumdek, while sporting in the surf near Asbury Park, at Asbury Park, was thrown against one of the piling of the steps. Fortunately the force was such that it was paralyzed for a time, and the bathers captured the monster easily and dragged it ashore. The fish weighed plump 75 pounds.

The Rev. Father Gessner of Elizabeth wants all the liquor stores closed from Saturday night until 5 o'clock next Monday. He had an ordinance drawn up to that effect, which was presented to the City Council and nominated for Excise Commissioner by Alderman Hirring, Republican, and got three votes. Had another ballot been taken he would have secured at least four votes. The Democrats, however, got alarmed and discontinued further balloting.

Firemen Will Celebrate.

Asbury Park is in the lead this year on Fourth of July celebrations. Capps's Band of forty pieces has been engaged for the day. There will be a grand parade of the volunteer firemen of New Jersey in the afternoon, and in the evening will be shown the most extensive display of fireworks ever exhibited on the coast.

Three prizes of $100, $75 and $50 will be awarded to the best appearing one hose company in the parade—the Asbury Park firemen not competing. A day at the beach, with bathing, fishing and kindred sports, together with the parade and prize competition, ought to rouse the enthusiasm of every fireman in the State. Invitations have been sent to all the volunteers throughout the State.

Saloons at Lambertville.

The Governor has appointed as Excise Commissioners for Hunterdon county Peter Parker, Lambertville; William Swayzee, Glen Gardon, and Wilson Robinson, Frenchtown.

The Board was appointed because at a charter election in Lambertville last April the people voted to abolish saloons, a majority voted no license, and since June 1 all hotel bars and saloons, six in all, have been closed. Those interested in license sent a petition to Gov. Abbett requesting the names of the local voters of the city receiving him to appoint the board. Licenses will now be granted in defiance of the popular will, to show that the majority does not rule in New Jersey while Gov. Abbett is in power and the saloons are in question.

A Conflagration Averted.

A lamp exploded in a building on West Front street near Madison avenue, Saturday night. Assistance was called upon from the Engine Company, which is located directly across the street. The lamp was thrown out and the fire was quickly extinguished.

Real Estate Transfer.

The following recorded conveyance of property is reported:

Second street, adjoining Charles J. Bonnell's land, Nathan M. Edsall to Jacob T. Jolley, executor, to Charles W. Fisher.....$2,500

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

HER HONOR AVENGED.

Clergyman Killed in Open Court this Morning by Edwin Diven.

New York, June 27th. (Special.)—Edwin Diven, a brother to Sarah Diven, the 15-year-old girl who is prosecuting Max Clergyt for criminal assault, shot and killed the latter in open court this morning. The assailant is a cripple and is half-witted.

Smallpox and Yellow Fever in Mexico.

City of Mexico, Mex., June 27. (Special.)—The rainy season has brought with it an epidemic of smallpox. In the vicinity of Sultepec the malady is spreading at an alarming rate and a great many deaths have been reported. There are two hundred cases in this city and the death rate during the past few days has been increasing rapidly. There are also a number of cases of yellow fever at Vera Cruz.

Did Not Collide.

New York, June 27th.—(Special.)—The steamship Vega, which was supposed to have been in collision at sea with the sailing vessel Fred. B. Taylor, arrived at quarantine at 5.12 this morning. She reports that she was not in collision with the Fred B. Taylor or any other vessel.

Killed While Walking in His Sleep.

New York, June 27th. (Special.)—Early this morning Richard Dore, of 265 West Sixty-sixth street, while walking in his sleep, fell out of the window of his room into the yard, striking his head and dying instantly.

Patents Granted to Inventive Jerseymen.

Patents granted to Jerseymen for the week ending June 21, 1892: Process for recovering tin from scrap, J. J. Mac Paterson; apparatus for casting metals, J. J. C. Smith, Passaic; urn, T. Miller, Jersey City; baby guard for steamer, H. Wirths, of Jersey City; safety calf button link, J. C. Bloren, Newark; typewriting machine (three), Wm. Hall, Jersey Jersey City; printing telegraph (two patents), C. J. Reed, Orange; display device, E. S. Prentis, Elizabeth; carriage, W. W. Goodwin, Bordentown; oiling device, C. P. Kunz, Delair; spanning bale ropes, J. C. Higgins, New Brunswick; buckle, H. C. Milligan, South Orange; machine for lapping coil, C. Jr., Bridgeton, dosken, (two patents) A. Carbowitz, Newark; design, S. T. Mosher, Newark; five pipe stems, W. W. Hayden, Newark; design, L. A. Flagel, Paterson; design, J. Cooley, Trenton; trademark, (six patents) the Keyer Thread Co., East Newark, trademark, Keystone Chemical Co., Camden.

Out to Cincinnati.

A special train composed of two coaches labeled "New York County Prohibitionists," and containing fifty-eight delegates, passed through this city this morning, en route to Cincinnati, where the National Prohibition Convention is to be held. The occupants of the train were the New York and New Jersey delegates to the above convention.

Plainfield Society P. C. C.

A meeting will be held to-night of Plainfield Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, to elect officers. It is desired that as many members as possible attend. The meeting will be held at Republican Association rooms, East Front street.

CHARLES PLACE,
President.

—People who conceal their mistakes in many instances destroy their only chances of usefulness in life. The world likes to be shown its errors. Dr. Pierce's pleasant pellets, though as examples of misdirected effort, may serve to illustrate how good can result from evil. He very often confers a benefit by discovering some bit of wit or beauty that nearly everybody else has forgotten. The plagiarist who attracts attention must needs be a man of considerable literary discrimination.

—A person is taller in the morning than at night. The reason is that he is pressed down during the day by the weight of the atmosphere. At night the pressure of the upper parts of his body is less, because of the recumbent posture. These weights press down the cartilages of the joints, and especially those in the spine, and thus the height of the body is reduced. When the weights are removed and he lies down at night the cartilages spring back to their original gradually return to their original size.—London Medical Record.

(Have some H.O. for breakfast).

Why?

Delicate, sustaining, always relished—That's why.

LOOK at Werner's Show Windows
30 WEST FRONT STREET,
and see what you can do in $15 suits reduced to $10
Cut to Latest Styles.
FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS ONLY.
All Sizes and All Wool.
Outing Shirts and Straw Hats just receive. Clothing Made to Order. Other goods at proportionately Low Prices.

Big Bargains

Extra fine 36c. Dress Gingham at 18c. Plaid Dress Gingham, 5c. Outing Flannel, 5c. New style in Irish Lawns, 12c. New Scotch Organdie at 8c., very stylish and pretty. Plaid Nainsooks, 5c. Fine Silk Satin, 12c. Black Silk Mitts, 25c.

Excellent quality Cotton Pongee at 15c. Lot Ladies' Short Waists at 25c. Men's Night Shirts 40c. Boys' Outing Shirts, 25c. The best 50c. ventilated Corsets ever offered this city. Superior Silk Gloria Umbrellas, $1.39.

Our assortment of new styles Mattings and Low Prices surpasses anything ever before offered in this city. Our assortment of Elegant Carpets, Art Squares, Rugs, etc., is complete and prices guaranteed the Lowest.

EDSALL'S!

We are getting away with lots of Room Shoes this month—now is the time to buy them.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S,
22 West Front street.

P. S.—Our $3 shoe never takes a back seat.

Cent-a-Word Column.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Girl to do plain cooking, washing and ironing. Inquire at Mrs. Jos. Blair, 70 Somerset street, North Plainfield. 27 3*

$75 TO $250 can be made monthly selling for R. F. John-ton & Co., 1032 to 1036 Main street, Richmond, Va. 6 9 1m*

BOARDERS WANTED.

A T 19 Craig place, furnished rooms with board. Table boarders accommodated. 6 23 3t

FOR RENT.

FOUR large rooms down stairs to rent. 119 Jackson avenue. 25 3

FURNISHED house to let, 74 Grove street. Enquire on premises. All modern improvements. Stable on property. July 1st to October 1st. Terms moderate. Inquire on premises. 25 6

TO LET—Barn, 2 stalls and wagon room. No. 43 Manning avenue. S. O. Stout. 27 4

FOR SALE.

HORSE and buggy for sale; $225. Horse is sound and perfectly gentle; has been used in less than three months. Buggy new last Fall. Address Box 178, Metuchen, N. J. 27 2

FOR SALE—An 1892 cushion tire Psycho safety bicycle, very cheap. Address "Psycho," box 1, Rahway, N. J. 24 3

FOR SALE—A lot on Mountain avenue. A bargain. H. D. Morrison, 9 Somerset street. 22 6

FOR sale or lease, a large building, fitted up with the business at 51-53 Somerset street. For particulars inquire on the premises. 20 6*

MISCELLANEOUS.

CARRIAGES taken on sale or storage. C. F. Reynolds, 7 Somerset street. 21 6*

OLD FASHIONED Hollands in barrel order, bought and sold. Call Peninsular cocoa, 11 Somerset street. 2 6m*

STOLEN work horse, branded at Dennis & Hilliard Avenue Nursery. Description and details for sale. 25 5

SECURE your tickets for the Cleveland Banquet. For particulars apply at Mulford's. 5 23tf

WANTED—A small building to rent, by a social club of young men. Address "Club," care of Evening News. 27 2

WANTED—People to know, our artist, cheap. Address "E. J." McDonald. 26 4

SUN RISE, 4.30; SUN SET, 7.35.

VanEmburgh & White

INDUCEMENTS

For 30c.

Embroidered Flouncings to-morrow 45in. wide. We have bought all there was of them, about 2,000 yards. The proper value is from 60c. to $1 per yard.

The price but 13c.

For a Children's full regular made fast black Stocking, Hermsdorf dye, worth 20c. they are.

The price but 15c.

Gentlemen, you need them these warm days, a French Ballbriggan Shirt that is worth 50 cents of any one's money.

As complete an assortment of wash fabrics, such as Gingham, Challies, Cambric, Crepe Cloth, Satteen and Bedford Cord as you find in most New York houses, and the prices and styles you will not find fault with.

Flags, Fireworks, and Japanese Lanterns, and other accessories for a Jolly Fourth, can be had from A. W. RAND, 32 West Front Street.

FOURTH OF JULY EXCURSION TO
Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko, and the famed Switchback on the Central Railroad of New Jersey to the Port R. R. Co. Grounds.
Monday, July 4th.
Tickets will Plainfield for Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko and the Switchback at $1.75 R. T.
Fare for round trip $1.75. Switchback tickets at half rates if purchased on excursion train. 27 6*

FRED. W. DUNN,
Successor to
Barkalew & Dunn,
19 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.
Fine Groceries.
THREE SEP TEA

NOTICE.
All persons are forbidden using any kind of fireworks in the streets, within the city limits, before the twenty-fifth day of July, and every person found guilty will be arrested on his and their bondsmen may prosecute.
By order of Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, this 20th day of June, 1892.
Attest: JOHN F. DUNN, Secretary.
Notice is hereby given that the above ordinance will be strictly enforced, and all persons found guilty of violating the same will be arrested and fined the full amount of the penalty. Parents and guardians are also notified to look after the children under their charge, and see that they do not violate the ordinance, or have any kind of fireworks in their possession. By order of the Common Council.
GEORGE W. GRANT,
Chief of Police.

BOYNTON : :
- - BEACH,
WITH Greatly Increased
Attractions.
OPENED
SATURDAY,
June 18th, 1892.

EDITORIAL NOTES

"All for love and the world well lost," would be well enough only for the fact that the love itself often gets lost too. Commended especially to married elopers.

It is not true that in this country the rich are growing richer while the poor are growing poorer, but it is true that the rich are growing richer faster than the poor are becoming less poor.

A charter has been obtained in Pennsylvania, according to a recent dispatch, to build the Kishacoquillas Valley railroad, nine miles long. This is evidently a mistake. It is the name that is nine miles long, not the road.

Dr. Albert Shaw computes that the summer schools of America will directly reach this season at least a million men, women and children. It is gratifying to know that our nation is not altogether given up to the pursuit of money, without any effort to get that finer culture which in all cases should go along with its possession.

Hear, hear! "We have happily rid ourselves somewhat of the obsequious prepossession which leads the Chinese to regard all other peoples as outside barbarians; but our perceptions are still obscured by anthropocentric prejudice which prevents us from recognizing any psychical analogy between the lower animals and ourselves."

The Socialist party of Germany is becoming so conservative and high toned that it would not be strange to find its members at length turn out the warmest supporters of the little emperor. In America those who agitate for a new social order are becoming so respectable that they even do not like to be mentioned along with the fire eating, fiery haired John Most. Not long ago a labor union in New York city objected to letting him make an eight hour speech, even when it was explained that the eight hours did not refer merely to the length of the speech, but to the length of a mechanic's working day as well. When people begin to have regard for the conventionalities away goes their radicalism.

A Domestic Hint from Germany.

A short time ago the great Housewife union of Germany, held its annual meeting in Berlin for the public rewarding of faithful domestic servants. The Housewife union has in some respects revolutionized both domestic service and the food supply of Berlin. It is a powerful organization of housekeepers who hold together as one woman for all domestic reforms they have insisted on and carried out.

One of these reforms was the improvement of domestic service in Berlin particularly. To bring this about they offered prizes to the women who had worked for a term of years, not less than five for the lowest in the same family, and performed satisfactory labor during that time. Prizes in increasing value are awarded up to a thirty years' term of service. The first prize at the last meeting was given to an old woman who had been working housekeeper in the same family for fifty years. She had become too old for labor, but the family cared for her in her feebleness. It is not likely that since the days of slavery a woman can be found in America who has worked fifty years in the same family. In all, at Berlin meeting, twenty-eight women were rewarded, most of whom had lived quite twenty years in the same place.

An organization of this kind among the housekeepers of America would undoubtedly help settle the vexed servant girl problem.

Rest in Change.

Rest does not mean doing nothing. That is the most fatiguing existence of all. The vacation which does a human being most good is that which gives the most complete change from his ordinary vocation, with the condition of course that the change is a pleasant one. Change everybody must have, or be will sink into a state of mental imbecility or go mad. Even the plants that work all the time do not run in a rut. They change their place and relative position to the sun every moment. If they had to run on through all eternity like a blind horse in a treadmill they would at last fly wildly off into space and burst up the universe. They could not endure the monotony.

In the following paragraphs in the Boston Globe Joseph Howard tells us how he once rested:

"I think it is quite possible for corporations to be contented with smaller dividends. Then men of moderate means could indulge annually in that greatest of blessings an ocean trip. Twenty years ago I was tired out, and it suddenly occurred to me that it might be a good idea for me to try an ocean voyage. The water and I were fortunate in securing a very pleasant room on the Majestic and started out on a beautiful bay day. After arranging my traps I threw myself into the bunk and slept two solid days. Lunch was served on the second day as well. I then went to sleep again and awoke at dinner time. An hour's promenade and observation on deck quite exhausted me, and I turned in for the night at 10 o'clock and slept like a log till of the following morning.

I had a touch of shakiness then, and it seemed as if I couldn't get steamboating or food enough. A more enjoyable, a more stimulating, a more invigorating week I never had. There are scores of thousands of men who like myself spend every waking hour 365 days in the year. Sundays and holidays are no different from the rest. Every muscle strained to the utmost and every muscle strained to the limit.

TWELVE WERE KILLED.

Awful Havoc of the Pennsylvania Railroad Wreck.

PRESIDENT ROBERTS AT THE SCENE

Physicians Say Hayes, the Young Operator, Whose Bad Judgment Is Said to Have Caused the Wreck, May Die Insane if He Is Not Released.

HARRISBURG, June 27.—F. Colberg, of Brooklyn, died at the hospital, making the twelfth victim of the awful wreck here Saturday, when the second section of the Pennsylvania railroad's western express ran into the first section, completely telescoping two cars. The remains of Miss Lizzie Blair have been sent to Philadelphia. The body of Professor Smith, principal of the Normal school at Baltimore, was shipped to Canandaigua, N. Y. The following is a correct list of the dead and injured:

Names of the Dead.

Richard Adams, Harrisburg; Lizzie Blair, Philadelphia; John Black, Altoona; F. Colberg, Brooklyn; Mrs. Orish Heebner, Norristown; Winfield Heebner, Norristown; Daniel Mason, Philadelphia, Md.; C. E. Lee, Pittsburg; Rev. Da Costa Pomeroy, Philadelphia; Robert Raymond, Columbus, O; Professor G. R. Smith, Baltimore, and E. M. Whitlock, Cleveland.

The following have been discharged from the hospital: W. B. Parsons, New York; Percy M. Landis, son of E. Y. Landis, superintendent of Black & McFeeridge, the lithographers and steel engravers, Philadelphia; A. J. Coes, Philadelphia; Thomas W. Farting, Buffalo; William R. Black, Philadelphia; F. G. Oehle, Buffalo; Mrs. Martha Weidmeyer, Pittsburg; John N. Alves, baggagemaster of the second section, Philadelphia; William H. Woodyard, colored porter, New York; Uriah Heebner, Norristown.

Operator Hayes Distressed.

H. S. Hayes, the young operator at the Steelton tower, who is supposed to have been at least partly responsible for the wreck, spent the entire night in dreadful suspense, lying on his cot and sobbing bitterly. Several physicians say he is liable to become insane if confined much longer. Representative Tinkenberry, of Columbia county, offered bond for his release, which was refused.

Engineer Kelly Censured.

Hugh Kelly, engineer, of the second section of the western express, is also receiving blame for his share in the calamity. His testimony before the coroner's jury established that he was running at a forty-mile-an-hour rate when the collision occurred, a rate twenty-five miles in excess of that permitted by statute within the city limits. Kelly testified that, had he run at the statutory fifteen mile per hour speed, he could have stopped his train and averted the collision. The danger signal which the Dock street operator testifies he displayed could not be seen by Kelly at a distance of 200 feet, owing, as he testifies, to the severe curve at that point. Though the coroner's jury has not finished the investigation, it is generally believed that Kelly will be indicted along with Operator Hayes. Kelly, who has been in the company's employ for twenty-one years, has never caused an accident before.

One of the victims has been identified as J. Black, the name being engraved on his collar button; otherwise nothing is known of him.

President Roberts of the Pennsylvania railroad and several other officials of the company are here, attending the hearing.

How It Happened.

The western express came to this city in two sections. The first section, consisting of six coaches and the Westinghouse private car, was held at the Dock street bridge tower until a clear track could be given it into the Union depot. Hugh Kelly, engineer of the second section, received a signal to go ahead at the Steelton tower, and the train of six coaches, drawn by the rate of forty-five miles an hour, around the curve and into the first section. Two coaches, which were filled with passengers, were telescoped, the Westinghouse private car wrecked and the baggage car and express car of the second section completely demolished.

There was a horrible grinding and crashing sound, and immediately after the groans and shrieks of the injured and dying passengers. The industrial establishments in South Harrisburg at once supplied an army of willing men, who did all in their power to rescue the imprisoned men, women and children and alleviate their sufferings. The firemen and police force, under Mayor Fritchey's direction, also did excellent service.

Bodies Horribly Mangled.

Dead bodies were soon lying along the track with a rain like unto a cloudburst pouring down upon them. Some of these were so horribly mangled that recognition is out of the question. Heads were cut, arms torn, legs broken and the flesh torn in shreds by the splintered wood of the cars.

In the day coaches awful carnage took place. Many passengers were half scalped and were awfully cut. The horrible crashing and grinding of the timbers, while others never know the fate which overtook them. Engineer Hugh Kelly and Fireman Harry Reed, both of Philadelphia, sat in the cab of the locomotive which buried itself in the Westinghouse car. They escaped as by a miracle.

One of the cars took fire and those still alive were panic stricken. An alarm of fire was sounded and in a few moments the whole department responded and the flames were quenched.

One young woman was pinned to the ground, having the corner of car 726 resting on her body, besides a lot of debris. Her clothes were stripped from her. This was the most heartrending scene of the wreck. Jacks were secured and after a half hour's work the body was taken from its awful position.

Rev. Da Costa Pomeroy, of Philadelphia, one of the dead, was a graduate of Princeton college, class of '85, and was about thirty-two years old. He had charge of a Presbyterian congregation at Akron, O.

J. E. Palmer, the engineer on duty at Dock street tower, and H. S. Hayes, at the Steelton tower, went both extra men. Hayes testified that it was the first time that he had worked at the Steelton tower. He could not raise the Dock street operator, so he used his judgment and let the second section go, contrary to the rules of the company.

Dedicated by Archbishop Ryan.

CAMDEN, Pa., June 27.—The first Catholic church in Ridley township, to be known as the St. Rose of Lima, was formally dedicated by Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia.

Drowned at New Haven.

NEW HAVEN, June 27.—Joseph Rich, an Italian lad, 17 years of age, was drowned in the Quinnipiac river.

GRESHAM WILL NOT RUN.

No Decision to Be the People's Party Candidate.

FRENCH LICK SPRINGS, Ind., June 27.—Judge Walter Q. Gresham will not be the standard bearer of the People's party. He conversed freely with a correspondent on the subject of the third party nomination.

"I have not permitted and shall not permit the use of my name at the Omaha convention," said he. "I have no right to assume that the honor will be tendered me, but I will say my name will not go before the convention with my consent. I have never told any of the leaders of the People's party that I would accept if nominated."

Regarding the People's party platform the judge said he believed in the large portion of it, but not in the subtreasury scheme. He thinks the principles of the third party will take hold of the masses, and that is the party of the future.

ONE HUNDRED MEN DISCHARGED.

Carnegie, Phipps & Co. Preparing for a Big Fight with Labor.

PITTSBURG, June 27.—Carnegie, Phipps & Co. have discharged 100 of their skilled workmen and shut down four furnaces at their Bessemer mills. The men all belong to the Amalgamated association. There is no reason given for this move on the part of the firm. The company evidently are preparing for a struggle with the Amalgamated association. The scale of wages expires next Thursday night, and all indications are that the 4,000 workers at Homestead will all be on a strike Friday morning.

The company has built a fifteen foot fence around their entire works. This barrier is performed with steel. The gateway is open only when the company, it seems, are going to be well prepared to keep them on the outside during any trouble with them.

FASHIONS

Hats and Bonnets.

A VERY PRETTY BONNET.

The summer hats of 1892 have captivated the fancy of society women. There is an irresistible kink to the brim or a fetching arrangement of the gay ribbons which overcomes even the most quiet taste. On the round hats the brims are growing larger.

Our cut is the latest novelty in the way of a dainty bonnet with a small crown of the fairyiure, surrounded by a pleating of pale blue tulle, edged with a narrow line of fine black lace. Pale blue ribbon bows are seen in front, surmounted by a deep purple orchid. Tied with narrow strings of black velvet, this is an extremely pretty little bonnet.

Bookmaker White's Big Winnings.

CHICAGO, June 27.—Probably the biggest winner on Carisbad in the American Derby was Arthur White, the young Bookmaker at the track. White cleared over $14,000, winning on the race, backing the horse on the outside and holding him out in his book. White, who for nearly twenty years has come to Chicago about a year ago with $700. White fancied Carisbad and played $1,000 on him to face $2,000 and let her go at that. In addition to this he held him out in his book and made over $4,000 on the race in that way.

Seven Killed by a Cloudburst.

MASON CITY, Ia., June 27.—Complete reports from the cloudburst that laid waste many sections of Chickasaw county are now in. At Fredericksburg two persons were killed and a dozen injured, some fatally. At Sumner five persons were killed outright. The destruction to property and growing crops will exceed $300,000. The homes of twenty-eight farmers are completely destroyed.

An Insane Farmer Raids the Fort.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 27.—John Nugent, a farmer at Moody's mills, Dutchess county, became insane and drove his family out of the house at the point of a pistol. A deputy sheriff and neighbors attempted to secure him, but he still holds them at bay, threatening to shoot whoever comes near the house.

Major Speeds With Ease.

MARION, Ind., June 27.—Major G. Syvele, who has been mentioned frequently as a candidate for governor, has decided to enter the race. He is one of the best known politicians in the state, having represented this district in congress for eight years, besides serving as the first governor of Oklahoma.

Body and Coffin Petrified.

COVINGTON, Ky., June 27.—After being interred two years the body of James Alvord was exhumed at the Wesleyan cemetery. The entire body and part of the coffin were completely petrified.

A Woman Burned to Death.

PATERSON, N. J., June 27.—Mrs. Margaret Miller, a widow, while sewing, accidentally set fire to her clothing. She was burned her clothing and she was so badly burned that she died.

Stabbed Him in Self Defense.

NEWBURG, N. Y., July 27.—Anton Gross stabbed and killed Philip Fesselmeyer at New Windsor. Gross claims to have stabbed in self defense. Both men had been drinking.

Mrs. French-Sheldon a Widow.

BOSTON, June 27.—Mrs. May French Sheldon, the African explorer, has received a cablegram announcing the death of her husband, F. J. Sheldon, in London.

CLARKSON AS CHAIRMAN.

He Is Struggling for a Second Term.

OPPOSED BY PRESIDENT HARRISON.

It Is Said That the Chief Executive Does Not Desire to Have Mr. Clarkson at the Head of the Republican National Committee.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The national Republican committee has begun its session here, and a lively contest is being waged over the chairmanship. Since the Minneapolis convention statements have been published as coming from Mr. Clarkson to the effect that he did not desire to serve another term as chairman, but these apparently were without authority from him. Mr. Clarkson has stated to his friends that if they desire him to serve as chairman of the committee and will elect him he will accept the position.

Not the President's Choice.

The selection of Mr. Clarkson as chairman of the committee, however, will be opposed by the friends of the administration, and the probabilities are that George V. Massey, of Delaware, who was second by the state of Delaware, and Thomas Harrison, at Minneapolis, will be selected to oppose Clarkson. In the event that a straight contest shall come between Mr. Clarkson and an administration representative it can not be stated what the result will be. Both parties claim to be able to control a majority of the members of the committee.

Upon one point it is said they are agreed, and that is that the administration has twenty-one members of the committee who can be depended upon in any exigency. The opposition claim that the selection of Mr. Clarkson as chairman of the national committee would be equivalent to the declaration of the administration concede them but nineteen, leaving six or eight members in doubt. Because of this uncertainty efforts are being made to harmonize the differences in the committee, and various schemes are under consideration.

They May Decide Upon Bliss.

One is that in view of the fact that the work of the committee must be done in New York city, a New York business man should be chosen to conduct its operations. If it be found that this can be done and it is determined to do it, the name of Cornelius N. Bliss will probably be presented to the committee for consideration in that connection. It is understood that Mr. Bliss has intimated his willingness to undertake the difficult work of the place.

Another proposition is that the suggestion made at Minneapolis shall be carried out, viz.: That Mr. Clarkson be elected chairman of the national committee and another person be chosen as chairman of the executive committee. But this does not seem to me to be the wishes of either side. Mr. Clarkson is reported to have said that he will be chairman of the national committee and chairman of the executive committee or neither.

It is said by friends of the administration that there is no precedent in the party organization for the division of these two offices, but should this arrangement be carried out the name of Mr. I. T. Michener will probably be canvassed in connection with the chairmanship of the executive committee. Mr. Michener was in charge of the Harrison forces at Minneapolis, and his work there won much praise from all who witnessed it.

Empire State Republicans to Meet.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 27.—The Empire State league of Republican clubs will begin its fifth annual convention in Washington rink. Over 500 clubs are affiliated with the league and each club is entitled to be represented in the convention by three delegates and three alternates. Extensive preparations for entertaining the delegates and for facilitating the work of the convention has been made by the executive committee of the Monroe County League of Republican clubs.

Washington rink has been put in gaudy attire for the event.

The first session of the convention will be opened at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. Mayor Cowan will deliver a short address of welcome. Then the session, and President E. A. McAlpin of the state league will respond. In the evening there will be a mass meeting at the rink. Judge William E. White, president of the Brooklyn County league, will preside. This gathering will partake of the nature of a ratification of the Republican ticket at Minneapolis. Julius Cæsar Burrows, of Michigan, and ex-Representative Roswell G. Horr of the same state will make speeches.

To Wait Upon Mr. Cleveland.

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—The Hon. Nicholas Bell, secretary of the national Democratic committee, has issued the following communication to the committee appointed to wait on the nominees of the conventions which declared for free coinage: "In accordance of the Chicago convention has appointed as a subcommittee the Hon. Norman E. Mack, of Buffalo; W. A. Collage, of Virginia; Robert J. Vance, of Connecticut; Patrick Maguire, of Boston, and George H. Barker, of New Jersey, to wait on the nominee of the convention for the purpose of informing him of his nomination. The time and place and occasion when and where it will be his pleasure to meet the committee."

He Wants Senator Quay to Put Up.

MEMPHIS, June 27.—A. W. Billings, of Chicago, who owns all of the street railway lines in Memphis, has offered to wager $20,000 that Cleveland will be defeated, and that he will carry New York, Illinois and Wisconsin by large pluralities. Mr. Billings has heard that Senator Quay made the remark, after hearing the result of the Chicago convention that he would wager $10,000 that Harrison would be re-elected. He has telegraphed the Pennsylvania senator to put up.

McGrath Leaves the Party.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 27.—At a caucus here a bolting faction of the People's party, organized the Kansas Alliance, in which he announces his withdrawal from the People's party. He charges that the People's party is in the hands of the liquor and tobacco men, and that the farmers are without influence in its councils. Republicans declare that McGrath's action will bring back to their party its old time majority.

Carter Claims Montana.

ST. PAUL, June 27.—Thomas H. Carter, of Montana, commissioner of the general land office, says: "Montana will give a Republican majority of over 6,000 votes. The Democratic platform with 16to Cleveland as a candidate destroys all hope of free coinage, in which Montana is greatly interested. If, Cleveland is the most unpopular candidate that could have been nominated so far as Montana is concerned."

Admiral Meeches Dead.

PARIS, June 27.—Admiral Mouchez, director of the Paris observatory, is dead.

THE BEE HIVE!

Bathing tights, 10, 12, 14 and 15c.
Canvas belts, 5 and 10c.
Ladies' Jersey mitts in black, tan and cream, 20 and 25c.
Ladies' ribbed Jersey vests, 10, 15, 20 and 25c.
Gauze vests, 25c.
Children's gauze vests in short and long sleeves and pantlets to match, 12, 15, 18 and 20c.
Full line of misses' white lawn suits.
Male's Balbriggan shirts and drawers, 40c. and 50c.
Men's Jean Drawers, 30c.
Boys' short gauze drawers 20c.

Louis Callman,
40 West Front Street.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong ice to this market, are now prepared to serve their patrons with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CODDINGTON, Pres.
H. CODDINGTON, Vice-Pres.
ANDREW WILSON, Sec. & Treas.
J. MORTON, Gen. Supt.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks,

30 W. Second street.

George - Bremmer,

No 28 SOMERSET STREET,
READY MADE CLOTHING,
or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

COAL and WOOD,
E. H. HOLMES,
YARD—24 Madison Avenue.
Office—27 North avenue, with Woolston & Buckle.

Joseph T. Sullivan,
No. 66 West Third Street,
Dealer in Choice
Wines, Liquors, etc.
BEER ON DRAUGHT.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,
17 West Front Street

EUROPE!

Tickets for Hamburg, Stettin, Havre, Paris, Copenhagen, All Scandinavian or Finnish points.
To Glasgow, Londonderry, Liverpool, etc.
AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES.
Illustrated catalogue giving views of scenery, etc., mailed free.

H. D. Morrison, 9 Somerset St.

(Any line or steamer.)

Having Disposed of the Produce Business to Mr. L. A. Hosmer, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No. 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand first-class horses, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.

Ice Cream Freezers.

The Automatic,
Needs no turning.

The Rapid,
Best and quickest crank freezer.

GARDEN HOSE,
and
Lawn - Sprinklers.

A. M. GRIFFEN,
12 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

C. DICKINSON,
PRACTICAL
OPTICIAN
and
JEWELER.
Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Agent for the American
Rambler Bicycles.
No. 18 Park avenue.

ON SALE TO-DAY
Our Spring Line of
Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.
Several new patterns this Spring never shown before
CALL AND SEE THEM.
O. M. DUNHAM,
Hatter and Furnisher.
46 West Front Street.

USE THE BEST!
DOMESTIC
SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS
SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC
4 & 5 cents per Copy.
Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.
A. M. Vanderbeek's,
22 PARK AVENUE.

GET YOUR
Bicycle Repaired
at
NO. 3 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
by
Henry Goeller, Jr.

A. M. SEGUINE,
PROPRIETOR OF
Laing's Hotel Stables,
on Front Street, Opp. Madison Avenue.
TELEPHONE CALL NO. 26.
Coaches for weddings, funerals and private use.
Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.
Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.
BOARDED HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!
ALL SIZES,
Of finest
Light Blue Color.
References:—
F. A. DURHAM, City Surveyor.
ROBT. A. MEEKER, Street Com.

Smalley Bros.,
94 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!
L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,
80 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,
Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for cleaning coal, by which he really believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.
UPPER LEHIGH AND HONESDALE COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.
HOUSE AND BOILER COAL A SPECIALTY.
He would also announce recently increased facilities for Tunneling and Sewer Laying, and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,
Dealer in BEST
QUALITY COAL
YARD AND OFFICE
SOUTH AVENUE.
P. O. BOX 1407.
Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors at Law, Commissioners, Notaries, Masters in Chancery, Robertson Pollock, Citizens, corner of Park avenue and Front street.

F. A. DURHAM, C.E.,
Engineer of the Famous Union County Water Supply System is given to street paving and sewerage. Office, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON,
Attorney-at-Law, Master in Chancery, Notary Public. Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 28 West Front street.

CLARK & REED,
Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CRAIG & MAINES,
Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Conveyancers, Notaries Public. Office corner Front and Somerset streets.

OSCAR E. TEALE,
Architect, 258 Broadway, New York city, rooms 26 and 27. Importers and Traders' Bank Building. Residence, Plainfield N. J.

PLAINFIELD
WOOLLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY

JONES & CO.
Work quickly and thoroughly done. Prices lower in Chicago. Our Chicago office is open for business. Orders may be left at Plainfield office. Estimates cheerfully and promptly furnished. Orders received by telephone. Orders received by mail will receive prompt attention. Office, 17 Park Place, Plainfield, N. J. Chicago office, 1004 Rookery Building.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION
OF
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually
JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, Secretary.
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7:00, 8:30, 9:30, 11:00 a.m., 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30 p.m.
Close—7:00 a.m., 1:00, 5:00 p.m.
Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 5:00 p.m.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9:00 to 10:00 a.m.
Mail closes at 5:00 p.m.

E. R. POPE, P.M.

A THOUSAND DROWNED.

The Steamship Vega Believed to Have Foundered.

SUNK DURING A COLLISION AT SEA.

Strong Evidence That the Vega Cut the Big British Ship Fred R. Taylor in Two and That Both Vessels Went Down with All on Board.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Mariners here-about incline to the opinion that a terrible disaster has recently occurred at sea somewhere near shore, in which more than a thousand souls have perished. The facts that lead to this opinion are as follows: Saturday the steamer Ocean arrived and reported that on last Thursday morning the wreck of a full rigged ship was passed in latitude 40 degs. 22m. north, longitude 69 degs. 40m. west. The captain of the Ocean made a careful examination to ascertain the name of the craft, but owing to the wreck being overturned and partly submerged he could only make out the words "Yarmouth, N. S.," on the stern. The vessel was cut through forward of the mizzen rigging, evidently done in collision. From a description of the wreck, as given by the captain of the Ocean, shipping men believe that the vessel is the British sailing ship Fred R. Taylor, of Yarmouth, N. S. This vessel was sighted 900 miles out from Sandy Hook on June 12 and should have reached port over a week ago.

The Vega Is Overdue Also.

The steamship Vega with a crew of sixty men and commanded by Captain Ross, sailed from Lisbon on June 6 for the Azores and New York. She had 316 passengers when she sailed from Lisbon, and it is expected that she shipped nearly twice that many from the ports in the Azores. The steamer was due here last Tuesday, but has not arrived. Her agents are very anxious regarding the vessel, while scores of the friends of the passengers have been besieging the barge office to learn something of the whereabouts of the steamship and its human freight. In view of these facts, therefore, those versed in maritime affairs are of the opinion that a collision has occurred between the Vega and the Fred R. Taylor, and that the loss of life has been appalling. F. E. Hurlbut was commander of the Taylor. His young wife is in this city, but knows nothing of the terrible disaster that may have befallen her husband.

Last Wednesday a child was born to her. The Taylor left Havre, in ballast, May 13, bound for New York and consigned to Paul Gerhardt, of the Brasil Mail line, who had chartered her for the carrying trade between this port and Buenos Ayres. When the Taylor was spoken she was due to reach here in four or five days. The elapsed time is now fourteen days.

Cut Through and Through.

Captain Thesens, of the Ocean, says that the sailing vessel was undoubtedly cut through by a steamship. When Captain Thesens saw the wreck it seemed to him that she had been in collision but three or four days before. The cut still fresh. It was plain that the steamship's stem had cut clean through forward of the mizzen channels or rigging. The shrouds hung by threads and the rudder was intact.

One theory is that the Taylor was cut in half by one of the big transatlantic passenger vessels of the twin-screw type, and to support this theory it was argued that a vessel of the Taylor's size could not be cut clean in two by the bow or any vessel of her speed. It was suggested that the Majestic, which left this port Wednesday, was the vessel which cut the Taylor in half.

The terrific speed of which she is capable would be the means of saving her in the event of her colliding with and striking a vessel amidships. It is highly improbable, however, that the Majestic cut into the Taylor, for she was spoken a thousand miles at sea by the French steamer, La Gascogne.

The Keystone Express Wrecked.

VALPARAISO, Ind., June 27.—The Keystone express, on the Pennsylvania railroad, was wrecked by spreading rails, one mile west of this city. Charles Miller, fireman, was killed.

The injured are: Andrew Aitken, Baltimore, injured internally; George Bantel, conductor, head injured; infant child of S. C. Werner, Fort Wayne, head bruised Miss Belle Johnson, Fort Wayne, head injured; ex-Congressman Floyd King, New York, leg injured; George W. Pyle, Plainfield, O., ankle broken; Benjamin Perry, editor Evening Democrat, Greenville, S. C., injured internally; Peter Reilly, engineer, severely bruised; Charles Heck, mail clerk, Fort Wayne, side, back and head injured.

Embezzler Ryan Caught.

DENVER, June 27.—E. J. Ryan, wanted in Washington, D. C., where he robbed the United States Express company of $40,000 last Tuesday night, is under arrest in this city. When arrested he had on his person $2,300, and he stated that $41,000 was on deposit in Pittsburg. After committing the robbery in Washington, Ryan is alleged placed the $41,000 in a safe deposit and trust company's vaults.

Commencement at Yale.

NEW HAVEN, June 27.—The annual commencement exercises at Yale university began Sunday. President Dwight delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the members of the graduating class and their many friends in Battell chapel, and at the conclusion of the sermon passed down the center aisle to allow the seniors to make their last bow to him.

Lawmakers Anxious to Adjourn.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—With the campaign fairly on congress is anxious to finish up its work so that members may get into the field. The most general opinion is that adjournment will take place early in August, but there are some who believe that the gavel will fall by the middle of July.

Young Women Fight a Duel.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 27.—Misses Gertrude Hager and Minnie Spears are two of the handsomest young ladies in Kanawha county. The long continued contest between them for special preference led to bitter enmity, and they fought a duel. Neither was hurt.

Mrs. Drayton May See Her Child.

RHINEBECK, N. Y., June 27.—Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton, who arrived here Saturday, will be permitted to see one of her children this week. She will sail for Europe this week.

Commencement at Lafayette.

EASTON, Pa., June 27.—The annual commencement of Lafayette state college began with the baccalaureate sermon preached by Rev. Dr. E. D. Neville, of Philadelphia.

TO FIND LIEUTENANT PEARY.

The Relief Expedition Ready to Sail for Greenland.

BROOKLYN, June 27.—It is expected that Professor Angelo Heilprin, of Philadelphia, and the party which will accompany him upon the Peary relief expedition, will sail today in the steamer Miranda from Brooklyn to St. Johns, N. F., where the party will meet the steamer Kite and sail in her as soon as possible for Greenland. The Kite will be provisioned for a year, although it is hoped the Peary party will be found and brought back to New York in much less time.

LIEUTENANT PEARY.

The Kite is expected to reach Cape York by July 15. Here, or at Watercolor Island, it is believed the expedition will first hear from Lieutenant Peary, either through the Eskimo or by means of notes and instructions which the explorer agreed to leave behind him in cairns erected in this vicinity.

If nothing is found here the relief party will push on to McCormick bay, where it is confidently expected that Mrs. Peary and other members of the exploring party will be found, and to which Lieutenant Peary will return by Aug. 1, if he is able to carry out his plan.

MRS. PEARY.

Gladstone's Eye Not Badly Hurt.

LONDON, June 27.—The injury which Mr. Gladstone sustained in Chester by being struck in the face by a missile is not likely to prove serious. An Ophthalmoscope telegraphs that the inflammation of the eye has abated considerably. Mr. Gladstone will remain in a darkened room for a few days. It is said that the woman who threw the gingerbread at him said she threw it "for luck."

Eighty Thousand Voters on Its List.

ALBANY, June 27.—The Hon. J. Boyd Thacher, president of the State league of Democratic Clubs, says he will call the executive committee of the State league together this week for conference, and that in due time a convention of the clubs will be held. The league will have a membership of more than 80,000 active voters.

Did the Gold Cure Kill Drayton?

NEW YORK, June 27.—It is reported that the death of Percival L. Drayton, a cousin of J. Coleman Drayton, is directly attributable to the heroic attempt made by the physicians in the gold cure establishment at White Plains to cure Percy of his inordinate thirst for strong liquor.

May Settle the Granite Strike.

QUINCY, Mass., June 27.—The Quincy Quarrymen's union have submitted a proposition for the settlement of the strike. It is a compromise between a Jan. 1 and May 1 scale, and will no doubt meet with the approval of a large number of the manufacturers.

Captain Borup Indignant.

LONDON, June 27.—Captain Henry D. Borup, of the American legion, who has been accused of selling French military secrets to Germany and Italy, is highly indignant. He believes that Greiner used his name to screen the agent of some other power.

President Raymond's Sermon.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., June 27.—President Bradford Paul Raymond delivered the baccalaureate sermon at Wesleyan university from Acts xxvi, 19: "Wherewhom, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision."

Captain Mayer's Funeral.

PARIS, June 27.—The funeral of Captain Mayer, who was killed in a duel by the Marquis di Mores, took place at the cemetery of Montparnasse. The Marquis di Mores will be confined pending an inquiry into the duel.

Took Morphine for Quinine.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Sigmund M. Mundt, senior member of a firm of the same name, 126-127 Walker street, manufacturers of shirts and gaiters, was killed by a druggist here who gave him morphine for quinine.

The Draytons to Be Reconciled.

NEW YORK, June 27.—It is said that a reconciliation will soon be effected between Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Drayton, and that before very long they will be living in harmony under the same roof.

Chicago Packers Consolidate.

CHICAGO, June 27.—The International Packing and Provision company and the Chicago Packing and Provision company have consolidated under the name of the Provision Dealers' Dispatch.

Freight Agent Putnam Dead.

BOSTON, June 27.—Sidney C. Putnam, general freight agent of the Old Colony railroad, died at his residence on Fairmount avenue, Hyde Park. Mr. Putnam was born in Calais, Vt., in 1839.

A Convict's Suicide.

NEWARK, N. J., June 27.—Daniel W. Morgan committed suicide in the jail here by hanging himself with a handkerchief. He had been in state prison for eighteen months. Since his release he has been suspected of several robberies.

Sixty-one Years a Priest.

TROY, N. Y., June 27.—The Rev. Peter Havergans of St. Mary's church celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his pastorate in Troy, and sixty-second of his ordination as a priest.

Columbus the Winner.

COLUMBUS, O., June 27.—Columbus winning and Washington losing Saturday settled the championship for the first series of games in the Western league in Columbus' favor.

An Anniversary.

She—Do you remember what day this is the anniversary of?

He—Well, I should say I did.

She—I thought you would.

He—Humph! Who could forget the day his own house was burned?

She—George!

He—Sweety!

She—It's the day you proposed to me! (Tears and a scene).—Life.

Poisoned by Ice Cream.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 27.—Over twenty people were poisoned by eating ice cream that was served at the Angels cottage. All the town physicians were kept busy for some time. A number of the victims were rendered unconscious. The board of health will investigate.

Culbertson Left Three Million Dollars.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., June 27.—William S. Culbertson, president of the First National bank, of this city, and a large stockholder in several banks in St. Paul and Minneapolis, is dead. His wealth is estimated at $2,000,000. He leaves a widow and five children.

The Bank's Safe Empty.

GUTHRIE, O. T., June 27.—W. T. Tyler and M. H. Wright started the Bank of Oklahoma when the town of Chandler was settled. Wright left town weeks ago. The bank has failed with $50,000 on deposit. The assets are an empty safe and the furniture.

The Mississippi Again Rising.

KEOKUK, Ia., June 27.—The season's high water in the Mississippi river is unprecedented. Again the river is rising. For the third time this season the lowlands between Keokuk and West Quincy are submerged, and every traffic is interfered with.

She Says He Assaulted Her.

OMAHA, June 27.—Rev. Marion Bowles, pastor of the First Christian church of South Omaha, was arrested on the charge of having assaulted Mrs. Rita Stewart, wife of a laboring man. Bowles has given bail for his appearance.

Won by Rev. Guirey.

PATERSON, N. J., June 27.—Rev. George Guirey, pastor of the Emanuel Baptist church, of Paterson, N. J., won the $200 prize offered by Dartmouth college for the best essay on "The Right Observance of the Lord's Day."

Burglars Cracked the Safe.

UTICA, N. Y., June 27.—Humphrey's store and the postoffice at Unadilla Forks were broken into. The safe was blown open and $100 in postoffice money, $175 of stamps and $140 of Mr. Humphrey's individual money taken.

Delegate Wetzell Falls Overboard.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 27.—Louis Wetzell, aged thirty-six years, one of the Delaware Sengebund excursionists, who left here on the steamer Major Reybold, fell overboard and was drowned.

A Ball to Senator Hill.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 27.—Senator David Bennett Hill visited Normandie-by-the-Sea Saturday afternoon and was the guest of Mrs. P. D. Rossiter. In the evening a ball was given in his honor.

THE BASEBALL WORLD.

NATIONAL LEAGUE GAMES.

At Cincinnati—									R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati	1	1	2	0	3	0	0	x	7	6	1
Louisville	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	2	6	2

Murphy and Chamberlain; Grim and Jones.

EASTERN LEAGUE GAMES.

At Troy—										R.	H.	E.
Troy	3	2	1	0	0	0	0	2	x	9	11	0
Buffalo	0	0	2	1	0	0	0	1	0	4	5	3

Bird and Welch; Baker, Fields and Daly.

At Rochester—										R.	H.	E.
Rochester	0	0	4	1	0	0	0	0	2	7	9	2
Elmira	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	9	4

McKeough and Meakin, Boyd and Dolan.

The League Record.

Club.	W.	L.	Pct.	Club.	W.	L.	Pct.
Chicago	43	17	.717	Pittsburg	29	29	.500
Philadelphia	37	21	.637	Washington	26	33	.441
Brooklyn	36	23	.610	New York	25	33	.431
Cincinnati	32	25	.561	St. Louis	23	34	.404
Boston	31	27	.534	Louisville	22	37	.373
Cincinnati	32	25	.561	Louisville	22	37	.373
Boston	31	27	.534	Cleveland	21	37	.362
Pittsburg	29	29	.500	Buffalo	11	37	.229

Eastern League Record.

Club.	W.	L.	Pct.	Club.	W.	L.	Pct.
Albany	31	16	.660	Rochester	19	27	.413
Providence	29	16	.644	Troy	19	29	.396
Syracuse	28	17	.622	Hartford	17	29	.370
Elmira	21	17	.553	Buffalo	11	37	.229

Want Blaine to Go to Congress.

BANGOR, Me., June 27.—An intimate friend of Mr. Blaine is reported to have said that in case the distinguished statesman were forced to re-enter public life at the capitol itself, he would prefer the house to the senate, as the latter body was always dominated by Mr. Blaine when offered a congressional nomination at Pittsfield, and there is every indication that, in order to prevent the use of his name, he will be obliged to emphasize Senator Hale's statement concerning him, namely, that his only great desire is to remain a quiet private citizen.

A Chicago Suburb Flooded.

CHICAGO, June 27.—The dike, separating the forks of Dauphin Park and Grand Crossing, was cut by some one. The breaking of the dike let the flood with all its force down upon the village of Dauphin Park, submerging every street and yard to an average depth of about twenty-four inches. The only outlet for the great body of water that is now flowing out is the sewers, which have been offered a temporary relief. The flood has driven the homes of the 300 residents in through ditches and culverts to the lake, which are wholly inadequate.

Caused by a Drunken Engineer.

NEW ORLEANS, June 27.—A boiler explosion in the Cosmopolitan Ice company, killing Albert Coleman and fatally wounding Frank Smith, William Scully, Morris G. Smith, Andrew Johnson, Richard H. Brelin, Peter Bryant, William Mix, Samuel Gay, John Hilbert and her five-year-old son. The explosion was caused by the careless ness of a drunken engineer.

Lodge to Take the Stump.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Congressman Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, was at the Windsor Warwick. "I shall take the stump and work hard for Harrison and Reid," he said. "Massachusetts is all right and I have no fear for the success of the ticket."

Ex-Secretary Bayard Ill.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 27.—Ex-Secretary of State F. Bayard has returned from Chicago. Mr. Bayard is ill.

38c.

Buys a full size, re-inforced front, shirt, with Linen bosom and waistbands; regular $1 quality.

17c.

Buys a five foot curtain pole with brass fixtures, complete.

Window Shades 25c. and upward.

Dress Chalties 5c. Best Prints 5c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 30 days at

BOEHM'S

No. 7 WEST FRONT STREET.

For a Delicious Drink

NEUMANN BROS.

Have just the article, a select

50c. Formosa Oolong

TEA, to make a

Delicious Iced Tea.

Fresh roasted Coffees received weekly. Store windows washed every morning. All goods sold at Lowest Prices. A full line of Vegetables received Daily.

NEUMANN BROS.

79 BROADWAY.

PIPTONIZED

Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet

MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS.

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 925.

DIBBON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Dibbon, No. 18 Vine street, N. A. Gayle, Rd. in rear of 18 Vine.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 912.

R. V. SAUMA,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Scotch Plains.

P. O. Box 1229

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. P. HOFFMAN,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

Residence—20 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ARNOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Corner new and Second streets, Plainfield, N. J. Residence, Park avenue, Fox Hill. P. O. Box 1344.

JOHN HERRMANN,

Mason, Builder and dealer in hard wood mantels, tiles, grates, etc. Corner of Second and Dupont streets. Residence, 17 Dupont street.

Just What You Need!

If you are going camping or to the seaside you should carry an

Arnold Steam Cooker,

Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.

You can buy the above articles at 24 Park avenue. Also the only genuine

BOSTON BROWN BREAD

made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.

M. E. BEACH, Agent.

Do You Want Shirts?

If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your views.

The assortment we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects.

Puff Bosoms for hot weather; Blue Flannel for cool.

Hallock & Davis,

5 West Front Street.

Trunks and Bags.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

15 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS ↓ †

‡ ‖ § PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—249 East Front street.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

25 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

6 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.

6 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND BROKERAGE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

325 & 327 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE,

General Hardware and Housefurnishings,

LAWN MOWERS,

(Six Varieties.)

Refrigerators, - - Hammocks,

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Sole agents for Hartman Steel Fence.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : :

- - - NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a smaller article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 40 EMILY STREET,

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro., to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never relished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

PORTER AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any the of first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer. Telephone Co 157.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(THE PORT READING R. R. Co., Lessee.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect June 26, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield for New York—5.15, 6.40, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night. Sunday—5.15, 6.40, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night.

Leave New York for Plainfield—1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night. Sunday—1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

Stations in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect June 26, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield for Newark—5.15, 6.40, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night. Sunday—5.15, 6.40, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night.

Leave Newark for Plainfield—1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night. Sunday—1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield for Somerville—5.15, 6.40, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night. Sunday—5.15, 6.40, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night.

Leave Somerville for Plainfield—1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night. Sunday—1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

GRAND CROSSINGS.

Leave Plainfield for Grand Crossings—5.15, 6.40, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night. Sunday—5.15, 6.40, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night.

Leave Grand Crossings for Plainfield—1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night. Sunday—1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

Educational.

ELOCUTION.

Lessons in Elocution, class or private. Terms low. For terms, address Miss. Alice Bennett, P. O. Box 1229.

FRENCH LESSONS.

Instruction and entertainment in French Lessons. Class or private instruction at residence or at pupil's home. Highest references. Testimonials from Principal Plainfield High School, and others. For terms and trial lesson address Mlle. Bonnet, 17 La Grande avenue, Dunellen, or Mrs. Sheffner and Bowden, 17 La Grande avenue, Plainfield.

HARNED ACADEMY,

Corner Park and Second, RE-OPENS MONDAY, June 20th, 1892.

For Boarders and Day Pupils. For circulars address EDWARDS HARNED, A. M., 127 First ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISS FAWCETT'S

Boarding, Primary and Day School for Young Ladies and Children, re-opens in Plainfield on Tuesday, September 20th. Circulars may be had at Franklin Ad house, Wednesdays, from 1 to 5 p. m. 15 Grove street, North Plainfield.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTISON,

Teacher of piano. Gives lessons, either at her own or at pupil's home. Liberal terms to scholars. Best of references. No. 140 Somerset street.

PLAINFIELD AND NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Leave Plainfield for North Plainfield—5.15, 6.40, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night. Sunday—5.15, 6.40, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night.

Leave North Plainfield for Plainfield—1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night. Sunday—1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield for Bound Brook—5.15, 6.40, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night. Sunday—5.15, 6.40, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night.

Leave Bound Brook for Plainfield—1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night. Sunday—1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

Miscellaneous Cards.

MRS. LINDSAY,

Intelligence Office, 24 West Second street, rear. Wanted, Mr. Lindsay to let of fine grade trees, grapes, small fruits and shrubs.

H. E. SPENCER,

Wood Turning and Scroll Sawing, Grooving and Tonguing and Planing. Orders for Stair Timber 1 inch and thicker, Newels, Balusters, Rails, Brackets, Gable Ornaments, Window and Door Frames, Mouldings, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Shutters, Screens, etc. Will also make to order any kind of Wood Work. Shop on Somerset street, between Madison and Watchung avenues. Orders left at Spencer & Hubbard's, 201 North avenue, will receive prompt attention.

Machine Works.

FREDERICK P. CHASE,

Manufacturer of

Electrical Machinery,

Engines, Boilers and Engines repaired. Models for inventions, brass and iron castings. Forging to all the branches. Boiler-shop building and painting.

201 North Avenue,

Corner Dudley street, Plainfield, N. J.

New York Office, 320 Fourth avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,

Manufacturers of

Mouldings, Sash, Blinds, Doors, etc.

Corner Madison avenue and Third street, PLAINFIELD, DARNELL, RUNNELLS.

Also plain and ornamental glass furnished to order.

SHERWIN & DRILLS,

Have the largest and best assorted stock of Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, Brushes, Wall Paper, etc., to be found in this section. Painting, Graining, Glazing, Paper Hanging and Kalsomining done in the best manner. Shop and Residence, 15 Second street.

PUMPS HERE.

Delivered to any part of the city by

D. D. SCHENCK.

A postal addressed to No. 29 West Second street will receive prompt attention.

MY LOVE AND I.

I dreamed last night that we were wed,
My love and I, in a fairy boat;
The troubles of life we had risen above
And had naught to do save to dream of love.

The crescent moon was our fairy boat;
On the soft, white clouds we floated so float,
While far in the west the Milky Way
A gleaming flood of glory lay.

My carbiolles rose and fell in the tide,
Scattering moonbeams on every side.
Happier far than all the world above
To float on that boundless, starry sea.

Music filling fell from above,
Whose every note was a breath of love.
A discord rough on the silence broke,
The glory vanished and—I awoke.

You, woke to the old, hardworking life,
With its endless worry and toil and strife,
But through the darkness shines one gleam—
The memory of that golden dream.

And oftentimes as I close my eyes,
Once more I am back in Paradise,
Once more my love and I are alone
On the fleecy clouds, in our fairy boat.
—Albert Payson Terhune in Lippincott's.

Walnut or Butternut Pickles.

An appetizing pickle, little known at the north, but a common dainty on the tables of good southern housekeepers, is made of the walnuts, or butternuts, as they are called in New England. They are at the right stage for pickling when still soft enough to be pierced by a needle. Gather and put immediately into strong brine.

Leave until convenient to make into pickle, occasionally heating the brine and pouring over to keep the walnuts from molding. Prepare them by rubbing each walnut with an old crash towel until the fuzzy substance with they are covered has all been removed. They stain the hands badly. Put in fresh brine for a few days, after which prepare the vinegar by the following rule: To one hundred walnuts allow a gallon of vinegar; boil eight minutes, with a cupful of sugar, a tablespoonful each of cloves, allspice, peppercorns and a large piece of raw ginger, sliced.

Distribute through the walnuts three sliced onions; then pour over all the spiced vinegar. If the walnuts are a little hard, boil in vinegar. In three days pour off the vinegar, boil it up and again pour it over the pickles. They are not really in their prime until they have been made for three or four months, but will keep for years, and are the most delicious of all pickles. If they become very sharp, add more sugar. They improve with age.—Annie Curd in Good Housekeeping.

Building a Coal Fire.

In starting a coal fire use a good supply of kindling to heat up the coal, supply a good draft, thereby allowing plenty of oxygen. The coal should be in small pieces, thereby giving more surface for the fire to act on. The bed of coal should not be very thick, at no time over three or four inches, else the air in passing through will be robbed of its oxygen before reaching the upper surface, and combustion will be imperfect.

When combustion is perfect there will be a bright flame and no smoke, and the result will be carbonic acid gas—an intensely hot gas; but when the supply of oxygen is insufficient or the igniting temperature has not been reached, the result will be carbonic oxide gas, which has but one-fourth the heating value of carbonic acid gas, besides forming a thick smoke and soot, which is deposited on the oven and fire plates, making it difficult for the heat to penetrate.—Stoves and Hardware.

Remain Independent.

Business women will do well to make a virtue of their independence. Decline the gratuities which men have been in the habit of bestowing, often very unwillingly—the paid fares, ice creams, the pretty gifts—all of which place women more or less in the power of men, and are the evidence of dependent inferiority. Mind your own business, keep control of your own money affairs, pay your own car fare, and if you have any thing to give give it. Do not allow it to be tricked out of you or give away the most precious result of your efforts—your independence.—Jenny June's "Thrown on Her Own Resources."

Dress Reform in Paris.

Dress reform has invaded the stronghold of fashion, Paris, the frivolous city. At a meeting of the Federated Females of France, it was resolved by fifty women delegates from the different branches of the association to organize a campaign against modern costume. They are pledged to wear short skirts, to discard stays, broad hats, boots with high heels, and gowns with low necks.—Paris Letter.

Some Women Preachers.

Margaret R. Elliott is the only woman in the ministry of the Wisconsin Congregational conference. Maggie A. Bretsan, Universalist pastor at Erie, has become so popular that her sermons are reported in the Erie papers, and Mrs. E. L. Newport, pastor of the Universalist churches at Wauponsee and Verona, Ills., supplies both pulpits with unfailing regularity on every Sabbath day.—Exchange.

Pies Without an Upper Crust.

When you make a pie without an upper crust it is always desirable to have a very heavy edge; make this by wetting the edge and laying on a narrow strip; pinch it up together, and when cutting the crust around the edge of the pan hold the knife well under the outer edge of the pan and pinch it between the thumb and finger right on top of the pan.—New York Journal.

A Greeting That Meets Very Many.

"Mine is rather a hard case," said a discouraged graduate of a young ladies' seminary. "I can't get a position as a teacher because I haven't had experience, and if I am never allowed to teach, how am I to get my experience?"—Exchange.

To make a good lotion for the face and hands grate a fresh cocoanut and put in a cloth and squeeze out the milk. Then wash the face in this milk and rub the skin briskly for quite a few moments and wipe with a soft flannel cloth.

New Boston Girls Rides.

Go out around the reservoir on a sunshiny morning or a gray afternoon and you will see members of girls riding, all with that trim air of good training and thorough knowledge which is the best charm of a horsewoman, without it the costliest saddle and bridle, the best Holleader habit, are nothing. The first requisite for riding precedes this first charm, and that of course is courage. No one has an especially timidity where horses are concerned there's little use trying to learn to ride, particularly if that one is a girl. Boys are sometimes made courageous when lacking this quality by being put on a horse. But timidity is likely to get control of a girl, and unless she is a fearless horsewoman she will never be a happy one. The truth is some girls are born to ride and some are not.

You may see a representative of the former class mount. Up goes one hand to her saddle; firmly the other rests on the shoulder of him who puts her up; the sole of her little boot presses a steady palm. "Now!" A spring and she is up. It is not the old fashioned rocking chair shaped saddle that is well girt upon her horse's back. It is a saddle straight as a board, where she sits upright in an absolutely natural position, with no twisting of body or legs necessary, and with no effort demanded to keep erect while riding. A chance to wrench the spine or get stitches in the side, as with the old scoopish shaped saddle which went with the long, floating skirts, the tall, ugly hats, and the single reins of the past.

Now the lass who rides has both snaffle and curb; although she may seldom use the curb, it is well to have it at her command if her horse is likely to object to electric cars or sprinkling carts, or other objects of his unlit terror. She may ride with a little spur at her heel, too, and it is a very effective way to manage her horse. Girls don't use riding whips much, except for looks. Then a crop is carried, but there's no lash for the good steed.—Boston Transcript.

Bathing in Paris.

All fashionable Paris is buying a new volume entitled "Directions for Woman's Toilet," and the publication of such a book in France is not without significance as a sign of how ideas are progressing in that country.

"Unhappy ages," says the author, "in which people were ignorant of the use of water, a thousand years without a bath," as Michelet puts it in one of his historical works. Bad pestilences and other horrible maladies desolated poor humanity—in fact, only to read how the courtiers of Louis XIV neglected their persons makes one sick with disgust."

Even in the unwashed ages gone by the noted beauties found out the secret of preserving their loveliness by ablutions. Isaura of Bavaria heard that chickweed was good for the skin, and had enormous decoctions brewed and bathed in them daily. Diana of Poitiers was another of the cleanly coquettes and plunged into a tub of rainwater every morning.

The Eighteenth century beauties likewise went in for bobbing, and put all sorts of fanny decoctions into the water to improve their skin, such as the bouillon in which veal had been broiled, water distilled from the honey extracted from roses, a preparation of almonds, cream of tartar, the milky juices of green barley and linseed distilled with Mexican balm dissolved by the yolk of an egg. These rather nasty sounding concoctions were finally used by the ladies of the court, who, however, in the courts of Louis before the revolution.

Queen Marie Antoinette made liberal use of a "tub," putting into the water wild thyme, laurel leaves, marjory and a little sea salt. Marie Caolwez mixes, the Russian beauty who exercised so great an influence over Czar Alexander I, used to bathe in Malaga wine, after which the wine was sold to persons about the court for their table consumption without disguise as to its previous use.—Paris Letter.

Leave Out of Your Husband's Cards.

The latest edict in the etiquette of card leaving relieves us from the necessity of distributing a shower of pasteboards all along the weary way we travel on a calling expedition, that is if we would follow English customs. A few years ago it became a fixed rule that a woman calling on husband and wife without her consent should leave two pasteboards in

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

65 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Long Dist. Telephone Call 45. Printing of All Kinds. 15 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," TUESDAY, JUNE 28, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR THEIR VACATION, SHOULD SEND THEY ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

The Weather.

The showers will be followed by clear weather, Slightly warmer; South winds.

BREVITIES.

—The uptown track of the Plainfield street railroad is being laid rapidly, and is now finished as far as Grove and Front street. The entire track will be finished by July 4th.

—The poets represented at the July Cosmopolitan are James Russell Lowell, Graham R. Thomson, Duncan C. Scott, John Vance Cheney, Lorimer Stoddard, Frederick Peterson and Edith M. Thomas.

—The Boys' Club will be closed Thursday night, June 30th, and re-opened September 1st. The Superintendent will be at the Club rooms daily from 10 to 12 a.m. and four to five p. m., from July 1st to August 15th.

—John Skillman, whose wife, while playing with a rifle, shot and instantly killed the couple's only child, a little girl, the account of which is published on the second page of THE NEWS, is a brakeman on a local freight train.

—Three young men named Marsh, Scribner and Woodland were arrested by Marshal Pangborn last evening for fighting. Justice Crossley fined two of them $5 and sentenced them to five days in jail. The third was fined $1 and sentenced to one day's imprisonment.

—The services of a policeman was called upon at eleven o'clock Saturday night to quell a disturbance between a man and his wife on East Third street. When the officer arrived all was calm and serene. Again on Sunday morning the man began to beat his wife but with the same result. No arrests were made.

—A heavy iron rail, 30 feet long, turned this morning as iceman John Morton on the corner of West Front and Grove streets, stepped upon it. His foot got underneath it and was severely crushed, but fortunately the foot was in the mud, which alone saved Mr. Morton. It requires the combined strength of eight men to lift one of the rails, and it required five to even roll this one off Mr. Morton's foot, yet he was not seriously injured.

—Rather drolly, in connection with the subject of foods, comes the report of the Department of Agriculture proving that grasshoppers are palatable and nutritious. It is something to know that if our meat goes bad in this season we can fall back on grasshoppers. Recently great flights of locusts have been destroying every green thing in Morocco. Not only are the fish found gorged with them, wild animals, as foxes, have been detected feasting on them, and we are told that, as usual, they are being extensively eaten by the native population irrespective of creed. In short, with the additional resource of wild honey, it now appears that the menu of the Baptist in the wilderness was, in fact, far from unsatisfying.

—There is nothing unusual in hair turning white, but a man in which the hair turns black again after being white was recently told by a gentleman from Detroit. A lady of that city originally had black eyes and hair, but in course of time, when she had attained the age of about 60 years, her hair turned quite white. This was expected, but about a year ago her hair began darkening, and is now as black as jet. There is no doubt about the change, nor was any artificial means used to produce it, so that the case is certainly one of the most remarkable recorded in the annals of medical history. The lady was not conscious of any change in diet or in her physical condition that would justify the curious phenomenon, so it is absolutely unexplainable on any known hypothesis.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

PERSONAL.

A pair in a hammock
Attempted to kiss,
And in less than a jiffy
They landed like this.

Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh will leave to-morrow for Europe, to be gone all Summer.

A little boy now gladdens the home of Mr. Thos. Walsh of Somerset street, making his advent last evening.

At Yale College yesterday afternoon Mr. William Nelson Runyon of this city was the historian for the senior graduation class.

The Rev. Dr. Robert Lowry, the well-known song writer and composer, of this city, will be married in the Fifth Avenue Baptist church yesterday afternoon to Miss Mary L. Runyon, eldest daughter of the late Judge Enos W. Runyon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Gesner. The only witnesses being the immediate families of the bride and groom. Dr. and Mrs. Lowry will leave for Europe to-morrow on the City of Paris. Dr. Lowry's first wife died two years ago.

Dunellen's Musical Entertainment.

The First Presbyterian church, Dunellen, was well filled last evening with both Dunellen and Plainfield people.

The musical entertainment, for the chapel fund, was very successful.

Among those who assisted with the entertainment were Mrs. P. M. Hollett, Miss Maud Benton, Miss Louise Apgar, Miss Jessie Haynes, Mrs. Buckley, Miss Baier, Miss Imogene Smith, Miss Bessie Blair, Miss Emma Marlow, Mr. Marlow, Mr. Teel, Mr. Earick, Mr. Moffett, Rev. Mr. Kinney, Mr. George Stevens and Mr. A. A. Lake.

THE CENTURY RUN.

All Arrangements Perfected for the Metropolitan Cycle Club Run on July 23rd.

Last night a meeting of the Century Run Committee of the Metropolitan Associated Cycle Clubs was held at 39 Broadway, New York city, at which the following members of the committee were present: W. E. Fuller, Brooklyn Bi. Club; Fred. Kerr, Hudson County Wheelmen; J. J. Woods, Columbia Cyclers; H. L. Saltonstall, Elizabeth Athletic Club, and Capt. Frank L. C. Martin of this city.

The following route laid out by Capt. Martin was accepted by the committee:

Miles.	Total.	Newark.	Leave	4. 1. M.
5	4	Orange,	"	4.30 "
4	9	South Orange,	"	5.00 "
4.13	13.13	Millburn,	"	5.35 "
6.14	19.27	Springfield,	"	5.50 "
9	28	Plainfield	Arrive	6.30 "
			Leave	6.45 "
9	36	Dunellen,	"	7.10 "
9	45	New Br'wk	Arr'e	8.15 "
			Leave	8.30 "
6	43	Franklin Pk	Ar've	9.30 "
			Live	9.45 "
7	50	Kingston,	"	10.45 "
3	53	Princeton, dinner	Arr'ive	11.09 "
			Leave	12.30 p.m.
5	57	Branchburg	Ar'e	1.50 "
			Live	2.15 "
6	63	Plainville,	"	3.00 "
9	10	Belle Mead	"	3.10 "
6	72	Somerville	Arrive	3.50 "
			Leave	3.55 "
4	76	Bound Brook,	"	4.00 "
7	83	Plainfield	Arr'ive	4.15 "
			Leave	5.00 "
6	89	Westfield,	"	5.30 "
7	96	Elizabeth,	"	6.15 "
5	100	Newark, Continental Hotel.

It was decided to give a handsome prize to the two cities finishing with the greatest number, and to have the handsomest souvenir medals ever offered for making a Century Run. The Plainfield Bicycle Club will make a strong endeavor to capture the first prize. A number of the "boys" have already promised to participate in the run.

The official stop in this city will be made at Capt. Frank L. C. Martin's Wheelmen's Headquarters, where lemonade and sandwiches will be served. The run will pass through Plainfield at 6.30 a. m. and 6 o'clock p. m. This run starting and finishing at the Continental Hotel at Newark will allow the participants ample time to reach their homes instead of having to go to a hotel as on the previous runs. The total cost of the run will be about $20. It is estimated that there will be about 200 take part. This is to be an annual event hereafter.

Next Monday's Racket.

Of the larger show pieces that will be seen on the "glorious Fourth" the flight of shells is destined to meet with great favor on account of the bold and brilliant character of the display made as the shells ascend. The flight of rockets is packed in a long box, which is to be placed on end at any desired angle, steadying the sticks so that when the fuse is touched off the dozen rockets rise skywards in a great height, where they burst simultaneously, throwing out showers and stars of fire in variegated colors.

All the long drawn out noise and racket the most enthusiastic patriot could desire is condensed into what is called the chinese firecracker. This piece is a mine of crackers of various sizes and degrees of force, and comes in four different shapes, and when the fuse is ignited a series of detonations result with starting rapidity as each succeeding part of the fuse is reached. Even composed enthusiasm, loudly expressed, this piece cannot be excelled.

A bomb covered tightly with split rattan is another ear-splitting noise-producer, making a report equal almost to that of a cannon, although itself is quite small and innocent-looking.

A most grotesquely artistic balloon comes directly from the Japanese, whose skill and taste in that direction are well known. By the aid of hot air bulging figures of large size representing funny idols, animals, birds, fishes and human figures float up into the air, where outlined against the sky they produce an effect at once weird and pleasing.

A special feature of this year's displays will be made of the Hirayama daylight fireworks, which consists of various animate and inanimate figures, which, fired from a mortar, being suspended in the air sputtering and fizzing, and even under the brightest sun, showing their beautiful colors and shapes. They are made to represent flags, globes, frogs, fish, monkeys, dragons, etc.

North Plainfield Will Join.

In the grand Republican ratification meeting to be held to-night at Music Hall, the North Plainfield Republicans will join with the Republicans on this side of the line. Mayor Gilbert, Hon. Gilbert Collins, Major E. K. Pangborn and Judge Wm. T. Hoffman will address the meeting.

Seats will be reserved for the ladies. The band begins to play at 7.30.

The cannon will roar, and there will be abundance of fireworks, fit and the town is boom-de-ay business.

Among the distinguished guests will be Gen. Grubb, the Minister to Spain, and ex-Congressman John Kean.

The Runaway Pastor's Trial.

The Presbytery of Elizabeth met yesterday afternoon in the Westminster Church, Elizabeth, to begin the trial of the Rev. Nicholas Nicolai, the runaway pastor of the German Presbyterian Church. The Rev. George A. Buckie of Elizabeth acted as Moderator, and twenty-three members of the Presbytery were present.

Elder Pfarrer said last night that the Rev. Dr. Knelling of Brooklyn will be called to the vacant pastorate.

TO HAVE SALARIES.

THE SENATE COMMITTEE HAVE REPORTED FAVORABLY.

They Will Provide Regular Compensation for the U. S. Court Officials Instead of Fees and Commissions.

—New Jersey's Excellent Railroad Showing.

The Senate Committee on the Judiciary has reported favorably bills giving the United States Court officials fixed salaries instead of fees and commissions, as at present. The following are the salaries provided in New Jersey: United States Marshal, $3000; Chief Deputy Marshal, $900; Clerk of the Circuit Court, $3,500; Clerk of the District Court, $3,000.

In this connection Attorney General Miller has submitted the following statement, showing the gross earnings, expenses of office and net earnings of the clerks of the United States Courts in New Jersey since 1885:

Clerk of the Circuit Court—1885, gross earnings, $6,965.61; office expenses, $1,694.90; net earnings, $5,268.62; 1886, gross earnings, $6,776.31; office expenses, $1,699.79; net earnings, $5,701.52; 1887, gross earnings, $6,282.90; office expenses, $1,-682.45; net earnings, $4,600.51; 1888, gross earnings, $6,961.46; office expenses, $1,-681.65; net earnings, $4,199.82; 1889, gross earnings, $6,765.25; office expenses, $1,-926.60; net earnings, $4,815.35; 1890, gross earnings, $7,011.18; office expenses, $1,-125.11; net earnings, $5,886.07.

Clerk of the District Court—1885, gross earnings, $3,000.00; office expenses, $1,-246.65; net earnings, $1,753.35; 1886, gross earnings, $4,497.35; office expenses, $1,-525.30; net earnings, $2,972.05; 1887, gross earnings, $5,601.34; office expenses, $1,-310.95; net earnings, $4,290.39; 1888, gross earnings, $5,315.25; office expenses, $1,-350.50; net earnings, $3,978.72; 1889, gross earnings, $4,126.57; office expenses, $1,-031.39; net earnings, $3,095.18; 1890, gross earnings, $6,609.05; office expenses, $1,-901.32; net earnings, $4,688.65.

United States Marshal — 1885, gross earnings, $2,169.16; office expenses, $1,207.16; net earnings, $1,961.29; earned from the Government, $2,095.32; earned from individuals, $2,583.77. 1886, gross earnings, $3,772.31; office expenses, $1,259.69; net earnings, $4,512.62; earned from the government, $4,470.50; earned from individuals, $1,541.01.

Senator Quay says that he is much in earnest about the project to get a ship canal across New Jersey, from Philadelphia to New York Bay. To properly locate the line and survey the route may cost $25,000, the engineers say, and the Senator considers this but a small amount to gain such important information. Aside from its great commercial benefits, he says, it is of prime military importance to the Government, as it would be of immense advantage, in case of war, to have this inland water route for the movement of naval vessels.

Judge Buchanan has made a favorable report, for the Committee on Patents, on the bill prepared by him "revising and amending the statutes relative to patents." This is a measure of very great importance, not only to inventors, but to all classes of people, and to farmers especially. Its chief feature, perhaps, is the amendments proposed is intended to put an end to the indiscriminate prosecution of people for infringements of patent rights, an abuse that has extensively prevailed. This is to be accomplished by providing that, hereafter, whenever a defendant in a patent suit pleads to be very desirable. It will last a great while and cannot leak.

An English physician, Dr. Lennox Watkins, says that a mixture of bicarbonate and carbonate of ammonia has proven to be the best remedy for hay fever. It is used as smelling salts.

An inventor in Boston we may mention asbestos, plaster of paris, uncalcined gypsum, sand, clay, ashes, charcoal, soapstone, pumice stone, chalk, infusorial earth, mineral wool, rock wool, etc.

The smallest screws in the world are used in the manufacture of watches. The screw is the fourth jewel wheel, that looks like a little eye like a bit of dust is so small that a lady's thimble would hold 1,000,000 of them.

Diamond Dots.

The Crescent League has signed Charley Hammill of the last year's team, as a fielder. He has been playing with the Westfield team, but did not get along well with some of the other players, and has obtained his release. Hammill is an honest, gentlemanly fellow, and a good player and the Crescent shoulders will give him a hearty welcome.

James Meakin, formerly with the Troy, (N. Y.) team arrived in this city to-day and will pitch against the New Jerseys to-morrow. He is reported to be a good one.

Manager Keller this morning laid off Murphy without pay until further notice. The latter has been walking since Saturday's game and for this and other reasons he has been suspended.

To-morrow the Crescents meet the strong New Jersey Athletic Club, who are now second in the Amateur League championship race. Quite a few of the amateurish, or lacking backbone in the clouds or rain or wave, or darkness and gloom, for looking for, or any kind of a day for a picnic, or a day for a picnic, or a day for a picnic, or

EDITORIAL NOTES

It is not that there are too many people. It is only that they are not rightly distributed, either as to locality or occupations.

Live hygienically yourself, as crankishly as you please, but don't try to make other people live hygienically your way. Let them find their way, as you did yours.

Pennsylvania dams need looking into. It was a dam burst that caused the Johnstown disaster, and a dam burst caused that also at Oil City. The state is full of dams, and the superintendent of the Allegheny Valley railroad says that more than 100 of them are in a dangerous condition. State inspection of dams, artificial lakes and reservoirs is what is wanted in every state of the Union.

Sir J. Crichton-Browne has found it all out and told it, the explanation of the intellectual difference between man and woman. He says, and he composed an oration to prove it, that it all comes from the inferiority of woman to man in the cerebral substratum of ideo-motor energy. We advise all women who are interested in this matter to feel around their cerebral substratums and massage their ideo-motor energy, if they don't want to be left.

The ravages of cholera in Persia and Bokhara mean simply one thing—filth. The commonest sanitary precautions are neglected and death grows fat and laughs. The Russian government's ordinary subjects are none too cleanly themselves, but they live in immaculate whiteness compared to some of their immediate neighbors. When the Russian authorities at length impressed on the smeer of Bokhara that it was lack of sanitation that spread the cholera, that ruler undertook to enforce the use of soap and water and disinfectants among his people. But they believed the wrath of the unseen powers would fall on them and their country if they took a bath, and were on the brink of a revolt. Then with that happy despotism which oriental rulers can exercise, the smeer came down on them with the thundering command, "Wash and sprinkle chloride of lime or I'll cut your heads off." This had the desired effect and the Bokharians sulkily obeyed.

New England Pagans.

The New England states are in a bad way, if we are to credit the word of President William Dewitt Hyde, of Bowdoin college, in The Forum. There is actual danger that New England will fall away from Christianity and go back to heathendom. This is not, either, as one might suppose, the result of Boston culture; it is simply that the rural population is dropping out of the church in Maine, for instance, which may be taken as a sample state, in fifteen counties only half the families attend church at all. The church seems to make little if any impression on the community at large. President Hyde thinks he knows the reasons for it too. The first one he gives as follows, "Excessive emphasis on the transcendence as distinct from the immanence of God." This is sad indeed. It would be enough, one would think, to turn any common person into a heathen.

But Mr. Hyde mentions as well a good working reason which a common person can lay hold of with his mind. It is the prevalence of sectarianism in the New England states. The disposition of the native New Englander is to think for himself and make other people think that way too; at least that is Mr. Hyde's opinion. Consequently the rural districts are split into feeble little rival congregations, each on the verge of bankruptcy and "supported practically by a club of women." The only remedy is for the large hearted, efficient pastor in a community to sink denominational differences and unite and found a town church, regardless of what sect its pastor belongs to, provided only that he is an earnest, live Christian.

What he believes to be a typical New England rustic community Mr. Hyde describes below:

In and about the village of X— there are between 800 and 1,000 people. The religious opinions have always been pretty evenly divided between the Free Will Baptist, Congregational, Methodist and Universalist denominations. For a time all worshiped together in the town church, having preaching in turn of each denomination. This each month one portion of the congregation had to own their own preacher, although the whole congregation remarked, "you could not tell which was which by the preaching." Sectarian ambition, however, caused first the Universalists then the Methodists, to withdraw, and alleged immoral conduct on the part of the Baptist clergyman caused the separate organization of a Congregational church. The latter were subsidized by the Home Missionary Society, and the plans for their church at an exhibition price. The Methodist church occasionally has a resident pastor, and some years it has none. The Baptist and Universalist churches are supplied by ministers who drive over on Sunday from the neighboring towns.

The Congregational church has a student from the seminary three months in the summer. The strongest churches are the Universalist, with its membership of thirteen women and one man, and the Congregational, with a membership of twenty women and four men. There is hardly a representative man in any of these churches. Some of the best people lodge gathers from this and neighboring towns its backbreed mouth.

Each congregation has no Sunday from 5011 to start persons. My informant reports that it would be useless for a man to go there as pastor of any church unless he would make up his mind to stay for a period of years, for the immediate effect of any attempt on the part of one church to do work for the community would be to stir up all the others to frenzy competition.

CAMPBELL IS CHAIRMAN

Republicans Choose Him to Succeed Mr. Clarkson.

THE LATTER WILLINGLY STEPS OUT

He Says the President Is Opposed to His Re-Election, and He Refuses to Fight for the Place—New Plan for the Selection of Delegates.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The national Republican committee organized for the presidential campaign of 1892 by electing W. J. Campbell, of Chicago, as its chairman; Cornelius N. Bliss, the New York banker, as treasurer, and Land Commissioner Carter, of Montana, as secretary. Next to the selection of the officers the most important feature of the session was the proposition of Delegate Scott, of West Virginia, looking to the complete reformation of the present method of apportioning delegates to the national convention. Mr. Scott proposes that hereafter delegates shall be apportioned to a state not in proportion to the electoral vote to which it is entitled, but in proportion to the Republican vote cast.

Aimed at Southern States.

His resolution was laid over, but the sentiment of the members individually expressed, show that there is likely to be action taken on or before the next convention meets. Mr. Scott's proposition of assigning a delegate for every 7,000 Republican votes cast for the Republican candidates at the last preceding election is merely tentative. The ratio will doubtless be considerably decreased. It was a subject of much comment at Minneapolis that states which were hopelessly Democratic should play so important a part in the selection of the Republican candidate for the presidency. The Scott proposition is aimed principally at the states of the far south and southwest, where votes never contribute to the success of the Republican ticket, and whose delegates at Republican conventions are a constant source of contests and irritation to the leaders of the various presidential movements.

Who Mr. Campbell Is.

Mr. Campbell's selection was first urged by Secretary Bliss and L. T. Michener, both of whom have a great admiration for the qualities possessed by the new chairman. He was born in Philadelphia Dec. 13, 1840, but as he went to Chicago when an infant he is practically a native of that city. He is recognized as an attorney of great shrewdness, and is the lawyer for Armour & Co. Mr. Campbell has had much to do with shaping state legislation in Illinois for the last fourteen years. He was elected to the senate in 1878 and again in 1882, being elected president pro tem of the senate in 1881 and also in 1883 and 1885.

Mr. Campbell was a delegate to the Republican national convention of 1880 and 1884 and was chairman of Cook county Republican committee during the latter campaign. In 1890 Mr. Campbell was chosen the Illinois member of the Republican national committee to succeed Colonel George R. Davis.

In personal appearance Mr. Campbell is commanding. Stalwart in physique, his clean shaven face is almost boyish in appearance.

Clarkson Ready to Retire.

During the session of the committee ex-Senator J. Sloat Fassett, who appeared as the proxy of Frank S. Witherbee, urged the selection of Mr. Clarkson.

Mr. Clarkson in reply said that while he appreciated the friendship extended, and while he had the personal tender of forty-one members of the committee of their support, and thirty had declined the proffered nomination to vote for him whether he was a candidate or not, it was his duty to say that the president desired some one else as chairman, and as a Republican he bowed cheerfully to the desire.

Quay and Dudley Eulogized.

Resolutions highly eulogistic of ex-Chairman Clarkson were adopted.

In response to calls Mr. Clarkson said: "For the goodwill and honor conferred by these resolutions I am deeply grateful. To my knowledge no campaign was ever conducted more cleanly, more honestly, than the campaign of 1888. I know Senator Quay and General Dudley, and I hope there is still Republican in the land who ever came to render due honor to those two honorable men, and I want to say to you, gentlemen, that upon my dying bed before my family, I could not name two men more to be loved and honored than Senator Quay and General Dudley. I want to warn you, gentlemen, against a growing tendency in the Republican party, under the hypocricy of the times, not to defend its leaders.

"The cases of Senator Quay and General Dudley afford living examples of this practice. So far as I am concerned, if I have another boy to name I will be glad to confer upon him the name of Quay or Dudley."

Senator Teller and the Silver Planks.

NEW HAVEN, June 28.—United States Senator Teller, of Colorado, is in the city attending the commencement exercises at Yale. He says the two great parties are so nearly alike on the silver question that it is difficult to choose between them. "In both cases," he said, "the candidates are worse than the platforms."

He further said that Blaine would have been more acceptable to the silver men than Harrison, and the Democrats of the silver states would have preferred any one to Cleveland. The attitude of the two old parties on the question would greatly strengthen the Alliance. "While it is true that both parties are nearly alike on this question," he added, "Cleveland is not so objectionable to silver men as Cleveland, who is a pronounced antisilver man. We have nothing to hope from him. Reposing while in the White House as in the interest of the few—the credit class—and there is every reason to suppose that he will follow the same policy if elected again."

Republicans Will Fight the Law.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The legal battle which the Republicans of this state propose to wage against the apportionment bill passed by the Democratic legislature is taking definite form. A committee from the Republican club, with the legal adviser, D. D. Chittenden, a constitutional lawyer of high rank, called upon Senator Hiscock at the Fifth avenue hotel, and he and the counsel met and went over the whole legal aspect of the case. Senator Hiscock said that the action would be taken some time before July 13, the final date for redistricting the state.

Election by Direct Vote Favored.

NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—A resolution was adopted by the legislature requesting the state's senators and representatives in congress to urge on that body an amendment to the Federal constitution providing for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

LAWMAKERS AT WORK AGAIN.

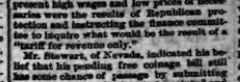
The Senate Runs a Tariff Debate on the Sundries.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The senate, having recovered most of its wearied physique, indicated its purpose to vigorously push as many of the appropriation bills through as possible before the expiration of the fiscal year on Thursday next. To this end nearly the whole day was given up to the legislative, executive and judicial bill which provides the salaries and ordinary expenses of congress and of all the executive and judicial branches of the government. Mr. Hale, of Maine, gave intimation of a purpose to force a tariff debate by offering a resolution to be called up tomorrow reciting that subsequent high wages and low prices of necessaries were the results of Republican protection and instructing the finance committee to inquire what would be the result of a "tariff for revenue only."

Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, indicated his belief that his pending free coinage bill might have some chance of passing by submitting an amendment to its text to be printed and called up when consideration of the bill is resumed.

In the House.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—There was a quorum in the house although it vanished several times during the afternoon. The conference report on Military academy appropriation bill was disagreed to, the bill being recommitted to the conference committee with instructions to report it back appropriating $15,000 for an electric light plant at the Barracks at West Point. The general deficiency bill was passed after repealed roll calls.



OUTDOOR DRESS.

Picturesque Model for a Garden Party Gown—A Practical Tennis Costume.

If you pride yourself on being in the latest fashion don't have your best dress the one you want to wear at a garden party or tea meeting—made with a basque. All the newest bodices for smart English gowns are made corselet fashion or are ornamented with a sash. The cut shown a dress that would suit most slight women. It may be made either of crepe cloth, shot bengaline cloth, foulard or plain silk. If gray or fawn crepon were selected the sash and the linings of the bodice and sleeves should be of silk in another color—chartreuse and fawn is a fresh combination—edged with a narrow passementerie. The dress looks very nice made entirely of black. Attention is called particularly to the sleeves with big puffs at the top. The deep folded waistband is pretty only on a pretty figure.

GARDEN PARTY AND TENNIS COSTUMES.

In the cut is shown also a pretty and practical sort of dress, suitable for any kind of outdoor amusement—tennis or rowing. It is made of coarse blue diagonal serge, and the belt is a continuation of the skirt. Every woman knows that in wearing a dress with a blouse it is practically impossible to look neat about the waist. Do what she may her skirt will slip from beneath her belt. The cut of this dress then should recommend itself to all who play tennis. It is worn with a silk shirt-waist is pretty for a brunette—with smocking on the back and sleeves, and is further adorned by a jabot of finely plaited silks.

Socialists Defeat Police.

BRUSSELS June 28.—The police were repulsed and beaten by a party of Socialists in this city last night. The Socialists were returning from an excursion, and when they paraded the streets. The police tried to disperse them, but the Socialists took away their weapons and wounded and struck down a number of the officers. The civic guard came to the rescue and scattered the Socialists and arrested seven of the leaders.

The New Empire State Express.

BUFFALO, June 28.—The new eastbound Empire State express on the New York Central road, a companion train to the west bound flyer of the same name, left here at 1:25 Monday afternoon on its first trip. It is not so fast a train as the westbound, the schedule calling for nine hours and fifteen minutes in making the trip to New York. The eastbound train will run every day except Sunday.

Both to Die by the Same Rope.

CAMDEN, N. J., June 28.—Sheriff West has decided that Alfred Boyer and James B. Morton, the colored murderers who are under sentence of death, shall both be hanged separately. Boyer will be swung off first, and then the same rope will be used on Morton. Hangman Van Blue, of Newark, will have charge of the details of the execution.

Postmaster Simms Arrested.

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—William Simms, postmaster of Pittstown, Burk's county, is in custody here, charged with the theft of letters addressed to William Sharman, justice of the peace. Mr. Simms has been postmaster of Pittstown for fourteen years. He is a prominent politician.

She Killed Her Own Daughter.

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J., June 28.—While Mrs. John Shillman was playing with Pinkert rifle the weapon was discharged and the ball passed through the heart of six-year-old daughter, killing her instantly. The mother says she didn't know the weapon was loaded.

American Register for the Englandia.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Mr. Lent, of California, introduced in the house a bill to authorize American citizens by general act to American register to the steamship Englandia, the property of the Oceanic Steamship company, of San Francisco.

DIXON WHIPS JOHNSON.

The Boston Colored Boy Still Featherweight Champion.

HE WINS IN FOURTEEN ROUNDS.

John L. Sullivan and James J. Corbett Both Attend the Contest and the Californian Gets More Applause Than the Big Fellow from the Bay State.

CONEY ISLAND, L. I., June 28.—Five thousand people saw George Dixon, featherweight champion pugilist of the world, beat Fred Johnson, of Birmingham, Eng., at the Coney Island Athletic club. All the well known sporting men of New York, Brooklyn and their vicinity were present, as were delegations from Boston, Philadelphia and other cities. John L. Sullivan arrived about 8:30 o'clock, and was loudly cheered as soon as he was recognized. James J. Corbett, accompanied by Professor Mike Donovan, entered the hall shortly after 9 o'clock and got a rousing reception—in fact, the crowd made more noise for him than they had for Sullivan. Corbett took a seat at the east side of the stage, not a dozen seats away from Sullivan, who was sitting alongside of Charley Johnson. Sullivan twirled his mustache while the applause for Corbett lasted. There were calls for general deficiency bill was passed after re- speeches from Corbett and Sullivan, but neither responded. Johnson weighed in at 116 pounds, and Dixon at 115. The fight was for a $5,000 purse, of which $500 went to the loser. Dixon won in the fourteenth round.

The big fight was begun at 9:45. Dixon was the first to show, but it was fifteen minutes after ward before Johnson appeared. Johnson appeared to be the heavier about the body, though he was keyed shouldered. His thighs were heavier and his arms bigger, but with all his apparent strength he looked slow in comparison to the lithe and clean cut colored lad.

The Fight by Rounds.

Dixon opened proceedings in a characteristic manner, and rushed Johnson against the ropes, planting the first scientific lick with his left on the Englishman's stomach and his right on the jaw. Johnson was surprised at the sudden attack, and did not rally before Dixon got in two more lefts and a right same way. The spectators nearly raised the roof with their yells at this, but Johnson now somewhat recovered his senses, and in the fighting that followed planted his right a couple of times on Dixon's ribs.

The second round was almost a repetition of the first, except that Johnson began to duck in front of Dixon's rushes, and Dixon twice caught him in the face with left hand upper cuts. Clinch followed clinch, Dixon doing all the rushing, and the infighting was fast and furious. It was the same in the third round, and the excitement in the hall was terrific. Johnson stood the gaff and came up for every round like a thoroughbred game man. Dixon after round of the same kind followed, but in the seventh it was seen that Johnson could take a terrible lot of punishment, and Referee Hanlon advised Dixon to be cautious with his hands. No less than four times before the seventh round Johnson became groggy under the double handed blows he received on stomach and jaw, but he held his feet and never failed to come out looking fresh at the next call of time.

Johnson Jabs the Air.

The Englishman had a poor left hand. He frequently, in leading for Dixon's face, jabbed the air two feet away from the unhappy mark. His right was a straight hitting, but Dixon's face was never in the way of it. The colored boy was nimbler than ever, and when the battle was over had hardly a mark on his clean-cut features.

From the eighth to the twelfth round Johnson seemed to be getting a little stronger, although Dixon did some punishing during that time. The chances proved to be a fighter after the Austin Gibbons's order—slow in movement but capable of taking beating when severe. In the thirteenth round Dixon began to grow lively again for a moment and made another of his effective rushes; then he dropped off in the fourteenth and Johnson got in the jaw. It was a knock down blow, and as he fell Johnson's left hand caught Dixon's right and the Englishman fell on the colored boy over with him. They fell with Dixon's head on top of Johnson's, and as the latter's struck the stage it was with great force.

Dixon Is Declared the Winner.

The report made on the platform was so loud that some people thought that the under man's skull had been fractured. Dixon was up in a jiffy. Rose Johnson and had to get up. He was on his feet once, but he reeled and fell. He tried again and got to his knees, but he was completely dazed and fell over on his side. The time to be up-consciousness. His seconds claimed that Dixon had beaten him, but the referee would not decide. He would wait a minute to the world for nearly a minute, and Dixon won the decision. It will always be a question whether the blow or the fall dazed Johnson so. The latter's seconds had reported that many of the same kind of blows during the fight and always recovered, but there can be no doubt that the Englishman was no match for Dixon in science.

The Mayflower Boston.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., June 28.—In the second race for the Marblehead cup for the schooner class, leading the Mayflower in 45 seconds, and the Merlin in 10s. The Handicap took first prize in the seventh class sloops. Four of the boats started in the fifth class the Wasp got first, and in the third class the Tarvia was a winner.

Another Race Added.

ALBANY, June 28.—At a meeting of the regatta committee of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen it was decided to add to the programme of the National regatta, to be held on Saratoga lake on July 20 and 27, a junior eight-oared shell race.

Hall and Pritchard Act Warlike.

LONDON, June 28.—The second deposit of $5,000 was put up for the fight between Jem Hall and Ted Pritchard.

Reward Offered for Terwilliger.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., June 28.—Joseph Terwilliger, who murdered Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Isle Schoonmaker at Sidney, is still at large. A reward of $150 is offered for his capture. It is believed that he is in hiding in the mountain region.

Bound by the President.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate: Amos P. Shaw, of Washington, to be surveyor general of Washington; James A. Kennedy, postmaster at Tuscarora, Pa.

THE BEE HIVE!

Bathing tights, 10, 12, 14 and 15c.

Canvas belts, 5 and 10c.

Ladies' Jersey suits in black, tan and cream, 39 and 98c.

Ladies' ribbed Jersey vests, 10, 15, 20 and 25c.

Gauze vests, 25c.

Children's gauze vests in short and long sleeves and pantlets to match, 12, 15, 18 and 20c.

Full line of misses' white lawn suits.

Men's Balbriggan shirts and drawers, 25c. 40c. and 50c.

Men's Jean Drawers, 50c.

Boys' short gauze drawers 25c.

Louis Callman,

56 West Front Street.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong ice to this market, are now prepared to serve their patrons with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CODDINGTON, Pres.
H. CODDINGTON, Vice-Pres.
ANDREW WILSON, Sec. & Treas.
J. MORTON, Gen. Supt.

J. E. YOSE

Furniture Moved

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

George - Bremmer,

No 28 SOMERSET STREET,

READY MADE CLOTHING,

or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

COAL and WOOD,

E. H. HOLMES,

YARD—24 Madison Avenue.

Office:—27 North avenue, with Woolston & Buckle.

Joseph T. Sullivan,

No. 66 West Third Street,

Dealer in Choice

Wines, Liquors, etc.

BEER ON DRAUGHT.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,

17 West Front Street

EUROPE!

Tickets for Hamburg, Stettin, Havre, Paris, Copenhagen. All Scandinavian or Finnish points.

To Glasgow, Londonderry, Liverpool, etc.

AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES.

Illustrated catalogue giving views of scenery, etc., mailed free.

H. D. Morrison, 9 Somerset St.

(Any line or steamer.)

Having Disposed of the Produce Business

to Mr. L. A. Hummer, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No. 29 North avenue.

We will continue the lime business and have constantly on hand first-quality, family or business brown, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.

Ice Cream Freezers.

The Automatic,

Needs no turning.

The Rapid,

Best and quickest crank freezer.

GARDEN HOSE,

and

Lawn - Sprinklers.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

18 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

C. DICKINSON,

PRACTICAL

OPTICIAN

and

JEWELER.

Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Agent for the American

Rambler Bicycles.

No. 13 Park avenue.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,

Hatter and Furnisher,

46 West Front Street.

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC

SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS

SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC

4 & 5 cents per Copy.

Studies, Instruction Books, Polios, etc.

A. M. Vanderbeek's,

28 PARK AVENUE.

GET YOUR

Bicycle Repaired

at

NO. 3 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

by

Henry Goeller, Jr.

A. M. SEGUINE,

PROPRIETOR OF

Laing's Hotel Stables,

on Front Street, Opp. Madison Avenue,

TELEPHONE CALL NO. 20.

Carriages for weddings, funerals and private calls.

Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.

Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.

BOARDING HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!

ALL SIZES.

Of finest

Light Blue Color.

References:—

F. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.

ROBT. A. MERKER, Street Com.

Smalley Bros.,

24 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

30 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly added steam thrashing machine and persons for any coal, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

UPPER LEHIGH AND HONEYBROOK COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND DRESSED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for Threshing and Sawmill Work, and solicits a continuance of favors for the same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in BEST

QUALITY COAL

YARD AND OFFICE

SOUTH AVENUE.

P. O. BOX 1407.

Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Counselors at Law, Commissioners of Deeds, Notaries Public, etc. Office, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E., Engineer of the Famous Union County Road System. Special attention given to street paving and sewerage. Office, 17 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Counselor at Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public. Money to loan. Collections now duly made. Office No. 34 West Front street.

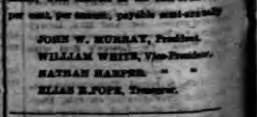
CLARK & MEAD, Counselors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Solicitors in Chancery, etc. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CRANE & WANDS, Counselors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Notaries Public and Masters in Chancery, etc. Office over Front and Somerset streets, Plainfield.

OSCAR S. STEALE, Architect, 257 Broadway, New York city, rooms 31 and 32. Improvements Everywhere. Residence, Plainfield, N. J.

PLAINFIELD

CORDLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY



JONES & CO.

Work quick and thoroughly done. Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed. Orders received at 27 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Post-office address, Box 1344, Plainfield, N. J.

P. O. box 1344 Telephone call 31.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION

OF

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable or demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—6:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30 a. m., 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND SOUTH MAILS.

Arrive—9:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m.
Close—9:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m.

Letters sent to Trenton and Philadelphia at 9:30 a. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. Mail closes at 9:30 p. m.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

DEVIN'S DEADLY PISTOL.

It Cuts Short the Career of a Young Brute.

SHOT IN A NEW YORK COURTROOM

Max Clerget Pleads Guilty to Assaulting Sarah Devin and a Few Moments Later He Is Assassinated by Her Brother. The Shooting Causes a Panic.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The court of general sessions is the oldest court of record in the United States. It was founded by Queen Anne, and has dealt with the criminals of New York city ever since. In that court, the stalidest of old courts, was enacted a scene such as occasionally, when reported from the border lands of the wild west or the Tennessee mountains, makes New Yorkers vain of their superior civilization. It was a companion picture of the lynching at Post Jervis.

In the court room Edward Devin, a cripple, shot and killed Max Clerget, who had just pleaded guilty of outraging Devin's fifteen-year-old sister. The shooting was done in the presence of Judge Martine, many court officers and hundreds of spectators.

He Pleaded Guilty.

"Max Clerget to the bar!"

The command was passed along the line of bailiffs who guard the broad aisle leading from the bar of the court to the prisoners' pen. The door of the pen was opened and out came a broad shouldered but slight waisted young fellow. He did not look a day over eighteen years old. As he slouched disconsolately toward the bar a poor, shiftwild eyed young man looked down at him from the fourth bench for spectators in the rear of the court. This young man was ill dressed. He looked ill nourished, too. He watched the prisoner.

"Max Clerget," said the clerk, as the prisoner halted before him, "you have been indicted for assaulting Sarah Devin on June 18. What say you—are you guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty," mumbled the young fellow.

Shot Through the Heart.

Judge Martine remanded the prisoner until Thursday. Clerget passed down the aisle and through the gate in the railing that separates the inner court from the outer court. The spectators in the outer court sat upon benches, each raised higher than the one in front of it, as in an amphitheater. Just as Clerget marched abreast of the fourth bench the wild eyed man, who had never ceased to watch him, arose, drew something from his hip pocket and bent far forward. This man was Edward Devin.

Before any of the spectators knew what he was at he thrust the muzzle of a revolver at Clerget's left breast and fired. The ball went through his heart. That shot changed the crowded and humdrum courtroom into pandemonium. All the men on the rear benches rushed pell mell over one another as they fought for the door.

Every one but the judge shouted and ran. Court officers Rafael McLaughlin and Charles Collier seized Devin before he could fire again. Devin fought with the strength of a giant. Thin, sterveling, half crazy and paralytic as he was, he was borne up by an amount of nervous energy that was superhuman. He fought fiercely for another shot. But Collier had taken the pistol. "Oh, my God! It's my brother!" screamed a pale little woman who sat in the enclosure for witnesses. "It's my poor brother! Don't kill him! Don't kill him!"

Devin and his captors were having a battle. With a shrug of his sloping shoulders and a swift leap Devin almost freed himself and started for where the dying man lay. It was his last effort. The five men seized him once more. This time he was exhausted. He no longer tried to fight. His battle had lasted four minutes.

"Have the man locked up. I commit him," said Judge Martine. He seemed to be the only man in the courtroom who was not violently excited. Devin was taken to the Tombs.

Clerget could not have known what drove the life out of him. He did not even moan.

Bailiff McLaughlin said to Devin as he sat manacled waiting for the coroner:

"What'd you do that for?"

"He ruined my sister," mumbled Devin. He would not say anything more.

Republicans at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 28.—The annual convention of the state league of Republican clubs opened here. The delegates were met at the Central station by a procession of Republican clubs of 5,000 men. The parade was the opening gun of the campaign and was a brilliant success despite the rain.

The convention opened at 11 a. m. with prayer by Rev. Dr. W. R. Taylor. Mayor Carson delivered an address of welcome and Colonel McAlpin responded. After the reading of the call for the convention by Secretary Job Hedges, President McAlpin delivered his address on the work of the year. Wednesday will be devoted to business and the election of officers.

Washington rink has been profusely decorated with festoons and flags and has been arranged to seat 2,500.

Tonight there will be a big ratification meeting at the rink, to be addressed by Congressman Julius C. Burrows and ex-Congressman Roswell G. Horr, of Michigan. Letters from President Harrison, Secretary Tracy, Secretary Rusk and other leading lights of the Republican party have been received and will be read in the convention.

The Torrey Bankruptcy Bill Again.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Mr. Oates, of Alabama, from the committee on judiciary, reported to the house with a report recommending its passage a bill providing a uniform system of bankruptcy. The bill is practically the Torrey bankruptcy bill.

Elocutionists in Convention.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The first national convention of public readers and teachers of elocution began in this city. Almost every state in the union is represented, as well as England, Canada and Nova Scotia.

To Prosecute Editor Richter.

BERLIN, June 28.—The Freisinnige Zeitung, edited by Eugen Richter, is being prosecuted for lese majeste. The offense was saying that the emperor was liable to a fine for shooting deer out of season.

Father Lex Removed.

BUFFALO, June 28.—Father Lex, who has been the cause of so much disturbance in St. Adelbert's church, has been removed by Bishop Ryan at the earnest request of the parishioners.

Salisbury Arraigns Gladstone.

LONDON, June 28.—In an address to the electors of Great Britain, Lord Salisbury bitterly arraigns the Gladstone policy.

THE RUSSIAN WIRE BROKEN.

Bismarck Says That Is the Mistake to the Kaiser's Policy.

VIENNA, June 28.—In the interview in The New Free Press which has excited so much attention throughout Europe, Prince Bismarck, after disavowing hostility toward Austria, said:

"My policy has been entirely changed, because there is no longer any influence upon the policy of Russia. The personal confidence of the czar has been lost, because the czar trusted me. The last time I spoke to the czar he said: 'I believe you, I trust you; but are you sure to remain in office?' Surprised at the doubt, I replied, 'I am quite certain to remain minister as long as I live.'

"I believe the czar knew the fate in store for me. My successor has no personal authority and no confidence. This important factor, which influenced Russia and is now lost, has changed the political situation. Europe has changed most decidedly for the worse. I regard it as the highest political aim that peace should be maintained. Where shall we get to if we once get ensnared war, and then have the neighbors continually dreaming of revenge? There is no chance of my returning to power. The bridges are burned behind me. It is improbable that any outward necessity could induce me to enter the political arena. The mistake in Germany's present policy is that the wire which connected us with Russia is broken. That is not my business, but you cannot refuse to allow an old politician to criticise the conditions of his country, for during the few years that are left to me I will maintain the right to grumble."

No Reconciliation Possible Now.

BERLIN, June 28.—The last chance of a reconciliation between Prince Bismarck and the emperor is acknowledged by all to have been removed by the intemperate utterances in the Vienna interview. Up to the day when the interview was given the emperor was still eager to renew friendly relations with the ex-chancellor, but it is now regarded as a practical impossibility that the emperor should in any way countenance Prince Bismarck's utterances or seek closer relations with a man who has done his best to sow seeds of discord in the triple alliance.

The Goshen National Bank Closed.

GOSHEN, N. Y., June 28.—The Goshen National bank is now in the hands of Bank Examiner Getman. The bank was supposed to be one of the soundest in Orange county. William M. Murray, the cashier, is missing. Besides being the cashier of the bank he is also the treasurer of Orange county. Those who know him best believe he has done nothing wrong, but that finding the institution in a bad condition he did not have the moral courage to face his friends. Hon. Henry Bacon, who is counsel for the bank, thinks there is a shortage of about $30,000. This he did not think was due to anything the cashier had done, but because some of the securities were not of the best.

Electric Light for Railroad Trains.

LANSING, Mich., June 28.—Professor J. F. McElroy, superintendent of the state school for the blind, has solved the problem of lighting a train by means of electricity in a successful and economical manner. The machine is a cylindrical dynamo attached to the forward axle of the locomotive, and does not weigh over 300 pounds. In each car a small but powerful storage battery is placed. While the train is in motion these batteries become charged. When the train stops at a station the power from the dynamo ceases, but automatically the storage batteries light the train. The cost is less than the ordinary lights now in use on railroads.

The Peary Party Sails.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The steamship Miranda, of the Red Cross line, with the Peary relief party aboard, sailed from Brooklyn at 4:30 p. m., Monday. Professor Angelo Heilprin of the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences, who is in charge of the party, is accompanied by Dr. Henry G. Bryant, Philadelphia; Dr. Jackson S. Mills, New York, surgeon; William E. Meehan, Philadelphia, botanist; C. E. Riley, Burlington, taxidermist; Albert W. Vurse, newspaper correspondent, and Samuel I. Entticken, of Philadelphia. From St. Johns the sealing steamer Kite will start with the relief party for North Greenland on July 4.

They Died Together.

WILMINGTON, O., June 28.—Gilbert Palmer, of Jamestown, about Twenty-one years old, eloped with Mary Conklin, aged sixteen. Miss Conklin's mother strenuously objected to her association with Palmer. The bodies of Palmer and Miss Conklin have just been found on the roadside. Near them was found two glasses and two papers that contained strychnine. A note was found that read as follows: "Bury us as close together as possible. Goodby."

A Boy Kills a Madman.

SCIOTOVILLE, O., June 28.—A man named Odell was bitten by a mad dog two months ago. He went mad Monday and near his home he ran after a boy named Henson. The boy had been hunting, and while Odell was gaining on him the boy turned and fired, killing Odell instantly.

Almost a Cyclone at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 28.—A terrific wind storm struck this city. The rain came down in torrents, flooding cellars and gutters. The wind raised havoc with property, several houses being unroofed, chimneys blown down and telephone and telegraph wires broken.

Pastor Institute Refused Her.

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—Mrs. Frederick Eshman, of Narrowgate Mine, this city, recently bitten by a dog, has since developed hydrophobia. The Pastor Institute at New York refused to inoculate Mrs. Eshman, because the ribbies had been allowed to develop.

Killed His Crippled Brother.

CINCINNATI, June 28.—Robert Barber, aged thirty-two, struck and killed his brother John at Connersville during a quarrel. The murderer literally beat his victim, who is a cripple, to death with his fist. Robert was arrested and taken to the Lewis jail.

A Home for Volunteer Firemen.

HUDSON, N. Y., June 28.—The corner-stone of the State Volunteer Fireman's Home was laid to-day with appropriate ceremonies. The veteran New York fireman, Harry Howard, handled the trowel in laying the cornerstone.

Mrs. Charles Francis Adams Injured.

BOSTON, June 28.—As the Hon. and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams were driving in Quincy they were thrown out. Mrs. Adams received a severe cut in the forehead and a number of painful contusions.

He Played with Matches.

TRENTON, June 28.—Arthur Hill, a two-year-old son of Henry Hill, consumptive, at 722 Centre street, while playing with matches ignited his clothing and was fatally burned.

A Suggestion.

Borely—Mercy, but this is a hot day. Carlon functions for a chance to propose) —It is indeed, Borely. Why don't you go down and sit in the icehouse for an hour or two? You'd enjoy it very much. Ethel and I will wait for you here.—Harper's Bazar.

THE BASEBALL WORLD.

NATIONAL LEAGUE GAMES.

At New York—										R.	H.	E.
New York.....	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	4	4
Boston.....	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	2	6	0

King and Boyle, Nichols and Kelly.

At Brooklyn—										R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn.....	0	2	1	0	1	3	0	0	0	7	7	1
Baltimore.....	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	7	3

Fanzz and Dailey, Cobb and Gunson.

At Cincinnati—										R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati.....	0	0	0	1	0	0	1	0	0	2	6	0
Louisville.....	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	5	1

Mullane, Vaughan and Dwyer; Vint and Grim.

At St. Louis—										R.	H.	E.
St. Louis.....	0	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	3	5	7	1
Pittsburg.....	0	0	0	2	1	0	0	0	1	4	7	3

Galvin and Buckley, Baldwin and Mack.

EASTERN LEAGUE GAMES.

At Providence—										R.	H.	E.
Providence.....	3	0	0	0	1	1	0	0	0	5	7	2
Buffalo.....	0	2	0	0	1	0	0	2	0	5	6	4

Wells and Shoffstoss, Ryan and Stafford.

The Graham Court Martial.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Secretary Tracy has disposed of the court martial case of Commander James D. Graham, United States navy, tried for conduct unbecoming an officer. The general impression is that the court martial found Graham guilty and recommended his dismissal, and that Secretary Tracy wants the punishment mitigated to suspension for five years.

Athletics Helped Wesleyan.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., June 28.—At the annual college meeting at Wesleyan university, the report of the annual examination committee recommended that $250,000 be added to the general endowment fund for the establishment of more fellowships for study in Europe, and thought a large share of the college's present progress was due to athletics.

Sugar Trust to Make High Wines.

CINCINNATI, June 28.—Hoffman & Ahlers have for some time been engaged in making stills and other distilling machinery, ostensibly for a gentleman in Brooklyn, but it is reported that the stills are really for the sugar trust, which has decided to become a rival of the whisky trust, and distill high wines from the refuse from sugar.

Fled to the Second Stories.

LANCASTER, Pa., June 28.—A very severe storm passed over this county. At Washington Boro the streets were covered two feet deep in the streets, and the people were compelled to seek refuge in the second stories of their houses. The tobacco fields were completely ruined. Fences, trees and out houses were swept away.

Investigating Rev. Nicolai.

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 28.—At the investigation of the charges against Rev. Nathaniel Nicolai, who mysteriously disappeared, leaving unpaid bills behind him, the church judiciary committee submitted three specific charges of forgery against him.

Murderer Bates Lynched.

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn., June 28.—Thomas Bates was taken from jail by a mob of 200 men and hanged to a tree within 100 feet of the jail. Last Friday Bates' wife was found dead with her throat cut from ear to ear. Bates confessed the crime.

Alice Mitchell's Trial Postponed.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 28.—The celebrated Mitchell case, in which Alice Mitchell is to be tried for killing Freda Ward, was called in the criminal court and continued until July 18, on account of the state failing to secure two witnesses.

Thrown from Their Carriage.

WILLIAMSTON, Conn., June 28.—William S. Peckham and wife, of Milwaukee, were thrown from their carriage by frightened horses and both seriously injured. Mrs. Peckham may die.

Campbell Defeats Bowlby.

LONDON, June 28.—In the All England tennis championship, first round, S. E. Campbell, the American, beat Bowlby, three sets, love, twenty games, thirteen.

Killed by a Baseball.

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—While playing baseball Robert Shiffler was accidentally struck on the temple by a ball, from the effects of which he died.

A Tonic and A Pleasure:

That's the happy combination found in

Hires' Root Beer

You drink it for pleasure, and get physical benefit. A wholesome, refreshing, appetizing, thirst quenching drink.

One package makes five gallons.

Don't be deceived by a dealer, for the sake of making more profit, who tells you that it is "just as good." —It isn't. No imitation is as good as the genuine Hires'.

Miss Blanche Fellows

VOCALIST and Teacher of Singing.

Rapid development and complete education of the voice.

Specialties: Deep breathing, vowel formation and tone production.

Voices tried Saturdays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Call or address NO. 87 DUER STREET.

38c.

Buys a full size, re-inforced front, shirt, with Linen bosom and waistbands; regular 50c quality.

17c.

Buys a five foot curtain pole with brass fixtures, complete.

Window Shades 25c. and upward.

Dress Chalies 5c. Best Prints 4c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 30 days at

BOEHM'S

No. 7 West Front Street.

For a Delicious Drink

NEUMANN BROS.

Have just the article, a select

50c. Formosa Oolong TEA. to make a

Delicious Iced Tea.

Fresh roasted Coffees received weekly. Sun-struck received every morning. All goods sold at Lowest Prices. A full line of Vegetables received Daily

NEUMANN BROS.

79 BROADWAY.

PIPTONIZED Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'.

Builders Card.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter and General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS,

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 982.

PIERSON & GAYLE.

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, Box 15 Vine street, E. P. Gayle, 28 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH.

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 213.

R. V. SAUMA,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Evona.

P. O. Box 1288

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. F. HOFFMAN,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

Residence—24 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ARNOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Terms low. Shop Front street, Dunellen. Residence next Post Office. P. O. Box 344.

JOHN HEISEMANN,

Boss Painter and hard wood finisher, Paper hanger, decorator of ceilings and interior work. Residence, 5 Somerset street.

Just What You Need!

If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an

Arnold Steam Cooker.

Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a single oil stove.

You can buy the above articles at 61 Park avenue. Also the only genuine

BOSTON BROWN BREAD,

made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.

M. E. BEACH, Agent.

Do You Want Shirts?

If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your ideas.

The assortment we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects.

Fast Blacks for hot weather; Blue Flannel for cool.

Hallock & Davis,

5 West Front Street.

Trunks and Bags.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

15 West Front Street.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS

PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—49 East Front street.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

25 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST MORTGAGE

45 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.

49 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security. Choice First Mort. and Perp. Loans.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST MORTGAGE

NO. 45 NORTH AVENUE. Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

NEW 5°0 STORE!

I beg to announce that I have opened a store purchasing to building at 70 West Front street, where you quote some of our prices:

Mattress' ten quarts assorted Bay Mattress, 35 lbs.	$1.50 to $15
3 piece parlor Suits	$25
Oak Dresser Pillows	$1.50, $2, $2.50
Iron Bedsteads	$3
Bed Lounges	$5
Dining Tables	$2 to $6
Chairs	$1, $1.25, $1.50

Blankets, 40c.; bedspreads and pillow cases; Oil Cloth 25 to 40c. per yard; Colonial and Turkish Rugs $1 to $2.50; Japanese matting, all silk, 25 per cent; Comforts, Bolsters, Carriage Lookins Glasses, Pictures, Cradles, Cribs, Bedroom Crockery, Cutlery, Pocking Glass, and a hundred and one other things cheaper than you can buy them in any other store.

T. J. CAREY, - Proprietor.

70 WEST FRONT STREET.

As the weather is so warm, there will be no auction sale at Carey's until September.

IT IS NOT A SECRET!

NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

In buying a suitable book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 41 EMILY STREET.

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never finished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and well carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any of the first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer. Telephone Co 157.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(The Port Reading R. R. Co., Lessee.)

Trains in effect June 26, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

PLAINFIELD AND DUNELLEN.

PLAINFIELD AND SOUTH AMBOY.

LONG BRANCH OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Educational.

ELOCUTION. Instruction in Elocution, class or private lessons. For terms, address Miss. Alberni, P. O. Box 1068.

FRENCH LESSONS. Private lessons and entertainment in French Lectures. Class or private lessons at residence in Plainfield. Terms moderate and convenient. Miss Isabelle Green, Principal Girls' Public School, and others. For terms and trial lesson free, write to Prof. L. Verrue, care of James Hedges and Stephen, 17 La Grande street, Passaic.

HARRED ACADEMY, Boarding and Day School, Re-opens Monday, Sept. 12th, 1892.

For information apply at the Academy or address EDWARD H. HARRED, Principal, Box 1068, Plainfield, N. J.

MISS FAWCETT'S Kindergarten, Primary and Intermediate School, 19 Somerset street. Instruction in French. At home Wednesdays, from 2 to 5 p. m. 10 Grove street, North Plainfield.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTISON, Teacher of pianoforte. Gives home visits to pupils living at a distance. Apply at residence, No. 140 Second street.

Miscellaneous Cards.

MRS. LINDSAY, Intelligence Office, 24 West Front street. Good girls wanted. Mr. Lindsay has a lot of nice young cows, grade Jerseys, for sale.

H. E. REMER, Wall Paper, stained glass, grainer and decorator. Paper hanging and decorating a specialty. Shop and residence, 6 Grove street. Plainfield. G. C. Fox, Police Magistrate, also, Fuel, Agent for Lehigh Coal and Wood. Yard and office, Somerset street, near railroad. Best quality, sweet pickles and spa pickles always on hand.

Machine Works.

FREDERICK P. CHASE,

Manufacturer of

Electrical Machinery.

Models for inventions, brass and iron castings. Forging in all its branches. Blacksmith building and painting.

201 North Avenue,

Corner Madison avenue and Third street.

New York Office, 239 Fourth avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,

Manufacturers of

Mouldings, Sash, Blinds, Doors, etc.

Corner Madison avenue and Third street.

SCROLL SAWING, TURNING.

Also plain and ornamental glass furnished to order.

SCHUMM & SEELA,

Shooting and hair cutting parlor, in connection with the Park Hotel, 9 North Avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Razors honed and put in order promptly. Best hand shaved cigars for sale.

PURE MILK.

Delivered to any part of the city by

H. D. SCHENCK,

A postal addressed to Box 40 Plainfield will receive prompt attention.

WHAT GIRLS DO BEST.

AN EXPERT ON WOMEN'S WORK DISCUSSES DIFFERENT TRADES.

High Wages Earn—Trained Nursing. Dressmaking and Unusual Occupations Pay Best—Stenography and Typewriting Not What They Once Were.

Miss Alice Woodbridge, as secretary of the Working Women's society, is acquainted with all sorts and conditions of working women. In the interests of the labor bu reau which the society put in operation she has investigated every vacancy occurs, and of one of the girls of the family is fifteen or sixteen she is only too anxious to take the place and give as little work as she can for as much wages as the employer chooses to give. She rarely feels any responsibility about the work. It never occurs to her that work that is worth doing at all is worth doing well, and as for refusing to take smaller wages than somebody else can afford, she may be in other ways the most conscientious creature in the world, but she has absolutely no scruples in this sort of selfishness.

"Probably the factory worker is better paid than the saleswoman or stenographer. Girls employed in silk mills receive the highest wages of any factory workers. They will average six or seven dollars a week. That's really a high average. Of course they make very much more in busy times, but there are many dull weeks when they make less. The work requires considerable skill.

"The occupation of saleswoman has very little to commend it to the girl who has any choice at all in the matter. There are of course a few women heads of department who receive twelve to eighteen dollars a week. But I have in mind a very ambitious little girl who is employed in a big city store, who has been working six years for the firm, who is recognized as a faithful, trustworthy, in every way satisfactory saleswoman, and who receives six dollars a week. Outside of the financial reason for not adopting the occupation of saleswoman, there is the question of health. No matter how unhealthy the factory girl's occupation the saleswoman's is worse. Women are unfitted by nature for constant standing.

"Stenography and typewriting were until a few years ago the most lucrative things a woman could take up. But to day I am sure I could hire a whole army of them from three dollars a week up some of them competent too. The average stenographer and typewriter receives about five dollars a week, while the girl who gets twelve dollars regards herself as a particular favorite of fortune. Remarkably enough, the great reduction in the wages of this class of wage earners is due to a great extent to the woman who is trying to build up a little business of her own. She goes around to the offices where work done by a stenographer and type writer is needed. She offers to take the dictation and return the typewritten copy at cheaper rates than the employer can get it done by keeping a stenographer in his office. If that does not persuade him to give her the work she proceeds to master it herself, and then a business man is persuaded to let her help it with all her spare rock bottom. I know a woman who rather than let a job of that sort go will take $12 for work she ought to get five dollars for, and no amount of talking that I can do seems to convince her that she is not only doing herself an injustice but is wronging a whole army of workers as well.

"The best occupation a girl can adopt is something new. If she can originate a trade she can make a good living so long as she can be alone in the field. But as competitors increase the occupation is bound to be less and less desirable from the financial side of the question.

"The next best thing is to get into a field hitherto monopolized by men. Piano tuning seems to be one of these. I talked a few moments with a piano manufacturer the other day about it. He seemed to think it an occupation for which women's delicacy of touch peculiarly fitted them and he offers to teach a few women. The prizes paid are high. The wages earned depend upon the number of orders a tuner can get. This occupation of course would require a quick ear and some knowledge of music. Women have not yet entered the drugstore or the silversmith's shop, both of which seem particularly suited to them.

"Just at present the trained nurse seems to be particularly well off in a financial way. It is a fashionable fad among rich women to have an attack of "nerves" and to have the doctor prescribe a sojourn at a health resort and a trained nurse.

"The occupation of the nurse is not yet overcrowded. There is a demand for them, and they receive from sixteen to twenty five dollars a week and board. Those employed in hospitals receive less, but they have a permanent position. This occupation is not open to every girl, however She must be physically fitted for the wear and tear of it. At Mount Sinai Training school, and presumably at other hospitals, they have difficulty in filling out the classes because the applicants are not up to the physical standard.

"It seems to me, after all, that the old fashioned women's trades of dressmaking and millinery afford the greatest opportunities for a girl. There is always this much to be said in their favor. It is hard ly likely that a machine will ever be in vented that will design and drape and fold and fit. The only effect it will have upon of an independent business of her own, and they pay very well, too, even in the larger establishments. Of course I don't mean wholesale dressmaking. Curiously enough, that is beginning to make machines of the girls. Only one special part of the gar ment is given to each girl. One makes all the sleeves, another the skirts, another the plaiting and ruffles and so on.

"Sometimes a girl who makes the sleeves of a gown never sees the gown into which they are sewed. In many cases, however wholesale dressmaking has gone out of the hands of women entirely. Most of the really made women's garments are made by men—Russian and Polish Jews in sweating shops. It seems a bit odd, doesn't it to hear of men taking women's places? But the same state of affairs characterizes the shoe trade. Ten years ago almost every portion of a woman's shoe except the sole was made by women, while now, in New York at least, the work is almost entirely done by men. I think, though, if a girl really means business, and doesn't merely go into a thing to get pin money while waiting for a young man to come along and support her, if she hasn't musical talent enough for a piano tuner or the physical requirements for a trained nurse, she might do worse than become a dress maker."—New York Recorder.

Origin of Marriage.

According to the Moslem creed, the reason why every Mussulman lady contents herself to live in the harem and wear clothes that in the following curious legend. Sarah, tradition tells us, was so jealous of the preference shown by Abraham for the handsome Hagar that she vowed that she would give herself no rest until she had mutilated the fair face of her hated rival beyond the power of recognition. At the edge of his wife's intention, did his utmost to pacify his embittered spouse, but long in vain. At length, however, she relented and declared that she would forgive all. But how was she to fulfill the terms of the vow she had entered into? After mature reflection she saw her way out of the difficulty. Instead of disfiguring the lovely features of her husband she contented herself with boring a hole in each of the rosy lobes of her ears.

The legend does not inform us whether Abraham afterward felt it incumbent upon him to mitigate the smart of these little wounds by the gifts of a costly pair of earrings, or whether Hagar procured the trinkets for herself. The fact remains, however, that the Turkish women, all of whom wear earrings from their seventh year, derive the use of these jewels from Hagar, who is held in veneration as the mother of Ishmael, the founder of their race.—Jewelers' Review.

Women's Provident Dress Society.

To girls with slender allowances any sudden emergency in dress occurring just when they have supplied themselves with a stock of garments for the coming season is often extremely embarrassing, and I wonder that no one starts a provident dress society, to which members would subscribe a small sum annually and which would make grants out of its funds on such occasions as having to go into mourning, to go unexpectedly into a climate requiring quite different sort of clothing, to act as bridesmaid, and in some cases of marriage, when the relations are unable to provide any outfit, also in the event of a member being suddenly called upon to enter any new position requiring an immediate outlay on dress. Such a society, well and honorably conducted, would be a help to numbers of people and would encourage thrift in girls and often prevent them beginning the dangerous habit of running into debt.—Lady's Pictorial.

Ugly Hindoo Women.

The men among the Hindoos of Bombay are by all odds handsomer than the women, the fashion among the latter of wearing in the left nostril a huge hoop of silver adorned with precious stones not tending to enhance the modicum of beauty they already possess. This ring is often so large that the mouth and chin are covered by it. The married women also chew the leaves of the betel palm, and so their teeth and lips are stained a vivid and disagreeable yellow.

Caste, that strong divider of class, is indicated on the women by stripes of various colors on the forehead. Their arms, which are mostly bare, are fancifully tattooed, and their toes and ankles are ornamented with silver bangles and rings. This latter ornamentation is shared by both sexes. In downright ugliness many of these women approach closely an American Indian squaw.—Cor. Washington Star.

The Women of Eastern Peru.

Almost without exception the women of eastern Peru belong to the class of cholos, or halfbreeds. The Indian element is strong in the features of this mixed race, although at times the Caucasian character-

LOOK

at Werner's Show Windows

30 WEST FRONT STREET,

and see what you can do in $15 suits reduced to $10

Cut in Latest Styles.

FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS ONLY.

All Sizes and All Wool.

Outing Shirts and Straw Hats just receive. Clothing Made to Order. Other goods at proportionately Low Prices.

In compliance with an ORDINANCE just passed by the City Fathers, every Bicycle must be equipped with

LAMP AND BELL,

under penalty of $20 fine.

A large and complete assortment of Cycling goods can always be found at the

Wheelmen's Headquarters,

Corner PARK AVE. and FOURTH ST.

FRANK L. C. MARTIN.

We are getting away with lots of Russet Shoes this month—now is the time to buy them.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S,

22 West Front street.

P. S.—Our $3 shoe never takes a back seat.

IF!

A poor article is dear at any price. A good article is always at any price.

The Duluth Imperial Flour is the best in the world and the prices are right.

Insist on having it from your grocer, or apply to

FRENCH BROTHERS,

TELEPHONE 24. 8, 10 and 12 SOMERSET STREET.

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION. 1878. Membership 128,000, 1892. Death benefits paid over $28,000,000 since organization.

Plainfield Lodge, 562, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Tuesdays, at 8 P. M., in Templars Lodge Room, Music Hall building.

Immediate relief, $100, sick benefits per week $5.

LOUIS I. VANALSTYNE, Dictator.
RALPH A. ——, Reporter.
Webmen's Community, No. 84, second and fourth Tuesdays, at eight P. M.

Hotels.

Caspar's Hotel,

24 & 26 E. Front St

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Transient and Family Boarders taken at

Reasonable † Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

Fine first-class bar attached.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.

City Hotel,

CORNER

PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Kline's Extracts,

Pure Fruit Flavors.

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

Children's Day in Old Rome, B. C. 176.

We have just now been passing, in this very year of the building of the city, 2597 before the Incarnation, the seventh festival of Children's Day, presided over by the splendid curule games—those three festival days that celebrate the close of an old "age" and the beginning of a new one. Now an "age," or oeculum, my dear distant friends, as we understand it at Rome, is a period of 110 years. Not a boy or girl of us in Rome but knew what was the meaning ing of this festival, which no man could see twice. We had been told how the founders of the republic, ages ago, had, out of praise to the gods for blessings received and for protection granted, decreed that at the completion of each oeculum Rome should solemnize the event by joyful thanksgiving, by sacrifices to the gods and by a splendid display.

"HEAR US SING."

It was to Apollo and Diana that our especial festival, Children's Day, the 31 of June, was sacred; and no we were told by our fathers and mothers and by our tutors and teachers) because upon the children of Rome must depend, when they shall have grown to manhood and womanhood, the future of Rome itself, its greatness and its glory, the celebration of Children's Day was deemed by our priests and rulers the most important, the most glorious and the most impressive of the three days' festival.

Hark! do you hear it—the ta-ra, ta-ra-ta? It is the loud blast of the trumpets announcing the approach of the pageant as it comes slowly down the sacred street. Following the vestals come our mothers (mine is there among them, as was my father among the senators); you can count them as they move slowly along, 11 of the best and highest born of the matrons of Rome—one for each year in the "age" established. And now, following the band of musicians—you not hear us singing?—here we come, the children of Rome, the life and hope and flower of this splendid Children's Day procession.

"HAIL DIANA."

At our head walks one of the most celebrated of the world's famous poets and singers, Quintus Horatius Flaccus, whom all Rome knows by the more popular name, "the poet Horace." And after him we come—two, three and four abreast, a long, long line of well-born seven-year-olds, the sons and daughters of Rome's noblest patrician families.

Are we not all proud young patriots? And why should we not be? Clad in snow white tunics, crowned with flowers and waving our laurel branches we have walked in just this joyous fashion through the flower strewn street and down the street of Apollo, keeping constant measure to the song of victory and praise and supplication which was written for us especially, and for this particular occasion by him who leads us on—the great Horace, "our poet."—Elbridge S. Brooks in Wide Awake.

God's Rose.

A lady who was going into a picture gallery on the avenue dropped a single red rose she held in her hand and it lay on the threshold when a thin faced, ragged child stopped to look at it.

"You can have it," said the lady, who was returning to her carriage.

But the child did not seem to connect the richly dressed lady with the beautiful flower. She looked from it to the blue sky long and earnestly.

"Well," said the lady, amused at the scene, "why don't you pick up the rose?"

"I daren't," answered the child humbly. not offering to touch it.

"Then I told you to take it, child. It is mine," said the lady.

"Oh," responded the child, drawing a long breath: "I thought it was God's rose, and that nobody he dropped it there."

"You poor child," said the lady kindly, "it is God's rose, and yours and mine too."

And she picked it up and handed it to the little girl.

But the child put her hand behind her and ran off without touching the red rose. She could not comprehend how a rose could grow for heaven like a star to lie at her feet, and she was afraid of a bounty that was of so unusual a nature.—Detroit Free Press.

That's the Way.

Just a little every day,
That's the way
Seeds in darkness swell and grow,
They blades push through the snow.
Never any one I see
Leaps to blossom in a burst.
Slowly—slowly—as the first.
That's the way!
Just a little every day.

Just a little every day,
That's the way!
Children learn to read and write,
Bit by bit and mite by mite.
Never any one I see,
Leaps to knowledge and its power.
Slowly—slowly—hour by hour.
That's the way!
Just a little every day.
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox in St. Nicholas.

An Inconvenient Game.

Kent—Do you ever play tennis with your big brother?

Neely—Sometimes; but I don't like to, because when a ball gets lost he sits down and smashes while I look for it.—Harper's Young People.

JUST RECEIVED.

A LARGE SHIPMENT OF

FINE CREAMERY BUTTER.

19 Cents per Pound.

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,

Distributors of Pure Goods Wholesale and Retail. 29 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

This space is reserved for

ZIMMERMANN & RUMPF,

the West Front street Hardware Dealers.

RANDOLPH'S

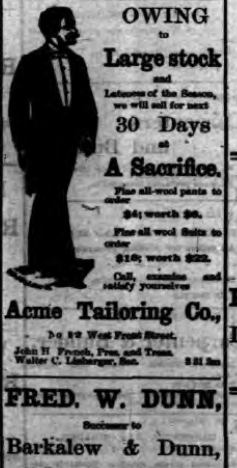
BEEF, IRON AND WINE,

THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!

PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

21 WEST FRONT STREET.



OWING

to Large stock

and

Lateness of the Season,

we will sell for next

30 Days

at

A Sacrifice.

Fine all-wool pants to order

$4; worth $6.

Fine all wool Suits to order

$10; worth $22.

Call, examine and satisfy yourselves

Acme Tailoring Co.,

No. 22 West Front Street.

John H. French, Pres. and Treas.
Walter C. Limberger, Sec. 3 31 3m

FRED. W. DUNN,

Successor to

Barkalew & Dunn,

18 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Fine Groceries.

THREE BEE TEA

It is a well-known fact that fine furniture and household goods may be bought at bargain prices of a good second-hand dealer.

Your attention is therefore called to the well-stocked store of

G. R. MUSGRAVE,

37 Somerset street.

Call early and secure the best bargains.

This Date in History—June 28.

SOUTHEY.

1491—King Richard IV was crowned at Westminster.
1535—Henry VIII of England, born; died 1547; crowned king April 22, 1509.
1557—Peter Paul Rubens, famous painter; born at Cleremberg; died at Antwerp 1640.
1778—Jean Jacques Rousseau, French philosopher and author, born; died 1778.
1778—Terrible bombardment of Fort Moultrie, by a British squadron under the command of Sir Peter Parker and Sir Henry Clinton.
1779—Suicide of Benedict Arnold.
1803—Thomas Paine, American revolutionist and statesman, born at Geneva; died 1825.
1808—James Madison, fourth president, elected.
1838—Queen Victoria crowned.
1863—James Henry Fitzroy, Lord Raglan, British commander in the Crimea, died.
1864—The battle at Fort Hill during siege of Vicksburg.

From the French.

Baron H. is the most methodical of men. Yesterday he was questioning a new servant before finally engaging him.

"Where were you born?"
"At Saint-Cyprien du Var."
"In what year?"
"In 1862."
"At what age?"—Texas Siftings.

Southern Existence.

Strawber—Maggie and Ida's wife have gone out west and are living on a ranch.

Slingerly—How do they like it?

Strawber—Ida likes it well enough, but she is miserable. I hear she says she can't tell when her next door neighbor has a new dress.—Clock Review.

Like a Prediction.

She—Miss Van Setemup never leaves till the last dance is over.

He—She is like a prediction, you know.

She—Why?

He—She remains to be seen.—New York Herald.

A Heartfelt Wish.

"I do wish," said Bunco, scratching his head thoughtfully—"I do wish dat Wendell Edison would invent a sort of new machine for de rush send o' dem animiles called de mule."—Harper's Bazar.

No Lower.

Jack—How much money did you win at the races?

Saddle—All. I borrowed.—Detroit Free Press.

1892 JUNE. 1892

Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fri.	Sat.
			1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2	2.22 a.m.	Last Quarter	17	4.01 a.m.
Full	10	8.32 p.m.	New	24	9.07 p.m.

Summer Resorts.

Clifton House,

BY THE SEA, FANCHOGUE, L. I.

Situated directly by that beautiful sheet of water, the GREAT SOUTH BAY, and only a few minutes sail from the OCEAN.

Bathing, bathing, bowling, billiards, music and library. Send for circular.

W. M. JENKINS, Prop.

Now opened for guests.—Grand opening Hop July 2d. 6 13 2m

THE ALBION,

EIGHTH STREET AND PARK AVENUE

Select family hotel.

Newly furnished throughout.

Special rates to permanent guests.

FRANK E. MILLER.

13 23 6m.

CARRIAGES

and

HARNESS

of Every Description.

STYLES and PRICES to SUIT ALL.

Carriages taken on sale or stored on ground floor.

Accessible at Any Time.

RYERSON,

303 SOMERSET STREET.

EITHER

Hot Water or Steam

Heating Apparatus

furnished and set up in residences and public buildings.

J. N. SCHENCK,

42 MANNING AVENUE,

North Plainfield.

20 years' experience. Pipe fitting, models ery repairs.

Agents for the celebrated "Furnace" house heating boilers.

Do You Smoke?

The Handsomest, Finest and Cheapest stock of

Meerschaum

and

Briar Wood Pipes,

Holders and Cigars can be found only at

N. H. Guttman's

Cigar store, No. 15 West Second street.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 2 Somerset street. Look Box L. Telephone Call 42. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," WEDNESDAY, JUNE 29, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR SUMMER VACATION, SHOULD SEND NEW ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

BREVITIES

—There will be a devotional meeting in the W. C. T. U. rooms to-morrow afternoon at 3.30.

—The "bicycle back" is the latest deformity since the introduction of safety bicycles.

—The Central will run excursions in all directions on July 4th. Low rates to Baltimore and Washington; trains to Lake Hopatcong and Mauch Chunck will be put on that day. For particulars see advertisement.

—The last meeting for the Summer of the Young Ladies' Mission Circle of the Methodist church will be held at the parsonage, 9 Grove street, North Plainfield at four o'clock Thursday. It is desired that all members attend.

—Those contemplating visiting Northfield this Summer, should send in their names at once to the Y. M. C. A. or to Mr. Charles Brown, 19 West Second street. The conference will commence on July 20, and extend to July 13th, inclusive. Splendid times are anticipated.

—A resident of Grove street, befogged by whisky, lay down along side the road, on Somerset street, the other evening and went to sleep. He had on a new pair of shoes. During his nap someone, either very needy, or what might be termed, "a small potato thief" stole the shoes off the inebriate's feet.

—There is considerable talk in Cranford tending towards the introduction of a water system. Members of the Town Committee are being urged to contract with the Union Water Company for a supply, and it is probable a hydrant contract will be made with this company as soon as its laterals can be laid in the town. The principal main of the company is already over the township line and Cranfordites are rejoicing at the prospect.

CAMERA CLUB OUTING.

Feltville Photographed Right and Left.—The Beginning of a Series of Pleasant Trips.

The veering of the wind from East to South, thence to the West yesterday morning, was an omen hailed with delight by the members of the Camera Club, as it became a fair afternoon for the outing which had been arranged for that day. There was no disappointment, for as the day advanced the prospects grew brighter and more promising until the hour for starting arrived, when it goodly number of the members assembled at the club rooms where conveyances were in waiting. The party, consisting of ladies and gentlemen, were each provided with their camera, and fully equipped for the occasion, and a joyous time they had, as was evidenced by the unanimous voice expressed.

The objective point was Feltville and many were the choice bits of nature with which our vicinity has been favored, that were secured and impressed in detail on the sensitive film awaiting development.

Nature never appeared more charming, and the drive was never more enjoyable by those who participated in this, the initial outing of the season. It is the intention of the club to continue these excursions periodically, thereby those whose good fortune it is to belong to the club will be afforded an excellent opportunity for studying the beauties which surround our charming city and at the same time assist in the laudable service of compiling them in a form that will give delight to others and in producing a geographical survey of much interest and value. Success to the Camera Club.

Diamond Dots.

Manager Keller and Captain Hofford had Meaken, the new pitcher from Troy, at practice yesterday and he showed wonderful speed and good command and control over the ball. He will pitch to-day's game with the New Jerseys.

Murphy, the hard hitting fielder, who was suspended Monday, has taken the pledge and will probably be seen with a uniform on in to-morrow's game at Middletown, N. Y.

The managers of the League and the Plainfield people all know that Murphy is a good one when in condition and Murphy has too much sense not to appreciate kind treatment.

The following is the batting order for the Crescents in this afternoon's game with the New Jerseys: Hofford, c.; Daly, 3b.; Hamill; 1.f.; Turner, 2b.; Leidy, c.f.; Bonner, s.f. Jones, 1b.; Galligan, r.f.; Meakes; p.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Manning are expected home from their wedding tour Thursday.

Mr. J. K. Arnold of Manning avenue, has enlarged and otherwise greatly improved his residence.

Miss Nettie Whitlock, formerly of this city but now residing in Newark, is visiting Miss Leonora Williams of Somerset street.

Mr. "Bert" Lowitz of Brooklyn is spending a few days among his friends in this city. He formerly resided in Plainfield and was well known and popular.

Miss Bulkley's Reception.

A large number of the alumni of the High School gathered at Assembly Hall last evening to tender Miss Bulkley a farewell reception.

An orchestra was present from New York and beautiful music was rendered during the evening.

All present, while loath to part with Miss Bulkley, joined in wishing her success in her new venture.

THE CAMPAIGN BEGUN.

THE REPUBLICANS RATIFY AT MUSIC HALL LAST EVENING.

Stirring Speeches by Hon. John Ulrich, Mayor Alexander Gilbert, Major Z. K. Pangborn, and Ex-Mayor Collins of Jersey City. Many Ladies Present.

Amid the booming of the cannon, the playing of the band, the burning of the colored lights and the loud applause of the people, the nominations of Harrison and Reid were ratified by the Republicans of this city last evening.

At seven thirty o'clock the cannon commenced to roar and it incessantly continued until the meeting was adjourned.

The Plainfield Cornet Band marched from the rooms of the Republican Association to Music Hall, where they played several airs before going in the building. Colored lights were burned, making bright illumination.

Music Hall stage and the boxes were appropriately draped with American flags, and on the left side was an engraving of President Harrison, while to the right was one of Mr. Reid.

The Hall was well filled at eight o'clock when the Hon. John Ulrich called the meeting to order. Several ladies were present and occupied the boxes and the parquet seats.

Mr. Ulrich spoke for half an hour, evoking applause as he pointed out the issues and praised the Republican party and the Republican candidates.

"Marching Through Georgia" was then rendered by the band, after which Major Alexander Gilbert was chosen chairman of the meeting.

Mayor Gilbert thanked the audience for calling on him to preside and said that he had hoped to fire the first gun in this city in 1892, but Judge Ulrich, who had preceded him, had that honor.

He said that he cast his first vote in 1864 for Abraham Lincoln and had ever since followed the fortunes of the Republican party, and he found no reason to apologize for being present at this meeting. He considered that Grover Cleveland had tried to serve his country well.

The Republican party do not assail Grover Cleveland, but they do his party.

The speaker then went over the brilliant career of the nominee of Fremont, Harrison, whom he considered much stronger to-day than he was even four years ago.

After reviewing Reciprocity and Protection, the speaker, to show how Protection had benefitted the entire country, said that the South is richer to-day than the whole nation was at the close of the War. When we look at the growth of the West and South we feel as if we were breathing the air of Republicanism. Our prosperity might have occurred under Democratic rule, but there is no doubt but that it is the result of wise Republican rule.

The speaker then compared the two parties to the two convention halls. The one at Minneapolis strong and securely constructed, contrasting very favorably with the frail, broken-down, storm-beaten wigwam at Chicago.

He then touched humorously on the Murchmup question, saying that a goodly number of our friends went over to the enemy in 1884, and they have been striving ever since for a glimpse of the promised land.

After reviewing the Tariff question, Mayor Gilbert said that the business of the country to-day is not paralyzed as the Democrats would fain make the voter believe.

In 1892, the speaker said, the Democracy said "we want to buy cheap and if it ruins a man in the business, let him go into some other business." This is the same policy that they advocate to-day.

In concluding his able address, Mayor Gilbert said that we can look forward with confidence that the Republican party will do even greater things in the future than in the past and that the American people put their trust in that party.

A list of vice-presidents was read and adopted.

After the "Red, White and Blue," by the band, Mayor Gilbert introducted Major Z. K. Pangborn of Jersey City, who said that it was not too early for enthusiasm, or for mugwumpish pharisaism, or Democratic deviltry. The Republicans should unite in the Democrats despite their frauds in Hudson county and elected Col. Wanser mayor of Jersey City. (Applause.)

Major Pangborn said he looked from his window yesterday as one of the threatened storms and saw a great deal of satisfaction 20 convicted ballot box stuffers from Hudson county going to Trenton, where they could sleep as he spoke.

He said it was sad to see Americans lose their manhood. Justice, slow but sure, at last come down heavily upon them and they got what they deserved. He trusted it would be a wholesome lesson to them.

In speaking of the campaign, the speaker said that it would no doubt be a clean one. Personal hatred would be omitted and the political issues of the day would be discussed.

Major Pangborn said that he had derided the nomination of other candidates but like all good Republicans he would fall in line with the regular nominee. The safest course would be to elect Mr. Harrison and let Mr. Cleveland "go fishing."

The platform for 1892 is the same as the one constructed by Jefferson Davis and the confederacy in 1861.

The English people say that the English people has reason for congratulation as the Democratic party has frankly confessed for free trade.

The speaker then with a glass explained protectionism in the easiest way. There are three things in every article manufactured—Material, Money and Labor.

The Material and Money are substantially of the same value in both countries. The only difference is in the labor.

The labor in England and the other countries of Europe costs only a fraction of what it costs here. Thus a skilled mechanic getting $16 a week in Connecticut or Rhode Island or in Sweden will work. Now does it stand to reason that the American manufacturer can pay 100 or more per cent. than paid in Europe for labor, and successfully compete with the European manufacturer?

We must do one of two things, either cut down the prices of our labor to that paid in Europe, or, we must put a tariff on the foreign-made goods equal to the difference paid in labor, so that we will be on an equal footing in our own markets. It is the working man, therefore, who is most protected by a protective tariff.

The Democratic party wants to allow these foreign manufacturers to take us at a disadvantage, and allow them to come into our markets and undersell the world, and not pay for the privilege.

Which do we want, a policy that will make articles a few cents cheaper in the counter, or the wages of our working men reduced one-half?

The Republican party is the friend of the working man, and should be taken care of him first, after which it can look after the brother on the other side.

In speaking of the Election bill, Maj. Pangborn said that in seven southern States there had not been a fair election in many years and that something must be done to remedy this evil sooner or later.

In concluding his eloquent address Major Pangborn said that as long as the flag floats over soil where Americans live the rights of the people must and will be safeguarded.

After music by the band, Mayor Gilbert introduced ex Mayor Collins of Jersey City.

The speaker said that he hoped the campaign just opened would be argued as in olden times by debate. The Republican party are in favor of progress, and this is the reason that the young man of to-day should, if he favors progress, join the Republican ranks. Mr. Collins said that the speakers preceding him had all covered the ground. The Tariff, Silver, Reciprocity and Election Bills had all been ably handled.

In speaking of New Jersey, he said that the Republicans have a brighter prospect this year for the election of Fremont Harrison, whom he considered much stronger to-day than he was even four years ago.

After reviewing Reciprocity and Protection, the speaker, to show how Protection had benefitted the entire country, said that the South is richer to-day than the whole nation was at the close of the War. When we look at the growth of the West and South we feel as if we were breathing the air of Republicanism. Our prosperity might have occurred under Democratic rule, but there is no doubt but that it is the result of wise Republican rule.

The speaker then compared the two parties to the two convention halls. The one at Minneapolis strong and securely constructed, contrasting very favorably with the frail, broken-down, storm-beaten wigwam at Chicago.

He then touched humorously on the Murchmup question, saying that a goodly number of our friends went over to the enemy in 1884, and they have been striving ever since for a glimpse of the promised land.

After reviewing the Tariff question, Mayor Gilbert said that the business of the country to-day is not paralyzed as the Democrats would fain make the voter believe.

In 1892, the speaker said, the Democracy said "we want to buy cheap and if it ruins a man in the business, let him go into some other business." This is the same policy that they advocate to-day.

In concluding his able address, Mayor Gilbert said that we can look forward with confidence that the Republican party will do even greater things in the future than in the past and that the American people put their trust in that party.

A list of vice-presidents was read and adopted.

After the "Red, White and Blue," by the band, Mayor Gilbert introducted Major Z. K. Pangborn of Jersey City, who said that it was not too early for enthusiasm, or for mugwumpish pharisaism, or Democratic deviltry. The Republicans should unite in the Democrats despite their frauds in Hudson county and elected Col. Wanser mayor of Jersey City. (Applause.)

Major Pangborn said he looked from his window yesterday as one of the threatened storms and saw a great deal of satisfaction 20 convicted ballot box stuffers from Hudson county going to Trenton, where they could sleep as he spoke.

He said it was sad to see Americans lose their manhood. Justice, slow but sure, at last come down heavily upon them and they got what they deserved. He trusted it would be a wholesome lesson to them.

In speaking of the campaign, the speaker said that it would no doubt be a clean one. Personal hatred would be omitted and the political issues of the day would be discussed.

Major Pangborn said that he had derided the nomination of other candidates but like all good Republicans he would fall in line with the regular nominee. The safest course would be to elect Mr. Harrison and let Mr. Cleveland "go fishing."

The platform for 1892 is the same as the one constructed by Jefferson Davis and the confederacy in 1861.

The English people say that the English people has reason for congrat-

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

A CHALLENGE TO DEBATE.

After Showing up the Incorrect Statements of Our "Farmer Orator."

To the Editor of The News—I am informed by several gentlemen that, on the occasion of the organization of the Fourth Ward Democratic Club or Association a short time ago at St. Mary's Hall, a certain lorid "Farmer Orator," whose middle name is Gin, city, and whose fame exceeds from the mountains of Passaic to the sands of Cape May, stated that he had lately procured, through a neighbor, a lot of wall paper for one of his houses, and that this wall paper was furnished to him at twenty-five cents of which was for export, and, furthermore, that the price which he was charged in Plainfield was at least fifty cents more than at which the paper came to him in considerable lot by getting it at the export office. Before proceeding further I would kindly like to show his hearers how the tariff played the very mischief with prices, and how American manufacturers were always willing to sell the benighted nations to the south of us at about one-third the price at which they would sell them (his hearers). This, of course, would be a very sad state of affairs, provided it were the truth, but, after the usual style of Democratic statement astonishing to most people, the statement pertains too much of the nature of a lie—the handle being all on one side.

Now I was informed of the statements of the aforesaid "Farmer Orator" by a most reliable gentleman in Plainfield that these statements were incorrect, and that I would prove this as publicly as possible in a small pocket-book. To begin with, the "Farmer Orator" compared his purchasing ability, as a consumer, from a Plainfield dealer in Plainfield to the purchasing ability of a large jobbing or export firm direct from the manufacturer, and I understand the Plainfield retailer makes his profit, and purchases his supplies not from the manufacturer, but from the jobber, as well as those who also makes his profit, is at once seen that the "Farmer Orator's" comparison is a fallacious one. However, in order to, once for all, set this matter at rest and stamp out of existence this campaign misconception (?) which, no doubt, would be repeated with "telling effect" did the matter rest on the say so of the gentleman who was favored by getting his wall paper at so abnormally low a figure, I, the writer of the "Farmer Orator," addressed a letter, in the name of my firm, to the house which we had supplied this paper to me for him, in the following terms:

NEW YORK, June 24, 1892.

Messrs Henry Gledhill & Co., 241 W. 24th St., City.

DEAR SIRS—"It has been claimed in our hearing that you have a lot of paper for export than it is for home trade, and we will take it as a favor if you will inform us which is the fact or not. On our impression always has been that the papers sold for export and those their orders quite as cheaply as any export house."

The reply of the manufacturers was as follows:

NEW YORK, June 25, 1892.

Henry Gledhill & Co., Manufacturers of Fine Wall Papers, No. 241, 243 & 245 West 24th Street.

DEAR SIRS—"Your favor of the 24th inst., is received. We have no lots of paper for export cheaper than for home trade. We do not know why anyone should say that we do, except that the prices made to the large jobbers are as low as for export. Yours truly,

HENRY GLEDHILL & CO."

I weep for a party which is unable to bolster up its position with better arguments than this one produced by the aforesaid "Farmer Orator." For his sake I regret exceedingly that I am obliged to show him up, but that the statement is fallacious, and I trust that this will be a lesson to him, and that when he wishes to talk upon tariff subjects in the future, he will feel the ground firm under his feet when he attempts to touch facts.

I have the greatest respect for my aforesaid good friend as a jolly good fellow, but, as a statistician, I am afraid, I conclude that he is "not in it."

I hereby publicly state that if he wants to talk on Statistics, Reciprocity, Free Trade, Tariff Reform, or any other of the names under which free trade is described by our Democratic friends, I am ready for him, or the whole Keeley party, to go through it (individually) in Plainfield, at such time and place as they may choose to appoint, and I will hide the Republican (protection) side of the debate alone, always provided that the discussion be confined exclusively to facts, and that personalities and statements be barred. With respect I remain,

Faithfully yours,
C. B. COWEN.

A Protest from a Woman.

To the Editor of The News:—That heartless Judge ought to have been arrested for beating his poor tired horse. It is a pity he could not be made to change places for that abominable cart and see how he would like to be beaten because he was too tired to stand up.

Then, that he is fined for the pound, just such cruelty! Of all cowards, the meanest is the one who wilfully causes pain to dumb creatures. Hers will be full of pleasantness and peace.

A WOMAN.

To Union County Farmers.

President Dennis Long, of the Union County Board of Agriculture, has issued an informal notice to the farmers of Union county, to the effect that exhibits of agricultural products are wanted, to represent the county at the Columbian Exposition at the great Chicago exhibition.

President Burroughs, of the New Jersey State Board of Agriculture, has been placed in charge of the New Jersey agricultural exhibit, and it is from him that President Long has received advices with reference to the Union county exhibit.

What is wanted is an exhibit of the grasses and grains produced in this county. The roots, straw, heads, and in short the plant complete, is what is wanted. Pick out the tallest, best specimens, tie them in neat bunches some five or six inches in diameter, and send them to President Long who will see that they are forwarded to the proper depository.

Very fine specimens of hay, wheat, oats, rye, etc., doubtless will be made, and Union county may take very high rank in the exhibition of these products.

—The farmers in the counties about Philadelphia and northern and middle New Jersey have finer harvests than most millionaires.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

MR. GLADSTONE ALL RIGHT.

He Starts on His Midlothian Campaign—The Marquis of Brodhedale Dead.

LONDON, June 29—(Special.)—Mr. Gladstone started to-day for the campaign in Midlothian. He looked hearty and vigorous, and had evidently fully recovered from the shock caused by the assault upon him.

Sir Henry Francis Seymour Moore, Marquis of Drogheda, died at Dublin to-day. He was well known in British sporting circles

Born in Prison.

LONDON, June 29, (Special.)—Mrs. Anne Margaret Montague, who is serving a sentence for one year for the manslaughter of her infant daughter, Mary Helen Montagu has been delivered of a son in prison. This makes her eighth son. The only daughter was the little one done to death by Mrs. Montagu's cruelty.

Ashore and Afire.

HALIFAX, N. S. June 29th. (Special.)—The Gloucester schooner Champion, bound to the banks, is ashore and a total loss on Gull Rock, Brier Island. The crew of twelve men were saved. The schooner struck yesterday morning, and shortly after she took fire from the upsetting of the stove.

A Strange Fight.

OWENSBOYLE, KY., June 29th. (Special.)—In Fleming county, Blue Rice, a farmer, and Zike Turner, a hand in his employ, fought over a difference in their accounts. Rice used a knife and Turner a harrow tooth. Rice is dead and Turner fatally injured.

JERE. JOHNSON'S SALES.

A Name Synonomous of Success—Buyers of Plainfield Suits.

Everything that Jere. Johnson touches goes.

There is nothing parsimonious about his way of doing business, and success follows him wherever he goes. As surely as the sun rises follows the Summer.

Twenty years ago he started New Brunswick property into activity, by one of the large sales conducted in a style which he introduced, and his career since, in this line, is one of uninterrupted success.

Last Saturday he had a sale in Plainfield, and in a few hours disposed of over $45,000 worth of lots to numerous owners, in whose hands they will surely grow highly valuable.

Here is the list:

Margaret Gregory Osterman, Washington, D. C., 25 feet assessed.....$1,000.00
Wood, N. J., 25 feet assessed.....
Alvin M. Lord, Somerville, N. J., 25 ft.;
Simon Gralnick, 38 Broadway, New York City, lots 8 and 9; assessed.....
Cherry, lots 8 and 9; assessed.....
Brooklyn, lot 13; assessed.....
Brooklyn, lot 12; assessed.....
C. C. Hoffman, 10 West Street, New York City, lot 26; assessed.....
Brooklyn, lot 14; assessed.....
New York City, lots 25 and 27; assessed.....
Wm. Palmer Phelps, Newark, N. J., lot 7; assessed.....
Wm. Palmer Phelps, Newark, N. J., lots 28; assessed.....
Geo. W. Van Benthuysen, 343 New York Produce Exchange, lot 21; assessed.....
Lydia E. Prentice, 155 Union street, Brooklyn, lot 7; assessed.....
Frank C. Leighton, Plainfield, N. J., lot 6; assessed.....
Aaron B. Thompson, Plainfield, N. J., lots 43 and 58; assessed.....
Aaron B. Thompson, Plainfield, N. J., lots 59 and 60; assessed.....
Bond, N. J., lot 31; assessed.....
Bond, N. J., lot 32; assessed.....
New York City, lot 31; assessed.....
New York City, lot 32; assessed.....
John Ulrich, Plainfield, N. J., lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40,

EDITORIAL NOTES

Fourth of July Observances.

Woodstock, Vt., has annually a Fourth of July celebration which might serve as a model for the whole country. There ought to be much more ceremonious respect paid to our national birthday than is the case of late years. It is a bad sign when Americans become too lazy to make a great day of the Fourth.

Woodstock has been making a great day of it now for twenty-two years, as a sort of modern revival. One feature of the celebration is that famous men and women in all the departments of life have during these years either read papers, delivered orations or given poems there. It is pleasant to note that the topics chosen for the occasion deal with matters of large national interest. The whole country is searched to bring together representative people. This year, for instance, Senator Frye, of Maine, will tell the vast audience about the "American Ship;" Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, will discuss "Immigration;" John V. Farwell, of Chicago, will enlighten these Vermont Yankees on "The West," while Commissioner of Indian Affairs Morgan will narrate the progress made in citizenizing the red men. All these topics are full of instruction as well as interest, and information will be conveyed to the young people of Woodstock that will be of use to them all their lives. It will be conveyed in an attractive way, too, for the speakers mentioned know that when a man sets himself up to speak in public he insults his audience unless he can speak distinctly and gracefully.

Meantime, a year ago, far away in another part of this big country, a Fourth of July celebration was inaugurated, no less unique, and one that appeals even more powerfully to sentiment and imagination than the Woodstock event. In Missouri the Blue and Gray veterans united in a mutual observance of the day. In stately procession representatives of the two armies marched side by side, both glorifying the blessed and beloved Union that now belongs to both. Addresses full of patriotism and eloquence were delivered, with inspiring music, then the Blue and the Gray, and all their fellow townsmen, stood at immense tables and feasted together on barbecue meats. One of these tables, at Sedalia, was 1,000 feet long.

Missouri is a state that suffered most during the war, from soldiers on both sides, and now Missouri's Union and Confederate veterans clasp hands and together celebrate this republic's glorious birthday. It is a solemn, beautiful observance. Meantime, may the American Union stand while grass grows and water flows, and may the Fourth of July be celebrated just so long!

Campaign Songs.

The most ardent patriot in this republic cannot deny that there has been a great dearth of good campaign songs since the war. In Ohio last fall the followers of Governor McKinley had one roaring good one, which helped not a little to enliven the political meetings, but even this, with its "Come Along" chorus, was arranged to the music of an old air that was popular in the state thirty years ago, when the Hutchinson family used to sing. It is a pity that with all our alleged musical culture to-day we have no longer a Hutchinson family.

Just now there is a sad lack of stirring popular songs of any kind in this country. Where are our musical geniuses about? Let each of the national committees offer a prize for the best campaign song. Let the prize be sufficient to attract the attention of those who can make good music. Separate prizes should be given for both the music and the words. Let action be taken soon, and maybe we shall yet have a decent campaign melody or two. Our hard, matter-of-fact generation scarcely realizes how much a few stirring, grandly rolling song measures would do to create enthusiasm and votes.

Where is the "Yankee Doodle," "Star Spangled Banner," "Rally Round the Flag," "His Soul is Marching On," etc., of our day—songs that stirred the blood so strangely in the old time? Where is even anything so good as the log cabin and hard cider music of the first Harrison's campaign? Are our political campaigns nowadays such miserable, dollar and cent matters that soul and song have all died out of them?

There is no doubt that Father Mollinger, of Pittsburg, wrought in the course of his pastorate many remarkable cures, whether he did it by prayer and faith, mind cure or hypnotism. But the strangest part of all is that, like many another renowned physician, he had absolutely no power to heal himself, but had to die when his time came exactly like anybody else. He died of a distressing ailment, too, that caused him intense pain, yet even over this pain he had no control. The ailments he cured and relieved were apparently in some cases as hopeless as that of which he died, yet all the same it killed him: that, too, before he was an very old. The fact is not the least of the mysteries of psychological science.

The average income of agriculturists was shown by the last census to be only $300 a year. This fact explains several movements among the farmers.

THE POLITICAL WORLD.

Convention of the Republican Clubs at Rochester.

BIDWELL FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

The Californian Will Probably Be Nominated for the Place by the Prohibitionists' National Convention at Cleveland.

St. John Made Temporary Chairman.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 29.—President McAlpin will probably be re-elected at the session of the Republican league. Henry G. Brewster, of Rochester, will be made vice president, and A. B. Colvin, of Glen Falls, treasurer. There are a thousand delegates present at the convention. In his address President McAlpin said he thought that the meetings, as so early a period of the year, of such an enthusiastic body of Republicans was an augury of victory. The issue was between those who give every man a ballot and every ballot count, and those who intimidate voters in the south, and steal senates in the north, he said; between those who would flood the country with a debased currency and those who knew but one dollar, and that an honest dollar; between those who protect the toiler in the mine, shop and store and those who would open the best market in the world to unrestricted competition with the cheapest labor in the world.

The Ticket Eulogized.

President McAlpin then eulogized the Republican ticket, and said that the League had grown from a few clubs to an organization of more than 1,200 clubs, embracing a membership of over 100,000. He concluded amid wild applause. Letters of regret at their inability to attend the convention were read from President Harrison, Whitelaw Reid, Governor McKinley, T. C. Platt, Secretary Tracy and others.

In the evening fully 4,000 people were in the rink at the great mass meeting. Charles J. Wright presided, and in the course of his speech paid a tribute to the abilities and worth of James G. Blaine. Great cheering broke out over and over again, but a moment later when the name of Harrison was mentioned, the cheering was trebled.

While Congressman Burrows, of Michigan, was speaking, the delegates from Elmira, Stout Fassett's home, marched in with a great Harrison hat, promising to "Harrison every bit of energy which loyal Chemung would have given to Blaine. Burrows' speech was a dissection of the alleged fallacy of free trade.

Measures, Not Men.

In conclusion Mr. Burrows said: "This is a campaign of measures, not men—a great business question. These can be no mistaking the issues, and I have an abiding faith in the fair judgment and good sense of the American people that they will continue a policy which is American, and which, if maintained, will continue our industrial development unexampled in progress. I have an abiding faith that under the banner of protection and reciprocity the Republican party will march to a triumphant victory in November next."

Roswell G. Burr and James F. Burke, president of the College League of the United States, also spoke.

Bidwell for President.

CINCINNATI, June 29.—General John Bidwell, of California, once a congressman from that state, will be the standard bearer of the national Prohibition party in the coming campaign. When the convention opened here it was apparent that the boom for William Jennings Demorest, of New York, had bursted, and the Californian's nomination is claimed on the first ballot, if not by acclamation. Demorest had expected the support of the New York delegation, but found on their arrival that he could command the votes of but thirty out of the 110 delegates.

For the second place Joshua Levering, a wealthy Baltimore coffee merchant and of local note as a philanthropist, is the lead, with Henry Clay Bascom, of New York, and A. A. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, following close behind.

Chairman St. John, of Kansas, was made temporary chairman. He denies the report that the Prohibition delegates are seeking an alliance with the People's party. Some of the white haired and spectacled delegates are bemoaning the fact that the degenerating influences of modern political methods compel them to smoke their fellowmen, and that the good old times when the delegates sang temperance hymns to camp meeting tunes and discussed the availability of candidates without heat or passion, or personal vituperation have gone, perhaps to return no more. All kinds of charges, affecting not only his general availability but his general character, have been brought against Bidwell.

The Bidwell supporters, however, refused to return the fight with the same missiles. They contented themselves with a declaration that the party does not want a man who seeks the office, and that Demorest in their opinion is foremost in many ways from being considered as an available nominee. At the Pennsylvania caucus a straw vote showed that nearly every delegate would go to Bidwell on the first ballot.

The Fusion Question.

The conference in favor of fusion was attended by several hundred people. A resolution was adopted declaring that a friendly feeling exists between the Prohibition and People's parties on economic questions of the day, and recommending that the national committee of each be empowered to confer with the People's party, with a view to a union, provided that the suppression and prohibition of the liquor traffic be not left out of the platform.

A committee was appointed to present the matter to the Prohibition and Omaha convention. The committee is composed of W. H. Boles, of Illinois; George B. Mallory, of Michigan; Miss Frances S. Willard, Colonel Fuller, of Illinois; Mrs. Emery, of Michigan; Judge Hamill, of Tennessee, and Ira Muir, of Indiana.

At the Democrat oratorical contest, at Music hall, Miss Minnie Warren, of Michigan, won the diamond medal.

Campbell Sees the President.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Most of the members of the national Republican committee have left the city. Interest now centers about the appointment of the executive committee, which shall have charge of the campaign. This is to consist of nine members, in addition to the officers of the national committee, ex-officio members of the executive committee. They are to be appointed, and the officers of the executive committee named by Chairman Campbell.

Among the names mentioned for places on the committee are Messrs. Clarkson, C. L. Magee, of Pennsylvania, and G. A. Hobart, of New Jersey.

Chairman Campbell conferred with President Harrison lasted about three-quarters of an hour. Mr. Campbell stated that their conference was in relation to platform matters generally, and said that the meeting of the executive committee would not be given out probably for several days.

Reception to Mr. Cleveland.

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., June 29.—Arrangements are about perfected for the grand reception to Grover Cleveland tonight at this place. Commodore Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland will keep open house from 8 till 10 p. m., when their friends and neighbors in the villages of Bourne and Buzzards Bay will be received by acclamation. The voters of the town, irrespective of politics, are expected to call in a body.

It is thought possible that some citizen may address Mr. Cleveland on behalf of the entire village. Mrs. Cleveland will assist in entertaining and the ladies of the village will probably be present.

John Kean, Jr., Re-Elected Chairman.

JERSEY CITY, June 29.—The New Jersey State Republican committee met at Taylor's hotel and organized for the coming campaign. John Kean, Jr., of Union, was re-elected chairman; E. J. Anderson, vice chairman; John D. Foster, secretary, and Samuel T. Scofield, treasurer. It was decided to locate headquarters at Jersey City. A resolution was passed indorsing the work of the State League of Republican clubs. The question of calling a state convention was laid over until the state convention, which will be held on July 19.

Not a Word for Cleveland.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., June 29.—It is not certain whether the notification committee will visit Bloomington and formally notify Adlai E. Stevenson here of his nomination for vice president by the Democratic party, or whether he will go to New York and meet the committee there. Since Mr. Stevenson received the news of the nomination he has not heard a word from Mr. Cleveland, and no arrangement has been suggested for a meeting of the principals.

Kansas Republicans to Meet.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 29.—The clans are gathering for the Republican state convention on Thursday. There will be 700 delegates, the largest convention ever held in the state. The greatest interest centers in the governorship, with A. W. Smith, E. N. Morrill and M. M. Mathews as candidates. Mr. Smith will lead on first ballot, and it is believed he will be nominated early in the day. He is a practical farmer.

Colored Men to Organize.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 29.—T. Thomas Fortune, of the New York Age, at a meeting of colored delegates held, suggested that a state convention of colored men be held Aug. 31 in Buffalo, to effect an organization, consider race interests and take steps to obtain a larger political representation for colored people in this state.

Governor Chase Renominated.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., June 29.—The Republican state convention renominated Governor Ira B. Chase on the first ballot. Senator Theodore Shockney, of Randolph county, was nominated for lieutenant governor, and Aaron Jones, of St. Joe county, for secretary of state.

Platt and Miller Win.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The Republican state committee re-elected William Brookfield chairman and appointed an executive committee overwhelmingly friendly to Miller and Platt, which in turn elected Charles W. Hackett, of Utica, its director general.

Voting but Without Hope.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 29.—The general assembly voted perfunctorily for United States senator, and will continue to do so daily until the end of the term. The senator will not be elected until the next session of the legislature, two years from now.

A Colored Delegate Barred Out.

CINCINNATI, June 29.—C. N. Grandison, president of Benton college, Greensboro, N. C., colored delegate at large to the national Prohibition convention, was refused entertainment at the Gibson House. He threatens to sue the management.

FASHIONABLES IN THE EXTREME.

The first is of sea de nil silk draped with embroidered net, corselet bodice of steel embroidery edged with green ribbon laced high in the back.

The second is a graceful gown of rich white silk, some lovely lace was draped on the skirt and formed part of the bodice, falling at the back in short draperies.

Another Indian War Cloud.

CHICAGO, June 29.—Army officers are wearing with no little anxiety the outcome of a significant move by the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indians in Oklahoma Territory in the direction of a union of nations formed in them by the Indian agent there. The Indians say they will farm no more to do with the government, whose officers have continually perjured themselves to get their rights. Settlers are greatly alarmed.

The Fort Jervis Question Unanswered.

FORT JERVIS, N. Y., June 29.—Last week the Orange county grand jury at Goshen failed to indict any person for the lynching of the negro, Bob Lewis. Judge Cullen ordered the jury back to investigate the matter further. They did so and indicted the village officials of Port Jervis for criminal neglect of duty. The question "Who hung Bob Lewis?" remains unanswered.

TRUSTS AND POLITICS.

The Two Conventions Discussed in the Senate.

HALE AND VEST HAVE A TILT.

One Says That the Standard Oil Company Controlled the Democrats at Chicago and the Other Assails Chairman Harrison as the Attorney of Armour & Co.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The session of the senate was longer than it has been for several weeks past, and was very interesting. Immediately after it was called to order Mr. Hale, of Maine, spoke at considerable length upon his tariff resolution. During the discussion on the resolution, which was entered into by Mr. Vest, of Missouri, there was an exchange of personalities as to the respective interests of Chairman Campbell of the Republican committee and Mr. Whitney on the Democratic side in forcing the tariff issue, and decided to do it. I also wish to call the attention of the people to the fact that the great American manufacturer might have been recognized by the party, for its committee reported a plank to that effect, but the convention threw it aside."

Replying to Mr. Vest's remarks on trusts, Mr. Hale said there was the great leader who controlled the Cleveland forces at Chicago, whom they all knew and respected—Mr. Whitney. Was he not connected with sugar? Was he not connected with whisky? Was he not connected with the trust which was controlled by the Standard oil trust.

Mr. Vest, interrupting with much warmth, said: "Does the senator from Maine charge Mr. Whitney with any connection with the Standard oil company?"

Mr. Hale (deliberately)—I do not make any such charge.

Mr. Vest—Then it is utterly unfair to make any such insinuation. I deny it. I deny it on Mr. Whitney's own statement to me. His brother in-law is a stockholder, but I have yet to learn that a man is responsible for his brother-in-law.

Vest Assails Campbell.

Mr. Vest asserted that Chairman Campbell, of the Republican national committee, was the paid lawyer of Armour & Co. Mr. Hale remarked that Mr. Campbell was a good lawyer and an able lawyer, and no doubt had clients in many lines of business all over the country. He added: "I do not assert or believe that Mr. Whitney has any interest in the Standard Oil company. His denial is enough for me. But you cannot make the country believe that the great Standard Oil trust did not have a controlling voice in shaping the result of the Chicago convention."

Mr. Hale requested that his tariff resolutions be allowed to lie on the table, as other senators desired to speak upon it. It was so ordered.

Soldiers' Day in the House.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The day was soldiers' day in the house. For the first time this session the war veterans had a hearing. Bills being passed to pension army nurses now on the rolls regardless of support who served for six months in caring for and nursing the sick and wounded; to provide a pension of $30 per month for non-commissioned officers and the bill to remove the disability of those who participated in the rebellion and who have since enlisted in the navy or army of the United States and been honorably. Mr. Meredith, of Virginia, opposed the former bill on the ground that these nurses had already been paid and should not be further rewarded. Mr. Smith, of Illinois, eulogized women in general, and the noble nurses in particular who worked so zealously during the war.

Stewart's Free Coinage Amendment.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Mr. Pierce, of Tennessee, introduced in the house Senator Stewart's amendment to the free coinage bill, which provides for the coinage of silver, except that from foreign countries, whether silver coin or bullion. Mr. Pierce says he is firmly convinced that the bill will pass the senate at an early date by a majority of from 9 to 12. Mr. Pierce is of the opinion that the house would not stultify itself by failing to pass a silver bill acted upon by the senate, and he feels confident that with 150 signatures for a discharge rule on the Bland silver bill the house could not refuse to pass Senator Stewart's measure.

Reciprocity with Cuba.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The president has issued a proclamation proclaiming reciprocal trade relations with Cuba, under the reciprocity clause of the McKinley tariff act. The transitory reciprocity arrangement, which has been in operation between Cuba, Porto Rico and the United States for the past eight months, will cease to be in force on July 1, and be substituted by the definitive arrangement which was negotiated last year. This latter arrangement is the most complete and comprehensive reciprocity arrangement ever made by this government, embracing not only all agricultural products, but a long and important list of manufactured goods, to be admitted free, or at greatly reduced duties.

Pleased with Borup's Prompt Recall.

PARIS, June 29.—Mr. Coolidge, the American minister, has informed M. Ribot, the French minister of foreign affairs, of the recall of Captain Borup, military attache of the American embassy, accused of being an intermediary in revealing plans of French fortifications, but approves the prompt action in the matter both of Minister Coolidge and President Harrison.

Amherst's Ivy Planted.

AMHERST, Mass., June 29.—The custom ivy class day exercises were observed at Amherst college. The ivy was planted by Robert Hunt Lyman, of Detroit, class president. The oration was by John Elwin Grant, of Goldsboro, N. C., and the poem by Earl Comstock, of Utica, N. Y.

Forger Bleich Pardoned.

TRENTON, June 29.—The board of pardons pardoned Charles H. Bleich, of Asbury Park, N. J., who three years ago was convicted of forgery. His forgeries, which were upon many of the business men of Asbury Park and elsewhere, aggregated $25,000.

Henry Weld Feller Dead.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., June 29.—Henry Weld Feller, the only brother of Chief Justice Fuller, of the United States supreme court, died at the residence of his son in this village. He was sixty-one years old.

THE BEE HIVE!

Bobbing tights, 10, 12, 14 and 16c.
Canvas belts, 5 and 10c.
Ladies' Jersey mitts in black, tan and cream, 20 and 25c.
Ladies' ribbed Jersey vests, 10, 15, 20 and 25c.
Gauze vests, 25c.
Children's gauze vests in short and long sleeves and pantletts to match, 12, 15, 18 and 20c.
Full line of misses' white lawn suits.
Men's Balbriggan shirts and drawers, 25c. 40c. and 50c.
Men's Jean Drawers, 50c.
Boys' short gauze drawers 25c.

Louis Callman,
46 West Front Street.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.
Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of Ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong ice to this market, are now prepared to furnish their patrons with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.
Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield, Washington Valley and Park avenue.
J. W. CODDINGTON, Pres.
H. CODDINGTON, Vice-Pres.
ANDREW WILSON, Sec. & treas.
J. MORTON, Gen. Supt.

J. E. YOSE
Furniture Moved
To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.
PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.
Large covered trucks.
30 W. Second street.

George - Bremmer,
NO 18 SOMERSET STREET,
READY MADE CLOTHING,
or made to order—at prices
To Suit Your Purse.
Call and see Samples.

COAL and WOOD,
E. H. HOLMES,
YARD—21 Madison Avenue.
Office:—27 North avenue, with Woolston & Buckle.

Joseph T. Sullivan,
No. 66 West Third Street,
Dealer in Choice
Wines, Liquors, etc.
BEER ON DRAUGHT.

A Point Worthy of Attention.
Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both
GOOD and CHEAP.
the place for that is at
VOGELER'S,
17 West Front Street

EUROPE!
Tickets for Hamburg, Stettin, Havre, Paris, Copenhagen.
To Glasgow, Londonderry, Liverpool, etc.
All Scandinavian or Finnish points.
AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES.
Illustrated catalogue giving views of scenery, etc., mailed free.
H. D. Morrison, 9 Somerset St.
(Any line or steamer.)

Having Disposed of the Produce Business to Mr. I. A. Hammer, all persons owing the Plainfield Produce Co.
are requested to make prompt settlement.
The office is, as heretofore, at No. 29 North avenue.
We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand desirables, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.
A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.

Ice Cream Freezers.
The Automatic,
Needs no turning.
The Rapid,
Best and quickest crank freezer.
GARDEN HOSE,
and
Lawn - Sprinklers.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
12 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

C. DICKINSON,
PRACTICAL
OPTICIAN
and
JEWELER.
Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Agent for the American
Rambler Bicycles.
No. 13 Park avenue.

ON SALE TO-DAY
Our Spring Line of
Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.
Several new patterns this Spring never shown before
CALL AND SEE THEM.
O. M. DUNHAM,
Hatter and Furnisher.
46 West Front Street.

USE THE BEST!
DOMESTIC
SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS
SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC
4 & 5 cents per Copy.
Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.
A. M. Vanderbeek's,
28 PARK AVENUE.

GET YOUR
Bicycle Repaired
at
NO. 2 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
by
Henry Goeller, Jr.

A. M. SEGUINE,
PROPRIETOR OF
Laing's Hotel Stables,
on Front Street, Cor. Madison Avenue.
TELEPHONE CALL, No. 20.
Carriages for weddings, funerals and private calls.
Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.
Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.
BOARDING HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!
ALL SIZES.
Of Steel
Light Blue Color.
References:—
P. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.
ROBT. A. MERRIER, Street Com'r.
Smalley Bros.,
24 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!
L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,
30 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.
Having the power to transfer the operation of his entire delivery system to the yard, he is now ready to sell coal, which he confidently believes entitles him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.
Direct (Lehigh and Shamokin Coal in best qualities and various sizes carried by HOUSE AND BRIDGE LUMBER.
He would also announce recently increased facilities for Turning and Scroll Sawing, and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner on short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,
Dealer in BEST
QUALITY COAL
YARD AND OFFICE
SOUTH AVENUE.
P. O. BOX 1067.
Upper Lehigh and other choice coals constantly on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Counsellors at Law, Commissioners, Conveyancers, etc. Office, Second floor Drake's building, No. 2 Park place, Plainfield, N. J. Office, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

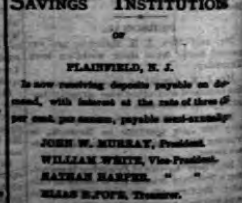
F. A. DUNHAM, C. E. & S., Engineer of the Plainfield Union County Water System. Special attention given to street paving and sewerage. Office, 7 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Counsellor-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public. Money to loan. Conveyancing promptly made. Office: No. 28 West Front street.

CLARK & REED, Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court and Chancery, Commissioners of Deeds, Conveyancers, etc. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CRAIG A. MARSH, Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public. Office corner Front and Second streets.

OSCAR E. TEELE, 49 Broadway, New York city, rooms 32 and 33, Importers and Traders' Bank Building, Residence, Plainfield, N. J.

PLAINFIELD
COOKLESS EXCAVATING COMP'A


JONES & CO.
Work quickly and thoroughly done. Low rates to suit the times. Our excavating is done all by the Steam Shovel. Orders left at our office on Park avenue, opposite Post office, will receive prompt attention. Telephone connection with Dunham's Livery Stable, Cor. Front and Park avenue.
P. O. box 1077. Telephone call 29.

THE DIME
SAVINGS INSTITUTION
OF
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.
JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. FOX, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7:00, 8:05, 9:30, 11:05, 12:05 p. m., 2:30, 4:30, 6:30, 8:30, 10:30 p. m.
Close—7:00, 8:05, 9:30, 11:05 a. m., 12:05, 2:30, 4:30, 6:30, 8:30, 10:30 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND BARTON MAILS.
Arrive—8:30 a. m., 2:30 p. m.
Close—8:30 a. m., 2:30 p. m.

Mails for Trenton and Philadelphia close at 8:30 a. m., 2:30 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Arrive—8:30 a. m.
Close—8:30 a. m.

E. R. FOX, P. M.

UNION MEN MUST LEAVE

Carnegie Will Defy the Amalgamated, It Is Said.

ONLY NONUNION WORKMEN WANTED

Trouble Feared at the Homestead Works If Such a Move Is Made—The Story That New Men Will Be Employed Denied by the Firm.

PITTSBURG, June 29.—The officials of the Amalgamated association have been notified that "Every union man in the employ of the Carnegie Steel works at Homestead would be discharged on July 1." The Amalgamated officials, who have taken every precaution possible to preserve the peace and have advised the men against using forcible means to gain their points, at once gave orders that the information should be guarded secretly until it is finally confirmed by the members of the firm themselves.

The story has it that at a special meeting of the officials of the Carnegie interests it was decided that every union man in the employ of the firm at the Homestead works, from the highest down to the lowest in honor, should be paid off in full on July 1 and discharged at once. The present scale expires on the 30th inst., and it is asserted that the firm has determined to run the mill nonunion hereafter.

A member of the Amalgamated association in speaking of the story said: "We get our information that the men are to be discharged there from the throne, though, of course, the Carnegie people have not sent us official information to that effect. This is the surprise they have promised the men, and it certainly is startling."

The same gentleman says that notwithstanding the efforts that have been made to make everything appear peaceable, there is an undercurrent that is liable to burst forth like a volcano, without a moment's warning.

Carnegie, Phipps & Co. deny that union men will be discharged on Friday and have men hired in their places.

BERLIN AGAINST BISMARCK.

Liable to Prosecution for His Remarks in Austria.

BERLIN, June 29.—Public opinion in this city has been roused to an exceptional degree against Bismarck for his remarkable utterances in Austria and south Germany. Many who have heretofore clung to the prince now acknowledge that their loyalty will not allow them to go further with him. They condemn his recklessness in exposing state secrets and his efforts to excite Germans to distrust of their sovereign.

Eminent lawyers here say that without doubt Bismarck has rendered himself liable to prosecution by the courts, and that his conviction upon the evidence would be certain. Such a prosecution, however, is out of the question. Bismarck has such a strong hold on the sentiment of all Germany that even the Independents and Social Democrats would denounce the proceedings. Count Von Caprivi has strongly opposed to any action which would indicate that the government felt it worth while to notice Bismarck's attacks. In this view of the case the chancellor is supported by the emperor. Count Botho zu Eulenburg and Herr Miquel are understood to be in favor of heroic measures to shut the ex-chancellor's mouth.

Ballotbox Stuffers in Jail.

TRENTON, June 29.—The thirteen ballot-box stuffers were brought to Trenton by Sheriff McPhillips of Hudson county. Their prison life began instantly and within an hour their heads had been cropped and they had put on the prison garb. The names of the men are as follows: Thomas L. Meskill, Peter J. Cassidy, James Burns, Oscar L. Preiboarg, Thomas Trotter, John D. Eagan, John P. Murray, Patrick J. McGrath, Francis Whelan, David Gordon, John R. Whelan, Martin J. White and Henry Spears. Their sentence is eighteen months apiece.

The Draytons Reconciled.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Mr. and Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton, who recently figured in a scandal that was given wide notoriety, have been reconciled. They met at the Astor mansion on Fifth avenue. This action is regarded by society as an acknowledgement by Mr. Drayton of his belief in the innocence of his wife. Mrs. Drayton will sail for Europe on July 6 and when she returns they will again live together.

Polk's Body to Be Removed.

NASHVILLE, June 29.—According to a decree in the case wherein Polk's place goes into the possession of the heirs-at-law of President Polk, the heirs consent that the rest of the Polk mound shall remain, and the removal of the remains of President James K. Polk and wife be made a charge and lien upon the property.

Ashford Fled from Hawaii.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—When the steamer Australia left Honolulu the sudden disappearance of Volney V. Ashford was the leading topic of discussion. Ashford, who was charged with treason, had fled the country.

Divens Is Insane.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Edward Divens, who shot Max Clorget, Sarah Divens' assailant, is still locked in the hospital cell, Nos. 29 and 30, in the Tombs. There is practically no doubt that he is insane.

Pensions for One Week.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The number of pensions allowed by the bureau of pensions for the week ended June 18 was 5,450. The aggregate amount paid for the same time was $55,746.

Dr. Irwin on Trial.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Dr. John Arthur Irwin is on trial before Judge Fitzgerald, charged with having held an illegal autopsy on the body of Mind Reader Washington Irving Bishop.

Not Even a Postage Stamp Left.

CHICAGO, June 29.—The World's Columbian commission is now without even a postage stamp. Every dollar of the appropriation of $70,500 has been exhausted.

All but Three Have Recovered.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 29.—With the exception of three persons all of the cottagers and hotel guests poisoned by eating ice cream have recovered completely.

Mamie's Love Was Hopeless.

NEW YORK, June 29.—It has been learned that Mamie Young, who killed herself in Harlem, was hopelessly infatuated with Robert W. Dunlop, married.

Father Yodyasna Accused.

BROOKLYN, June 29.—Father Yodyasna of Williamsburg, is charged by Rosa Kremer, Mrs. Kate Fowler, with assault.

THE VERDICT AT HARRISBURG.

Operator Hayes, Flagman Brown, and Engineer Kelly Censured.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 29.—The coroner's jury investigating the recent railroad disaster in this city rendered the following verdict:

First—We find that H. S. Hayes, the Steelton operator, was guilty of gross neglect in allowing second section of No. 9 to leave the Cameron street station without having left the block between the Steelton and Dock street towers.

Second—Robert B. Brown was guilty of grossly neglecting his duty as a flagman in not going back far enough and placing caps on the track and remaining until second section arrived to flag it.

Third—That the engineer, Hugh Kelly, is charged with gross neglect in not having his train under full control on approaching Dock street tower, and running past danger signal and running into the first section, causing the wreck.

Fourth—We censure the Pennsylvania Railroad company for allowing a local freight train to be on a passenger track on the line of an approaching passenger train.

Engineer Kelly was placed under bail for future appearance, if wanted.

LAUNCH OF THE TEXAS.

The Big Battleship Will Be a Formidable Foe.

NORFOLK, Va., June 29.—The battleship Texas, the first one of that class in the navy, was launched at the navy yard. She is the first armor clad battleship ever put into the water by the United States. It has taken six years to construct her. She is double turreted, with a length between perpendiculars of 300 feet, an extreme breadth, 64 feet 1 inch, and a molded depth of 39 feet 6 inches. Her mean draft of water will be 22 feet 6 inches, while with 500 tons of coal aboard she will be able to steam 17 knots per hour.

The vessel is built of steel through out, with a double bottom so arranged that the compartment may be used for water ballast. The principal armament consists of two 10-inch and six 6-inch breechloading rifles, the secondary battery comprising twelve 6-pounder and four 1-pounder rapid fire guns, four Hotchkiss revolving cannon and two Gatlings. Her armor is a foot thick. The vessel will be lighted throughout by electricity and will carry four powerful search lights, two of which will be for boat use. She is designed for a fleeting sail to carry a complement of 368 officers and men.

Engraver Homme Dead.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—John F. E. Prud Homme died at his home in this city, aged ninety-one. He was the oldest engraver in the world. He engraved Trumbull's picture, the signing of the declaration of independence and was curator of the National Academy of Design. He accepted an appointment in the bureau of engraving and printing in June, 1880. His work was highly appreciated, his delicate ornamentation on bank notes and securities being the product of his graver.

Herbert L. Terrell Goes Free.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Judge Lacombe sitting in the United States circuit court, ordered discharged Herbert L. Terrell, who was arrested in this district on an indictment found in Massachusetts against him as a member of the Whisky trust, and who was brought here on certiorari proceedings for his discharge, on the plea that the indictment was def ctive.

To Attack Monmouth Park Again.

FREEHOLD, N. J., June 29.—The executive committee of the Monmouth County Law and Order league has mapped out plans for the fight against Monmouth Park, and has engaged special officers to arrest all persons found making books or selling pools each race day. The members of the league believe that this course will break up the races.

Employers and Employed in Harmony.

MCKEESPORT, Pa., June 29.—The National Tube Works company and all of its employees have made an arrangement to govern operations for the ensuing year. The National rolling mills and foundry will be shut down for stock taking during the week commencing July 4. Over two thousand men are interested.

Student Mahr's Atrocious Crime.

NEWARK, N. J., June 29.—The eighteen-year-old daughter of Henry Knaye is in a critical condition because of an assault committed on her by Emil Mahr, aged eighteen. Mahr, who was arrested, is a student in the University of the City of New York, and is very highly connected.

Cashier Murray Still Missing.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 29.—The board of supervisors will meet next Friday at Goshen to appoint a county treasurer in place of William H. Murray, cashier of the closed Goshen National bank. Many of those who know Murray fear that he will never be seen in Goshen again alive.

They Fear Home Rule.

DUBLIN, June 29.—There is almost a panic in Irish securities, including railway and bank stocks, owing to the fear that home rule will gain the day in the coming election. There is a general sense of insecurity as to Ireland's future.

Faith Curist Johnson Killed.

BOSTON, June 29.—George N. Johnson who had quite a following of faith cure disciples, was killed while standing near his house in the Lynn public forest by a fragment of rock blasted from a ledge a long distance away.

Cleveland Cars Running Again.

CLEVELAND, June 29.—The strike on the East Cleveland Street Railroad company's lines is practically ended. Cars were run by the Euclid Avenue road at intervals of ten or fifteen minutes without molestation.

George R. Cathcart Dead.

NEW YORK, June 29.—George Rhett Cathcart, one of the leading members of the American Book company and widely known in business, literary and social circles in this country and Europe, died at Newport.

Three Killed by Lightning.

NASHVILLE, June 29.—Rev. Shelby Hardy and two daughters were killed by lightning near Ridgeville. They sought shelter under a tree. The bolt which killed them did not hurt their horse.

Spiritualist Maynard Dead.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 29.—Mrs. Nettie Colburn Maynard, a well known spiritualistic medium and author of "Was Abraham Lincoln a Spiritualist?" is dead.

New Jersey Doctors Meet.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 29.—The annual convention of the New Jersey Medical society opened here at the United States hotel.

Chicago's Smallpox Scare.

CHICAGO, June 29.—This city is threatened by another smallpox epidemic.

Untimely Ills.

Funny things sometimes happen in church. One of these occurred upon a recent Sunday, when a young man came to church late, slipped into an unoccupied seat and sat down directly on top of a high silk hat belonging to the man in the next pew. The hat gave way with a loud crack, and just then the clergyman's voice rose in solemn response, reading the first verse of the Psalter for the day: "O Lord, thou hast searched me out and known me. Thou knowest my downsitting and mine uprising."—New York Recorder.

An Attached Condition.

First Boarder—A cigar only ought to be smoked after a good dinner.

Second Boarder—Have one?

First Boarder—No, thanks.—Judy.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Consternation prevails in some parts of Russia, owing to the rapid spread of cholera.

The sum of $100,000 is asked for the Chicago World's fair, to be expended in erecting and furnishing a Canadian building.

The sudden death of the wife of Congressman Boutelle occurred at Bangor, Me.

Fire at Seattle, Wash., caused a loss of $500,000.

Mickey Gilsey, who was convicted of the murder of Bob Lyons at New York, was sentenced to be electrocuted at Sing Sing prison during the week beginning Aug. 15.

Harvard's famous pitcher, Highlands, will enter Yale college next autumn.

Frank S. Lenz, who has undertaken to ride around the world on a bicycle, has arrived at Chicago.

The people at Norman, O. T., are bound that the negroes must go. They drove a negro out of town with Winchesters.

A remarkable strike has been made in the Eclat mine, Creede, Colo. The ore runs high in silver. Specimens assay over $800 a ton.

Captain Cremieux Fos intends to fight the Marquis de Mores after the latter's trial for killing Captain Mayer.

The refusal of the Lord Chamberlain to license Oscar Wilde's play of "Salome" will prevent Sarah Bernhardt from giving the play in London.

The house committee on naval affairs has ordered a favorable report on a bill remitting the penalties exacted by the secretary of the navy on the cruisers Concord and Bennington.

Nine of the prisoners at the Ore Bed state *prison, Canon, Tex., attempted to es*cape. Four were wounded and four escaped.

George M. Breidner, of Baltimore, has been arrested on the charge of embezzling about $34,000 from the firm of Witz, Biedler & Co., wholesale drygoods merchants.

Governor Flower has appointed John H. Mason, of New York, William H. Woods, of Poughkeepsie, and Henry D. Brewster, of Woodsport, as state assessors of New York.

The Vossische Zeitung says that the Russian officials in Paris are trying to raise a loan of 700,000,000 francs, including 300,000,000 of this last loan, which the Rothschilds declined.

THE BASEBALL WORLD.

NATIONAL LEAGUE GAMES.

										R.	H.	E.
At Brooklyn—First game—
Brooklyn	1	0	3	1	0	0	4	0	2	11	12	3
New York	1	1	0	1	0	2	0	0	0	5	9	7
Haddock and Daly. Rusie and Boyle.
Second game—										R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	2	6	4
New York	1	2	0	1	2	2	0	0	0	8	7	2
Stein, Hart and Daly; Crane and Doyle.
At Philadelphia—										R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	2	1	3	0	0	0	1	1	x	8	10	1
Boston	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	5	2
Keefe and Clements, Clarkson and Kelly.
At Baltimore—										R.	H.	E.
Baltimore	0	0	2	0	0	0	3	0	x	5	9	0
Washington	2	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	x	4	8	2
Buffinton and Robinson, Knell and Milligan.
At Cincinnati—										R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	2	x	4	8	1
Louisville	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	5	1
Mason and Vaughn, Sanders and Grim.
At St. Louis—										R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	5	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	x	7	11	2
Pittsburg	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	3	6	6
Gleason and Buckley; Terry, Mack and Miller.

EASTERN LEAGUE GAMES.

										R.	H.	E.
At Binghamton—
Binghamton	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	12	4
Albany	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	6	4
Murphy and Inks, Hess and Devlin.
At Troy—										R.	H.	E.
Troy	1	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	3	9	1
Rochester	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	7	2
Welch and Bird, Goodall and McKeough.
At Providence—										R.	H.	E.
Providence	1	2	0	1	0	0	0	0	x	4	7	1
Buffalo	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	3	4
Kilroy and Gray, Mani and Wells.
At Elmira—										R.	H.	E.
Elmira	0	1	0	1	4	0	0	1	0	7	12	1
Syracuse	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	7	2
Hemming and Boyd; Coughlin, Fournier and Urquhart.

Engineer Fraser Killed.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Mining and Mechanical Engineer Andrew Fraser, for many years employed by the Hecla Iron company, has been murdered in Mexico by a guide for the money and valuables he had with him.

Everybody Likes Me.

ANTI-CHAP.

I contain no greasy or sticky substance I penetrate the skin; I eradicate spots and pimpl s; I keep the skin smooth, soft, pliable; I am harmless. Try me, and I will become your favorite.

All druggists sell me at 25 cents.

Also remember the famous ANTI-CHAP SOAP in connection with ANTI-CHAP.

38c.

Boys 4 fall line, re-inforced front, shirt, with 12mo bosom and wristbands; regular 50c. quality.

17c.

Boys 4 fire foot curtain pole with brass fixtures, complete.

Window Shades 25c. and upward.

Dress Challies 5c. Best Prints 4c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 30 days at

BOEHM'S

No. 7 WEST FRONT STREET.

For a Delicious Drink

NEUMANN BROS.

Have just the article, a select

50c. Formosa Oolong

TEA, to make a

Delicious Iced Tea,

Fresh roasted Coffee received weekly. Strawberries received every morning. All grades of ice cream. Lowest Prices. A full line of Vegetables received Daily.

NEUMANN BROS.

70 BROADWAY.

PIPTONIZED

Beef, Iron and Wine

50c.

Per Pint Bottle.

at

WILLIAMS'.

Stationery Cases.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet

MAKER.

Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished

ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK.

John Peterson,

SHOP—64 Grandview avenue.

Residence 14 Putnam street.

Burnett & Milligan,

MASONS and BUILDERS,

28 East Front Street.

First-class work guaranteed.

Estimates furnished for work in or out of town.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 942.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters

and Builders.

W. J. PIERSON, No. 16 Vine street. H. B. GAYLE, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 313.

R. V. SAUMS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Dunellen.

P. O. Box 1288

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully. All kinds of work.

S. P. HOFFMAN,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

Residence—54 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ABBOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Fine mantels constantly on hand. Jobbing promptly attended to. Corner Park and Somerset streets, Plainfield, N. J. Post-office box 1047. Lumber yard Front street.

JOHN RUSSEMANN,

Dealer in Builders' and Sash, Doors and Blinds, Mouldings, Brackets, Scroll Work, Turning, Sawing, Planing, etc. Factory and office, 17 and 19 Somerset street.

Just What You Need!

If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an

Arnold Steam Cooker.

Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove.

You can buy the above articles at 61 Park avenue. Also the only genuine

BOSTON BROWN BREAD,

made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city.

M. E. BEACH, Agent.

Do You Want Shirts?

If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your ideas.

The assortment we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects.

Full Flannels for hot weather; Blue Flannel for cool.

Hallock & Davis,

5 West Front Street.

Trunks and Bags.

GEORGE VOEHL,

the

CONFECTIONER,

is now prepared to furnish

Parties & Receptions

with Delicious

ICE CREAM

in bricks.

18 WEST FRONT STREET.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

DECORATORS ↓ †

‡ ‖ § PAINTERS.

Great variety of Wall Paper. Painters' supplies. Office and store—249 East Front street.

V. L. FRAZEE,

GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES

225 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

43 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING.

49 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security. Corner Park Place and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son,

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

No. 49 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Upstairs Depot.)

NEW STORE!

I beg to announce that I have opened a store pertaining to bedding at 19 West Front street. Below we quote some of our prices:

Mattresses	$2.50 to $15
2 pound Double Jamestown Hair Mattress	20
Down Feather Pillows	$1.50, $2, $2.50
Bolsters	50 cents
Down Pillows	$1.50, $2, $2.50
Blankets, 50c.; bedding and comforts at all prices. Cribs, 25 to 40 per cent. cheaper. Oriental and Turkish Rugs, $1 to $4.50; parlor carpets, all wool, 45 per cent. cheaper. Oil Cloths, Looking Glasses, Pictures, Cradles, Cribs, Bedroom Crockery, Coaches, Buckling Carriages, and a hundred and one other things cheaper than you can buy them in any other store.

T. J. CAREY, - Proprietor.

19 WEST FRONT STREET.

As the weather is so warm, there will be no auction sale at Carey's until September.

IT IS NOT A SECRET! : : : : : NOT A SCHEME!

TO RECEIVE A

CASH DISCOUNT,

in buying a mileage book or trip ticket of a railroad company, neither is it to buy a similar article of

R. W. RICE & CO.,

GROCERS, 49 EMILY STREET.

Where you can always rely upon getting the best of everything in our line, at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

41 to 89 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET.

A DINNER is never finished without a glass of GOOD WINE. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large and most carefully selected stock of Choice

Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes,

BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER.

If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any the of first-class wholesale houses in New York City.

F. LINKE,

Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer,

Telephone Co. 127.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(THE FOUR READING R. R. CO., LESSEE.)

Sailing in New York, foot of Liberty street.

TRAINS LEAVE PLAINFIELD AS FOLLOWS:

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 20, 6 45, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Arrive in New York at 7 25, 8 45, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND PHILADELPHIA.

Leave Plainfield at 1 40, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

Arrive in Philadelphia at 4 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 20, 6 45, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Arrive in Bound Brook at 6 00, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

Leave Plainfield at 5 20, 6 45, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Arrive in Somerville at 6 00, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

Leave Somerville at 6 00, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

Arrive in Plainfield at 6 30, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 a. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m.

Leave Plainfield at 6 30, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 a. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m.

Arrive in Bound Brook at 7 00, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

Leave Bound Brook at 7 00, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

Arrive in Plainfield at 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

Leave Plainfield at 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

Arrive in Somerville at 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 a. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m.

Leave Somerville at 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 a. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m.

Arrive in Plainfield at 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

Leave Plainfield at 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

Arrive in Somerville at 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 a. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m.

Leave Somerville at 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 a. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m.

Arrive in Plainfield at 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

Leave Plainfield at 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

Arrive in Somerville at 11 00, 12 00 a. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m.

Leave Somerville at 11 00, 12 00 a. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m., 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00, 12 00 p. m.

Arrive in Plainfield at 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night, 1 30, 2 30, 3

SOME ODD STORIES.

INTERESTING INCIDENTS RELATED BY MAJOR ALFRED R. CALHOUN.

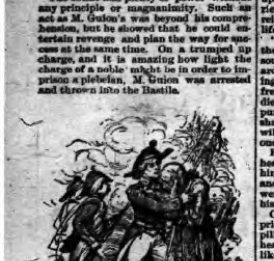
A Tale of Love and Devotion, Persecution and Imprisonment—Three Cases a Day of Secret Vengeance Wreaked and Rewarded and a Tyrant Lost His Head.

In the year 1787 the Count de Rochau, one of those wealthy and prodigate nobles who prepared by their conduct the French people for the bloody revolution that soon followed, became enamored of a beautiful schoolgirl. This young lady was the daughter of a respectable tradesman named Jean Guion.

The count, failing to win the daughter by direct solicitation, determined to frighten the father to his purpose.

M. Guion was a descendant from an old Huguenot family, and had all the pability of mind and purity of character that distinguished those remarkable people. Although he knew the power of the Count de Rochau, he met his proposal with an indignant response and ordered the wretch from his presence.

The count had plenty of power without any principle or magnanimity. Such an act as M. Guion's was beyond his comprehension, but he showed that he could entertain revenge and plan the way for success at the same time. On a trumped up charge, and it is amazing how light the charge of a noble might be in order to impose a plebeian, M. Guion was arrested and thrown into the Bastile.



"FREE AT LAST!"

The count now renewed his addresses with more ardor, but one night he was wounded in a meeting with Louis Bernard, a fine young man, of her own class, to whom Marie Guion was engaged.

To avoid the consequences of his temerity, Louis Bernard had to fly from France. He went to Turkey and took service under the sultan, preferring to fight under a Mohammedan than under any of the "Christian" kings who then cursed Europe.

Count de Rochau, believing that he had won an undisputed field to himself, renewed his attentions to Marie Guion, who had left school and now, with her heartbroken mother, was trying to carry on the business of the unfortunate father and husband in the damp, dark cells of the Bastile.

One day Mme. Guion said to her daughter:

"We must fly from Paris, my child. It may be flying to death, but better that than the dishonor that threatens from this monster, the Count de Rochau."

Marie timidly and tearfully replied:

"With you and God. But do not lose heart, dear mother; justice cannot sleep forever in France. Let us pray that when the awful vengeances may not be made her ally."

And so the two women closed up their household goods, the bribes that had guaranteed them slave wage, and with their little portable belongings fled to Bordeaux. Here, under an assumed name, they again renewed the strenuous battle of life.

Never a word did they hear from the father in the cells of the Bastile, for to the people of the outer world the wretched prisoners were as the dead.

Now and then a line came to France from the gallant youth fighting under the star and crescent of the Moslem. "Wait with patience, heart of mine," Louis Bernard would write. "The storm clouds darken over France. Even here, by the Golden Horn, I hear the hoarse muttering of the red tornado that is about to break upon Paris. The wrongs of three centuries are about to be avenged, and the reign of the nobles will end in their own life blood.

"But here by the Bosphorus I pray for the day and dream of the hour when the sound of the first blow will go ringing around the world. I imagine myself leading my old friends against the Bastile and freeing him. I have learned to be a soldier, and I shall use my knowledge to a purpose. The Count de Rochau and I shall meet once more, and but one of us will remain to tell of that meeting. That one will be your husband—Louis Bernard."

Four years passed since Jean Guion had heard the doors of the Bastile closing behind him and shutting out the loved ones and the world. The seasons came and went, and hope sickened and died out in his heart.

One day when the sky was clear the prisoners looking out through the bars saw pillars of dust and smoke arising, and they heard the hoarse shouting and roaring mass, like the rush of maddened waters when the hills pour down their floods.

"What is it?" the prisoners whispered one to the other.

No one could answer. It might mean death to them, but was not that better than life? So why should they fear?

Nearer and nearer came the rush and the roar. And now the prisoners could hear above the ceaseless din the booming of artillery, like the beating of funeral guns, and to their eager ears came the hoarse shouting of men and the ogglelike cries of despoiled women.

Nearer and nearer, higher and higher, clearer and clearer came the rush and the roar, the crash of cannon and the rattle of muskets, and high above all the victors' shouts and the exultant cries of the women.

The Bastile trembled and rocked. Guards and keepers seized arms, and, pale-faced, rushed out to defend their gates.

But what availed such resistance to stem the wild torrent of the people's wrath?

The day of the aristocrat was over. The reign of the people had come, and the black wrongs of three centuries of merciless oppression were being wiped out in blood.

There were shouts and shrieks in the Bastile court. The governor was dead; and in the distant garden the dauntless Guion and husband in the damp, dark cells of the Bastile.

One day Mme. Guion said to her daughter:

"We must fly from Paris, my child. It may be flying to death, but better that than the dishonor that threatens from this monster, the Count de Rochau."

Marie timidly and tearfully replied:

"With you and God. But do not lose heart, dear mother; justice cannot sleep forever in France. Let us pray that when the awful vengeances may not be made her ally."

And so the two women closed up their household goods, the bribes that had guaranteed them slave wage, and with their little portable belongings fled to Bordeaux. Here, under an assumed name, they again renewed the strenuous battle of life.

Never a word did they hear from the father in the cells of the Bastile, for to the people of the outer world the wretched prisoners were as the dead.

Now and then a line came to France from the gallant youth fighting under the star and crescent of the Moslem. "Wait with patience, heart of mine," Louis Bernard would write. "The storm clouds darken over France. Even here, by the Golden Horn, I hear the hoarse muttering of the red tornado that is about to break upon Paris. The wrongs of three centuries are about to be avenged, and the reign of the nobles will end in their own life blood.

"But here by the Bosphorus I pray for the day and dream of the hour when the sound of the first blow will go ringing around the world. I imagine myself leading my old friends against the Bastile and freeing him. I have learned to be a soldier, and I shall use my knowledge to a purpose. The Count de Rochau and I shall meet once more, and but one of us will remain to tell of that meeting. That one will be your husband—Louis Bernard."

Four years passed since Jean Guion had heard the doors of the Bastile closing behind him and shutting out the loved ones and the world. The seasons came and went, and hope sickened and died out in his heart.

One day when the sky was clear the prisoners looking out through the bars saw pillars of dust and smoke arising, and they heard the hoarse shouting and roaring mass, like the rush of maddened waters when the hills pour down their floods.

"What is it?" the prisoners whispered one to the other.

No one could answer. It might mean death to them, but was not that better than life? So why should they fear?

Nearer and nearer came the rush and the roar. And now the prisoners could hear above the ceaseless din the booming of artillery, like the beating of funeral guns, and to their eager ears came the hoarse shouting of men and the ogglelike cries of despoiled women.

Nearer and nearer, higher and higher, clearer and clearer came the rush and the roar, the crash of cannon and the rattle of muskets, and high above all the victors' shouts and the exultant cries of the women.

The Bastile trembled and rocked. Guards and keepers seized arms, and, palera

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. — E. W. Mershon, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street. Look Box I. Telephone Call 61. Printing of All Kinds. — 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. — PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," THURSDAY, JUNE 30, 1892. — PRICE TWO CENTS

NEWS SUBSCRIBERS LEAVING TOWN FOR SUMMER VACATION, SHOULD SEND NEW ADDRESS TO THIS OFFICE, BEFORE LEAVING. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR MAILING THE NEWS TO THEM.

BREVITIES

—The Jersey City Wheelmen will make a "run" to this city, July 4th.

—Deane and Van Arsdale have offered a fine pair of bicycle shoes as a prize in the July 9th road race.

—The street railway workmen have reached Front street and Park avenue again with their second track.

—Entries close for the road race of July 9th, on Saturday, July 2d, with J. Hervey Doane. All who wish to enter must see him at once.

—There are two spots on the Somerset street road that would be improved by removing the mud. One is from the bridge to Manning avenue, the other is from Manning avenue to Greenbrook road.

—An alarm of fire was sounded last evening at seven o'clock, from box 12. It proved to be in the building on Park avenue opposite North avenue and was extinguished before the department arrived.

—The July number of Romance is peculiarly suited to the season. An old-time Fourth-of-July story by Helen Lee Sargent is one of its features, and tales by Miss Milford, F. W. Robinson, Edmund About, Alphonse Daudet, Henri Pagot and Ernest D'Hervilly figure among its contents.

—For the first time in our history both candidates for the Presidency have been President. To a greater degree than has been usual, too, the plans of the mere bosses of each party have been thwarted, and each candidate for the Presidency is the choice of the greater part of his party. There is a chance, therefore, for by far the most instructive Presidential contest of recent times. To make the campaign as instructive as possible, the Forum will take an active part in it. The June number contained an explanation of all the issues involved in the present contest, by ex-Secretary Bayard and Senator George F. Hoar. The July number, issued immediately after the conventions, contains a review of the candidates, of Mr. Harrison's administration, by Senator Hawley, and of Mr. Cleveland, by Charles Francis Adams.

THIS AFTERNOON'S STORM.

Streets Flooded—Lightning's Doings.

The sudden storm this afternoon might almost be termed a cloud-burst, so sudden and so terrific was the downpour.

The streets were flooded in a few moments and there was a wild scurrying of pedestrians for shelter.

A picnic party at Fenny Orchard must have had a pleasant time. There was not an umbrella in the party.

The thunder and lightning were continuous. Lightning struck and shattered a large, heavily laden apple-tree in the rear of L. A. Hummer's residence on Somerset street.

Bicycle Notes.

In the great Washington Run, which takes place soon from New York to Washington, the wheelmen will "supper, lodge and breakfast" in this city.

The Asbury Park wheelmen are making great preparations for their meet to-day. It will be one of the events in the Eighth Tri-State Circuit, composed of the States of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Among the experts who have entered are W. W. Taxis, J. H. Draper, Donnelly, A. B. Rich, Harry C. Wheeler, F. L. Hummer, Tyler, "Bicycle" Smith, Campbell and C. S. Rice. The races will be held at the Athletic Grounds, on which there is one of the finest three-mile tracks in the country.

Team Shooting To-day.

The New Jersey Trap Shooters' League are holding their sixth monthly team contest, under the auspices of of the Independent Gun Club of this city, to-day. The championship contest, open to teams of five men each from any league clubs, twenty-five targets per man, began at two p. m. There will be ten teams in the contest and lively work is looked for. In addition to this, the Independent Gun Club has arranged a very attractive series of ten, fifteen, and twenty target sweepstakes, open to the world. It is expected that these will average better than fifty entries. There will be two sets of five traps each and everybody can get all the shooting wanted.

List of Advertised Letters.

Remaining in the Plainfield Post Office for the week ending June 29th, 1892:

Bailey, Miss Ella
Burke, Mr
Barnett, Jr Wm
Berwick, Mrs
Cross, Wilhelmine E
Crawford, Mrs H A
Clark, Mrs A W
Dunphy, Edward
Dixon, Daniel
Elliott, Miss Harriet
Fox, Mary Agnes
Gillen, Mrs
Gunn, J N (2)
Hayman, J F
Hinds, Prof Carl
Hines, Mrs Mary
Johnson, Ernest
Jackson, Joshua
Koon, A L
McGovern, Katie
Miller, Alex
Morrison, Geo E
Richardson, Miss J
Sayre, Thomas
Walters, Annie
Wallenbuck, Tadeusz
Wynne, Thomas
Yanneman, M

Persons calling for the above, please say advertised. E. R. Pope, Postmaster.

Do Not Throw Stones.

Mrs. Connelly of Third street and Plainfield avenue had James McCully, a boy, arrested for throwing stones at her house, this morning.

Judge Codington set trial for ten o'clock Tuesday morning.

FOUND DEAD.

An Unknown Man Found Near Asbury Station.

Detective J. K. Large of the New Jersey Central Railroad Company reported the following to Manager Schermerhorn of the Western Union Telegraph Office, in this city, this afternoon:

"The body of a young man, apparently 30 years of age, was found west of Asbury station, N. J. C. R. R. to-day. He is about five feet six inches tall, spare in figure, evidently of Irish descent. Sharp features, high cheek bones, straight sharp nose, very slight mustache, dark hair and eyes, coat of black goods, brown stripe, black cotton shirt, striped trousers, No. 7 shoes. No mark about the body except as old scar near the hair on his forehead. His hands and clothes show he had been riding on road trains, probably west bound. His body is now at Undertaker Pidery's, Bloomsbury, N. J."

SOCIAL & PERSONAL.

City Counsel Craig A. Marsh sailed for Europe yesterday.

Miss Lillian Newman of West Fifth street, has gone to Martha's Vineyard.

Mrs. Marvin of West Fourth street, is spending the Summer at the sea shore.

Gen. Eli Long and family left for Martha's Vineyard yesterday, where they will spend the Summer.

Mr. G. F. Opdyke and family will leave the latter part of the week for Staten Island, where the will spend the Summer.

Miss Kate Kimball, formerly located in this city with the Chautauqua Circle and now of Buffalo, is home for a short term.

Miss Edith Negley, daughter of General Negley of West Seventh street, returned home yesterday from a pleasant visit at Philadelphia.

Mrs. Wm. B. Wadsworth, of Eighth street, leaves to-morrow for the Wachusett House, Princeton, Mass., where she will spend the Summer.

Mr. Boss, the efficient North Plainfield Public school principal and his wife, left to-day for Central New York State, where they will spend the Summer.

Saturday next the Hillside Tennis Club will entertain the friends of the club at an afternoon tea. Mrs. John Drayton will receive, assisted by Miss Grace Howard, Miss Margaret Yates and Mrs. R. Henry Depew.

Editor Boyd of the New Brunswick Home News has a remarkable horse-back rider. A few days ago he rode from New Brunswick to Flemington, a distance of about twenty-five miles, and made the return trip yesterday. He was attending to business early this morning as bright and chipper as ever, although he may have brushed dust slightly.

The Park Club of North Plainfield has been invited to send a team against the Hillside Tennis Club for a series of games, the first to take place next Saturday afternoon, and the Park Club has accepted the invitation. The Park Club distinguished itself at bowling, being the champion in this section, while the Hillside Club is no less distinguished at tennis.

William Durham, ex-president of the State Bank of New Brunswick, N. J., died there yesterday of paralysis, aged eighty-two. He retired from business several years ago. Mr. Durham was born in Piscataway, N. J. He removed to New Brunswick when he was fourteen years old and engaged in the dry goods business. He was identified with many business enterprises and was once surrogate of the county.

J. E. Townsend removes to Plainfield this week. The Leader voices the sentiment of all who are acquainted with him—and who is the citizen who is not?—in expressing a sincere regret that Westfield must part with so much geniality and heartiness. It is, however, pleasurable to know that Mr. Townsend will retain an interest in his business here, and that the possibility of listening to his perennial jokes will still be open.—Westfield Leader.

Miss Julia E. Bulkley, the principal of the Plainfield public school system, has received an appointment as Dean of the Women's College of the new University of Chicago. Miss Bulkley is well known in Westfield, as elsewhere, as a woman of remarkable executive ability, and a writer on educational subjects. She has travelled very extensively in this country and abroad, and will prove a credit of President Harper's best acquisitions to the Chicago faculty.—Westfield Leader.

The "Central" File their Answer.

Counsel for the Jersey Central and Port Reading Railroad companies filed their answer to-day to the charges of the State accusing them of conspiracy to raise the price of coal, and holding that the leases entered into between them were illegal and therefore void.

The answer denied every charge, regarding illegality and conspiracy, while admitting the famous tripartite agreement. The interesting feature of the document is the denial of an anthracite coal committee.

Princeton's Freshman Class.

The Freshman class at Princeton next fall promises to be very large.

There are 138 applications for admission to the academic department and 128 for the scientific, the total being 266. At least 200 of these will enter in the fall. Last year the Freshmen numbered 225, of whom 166 were academic and 60 scientific students.

LOCAL BASE BALL.

CRESCENTS COULD NOT HIT WESTERVELT.

Bonner Makes Some Beautiful Running Catches—New Jerseys Get Ten Hits from Meakin, the New Man—The Score Four to Three.

The New Jersey Athletic Club defeated the home team in one of the best played games this season, yesterday. The defeat is summed up in a very few words. The Crescents could not hit Westervelt.

He is the phenomenon that the Crescent manager tried to get some time ago but failed as he would not enter a professional team. With him the Crescents would be almost invincible.

The visitors made 10 hits from Meakin, who pitches a rather nice ball, but always had the misfortune to have it hit.

The Crescents played a very brilliant game in the field and they were kept exceedingly busy. Bonner made some excellent running catches, some of which seemed almost impossible to reach.

Mack, for the visitors, made a beautiful running catch in the third inning.

The Crescents made their runs as follows: In the first inning Hofford got his base on balls, Daley secured first on an error of Smith, Hofford struck out. Turner made a hit and Hofford scored. Daley was caught at second base and Leldy struck out. One run.

The home team did not score again until the eight inning. Hofford walked to first as usual, Daley sacrificed, Hummill went to first on called balls and stole second. Turner struck out, Leldy secured a two-bagger which sent Hofford and Hummill in. Bonner flew out to Currie. Two runs.

The New Jerseys scored in the second and sixth innings, and all were earned runs. Carr secured a single and Mack a two-bagger, allowing Carr to score. Mack came in on a single of Smith. Two runs.

In the sixth inning Archie Smith hit for a single and Dan Chauncey lined the next ball out for a three bagger, and scored on Carrie's long hit to center field. Two runs.

Charley Hummill, formerly of the Westfields and the Crescent's last year pitcher, played left field for the Crescents and played a very creditable game.

Burke, a local player, played left field for the visitors, as they were one man short, and hit Meakin safely once. He had no chances in the field.

Umpire Brown was very impartial except in the ninth innings, when he called Jones out at first. Jones and Smith both struck the bag the same time and the former should have been given the base.

The following is the score:

CRESCENTS.

	AB	R	BH	SH	SO	BB	PO	A	E
Hofford, c..	3	2	0	1	0	2	0	0	0
Daley, 3b..	4	0	0	0	0	1	0	2	0
Hummill, l.f.	4	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	0
Turner, 2b..	4	0	1	0	1	0	0	1	3
Leldy, c.f..	4	0	1	0	1	0	0	1	0
Bonner, r.f..	4	0	0	0	1	0	2	0	0
Jones, 1b..	4	0	1	0	0	0	0	1	0
Galligan, r.f.	4	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0
Meakin, p..	3	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0
	34	2	4	1	3	3	4	6	3

NEW JERSEY A. C.

	AB	R	BH	SH	SO	BB	PO	A	E
Chauncey, 3b	4	1	2	0	0	0	0	1	1
Wild, s.s.	4	0	0	0	0	1	0	2	1
Currie, c..	4	0	1	0	0	0	1	3	4
Burke, l.f..	4	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	0
Carr, c.f..	4	1	1	0	0	0	1	0	0
Mack, r.f..	4	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0
Smith, 2b..	4	1	1	0	0	0	2	2	0
West'rvelt, p	4	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	0
Smith, 1b..	3	1	2	0	0	1	2	0	0
	4	10	0	0	1	1	*26	11	4

*Bonner out, hit by batted ball.

Plainfield, June 28—Earned runs, New Jersey A. C., 2. Double plays, Meakin, Jones and Hofford; Wild, Smith and Jones. Three-base hits, Chauncey. Passed balls, Currie, 2. Left on bases, Plainfield, 5; New Jersey A. C., 5. Bases on balls, Off Meakin, 3; Westervelt, 3. Sacrifice hits, Daley, Jones, Carr, Mack. Time of game, one hour and thirty-four minutes. Umpire Mr. Berriman.

Manager Mack and Cartwell of the Somervilles, were among the interested spectators yesterday.

The Crescents go to Middletown, N. Y., to-day to play the team of that city.

The Middletowns are employed by the various authorities of that place, and play for the amusement of the "fanatics."

If the Crescents don't get "rattled" in this game, they never will.

Charley Hummill was roundly cheered when he stepped to the plate, yesterday. He is quite a favorite in this city.

Saturday next the home team go to Westfield and play the regular league game. It is to be hoped Succebo will be in shape by that time.

Oh! for Westervelt. With Westervelt and Succebo there would be nothing that could beat them.

Galligan, the crack (?) fielder, played his last game in this city yesterday.

St. George's Athletic Club of N. Y. vs. St. George's C. C. of Plainfield.

The above cricket match will take place at Plainfield on Saturday, July 2, 1892. The game will be called at three p. m.

BROOKLYN C. C., VS. ST. GEORGE'S C. C.

The above two inning match will take place on Monday, July 4th, 1892. The game will commence at 11 a. m., prompt.

The following is the team selected to play in both matches:

(John Arden, (Capt.) Tom Chamberlain, C. Kelly, J. S. Hughes, Fred Wharton, H. Hamley, Jas. Carter, Jas. Ogden, Bryan Wanless, Harry Turner, Tom Read, Reserves, David Thompson, E. Eyres and S. Slorah.

—Winfield Scott Post, No. 75, G. A. R., are arranging for their trip to Washington, September 20th.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

To Have a Coffee Cart.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS—

To the Home Owners of the City and Borough:

GENTLEMEN AND FRIENDS—The coffee carts having been prevented by the Women's Christian Temperance Union to the Plainfield Bi-Cycle Club, our Aid Society has been requested by the executive committee to assume the responsibility of its control and maintenance.

Believing most cheerfully in the practical utility of the coffee service we are ready to assume the responsibility, provided the citizens will guarantee us an annual income sufficient to cover all outlay thereto.

Contributions from fifty cents to five dollars will be gladly received by any of the citizens, the appointed collectors, or at my residence.

The accompanying letter, from the chief of our fire department, Mr. T. O. Doane, commends itself to most favorable consideration, and as much as it can now be estimated without any reliable data, will not be less than $10 for each fire of ordinary duration, last year there having been thirty-seven fires and alarms. Wages must be good as well as all the necessities, and economy is not the question in face of the fact that our firemen are zealous and faithful, serving at all seasons without salary or reward, surely they deserve the best and should be assured that this service can be relied upon at night and in storms.

The cart is now in the Salvation Army hall free of any charge for storage, but there should be a suitable house provided to preserve it in the present excellent condition.

In the past serious complaint of the weight of the cart over long distances and heavy roads has led us to consider a slight additional estimate to include the aid of an assistant.

Any excess will be reserved as a fund for future improvements to the service of the cart, and thereby establish the necessity and practical work on a permanent basis for temperance and humanity.

On behalf of the Woman's Temperance Aid Society of Reform Hall.

Mrs. Cecona F. Fowler, President.

No. 16 W. Eighth street.

OFFICE OF
THE CHIEF ENGINEER
OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Plainfield, N. J., June 23, 1892.

Mrs. Opdyke:

DEAR MADAM:—Your favor calling attention to the wish of the W. T. Aid Society to place the coffee cart at the disposal of the Fire Department is received and on behalf of the department members I thank you for your generosity and I will heartily co-operate with your efforts to utilize the cart in the best way possible. I am sure, however, that no water alone? In answer to this I will say, no. Neither can they work well with liquor and beer. The best drink in my opinion for men who are working at a fire is coffee.

Nothing can take the place of good hot coffee on such occasions. There is not only no danger of the men becoming intoxicated, but also no possible danger of taking cold from wet clothes and exposure. We will be very happy to have the coffee at all times you may see fit to furnish it. Thanking you very heartily for the interest you take in the welfare of the Fire Department, I am,

Yours respectfully,
T. O. Doane,
Chief.

RUBBING IT IN.

Somerville's Sarcastic Suggestions.

The largest crowd that ever witnessed a ball game on the home grounds was present when the Somerville Tip Tops and Ends defeat their old rivals, the Crescents. The two stands and the bleachers were crowded and there was also a solid mass of bowling humanity reaching from the old stand to the top of the terrace and extending beyond first base. Probably one-quarter of the crowd hailed from Plainfield, and for persistent rooting and yelling the visiting they lay over any similar body in the world. They brought up with them and turned loose a new howl which was a cross between a cheer and an Indian war song, and it completely paralyzed the Crescents playing. If every a town deserved a good ball team, Plainfield's enthusiastic cranks surely entitle that place to one. Before the game Capt. Ely, Manager Keller will get possession of a team that will play good ball. A majority of the Plainfielders present were laboring under the hallucination that they were playing on the nine they now have, and left many a shining dollar in this town as evidence of their misguided enthusiasm.

The West Ends celebrated their victory on Saturday night by a large bonfire and banquet at the club house.—Somerset Messenger.

STATE NEWS

A cloud-burst in Burlington and surrounding country a few days ago did much damage to the standing wheat and corn crops.

Wm. Baxter, of Fairton, was arrested, charged with starving to death a valuable horse, because he would not travel when overworked.

The Essex Troops, the crack military organization of New Jersey, will go into camp at Sea Girt with the 2d Brigade, General Gilleland commanding, for the week beginning July 11th.

The wife of a Cedarville resident, who refused to allow her husband to go fishing, pulled the shed down, which when a pole struck over mastheaded was adrift, and then locked the house, packed her trunk and left the same day.

The grand jury will look into the Asbury Park fire which last night was on Friday morning. The fire started in the cellar of the building occupied by the observation roundabout, were arrested, charged with arson and held in $1,000 bail each for the hearing that he indirectly caused the fire. A gasoline stove in which had burned kerosene supplied to it by the proprietor caused the fire. No proof being forthcoming against the latter, the brothers were discharged.

—Fine table butter 18 cents per pound, also home and potted meats for the 4th of July at prices very low. Try the United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association. Read their new advertisement to-day.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

THE TAYLOR CREW SAFE.

Collided With the Trave on June 23d.

LONDON, June 30th. (Special.)—The North German Lloyd steamer Trave, Capt. Reinhausten, from New York, June 21, for Bremen, arrived at Southampton early this morning. She had on board Capt. E. F. Hurlbert, of Brooklyn, commander of the British ship Fred B. Taylor, from Havre, May 14, for New York, and nineteen of the crew of that vessel.

The Trave reports that she was in collision with the Fred B. Taylor on Wednesday, June 22, in latitude 49 north, longitude 09 west.

The accident occurred at 6 o'clock in the morning during a heavy fog. The Taylor was so badly damaged that it was presumed on board the Trave that she sank shortly afterwards.

What David B. Hill Says.

WASHINGTON, June 30, (Special.)—Senator David B. Hill has suffered another relapse—a serious one. He has not only left his official duties, but has resolutely refused to express any political opinions since he did so. Before he left, however, David delivered himself of an apothegem which contains a big nugget of truth. This is what he said:

"The tariff plank of the platform adopted at Chicago has made every workshop and factory in the United States a Republican campaign headquarters."

Ellis Island Building Condemned.

NEW YORK, June 30—(Special).—The new Government Immigration Building on Ellis Island has been condemned by expert Government architects, who declared that the construction is a fraud and that it is in danger of falling to pieces.

The experts have made an investigation of the structure, which cost $650,000, or nearly $400,000 more than the original estimates made by Secretary Windom called for.

Fresh Disclosures in the Grenier Case.

PARIS, June 30th. (Special.)—A second search of the apartment of Grenier, the French Government clerk who confessed to selling plans of French forts to Germany and Italy and implicated the United States attache Borup in his crime, has resulted in a fresh disclosure.

Many important documents were found, including a complete plan of a new French warship.

—"Ten years ago," says a newspaper man, "I was very young and correspondingly fresh. I had secured a place as reporter on 'The Boston Traveller,' and felt that I held the destinies of nations in my hands. I was taking hotest struggle one day, when a stranger lounged up to the register and asked with a drawl: 'Editor at a paper here?' I nodded patronizingly, and he observed that it was a great responsibility. He said that he had tried hard to become a great editor, and once secured a place on a Western weekly, but had been ingloriously discharged. He seemed quite heartbroken, and I proceeded to tell him that journalists were born, not made, and to make an egregious ass of myself generally. He lounged away, the clerk told me his name was Mark Twain and I made a sneak out the back way."

It creates a miracle of energy at a still greater miracle of cost—

H-O

Have some H-O for breakfast.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Central Railroad of New Jersey, the Port Reading R. R. Co., lessee.

Grand Opportunity to Visit

Lake Hopatcong,

ON INDEPENDENCE DAY.

Monday, July 4th.

On the above date Special Excursion Tickets will be sold from Plainfield for Adults, $1.50; Children, 60c.

Tickets good to go on all trains July 3d, 4th and 5th, and to return on July 4th or 5th.

Trains leave Plainfield for Lake Hopatcong at 7.10, 8.45 a. m., and 1.30, 4.32 p. m. 32 d

BUTTER STILL LOWER!

Fine Table Butter 18c lb; Best Kerosene Oil, 110 test, 8c gallon, 5 gallons 35c; Headquarters for Home Brew—Hires' Root Beer, 25c size; 10c. Bottle. Hires Root Beer, prepared, 10c. size, quart bottle 10c. Knapp's Root Beer, extract, 25c size, 10c. bottle. Cheaf Root Beer, extract, 5c. 1 bottle or 2c.

Fly Paper—Tanglefoot Fly Paper, 5c. sheets, 2 for 25c.

Flour—Pillsbury's Best Flour, xxxx, 75c. bag, $5.75 bbl. Our Extra Special Inducements with Tea, Coffee and Baking Powder, cannot be equalled in the country.

For the Fourth of July—We have received an extra supply of strictly Flamingo Sugar Cured and Jerome's Celebrated Boneless Hams and Corned Beef. Also potted meats of all descriptions, at prices to suit everybody.

Vegetables at New York Prices.

If you fail to get a card, which entitles you to a $5 book and $1 picture free, you are not in it with the

United Tea & Coffee Growers' Association,

Distributors of Pure Goods Wholesale and Retail 27 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

OUR BUSINESS IS

Clothing. When you need wearing apparel on 1 at our ecnomicious store. Being wholesale manufacturers we can sell at prices way below competitors.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.

TO WEST FRONT STREET.

RANDOLPH'S

BEEF, IRON AND WINE,

THE GREAT SPRING TONIC!

PINT BOTTLES - - - 50 CENTS.

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

71 WEST FRONT STREET

Cent-a-Word Column.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

A YOUNG lady, employed during the day, would like position in store Saturday evenings as saleslady or cashier. Address "M." care of EVENING NEWS. 30 3

A YOUNG North German lady, with high school references, would like position as governess or companion for the year, commencing September 1st. Address "G.," care Mrs Chas. W. McCutchen, North Plainfield. 21 5 eod

SITUATION wanted by strong, able colored man as porter, driver or coachman. Call at 101 West Fourth street. 29 3

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Operators and basters on vests. 25 West Front street. 30 5

WANTED Immediately—Girl to do the work for three in family. Must be a good cook and willing to work for $14 per month. Call during the day at 58 Central avenue. References required. 30 1

WANTED—A good, plain cook, and to assist in laundry. Apply at 29 Plainfield street. 29 3

WANTED—A woman for laundry work; two days the first of the week. Call with reference at 21 Rockwood place. 29 3

WANTED—Honest, energetic man to solicit orders for nursery stock; good pay and salary to men who can leave home and work. Write at once, stating local agents; write for terms and territory. Address R. G. Chase & Co., 2 1m eod* 1420 E Penn Sts., Phila., Pa.

$75 TO $250 can be made monthly working for R. J. Johnston Co., No. 2 20 30 4-6-8 Main street, Richmond, Va. 29 1 mo

MONEY TO LOAN.

$900 TO LOAN. One reliable any security desired. Address at once, "R. D. M.," care of EVENING NEWS. 17

BOARDERS WANTED.

A 19 Craig place, furnished rooms with board. Table boarders accommodated. 6 3 25

FOR RENT.

TO LET—Barn, 2 stalls and wagon room. No. 43 Manning avenue. R. D. Pinole 27 6

FOR SALE.

LOTS containing half an acre and upwards, on easy terms of payment, balance less than ordinary rent, or will build a house on lot to suit purchaser. Apply to Peter Bock, P. O. Box 107, Plainfield, N. J. 30 4*

TWO LOTS for sale on Montcalm avenue, Grant Park. Apply on premises. Address "R. D. M.," care of EVENING NEWS. 14tf

MISCELLANEOUS.

INVENTORS, who wish aid in starting their inventions, send for circular. Office No. 7, care of Somerset street. Give brief description of invention and idea of utility. 21 5 e.o.d

OLD-FASHIONED furniture in good condition wanted. Call this week. Address, 11 Somerset street. 2 4tsu

SECURE your tickets for the Columbian Fair, for particulars apply at Stafford's. 5 18tf

WANTED—Second-hand bath tub. Address John Valiant, 30 Craig place. 29 3

For the Next 30 Days

we will sell all Summer at Paper

AT COST!

And all goods at a great reduction. During vacation at Bowers of a Bargain.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

309 East Front street.

FOURTH OF JULY

EXCURSION TO

Mauch Chunk,

Glen Onoko,

and the famed Switchback, via Central Railroad of New Jersey, the Port R. R. Co., lessee.

Monday, July 4th.

Train will Plainfield for Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko and the Switchback at 9.27 a. m.

Fare for round trip $1.75. Switchback tickets at half rates if purchased on excursion train. 27 6*

NOTICE.

All persons are forbidden using any kind of fire works in the streets of the city limits, before the fourth day of July, and every one succeeding will be dealt with to the full extent the law may require.

Section 4, Peace and Moral Ordinance, reads as follows: "No person shall, within the limits, throwing fire balls made of combustible materials, or making bon-fires on the streets, or public ways, or discharge any gun, pistol, or fowling piece, or any kind of fire-arms or cannon, in any public street or highway, except on the Fourth day of July, and on the Seventh day of July, under a penalty of not less than five dollars nor more than twenty dollars."

GEORGE W. GRANT,
Chief of Police.
25 4d

Flags, Fireworks,

and

Japanese Lanterns,

and other accessories for a

Jolly Fourth,

can be had from

A. W. RAND,

34 West Front Street.

CARRIAGES

and

HARNESS

of Every Description.

STYLES and PRICES to SUIT ALL.

Carriages taken on sale or stored on ground floor.

Accessible at Any Time.

RYERSON,

32 SOMERSET STREET.

BOYNTON : :

- - BEACH,

With

Greatly Increased

Attractions,

OPENED

SATURDAY,

June 18th, 1892.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Hawaii and the United States.

Captain Cæsar Macondi, formerly prime minister of the Hawaiian government, says that ever since 1879 England has been intriguing to get possession of the Hawaiian Islands, otherwise called the Sandwich Islands, and annex them to British Columbia. In answer to that it may be said that these islands occupy the most important strategic position in the north Pacific ocean, and they are going to belong to the United States if they belong to anybody.

At present the islands are under a constitutional monarchy. The late King Kalakaua was weak as well as profligate, and one royal prerogative after another slipped from his hands during his reign, until it began to appear as if there were no royal prerogatives at all left. When, however, he was succeeded by Queen Lilinokalani (pronounced Lil-lee-woke-a-lanny) things became different. The name Lilinokalani signifies Lily of the Sky, but the Lily showed that she was possessed not only of a strong will, but of common sense and administrative ability. She had spent much time in Europe and observed the power that royalty had there. She was determined to be a queen more than in name. In private life she is Mrs. John O. Dominis, her husband being an American gentlemen of good family and education. So that the prince consort of Honolulu is an American.

The queen is now past fifty. She talks and writes English perfectly. She is disposed to do what is best for her subjects, but will not be an unyielding fool in anybody's hands. There has been dissatisfaction with her reign, and a restlessness which may end in revolution. In that case the only thing apparently will be for some strong power to take Hawaii under its protection, and the only power to do this is the United States. The interests at stake are very great. Honolulu, the seaport, has been called the hotel of the nations in the north Pacific, and such it is. Honolulu is 2,100 miles westward from San Francisco, and is reached in six days by steamer from that city. The United States has already the exclusive right to a naval station on the islands. This station is Pearl Harbor, near Honolulu. When the obstructions at its entrance are removed it will be one of the large harbors of the world. It will require nearly two years' work to open Pearl Harbor fully, and our government should bestir itself.

Summer Schools.

Both Harvard and Cornell universities will hold summer schools this season. They will begin about July 1 and the sessions will occupy some six weeks. There will be courses of instruction in languages, science, mathematics and philosophy. Harvard will have a course in horticulture. One is glad to observe that at both universities there will be instruction in physical culture. This would be worth the while summer school training if there were no other studies. It is what young Americans need just now more than they need Latin and Greek.

The courses at the two universities named are especially for the benefit of teachers who cannot attend school at any other time. Other summer schools designed particularly for the training of teachers will be open at Bay View, Mich., and at Martha's Vineyard, the latter being known as the Martha's Vineyard institute. As nearly all the summer schools the course will last six weeks. At Phillips' academy, Exeter, N. H., there will be a summer school of languages exclusively. Professor Felix Adler and his excellent friends who founded the school of morals and economics at Plymouth, Mass., last summer will hold forth again this summer. Professors from Harvard and Ann Harbor will aid in the instruction.

There, too, as usual, is the great summer school at Chautauqua, mother of all the summer schools. It begins July 6, and President Harper, of the Chicago university, is its principal. Long may it wave.

The leaders of the Methodist Episcopal general conference are well known to be harmless as doves, but their action in regard to admitting women delegates to the conference shows them to possess also their full share of the wisdom of the serpent. They relegate the vexed question back upon the people in a new form, requesting the annual conferences to decide by vote, whether the word "laymen" means men only, or men and women both. But in case the annual conferences decide it to mean men and women both, the ladies will probably have to wait eight years yet before getting the coveted admission as delegates to the general conference. The conference meets only once in four years. The next one, four years from now, will take formal action on the question, in case the annual conferences vote in favor of the women, and at the following one, in 1900, the ladies will come in with the new century.

A Chicago statistician has figured out that for the past ten years Chicago has increased her population at the rate of a new inhabitant every nine minutes night and day. But this does not begin to keep pace with Chicago's progress in her own mind.

LIVE POLITICAL GOSSIP.

Prohibitionists Place Colonel Ritter in the Chair.

WOMEN TO WORK FOR CLEVELAND.

Formation of New York of "the Frances Cleveland Influence Club No. 1"—Colonel McAlpin Re-Elected President of the New York State Republican League.

CINCINNATI, June 30.—Colonel Eli Ritter, of Indiana, was made permanent chairman of the Prohibitionists national convention, and Sam Small, secretary. Governor W. T. Wardwell and W. C. Bascombe are the New York members of the national committee. Allen B. Dimcols, Henry B. Brown represent Connecticut; C. F. Register, Delaware; J. H. Roberts, A. S. Smith, Massachusetts; R. S. White, W. H. Nicholson, New Jersey; and A. Stevens, G. W. Murray, Pennsylvania.

Mr. St. John's Address.

In his address Temporary Chairman St. John said that he was proud to preside over the greatest convention, in sobriety, moral force and brain power, that ever convened on American soil. It represented a party that dared to do right because it was right and condemn the wrong because it was wrong. It stood for peace, prosperity and happiness to every home and death to every saloon in the land. (Applause). It demanded for women equal pay in the shop and equal say at the polls.

The concluding words of the temporary chairman, "What is the decision of the convention?" elicited a prompt response from a number of voices, "We want St. John for president." The presentation of the report of the committee on permanent organization reiterating the rule giving states votes only for delegates present, was the signal for a fight. Sam Small presented a minority report signed by fifteen states recommending that each state delegation be permitted to cast the full vote to which it is entitled.

Sam Small Beaten.

The question was discussed for nearly an hour by about a dozen delegates, and apparently half the convention wanted to talk.

Finally the debate was closed by Mr. Chafin, of Wisconsin, moving the previous question; but even this did not quiet the delegates, and the hall was full of the noise of interjections and points of order. A roll call by states on the adoption of the minority report finally brought the matter to a focus. It resulted in the defeat of the minority report by a vote of 359 to 721, and then the majority report was adopted, so that absent delegates will have no vote.

Probably the most unusual and striking scene of the convention was the opening of the second session with prayer by a Catholic priest, the Rev. Father Martin Mahoney, of St. Paul. It was, with one exception, the only instance on record in which a Roman Catholic clergyman has officiated at a national political convention in the United States, Father Mahoney, who is one of Archbishop Ireland's assistants, is, it appears, a regularly elected delegate to the convention from Minnesota, and has been an active Prohibitionist for fourteen years.

Bidwell in the Lead.

Bidwell, of California, seems to have a material lead of the other candidates for the presidential nomination. Bidwell has lost strength during the day, owing to the bringing out of Judge McCullough, of Illinois, as a compromise candidate, but Bidwell's friends still claim his election on the first ballot.

Congratulations for Mr. Cleveland.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., June 30.—The phenomenon which has characterized happenings at Gray Gables since Mr. Cleveland's nomination was broken by a visit of congratulation from the good people of Bourne and the surrounding villages. Harveyy Chamberlain acted as spokesman and advanced within the open doors where Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland were standing. The president-elect gravely as the deputation entered and listened with approving nod to the words of congratulation. Mrs. Cleveland, at her husband's side, looked handsome beyond words. She was dressed in black.

When Mr. Chamberlayne had finished Mr. Cleveland replied as follows:

"My friends—I hope you will credit me with perfect sincerity when I assure you that I am glad to see you here and that I thank you for calling on me in such a neighborly way. I know that many of us are widely separated in political belief, but perhaps we are further apart than we would be if we understood each other better.

"I am quite happy in the belief that you no more suspect me than I do you of any deliberate intention to injure the best interests of the people. So if we differ in politics we will differ good naturedly and remain good neighbors, devoted to our homes on this delightful shore, and always cherishing ourselves that we who enjoy the cool breezes of Buzzard's bay are fellow citizens of others of a kind Providence."

At 7 p. m. all was over and every one was on the way home delighted with his reception, only regretting that Baby Ruth had not been, as it were, on exhibition.

Frances Cleveland Influence Club.

NEW YORK, June 30.—"The women did it in 1890," ex-Speaker Reed has said, and the women will do it again in 1892." With these words the first Democratic women's campaign club was born. The speaker was Mrs. Mary Frost Ormsby, and she was forming a group of enthusiastic women into a campaign organization at her home, 117 west Ninety-sixth street. The new political organization was named the Frances Cleveland Influence Club No. 1." The following letter was sent:

MRS. GROVER CLEVELAND, NEW YORK CITY, June 28, 1892.

DEAR MADAM:—It gives us great pleasure to inform you that a meeting of the wives and daughters of Democratic sympathizers to inform you that a Frances Cleveland influence club has just been formed by the wives, sisters, mothers and daughters of New York Democrats. We have taken the liberty of using your name for the first of the many influence clubs which we trust will spring up throughout the country and which, after Nov. 8, will confirm the judgment of that Republican leader regarding 1892, that the women did it."

We feel that this campaign is to lift the burden of taxation from the homes of the land, and we as home defenders desire a part in the struggle. Yours respectfully,

MARY FROST ORMSBY, President.

Frances Cleveland Influence Club No. 1.

The ladies elected Mrs. Ormsby president. Mrs. Ormsby is the well known member of Sorosis who went to the international peace congress at Rome last winter as the head of the American delegation.

The Third Party Ticket.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Representative Jerry Simpson thinks that the Third party ticket will be General Weaver, of Iowa, and Robert Beverly, of Virginia. He believes that the People's party will carry Kansas, Nebraska, Mississippi, South Dakota, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas and one or two of the silver states. This will throw the presidential election into the house of representatives, and the Third party vote will hold the balance of power. As the price of wheat promises to be extremely low this fall, the discontented farmers will surprise politicians with a large third party vote.

President McAlpin Re-Elected.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 30.—The convention of Republican clubs concluded its labors by the election of the following officers:

President—Colonel E. A. McAlpin.

First Vice President—John M. Satchard, Buffalo.

Second Vice President—Henry Brewster, Rochester.

Third Vice President—George E. Greene, Binghamton.

Secretary—Job F. Hedges, New York.

Treasurer—A. B. Colvin, Glens Falls.

The platform closely follows the lines of that adopted in Minneapolis in 1888, and declares for the free enfranchisement of outrages on colored citizens in the south. The capture of the legislature last year by the Democrats is denounced as illegal and in violation of the constitution that has no parallel in any constitutional government of the world. The passage of the census and apportionment bills is denounced as treacherous, corrupt and unconstitutional, and the public are called upon to condemn these frauds and himself, as Chairman Clarkson has accepted a place on the executive committee and will have an important and confidential part in the campaign. This would indicate that the relations between the president and Mr. Clarkson are not of the strained character alleged in recent published statements.

Stevenson Will Go to New York.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., June 30.—Adlai Stevenson says he will go to New York to receive the notification of his nomination for the vice presidency by the Democratic committee. Mr. Stevenson said that in his letter of acceptance he would speak at length upon the financial questions and define his views clearly.

General Butler Don't Care.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—General B. F. Butler is at the capital. In response to a question concerning the political situation he said: "I am like the little boy playing in the attic. I don't care how hard it rains. I do not care what the result of the contest is."

Iowa Republicans Meet.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 30.—At the Iowa Republican state convention Secretary of State McFarland, State Treasurer Byrnes, Auditor Beeson and Attorney General John G. Stone were renominated by acclamation.

Cable to Succeed Brice.

CHICAGO, June 30.—It is said here that Congressman Ben T. Cable, of Illinois, will be chairman of the Democratic national committee. Chairman Brice is given as authority for the statement.

FASHIONS

A Reception Gown.

BOOK IN COLOR AND CHALK.

One of the richest reception gowns seen this season is of pale sulphur silk crepon, bordered with forevedet of dark gray silk. The front of the skirt is of striped silk, the gray and pale sulphur, and the revers of green velvet, embroidered with silver, and worn with a gray silk sash.

Vanderbilt's Officers Not on Yacht.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The captain and officers of William K. Vanderbilt's yacht, Alva, were exonerated by a coroner's jury from all blame in the case of the drowning of Mary Simonds and Nicholas Michaels, who were run down by the Alva off Thirty-fifth street and drowned.

Dr. Irwin's Jury Disagreed.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The jury in the case of Dr. John A. Irwin, one of the three physicians indicted for performing an illegal autopsy on the body of Mind Reader Washington Irving Bishop two years ago, disagreed, standing 9 to 3. They were discharged.

Powder for Chili.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The bark Conway with a cargo of 1,600 kegs of powder has left port for Valparaiso. It is supposed that the powder is for the Chilian government.

Better Than Parnell's Bill.

LONDON, June 30.—At Cork, Mr. William O'Brien said that the Gladstone home rule measure would in some respects be better than the one Parnell approved in 1886.

Three Cents Rings Matched.

LONDON, June 30.—Articles were signed by J. H. Blackburn, Isidor Gunsberg and Emanuel Lasker to play a triangular chess match at Belfast, Ireland, in September.

A Negro Boy Lynched.

NASHVILLE, June 30.—Tom Lacillard, a negro boy fifteen years old, was lynched at Woodbury for criminal assault on Miss Mc-Knight. He confessed.

THE FREE COINAGE BILL.

Senators to Vote on the Measure Friday.

FILIBUSTERING IN THE HOUSE.

A Determined Effort Being Made by the Republicans to Prevent the Consideration of the Tin Plate Bill—Democrats Mapping Out Future Tariff Legislation.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The session of the senate today was taken up mainly in the consideration of general appropriation bills. The legislative appropriation bill, after the adoption of several amendments, was passed and sent to the house for conference. The invalid pension bill, after a lengthy debate on the several amendments, was passed, as was also the postoffice appropriation bill and a bill for the relief of certain settlers on lands in North and South Dakota. An agreement was reached to take a vote on the silver bill on Friday at 2 o'clock.

Foreman on the Pension Question.

During debate on the invalid pension bill Senator Gorman, of Maryland, said the bill carried the enormous sum of $144,986,000. There are now upon the pension rolls 840,000 pensioners. How many more were to be added to be appropriated for hereafter no man living could say. The commissioner of pensions had appeared before the committee on pensions and frankly admitted that there were no data in his office by which he could make an estimate of the appropriations needed for the coming year. His statement was that in a haphazard sort of a way they overestimated $6,000,000 last year and underestimated $6,000,000 this year, and that at the rate they were going on they would probably require $160,000,000 for next year. But that was a mere guess as to coming years.

What could be done to remedy this matter—whether it could be reached in the administration of the office, or by a rectification of the laws, Mr. Gorman did not know. He confessed he did not know. It was a matter which ought to be taken up without regard to partisanship and a careful investigation made of the whole system. In the meantime he wanted the people of the country to be prepared to face the fact that their finances must be allotted to a constantly increasing pension roll, which by 1895 would probably reach $200,000,000. The commissioner of pensions thought the highest point would be reached two years from now, but this was mere guess.

Foster's Nomination Confirmed.

Mr. Sherman interrupted the discussion by asking the senate to devote just ten minutes to an executive session. The doors being re-opened at the expiration of this time, and Mr. Foster's nomination having been confirmed in executive session, consideration of the pension bill was resumed.

Mr. Cockrell, of Missouri, said that it was impossible to make an accurate estimate of the number of pensioners to be provided for. The amount to be appropriated might be $175,000,000 or it might be $200,000,000. The bill was then passed and the postoffice appropriation bill taken up. Mr. Mitchell, of Oregon, speaking to the bill, made an argument in favor of the establishment of postal savings banks. He said a high tribute to Postmaster General Wanamaker for his able presentation of facts and recommendations for the establishment of these institutions. The bill was then passed. On motion of Mr. Chilton, of Illinois, the senate insisted on its amendments to the agricultural appropriation bill.

The Silver Bill Comes Up.

The silver bill came up then as unfinished business, the question being, upon the motion of Mr. Palmer, of Illinois, to strike out all after the first section. Mr. Stewart addressed the senate for a vote, but Mr. Platt, of Connecticut, said the matter was too important to vote on when so few senators were present. He would call for the yeas and nays and also a call of the senate if a vote were insisted upon. Mr. Stewart said the motion was only to perfect the bill, but Mr. Platt refused to be moved from his purpose.

"If you're going to be ugly about it, I will be ugly about everything," said Mr. Stewart.

Mr. Pettigrew, of South Dakota, tried to have the bill laid aside temporarily. He asked unanimous consent for this, but Mr. Morgan objected. Mr. Morgan then moved a vote on Mr. Palmer's amendment and Mr. Palmer met him with a call for the yeas and nays. Mr. Morgan said motions for delay were not in order. Mr. Palmer said it better for senators on both sides of the chamber to meet this question at once. Republicans and Democrats alike, he said, somewhere had no right to say what should be done in the matter. He urged the senate to come to the point and to debate or pass the bill.

Mr. Platt said he was willing to vote on the remarks of Mr. Stewart as to ugliness. He did not want to delay action on the bill, but he thought a full senate should be given an opportunity to vote upon it. Mr. Hoar, of Idaho, moved the senate adjourn, but Mr. Stewart was on his feet to ask unanimous consent that a vote be had on the bill and amendments before the senate at 2 o'clock. There was no objection to this and it was ordered.

The Adjournment Question.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The Democratic members of the ways and means committee discussed the question of adjourning sine die today. The majority of them, it is understood, are in favor of passing matters and adjourning about the middle of July. Some, however, think the house should remain in session and pass more tariff bills in accordance with the Chicago platform.

Those who favor adjourning early in July advocate stopping tariff legislation as soon as the tin plate bill is passed, while those who want the house to act on more tariff bills would have it pass the wool, lumber, iron ore and sugar bills disposed of.

Fighting the Tin Plate Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—In the house Mr. McMillin, of Tennessee, moved to take up the tin plate bill, which was opposed by the Republicans, who began a filibuster with privileged motions. The motion was defeated for three hours in repeated calls on motions to adjourn and a call of the house. At 6 o'clock the house adjourned.

A Blow at Canada.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Senator Davis reported from the committee on foreign relations, with favorable recommendation, the bill introduced by him to provide for retaliation against Canada.

He Was Once King of the Lobby.

UTICA, N. Y., June 30.—Alexiah D. Barber, a half brother of ex-Judge Noah Davis, died at Oneonta last night, aged 80. Barber was born at St. Johnsbury, Vt., in 1812. For years he was known at Albany as the "King of the Lobby."

THE BEE HIVE!

Bolting tights, 16, 18, 24 and 35c.
Corset laces, 5 and 10c.
Ladies' Jersey suits in black, tan and cream, 89 and 98c.
Ladies' ribbed Jersey vests, 10, 15, 20 and 25c.
Gauze vests, 25c.
Children's gauze vests in short and long sleeves and pantaloons to match, 12, 15, 19 and 25c.
Full line of infants' white lawn suits.
Men's Balbriggan shirts and drawers, 25c. and 39c.
Men's Jean Drawers, 39c.
Boys' short gauze drawers 25c.

Louis Callman,
40 West Front Street.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co.

Wholesale and retail dealers and shippers of ice. The only company bringing Lake Hopatcong ice to this market. Ice prepared to serve their patrons with ice of the finest quality and at lowest market rates.

Office, No. 41 North avenue, opposite depot. Depots, Grant avenue, South Plainfield; Washington Valley and Park avenue.

J. W. CORNELISON, Pres.
H. CORNELISON, Vice-Pres.
ANDREW WILSON, Sec. & Treas.
J. MONTON, Gen. Supt.

J. E. YOSE

Has Moved

Furniture

To New York, Brooklyn or any nearby point.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Large covered trucks.

30 W. Second street.

George - Bremmer,

No 28 SOMERSET STREET,
READY MADE CLOTHING,
or made to order—at prices

To Suit Your Purse.

Call and see Samples.

COAL and WOOD,

E. H. HOLMES,
YARD—24 Madison Avenue.
Office—27 North avenue, with Woolston & Buckle.

Joseph T. Sullivan,

No. 66 West Third Street,
Dealer in Choice
Wines, Liquors, etc.
BEER ON DRAUGHT.

EUROPE!

Tickets for Hamburg, Berlin, Havre, Paris, Copenhagen.
All Scandinavian or Finnish points.
To Glasgow, Londonderry, Liverpool, etc.
AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES.
Illustrated catalogue giving views of scenery, etc., mailed free.

H. D. Morrison, 9 Somerset St.

(Any line or steamer.)

Having Disposed of the Produce Business to Mr. I. A. Hummer, all persons owing the

Plainfield Produce Co.

are requested to make a prompt settlement.

The office is, as heretofore, at No 29 North avenue.

We still continue the horse business and have constantly on hand fine roadsters, family or business horses, at reasonable prices.

A. D. THOMPSON, Proprietor.
H. E. RIDER, Manager.

Ice Cream Freezers.

The Automatic,
Needs no turning.

The Rapid,
Fast and quickest cooks freezer.

GARDEN HOSE,

and

Lawn - Sprinklers.

A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

C. DICKINSON,

PRACTICAL
OPTICIAN
and
JEWELER.
Repairing in all branches. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Agent for the American
Rambler Bicycles.
No. 12 Park avenue.

ON SALE TO-DAY

Our Spring Line of

Perfect Fitting Percale Shirts.

Several new patterns this Spring never shown before

CALL AND SEE THEM.

O. M. DUNHAM,
Hatter and Furnisher,
46 West Front Street.

USE THE BEST!

DOMESTIC
SEWING MACHINES & PATTERNS
SPECIAL SALE OF SHEET MUSIC!
4 & 5 cents per Copy.
Studies, Instruction Books, Folios, etc.
A. M. Vanderbeck's,
28 PARK AVENUE.

GET YOUR Bicycle Repaired

at
NO. 2 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
by
Henry Goeller, Jr.

A Point Worthy of Attention.

Is what you eat. When you get meat, buy it where it is both

GOOD and CHEAP.

the place for that is at

VOGELER'S,
17 West Front Street

A. M. SEGUINE,

PROPRIETOR OF
Laing's Hotel Stables,
on Front Street, Opp. Madison Avenue.
TELEPHONE CALL NO. 26.
Coaches for weddings, funerals and private calls.
Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.
Prompt, careful drivers, and good service. Horses for ladies' driving.
BOARDING HORSES RECEIVE GOOD CARE

CRUSHED STONE!

ALL SIZES.
Of finest
Light Blue Color.
References:—
F. A. DUNHAM, City Surveyor.
BODY A. BEEKER, Stone Cont.
Smalley Bros.,
24 SOMERSET STREET.

Cleaner Coal!

L'A. Rheaume, Ag't,
40 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,
Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen by which coal will be delivered cleaner coal than by any other method of screening.
STOVE (LEHIGH) AND HICKORY COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.
EGGS AND DRESSED LUMBER.
He solicits orders and guarantees prompt fulfillment for Thursday, and Saturday next by 9 a. m., and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

JOHN JOHNSTON,

Dealer in BEST
QUALITY COAL
YARD AND OFFICE
SOUTH AVENUE.
P. O. BOX 1407.
Upper Lehigh and other choice coals on hand.

Professional Cards.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Counsellors at Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public, Masters in Chancery. Notaries Public in Office, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E., Engineer of the Famous Union County Road System. Special attention given to Sewerage and Waterworks. Office, 17 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

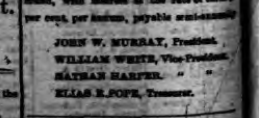
WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Attorney-at-Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Counsellor of Public and Notary Public. Office: No. 23 West Front street.

CLARK & REED, Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Masters in Chancery. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CHARLES A. MAGIE, Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Solicitor and Master in Chancery, Notary Public. Office corner Front and Somerset streets.

OSCAR S. TRALE, Architect, 187 Broadway, New York. Room 11 and 12, Journal and Tradesman Bank Building, Residence, Plainfield N J

PLAINFIELD
CORDLESS EXCAVATING COMP'Y.



JONES & CO.

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Fast trains in operation. Our operations in person of by the method of Hydraulic Power. Estimates furnished on application. Office: Masonic Temple, (2 doors West Leaves, Garden and Field Furniture).
P.O. Box 1207 Telephone call 28.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER, "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—6:30, 9:05 a. m., 12:05, 4:35 and 7 p. m.
Close—7:30, 10:00 a. m., 12:30, 5:00 and 7:30 p. m.
SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—9:05 a. m., 1:35, 6:30 p. m.
Close—7:30 a. m., 4:30 p. m.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 4:30 p. m.
E. E. POPE, P. M.

FOSTER GETS THE PLACE

He Succeeds Blaine as Secretary of State.

ANOTHER FORTUNATE INDIANIAN.

The Appointment of Ex-Minister Foster Gives General Satisfaction at the Capitol.

Transformed from a Private Citizen to Secretary in Less Than Three Hours.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—It took two hours and thirty-five minutes only to transform a private citizen into secretary of state of the United States Wednesday. At 1:40 the president sent to the senate the nomination of Hon. John W. Foster, of Indiana. At 2:05 the senate confirmed the nomination. At 2:35 his commission was sent to the president and he signed it; at 2:45 it was countersigned by Mr. Wharton, as acting secretary of state, and at 4:15 Mr. Foster took the oath of office of secretary of state before Mr. Lewellon Brown, chief clerk and notary public of the state department. It was the quickest work ever known at the state department.

It Gives General Satisfaction.

There was general satisfaction at the Capitol over the appointment. Senator Allison and Representative Henderson, of Iowa, united in saying that the appointee was well equipped for the position. "He has been of very great service about the state department," said Representative Henderson. "And a better qualified man could not have been chosen." Representative Blount, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, expressed surprise at the appointment, because it gave Indiana another cabinet appointment. He said, however, that he regarded the appointment as a good one, as Mr. Foster was usually well equipped in knowledge of matters pertaining to the state department. Senator Dolph said that to him the nomination was a very satisfactory one. Senator Blackburn expressed similar views.

A Short Tenure of Office.

It is said that Mr. Foster's tenure of office will terminate on March 4 next, when President Harrison expects to again be inaugurated and announce his new cabinet. The appointment of Mr. Foster is, therefore, only a temporary one. The appointment is especially desirable, not only because of the personal character and diplomatic accomplishments of the appointee, but also because of his peculiarly intimate acquaintance with the business of the state department in general, and especially with details of the most important question now before that department, the settlement of the Behring sea controversy with England by arbitration.

Sketch of Secretary Foster.

John W. Foster has been for some years past practicing law in Washington. His chief work is in the domain of international law, in which he is conceded to be an expert. He has been three times appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary for the United States in foreign countries, being once accredited to Mexico, again to Russia, and a third time to Spain. He was born in Pike county, Ind., March 3, 1836, was educated in the public schools of the state and after serving through the state university of Indiana, where he graduated in 1853. He then studied law at Harvard university, and began the practice of his profession at Evansville. He had already made his mark among the young lawyers of Indiana when the civil war broke out. He at once volunteered for service and was appointed major of the Twenty-fifth Indiana infantry volunteers. After seeing some hard fighting he rose to the full rank of colonel.

In General Burnside's expedition to East Tennessee Colonel Foster headed a brigade of cavalry, and was the first to occupy Knoxville in 1863. At the end of the war he was a brigadier general by brevet.

Alleged Trouble with Blaine.

After General Foster settled down to civil life again he edited the Evansville Daily Journal. In 1880 he was made postmaster of that city. His first prominent political office was the chairmanship of the Republican state committee of Indiana in 1872. In 1873 General Foster was appointed by President Grant to be minister to Mexico. At the expiration of General Grant's term of office Mr. Hayes reappointed him. He went to Russia as minister in 1880, and held that office until late in the year 1881, when he resigned.

In 1883 General Foster was appointed minister for the third time, on this occasion being sent to Spain. The nomination was made by President Arthur at the request of Secretary Frelinghuysen. Since his return from Spain General Foster has resumed his practice in Washington.

One paper on the appointment is that at a recent meeting between the Canadian delegates who wished to negotiate a reciprocity treaty and several officers of the state department Mr. Blaine gave expression to his views, and General Foster, who was present, said bluntly:

"Those are not the views of the president."

The meeting abruptly terminated, and Mr. Blaine's resignation promptly followed upon the president's unwillingness to disavow General Foster's statement.

Indians at the Fair.

ALBANY, June 30.—An interesting and instructive exhibition at Chicago will be a gathering of the representatives of the Five Nations of Indians who owned the country between the Atlantic and the Mississippi at the time Columbus discovered America.

Terwilliger Surrenders.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 30.—Joseph Terwilliger, who attempted to murder Miss Lina Schoonmaker at Rifton, surrendered himself to a former at Hurleyville. Terwilliger says he has been in the Shawangunk mountains since the shooting.

Music for the Fair.

CHICAGO, June 30.—An orchestra of 120 pieces will give concerts twice a day during the World's fair season. The executive committee has made an appropriation of $175,000 to pay the expenses of the orchestra.

Theosophists to Meet.

NEW YORK, June 30.—William Q. Judge has sailed for Europe to attend the convention of theosophists in London, July 24. Mr. Judge is now vice president of the society and is a candidate for the presidency.

Rev. E. S. Smith for President.

AMHERST, June 30.—The Amherst college general alumni association elected Rev. Roland S. Smith, '63, of Boston, president.

East Orange's New Bank.

EAST ORANGE, N. J., June 30.—The East Orange National bank, capital, $100,000, has been authorized to begin business.

HANGED IN EFFIGY AT HOMESTEAD.

Very Equally Outlook at the Big Carnegie Steel Works.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., June 30.—The workmen at the Homestead Steel works made numerous hostile and exciting demonstrations during the day. H. C. Frick, William Mc. Skroer and several others were hanged in effigy in the middle of the electric light poles. When James Dinkney, chief of the electrical department, climbed the pole to remove the effigy of H. C. Frick, the workmen turned the hose that has been prepared as a defense for the plant upon him and caused the gentleman to beat a hasty retreat. William McSkroer, who was also hung in effigy, is chief of the steel works police.

A number of strange men who, it was feared, were here to take the places of the Amalgamated men, were compelled to leave town.

The closing down of the 32-inch mills was followed by the 119-inch mill and several other departments. Instead of a strike there will be a lockout. The situation hourly becomes more serious.

The Second Conference Fails.

PITTSBURG, June 30.—The second conference between the Amalgamated Association Wage committee and the Iron and Steel Steel manufacturers was fruitless and adjourned at 4 a. m. The squaring sheet question, on which they cannot agree, was referred back to the convention. The Amalgamated associations ultimatum is that one-fifth be the rate of squaring sheets in jobbing mills and one-seventh in regular sheet mills. It is now thought that there will be a general shut down in all branches of the iron business.

At midnight the western iron and steel scales of 1891-2 will cease to be in existence, and all mills desiring to continue at work can only do so under the scales of 1889-3.

Pinkerton Men to Visit Homestead.

PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—A Pinkerton detective says that instructions have been received to hold at least 300 men in readiness to be sent within twenty-four hours to Carnegie's Homestead Steel works. The men will be armed with Winchester rifles.

Will Not Sign the New Scale.

MILWAUKEE, June 30.—The Bay View Rolling mills will close July 1 for an indefinite period. The company has decided to refuse to sign the recent scale of the Amalgamated Iron and Steel association, as made out at the Pittsburg meeting.

MR. AND MRS. STANLEY MOBBED.

Their Meeting Broken Up and Their Carriage Attacked.

LONDON, June 30.—Henry M. Stanley and Mrs. Stanley tried to address a meeting of Lambeth electors at Hawkins' hall. The crowd was uproarious from beginning to end. But little said by either of the speakers was heard. The police seemed to be powerless and eventually the meeting broke up in a general fight, followed by persistent attempts to assault the candidate and his wife. Mrs. Stanley's denunciation of Gladstone was followed by shouts of "Let your wife talk for you," "Go back to America," and a steady chorus of howls.

When Mrs. Stanley left the platform she was received little better than her husband had been. Her references to his loyalty to Great Britain were received with laughter, and her attempts to discuss political issues were rendered futile by uproarious demands that her husband speak for himself.

A fight was started near the platform. Mrs. Stanley lost her line of thought, and in response to a gesture from Mr. Stanley turned to sit down. The instant she turned the crowd became a hooting and fighting mob.

Mr. Stanley hastily started with Mrs. Stanley for the door and his few supporters in the audience started to hurry after him. They had to fight their way to the door through blows and abuses, most of them coming out with their hats smashed and their clothes torn. The mob broke from the doors of the hall with a rush and swooped down on Mr. Stanley's carriage. He had barely got Mrs. Stanley inside when they were upon him. Somebody grabbed him by the arm to pull him back, but he tore loose, jumped in and slammed the door. The driver started up and the mob followed, pulling at the carriage doors and trying to stop the horses. They wrenched one door off, but before they could do more the driver got his horses into a gallop and was beyond their reach.

Mrs. Stanley was badly frightened. She was almost in hysterics when she left the hall, and she screamed several times during the mob's attack upon the carriage.

Honorary Degrees for Yale.

NEW HAVEN, June 30.—The following honorary degrees were conferred by Yale: D. D., Rev. Professor C. M. Tyler, '58, of Cornell university. LL. D., Professor Theodore W. Dwight; Sir Donald A. Smith, Rev. Dr. C. H. Hall, Professor T. R. Lounsbury, '59; Rev. C. E. P. Bancroft, D. L., W. L. Kingsley, '43, New Haven. M. A., Joseph Jefferson, '49, W. Jones, Newark; E. J. Hill, Norwalk, Conn.; Rev. James Stoddard, Cheshire, Conn.; Hon. J. P. Stanley, New Haven; H. W. Denniston, paymaster U. S. N., Philadelphia; T. H. Edwards, Harrisburg, Pa.

The Reading's Answer Filed.

TRENTON, June 30.—Counsel for the Jersey Central and Port Reading railroad companies filed their answer to the charges of the state's attorney general of conspiracy to raise the price of coal, and holding that the leases entered into between them were illegal and therefore void. The answer denies the very charge regarding illegality and conspiracy, while admitting the famous tripartite agreement. The interesting feature of the answer is found in the denial of any theories coal combine.

They Took Poison Together.

BALTIMORE, June 30.—The horribly contorted bodies of a man and a woman were found in room 215 at the Carrollton hotel. They had registered as Mr. and Mrs. Fred St. Cloul, of New York. The room was disordered, and quantities of rough on rats, laudanum and morphine were found. From papers found in the room it is thought that the man was once a British soldier and that the woman was Irene M. Story, of Danbury, Conn.

Yale Is the Favorite.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 30.—The new rowing shell has been tried by Yale and proves satisfactory. It is reputably sure of being used in the great race with Harvard Friday. Yale is becoming more and more a favorite. Though the betting is by no means free as yet the odds given are five to four.

Who Will Succeed Lacey?

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Speculation is rife as to who will be appointed to succeed Mr. Lacey as comptroller of the currency. The names of John T. McChesney, of South Dakota; Bank Examiner Hepburn, of New York, and Deputy Comptroller Nixon, of Indiana, are mentioned.

Practicing by the Hand-book.

He (literary)—Since Van Pushe has gone into fashionable society he has become quite disentangled.

She (artistic)—I always considered him as having merely an ordinary mental outfit.

He—That's what enables him to shine to great particular field.—Life.

THE BASEBALL WORLD.

NATIONAL LEAGUE GAMES.

At Brooklyn—	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	0	0	1
New York	1	0	0
Batteries—Stein and Kinslow; King, Crane and Doyle.
At Philadelphia—	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	3	1	0
Boston	0	0	0
Weyhing and Clements, Nichols and Sehanck.
At Baltimore—	R.	H.	E.
Baltimore	0	0	0
Washington	0	0	0
McMahon and Robinson, Killeen and Mill.
At Cleveland—	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	0	0	0
Pittsburg	0	0	0
Young and Zimmer, Ehret and Miller.
At Cincinnati—	R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati	0	0	0
Chicago	0	0	1
Dwyer and Vaughn, Hutchinson and Kittridge.
At Louisville—	R.	H.	E.
Louisville	0	0	2
St. Louis	0	0	2
Hemming and Dowse, Breitenstein and Buckley.

EASTERN LEAGUE GAMES.

At Binghamton—	R.	H.	E.
Binghamton	0	0	0
Buffalo	1	3	0
Townsend, Evans and Fitzgerald; Fields and Daly.
At Troy—	R.	H.	E.
Troy	3	0	0
Albany	0	0	0
Clarkson and Cahill, Taylor and Hess.
At Elmira—	R.	H.	E.
Elmira	2	1	0
Rochester	2	0	0
Pricken and Boyd, Meakin and McKeough.
At Providence—	R.	H.	E.
Providence	0	0	0
Syracuse	3	0	0
Stafford and Ryan, Barr and Urquhart.

The Port Jervis Indictments.

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., June 30.—The grand jury of Orange county, in session at Goshen, presented three documents to the court in the Port Jervis lynching affair. One contained the indictment of D. F. Howell, president of the village of Port Jervis, for criminal negligence. This was promptly quashed by Judge Cullen on the motion of District Attorney Hinchberg. Mr. Howell was active in trying to prevent the lynching. The other two documents contained indictments against five persons implicated in the lynching of Bob Lewis.

Commencement at Harvard.

BOSTON, June 30.—Commencement day at Harvard was fair and cool. At 10 o'clock President Eliot and the faculty received the invited guests at Massachusetts hall. Governor Russell arrived at that hour. After the informal reception the party proceeded to Sanders' theater, where the graduating exercises were held. The seniors marched to the theater in cap and gown.

Cleveland Bailey Not Insane.

CHICAGO, June 30.—James A. Bailey, the proprietor of the Barnum & Bailey circus, was kept busy denying the report that he was insane and confined in an asylum. He says: "I am in the best of health mentally and physically. The report that I am broken down from overwork is entirely false."

He Allowed Aliens to Escape.

NEW YORK, June 30.—A. Allomary, captain of the steamship Marica, was arrested by United States marshals on the charge of permitting four alien passengers to escape.

Dam Wrecked the Bank.

BUFFALO, June 30.—Charles N. Preston, state superintendent of banking, has taken charge of the National Savings bank. He states that the bank is insolvent.

Say Hires Do you Root Drink Beer? SOLD AND RECOMMENDED EVERYWHERE.

Eugene Hoerster, 206 Grove Street, North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer in FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

V. L. FRAZEE, GROCERIES, FRUITS and VEGETABLES 25 West Front Street.

JOHN HERRMANN, Plain Builder and hard wood manufacturer. Shop corner of Grand and Sagard streets, North Plainfield, N. J. J. HERRMANN, 8 Sagard street.

SUN HEAT, ALSO SUN SHUT, V-SH.

VanEmburgh & White INDOORENTER.

For 39c.

Embroidered Flouncings to-morrow 45in. wide. We have bought all there was of them, about 2,000 yards. The proper value is from 60c. to $1 per yard.

Storm Serges.

There is no more popular goods on sale to-day than Navy Blue Storm Serges. We have them in all qualities and prices.

The price but 35c.

Gentlemen, you need them these warm days, a French Ballbriggan Shirt that is worth 50 cents of any one's money.

As complete an assortment of wash fabrics, such as Gingham, Challies, Cambric, Crepe Cloth, Satteen and Bedford Cord as you find in most New York houses, and the prices and styles you will not find fault with.

PIPTONIZED Beef, Iron and Wine 50c. Per Pint Bottle, at WILLIAMS'. Shubrre Cards.

Daniel Hulick, Carpenter and General Jobber. SHOP 35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty. JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO Window Screens made to order.

Mantel and Cabinet MAKER. Furniture Repaired. Pianos Polished ALL KINDS OF CARPENTER WORK. John Peterson, SHOP—64 Grandview avenue. Residence 14 Linden avenue.

Burnett & Milligan, MASONS and BUILDERS, 28 East Front Street. First-class work guaranteed. Estimates furnished for work in or out of town. JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

John P. Emmons, MASON AND BUILDER, Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place. Jobbing promptly attended to. P. O. Box 961.

PIERSON & GAYLE, Carpenters and Builders. W. J. PIERSON, No. 15 Vine street. E. S. Gayle, No. 13 Vine street. All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH, PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER. All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to. Residence—Grandview avenue. P. O. Box 961.

R. V. SAUM, Carpenter & Builder. Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Roxse. P. O. Box 1209. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

S. C. HOFFMAN, CARPENTER AND BUILDER, Residence—51 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J. Estimates given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

JOHN ABBOTT, Plain Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Shop corner of Grand and Sagard streets, North Plainfield, N. J. Residence, Arlington avenue, Dunellen. Dealer in hard wood work. P. O. Box 1264.

38c. Buys a full size, all-linen hemmed sheet, white. Linen finish and unbleachable; regular 50c. quality.

17c. Buys a five foot curtain pole with brass fixtures, complete. Window Shades 10c. and upward. Dress Chaillies 5c. Best Prints 4c. Special low prices on Millinery for the next 30 days at BOEHM'S No. 9 West Front Street.

For a Delicious Drink NEUMANN BROS. Have just the article, a select 50c. Formosa Oolong TEA, to make a Delicious Iced Tea. Fresh roasted Coffee received weekly. Bonbons, Chocolates, received every steamer. All goods sold at Lowest Prices. A full line of Vegetables received Daily. NEUMANN BROS. 79 BROADWAY.

Just What You Need! If you are going camping or to the seaside you should have an Arnold Steam Cooker. Remember, it cooks a whole dinner at once over a small oil stove. You can buy the above articles at 61 Park avenue Also the only genuine BOSTON BROWN BREAD, made in the city. Call and get a loaf. Fresh every hour in the day, and delivered to any part of the city. M. E. BEACH, Agent.

Do You Want Shirts? If so, we think a look over our Dress and Negligee Styles would meet your fancy. The department we show is very extensive, covering all the newest fabrics, weaves and effects. Full Rooms for hot weather; Blue Flannel for cool. Hallock & Davis, 5 West Front Street. Trunks and Bags.

GEORGE VOEHL, the CONFECTIONER, is now prepared to furnish Parties & Receptions with Delicious ICE CREAM in bricks. 15 West Front Street.

Real Estate & Insurance. Edw. C. Mulford, REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE. MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE 9 North Avenue.

Joseph T. Vail, REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE, DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING. 9 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham, REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE. No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff, REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE. MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security. Corner Second street and Park avenue.

Isaac Brokaw & Son, REAL ESTATE AND BROKERAGE. MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE. NO. 47 NORTH AVENUE, Plainfield, N. J. (Opposite Depot.)

NEW STORE! T. J. CAREY, - Proprietor. 142 WEST FRONT STREET. IT IS NOT A SECRET! NOT A SCHEME! TO RECEIVE A CASH DISCOUNT, In buying a suit, overcoat, pair of pants, hat, or any article of R. RICE & CO., GROCERS. Where you can always get [illegible] at bottom prices.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO. Successors to The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro. Dealers in Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials 43 to 69 PARK AVENUE. Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

43 WEST FRONT STREET. A DINNER is never finished without a glass of [illegible] etc. We also wish to call the attention of our patrons and the public generally, to our large assortment carefully selected stock of Sherries, Sauternes, Clarets, Champagnes, BURGUNDIES, etc. Also our fine grade of Whiskies, Gin, Brandies, and Cordials. We have also on hand a fine selection of FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALE, PORTER AND BEER. If given a call will be able to compare our goods for quality and price with any the of first-class wholesale houses in New York City. F. LINKE, Wholesale Wine and Liquor dealer. Telephone Co 157.

Railroad Time Table.

READING RAILROAD SYSTEM.

(The Port Reading R. R. Co., Lessee.) Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect June 26, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 6 00, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 45, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m. Express trains, 7 45 a. m., 2 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45 p. m. Sundays, 6 00, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 45, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m. Express trains, 7 45 a. m., 2 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND FOREVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 6 00, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 45, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m. Express trains, 7 45 a. m., 2 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45 p. m. Sundays, 6 00, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 45, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m. Express trains, 7 45 a. m., 2 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 00, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 45, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m. Express trains, 7 45 a. m., 2 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45 p. m. Sundays, 6 00, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 45, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m. Express trains, 7 45 a. m., 2 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 7 45, 9 45, a. m., 1 45, 4 45 p. m. Sundays, 7 45 a. m., 4 45 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

Leave Plainfield.

6 45 a. m. for Phillipsburg, Easton, Allentown, Bethlehem, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Williamsport, Sunbury, Shamokin, Mt. Carmel, Tamaqua, Lewistown, Reading

WOMEN AND GIRLS MUST LEARN TO MODULATE THEIR VOICES.

The girl of today has fallen into the very unpleasant habit of talking loud in public. It seems to have grown gradually upon her ratine than to be something which she cannot help. Perhaps the noise and bustle of the streets is responsible for the high pitched sense, for certain it is that her voice rises above all the din, and every one who chances to overhear her entire speech, all about her own private and particular business as she relates it to her friend, who replies in the same tone.

All know the charm of a soft, well modulated voice, and any one can possess it who will take care and watch out for the first symptom of losing pitch and its ones bringing it back where it belongs.

It is the harsh, loud voice that rises far higher at once notices in our ears when they visit our shores. The tendency of certain localities perhaps could never be cured without moving entirely away from a section the peculiarities of which are learned until brought in contact with other and different speaking people. It is not the accent but the pitch that offends. A woman with a beautiful face and a high, rasping voice will never seem as charming as the plainer sister with her soothing, well modulated tones.

Putting aside the question of attractiveness, certain it is that it is much more ladylike to keep our voice well under control, especially in public conveyances, where if nothing else, signal tell us not to talk in tones that penetrate far beyond the bounds for which they are intended. It is just when our lower notes are lost in the roar and carriages rumble over the stones to keep up a sustained conversation in soft, pleasing tones, but it is much better to remain absolutely silent and wait for your opportunity to talk as you should than to take every one within a radius of a square into your confidence.—Philadelphia Times.

Kindness to the Horse.

Did you ever try being considerate with the people who belong to your own family, and who have to stay with you, no matter how unpleasant you are, as you are with the cook or the housemaid, who can give a week's warning and depart if things don't suit? It pays. It pays very well to talk about being entirely yourself and unconstrained and natural in your home life, but it's a great mistake. If you get in a rage because things don't go right you don't pitch into your maid or your valet or anybody like that. Oh, dear, no! It would be an awful inconvenience if they left, so you control them, and if you do think you're spoken a little too quickly you'll make up for it in afternoon out or a pair of gloves or a dollar.

But the man who makes up to his womankind or the woman to her mankind for a flareout of that natural unconstrainedness which is so highly prized with a lit-

Lodge Notice.

FRATERNITY AND PROTECTION.
1873. Membership 150,000. 1892.
Insures benefits paid over $20,000,000 since organization.
Plainfield Lodge, 3601, Knights of Honor, meets First, Third and Fifth Tuesdays, at 8 P. M., in Assembly Lodge Rooms, Music Hall Building.
Immediate relief, $100 sick benefits per week.
[illegible] Dictator.
[illegible] Secretary.

...spar's Hotel,

24 & 26 E. Front St.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Transient and Family Boarders taken at

Reasonable Rates.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

Free bus to and from the house attached.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE.

Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Walton V. Miller. It will be kept thoroughly refurnished and remodeled throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.

City Hotel,

Corner PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Kline's Extracts,

Pure Fruit Flavors.

LOOK

at

Werner's Show Windows

SO WEST FRONT STREET,

and see what you can do in $15 suits reduced to $10

Cut in Latest Styles.

FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS ONLY.

All Sizes and All Wool.

Outing Shirts and Straw Hats just receive. Clothing Made to Order. Other goods at proportionately Low Prices.

J. P. LAIRE & CO.,

FRONT STREET AND PARK AVENUE,

LEADING : HARDWARE : STORE,

are selling all Seasonable Goods Cheap.

Lawn Mowers, Ice Cream Freezers,

FLY TRAPS, REFRIGERATORS,

Hammocks, Screen Doors and Windows,

Fly Nets and Summer Sheets for Horses. Lap Sheets.

We are getting away with lots of Boots. Show this month—now is the time to buy them.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE'S,
12 West Front street.

P. S.—Our $3 shoe never takes a back seat.

IF!

A poor article is dear at any price. A good article is cheap at any price.

The Duluth Imperial Flour is the best in the world and the prices are right.

Insist on having it from your grocer, or apply to

FRENCH BROTHERS,

TELEPHONE 24. 8, 10 and 12 SOMERSET STREET.

ter the tenor or a soprano, is pretty rare. It is simply ignored, that's all, and we are considered unlucky if we are not heard and misunderstood every time we open our mouths when we meet again. If there was a little less sensitiveness and more attention and thought of thing in the world it would be a very good final make solid comfort. Of course our "very own" will forgive these little bits of ill temper and make excuses for us and remind themselves that our digestion is bad or that things went wrong yesterday, but why require it of them? It is so much pleasanter to be sweet and sister than it is all the more reason why we shouldn't put them so often to the test.

If you know a person will give you a free ticket to the theater every time you ask for them, you don't, as a general rule, demand them every night. Carry that principle in this much vaunted home life for sweetness and there will be more reason to be content with it. It is a chain no matter what you say. It may be a very sweet and tender and lovely chain, but if the softest silken rope is bound tightly over a tender spot it will chafe and stain sooner or later. —New York Press.

To Correct Round Shoulders.

One of the most frequent deformities against which women must continually fight, especially mothers with young children, is that of round shoulders and a stooping figure. I am often shown how many such there are in any gathering. Even the best natural figures will often show this tendency unless some care is taken to remedy it. Neither their work is of such a nature as to keep them sitting at a desk or standing over a machine or doing much of housework; while this, narrow chested women are very likely to stoop before middle age.

Teachers of physical culture say this may be entirely rectified by a very simple and easily performed exercise that of raising one's self upon the toes leisurely in a perpendicular position several times daily. To do this properly one must be in a perfectly upright position, with the heels together and the toes at an angle of 45 degs., dropping the arms by the side. Inhaling and raising the chest to its full capacity is a part of the exercise, a process which the lungs soon begin to show. To exercise all the muscles of the legs and body one must rise very slowly on the balls of both feet to the greatest possible height and then come again into standing position without swaying the body out of its perpendicular line. This will be the most difficult part of the exercise, but may be accomplished by patience and perseverance. After a little the same may be tried first on one foot, then on the other.

In order to prevent round shoulders in school children teachers should never ask them to fold their arms in front, but rather to place them behind the back, which occasionally is good practice, giving as it does the fullest expression to the upper part of the body. For this reason more

FOR SALE.

A Handsome Residence on Watchung Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Modern conveniences, large lot, fine shade trees, fruit, etc. Will be sold at a bargain. Apply to

WILLIAM H. WOOD,
Real Estate Agent,
Plainfield, N. J.

How Women Dressed Ago.

A tight bunk of twenty minutes' length and a shower bath of five.

A pair of shoes that will last a week.

Face, throat and neck subjected to a gentle friction of either flower water mixed with a half pint of bran, or else to the removal of all impurities from the pores and given the surface a clear ivory hue.

Scented orris powder rubbed in the hair and brushed out, which is essential to remove all traces of it from the tangles and gaps of the neck.

A delicate cream, similar to cold cream, for the purpose of lotion; being the chief ingredient, laid over the face, neck and hands. After ten minutes remove with a fine linen cloth. This is well followed by the application of a compassion and weariness of the lotions incident to society or stage life. It is a delicate operation neither to roughen the surface nor make it red. It should leave the complexion polished and whitened.

Velouting is a mixture of rice powder and bismuth, the latter giving permanency and the former delicacy to the preparation, applied with great care, producing a clear, alabaster whiteness, with a trace of luster, yet showing no sign of a foreign substance.

The eyebrows are smoothed with a small camel's hair having a trace of tint laid on, and with a leather estampe a soft shadow is laid under the eyes to increase their brilliancy.

To follow the foregoing directions literally, under all circumstances, would be difficult. It is quoted here to give some idea of the manner in which age is concealed by people who have made commitment a fine art.

To a practical person this may be simplified.—Young Ladies' Bazar.

The Right Use for Linen.

The world, or this part of it at least, is full of housekeepers who think that there is no material for sheets and pillow cases comparable to linen. They don't always have it, to be sure, because it is expensive, but they always covet it and finger the shelves breathless lovingly and wonder if the time will ever come when all these things shall be added unto them. But the truth about linen is that it isn't the ideal dressing for beds at all. It is cold and slippery and inures sensitive persons the dream of sleeping on an iceberg, which does well enough for an occasional experience, like seasickness, but which palls on too frequent repetition. Besides that, it wrinkles and tiblishes in spite of its heavier body much more than cotton does, giving a bed, after one night's use, a most slovenly and uninviting appearance.

Nobody recommends linen for body wear. Its firm texture and hard surface makes it a poor conductor; therefore it allows the body to become chilled by refusing the perspiration, and so has been known to bring on serious illness. For outside wear of summer linens may be tolerated as clothing, but nowhere else. Where, however, it is at its most useful and best is in household uses, for table service, for the toilet and for minor ornamental details it is simply invaluable; its smoothness of texture, its brilliancy, which laundering ever increases, its exquisite freshness, makes it the only fabric it to drape the dining table and to use in the toilet, while its suitability for needlework decoration makes it available for all kinds of fancy work. A[illegible] is rightfully used, not to wear out the skin and keep the[illegible]—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Story of Wesley.

Madame Mallet, a friend of her time and related in point to the lives of the troubled regions of the earth, was one of the friends of women, and so well connected with her on in life that she was frequently called upon to read the "Recollections of a Happy Life."

In the early years of manhood she did an amount of work which might have constituted an ordinary lifetime.

She visited North and South America, Africa, Hindostan, Egypt, Asia Minor, Greece and Australia. Neither heat nor cold deterred her from seeking her heart's desire.

Her first introduction to the public was through the loss of her pictures to the South Kensington museum. When no gentlemen were in progress two gentlemen were sent to look at her work, and one came overheard saying to the other as they entered:

"We must get out of this civilly somehow. I know what these amateur things always are."

After looking at the collection, however, he cried out ecstatically, "We must have every picture we see!"

When the gallery was finally opened to the public one visitor said to Miss North, not knowing who she was:

"It isn't true that all these are painted by one woman, is it?"

"I have done them all," said she quietly.

He seized her by both hands and exclaimed: "You are the lucky you didn't live 300 years ago, or you'd have been burned for a witch!"—Youth's Companion.

Study Students at McGill.

The girls at McGill spend nearly every day from 9 to 5 o'clock at college. Between lectures they visit the library or the museum, or the sections of their "scientific sanctorums," the reading room. Here between 12 and 1 we may see the home philosophy or classic student, her face flushed and pale, peering over the pages of one of the humorous weeklies. By her side the gymnast of the year is quilling spiritual refreshment from the French Moralists. On the table all the most current magazines are to be found. Old numbers are auctioned off as the new ones appear. Here the college girl keeps in touch with what is going on in the literary, social and political world around, and it is probably her only opportunity of doing so. She has little time for evening dissipation and cannot stand the drain of late hours.

The time not spent in the classroom is devoted mostly to study and exercise. The college girl is then essentially not a society girl, and yet, I may venture to say, she is the happier of the two. She carries the secret behind her bright eyes and between her book covers, and enjoys her occasional social outings with more genuine pleasure than the "blase" society debutante, the girl of the period.—Helen R. Y. Reid in Dominion Illustrated.

Influence of Pets on Children.

I would keep pets to teach my children not only affection, but self denial, and a great many other graces, such as endurance and honesty and faithfulness.

I have never felt that pet animals were a nuisance about the house, even when they make a great deal of trouble. They make a very essential part of home training. I do not know of any other way of instilling the idea so thoroughly that our own happiness depends on making those happy who are dependent on us. I have known a number of the dogs about many years, and I feel that they are not to be classed with the inferior animals. I am sure that they are not the less for some love or gift, or even taken to make a rough mat for their feet. I think it is a pity that a trifle less reach them he would be. This is a trifle less reach them he would be. This is a trifle less reach them he would be. This is